JAPAN REFUSES TO CLARIFY SENSATIONAL NOTE

Spokesman Says World Must Make It's Interpretation

STATEMENT NOT INTENDED FOR AMERICA

Foreign Diplomats Believe Hiroto's Speech Served Notice Japan Will Not Take Part In Consultations With Other Signatories; Nine Power Treaty Guarantees Open Door Policy In China

Tokyo, May 5.—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman refusing to clarify Koki Hiroto's sensational new declaration of Japan's "hands off China policy" asserted today "the world must make its own interpretation."

The interpretation placed upon the foreign minister's speech by foreign diplomats was that Hiroto served notice Japan will not participate in consultations with other signatories of the nine power treaty in the event Article Seven is invoked.

This article calls for frank communications between the contracting powers concerned whenever a situation arises which involves the applications of the present treaty and renders desirable discussion of such applications.

The treaty among other things guarantees the open door in China.

R. C. (Dick) Stokes, Jr., was elected president of the re-organized Country Club at a meeting of stockholders at Sheppard Memorial Library last night.

J. T. Little was elected vice-president and E. B. Ferguson, secretary-treasurer.

The board of governors is composed of the following: Dr. W. M. B. Brown, K. E. Henderson, C. Heber Forbes, J. S. Ficklen and R. M. Garrett.

The stockholders named the board of governors to act as a membership committee and instructed them to immediately inaugurate a membership campaign. Persons interested in joining the club were asked to get in touch with members of the committee.

It was decided to build a locker room and caddy house to replace those destroyed by fire along with the club house over a year ago. The structures will be of a permanent nature so that they will become a section of the new club house when sufficient funds are available for its construction.

Other committees in connection with operating the various departments of the club will be named at an early date, it was said, and construction work on the new buildings will get underway as soon as possible.

Re-organization of the club has been received with interest by the community in view of the active part which it formerly played in the social and recreational life of the city. The club owns one of the finest golf courses in this part of the state and it is a source of much enjoyment to golf lovers here.

NECRO ADMITS ROBBERY HERE

James Clark Charged With White's Store Robbery And Another At Winslows

Police announced today the arrest of a negro who participated in two robberies here during February and March.

James Clark was arrested three days ago and today confessed to robbing White's store on Dickinson Avenue and Winslow's store in the western section of the city.

Chief of Police George Clark said they had also determined that Bill Clark, brother of James, had been connected with the Winslow robbery. Bill is now serving a long term for the robbery of Ike McKoy's store during the winter.

By breaking out a window in the rear of White's store, James Clark told police he fished a considerable part of merchandise through the window, and later disposed of it among colored people of the city and community.

A good amount of clothing and other goods were taken in the Winslow robbery and part of this was also recovered. The Whites Store robbery occurred after Winslow's place was entered.

Clark will be given preliminary hearing the first of the week and bound over to the next session of Superior court.

Find Larger Part Of $750 In Stolen Loot

Fayetteville, May 5.—Recovery of $500 worth of men's clothing stolen from the Rayless store here, and arrest of two negroes in South Carolina, led to the seizure of 92 gallons of liquor by Cumberland county officers at the home of John D. Williams, a blind negro, near Fayetteville. A number of suits of clothes were found in Williams' house, which he said were left there by Galton (Stubbs) Bryant, one of the two taken at Dillon, S. C.

The blind man identified Bryant by his voice. Bryant and James (Bad Eye) Campbell were bound over to Superior court under $1,000 bond by Magistrate Clifton.

The clothes were taken from Rayless' store two weeks ago in a midnight robbery in which $750 worth of goods were hauled off.

DILLINGER CAR FOUND AT CHICAGO

Following the discovery of the blood-stained automobile shown above at Chicago, the government's ace man hunters massed forces at that city for a new drive to get John Dillinger "dead or alive." The car was one of those used by the desperado and his henchmen in their dash to liberty from the Little Bohemia resort near Mercer, Wis. Below are shown the articles found in the auto. They include cartridges, first aid equipment, flashlight and matches from the Little Bohemia resort. (Associated Press Photos)

Late News Flashes

In Congress Today. Washington, May 5.—(AP)—Optimism among silver proponents in Congress after a plain talk with President Roosevelt colored his otherwise lack-lustre week-end in the capital.

