Try To Halt Annulment Air Mail Contracts Threat Is Made

INJUNCTION IS SOUGHT BY AIR CONCERNS

Applications Filed In District of Columbia Supreme Court by 4 Aviation Companies; Farley has 20 Days to Answer Complaint; Requa denies Serving Flying Concerns.

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—Applications for injunction to restrain Postmaster General Farley from enforcing his order to annul air mail contracts were filed today with the clerk of the Supreme court for the District of Columbia by four aviation companies.

The companies were the Goings Air Transport, Inc., National Air Transport, Inc., Pacific Transport Co., Inc., and the Varney Air Line, Inc.

Farley has twenty days in which to either answer or file a motion to dismiss the applications.

Mark L. Requa, Republican National committee chairman from California, denied having consented to call former Postmaster General Brown on the carpet in 1931 in the interest of an aviation company controlled by E. L. Cord.

Requa was said to have done that in a letter Chairman Black of Alabama, read yesterday to the committee.

"I have never at any time had any conversations with Mr. Hoover or any other official other than Postmaster General Brown," Requa said regarding his alleged assistance to the Century Air Lines, a California company controlled by Cord.

ROTES TO MEET IN GREENSBORO

Members of Local Club Plan to Attend District Conference in Large Numbers.

Members of the Greenville Rotary Club are making plans to attend in large numbers the annual conference of the 87th District which will be held at Greensboro Thursday and Friday, May 10th and 11th.

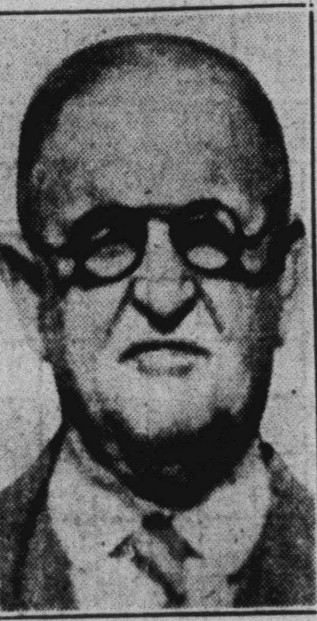

The conference is being held under the direction of District Governor Roscoe McMillan, of Red Springs, as well as Montgomery S. Hill and E. M. Oettinger, president and general committee chairman respectively of the host club. A complete committee state, to handle all details of the elaborate program and social features which are contemplated, was named some weeks ago, and according to information from the Gate City has already made considerable progress in the duties entrusted.

While the program has not yet been announced, it has been revealed that William R. Mainer of Nashville, Tenn., representative and director of Rotary International, will be the principal speaker at the opening session. That evening Rotarians and their ladies will be entertained at a dinner session, tentatively scheduled for Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, at which Rotarian "Dusty" Miller, of Wilmington, Ohio, inspirational speaker and humorist, will be the headliner. The final business session to be featured by the election of a district governor, will be held Friday morning. Numerous social activities, including the district governor's ball, are to be sandwiched between business meetings.

The conference proper will be preceded by the annual assembly of club officers which is scheduled for Wednesday on Wednesday, May 9th. After sessions there morning and afternoon the club executives will move upon Greensboro for a final dinner meeting and will then merge into the District Conference on the following morning.

District officials report that a hearty response has already been received and all indications, as another sign of emergence from the depression, point to the largest conference attendance in several years.

TWO ROBBERS SENTENCED TO PUBLIC ROADS

Several Other Defendants Given Road Sentences in Criminal Court

Charlie Harris and Bill Clark, colored, charged with robbing a negro store in the western section of the city some time ago, were found guilty in yesterday's session of criminal court here and sentenced by Judge Daniels to one year each. Harris is to be assigned for work at the County home and Clark was sent to the roads.

Several cases, consisting mainly of charges of larceny and breaking and entering, were disposed of by the court yesterday and the majority of defendants found their way to the roads. Only a few were adjudged not guilty.

Richard Lavelly, colored, charged with attempted breaking and entering the home of Redmond Hardee, was sentenced to from 15 to 20 months on the roads.

Convicted of breaking in the town jail at Fountain, H. W. Latham drew four months on the roads. He claimed to have been drinking at the time and did not know what he was doing. In fact, the jail would have been the last thing he would have attempted to enter.

Nathan Coward, colored was sentenced to six months on the roads for stealing an automobile. Two others involved in the case, Daniel Powell and Charlie Wallace, also colored, were found not guilty.

