ROOSEVELT TELLS DEBTOR NATIONS THEY MUST PAY

Token Payments Will Be Regarded Purely As Default

BRITAIN AMONG NATIONS TOLD SHE MUST PAY

Five Powers Told that Nation is Ready to Consider Suggestions for Reductions, But is Against Wholesale Revision of Debts; President Determined to Arrive at Equitable Basis of Settlement

Washington, May 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt definitely assumed the position today that the next move in the whole-in-default game is up to the independent debtor nations.

Through diplomatic channels the president has informed Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Czechoslovakia that the United States is willing at least to consider discussion of any suggestion for payment on or readjustment of debts.

The president is adamant against any general conclave of nations for wholesale revision of debts. They have been informed also that the president cannot again definitely assure token payers that they are not in default under the provisions of the Johnson act.

Behind the interpretation given the Johnson act—banning defaulters from this country's money market—is the president's determination to arrive at equitable settlement of the debt problem rather than a continuance of drop-in-the-bucket payment.

London, May 12.—(AP)—The United States has notified Great Britain that a token payment on the war debt installment due in June would be regarded as evidence of default, it was learned in authoritative sources today.

Notification was given through the British ambassador at Washington Sir Ronald Lindsay, by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

DUSTY ROADS ARE TREATED

Gas Tar Solution Is Placed on Unpaved Streets in Outlying Residential Areas.

Work of pouring a gas-tar solution on unpaved streets was in progress here today but owing to the limited supply of the solution Chief of Police George Clark, who is in charge of street work, said it would be impossible to sprinkle all of the streets.

The same plan was followed last year and residents residing in unpaved streets areas declared it played an important part in holding down dust.

The supply was exhausted the latter part of last summer but since that time enough of the fluid has been obtained from the local gas plant to enable sprinkling some of the streets in the eastern part of the city. However, only a limited number of streets received attention, the street head said.

The solution is dross accumulating at the gas plant but only a limited amount is obtained during the year and this is not sufficient to sprinkle all of the unpaved streets of the city. Yet, most of them received attention last year because the fluid had accumulated for a considerable period.

PARAGUAY AND BOLIVIA AGAIN ON 'WAR PATH'

Commission Charges League of Nations Members With Sale of Arms to Nations.

Asuncion, Paraguay, May 12.—(AP)—Paraguayan bombing planes swooped low over Bolivian outpost on the Vanguardia front today and subjected them to concentrated bombardment, thus following closely an open protest against bombardment of Bolivian planes of the Paraguayan village of Guanni and Mihanovich.

An official announcement said today that Paraguayan troops turned an attempted Bolivian attack along the Bolivian front into a Paraguayan victory. Many of the attacking soldiers were captured after they had been allowed to penetrate the Paraguayan lines, the statement declared and a large supply of machine guns and rifles were captured.

Geneva, May 12.—(AP)—Fears of ruthless international aerial warfare and accusations that the members of the League of Nations have sold arms to the belligerents are expected to be forthcoming tonight when the Chaco commission of the League of Nations publishes its report on the war between Paraguay and Bolivia.

It is understood the commission report will insist that the border conflict between the two South American nations has been continuing over a period of four years with the death and maiming of thousands of soldiers and non-combatants only because it has been possible to purchase arms from abroad.

Mr. Sigwald told of the character building element in the Scout program. (Continued on Page Four)

TWO STRIKES ARE SETTLED IN AMERICA

Other Labor Disputes Flare Up Hampering Bread, Shoes and Automobiles.

(By The Associated Press) Two strikes were erased from the nations map of industrial disturbances today but other labor disputes hampered the making of bread, shoes and automobiles.

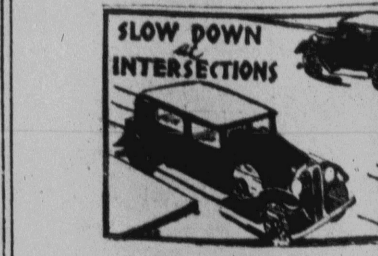

Settlement of the longshoremen strike at Texas Port and Mobile, Ala., was announced as 5,000 workers returned to work at the county port of Lake Charles, La., and 200 longshoremen went back to jobs at Mobile.

The government considered intervening in a longshoremen strike on the Pacific coast. Four men were injured in disturbances on the San Francisco waterfront and Governor Meier of Oregon was asked to send troops to Portland.

