PREDICT SHOWDOWN ON DISARMAMENT IN MAY

League Leaders At Geneva Begin Control 'Drive'

BIG PROBLEMS TO BE AIRED AT SESSIONS

Representatives of the Nations to Attempt to Pull together the Threads of an Arms Agreement; France May Insist on Report from Germany Before Entering Pact; Far East Demanding Attention.

Geneva, April 20.—(AP)—League of Nations officials forecast today a dramatic showdown on disarmament May 23.

That is the date when representatives of the nations in the world disarmament conference will return to Geneva in full session to attempt to catch and pull together the flying wings of the many-sided problem of arms control.

There were even unconfirmed reports that France may insist upon a report on German armaments before consenting to negotiate any sort of treaty. But the differences of France, Germany and Great Britain formed but one set of problems as a whole.

Today a tendency was seen in Geneva to link what one of the officials called "the disturbed disarmament situation" with developments in the Far East growing out of the newly stated Japanese policy that the western powers must keep the Japanese off China.

Some progress was seen by well informed sources here in the British "white paper" revelation at London Thursday that Germany had expressed a willingness to promote a reduction of armaments by other powers for five years.

This stand may reduce the apprehension of France regarding Germany's arms-apprehension which led her to state flatly that there could be no further hope of a bilateral agreement with the Reich operating under a budget granting an increase of Germany military.

NEGRO FAILS TO ROB STORE

Attempt to Enter Young's Store Frustrated by Bellboy This Morning

An attempt to rob Young's store was "nipped in the bud" early today by a negro bellboy who frightened the robber away.

Somebody sleeping upstairs over the store heard a noise below, called the bellboy and told him to investigate.

Going to the Greene street entrance to the building the bellboy was just in time to see a negro disappear from one of the windows. The window had been smashed and it was believed the intruder was preparing to enter the store when he was interrupted.

The bellboy said the would-be robber disappeared down the street before he could be identified.

Police were notified of the incident and while officers went to the store they were unable to find any clue that would lead to the apprehension of the robber.

MINERS ARE DISPERSED IN ALABAMA

Soldiers Break Up a Group of Pickets Following Brief Parley Early Today.

Birmingham, Ala., April 20.—(AP)—After a brief parley Alabama National guardsmen and deputy sheriffs today dispersed a group of from 500 to 700 striking miners at the Red Diamond coal mine near Leeds where a striker was killed Wednesday.

The guardsmen and deputies were hurried to the mine when reports were received here that the pickets had gathered to prevent reopening of the shaft where threatening miners sought to return to work.

Lt. Col. James A. Webb, commanding the national guardsmen, persuaded the pickets, a crowd of mixed whites and negroes to disperse and order was restored.

Previous to the arrival of the guardsmen and deputies, the pickets had ignored deputy sheriffs on duty swarming over the property but so far as could be learned attacked no one.

FINDS THAT BUSINESS SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Asheville, April 20.—(AP)—Attendance at district meetings of the North Carolina Building and Loan League has convinced him that business in the state is showing a "marked improvement." W. A. Fonville of Wilmington, league president, said here today.

Mr. Fonville said that despite the betterment reported to him by building and loan association officials, it is important that real estate taxes be reduced. He said "until we can find something better" the sales tax should be supported.

Norman Platt of Canton, won the district contest for the Kessler memorial awards to be made by the league in final contests to be held at the state convention at Elizabeth City, June 14-16.

PASTOR BANS THIEVES IN POLISH COURT ROOM

Lodz, Poland.—(AP)—A gang of thieves who robbed Christ church here were excommunicated by the pastor at the conclusion of their trial in the Court of Lodz.

The pastor, who appeared at the trial as a witness asked the judge for permission to excommunicate the seven men and one woman after their guilt had been established.

After this ceremony the thieves received prison sentences of from six months to 5 years each.

