PITT PRAISED BY FARM HEAD

County Commended at Washington For Fine Service in Tobacco Campaign.

Pitt county has been highly commended by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration at Washington for the fine way it came across in the recent tobacco reduction campaign. It was made known here yesterday afternoon.

The information was divulged by John T. Thorne, of Farmville, member of the state advisory committee of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, who conferred with representatives of the Farm Department yesterday.

Mr. Thorne, who recently returned from a conference at Washington dealing with the tobacco situation, said officials of the administration declared that Pitt county had turned in the best batch of tobacco papers received in Washington during the entire reduction campaign.

Commenting on the recognition today, E. F. Arnold, director of the local Farm Department, and who directed the tobacco sign-up through his office, said the success of the sign-up here was due largely to the fine work of committeemen and the general office force.

Mr. Arnold expressed gratification over the commendation from Washington and said his office, realizing the necessity for complete information on the tobacco industry here, had done its best to render the highest type of service. The praise, he said, is especially gratifying in view of the fact that Pitt is the largest tobacco producing county in the world and had more contracts to handle than any other county.

COUNTY COURT ENDS WORK ON HEAVY DOCKET

Around Fifty Cases Disposed of in 2-Day Sitting Here Tuesday and Wednesday.

County court completed its two-day sitting here yesterday after disposing of a docket of fifty-odd cases. It was the first session of the court in two weeks due to the two-week term of civil Superior court which closed the first of the week, and this accounted for the congested docket—one of the largest in some time.

The majority of actions disposed of consisted mainly of violations of the prohibition law, larceny and assault. Numbers of the defendants found their way to the roads but the majority got their freedom by the way of the fine route.

Sugg Fleming, arrested sometime ago on a charge of operating a gambling house, was fined $200 and sentenced to thirty days in jail by Judge Dink James who presided over the two-day session, but the defendant filed notice of appeal to Superior court under bond of $200.

The remainder of the cases disposed of follow:
Richard Nichols, driving drunk, $50 and cost; appeals to Superior court.
Ernest Pierce, liquor for sale, not guilty.

Clemon Cox, liquor for sale, not guilty.
Clyde Cannon and Laura Fox, colored, liquor for sale, not guilty.
Tom Sharp, colored, liquor for sale, $40.

Harvey Moore, colored, selling liquor, 4 months to roads; appeals to Superior court; assault with a deadly weapon, not guilty.
Mrs. J. H. Buckland, reckless driving, judgment suspended on payment of cost.

Willie Baker, larceny of a hen; prayer for judgment continued providing the defendant stays sober and of good behavior.
J. H. Cannon, driving drunk; $50 and cost and license revoked for 90 days.

June Brady, colored, assault with a deadly weapon; six months suspended sentence to the roads.
George Barfield, colored, assault with a deadly weapon; 4 months suspended sentence to the roads.
E. P. Davis, driving drunk; $50 and cost.

LARGE GAINS EXPECTED IN PAST MONTH

Six Per Cent Gain in Actual Factory Employment Was Recorded by Commerce Department; NRA Watching Data Intently; Johnson Leaving Direct Action to Private Interests.

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Payrolls in the American manufacturing industry hit a new high in February creating peaks in both wages and employment untouched early in 1931.

The Department of Commerce announcing this today stated that probably further improvement in March would supplant these figures but that only incomplete estimates for the month were available. The department statement that swelling in manufacturing payrolls of 12 per cent in February as compared to January, constituted the greatest one month's improvement in 15 years.

A six per cent gain in actual factory employment during the month as compared to January was recorded as having been exceeded only three times in 15 years.

None of the figures include the spurge of pay increases recently announced in the steel, auto and other industries many of which go into effect this month.

The NRA was disclosed today to be watching such data intently while gathering more of its own. On this authority it was indicated that quick general action by industry to shorten working hours for reemployment is not now expected by Blue Eagle officials but within a reasonable period voluntary cuts are looked for from large individual groups.

If not, the original idea that a flat ten per cent reduction be required by the government of all who cannot show cause to the contrary may be brought into play.