The Buick Motor Company plant at Flint, Mich., was shutdown throwing 14,000 men out of work. Unofficial reports said settlement of the Fisher Body Corporation Plant No. 1 would be sought over the week-end and that plans called for the 5,000 strikers to return to work Tuesday.

Automobile traffic ebbed but street car traffic boomed at Cleveland where motor fuel was lacking because of a three week strike of 2,000 filling station attendants for more pay. The shutdown of filling stations became virtually complete at Akron, Ohio, was threatened with breadless days by a strike of 500 bakers and bread truck drivers. They demanded increased wages. Home baking became popular again.

MILLION DOLLAR PRESENT

The Roosevelt birthday balls held last January netted exactly $1,003,030.08. When the three feet long check for that amount was presented to the President, he held it only long enough to have this picture taken, and then turned it over to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation. The entire amount will be put to work on a three-way attack on infantile paralysis. (Associated Press Photo)

MOTHERS WILL BE HONORED HERE SUNDAY

Greenville to Join Remainder of Nation in Annual Celebration of Mother's Day.

Mothers, both living and dead, will be honored throughout the nation tomorrow by special programs in thousands of churches.

In Greenville the day will be equally as important as in past years with probably more attention than usual being given to musical programs.

Ministers have arranged fitting sermons for the occasion and all the beauty of the character of countless millions of mothers of the world will be extolled in an impressive way.

Sunday school programs will be reminiscent of the love and sacrifice made by mothers in behalf of civilization, and it was expected thousands would attend both Sunday School and church services in honor of the occasion.

Millions of flowers, white and red, will be worn tomorrow in honor of mother, the white denoting the dead and red the living. In addition to this millions of gifts will find their way to American firefides as sons and daughters of the brave spirits of the home attempt to express their appreciation of what these mothers are doing to lift life to a higher, nobler plane.

Greenville has always done its part by Mother's Day and this year will see more people than ever before trying to do their part in making the occasion truly representative of its significant meaning to the American people.

Everybody has been urged to go to church and in that way help honor the guardian angle of the home.

The Daily Reflector-State Theatre Annual Mother's Day Party will be held at the theatre Monday afternoon from 1:00 to 1:30 o'clock at which time all mothers, 55 years of age or older, are invited to be our guests to see "Wonder Bar" featuring Al Jolson and an all-star cast. Co-operating with The Daily Reflector and State Theatre in this Mother's Day Party the Greenville Floral Company will present each mother in attendance a bouquet.

Because this is one of the year's best pictures and will attract large crowds, we find it necessary to require that the mother's attending as our guests arrive at the theatre not later than one-thirty. The theatre doors will open at ten minutes before one o'clock and the first performance will begin at one but our guests will be admitted up until one-thirty. The performance will last approximately two hours.

TEN PER CENT MORE LAND CAN NOW BE USED

Farm Administration Authorizes Increase After Manufacturers Say They Underestimated Their Stock on Hand; Government Also Rushes to the Rescue of Stricken Area

Washington, May 12.—(AP)—Flue-cured tobacco growers can plant ten per cent more acreage than were allotted them under the reduction contracts. This has been authorized by the farm administration at the request of manufacturers and importers who said they had underestimated their stock on hand.

Growers, however, who take advantage of the ruling will receive smaller payments than those who do not plant additional acreage.

Washington, May 12.—(AP)—The government rushed to the rescue today of the drought-stricken farmers harassed by weather unprecedented for the last forty years. The administration prepared to proceed along these lines; the Federal Emergency Relief agency surveys the situation with an eye to pouring food and funds in needed areas. The Farm Administration simultaneously reshaped its plans to meet conditions.

The program was reported studied by the administration for a long time. National plans for evening up the supply between three bad years so as to prevent any possible future food shortage.

President Roosevelt and his cabinet were considering reports gathered by Secretary Wallace. The president was understood to have called for further reports.

Farm administration leaders had their heads together today and plan to continue conferences through most of the week-end.

ROWDY NEGRO IS JAILED HERE

Albert Williams Accused of Threatening Shoot up School Closing.

Albert Williams, 25, negro, was lodged in the county jail yesterday afternoon for allegedly threatening to shoot up everything attending a negro ball game in the Simpson community yesterday.

He is charged with being drunk and carrying a concealed weapon. Williams, Deputy Sheriff Preston Pierce said today, had been arguing with several other negroes attending the ball game played in connection with a colored school commencement, and pulled a revolver and told them he would shoot the whole crowd if they didn't lay off him.

The negro was "high as a kite" as result of taking on more booze than he could conveniently carry and this was held responsible for his wanting to wipe out members of his race attending the game.

