Mechanics Society Also Calls Strike of Tool and Dye Workers For Thursday; Seek 20 Per Cent Wage Increase and 36 Hour Five Day Week; Strikers Stage Orderly Parade

The society also called a strike of tool and dye makers for next Thursday night if an offer on demands for a 20 per cent wage increase and a 36-hour five-day week is not forthcoming from the shop employers.

MANY NABBED FOR VIOLATING TRAFFIC LAWS

Dozen-Odd Persons Arrested Over Week-End in Drive to Halt Violations

A dozen arrests were made over the week-end for violation of city traffic ordinances as police launched a concerted drive to cut down such violations. It was reported this morning by chief of Police George Clark.

The arrests followed announcement of the city that the latter part of last week all traffic ordinances would be drastically enforced in the future in an effort to relieve congestion on crowded thoroughfares and reduce the danger to public life.

He called attention especially to large trucks parking for delivery of goods in the center of streets in the business district, and declared they must make deliveries at back doors in the future. He also pointed to failure to stop at stop corners and parking of cars near street intersections.

No parking signs have been painted at numbers of street corners to warn drivers not to park at such places but in spite of this action numbers of violations of this kind were reported Saturday. Drivers apparently did not see the signs or did not give thought to their significance.

Townpeople who are acquainted with traffic regulations were given tickets to appear at the police station. (Continued on Page Four)

CRIMINAL COURT HERE NEXT WEEK

Three Capital Cases Scheduled to be Given Consideration During Term

With a docket crowded with three important and scores of unimportant actions, a two-week term of Pitt County Superior court, for the trial of criminal cases, will convene in this city next Monday morning.

Judge Frank A. Daniels, of Goldsboro, is scheduled to preside, and the docket will be prosecuted by Solicitor D. M. Clark, who at this time is appearing at Trenton.

Judge Daniels, who sometime ago announced he would retire from the bench at the expiration of this term will appear in Greenville for the last time May 21. He is scheduled to preside over a two-week term of court at that time. Interspersing the criminal and civil terms, Judge Vernon Cowper, of Kinston, will hold a one week term of civil court here beginning May 7. This will be the first time Judge Cowper has ever appeared here and members of the bar anticipating his coming with interest.

Leading the docket is the first degree murder charge against Matthew Harrington, Greenville young man, charged with the slaying of his stepfather, John Gurganus, several months ago. Gurganus' body was found in Tar river bridge fill the day after he was alleged to have been seen with Harrington who disappeared and later surrendered. Harrington is held in jail here without bond.

The next important case scheduled for consideration next week is the murder charge against Allan Carson, Bethel young man, held for the slaying of a man named Simon the latter part of last December.

The killing is alleged to have taken place at Carson's filling station at Bethel after he had warned Simon not to enter the store to talk over a check for something over a dollar which Simon allegedly had given Carson and which had been returned by the bank.

The second case is that against Claude Clemmons, negro, charged with firing a negro house of the Stokes community which resulted in the deaths of four negro children. Clemmons was remanded to jail following preliminary hearing here several weeks ago when two of his children testified he was absent from home at the time the fire took place.

Numbers of other cases of minor importance are scheduled to face the grand jury and the two week term are expected to be among the busiest in many a day.

Former Grocery Store Operator Announces Candidacy for County Treasurer

C. W. Willard today filed notice of his candidacy for County Treasurer with F. C. Harding, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections.

Although two others, A. T. Moore, present incumbent, and Vance Perkins, filed notice for the same office last week, it was said by the Elections Board head that Mr. Willard was the first to actually file notice of candidacy with the board.

Mr. Willard has been living in Greenville since 1919 and formerly operated Willard's Grocery store. He is chairman of the Board of Deacons of Immanuel Baptist church and has been prominent in work of the church during his residence here. He is also connected with the Masonic lodge.

He has had ten years' experience in corporation acceptances and said if elected to the post he would attempt to render the highest type of service to the county.

The hat-tossing business, which got away with a bang last week and is expected to gain impetus this week and by the end of the month indications point to a ring full of hats seeking virtually every office in the county.