The present attitude is to put the responsibility directly up to business. Its spokesmen have urged Hugh S. Johnson insistently their view that if there is no compulsion many industries will do the thing handsomely. With his own belief that the initiative should be on the part of industry Johnson has found it easy to leave direct action to private interests for a time.

Dick Reynolds Goes To Baltimore To Sign For $25,000,000 Trust Fund.

Winston Salem, April 5.—(AP)—Richard J. Reynolds yesterday signed a few documents in Baltimore and the $1,781,921.19 bequeathed him by his father in 1918 was formally turned over to him.

However the magic of prosperity has meantime blown its breath upon the relatively small sum so that more than $25,000,000 actually went to the 22-year-old tobacco heir.

The growth of that trust fund is an echo of America's golden age. The late R. J. Reynolds left his estate to his widow and four children each child received $1,781,921.19 in trust.

Lower Court Reversed In Policy Case.

Richmond, April 4.—The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York brought action in the district court at Asheville, N. C., against Samuel N. Ness to cancel the disability and double indemnity provisions of two policies of life and disability insurance and to recover the premiums waived on account of disability. The court below found that both policies were obtained by means of false and fraudulent representations made by the insured and granted the relief sought by the company.

NAMES LIST TAKERS FOR PITT COUNTY

Tax Supervisor Coward Makes Known Names of Listers in All Parts of County.

J. C. Coward, auditor and tax supervisor of Pitt County, completed selection of list takers for Pitt county during the first of the week and made their names public today.

The list takers have taken their places in each township of the county and will be on hand from now on to list property for 1934.

Owing to the congested condition of the court hour at this time the list taker will not be on duty here until tomorrow. Every available nook has been utilized by various government agencies during the last several weeks and the congestion has been so great that it will be impossible to provide a suitable place for the list taker before tomorrow. Supervisor Coward said.

The supervisor and his list takers conferred yesterday afternoon relative to the general work for this year and attempted to establish a uniform valuation on personal property. The national automobile code was adopted for determining the value of used cars. This is expected to expedite the handling of this phase of list taking.

The Machinery Act was discussed at considerable length and each of the list takers was fully acquainted with the various phases of his work.

D. S. Spain, Sr., is list taker for Pitt county.

The list takers for the various townships follow:
J. B. Joyner, Farmville, Farmville township; J. Taylor Barnhill, Stokes, Carolina township; Coy Forbes, Stokes, Pactolus township; J. R. Cox, Winterville, Winterville township; D. S. #### Too Warm—Change Due.

Raleigh, April 5.—"It's really too warm," Lee A. Denson, director of the local Weather Bureau, declared yesterday afternoon, while Raleigh was enduring its second day of unusual heat. "It cannot be expected to remain so but for a day or two longer," the weather man added, "it's out of season."

The highest point touched by the thermometer yesterday was 88. This fair weather is enabling farmers to plow and plant crops that have been delayed by the rain and cold of last month. Soil that was too damp and cold for planting is now in ideal condition.

DEATH LIST IS HIGHER IN WISCONSIN

Storms in Ohio Cause Damage of $100,000; Federal Engineer Estimates Damage at $1,000,000; Rains Continue in Kansas But Are Less Serious Than Formerly.

At least 25 persons are believed dead, a number are missing and the property damage is near a million dollars as a result of floods in the north and southwest.

As the high water receded today, Elk City, Oklahoma, listed five known dead, and 15 missing in a seven-mile stretch of land over which the Washita river roared seeing all before it.

In Kansas the rains continued but were less serious. Farmers expected crops to benefit.

WILKERSON FOR CORONER

GOOD FOR GROWN-UPS, TOO

The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad endeavoring to do its part to make our people safety minded has just recently distributed a safety pledge for pupils in all the grammar schools with a request that school authorities have the pupils copy the pledge and commit it to memory.

The pledge reads:

I will work for the SAFETY of others as I would them to work for my SAFETY. I will try to be careful all the time, everywhere. I will not take unnecessary chances of getting hurt and will warn others against doing so. I will do my part to help reduce the number of accidents this year. All this I will do for the sake of humanity and the honor of my school.