The sheriff's office was notified of the affair and Deputy Pierce went to the school grounds and took the negro into custody before he decided to actually open fire with a .38 calibre pistol, which to some taking part in the argument, "looked like enough artillery to drive an invading army out of town."

Ayden, May 12.—Rev. F. F. Eure, 70, retired local Methodist Minister who died at his home here Wednesday morning at 8:00 o'clock was buried in the Ayden cemetery yesterday. The funeral services were conducted by E. D. Dodd, pastor of the Methodist church, assisted by Rev. W. H. Brunson of the Disciple church and Rev. R. P. Pittman of the Free Will Baptist church.

MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Sergeant Harper has questioned the household of Pierre Dubreane, contractor and political power, without obtaining any pertinent information about the murder of two men in the Du-breane breakfast room. It seems evident that one was the man who had threatened Dubreane in anonymous letters; the other was a policeman, Yip Harper is not convinced he catches the matter to Mrs. Croyden, sister of Mrs. Du-breane.

Chapter 15 WORK BEGINS ONLY the central fact is obvious," Harper said. "Two men were killed in this room last night. The reason for that is anything but clear. Of course, I have some sort of a theory, but I won't even think about it until all the facts are in my possession. And that," he added, smiling grimly, "may blow my theory sky-high."

Mrs. Croyden looked around at the various evidences of the police search and research and made a grimace of distaste when her eyes rested on the chair with the dead man's clothing. "I am so sorry for that poor policeman," she remarked, with a shudder. "Yes, that was too bad." Harper's lips lightened. "Officer Hamill leaves a wife and three children. That is what happens to many policemen's widows."

"Stop, please—you make it sound so real."

Alline made an eloquent gesture. "Stop, please," she begged. "You make it sound so real. I can see that poor man walking up the steps, leaving his footprints in the snow, not knowing that he was going to his death." She paused, then went on earnestly. "Of course, we shall do everything possible to assist you, Mr. Harper. I know there are lots of questions you want to ask about the house, and the servants, and all that sort of thing. Please feel free to call upon me at any time for such information. It is my sister's home, but I am perfectly familiar with all the details."

Harper bowed. "Thank you, Mrs. Croyden. I shall have lots of questions, but first I have to chart my line of inquiry." Alline smiled in her friendly manner. "There are many questions I would like to ask, too," she replied, "but I'll restrain my curiosity until a more auspicious time. Meanwhile, all our facilities are at your disposal. I suppose you will be in this room a great deal?"

"Yes, this will be my office and headquarters while I am working on the case." "I'll leave you to your labors, then," she responded, "and I wish you success." "Thank you again, Mrs. Croyden. We'll have our talk later in the day," Alline nodded, and smiling graciously, withdrew.

"This is a fine, pleasant-spoken lady she is, Sergeant," was the policeman-guard's comment after she had gone. "Good-looking, too!" Harper had almost forgotten the man's presence. "Yes, she is," he agreed, "a very charming lady, indeed. If every one else in the house is as frank and cordial it will make this job a lot easier. I'm afraid some of the others are going to be anything but helpful. By the way, what's your name?" "O'Connell, sir." "You understand, O'Connell, that no one is to disturb anything in this room. I'll be in and out of here all the time and I want you to keep an eye on things." "You can trust me, Sergeant. An order's an order!"

The Missing Rolls By MARY GRAHAM BONNER "First of all," said Willy Nilly, "I will get things in good order. Then I will attend to my sticking-out, pointed ears. But perhaps I had better see that my automobile Two-Ways is in perfect condition before I do my ears."

"Then my house needs a fresh coat of paint after the winter storms, and my porch should be painted, too. The garden needs to be weeded, and I should do more planting. "It is fortunate the circus people left so much behind in the way of food, but my nice garden won't be nice at all if I don't look after it. "I haven't the backbone of a mouth if I let anything interfere with my work now."

Everyone was busy in Puddle Muddle and Willy Nilly loved the quiet. They would be back before long to talk over what had been happening. But in the meantime it was wonderful to feel that a long day was ahead of him in which he could accomplish so much. He had the feeling everything would be in order before the summer was underway.

He was in the midst of cleaning his house when he heard a knock at the door. "Who is there?" called Willy Nilly. "Grandpa Galump," answered the voice. Willy Nilly's heart sank. Had his animals been bothering Grandpa again? It seemed as though they enjoyed teasing him because they knew it annoyed him so much.

