Europe Takes Drastic Steps To End War In Chaco Area

U. S. ASKED TO BACK MOVE TO HALT FIGHT

Britain Proposes That No More Arms or Ammunition be Shipped to Belligerents in Chaco Boreal; Seven Nations Agree to Help Put Down Conflict

Europe took a drastic step today toward ending a war in South America and looked to the United States for backing in its move. Great Britain proposed to the League of Nations that no more arms and ammunition be shipped to Paraguay and Bolivia, which have quarreled for fifty years and fought for four years over the sovereignty of the Chaco Boreal, a huge wilderness in the center of the continent.

It was indicated the co-operation of the United States would be important by the co-operating nations.

FERA WORK PUSHED HERE

One Hundred Men at Work on Various Projects Throughout The County

Approximately one hundred men were at work on various relief projects in Pitt County at this time. It was made known today from the office of K. T. Futrell, Federal Emergency Relief Administrator of this county. Thirty-nine of this number are employed on the swimming pool here, twenty at Farmville, twenty at Fountain, seven at Grifton and seven on the farm program. Then, also, a few are employed in the emergency school work. All work under way in the county at this time, Mr. Futrell said, is paid out of the FERA appropriation, and that is so small it is impossible to say at what time a curtailment of the program may be ordered.

Gettle Abductors Given Life Imprisonment

Three men taken into custody in a police raid on a cottage at Le Crescentia, Cal., confessed participation in the kidnaping of William F. Gettle, oil millionaire, and are on their way to San Quentin prison to serve life sentences. Two of the men, Roy Williams (center, wearing cap) and James F. Kirk (right) alleged "brains" of the plot, are shown after their arrest. Two women were captured in the roundup of the gang but the men denied they had any part in the abduction. One of the women, who gave her name as June Ward, is shown at left. (Associated Press Photos).

TWO PER CENT LEAF BOOST SEEN IN PITT

Farm Department Says Many Growers Not Inclined to Increase Tobacco Crop

Many Pitt County tobacco growers seem disinclined to take advantage of the recent government ruling allowing them to plant 10 per cent more acreage this season than specified in the original contract. It was made known today from the office of E. F. Arnold, director of the local Farm Department. Mr. Arnold said that on the basis of information received at his office the increased acreage would amount to more than 2 per cent, he said growers apparently were satisfied with the amount the government allowed them to plant under the original contract and only a few appear inclined to take advantage of the increased acreage. The ruling on the 10 per cent increase is being mailed out to all growers from the Farm Department at this time. Mr. Arnold urged that the ruling and accompanying explanation be studied carefully so that those who desire to take advantage of the increased acreage offer will know what they are doing. He called attention especially to the fact that the government will deduct the full 10 per cent from rental payments on any acreage planted by growers whether they go the 10 per cent limit or not. In other words, if a farmer entitled to plant two acres under the new ruling plants only one acre, the full 10 per cent will be deducted from his rental payments for the period, the farm director explained. Mr. Arnold said he had talked with scores of growers from all sections of the county, and that while some indicated they would take advantage of the 10 per cent increase, the majority were satisfied to go on like they started. In fact, many are about through planting, and the land which they have taken out of cultivation under the government contract has been devoted to some other use in many instances, it was said. The new ruling was issued by the government because of unfavorable weather conditions that are prevailing through the various tobacco belts, especially the flue-cured belts, and word from manufacturers that business has picked up and their stock on hand is not as large as they first estimated.

SECOND MINE BLAST KILLS 14 PERSONS

Prussels, May 17.—(AP)—Fourteen members of a rescue party today killed 14 persons in a second explosion in the Patugas Ajax mines. They were caught by an explosion of fire damp as they sought the bodies of the men recovered from the blast. The whole population of the mining area was thrown into confusion by the new tragedy.

SOVIETS DENY ATTEMPT TO KILL TROOPER

Moscow, May 17.—(AP)—An official denial was made today of allegations that Russian frontier guards fired directly on a Manchukuan River steamer which carried Japanese troops. The report said one man was killed and another wounded May 12. The government's official version of the border incident was contained in a dispatch from Khabrovsk, Siberia. While sailing up the Amur near the mouth of the Gigan River, the Khabrovsk dispatch said, the boat approached shore and persons aboard began openly taking photographs of the bank and border guards opened fire. The shots were fired as a warning, it was stated.