Now that you have read the pledge let us urge you to read it again and then you too not only commit it to memory but keep its content and meaning constantly in mind as you go about your daily tasks whatever they might be. That brief pledge if lived up to by our grown-ups as well as the children of the grammar schools will aid greatly in cutting accidents down to a minimum.
We must have a safety-minded public before we can have safety and each individual has a distinct responsibility in this campaign for fewer accidents this year.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

It is gratifying that the efforts toward procuring a sanatorium in this county for the treatment of tuberculosis is receiving serious consideration on the part of members of our county board of commissioners. Of course no provision has been made in the present year's budget for such an institution but the board can now begin to make plans for including same in the budget for the coming year that begins July 1. Money spent for such a cause is not an expense but an investment in the future health and protection of our citizens and no taxpayer should object to the small amount of extra taxes he would have to pay for this protection. Isolation and proper treatment is the only way to check the spread of tuberculosis and without a sanatorium we cannot hope to check the spread of the disease in this county.

Judith Lane

SYNOPSIS: Judith Dale arrives at Rio Diablo dam to supervise the construction according to the instructions from her former employer, Roy Tom Bevins, with money
pose. Judith's husband, Norman, that is Judith's headquarters.

Chapter 23

JUDITH'S LETTER

JUDITH DALE stepped to the door to greet the natives of Big Tom Town. She expected to see the same scrawny, ill nourished crowd she had left there eight months before.
True, Big Tom had arranged loans for the heads of the families, and she herself had arranged to have cases of canned milk sent in, but even at that she was unprepared for the change.

The people who stood before her were not cowed, broken, lifeless individuals, they were sturdy, self-respecting land people. The new confidence born in them with proper nourishment and hope for the future, showed in the carriage of the men, the clothing of the women.

"Miss Lane... that is Mrs. Dale." Scoggins the leader was speaking in a sonorous voice, "we have come philum located Slim Sanford in the main office on the brink of the cut—"Ma's Slim," she puffed, "if you don't come long up there an'

light that contraption in my kitchen, Miss Judy won't never get nothin' to eat... what with that stove and that passel of folks sittin' there braggin' bout who's got the spinkiest garden, I'm a mind to pack her home, bag and baggage. Ten o'clock, Mass Slim, ten in the mornin' an' she ain't had her orange juice yet."

Judith was writing when they reached the house, writing a letter with fine, firm strokes of the pen.
There was no hesitation now... no nibbling of pen-end for words. They came clearly as though spoken in an incisive voice.

"Dear Norman: I know how unexplainable my conduct must seem to you. I won't insult you with an apology. I have followed my convictions, just as you have followed yours. Some day I hope that we may understand each other better.
Our love, at least my love for you, is not in question. It is true and steady, but had I stayed to forget my trust, it would have turned to bitterness.

"I am comfortably housed in a shack built by the boys, in the lee of the rock where we sat through the storm. Delphy, as Lige may have told you, followed me to the dam, insisting upon accompanying me, so I will be well cared for.
I hope I may hear from you occasionally, because regardless of all that has happened, my affection for you has never wavered."
—JUDITH—

business letters, one from Cia, but none from Norman.

to bid you welcome to the city of your—"
But Judith had spied the children.
The small one who had hovered close to her boots months before was back tugging at her hand. She looked down into a rosy, smiling face.

"Delphy," she cried to the old woman, "see them, look at this precious butter ball... and only last August she was as thin as a rail... oh, and Tommy Scoggins come here, you immense creature... and look at little Timothy, if he isn't the picture of health—"

"He wouldn't a been no picture at all without your special food, you sent him," declared Scoggins.
Judith was suddenly contrite—
"I interrupted your nice welcoming speech, can you forgive me?"

Scoggins laughed with the others —"Don't need to make one now. We folks got to thinking. Now that Miss Judy's got five million dollars and been livin' swell and wearin' grand clothes, we'd better try to act up to her... but pshaw," he exclaimed,
"here you come back in your same old clothes we admired so much, an' likin' our kids. You don't need no speech to make you know you're welcome, you kin see how we feel
'bout us usin' big words."

YOU bet I can, Mr. Scoggins...