Elwood Gwaltney, convicted of the larceny of an automobile, was given 30 to 36 months on the roads. Eddie James, held in the case was released with a 6 months suspended sentence hanging over his head.

Sentence was not pronounced in the case of Walter Sessoms charged with a crime against nature. John Mitchell Gurganus was sent to the roads for 12 months for stealing an automobile.

NEGRO PICKET IS KILLED IN MINE BATTLE

Troops Sent to Alabama Coal Fields Where Miners Have Declared Holiday.

Leeds, Ala., April 18.—(AP)—A negro picket was killed this morning during a demonstration at the Red Diamond Mine which has been operating in the face of a strike called some days ago. Details of the affair were not immediately available.

Birmingham, Ala., April 18.—(AP)—An order of mobilization of 75 national guards for duty at Edgewater, 18 miles from here where approximately 1,200 miners are on a holiday was issued today.

In issuing the order Brigadier General John C. Persons did not disclose the reason for assembling the troops but the officers had reported an abortive attempt to destroy a water main there yesterday. Edgewater is one of the four towns just closed down by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company Monday when conditions became threatening.

The camp is largely composed of negroes and it was here last Saturday that a group armed with clubs marched on the shaft in an effort to force a shutdown.

J. C. GASKINS ENTERS 'RING'

Register of Deeds announces his Candidacy for Re-election in June.

J. C. Gaskins, who for the last eighteen years has served as Register of Deeds of Pitt county, announced today he would seek re-election in the June primary.

Elected in 1916, Mr. Gaskins assumed charge of the office on December 1 of that year and has served continuously ever since. He is considered one of the most efficient and popular public officials in this county and news of his announcement was received with interest by his hundreds of friends in all sections of the county.

He is a native of Griffin where he was engaged in business before coming to Greenville to take over his public office.

During his administration work of the office has shown tremendous growth and four years ago a Cross Index system was installed to facilitate the finding of records in spite of the great volume of the office.

In making his announcement today, Mr. Gaskins pointed to his record of service and efficient affairs. He promised if elected he would continue to render the highest type of service to the county.

GOVERNORS SEEK CUT OF TOBACCO TAX

Forty Percent Reduction in Federal Tax Sought at Capital City Today.

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—Headed by Governor Ehringhaus of North Carolina, a delegation of governors or their representatives from tobacco growing states met here today to urge a 40 per cent horizontal reduction in federal tobacco taxes and passage of the Kerr bill for control of tobacco reduction.

In addition to Ehringhaus, governors present were I. C. Blackwood, of South Carolina, and Hill McAlister, of Tennessee.

Representative Burch of Georgia represented Governor Curry of that state; George Wallace of Huntington, represented Governor Kump of West Virginia; Desha Breckenridge publisher of the Lexington Herald, represented Governor Laffoon, of Kentucky, while T. B. Symons of the University of Maryland and W. B. Posey, of Baltimore represented Governor Ritchie of Maryland.

Others present included Dr. J. Y. Joyner of La Grange, N. C., Claude C. Hill, Wooddale, N. C., Rep. Kerr, of N. C. and E. V. Webb, of Kingston.

Governor Ehringhaus said at the opening of the meeting that his purpose was to "give a measure of backing and co-operation to the movement in congress to reduce the tobacco tax."

"Our representatives in congress have been diligent in their efforts to improve the conditions of tobacco growers," he said.

There is no purpose in this gathering to interfere with their program but to give them a measure of backing and cooperation."

He said newspaper accounts of the hearing before the house ways and means sub-committee on reduction of the tax created the impression in his state that because the measure was brought up so late there was little likelihood congress would act on the proposal at this session.

"The people of my state gained the impression that the active participation and support of the Secretary of Agriculture for the proposed cut might help get definite action at this session."

"That is the reason I accepted this conference. I wanted to ascertain the degree of unanimity of sentiment in the tobacco growing states and to utilize the situation to the extent of getting the support of the Secretary of Agriculture and the President."

J. Noah Williams, Greenville business man, today announced his candidacy for re-election to the Pitt County Board of Commissioners.

A member who has fought consistently for economy in government and reduction of taxes, Mr. Williams said if re-elected he would continue his work in this direction.

He has served for one term and during the time has taken a conspicuous part in attempting to lift the tax burden from the shoulders of land owners.

He is a member of the firm of Williams and Waldrep here and gives considerable time to the operation of several farms in this section.