STATE BANK DEPOSITS ON BIG UPSWING

Demand Deposits Increase by $18,646,800 Between June and December, 1933

Raleigh, April 9.—(AP)—General demand deposits in state banks in North Carolina increased by $18,646,800 between June 30 and December 31 last year, Gurney Hood, state bank commissioner, reported today.

Mr. Hood released the composite statement of the condition of all state banks last December 30 and compared the status with that on June 30, 1933 and December 31, 1932.

General demand deposits December 30 were slightly more than a million dollars greater than on December 31, 1932.

"Those figures are evidence that the public is using the banks," Mr. Hood said.

Total deposits in banks last December were slightly more than a million dollars including rediscunts, while on December 30, 1932, they amounted to more than $500,000.

Aggregate resources of state bank and trust companies on December 30, 1933, were $203,295,400, a decrease of $8,860,620 under the total of $212,156,020 shown for December 31, 1932, but an increase of nearly $27,550,000 over the total resources of $175,655,727 shown on June 30, 1933.

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER HELD

John Atkinson Bound Over to County Court After Wreck Sunday Night

John Atkinson, colored, was bound over to county court in police court this morning on a charge of hit-and-run driving.

The negro was taken into custody by police early today after allegedly running his automobile into another car driven by Herman Norris on West Fifth street last night.

Norris was said to have been traveling along Fifth street when Atkinson's machine came out of an intersecting street, striking the Norris car and causing it to turn over. Norris was pinned beneath the car but escaped with only minor injuries.

Atkinson, police said, jumped out of his machine and fled and was not heard from until taken into custody at his home early today.

One Slain, Scores Injured In Brussels Political Clash

STATE WILL OPPOSE NEW GREEN TRIAL

Solicitor D. M. Clark Says New Evidence Not Sufficient to Justify New Trial

Effort of counsel to obtain a new trial for Jim Green, Pitt county man, sentenced to die in the electric chair at Raleigh April 25, for allegedly criminally attacking a young white woman several miles from Greenville the latter part of last December, will be stoutly contested by the State, it was said over the week-end by Solicitor D. M. Clark of the Fifth Judicial District.

The statement came from the Solicitor following notification by John R. Denton, attorney for Greene, that he would appeal for a new trial in Superior court here April 18 on the grounds of "newly discovered evidence."

Solicitor Clark said that in view of the fact that part of the "newly discovered evidence" was in his opinion insufficient to justify a new trial he would vigorously oppose any such action.

The Solicitor said he was approached sometime ago on the question of seeking commutation of Green's sentence to life imprisonment, but that part of the "newly discovered evidence" presented was contained in an anonymous letter and was not of sufficient weight to justify his making commutation recommendation to the state department.

He said he conferred with the pardon commissioner on the question and that official stated that unless additional evidence was secured commutation of sentence was not justifiable.

Attorney Denton notified Solicitor Clark's office here Saturday of his action for a new trial, but the matter did not come to the attention of the Solicitor until he returned from Trenton where he is prosecuting the docket in criminal term court.

He immediately let it be known that he was unalterably opposed to efforts for a new trial or commutation of sentence and would use his influence to stall such effort when the plea is made in the next session of criminal court here.

ROBBERS FACE FOUR CHARGES

Three Young Wilson Men Now Charged With Staging Robbery at Smithfield

Charges continued to pile up today against three Wilson white men held in jail here on charges of robbery in four different cities of the part of the state.

Returned here Saturday from Rocky Mount where they were bound over to Superior court for robbery of a filling station there the first of last week, Ben Simpson, Marvin Langley and Lee Brantley are scheduled to face preliminary hearing sometime tomorrow. It had been planned to give them hearing Saturday afternoon but this was delayed until tomorrow at request of attorneys in the face of development of new charges.

Chief of Police George Clark said this morning the youths were wanted in Smithfield for breaking and entering a business house where persons were sleeping. Authorities were informed of the charge shortly after the young men were returned here from Rocky Mount.

In addition to the robberies at Rocky Mount, Smithfield and Greenville, the trio also is alleged to have stolen an automobile from S. F. Eagles at Wilson. When they were captured here last Monday, the automobile and part of the loot were also taken.