"Oh say, how's your garden doing this year; you've had more rain, haven't you?"
"Miss Judy... you should see my pole beans!"
"Pole beans," scoffed Duniway,
"why they ain't nothing, I'll bring you-up a mess of crooked neck squash 'fore his beans get more'n blossoms on them."

"Have you ordered your trees yet, Mr. Scofield?" she asked a small, shy man on the other fringe.

"Sure have, Miss Judy, waiting for the day to be in 'fore their delivery, though, so's they won't get washed out 'fore they are rooted."

"Miss Judy," spoke up his wife,
"remember them rags I was about to burn and you told me not to? Well, I dyed them like you said and I got the prettiest crocheted rug in Big Tom Town."

An hour later, a distracted Del-

GOOD morning, Small-Jude," said

Sanford from the door.
"Morning, Tall-Slim," she retorted. "Had breakfast? Hours ago? You make me feel like a saggard, but you will have some of Delphy's coffee with me, won't you?"

"I will, then I must fly back to Houston. Any messages, letters or what-nots, you want to send back?" Judith thought of her letter, remembered Norman's attack on Sanford, and decided it had better go via the regular mail, so she wrote hasty notes to Cunard and to Cia while Delphy "cuddled" eggs and brewed coffee.

They had breakfast on the porch, and Judith, basking in Slim's silent admiration, in the love of the natives and the staunch loyalty of her men, found her first moments of happiness since Big Tom's death.

After she had watched Slim's ship take off and wing into the east, she stood on her tiny porch and looked down on the dam. For a full half hour she enjoyed the luxury of idle thoughts and dreams, then turned to the house, thence to the office, and for the next forty-eight hours hardly paused in checking the work's progress, with the plans Tom Bevins had left behind.

Tired, but with a new contentment, she stood the evening of the second night, watching the work trains in from Laredo. There might be mail on this, a letter from Norman.

She waited as they sorted the mail, tried to be patient with the young courier who brought her a handful and stopped to chat, then hastily she ran through them. Business letters, forwarded invitations, forwarded letters, a personal note from Cunard, one from Cia, but none from Norman.

She sat in the home made canvas chair the boys had built for porch use, sat and stared at the rapidly growing dam, and remembered that it was almost in this same spot she had sat through the storm with Norman.

KIWANIS GET IN TRIM FOR PLENTY BALL

Along with the crack of the bat against horsehide on various lots of the county during the last several days, baseball aspirations of the Kiwanis club have risen one hundred percent.

The clubmen who last year vanquished practically every luncheon club in this immediate section, are elated over prospects of their success this season and will go to Grimesland this afternoon to take on the high school of that place.

Not much is known about the relative strength of Grimesland high but with Donald Conley, director of education of Pitt county, doing the club pitching task, the Kiwanis felt fairly confident of running up a big score and returning home with their first win of the season.

However, high school boys, especially down the Grimesland way, have the reputation of turning out surprisingly good baseball clubs, and if they run true, to form this year, Joe Tait and his Kiwanians are going to find things decidedly entertaining—if not disconcerting.

Along with arrival of the horsehide fever, the Kiwanians are expected to issue a challenge to their old rivals, the Rotarians, as soon as spring time actually arrives, and talking about all kinds of baseball—it will be evident to that game.

The Rides two or three years ago liked the Kiwanians so soundly that Joe Tait and his boys were an entire year recovering, but the next season the convalescence was so pronounced that they turned about and got sweet revenge.

New York Cotton

New York, April 5.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened fairly steady unchanged to three points lower on disseminated-Liverpool cables and scattered liquidation.

Pices eased after the call in a comparatively quiet market. At the end of the first half hour May was around 11.99 and October 12.25 or about 3 to 7 lower.

Liverpool continued to sell here during the first hour but the offerings from that source tapered after efficient trade buying or covering to give the market here a fairly steady tone later in the morning. At midday May was selling around 12.03 and October 12.28 with the market quiet at declines of two to five points.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 5.—(AP)—Stocks generally displayed a fairly firm undertone today although there appeared to be a lack of stimulating news as well as market sponsorship.

Modest improvement was shown by some of the metals, oils and packing shares but most other groups held to an extremely narrow range and the activity was somewhat under that of the previous session.