Mr. Williams started his political career on the board of Aldermen here. In that capacity he fought for economy in government and lower taxes even as he has battled for the same cause since his election to the county board.

Several other candidates announced they would seek seats on the Board of Commissioners in the June election and indications point to one of the most hotly contested battles of ballots in years.

LEGION GOES TO STOKES TO EAT BARBECUE

Stokes Members of Organization Hosts at Delightful Supper Last Night.

Can those boys who fought in the World War eat barbecue? Ask folks down at Stokes for the answer and they'll certainly answer in the affirmative.

The Pitt County Post, of the American Legion went down to Stokes for its regular monthly meeting and barbecue last night. Every member was suffering from a proposed gastronomic vacancy and when the appetizing barbecue supper was served by a bevy of comely Stokes ladies, the former veterans nearly ate their heads off. Had Commander June Rose not been with the boys it is impossible to say what would have happened.

The occasion, held in the beautiful high school building, was described as one of the most enjoyable in years. Members of the Legion of the Stokes area were hosts, and knowing their buddies from long association and experience, they provided a tantalizing feast of real old Pitt county pig to make the evening complete.

All business was abandoned to give the boys ample time to do away with the tempting repast, and even the voices of the most loquacious member of the post were silenced as they attacked the pig in a surprisingly voracious manner.

The only thing in the way of vocal utterance taking place during the evening came from Commander Rose, who was so enthusiastic over the membership honors hung up by the post that he just had to "let the cat out of the bag"—not the pig.

He said the membership at this time stood close to 200 per cent. He also stated that so far as known, this was the best record set by any post in the country.

Hosts to the Legion were: Coy Forbes, Ray Hardison, M. H. Whichard, Sam Crandle, Willie Warren, Sam Whitehurst and Jarvis Stokes.

Ladies who served the supper were: Mrs. M. H. Whichard, Mrs. Ray Hardison, and Misses Edna and Dare Barnhill, Mary Louise Willard, Maud Congleton, Beatrice Cherry and Ruby Barnhill.

Prior to the supper a song program was led by Commander Rose with Miss Ruby Barnhill at the piano.

Alfred Kennedy delighted the Legionnaires with a dance number accompanied at the piano by Miss Barnhill.

HARRINGTON PLEADS NOT GUILTY HERE

Young Man Charged with Slaying Stepfather to go on Trial Tomorrow Morning.

Matthew Harrington, Greenville young man, charged with the first degree murder of his stepfather, John Gurganus, on the night of February 17, will go on trial in criminal Superior court here tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Arranged yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock, Harrington pleaded not guilty. The grand jury previously had returned a true bill in the case.

Immediately after the arraignment, Judge Frank A. Daniels, of Goldsboro who is presiding over the two-week term of court, ordered a special venire of 100 to appear here tomorrow morning from which a jury will be selected to sit in the case.

Harrington has been held in jail here since he surrendered several days after Gurganus' lifeless body was found in the Tar river highway bridge fill Sunday afternoon, February 17. He had been shot to death.

The state alleges that Harrington slew his stepfather. The two were seen riding together in an automobile which Harrington allegedly borrowed from J. Knott Proctor here Saturday.

Harrington admitted riding his stepfather, but stoutly denied he had anything to do with his death.

He told officers he went to New York after leaving here early Sunday morning, but witnesses claim to have seen him in the vicinity of Washington that night. He was said to have asked for something to wipe off the seat of his car at two different places near Washington. He told officers the automobile, was later stolen from him.

At a habeas corpus hearing before Judge Daniels in Snow Hill several weeks ago, Harrington was denied bond because he refused to say where he went or what he did with the automobile.

The defendant has consistently refused to talk when questioned. The only information he gave out was when he surrendered to officers here and said he had been to New York and lost the car.

The case has attracted more interest than any other happening in this section in some time and the courtroom was expected to be crowded to overflowing throughout the trial.

WANTS ARMS EQUAL WITH GERMANY

MEMORANDUM DRAFTED BY PREMIER DOUMERGUE AND FOREIGN MINISTER BARTHOU; DECLARE PRESENT NEGOTIATIONS FOR DISARMAMENT HAVE FAILED; MUST DETERMINE TRUTH OF THE HITLER PROGRAM.

Paris, April 18.—(AP)—France threatened in a note to Great Britain to scrap all current disarmament negotiations unless she is given something equivalent to the military skyline old entente cordial, it was revealed today.

The threat is expressed in a memorandum drafted by Premier Gaston Doumergue and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou.