TELL WHAT TO DO WITH LEAF ACRES RENTED

Administrative Ruling on the Matter Given Publicity by Extension Dept.

There appears to be a great deal of confusion as to just what disposition can be made of tobacco rented to the government, and for that reason the Extension Service of State College has sent out the administrative ruling on the subject.

Farmers who are not quite certain what to do with the surplus land would do well to read the ruling so that they will be on the right side of the fence in the final analysis.

The ruling follows: The rented acres shall be considered as "planted to soil-improving or erosion-preventing crops" if planted to such crops as bluegrass, orchard grass, red top, timothy, meadow fescue, red clover, alsike clover, white clover, alfalfa, sweet clover, lespedeza, or mixture thereof, or to soy beans, cowpeas, field peas, or vetch, provided such crops and or accompanying nurse crops are used only for plowing under, or are allowed to remain entirely on the land.

The rented acres shall be considered as "planted to pasture" if planted to any of the above-named crops except soy beans, cowpeas, field peas, sweet clover, or vetch, without a nurse crop, provided such crops are used only for grazing by livestock for home consumption or use on the farm or for the products of which are so used.

Land occupied by established pasture crop, such as bluegrass, may be included as rented acres, provided such land is "table land suited to the growing of tobacco and fairly representative of the tobacco land on the farm."

If any crop planted on any part of the rented acres is harvested for home consumption or use on the farm, then any crop which is grazed or pastured thereon, including those designated in paragraph above, shall be considered as "feed crops for livestock (or livestock products) for home consumption or use on the farm." The area of the rented acres occupied by such crops as are grazed or pastured, plus the area planted to other crops for home consumption or use on the farm.

CITY OFFICIALS ATTEND MEET

Delegation Goes to Raleigh and Hears Mrs. O'Berry on Curtailed Relief Work

Headed by Mayor R. C. Flanagan a delegation of city officials went to Raleigh yesterday to attend a meeting of the Municipal Association.

The delegation returned last night reporting themselves as highly pleased with the outcome of these sessions, which were continued through today.

Those making the trip in addition to the Mayor were: Aldermen Joe Taft, H. H. Duncan, City Treasurer Chester Harris, and City Clerk J. O. Duvall.

The delegation heard Mrs. Thomas O'Berry explain that the federal relief program for this state had been halted during April and would not be resumed until May 1.

This means that all projects started under the CWA, which were suspended several weeks ago will not get under way immediately as announced but will remain idle until the first of the coming month.

"Relief the remainder of April will be direct relief and that will be extended only to persons most desperately in need," Mrs. O'Berry stated.

The curtailment of work is due to the shortage of funds this month. Only $1,100,000 was allotted to North Carolina for the work relief program in cities, the rural rehabilitation program and for direct relief needs in both city and rural districts.

Work which had been resumed on projects where materials were already on hand has been halted under the new order received at State headquarters and there is no chance of it being resumed until additional funds become available.

The association also heard plans (Continued on page Three.)

CANNON TELLS OF HIS FUNDS

Said he Kept Contributions in Banks at Richmond and Washington City

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., told a District of Columbia jury today that he kept funds for his 1928 campaign against the presidential candidacy of Alfred E. Smith in a safe deposit box in Richmond and in a good tin box in his Washington apartment.

Testifying for the second day in his trial with M. A. Burroughs on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal corrupt practice act by failing to report all contributions received, the Southern Methodist churchman added that he kept two bank accounts, one in Richmond and the other in Washington. Explaining the $65,000 contribution of E. C. Jameson, a New York insurance executive to the anti-Smith campaign, he said:

"I deposited it in Richmond or Washington in one account or the other or in one of the other of the safe deposit boxes. But I did not separate the Jameson money in my accounts from any of the other money, but kept a separate account in my memorandum."

WARREN FOR TREASURER

Business Man Seeking Post Which Five Other Candidates are Out For

The sixth hat for the office of County Treasurer was tossed into the ring today by W. E. Warren, Greenville man.