Bonds were fairly steady were not in such demand as yesterday. Grains, cotton and rubber were a trifle easier but silver and copper improved.

Foreign exchange were a bit reactionary. The late tone was steady with utilities and specialties firm. Transfers were 1,500,000 shares.

Jelly Bear Explains

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
Jelly Bear looked up from the pan he was licking. His face and chest showed he had been spending some time back of the cook tent.

"Why are you saying such things?" growled Jelly Bear. "Of course I'm not going away when the circus goes. I wouldn't leave Puddle Muddle for all the food in the world. No, I wouldn't leave Puddle Muddle if I was told that I could have all the jelly and honey and maple syrup and corn and cherries I could possibly eat all my life."

Willy Nilly felt a great wave of happiness. "I'm so relieved," he murmured. "But come now, Jelly Bear. Don't run any risks."

"Didn't I tell you, Willy Nilly, that I had been given a job? It has nothing to do with going away at any time. But while the circus is here they have given me the job of cleaning the old pans and tins. Isn't that a fine job and won't I do my work well? Yes, I'll come with you now, I've just about finished for the day."

Jelly Bear walked off with Willy Nilly, and as they went up to see the cubs Willy Nilly heard the circus cook saying: "That bear has done a good job. The cubs looked more like little bears now and Honey Bear was so proud of them, but as they sat in the cave talking, a great roar went up that sent shivers down Willy Nilly's spine. He was not used to animals quite so wild as lions.

And the roar was followed by another roar, and yet another, until Puddle Muddle seemed to be given over entirely to lions.

"I must see what it is all about," said Willy Nilly bravely.

Tomorrow—"In The House"

months as contracted," at the same time that a general curtailment of expenses by state offices and institutions was ordered by the budget bureau.

The governor asked about the report that funds might not be available to pay the teachers their full salaries for the last month of the term said, "You can say the teachers will be paid their full salaries."

Neither the governor nor Frank Dunlap, assistant director of the budget, would reveal the extent of the curtailment of expenditures.

"I do not think that it amounts to a great deal," the governor said.

Huey Called Down.—Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Antagonism between Huey Long and administration leadership burst forth in the Senate today with Pat Harrison of Mississippi saying "The opinion of the senator from Louisiana is less respected by the membership of this body as a whole and by the country than any other senator here."

The two outspoken legislators had been in several lesser disputes some time before at a Senate finance committee hearing on the confirmation of D. D. Moore as internal revenue collector in Louisiana, opposed by Long. Edward Rightor, Moore's attorney, was invited by Long to "go outside" after Rightor had said of Jefferson race track in Louisiana "that's your track, Senator."

Long called the statement "an infamous falsehood."

WEEKS EARLIER! The time is at hand for getting seeds for early planting. The seeds that assure the most, the sturdiest, the earliest of plants are those upon which we long have rested our reputation as Seedsmen. They have made friends and built patronage for us because they always germinate and make Early Plant's' for gardeners, whom we serve.

Fascinating Facts of NATURE

NATURAL CHILEAN NATURAL NITRATE

Nature created the land you farm, the seed you plant. To make land and seed produce better, she created three natural fertilizer materials—potash, phosphate, and Chilean Natural Nitrate. She stored Chilean in the ground to mature a million years until you should want it to put it back into the ground where you make your crops.

SIX YEARS BEFORE DAVY CROCKETT DIED IN THE ALAMO MASSACRE (1836) THE FIRST SHIPLOAD OF CHILEAN NATURAL NITRATE CAME INTO THE UNITED STATES THROUGH A VIRGINIA PORT (1830) . . . . .

NITROGEN + IODINE + CALCIUM + POTASSIUM + SODIUM + MAGNESIUM

Chilean NATURAL NITRATE

The only nitrogen that comes from the ground.

CHILEAN NITRATE (PERHAPS YOU CALL IT "SODA" OR "SOD") IS THE ONE AND ONLY NITRATE FERTILIZER CREATED BY NATURE. NATURE GAVE IT THOSE VITAL "IMPURITIES" IODINE, CALCIUM, POTASSIUM, SODIUM, MAGNESIUM, BORON ETC., TO INCREASE ITS VALUE TO YOUR CROPS . . . . .