It supplements a previous note in which France expressed a desire for new arms reduction conference on the basis that the present negotiations have failed.

The note frankly said it is useless to argue about conditions until the full truth of Chancellor Adolph Hitler's rearmament program in Germany is determined.

Germany's own revelation of rearmament, the note says, makes it impossible to continue discussions of an arms convention based on the idea of German moderation in rearmament.

These revelations are Hitler's assertions and the new German budget figures which the French think proves Germany is rearming for beyond general belief, it was added.

BEGIN STREET IMPROVEMENT

Construction Forces Commence Work on Resurfacing Dickinson Avenue.

Work on the resurfacing of Dickinson avenue as ordered sometime ago by the State Highway and Public Works commission started this morning but was temporarily suspended because of rain. The street will be reinforced from the Atlantic Coast Line depot to Five Points under the contract awarded to the Brown Paving Company several days ago.

Along with the improvement of this street, contract has also been let for the widening of Fifth street from Library street to the city limits. This work also was scheduled to get under way in the next several days.

The improvements will be made with funds allotted to the state by the Federal Government. Dickinson Avenue has been torn up for the last two weeks as construction forces of the Water and Light Commission placed new pipes and mains in the section to be affected by the improvement program.

All insecure places in the brick pavement along the street will be reinforced under terms of the contract and then the pavement will be resurfaced so as to conform with other paving of the city.

Negotiations for the two jobs have been under way for several months and the city was virtually assured of success of the movement following the survey by state engineers.

CRAZY NEGRO RECAPTURED

Jake 'Sunshine' Jones Picked up Without a Struggle by Durham Police.

Durham, April 18.—(AP)—After nearly a week's freedom Jake "Sunshine" Jones, 21-year-old negro inmate of the State insane asylum, was behind bars here today.

The negro was picked up without a struggle by police last night and was identified by J. T. Lewis, cotton textile manufacturer as the man who entered his bedroom Monday and escaped with a sum of money. Police said they did not know whether Jones would be kept here to face a burglary charge or turned over to state authorities.

KNOW WHAT YOU VOTE FOR

Now that we have candidates for both branches of the General Assembly, the next thing our people should know is how these candidates stand on the important issues to come before that body at the next session.

tainly this cannot be done unless the issues have been fully discussed and the wishes of the people made known. In order to vote intelligently on the candidates the people should know how they stand and any candidate seeking support should gladly make his platform known.

The old promises of being for tax reduction and for the best interests of the people without definite statements how these things can be brought about is just another campaign promise to be forgotten by the candidate once he or she is elected.

We urge the voters of Pitt County to find out where the candidates stand this year before pledging their support. Know what you are voting for when you cast your ballot for a Senator or Representative.

It is encouraging that work has been resumed on the Gritton community house project. Let us hope that work is soon resumed on the swimming pool and other projects here. This delay in transferring the projects from the CWA to the FERA is not only working a hardship on numbers of the unemployed but is seriously delaying projects that should be carried to completion.

Government costs money and is supposed to protect the rights of every man. Why then should not every man bear some of the cost of government?

I believe the adoption of the sales tax is the right answer to this question. Some say the law ought to be repealed because the sales tax does not raise as much money as was claimed it would. To me that does not seem good reason for advocating repeal of the law. It requires more time than has elapsed to perfect an organization necessary to handle the sales tax in most efficient way.

I venture to say that if business conditions are the same in the second year of its operation as in the first, that the amount of money raised will not fall far short of what was expected when the law was passed.

It has been said by men who ought to know that the sales tax did save the schools and credit of the state and I for one believe what they said. I know that this statement has been challenged as has the right of a voter to ask if the sales tax is repealed who will be taxed to raise the money in place of the sales tax.

Canada has had a sales tax for about fifteen years. It is inconceivable that if this was a bad law it could have remained on their statute books so long. And the rate is 6 per cent in Canada just twice as large as our 3 per cent.

And it is worthy of note that during the depression there has been no bank failures in Canada.

'CAT' MATCH AND TOURNEY FACING U.N.C.

Chapel Hill, April 18.—The undefeated teams of Davidson and Carolina were to clash here this afternoon in a match which will have an important bearing in determining the seedings for the State Tournament opening here tomorrow afternoon.

Unless Jimmy Halverstadt, Davidson's captain and number one player, should be the victim of an upset it is certain that he will be seeded first in the state tourney. Halverstadt is the ranking player back from last year's tournament having upset Lenoir Wright and gone to the finals with Wilmer Hines, both of whom have graduated.