"How are you today?" asked Willy Nilly hopefully. "Very angry," was Grandpa's reply. "My rolls are missing." Tomorrow—"Grandpa Explains"

Conductor Mathis, who was shifting a train at Chadbourn, had signalled his engineer to reverse and just as this was done he saw young Carmichael ride a bicycle around the rear of the cars. As he pulled the youth out of danger, he also sought to save the bicycle but it was caught under the train wheels.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PARTY OUTSTANDING EVENT

The outstanding social event of the high school year took place last evening when the Junior class of the high school was the gracious host to the Senior class at a delightful theatre party, buffet supper and dance in the high school auditorium.

The two classes assembled in the high school library at 8:30 and from there went to the theatre. Following the completion of the picture, the class returned to the school gymnasium where a delightful buffet supper was served by the young ladies of the Home Economics department under the direction of Miss Mary York of the school faculty. The supper consisted of chicken salad, various sandwiches, chess pies and drinks. At the conclusion of the supper, dancing began, with music by Tick Smith and his Royal Cavaliers.

For the occasion, the high school had been transformed into a place of beauty with the use of green and white paper, strung from one side of the balcony to the other; strings of Japanese lanterns of varying color shades and a profusion of roses everywhere.

The young ladies of the two classes in their beautiful evening gowns enhanced the beauty of the scene and made the event one that will always be remembered by the participants. It was the consensus of opinion that this was the most delightful affair ever tendered a Senior class in the history of the high school.

Herbert Hadley is president of the Junior class and he and his committee, ably assisted by a faculty committee were responsible for the great success of the affair.

GARDEN CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

The Garden Club, a department of the Woman's Club, had a most delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. Woolard Friday afternoon. Mrs. Leo Burke and Mrs. Woolard were joint hostesses for the meeting.

Mrs. T. E. Hocter, chairman, presided over a short business meeting. She appointed a committee to look after the club house lawn during the summer months. Mrs. Harvey and Mrs. Hort assumed the responsibility of caring for the plot at the end of Fifth street. The chairman requested each member to answer roll call with her favorite border combination which, with the most instructive club papers of the year, are to be filed in a "Garden Scrap Book" for future reference.

The program was turned over to Mrs. J. K. Brown, chairman of the program committee. She presented Sam Quinerly who, accompanied by Mrs. Hooker, gave three violin solos, "In Blossom Time," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and "Sylvia."

Mrs. Burke followed the musical program with a most interesting paper on the proper arrangement of flowers. She started with the earliest spring flowers by suggesting that daffodils are exceptionally pleasing when arranged in ginger jars or brown pint mugs. One well balanced spray of mimosa will never be disappointing if placed in a tall green jar with a neck as small as a medicine bottle—yellow flowers are particularly interesting for the breakfast table—while the luncheon table requires a more stimulating color, such as orange and scarlet. Choose a quiet and more restful color for the evening meal.

Blue flowers are probably one of the most disappointing unless placed so they receive direct daylight. Gaillardias are one of the few flowers that look well in brass containers. She suggested that the best method for preserving cut flowers is to change the water daily and the second best thing is to add a bit of charcoal to each vase.

Mrs. Hooker invited the club to meet with her in June and have a cup of tea in her flower garden. The hostesses served iced tea with sandwiches.—Reported.

HOW TO GET A CROWD: BALL FIELD COMPLETED WITH "ANNIE OAKLEYS"

Seattle. —(AP)—Seattle's Pacific Coast League baseball attendance is assured for the season.

It's like this. Seattle's baseball plant burned down a couple of years ago and the Indians moved to the Civic Stadium, constructed primarily for football.

Uncomfortable seats, bad plays on the skinned diamond—and a poor team—kept the fans away last season.

Because of lack of funds nothing better was in sight for this year, but in the nick of time along came Santa Claus in the role of old "CWA." The seating arrangement was to be changed and the diamond fixed up with sod. Everything was progressing nicely until CWA ran out of money and quit in the middle of the job, making it worse than ever.

What was to be done? Well, Business Manager Bill Klepper stepped in, ordered a flock of passes printed, talked the CWA employees into going back to work for the ducks—one for each hour of labor—and the field was finished. School kids did the painting for more passes and free "hot dogs," and season tickets were given away for tools and materials.

So, for just about the rent of the season, the Seattle Indians should play before bigger crowds than usual.

WINTERVILLE HIGH BEATEN BY KIWANIS

The highly-touted Kiwanis baseball team went to Winterville yesterday afternoon and defeated the high school team of that place to the tune of 9 to 8.