Mr. Warren, who for many years has been connected with the firm of R. E. Harris & Company here, said if elected he would render the highest type of service.

The fight for this office seems to be shaping up for one of the outstanding of the county, although the political guns are also trained on the board of commissioners and register of deeds.

Mr. Warren has been connected with the business field here for a number of years and this is his first venture in the political arena which promises to be a busy place primary day.

Jackson Out For Constable

C. C. Jackson today announced his candidacy for constable of Winterville township subject to the Democratic primary in June.

He said if elected he would attempt to render the highest type of service to the constituency.

SEEKS CLINIC FOR CRIPPLES IN THIS AREA

Dr. McGeachy Starts Movement to Obtain Orthopaedic Clinic In This County

A movement was on foot here today to obtain an orthopaedic clinic for Pitt county.

Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Pitt County Department of Health, announced this morning that he was negotiating with the State Vocational Department with a view to obtaining information regarding the financing of such a clinic here, and expected to receive a reply in the next few days.

Clinics of this kind are being conducted at Goldsboro, Wilson and Fayetteville. They are being sponsored by some organization in one or two of the towns and by the Vocational Department in the other.

These clinics offer free treatment to persons suffering from crippled feet and legs and are really rendering an outstanding service, Dr. McGeachy said.

In view of the size of Pitt county and the number of such cases on record, the health director expressed belief that a clinic could be obtained along with financial assistance from the State department. He stated that an orthopaedic surgeon resides in this county and unquestionably would be glad to assist in the conduct of the proposed clinic here.

The care of crippled children is on the program of several organizations here and Dr. McGeachy said he believed their support could also be obtained in making the clinic possible.

More definite information concerning the progress of the movement will be made in the next few days, he said, and in the meantime people interested in the proposal are urged to get in touch with the Health Department and render all assistance possible.

BOOK CANVASS ON SATURDAY

Boy Scouts to Aid Clubmen to Provide Books For Local Library

Do you have any books you wish to give to the library?

If so, bundle them up and have them in readiness when the Boy Scouts call upon you tomorrow morning.

The Scouts will canvass the residential section from 9 to 11 o'clock Saturday morning in an effort to help the Kiwanis club provide as many books as possible for the library.

The campaign was launched by the clubmen here last Friday night when numbers of books were contributed to the cause. It was discovered at the time that the children's department of the library is in need of more books if clubs are to be continued with any success during the summer months, and the Kiwanis immediately decided upon the canvass to climax their campaign.

Wear and tear caused by constant use has almost depleted the supply of children's books in Sheppard Memorial Library and if additional volumes are not provided it will be impossible for children's reading clubs to be continued during the summer months, the Kiwanians have been told.

The public has been called upon to contribute liberally of books they may have on hand at this time. This applies especially to homes where children have grown up leaving the books of their youth untouched and doing no good.

The Scouts will canvass all residential districts and members of the club expressed the hope that hundreds of books would be provided in this manner.

Late News Flashes

Push Tobacco Tax. Washington, April 20.—(AP)—With hearing on the Kerr bill for tobacco control scheduled for Monday, representatives from tobacco growing states today made plans to marshal witnesses who will testify the measure is necessary if the voluntary crop reduction plan is to succeed.

The bill introduced by Representative Kerr of North Carolina would levy a tax of 25 per cent on all tobacco sold. Farmers cooperating in the voluntary plan would be issued tax exempt warrants for their pro rata share of the crop. The warrants would be accepted in payment of the tax.

NEGRO PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO ARSON CHARGE

Claude Clemmons Also to Face Three Charges of Murder Here Next Monday

Claude Clemmons, Stokes community negro, pleaded not guilty to three charges of murder and one of arson when arranged in yesterday's session of criminal court here. Trial was set for next Monday morning.

The negro is charged with setting fire to the home of Cora Roberson on the night of last January 18 which resulted in the death of three of her children and the narrow escape of other negroes sleeping in the same building.