In addition to being singles champion last year, Hines played on Carolina's doubles teams which won the title for three successive years. He teamed with Wright last year. With the loss of these two stars, the Tar Heels, who have monopolized all titles in the State for the past five years, find themselves in the unaccustomed role of underdogs.

Harvey Harris, a former state high champion, has succeeded to the number one post on the Carolina team. Unless he should make a surprising showing against Halverstadt today, he likely will be seeded fourth behind the Davidson boy and John Higgins and Barney Welch of Duke.

Higgins and Welch are due to be ranked number one in doubles. Halverstadt and Myers of Davidson went to the finals with Hines and Wright last year. However, the graduation of Myers broke up that combination leaving Higgins and Welch the ranking team.

The match this afternoon between Halverstadt and his new partner, Thompson, and Carolina's number one team of Captain Dave Morgan and Walter Levitan probably will decide which of the two teams will be seeded second.

Coach John Kenfield indicated today that he would give the call to six men: Harris, Willis, Levitan, Morgan, Minor and McGlin.

FIRE ANNIVERSARY STARTS NEW BLAZE

Defuniak Springs, Fla.—(AP)—Members of the local Methodist church say the business of celebrating anniversaries can be carried too far.

Thirty-four years ago, March 11, 1900, their house of worship was destroyed by fire.

A new one was built. Flames broke out again in the church March 11 this year. But little damage was done.

The Strange Party

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER Mrs. Quacker was right on time at the party, and the other Quackers of Quackerville came along too. "Good-afternoon," said Mrs. Quacker, as she waddled forth to meet them.

"I want to introduce you to my good friends, the elephants." "Quack-quack," she quacked. "It's true. They are elephants. Aren't they huge? And they seem quite friendly, too."

Mrs. Quacko was paying great attention to Mrs. Quacker to see her surprise. "Indeed they are very friendly," she returned. "At first it was hard for us to understand each other's ways, but now we know how to share the pond, and we've learned a number of quite fine tricks."

Mrs. Quacko Duck and the other ducks got on top of the elephants' trunks, and then they got on their backs and the elephants splashed right down into the pond.

After they had performed the tricks for the Quackers who stood along the bank the elephants passed around brook sandwiches in their trunks, and then they left so the ducks could have the pond.

"You can see from here that we have a circus, with tents and wagons and people and animals, quack, quack," said Mrs. Quacko.

"My dear," said Mrs. Quacker, "I only know important creatures. That's why I've always considered you my very best friend."

"Oh, yes, Mrs. Quacker was impressed. Tomorrow—"The Dress Rehearsal"

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 15.

The golden text was from Jeremiah 30:17: "I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee with thy wounds, saith the Lord."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Thou art near, O Lord, and all thy commandments are truth. Great peace have they which love thy law; and nothing shall offend them." (Ps. 119:151, 165).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If sin, sickness, and death are as real as Life, Truth and Love, then they must all be from the same source; God must be their author. Now Jesus came to destroy sin, sickness, and death; yet the Scriptures aver: 'I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill.' Is it possible, then, to believe that the evils which Jesus lived to destroy are real or the offspring of the divine will?"

BRIDGE LUNCHEON FOR MRS. SKINNER AND MRS. SMITH

Mrs. J. B. James was gracious hostess at an attractively appointed bridge luncheon Friday at her home on East Fifth street, honoring Mrs. Charles C. Skinner, Jr., who was recently married, and her house guest, Mrs. Willis Smith of Raleigh.

Ten tables for bridge were placed in the sun room, music room and living room which were beautifully decorated in tulips, yellow daisies, lilacs, iris and blue phlox, with a predominating color note of yellow and blue.

For high score Mrs. H. L. Hodges was given a lovely box of flowers containing daisies, delphinium, lace flowers, roses and sweet peas in shades of yellow and blue. Low score prize, a blue suede table cover, went to Mrs. D. M. Clark. Mrs. Skinner was presented a silver platter and Mrs. Smith a gold and ivory picture frame. Other guests remembered were, Mrs. F. C. Boies, who was given a silver bacon and egg platter, and Mrs. Mary Bell Minetree and Mrs. O. L. Grubbs of Greensboro, mirrored boxes of guest's powder puffs.

LARGE ENROLLMENT EXPECTED FOR SUMMER TERM AT COLLEGE

The present indications for the summer school at East Carolina Teachers College are that there will be a much larger enrollment this year than for several years.