The game was a feature of the high school commencement exercises at Winterville and hundreds of people of the community saw the home town team go down in defeat before the former league and college stars from the Greenville club.

Donald Conley, who heads public school education in this county, went all the way on the mound for the Kiwanians, and while he yielded a total of eight hits, he managed to hold the winterville lads scoreless at times when it looked as if they were going to sew up the old ball game.

Winterville used three pitchers in an effort to silence the bats of the hard-hitting clubmen, and for five innings they were able to do so. In the first, seventh, eighth and ninth frames, however, the visitors secured enough bingles to put the game on ice.

Dall, Hamilton and Peed did mound honors.

Winterville was ahead with tallies until the last inning when a spurt by the visitors sent two runners over the plate to give them a one-run lead and the game.

To "Twist" Matthews, Kiwanis second-sacker, went batting honors of the day. His home run in the eighth frame enabled his teammates to get in touching distance of the high school lads.

The outstanding batter for Winterville was Hamilton who is credited with a three-base drive that figured in the scoring.

Each club was credited with three errors.

TWO YEGGMEN NABBED BY CAPITAL CITY POLICE

Raleigh, May 12.—(AP)—Two men identified by police as the most notorious yeggmens operating in North Carolina during the past several months, were arrested in a spectacular raid on a house here today.

Their names were given as James (Blue Dick) Rowe, alias J. C. Brooks of Bennettsville, S. C., and T. E. Hart of Wilson. They were ordered held in connection with the attempted robbery of the railroad station at Rockingham two weeks ago, when Jack Sechrest, an alleged companion, was shot in the arm and arrested.

Police said Sechrest had implicated both Rowe and Hart in the Rockingham robbery.

Rowe and Hart were arrested at the home of Ray Blalock, former convict, and police said they found them in possession of a stolen car and kit of burglar tools and a shotgun.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

Paul B. Zimmerman, a survivor of the Long Beach earthquake as well as the Rose Bowl flood and sundry intermediate events of greater or lesser importance, deposes "The fight business is picking up sharply, with good bouts in the making to keep the pace fast. From an all time low of $900 before the new year, the boxing business has risen to capacity crowds and $16,000 gates recently. The Olympic auditorium holds 10,400 and it was packed to overflowing for Tony Canzoneri and Baby Arizmendi, Lee Ramage and Art Lasky, a rugged Jewish heavyweight from Minneapolis, filled it again. Then more than 9,000 saw Ramage and King Levinsky. Barney Ross and Bobby Pacho, California Mexican, drew about 9,000.

"On May 15 Lasky and Levinsky, who boast hair-line decisions over Ramage, will meet. After that they hope to get Kid Chocolate in with Freddie Miller or Baby Casanova, the touch featherweight from Mexico City.

"The Hollywood Legion Stadium, which seats 4,000, also has been collecting capacity crowds. That is the mecca for the motion picture folks, you know. They fill all the ring-side seats so that the press can hardly work. The Legion post there is going to enlarge the place to 8,000. An outdoor arena seating 20,000 is going up in Hollywood and another in Los Angeles proper is being considered."

League Race One-Sided. "The Pacific Coast League race has indicated Los Angeles will repeat unless some of the other clubs can get help quickly. The league as a whole is in bad shape. Seattle, for several years in serious financial straits, is traveling by automobile now. The Mission Club farmed a player to Portland on option—of all things.

"As far as playing ability goes, the Angels seem to have such an edge that unless things are evened up a bit none of the clubs can hope to make any money because the pennant race will be so one-sided. Los Angeles lost only six games in the first 29 starts.

"But the Cubs might do something about that, for Frank Demaree, whom they sent back to the coast league because he couldn't hit, has been hitting over 400 and setting the home run pace.

Football Looms Strong. "A rip-roaring football season is expected in the fall, with no mention of the 1934 Rose Bowl defeat of Stanford being made.

"Southern California has its troubles. The center of the line needs a lot of work since, from guard to guard inclusive, the loss of Larry Stevens, Curtis Youel and Aaron Rosenberg will hurt a lot. Then Ford Palmer, first string end, Bob Erskine, first string tackle, and Bob McNeish, first string blocking half, not to mention Homer Griffith, regular quarterback, will be gone.

New York Cotton

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady four to six lower under liquidation and selling and on indifferent Liverpool cables.

July sagged to 11.20 and December to 11.48, with the market showing declines of about eight to nine points by the end of the first half hour.