RECORD BOOKS DELIVERED TO PITT GROWERS

Government Expects Growers to Keep Definite Check on Contracted Crops

The Farm Department is busy at this time delivering record book through which farmers of this county will be able to keep a definite check on the production of crop which have been contracted to the Government. It was made known today by E. F. Arnold, director of the department. Mr. Arnold said the record books would be delivered to farmers in all sections of the county during the next few days, and that there would be no guess work about the amount of contracted crops produced in Pitt County this season.

Books were delivered to Greenville Township farmers at meeting at the courthouse here yesterday morning and at Winterville yesterday afternoon. Today books will be delivered to growers at Avden and Swift Creek and tomorrow in Bethel and Carolina Townships. The farm forces are attempting to cover two townships a day. Mr. Arnold said, and this will enable them to complete their work in five or six days. The nature of the records are explained to the growers by Mr. Arnold who tells them what the government expects them to do with the books and that records must be kept as a basis for estimating how much acreage was used. Farmers are co-operating with the movement in all sections, it was said, and this is expected to play an important part in compiling records for next year.

Field Men To Audit Sales Tax Records

The Revenue Department of the State of North Carolina is sending out a number of field men to check and audit the books of merchants and business houses who pay sales tax. A crew of men is expected in Greenville any day to audit the books in Pitt county and T. T. CHICOD HIGH CLOSING SET FOR TONIGHT

Last School of the County System to Award Diplomas This Evening

The last of county school commencement exercises will be held in this county tonight with awarding of diplomas to the graduating class of Chicod high school. There will be no literary address as in numbers of other schools. Donald Conley, director of the Department of Education, said today, and the exercises will be in charge of the senior class. Only one other school of the county remains to close now and that is Greenville, where commencement will take place the latter part of the month. Last night Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill, judge of the Fifth Judicial district, delivered the annual literary address before the high school graduates at Ayden. The graduating class was the largest in the county, except Greenville, thirty-three young people having been awarded diplomas. Judge Frizzelle was heard by a crowd that packed the high school auditorium to capacity in spite of inclement weather. He told the young people of the duties awaiting them in the new life they were about to enter upon, and urged them to always keep in mind that those who win the greatest success are those who put the most into whatever they undertake. The baseball game between the local Kiwanis Club and Chicod high school, scheduled for this afternoon as a part of the commencement program, was called off this morning on account of a wet diamond. The recent rainfall, it was said, has completely flooded the diamond, making it impossible for the two clubs to carry out the schedule.

TRADE BODY DIRECTORS TO ENJOY DINNER

L. A. Stroud, president of the National Association of Commerce, has called a special meeting of the board of directors at a dinner meeting Friday evening, May 18, at 6:30 o'clock at the Proctor Hotel. One of the most important matters to come up will be to make plans to boost the tobacco market of the coming season. Wallace's Will Contested. Salisbury, May 17.—The will of the late Jake V. Wallace, wealthy Salisbury business man, is to be contested. His sister, Mrs. Rachel Zestretcher, claims that she will probate after his death is not his last will but that the last paper was written by himself and left in a trunk in his room from which it disappeared. The claim is set up, and there are supporting affidavits from a number of people who saw the will, that it left half of the estate of his sister, Mrs. Zestretcher and half to a brother, Leo Wallace.

OVER $50,000 TO BE EXPENDED AT OTEEN

Asheville, May 17.—(AP)—More than $50,000 will be spent this summer at the United States Veterans Hospital at Oteen in the construction of a new garage and fire department and for paving and painting. P. L. Collins, business manager of the hospital, announced. Bethel produces hundreds of truckloads of potatoes annually. The crop is due to come off between June 5 and 10, and if prices are right, growers who last season were able to line up additional dollars in their jeans this year. Garden—hundreds of them—the community variety and individual ones—are growing by leaps and bounds under the impetus of the rainfall, and in a short time many vegetables will find their way to the tables of the growers as well as others dependent upon them for farm products. Tobacco planted before the drizzle was said to have suffered little if any, and the new moisture in the ground will give them renewed life, causing them to grow rapidly.