The entertainment and social program for the first term, which continues from June 12 to July 18, has been announced and has a number of attractive features. The Bergman Players, the Davies Light Opera Company and the Boston Art Quartet will furnish the professional entertainments. There will also be moving pictures each week. The students will have the opportunity to enjoy barbecues, melon feasts, hikes, trips to nearby points of interest, and swimming.

MISS WHITE ENTERTAINS FOR MISS ELLISON AND MISS MOYE

Outstanding among the many attractive parties of the season was yesterday afternoon, when Miss Helen White charmingly entertained honoring Miss Lillian Burch Ellison of Washington, whose marriage to Robert P. Allen of Weldon, will be solemnized Saturday in St. Peter's Church, Washington; and Miss Clara Louise Moye, who will marry Aubrey Shackel of East Orange, N. J., in June.

On arrival, guests were greeted by Mrs. S. T. White and Mrs. James Ellison and presented to the hostess and honor guests. Crabapple blossoms, lilacs, roses, lilacs and tulips, and numerous shaded lights made a lovely background for the nine bridge tables.

Concluding a number of interesting games, the honor guests were presented tea-rose pajamas. High score prize, a lovely corsage, was won by Miss Katherine Smith. Low score prize, a rainbow evening handkerchief, by Miss Mable Glenn Best, and the visitors prize, an Evening-in-Paris powder and perfume set, went to Miss Mary Whit Matthews of Washington. Mrs. Bowen Ross of Raleigh, and Mrs. Charles C. Skinner, Jr. recent brides, were each given a half dozen linen tea napkins. Mrs. Vance Perkins, Mrs. Staunton Harvey and Mrs. M. K. Blount, brides of the early spring, were remembered with embroidered linen towels. Mrs. F. G. Hussey, who recently arrived in Greenville to make her home, was given bridge cards, and Mrs. Mary Bell Minetree of Greensboro, silk hose. The prizes were wrapped in white and showered with green ribbons.

For the refreshment hour only candlelight was used. The tables were centered with tall green candles in low holders. A tempting frozen salad course and demitasse was served. On each plate green and white cups held green mints, and a miniature green candle in a green rose was placed in the salad.

Out of town guests were Mrs. James Ellison, Miss Lillian Burch Ellison, Mrs. John Gorham, Miss Lallah Bragaw, Miss Mary Whit Matthews, Miss Nina Way Credle, Miss Nellie Stewart, Mrs. Joe Walker, Washington; Mrs. Bowen Ross, Raleigh; Mrs. Mary Belle Minetree, Greensboro, and Miss Helen Eldridge, Winston-Salem.

Faculty Plays Please Audience.

Three one-act plays given by the college faculty and staff in the Austin Auditorium last night drew a large and receptive audience in spite of a downpour of rain just at the time for the program to begin. The curtain raiser, "Fourteen," showed a dining room scene where Mrs. Pringle, a "social-climber" hostess, played by Miss Mary Greene is giving a last glance at her dinner table, set for a formal dinner for fourteen. First one guest and then another send last minute regrets, others are hastily asked to fill in, the number see-saws back and forth until the hostess is frantic, and finally ends, as it began, fourteen, but with the Prince of Wales among the number.

Miss Agnes Wadlington was the debutante daughter, and P. W. Pickelsimer the efficient butler in the play.

"Two Crooks and a Lady" which followed, gave the audience something entirely different. A paralyzed old woman by her keenness outwits two thieves—bent on carrying off her diamond necklace. Miss Elizabeth Hymen played this difficult part. She manages to get the ear of the crooks separately and convinces each one that his confederate is

POINTERS ON POISE

III TURNING

By LAURA TOWNSEND DAVIS
If you ever attended a fashion show employing professional mannequins, you have noticed the ease and grace with which those girls turned as they showed the gowns.

True, mannequins often lift their arms as they turn, and, indeed, all their movements are exaggerated—for display purposes. But fundamentally their walking turning and poses are artistically correct and illustrative of the principles of good posture.

The Feet Are Important
These principles are the common property of sculptor, artist, dancer and actress.

Let us consider that trick of turning the way a professional does it. (By the way, have you ever noticed that a good bit of clowning in the circus and on stage and screen is done with the feet? You must be careful so that they won't be ludicrous.)