Three true bills for murder and one for arson were returned against the negro by the grand jury the last of the week.

Clemmons is alleged to have fired the home of the negro because of malice he bore her for sheltering his wife when they were on the "outs."

Clemmons stoutly denied the crime when taken into custody shortly after the fire, but officers said footprints led from his home to the scene of the fire.

In a preliminary hearing conducted here several days ago, two children of the prisoner testified he was away from home the night of the fire and returned while the flames, which could be seen from their window, were still raging.

Other witnesses testified that Clemmons had threatened the Roberson woman from time to time for giving shelter to his wife when they were estranged. Resentment over this, the state claims, caused the negro to set fire to the Roberson home.

START STREET PROJECT HERE

Improvement of Dickinson Avenue Making Progress in Spite Of Rain

Work looking to the improvement of Dickinson Avenue was making progress today and was expected to be pushed forward still more rapidly with the coming of better weather.

A force of workmen actually started tearing up the pavement for reinforcing weak places Wednesday morning but were temporarily halted by rain.

The street was roped off from Ninth to Pitt streets yesterday and the lines will be placed along other blocks as work is completed in this area.

Several weeks will be required to reinforce the pavement and then resurface it, but when completed the street will be among the best in the city.

Along with this improvement, construction forces are expected to begin work soon on widening Fifth street from Library street to the city limits. The highway from Library street to the city limits is not as wide as the pavement on Fifth street and it is for the purpose of establishing uniformity in width that the work is being done.

The work is being paid for out of funds apportioned to the state by the federal government. A survey of the projects was made sometime ago but contract was not let until about ten days ago.

MOVE TO KEEP WHITE MAN'S HANDS OUT

Great Britain Awaiting American action on Declaration; Say U. S. Should Initiate any Move Against Japs; Attitude to Be Continued Until Some Grievance Is Found Against Britain.

Tokyo, April 20.—(AP)—The world as represented by foreign diplomats in Tokyo seemed dazed today by Japan's "resentment of policy" toward China and what the diplomats regard as her audacity in issuing it.

The representatives of other powers still wondering at the meaning of the declaration, labeled it variously as a white hand-off, China statement and "Asiatic Monroe Doctrine."

Japanese officialdom appeared bewildered by the world's reaction to Tokyo's declaration which in part holds Japan is responsible for maintaining the peace of eastern Asia.

There is almost unanimous concurrence among diplomats on two points:

First, that the Tokyo statement constitutes the startling and ambitious declaration of policy the Orient has witnessed since Japan's demand to China in 1910 and, second, that how far the Japan faction will go for world peace depends on how Tokyo interprets it as applying to them.

On the latter point authorities do not believe Japan intends to expel Major General Hans Seekt, Germany's chief military adviser to the Chinese nationalist government.

London, April 20.—(AP)—Authoritative sources said today that Great Britain would expect the United States to take the responsibility for initiating any retaliation or protest against Japan intention to participate in China's foreign relations.

This will be the attitude of the British government, it was said, at least until it is learned whether Japan has any specific grievance against Britain which would take on official form.

ASK AMNESTY FOR DILLINGER

Home Town Folks in Indiana Declared Desperado Didn't Get Fair Trial

Chicago, April 20.—John Dillinger may be poison to society in general but in his home town of Mooresville, Indiana, he is just a modern Robin Hood on a spree.

Down in Mooresville John Doe was circulating a petition requesting Governor Paul McNutt to grant amnesty to the desperado whose wooden gun flight March 3 from the Crown Point, Indiana jail, left a trail of blood and political repercussions that shocked the nation.

Many of Dillinger's home town acquaintances are reported to have signed the petition which alleges that America's public enemy No. 1 did not get a square deal when he was sentenced to prison back in 1924 for robbing a grocer.