Late News Flashes

Agree To Report Kerr Bill. Washington, May 17.—(AP)—The House agriculture committee today agreed to order the Kerr tobacco production control bill favorably reported tomorrow, after clarifying amendments have been written into it. As agreed to by the committee, the bill exempts growers who produce less than 2,000 pounds of tobacco in a crop year from its taxation feature. This tax which ran from 25 to 33-1/3 per cent of the market value, will be applied to all other tobacco produced outside of the Farm Administration voluntary reduction allotment, except Maryland, Virginia, and cigar leaf tax. The exact tax will be fixed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. Eligible growers who have failed to cooperate in the voluntary reduction plan will be given 30 days after passage of the bill in which to sign a reduction contract. Pay Farmers. Washington, May 17.—(AP)—The Farm Administration since January 1 has paid out $9,172,589 in rental (Continued on Page Six)

RAIN WORTH MILLIONS TO PITT GROWERS

Tobacco Growers Finishing Putting Out Plants During General Rainfall. The rainfall visiting Pitt County the last two days is worth millions of dollars to the farmers, agricultural leaders said today. It enabled farmers who had not finished putting out tobacco plants to complete this work with assurance for the time being at least that the crops are safe from dry weather. The rain is general through the county, and any section which suffered from the lack of moisture has probably as much as needed at this time. In fact, small streams throughout the county were reported near the overflowing point with indications that they would go over their banks if the precipitation continues through today. Not only tobacco farmers are affected, however, for the rains have brought joy to potato growers of the Bethel community and producers of other crops. One citizen of Bethel said this morning that the rain meant "hundreds of extra barrels of potatoes" to his community. The increased production means more money in the pockets of the growers, and this means great sums will be poured into the pockets of regular trade channels next month when the crop is disposed of. Bethel produces hundreds of truckloads of potatoes annually. The crop is due to come off between June 5 and 10, and if prices are right, growers who last season were able to line up additional dollars in their jeans this year. Garden—hundreds of them—the community variety and individual ones—are growing by leaps and bounds under the impetus of the rainfall, and in a short time many vegetables will find their way to the tables of the growers as well as others dependent upon them for farm products. ROOSEVELT'S SILVER PLAN ABOUT READY

Bi-Metallic Message Expected to be Sent To Congress in Few Hours. Washington, D. C., May 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt in agreement with the Senate silver bloc will speed a message to Congress proposing a bi-metallic standard for United States currency. The Chief Executive set about writing this new money document today for dispatch possibly within 48 hours. He was reported satisfied with the measure. It will mean the purchase of a huge store of silver estimated up to 1,800,000,000 ounces. Congressional leaders rearranged their legislative calendar to make room for action on the new administration proposal before adjournment. The program in rough outline will call for: A mandatory declaration of policy that silver shall be bought until it constitutes 25 per cent of the nation's monetary backing as against 75 per cent gold. Discretionary authority as to the amount of purchases in world markets to bring about the desired ratio. Authority for the purchase of silver at prices not to exceed 60 cents an ounce, a supply in this country estimated at around 25,000,000,000 ounces.

THIRD MAN IS QUESTIONED IN ABDUCTION

Claude Stoddard Admits Machine Used By Kidnapers Belonged to Him; Police Say Man Has Been Convicted Twice on Prohibition Law Violations. Los Angeles, Calif., May 17.—(AP)—A bootlegger, a farm hand and day laborer whose dreams of obtaining $80,000 ransom kidnaping a millionaire went to San Quentin prison to begin life imprisonment today. The three James F. Kirk, Roy Williams and Larry Kerrigan, respectively, pled guilty to charges of kidnaping William F. Gettle, wealthy Beverly Hills oil millionaire. Meanwhile, officers held Claude Stoddard on suspicion of kidnaping in connection with the case. Captain William Bright, of the sheriff's homicide squad, asserted that Stoddard, taken into custody last night, admitted part ownership of a sedan found in the garage at the house in Le Crescentia where Gettle had been held prisoner and that he had registered the car under the name of George Slater. Bright said Stoddard claimed to bring the car to his Harvard Street apartment last Sunday night, but when he arrived there Kirk took it, telling him: "We've got to use the car tonight." Stoddard said he had not seen the car since. Police said Stoddard had been twice convicted of prohibition law violations.