With the Senate in recess, various of its member accompanied the President as far as Baltimore on his trip to New York to the funeral of William H. Woodin.

Once back at the capital they indicated the expectation of agreement for the government to take over much of the nation's silver as it did go to be accompanied by permissive federal purchases of the metal until three-tenths of the currency has silver backing against 7 per cent gold.

Before that goal could be attained protracted international negotiations would be involved. The big immediate point was that the currencies apparently were willing to forego present pressure for mandatory legislation pending more conferences with the President.

The House proceeded quietly with consideration of administration legislation to combat organized crime.

The Senate has acted on numbers of the bills but the House is far behind.

These bills deal with such subjects as making it a federal crime to attack a Justice Department agent when he is on duty or to send kidnap threats across state lines.

With so little doing in Congress, talk in corridors veered to the inevitable politics. One highly placed Republican who did not want himself quoted, hinted of attempts to defer the selection of a chairman.

WILSON UNABLE TO TAKE LOAN

Washington, May 5.—(AP)—The Public Works Administration announced today that the application of Wilson, N. C. for $16,000 allotment for jail improvement had been withdrawn.

The application was withdrawn at the request of Wilson authorities. Public Works officials said they understood there had been some question of the legality of the loan and did not know whether the application would be renewed later.

DR. M'GEACHY GIVEN POST ON HEALTH BODY

County Health Officer Elected Vice-President Of N. C. Public Health Association

Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Pitt County Department of Health, was elected vice-president of the North Carolina Public Health Association which held its annual meeting at Pinehurst this week.

Dr. McGeachy was back at his post at the court house today after attending the sessions which he described as the most helpful in years.

In addition to Dr. McGeachy, the association elected Dr. Z. V. Mitchell of Halifax county, president and Dr. J. T. Reeves of Goldsboro, secretary.

Dr. McGeachy was one of the speakers of the convention presenting statistics dealing with tonsil and adenoid clinics, held in Pitt county the past year.

The statistics were compiled from reports of school authorities showing improvement or lack of improvement of children who received attention in the clinics. Dr. McGeachy reported that out of 290 children operated upon during the entire campaign last year only forty were reported to have shown no distinct signs of improvement.

The remainder, those who actually improved, not only gained in weight but were said to be sharper mentally with a keener outlook on life in general.

The paper was one of a number dealing with health work in many sections of the state and indicated how much progress is being made in various fields of endeavor.

THOUSANDS OF ACRES OF WOOD LAND BURNED

Fire Fighters Continuing Watchfulness In Roaring Gap Area; Fire Covers Fifteen Mile Area In Two Districts; Fire Still Burning Near Grayston Inn

Kapp's Mill, N. C., May 5.—(AP)—The most extensive and disastrous fire northwest North Carolina has ever known was smoldering sullenly this morning apparently burning itself out after spreading over 300,000 acres of woods and farm lands.

Fire fighters were continuing their watchfulness but in the absence of another breeze further spread of the fire is not anticipated as it is believed to have used up all its fuel in the area.

A survey today showed that the Stone Mountain-Roaring Gap elevation fire covered a distance of 15 miles and cut a path roughly a mile in width.

The Mitchell River Valley fire was also about 15 miles long and more than a mile wide. Both these major fires are believed to have finished their destructive work though still burning in spots today.

The fire which broke out near Roaring Gap yesterday morning about a mile and a half from Grayston Inn and was also burning today. A group of forty men were sent to this area from the Cathlam Manufacturing plant in Elkin and fought the flames all day.

BURGLARS BREAK INTO STORE NEAR GRAHAM

Burlington, May 5.—Unidentified thieves last night carried away a small safe containing $100 in cash and valuable papers from Holt's store several miles east of Graham on Highway No. 93.

Entrance to the store was made through a rear door. Sheriff H. J. Stockard, who was called to the scene to make an investigation said the only clue he was able to obtain was automobile tracks, apparently made by the car in which the safe was hauled away.