FINISH JURY IN HARRINGTON MURDER CASE

Sheriff Whitehurst Takes Stand and Tells of Harrington's Surrender Here

The selection of a jury was completed today in the trial of Matthew Harrington, Greenville young man, charged with the first degree murder of his stepfather, John Gurganus, on the night of February 17.

When the regular panel and venire of 100 were exhausted yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock, only 11 jurors had been obtained. Judge Daniels ordered a venire of 25 to report this morning and from that group the 12th and 13th jurors were selected.

The last juror entered the box about 11 o'clock.

The jury is composed of: P. E. Whitehurst, Charlie Harris, M. P. Tyson, J. W. Buck, John E. Wilkerson, Albert Windham, Watt Langley, C. H. Vincent, W. B. Mayo, J. G. Clark, Ashley Garris, H. F. Owens and W. S. May, the last being alternate.

Following completion of the jury Sheriff Whitehurst, upon whose shoulders the investigation of the case fell, took the witness chair and testified of the finding of Gurganus' body on the north side of Tar river bridge on Sunday afternoon, February 18. He had been shot to death while apparently under the influence of whiskey and bullet wounds were found in his head.

The sheriff then told of Harrington coming to Greenville in the custody of Sheriff Rumbley of Beaufort county on the night of March 1, and surrendering.

He told of Harrington admitting having taken his stepfather to ride the night the crime was committed, and that he had dropped him at an unknown filling station at 11:30 before going to New York. He stated Harrington told him the automobile he was alleged to have borrowed and left here in had been stolen.

Herbert Harris, deputy sheriff, who assisted in the investigation was the second to take the stand for the state.

If the activities of Dan Cupid are any barometer, 1933 was a banner year for Pitt County and the depression surely must be over.

The flower thieves about town are becoming to be a nuisance and officers are on the lookout to catch the guilty parties. Just a few weeks ago on one or two occasions there were complaints that graves in one of the cemeteries were being stripped of their flowers.

Efforts are being made by the County Health Department to procure funds to assure an orthopaedic clinic for this county, and certainly it is to be hoped that the efforts will be successful.

BANKERS' TRIAL MOVES SLOWLY AT DANBURY

Danbury, April 20—(AP)—The trial of four officials of the defunct Bank of Stokes County on charges of making false reports of the banks condition moved slowly in Superior court here today.

A mass of reports and records was introduced as evidence by the State as the State attempted to prove that a deficit of $14,000 existed on April 12, 1926, when a report to the corporation commission declared the bank solvent.

By its maneuvers today the defense indicated that it would seek to prove the so-called $14,000 deficit was merely an operating deficit deducted from various contingent reserves held by the bank.

The defendants are J. W. Neal, L. E. Pepper, C. E. Davis and W. L. Nelson.

Indications were it would take the State the remainder of this week to complete its case.

Judith Lane by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Judith Dale is building the Big Tom house according to the $3 million dollars he left her for the purpose. She has overcome difficulty after difficulty, but the greatest of all is the suit brought by Mrs. Revinus and her daughter Lu Austin Lamore, who hopes to keep Big Tom's will. She just has disposed of the Scoggins family, whose home for all on their farm had stood in her way.

Chapter 40 HURRIED SUMMONS JUDITH stood in the doorway and watched the Scoggins family go down the hill. She shivered a little in the slightly chill air, and turned back to find Delphy regarding her with awe.

"Told you, didn't I, that it were Big Tom who threw that lightning!" And then as an afterthought, "This here mail come in while the Scoggins man was a talking, they brought it in the back door."

Judith undressed and had her chocolate and massage. Then, Delphy satisfied, she slid under the covers, the mail in her lap.

A letter from Cila, filled with rambling gossip—one from Canard at Washington saying he was en route home—a letter from Mrs. Canard asking her to be her guest, during the trial, and then a letter from Judge Morgan.

Judith read this last, then sat up and called, "Delphy, want to go to Houston with me tomorrow?"