The automobile was turned over to Wilson county authorities who came here Wednesday to take the young men back to Wilson to face preliminary hearing. They were bound over to the next term of Wilson county Superior court.

The charge here involved breaking and entering a filling station on the outskirts of the city stealing a quantity of cigarettes and money from a slot machine.

THE JIM GREEN CASE

Announcement was made Saturday to the effect that an effort would be made here at the coming term of criminal court to gain a new trial for Jim Green, negro, now on death row at State Prison awaiting electrocution April 25.

Green was convicted in criminal court here on a charge of rape of a white woman after he had made a confession to officers following his arrest and since he was sentenced to death an effort has been under way to get his sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

The basis upon which a new trial is being sought is on the grounds that new evidence has been discovered, but according to Solicitor D. M. Clark, who prosecuted the case, there has been no new evidence of import sufficient to grant any further action in the matter. The Solicitor stated that efforts are being made by the defense to have the negro's sentence commuted to life imprisonment and that in reply to inquiry from the state authorities he had sent a copy of the negro's confession and declined to recommend commutation.

Looking at the matter from the outside, it seems to us that one of two things is certain. Either the negro is guilty of the crime and should pay the penalty or else he is not guilty and should be freed. Just what the defense has in the way of new-found evidence, of course we do not know, but we are reliably informed that a lot depends upon the truth of statements contained in an anonymous letter received by the State Pardon Commissioner supposedly from some reputable white woman of this county. Such a letter no doubt will not and should not have any effect upon the state authorities for if any person is in possession of information that would prevent the execution of an innocent person to be sure they should have the courage to back up this information with their affidavit.

Sundown Stories

The Explanation

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Willy Nilly, the little know-nothing man who lived with his animal friends in Puddle Middle, had been thoroughly frightened. Since the circus had come to their little settlement to stay until it started its trip all over the country, the lions had not given them any cause for fear until last night.

But when the lions had roared so wildly and so terrifically it had alarmed Willy Nilly and the others so much they had all stayed huddled together in the house, fearing the lions were so angry they might come and smash in the windows.

"The first thing I'll do," announced Willy Nilly, "will be to go and see if Jelly Bear and Honey Bear and the cubs are safe in their cave. How I did hate to leave them! But it wouldn't have been wise to move the cubs. Honey Bear couldn't leave them, and Jelly Bear certainly was needed to protect his family."

Everything was looking very cheerful as Willy Nilly stepped out of his house, followed by Rip, the dog, Top Notch, the Rooster, Christopher Columbus Crow and all the ducks. The people and animals of the circus were performing their tricks and there was no sign of any harm the lions might have done.

"Good-morning, my little man," the Signor said smilingly. "We had quite a storm, eh? Isn't it wonderful the way my lions always know when there's going to be a storm and start to roar?"

So that was the reason for those wild, wild roars!

altry; if he is not guilty then to be sure he is not entitled to life imprisonment on the charge and a compromise on the issue would be a great miscarriage of justice. If the defense is sincere in its allegation of innocence of the defendant, then it should make every effort to secure a new trial in order to gain the negro's freedom, for it would be wholly dishonest to compromise with a life sentence if there was a shadow of a doubt in favor of the negro. If the defense has the evidence we are sure that the court will grant the desired new trial but without the evidence there is no reason why the previous sentence should not stand.

So far as has been made known the law in this case has taken its rightful course and unless it is proven that a mistake has been made the matter should stand as it is.

POLITICS at random

By BRYON PRICE

Various groups of political architects have begun active blue-print work for the 1934 campaign, but thus far nothing like a clearly recognizable national pattern has emerged.

Possibly none ever will. Party lines were so badly shaken two years ago, and subsequent events have so confused the present situation that many congressional candidates will be running pretty much on their own, without special guidance from the national party organization.

Judith Lane

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Slim Sanford and Judith Lane have come to the Rio Diablo dam to tell Judith Lane that Morton Lamper's trickery is temporarily checked. Lamper is trying to break Big Tom Beavis' will, which has given Judith 5 million dollars with which to complete the dam. Judith's husband, Norman, has sided with Lamper and the Beavis heirs. Curand and Sanford have come with Judith on an air tour of the dam site.