ROBBER BOUND OVER TODAY

William Atkinson, Colored, Remanded To Jail In Default Of Bond Here

William Atkinson, colored, arrested here this week charged with robbing the Bluebird Filling station, was bound over to Superior court following hearing in mayor's court here this morning.

His bond was placed at $500 but he was unable to provide it and was remanded to jail.

Atkinson is alleged to have entered the filling station one night the middle of the week and took between $10 and $15 from the cash drawer.

He was nabbed by police the next morning before he left home.

Entrance to the building was made through a back window, the theft leaving through the front door.

Atkinson, police said, recently completed a term on the roads for a robbery here a few years ago.

DEMJOHN-LADEN CAR WRECKED IN ACCIDENT

Wilmington, May 5.—W. K. Dean of Durham, was arrested here yesterday by State Patrolman Rodman and Sheriff Roebuck on a charge of reckless driving. Taking to the back streets to avoid officers, Dean drove a late model Ford car side-swiped another car driven by Joe Purvis, colored. Dean was accompanied by Felix Riggs, owner of the car which was loaded with 23 five-gallon demijohns of the type used in transporting whiskey.

CITY ELECTION HERE MONDAY

Voters In 3 Wards To Go To The Polls And Select Their Aldermen

F. S. Corbett, who announced several days ago he would oppose W. H. Norris in the Fourth Ward in Monday's municipal election, informed City Clerk J. O. Duggal today he had withdrawn from the race.

In view of the fact that ballots for the election had already been printed, Mr. Duggal said it would be necessary to have them reprinted between now and Monday.

The polls will open Monday morning at 5:04 and close at sunset.

Voters from three wards of this city will go to the polls next Monday to vote for their respective candidates for seats on the Board of Aldermen.

The wards affected are Second, Third and Fourth with no contest in the Second where Mrs. J. L. Hassell will be re-elected without opposition.

However in the Third and Fourth Wards opposition has developed and the candidates were combing their respective areas in the hope of getting out as many voters as possible.

In the Third ward Joe Taft, incumbent, is opposed by J. D. Simpson, and in the Fourth W. H. Norris incumbent, is opposed by F. S. Corbett.

Although each of the contestants is doing his best to rally as many of his constituents as possible, the greatest activity seems to center in the Third, where Taft and Simpson promise to rally the greatest number of voters probably ever going to the polls from that particular area.

It really seemed as if there would be no contest in any of the wards but last week hats began to sing through the air and when they had descended in the ring Taft and Norris found they had to do some battling for their positions. Norris is one of the veterans of the board but Taft has served only one term and wants to serve another.

The voting will be conducted at the courthouse and persons who voted in the last city election and have not moved from one ward to another since that time will be able to vote. Those who have moved into other wards and who have come to the city since that time will be required to get their names on the registration books.

JUDGE JAMES MEMORIAL DAY SPEAKER HERE

County Court Jurist To Speak At Exercises At High School Auditorium

Judge Dink James of County Court has been selected to deliver the annual Memorial Day address here Thursday, May 10, it was announced today.

The exercises this year will be held in the high school auditorium. They will be in charge of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Years ago when many of the veterans of the Civil war were living the celebration was opened with a meeting of the J. Bryan Grimes Camp of the Confederacy, election of officers and other matters pertaining to the organization, but in view of the fact that virtually all veterans in this county have died this phase of the observance will be abandoned this year.

The exercises at the high school will be preceded by a procession to Cherry Hill cemetery where the loving hands of daughters of the brave men of the great conflict between the state will place flowers upon the graves of the departed ones. Taps will be sounded, a prayer offered, and the procession will then proceed to the high school where at 10:30 Judge James will speak.

From two to three veterans came to the celebration five or six years ago, but they have been dwindling away rapidly the last two years and only one came year before last and not a single one last year. The disappearance of the ranks of the men in Grey caused a degree of sadness last year to those who remembered that no so many years ago the aged veterans walked briskly down the street to the tune of martial music, went to the graves of their departed comrades and fired a volley in their honor.

There may be two or three veterans living in adjoining counties who used to attend the local observance but if they are still living they were too old and feeble last year to be present and it is expected the same condition will prevail this year in view of the fact another year has been piled upon their shoulders.