"Line of Beauty"

Your right limb now becomes the relaxed line—a sculptor would call it a "soft line" or a "line of beauty." You are now ready, with that one smooth turn, to walk in the opposite direction. Always, in making a turn toward the side of the relaxed limb and foot.

double-crossing him, with the result that the girl Lucile, played by Miss Catherine Cassidy, snatches the revolver of her fellow thief, A. D. Frank, and shoots him down.

In the end, Miss Annie Newell, by the nurse, "The Man Upstairs" in the third, "The Man Upstairs" there is a decided mix-up when Mr. Frisbee, who after a week's absence gets into the word that his wife is out, and proceeds to unpack, get into his slippers and smoking jacket and make himself very much at home.

Discovered there by the jealous Mr. Ruggles, who really lives in that flat, Mr. Frisbee with much difficulty convinces Mr. Ruggles that he is there through a mistake. But Mrs. Frisbee appearing at that moment, a real squabble begins between the two women and the men slip away leaving them to fight it out.

Miss Elizabeth Smith and J. B. Cummings were the Ruggless; Miss Margaret Sammon and R. C. Deal were the Frisbees; and Miss Eunice McGhee was the new Irish cook.

Several additional features were given as interludes. As the audience gathered, Miss Eugenia Thomas played a number of piano selections.

Between the first and second plays, the East Carolina Teachers College violin ensemble played a minuet by Boccherini; and Miss Lois Gorrell, first violin, Miss Lucy Nulton, second, and Miss Lois Grigsby, third, made up a violin trio, with Miss Dora Mead at the piano.

A chorus of women members of faculty and staff, sang two well received choruses during the last intermission.

The plays were coached by Misses Turner, Charlton and Greene. Every member of the faculty and staff contributed in some way to the production.

All of the furniture for the plays was very kindly supplied by Taft Furniture Company.

The money raised will go to help finance the big pageant the college is preparing to produce at commencement time.

RED OAK NEWS

day night. The Grimesland young people rendered a most inspiring program. And talk about singing—well, you should have heard them. We want the Grimesland group and the Greenville group to visit us in the near future.

So many sad deaths have occurred that have affected some one in our community for the past two weeks. There have been seven—more than we ever remember in the same length of time. Several of our folks attended funeral services for Mrs. John Kittrell in Greenville Monday afternoon. "Cousin Sis," as she was lovingly called by some, was the oldest person living who had ever been a member of Red Oak.

She accepted the faith at our church years and years ago when she was quite young and in fact it was her sister who helped to start our church at Red Oak. We extend our sympathy to "Miss Deshler" who has given us such a splendid example of loyalty and devotion.

News was received in this community yesterday morning of the death of Mr. Ben Heath who was the father of Scott Heath. We extend our deepest sympathy to the family in their bereavement.

We shall miss the kindly smile, the pleasant words and the genial nature of the one who passed so suddenly from our midst the past week, our good neighbor, Mr. Elias Crawford. He was truly what Rev. Woodard said he was—a good neighbor, a good church worker, a kind and loving father and a devoted husband. His family have our sympathy in their bereavement. We also extend our sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Sutton in the untimely death of their son.

One of the young folks of our community submitted the following poem. They asked that their name be withheld. We can tell by this poem that after all, young folks can think serious thoughts in this day and time in spite of the opinions of some people to the contrary.

The Reaper.

We know not when God, the Great Reaper,
Will send His angels to harvest His grain,
We can only count the stalks of life as they fall among us
And say, "They are the Reaper's gain."

As each stalk grows and finishes its work,

The Reaper is waiting with sickle and scythe.
For those who have lived in accord with His plan,
To give them everlasting life.

How different is He from reapers on earth,
Who harvest all their grain at one sway,
For He picks the ones out from all the rest,
That have served their number of days.

We know not when our frail bodies,
Like stalks of grain will lie low,
Let's do His command; work with His plan,
Be His servants while we grow.

Judith Lane

by JEANNEY BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: The test well Judith Dale is sinking to prove to the Scoggins family that there is no oil on a piece of ground Scoggins holds that is necessary to the Rio Diablo dam, has been blown up in a storm.

Chapter 39

CALLERS COME

THE storm was over, the clean cool air that followed in its wake blew through Judith's house. Delphy sniffed it gratefully as she stood at the kitchen door, then sniffed back towards the kitchen and waddled rapidly across the floor towards the stove.

"Didn't burn," she said with a sigh of relief, and drew a golden-brown upside down cake from the oven. Carefully then she went over her menu for the evening meal.