Chapter 31 MEXICAN PARTY

THEY swooped low to study the topography of the country and when they returned that afternoon Curand looked thoughtful.

"It could be oil land," he mused, thoughtfully, "but we'll hope it isn't."

Judith paid little attention to him. She had succeeded in reminding Slim of the package he had cached in the cabin of his ship and opening it had discovered a smart knitted beret and pull over sweater.

"We'll celebrate its arrival with a trip across the border, tomorrow night," Curand promised when Judith had tried them. "I've never been in Mexico and all I need is an excuse to go."

Judith, who had turned to a pile of newspapers brought up during the moonlight turned the adobe snow white, the lighted windows golden yellow, the shadows of the frame buildings blue-black and purple. It lay a glamor over the scene which reached Judith and heightened her excitement.

The cafe was small, it was crowded with a queer mass of humanity, Mexicans, Americans, of every stratum. Judith found herself admiring a dark-eyed Spanish girl, intent upon charming a man whose face she couldn't see.

They found a table and ordered, then Judith and Slim danced. Slim carried her in a dance measure across the floor, as he seemed to carry his ship through the air, with gentle touch that belied its firmness.

THE evening wore on as they interspersed the many-coursed dinner with turns about the floor. The salad brought a quick, laugh provoking border song; frijoladas came with a sedate waltz, enchiladas, the tortilla filled to bursting with its queer concoction and freighted with biting cheese, was followed by a swift-moving folk dance.

And then in slow, sensuous measure eventually, even if it is after the fall elections. For the moment, the difficulty seems to be to find someone who could take over the chairmanship, without friction and complications, just as the campaign is beginning.

Some rather delicate situations face the party, in such states as California, Wisconsin and New Mexico, where republicans who supported Roosevelt in 1928 are running for reelection, and there probably is no one else who understands the ins and outs of those situations as well as Farley.

Political Picture Unchanged The fact that every few days brings news of another political get-together does not mean that actual progress always results from these conferences.

Neither the private dinner given in Washington on March 31 by outstanding democrats nor the various consultations held by former President Hoover in the west and southwest produced evidence of having changed the political picture at all.

Mostly, the present political talk is just talk. The 1934 issues and policies still promise to be made largely by piecemeal action in the various congressional districts, and 1936 is, under present disturbed conditions, far away.

Talks to parents

Intellectual Snob

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Sidney was not popular among other boys and was secretly disturbed by it. He was an only boy in a family of girls, and until he went to school had played chiefly with his sisters. They were good sports, and the games they indulged in were quite as rough and tumble as boys' games would have been, so no one thought of possible difficulties until Sidney was about 10, when his real troubles began.

He was what grown-ups call a "quaint child," but what other boys, and girls too, dub "atuck up." He was quite willing to play, never told tales, and was able to hold his own in a scrimmage. But he was in the habit of settling an argument with "my father says," and of assuming a somewhat superior attitude as if he were wiser and more experienced than his play-fellows.

The cure for such a situation can probably be found best by an older person who understands both sides. Sidney was quite intelligent enough to see his own shortcomings. He was, in many ways, years older than the boys he played with. He had read and thought and had broad contacts with adult minds, but never had learned by early mixing with small boys to keep his opinions to himself.

He needed to acquire consciously a protective coloring which would guard him from the likes and jeers of his less developed and often less fortunate companions. They could not or would not see the real boy. They felt his superiority along many lines and quite naturally resented it.

The exceptional child has a hard row to hoe in school life, but his own precocity should help him to understand and adjust himself to the situation. He must learn that the social adjustment must come from him if he is to mix with others.

A little understanding talk by a sympathetic adult should prove effective.

POINTERS ON POISE

The shifting of weight from on a foot to another is important in rising gracefully from a sitting position.

IV. SITTING
By LAURA TOWN SEND DAVIS

Do you help yourself out of a chair by placing your hands on the arms and fairly lifting yourself out? Don't do it. That is the way an actress would play the role of an old, feeble woman. Your feet should do the work for you.