Futures closed steady, one higher to one lower, spot quiet.

gram and the effort being put into work of this area to give the youths something constructive to do and think about while out of school.

He impressed his hearers with the facilities of Camp Charles, which has a craft shop building erected by the Kiwanis club, and urged that as many boys as possible be sent to camp this summer. He said a construction program had been arranged for the occasion and that all youths attending would derive great benefit both from the point of character development and physical improvement. He was presented by Joe Taft, head of the local Boy Scout movement.

The clubmen also has heard of some of the achievements of the music club of the local high school at the statewide contest held at Greensboro several weeks ago, but they did not fully appreciate the expertise of the youngsters until they heard a couple of the cup winners in action.

Ben Herring and Fred Slem showed the Kiwanians how they helped win four cups in the Greensboro contest. Ben played a trombone and Fred rendered a vocal solo number. Both received hearty applause from the clubmen and then heard Dr. R. S. McGeachy agree with Mrs. R. A. Tyson, Jr., who was in charge of the musical program, that every effort should be put forward to give music a more important place in the high school.

Miss Ona Shindler, director of public school music, whose efforts were largely responsible for the fine showing made by the school at Greensboro accompanied the youngsters. Both she and Miss Eva Hodg- es, of the music faculty were accom-

Society To Bow At British Courts

By OSCAR LEIDING

London.—(AP)—Twenty-eight hundred debutantes and young matrons—with scarcely three dozen Americans among them—will curtsy before King George and Queen Mary in the 1934 royal courts.

The functions, to be held May 15 and 16 and June 12 and 13, represent in splendor and ceremony occasions without peer in the social calendar.

For Robert W. Bingham, American ambassador to the Court of St. James, the approach of the courts has spelled one of the most delicate tasks of the office he has held for nearly a year.

It is his personal prerogative to frown upon or to approve the applications of several hundred Americans who seek to be commanded to appear before British royalty.

And out of the several hundred he can pick only eight for each court, plus the few diplomatic press-ees who will make up the sum total of America's participation in the glittering pageantry.

Glittering it will be, too, this year for fashion has decreed that brilliant materials and metal or bead embroideries are to feature the season's gowns. Gloves will be required—and no restriction has been placed on colors.

Sewing machines are whirring and luxury trades are booming for it is estimated that the courts will mean a turnover of $5,000,000 scattered among manufacturers, designers, shops, shoemakers, photographers, florists, caterers, places of entertainment and countless others.

For the favored few, the 2,800 commanded to appear before the king and queen represent but a fraction of the number who seek the honor, the one grand moment in the full blaze of the social sun ends months of preparation.

At the rate of 10 to 12 a minute, they will march in stately procession into the great white and gold ballroom of Buckingham Palace where, seated on gold and crimson thrones and flanked by beautifully gowned women and resplendently uniformed men, the king and queen hold court.

Each debutante in turn sinks in schooled curtsy and graceful obeisance to the king, rises and repeats the ceremony before the queen, and moves on. The king and queen have heard her name and bowed when she curtsied, but with the knowledge that social life holds no greater honor, is her reward.

Dillinger Hits The Jesse James Trail

By CHARLES NORMAN (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Jesse James' two 45's and his deadly rifles have given away to John Dillinger's automatics and sub-machine guns; his horse has been replaced by an automobile. But in many other respects, the records show, the career of the 19th century's most famous bandit was not unlike that of the present-day desperado.

Like the Missouri outlaw's band, Dillinger and his men are reported staging a hold-up and taking part in a battle with state and federal officers in several places at once, though the scenes are hundreds of miles apart.

Both men, when the pursuit of them was at its height, eluded scores of posses for swift visits to their homes—Jesse to see his mother, John to visit his father.

At Mooresville, Ind., home of Dillinger's father, a petition asking executive clemency for the fugitive has been circulated.

Half a century earlier, similar petitions were signed by Missourians for James' band.

The incident said to have started the James brothers in banditry occurred during the Civil war when northern militiamen came to the house of their stepfather to learn the hiding place of C. W. Quantrell, surviving brother of a southern guerrilla leader. They tortured the stepfather and the boys' mother, and beat young Jesse.

Frank James joined up with Quantrell and soon Jesse followed him. His first exploit was the rou-

Candidates Scarce in Jones.

Kinston, May 12.—Interest in politics is at a low ebb in Jones County, it appears, with the result that no Democratic candidates for the board of commissioners offered in this upper part of the county. It was the first time such a thing ever occurred. J. M. Dixon stepped into the breach and asked to be permitted to represent three townships on the board.