"What you say?" "I've got to leave for Houston on the morning train, don't you want to come along? I'll have to stay there about a month."

Delphy came in, her voluminous white cotton night dress half covered with a skimpy, hand-me-down kimono of Mrs. Dale, senior.

"Will you bring me back when you come?" she asked dubiously. "Of course," answered Judith, then added, "providing I come back."

"I sure like to go then," agreed Delphy.

JUDITH was back in Houston. The house of the Bayou City, after the months she had spent on the plains, was gradually relieving the tension of the journey. Mrs. Canard had met her at the station, installed her in a guest room, and put Delphy in a room in the servants' quarters.

"Lige sent your trunks over this morning," she said, "so Delphy can unpack for you. I have to go to a luncheon and a board meeting of my pet charity. I would have made arrangements for you to go with me, but I thought you'd rather rest."

"Justin is due to arrive at 6:30, so we'll plan to have dinner at 7:30, and if there is anything you want in the meantime, Delphy can arrange with Jenny-Rose."

Leaves, trees, Judith sat up and looked on a velvety green lawn below. The blessed coolness and restfulness of green things growing. She leaned back again and slept.

Delphy appeared at one o'clock with a lunch tray, the morning newspapers and a wordy explanation of her absence due to the yard man being Lige's new wife's stepmother's uncle by marriage, and if Miss Judy wasn't needin' her that night he'd drive Delphy out to meet the bride, Rosa Williams-Grant.

"Go, by all means," said Judith, and turned to the newspapers. She gleaned little things from the society columns, important among them being that Mrs. J. Anthony Dale would remain in New York until the holidays, as she was making an intensive study of the science of bridge, with the intention of conducting a lecture course later. Judith felt relieved. Norman's mother was staying out of town during the embarrassing hours of the will contest.

Cila's newspaper carried a feature story which Judith read with low chuckles, then laid aside to telephone her friend.

"I'm hoping you won't have to announce my arrival," she told her, after exchanging greetings. "I'd like a day or two to look around before your fellow-scribes are at my heels."

Cila agreed and Judith spent the rest of the afternoon drowsily browsing through the books Mrs. Canard had left available.

SHE was awake at dawn next morning. Cautiously she tiptoed out to the garage. Mrs. Canard said she might use the small blue roadster and had given her the key the night before. Delphy's escort was awake, pottering about the garden, and in an o'clock the garage doors and then she was away, the silhouette of the car's nose headed towards Hillendale.

She would go in by the lower road, the one they had built to accommodate crowds going to their barbecue pit, and she would slip

a better FERTILIZER for better times

Being a warehouseman of many years experience in selling and handling leaf tobacco, I recommend as a safe investment that farmers top-dress their tobacco just after setting with 100 pounds of Sulphate of Potash per acre. I saw the results from this in Forsyth, Yadkin and Davidson counties on tobacco grown by Arthur Matthews, Sam R. Reid, Jasper Mock and Adam Leonard. This tobacco, sold here in Winston-Salem, brought about a third more than tobacco grown under the same conditions without the extra potash. E. H. Davenport, Sales Mgr., Pepper's Warehouse, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

THE total fertilizer used by the farmers mentioned by Mr. Davenport analyzed about 3-8-8 to 3-8-10. There are two ways of using such a fertilizer: 1 At planting use the 3-8-8 fertilizer on sale by all leading fertilizer manufacturers. 2 If you have already purchased a fertilizer containing less potash, top-dress with 100 pounds of NV Sulphate of Potash per acre at the first plowing.

to use two to three times as much potash for tobacco as the average grower in this section uses. Of course good seasons are more important in producing good crops of quality tobacco than anything else but we find that on the average extra potash pays on tobacco. Extra potash gives tobacco a better grain and increases yields. It does not make the crop rough and red. On the average the man with the most pounds makes the most dollars per acre. Extra pounds this year will give you the chance to grade your crop closer and sell more pounds of high-quality leaf.