To begin with, while sitting keep your knees together, or slightly in front of your position. This is in keeping with your feet are together; then your feet are together not a straddle. If you will sit in front of a mirror and look at yourself, with your knees carelessly "sprawled" and then place together, you will see the difference.

The same principal applies to your feet whether you are standing or sitting—one in front of the other. Only of course, do not leave any weight on them when sitting. You probably recall that saying: "Sit down and take a load off your feet." Pressure on the feet while sitting only serves to give your body a tense feeling, and that is how it appears to observers.

Rise from a sitting position by moving slightly forward from the waist. Get most of your weight on the forward foot and use the back foot as a lever in getting up. Then shift your weight entirely to the front foot. It's a shift of weight again, the same as in turning. Can you do it the first time you try?

MISSISS TRANSOU AND WALTERS ARE HOSTESSES AT TEA DANCE

Greensboro, April 3.—The tea dance given yesterday afternoon at Sedgwick Country Club by Miss Elizabeth Transou and Miss Marion Walters proved one of the most brilliant and delightful of a gay Easter season in Greensboro and attracted attention from several sections of North Carolina.

The dance honored Miss Martha Broadhurst and William H. Holderness, who will be married Saturday, and Miss Clara Moye of Greenville, whose engagement to Aubrey Shackelford of New York City, was announced a week ago.

Guests from Greensboro, Greenville and a half dozen other North Carolina cities attended. They were received at 5 o'clock in the lobby of Sedgwick manor and enjoyed dancing until 7 o'clock in the manor ballroom to music by Alex Mendenhall and his orchestra.

Receiving with Miss Transou was her brother, William Transou, one of the Broadhurst-Holderness ushers, and with Miss Walters was Edgar Broadhurst, Jr., brother of the bride. Miss Moye was escorted by her brother, James M. Moye, of Greenville.

Miss Broadhurst wore a gown of powder blue starched lace made of seven lines with "little girl" collar and a fitted skirt flaring to the floor. Her sandals were blue and her large hat of natural straw was banded with blue. She wore a shoulder spray of gardenias. Miss Moye's frock of pale blue mousseline de soie had a demi-train and with it she used a picture hat and other accessories of pink. Her flowers were orchids. Miss Transou was in yellow organza with wide brown taffeta sash, brown picture hat and brown sandals. Miss Walters wore black and red plaid organza over dark blue taffeta, the dark blue being repeated in a taffeta girdle and a large linen hat. Both Miss Walters and Miss Transou wore gardenias.

In the lobby and ballroom mezzanine jonquils and forsythia introduced a breath of spring. In the ballroom the brilliant hues of Easter eggs, purple, green and yellow, made a gay setting for the dancing.

Annual 4-H Song Contest.

The 4-H girls and any boys they want to invite to sing with them will hold their annual song contest at the Greenville high school next Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Each group may enter two contests with one song in each group. There are four groups to select from: Sacred songs, Patriotic songs, Negro spirituals, and Every-day songs. You are invited to hear these girls sing.

Health Examinations Begin.

The Fourth Annual Health Contest will be started next week. Who will be the healthiest 4-H girl this year?

Myrtle Worthington of Winterville was the first to receive this honor. Arlene Harris of Fountain, was the second and Mildred Taylor of Pacolus, was the third. In a few weeks we shall know the fourth. The schedule for the examinations for next week will be as follows: Monday a. m.—Belvoir and Falkland.

Red Oak Club Meeting.

Thirty-three women at Red Oak are celebrating because their clubhouse is paid for and they still have a treasury. During the last few years paying back debts has not been an easy task—especially when they were public debts. The clubhouse was built at a time when wages were high. However they were able to cut it down in small amounts until it was finally completed with proceeds from the recent play. They are meeting today in their own house and talking of what to do next. At their meeting last week they voted to present $5.00 to the Greenville club women by way of expression of gratitude to them in the use of the Greenville building and the loyalty the Greenville women have always shown them.

Stokes Play.