She went to the front door and looked down the hill. Judith Dale was coming up alone. Her clothing, dripping wet from the still falling rain, clung to her slim figure, her hair hung in bedraggled wisps, even her shoulders seemed slouched under some sudden weight.

As she came close she looked up and Delphy wondered if the wet drops glistening on her cheeks were rain drops or tears.

"Look at cha," she growled, like a mother bear, "Just look. Like a drowned rat, hair a hangin'. What you suspect to do, take yo' death a cold? Come long in here and git in your tub. Take those wet clothes off—"

She started peeling the garments from the unprotesting girl as she scolded, handed her a flannel robe and went to fill the canvas tub. Still Judith said nothing. Obediently she went to the tub, bathed, dressed in dry clothing and came back to the main room to sit down in a chair and stare stupidly at the door.

Delphy carried to a small tray with a cup of strong, black coffee and Judith sipped it dutifully.

"Miss Judy," Delphy could stand her silence no longer, "what you all givin' for. What's happenin'?"

"I'm not grieving, Delphy, I'm just... just sunk, that's all."

"You mean cause that well done blew up?"

"It didn't blow up, Delphy, lightning struck the derrick. There was a leak in a drum of fuel oil that blew up and caused the other drums to go."

"Laws a-me," confided Delphy, "I done thought Judgment Day were here sure-nuff, I could just hear Gabriel a blowin' his ho'n an, Miss Judith, Delphy giggled a little, "I most made up my mind to send Lige back his money, what's left of it, 'cause I didn't play honest, I was too scared a losin' and not gettin' to come long with you."

"IT DID make an awful noise; I thank Heavens everyone was over here on the hill. The debris flew for hundreds of yards, and one piece went right through one of the motor truck houses. From the way Mamie Scoggins is acting you'd think I'd ordered the lightning in."

"You mean she say you have to build another one?"

"Yes Delphy, and I haven't the money." She didn't know why she was confiding in the old woman, but she had to talk to someone and goodness knew that no one had been more faithful, "you see, in our contract, I agreed to see they dug or drilled to the five thousand foot level. They are only down three. Delphy... why does everything have to go wrong?"

"Reckon it's the Devil's Dam, Miss Judy, but everything ain't a goin' wrong. That there lightning was thrown down there by Mister Tomy's ghost. He done see what misery them Scoggins were bringin' in you. But don't you worry none. Ma's Norman, he'll come long back. Some a these days that bad boy, I knows him, and then everything will be all right."

stance as follows: Four shining limousines, bearing a score of London's top-notch flight experts, rolled impressively up to a great outdoor swimming emporium on the outskirts of the city.

The water looked cold, and inside the clubhouse, where a crude ring had been set up, it felt even colder. All concrete, and not a glimmer of heat. The journalists seated themselves expectantly and shivered.

"Jolly fine heating system," remarked one.

"Righto," affirmed another. "A wonder they didn't think to switch on the blasted fans."

Presently one Jack Doyle, a 220-pound Irish youth, slipped through the ropes, followed a moment later by a lightweight named Alf, whose features looked like they might have been caught under a harrow.

ers of the President in the 1932 campaign. Apparently must fight for their political lives unassisted.

Under ordinary circumstances it would seem that the senate would be the logical place for the republicans to attempt to stage a comeback. While the democrats expect to lose some of their strength in the house no one believes their huge majority there will be overthrown.

There are more republican senators up for reelection, however than democrats. This added to the fact that the 17 at least two are irregulars, making the outlook only darker for them.

An increased democratic majority in the senate for the next congress seems inevitable.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington - Discussions of the congressional elections this year usually center around the fact that the entire membership of the house must fight for its seats, while little thought is given the situation in the senate.

Yet 32 senators - 14 democrats, 17 republicans and one farm-laborer - are faced with expiration of their terms within the year. For some of these, adjournment of the present session may mean the end of their political careers.

The names of some have figured large in every mention of political happenings in Washington for years back. They have come to be regarded almost as permanent fixtures around the capitol.

A year or so ago they apparently were so firmly entrenched in their home states as to seem unbeatable. Men such as Pess of Ohio and Reed of Pennsylvania are included in this category.

Many On Anxious Seat Changed conditions as well as inter and intra party controversies have put many of them on the anxious seat. For the first time in many years they are skeptical of their ability to hold on for another term.

Veteran observers blinked in amazement in 1932 when they saw old-timers such as Watson of Indiana, Moses of New Hampshire and Smoot of Utah relegated to political oblivion. They are prepared for almost anything now.