Two Hurt When Auto Overturns

Rocky Mount, May 5.—Mrs. Albert Hester and Kent Dunn, A. C. L. freeman, are in a hospital here both suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident last night.

Robert Hester, local brick mason who with his wife were riding with Dunn, was not injured. The trio were returning from a dance when the car, said by officers to have been driven by Dunn, got out of his control and overturned.

Mrs. Hester suffered concussion of the brain, a face laceration and bruises.

Mr. Dunn was said to have received lacerations and contusions of several parts of his body but no serious injuries.

BLOOD-STAINED DRESS NOT THAT OF JUNE ROBLES'

Tucson, Ariz., May 5.—(AP)—A sinister shadow cast over the June Robles kidnaping case by discovery of a child's blood-stained clothing was dispelled today with announcement by officers that the garments were not those worn by the six-year-old girl when she was abducted April 25.

The garments were found on a Riverside, California, irrigation ditch June's dress was of pink singham with small yellow flowers while the dress found in Riverside was blue with pink figuring.

SHOULD BE ABOLISHED
 Among other reforms, the next legislature could greatly improve our present primary system by abolishing absentee balloting. Absentee balloting is one of the most abused features of our entire election system in this state and through it there is more crooked work than in any other part of an election. There is no good reason why absentee balloting should be a part of our election system and the legislature should remove it.

ARE YOU A GOOD DRIVER?
 Next week is "Safety Week" in North Carolina and it is to be hoped that the week will be just what the name implies and that future weeks will be likewise.

Co-operating with other officials throughout the state Mayor R. C. Flanagan yesterday issued a proclamation urging citizens of this city and county to practice safety during the coming week, especially as it pertains to the highways. The mounting death toll from highway accidents in this state has been a disgrace and certainly every citizen should do his or her part to prevent accidents at all times.

Here are a few rules of the road that if practiced will go a long way toward cutting down the number of accidents:

A good driver keeps in proper line; keeps inside white lines; does not hog road; makes proper turns; practices road courtesy; recognizes that a child always has the right of way; observes green as the only "go" signal; looks and signals before coming out of a parking place; thinks quickly and accurately in an emergency; is never in too big a hurry to exercise proper caution and common sense.

or improvement should we seek in county government? Are there no changes needed? Is it not possible to enforce our prohibition laws—How about the big distillery near Chocowinity where the young woman who was with the bootlegger that met death in Farnville a few weeks ago, said he got his load of whiskey. Has this plant been raided? Has that woman been brought back to Farnville for trial? She was aiding and abetting in the violation of our laws, to say nothing of her shameful obsequy.

There are numberless things crying aloud for redress. The gambling devices that are a disgrace to our county—ruining our young men, that are taken down and hidden when the grand jury is in session. So much for our county laws—now let us just name a few for our legislature. Repeal of the sales tax? Much needed changes in the law for capital punishment. The protection and perpetration of rural high schools as the foundation for an education and cultured rural citizenship. What's wrong with these measures?

Chapter 10 THE AUSTERLITZ
 DOYLE had gone to a bench in the hall and sat down. He knew that it would be useless to try any questions on the Detective-Sergeant at this stage of the game. He lit a cigarette, and unfolded the evening paper he had been carrying in his overcoat pocket. Whistling softly to himself, he turned to the society columns. Harper went outside with Connolly. The portico light shone down over the curved front steps and the white, unbroken blanket of snow that covered the lawn.

"Use my footprints as a guide for the path," Harper directed. "Make it about a foot wide and pile the snow neatly beside it. Don't scatter it around haphazardly." He went down the left curve of the steps and along the left side of the walk, clear of the other prints. Connolly began to ply his shovel. "Well then, pound on it, shout, break it down if necessary. This is important. I have no time to waste." Andrews looked shocked at these suggestions. "But my orders, sir? I was not to disturb him before morning, not even if Mrs. Dufresne called up." Harper looked at the stubborn old serving-man. "You do as I say, Andrews, or I'll attend to it myself." Andrews' lean jaws clamped tight with disapproval, but he nodded grudgingly and left the room. Harper followed and came to where the butler stood, rapping and calling Dufresne's name. "He won't answer, sir, and the door's locked." "Did he lock himself in there after I left?" "Yes, sir." "He hasn't come out since?" "No, sir." "I suppose he took that bottle of brandy with him?" Harper took a hand at the pounding, and between them they raised quite a hubbub on the stout wooden panels. But there was not the slightest response from within.