The Stokes Home Demonstration women are another group of ambitious members. This club has always done more for their school than any other in the way of raising money for school needs. Friday night their treasury was again increased with the proceeds from a play "The Old Maids Club." Fifteen of them furnished some real fun for their audience, which was a good-sized one. Mothers and daughters played together.

District Meeting.

All club women are thinking now of the district meeting to be held at Washington next Wednesday. If you have never gone to a district meeting you have no way of knowing what you have missed. Plan now to attend this one. For lunch take six servings of one of the following foods: sandwiches, salad, deviled eggs and pickles, ham or chicken, cake or fresh fruit. Leave your lunch at "The Parrish House"

Plymouth Meeting.

Home Demonstration Meetings.

Tuesday afternoon the Hopewell Club will meet with Mrs. Lonnie Stocks.

U. N. C. NINE IN VIRGINIA THIS WEEK

Chapel Hill, April 9.—The Carolina baseball team will meet Washington and Lee at Lexington today and Virginia at Charlottesville tomorrow, concluding a four game trip through Virginia, after which the Tar Heels will return to the Hill to begin preparations for their next home game with Wake Forest on Saturday.

Coach Bunn Hearn has gotten splendid results out of a veteran infield and rookie outfield to date, but it is still an open question whether the Conference champions' relatively young and green pitching staff will stand up against Virginia's Wake Forest, Duke, State and the strong teams to follow.

The Tar Heels won a previous home engagement from Washington and Lee 9 to 2, Fred Crouch pitching a three-hit game while his mates fell on Lefty Sauberm, the General ace, for a total of 16 safeties. The contest with Virginia will be the first in an annually classic three-game series between the old rivals. The Wake Forest game will open a home-and-home series.

According to the schedule of alternations Coach Bunn Hearn followed on the first part of the Virginia trip last week, Crouch, who is the lone veteran pitcher, is due to face Washington and Lee again and the big sophomore right hander, Earnest McKeithan, to take the mound against Virginia.

The order may be changed, however, to use the more experienced Crouch against Virginia, which has a great pitcher in Orin Rogers, who struck out 19 men in one of the Cavaliers games last week. Norman McCaskill will be behind the bat again after being left at home and missing the first game of the trip due to a sore throat.

The two games with Washington and Lee and Virginia will open a busy week for Tar Heel teams. Other events will include the North-South Tourney beginning at Pinehurst on Monday for the tennis team, a freshman baseball game with Louisville College, here Wednesday, and a golf match with Duke at Hope Valley Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

Wake Forest will be met in baseball, Georgetown in track, the Lynchburg Country Club in tennis, and Furman in golf on a program of four home contests carded for Saturday.

Teachers Off On 3-Day Trip On Thursday

By R. O. MOYE
The East Carolina Teachers College baseball squad will leave here early Thursday morning for a three day trip in which they will play the Fort Bragg team Thursday afternoon, and on Friday and Saturday will play the Presbyterian Junior College at Maxton.

Fourteen men will in all probably make the trip including Coach Beatty and Manager Jolly.
The greatest worry for Coach Beatty now is in the catchers position Jimmy Johnson, who has been doing all the catching for the Teachers this season had the misfortune to split his finger in the Louisville game on last Friday. Just who will take his place is not known but Ridenhour who caught in the last half of the Louisville game will probably be called behind the plate again.

Ridenhour Is Named Captain Of Teachers

By R. O. MOYE
Baxter Ridenhour, first baseman of the East Carolina Teachers College baseball nine, was chosen captain for this year at a meeting of the club during the past week.

Ridenhour, whose home is in Coolidge, was for four years first baseman on the high school team and also basketball star. He was captain of the baseball and basketball teams during his high school career. Prior to coming to the local college he was for two years first baseman of the Rutherford College team near Hickory.

Since coming to Greenville he has been playing in all three major sports at the college during the past year. In football he played the position of right tackle, in basketball he was right guard on the squad.

WILSON TO PLAY HIGHS ON TUESDAY

The local high baseball team will swing into action this week, tomorrow afternoon at the local 3rd Street park when the strong Wilson high school team will be played. The game will start at 3:45.

This will be the third game of the season for Greenville. Washington was defeated 15-4 and Williamston 12-8. In both of these games, the locals exhibited a strong hitting aggregation. The filing has been good in most cases, but in the Williamston game several pop fly balls that should have been easy outs, were caught. Then too, the pitching has not been any too good. Wells, who started the Williamston game, had plenty of stuff, but was wild as a "brunch" and forced in 4 runs in the 3rd inning without allowing a hit. However, he gave only 3 hits in his six innings on the mound, and when the ball realizes that he has support behind him, he will develop into a mighty pitcher.

Wilson has defeated Goldsboro twice this season, and has the same team of last year. Taylor, who pitched for them last year, will most likely be on the mound, while Vincent, the locals portside will face them. The same lineup will be in there that has been used in the two previous games. A slight shift will be made in the batting order, with Carroll, the fastest boy on the team on bases, leading off, then Pierce a left-handed hitter dropping down to second place. Jack Forbes who has been doing the best hitting on the club, will hit in the third position followed by Maddrin, Hodges, Gus Forbes, Clark, Dunn and the pitcher. This combination packs plenty of punch, and if the pitchers come through in a fair way then the locals should hang up another victory to their credit.

Kinston was scheduled to be played here Friday, however, due to their park not being completed, they have cancelled all games, and some other team will most likely be played in their place. At any rate, those fans holding season tickets will have a game in place of this.

New York Cotton

New York, April 9.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened fairly steady four to seven decline under. May liquidation and on lower Liverpool cables. In the absence of much demand prices sagged.
After the call the market steadied up a few points credited to continent and Japan.
By the end of the first half hour May was selling around 12.00 and October 12.24 with the general market about 3 to 7 points net lower.

Fluctuations during the remainder of the morning were confined to a narrow range with the undertone about steady. May sold up from 11.88 to 12.01 and October from 12.22 to 12.25 with prices at midday ruling within a point or so of these levels or 2 to 6 net lower.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 9.—(AP)—The stock market again was in a rather non-committal mood today and most traders and investors appeared to be well satisfied with a seat on the sidelines.
A few of the metals including some copper and silver issues were fairly firm as future prices for these staples pointed upward.
Transactions were around the duller of the year. The grains were virtually at a standstill along with cotton.
Rubber improved moderately. U. S. government and prime corporat-bonds were in some demand but secondary issues were mixed.

Conflicting trends gave stocks a ragged appearance.
Transfers were 800,000 shares.

tion chairman.
The petition was filed by Representative Wideman, Democrat of Michigan.

Representative McLeod of Michigan said a dozen members of the House were prepared to sign the request immediately and that there were prospects that 145 signatures—the necessary numbers to bring the bill to the floor for immediate consideration—would be obtained today.
McLeod said this procedure was being followed because action by the present session of Congress probably would not be possible under the ordinary course of events.

Cannon Goes On Trial

Washington, April 9.—(AP)—The jury for the trial of Bishop James Cannon and Miss Ada Burroughs was completed at 3:05 today.
Bishop Cannon and Miss Burroughs pleaded not guilty in criminal court to charge that they conspired to violate the corrupt practices act by failure to report all the anti-Smith presidential campaign contributions they received in 1928.
Miss Burroughs answered first in a quiet voice. Cannon speaking loud enough to be heard, through the courtroom said "Not guilty."
Indications that issues that played a large part in the Hoover-Smith campaign more than 5 years ago would enter into the trial proceedings.

Witheriton Surrenders

Goldsboro, April 9.—(AP)—George Witheriton, Goldsboro man charged with murder in the death February 1 of Miss Arlie Lee Howell here, and who escaped in Greenville several weeks ago pending habeas corpus hearing, surrendered to officers today. He had been taken to Greenville for habeas corpus proceedings when he disappeared from the court house. Nothing was heard from him until today when he walked into Wayne county courthouse and gave himself up.

"Full Feeling" After Meals

Here is how Theford's Black-Draught proved helpful to Mr. Archie W. Brown, of Fort Green, Fla.: "I have taken Black-Draught when I have felt dull from over-eating or eating too hurriedly," he writes. "Small doses right after meals rid me of gases and heavy feeling. I am a great believer in Black-Draught."