The detective came to a decision. He strode over to the hotel telephone. "Hello. This is Mr. Dufresne's suite, Sergeant Harper speaking. . . . Send a man up with the master-keys to the doors . . . yes—and hurry." "Were there any telephone calls tonight?" the detective asked, while they awaited the arrival of the keys. "One, sir." "From whom?" "Mrs. Dufresne." "What did she say?" "She wanted to talk to Mr. Dufresne." "What did you tell her?" "I told her that Mr. Dufresne had gone to bed." "What did she say to that?" Andrews fumbled around reluctantly for an answer. At last he said, "She asked me if Mr. Dufresne had gone to bed with a bottle. I told her he had. She said 'Never mind, then, and hung up.'" Harper smiled. "That's fine, Andrews. It didn't hurt so very much, did it?" (Copyright, 1934, by Walter C. Brown)

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Those who had hoped the political earthquake of 1932 might accomplish a realignment of political parties, putting all the conservatives on one side of the fence and all the liberals on the other, find themselves in a state of increasing confusion.

On the one hand, Mr. Roosevelt has not gone so far as many expected toward reading conservatives out of the Democratic party. He has broken many traditions dear to the conservative heart, but all the time he has been seeking to pacify, and to keep all elements in camp.

On the other hand, the Republicans have not opposed the Roosevelt departures as strongly as some thought they would. Many of the administration measures have passed Congress with overwhelming Republican support.

Move To The Left. It is interesting that the first talk of a third party movement for 1933 comes from those who think the Roosevelt policies too conservative. In Minnesota Governor Floyd B. Olson, a candidate for re-election on the Farmer-Labor ticket, is credited with aspiring to lead a reconstituted national Farmer-Labor party two years hence.

Ordinarily that news would not be especially noteworthy. The farmer-laborites have tried before to get a foothold in national politics, with but feeble results. But the noteworthy thing is the manner in which the party has been reconstituted.

The state platform on which Governor Olson is running declares capitalism a failure, and asks for immediate "peaceful and lawful" steps to end private ownership of various kinds of property. It says: "We demand public ownership of all mines, water power, transportation and communication, banks, packing plants, factories, and all public utilities."

That takes in a wide territory. At first glance, it would seem to leave only the farmer, among the present major classes, a private owner of production machinery.

Major Parties Steal Thunder. It would be logical to suppose that if such a third party movement really assumed national proportions, the Republicans would be pushed further and further to the right, leaving the Democrats a middle ground party in a three-way struggle for mastery.

But actual political performance seldom is based on logic. The tendency of the existing major parties has been to cope with third party threats, not by defying them but by stealing some of their thunder; by smothering left wing movements by themselves moving a little to the left.

That is the way both parties have managed to survive so long, and certainly there is nothing now visible to indicate they are preparing to change their ways.

SPORT SLANTS By ALAN GOULD

Things we didn't know until Charlie White's famous "Little Red Book," the greatest of all compilations of baseball records, came back into circulation this year.

About pinch-hitting in the majors—Sambo Leslie, the Brooklyn's first baseman, has the record for appearing the most times as a pinch-hitter in one season, 75 with the Giants in 1932.

About world series pitching—That Carl Hubbell's feat of not allowing and earned run by the Senators in 29 innings last fall, has been surpassed by two great right-handers and rivalled by the world series feats of two others.

About the twin all-time greats—That Ty Cobb closed his 24-year career in the American League with 90 records, either held outright or equaled, to his credit and still holds 37 of them.

There Were Goats, Too—Also that two of your favorite first basemen of all times, Hal Chase and George Sisler, share the dubious record of making four errors in a single game.

That a nervous guy named Andrew Leonard set the all-time high or low, whichever you prefer for major league infielders by making eight errors at second base with the Boston Club in 1876.