GREAT LAKES AFFECTED BY STRIKE MOVE

Truces End Labor Disturbances in Other Sections of the Country. (By The Associated Press) Labor troubles broke out today upon the Great Lakes where a general strike of tugmen was threatened while employer-worker truces ended other disputes. At the Port of Buffalo firemen, tinsmen, captain and engineers on the Hand and Johnson tug line were in dispute over wages and hours, towing activities were at a standstill. Strike votes were being taken at the other lake ports. At Cleveland tugmen voted to continue their work through today pending strike decisions. Several thousand seamen walked out on the Pacific Coast in sympathy with striking longshoremen. John Dore, of Seattle, appealed to Secretary of the Interior Ickes for Federal troops to guard non-striking dock workers. Truck drivers demanding union recognition and closed shop agreement struck at Minneapolis and ought to the up vehicular traffic by asking filling station attendants to walk out. Schoolrooms were affected by another dispute. Teachers in the public schools of Old Forge borough near Scranton, were on strike—their third within a year—for revocation of the suspension of Joseph Connor, principal of one of the schools. They also asked for new contracts and unpaid back salaries. Fatally Injured. Salisbury, May 17.—J. J. MAIL PROBE IS RESUMED

P. A. Franklin Denies Sending Message to Kermit Roosevelt While Yachting. Washington, D. C., May 17.—(AP)—P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine Corporation, said today he had not sent any company message to Kermit Roosevelt, vice-president of the Marine Corporation, while Roosevelt and President Roosevelt were guests aboard Vincent Astor's yacht off Florida this spring. Franklin made this statement to newspapermen just before the Senate connection of the International Mercantile Marine with mail contracts. Astor was called to testify today. "I never sent any message of any kind to Kermit Roosevelt while he was on the yacht, or any other time making any assertions as to why would be told the President," Franklin said. Senator Robinson, Democrat, Indiana, recently read to the Senate committee a published report that reports of such a radiogram were in the hands of the Senate Ocean and Air Mail Investigation Committee.

'POPPY DAY' RECALLS PICTURES OF WORLD WAR

The memorial poppies which the women of the American Legion Auxiliary will distribute here on "Poppy Day" Saturday, May 26th, will recall vivid pictures to the minds of World War veterans who served overseas, according to J. H. Rose, commander of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion. The poppies blooming amid the waste and destruction of the battle front, and among the bare graves of the dead, left an unforgettable impression on the American soldiers, he said.

"When the American divisions drove forward in the great offensives of 1918, they entered a region torn, desolated and trampled by the most tremendous battles of history. Destruction and death were everywhere but amid it all the little wild poppies bloomed. When machine gun and shell fire took its toll from the American ranks, the poppy was nature's floral offering on the graves of the dead. To us those poppies seem to symbolize the brave spirit of our fallen comrades and when we returned home we made the poppy the memorial flower of the American Legion."

Poppies to be worn in tribute to those who gave their lives for America in the World War will be offered on the streets throughout the city Saturday, May 26th, by the American Legion Auxiliary women. Men of the Legion are cooperating in promotion of the project. The poppies are paper replicas of the flowers that grew on the battle fields.

All contributions received for the poppies will be devoted to the rehabilitation and welfare work of Auxiliary among the disabled veterans and the dependent families of veterans.

MILL UNIT IS IDLE DUE TO WALKOUT

Laurinburg, N. C., May 17.—(AP)—A unit of Waverly Mills, Inc., employing about 300 operatives, stood idle today due to a walkout of workers yesterday afternoon in protest against the "stretch-out" system.

The workers said 300 operatives joined the strike, but mill officials claimed the strikers did not number more than fifty, and that the "stretch-out" system had not been invoked in the unit.

"There's no way we can stretch out over there," J. R. Murphy, an official of the mill, said.

The local of the United Textile Workers of America denied responsibility for the walkout, but called a meeting to determine what attitude the union would take in the controversy.

New Books

By JOHN SELBY
The difficulty in making art intelligible to the general public is, primarily, that those qualified to speak for art are persons directly concerned with art, and usually artists. Artists, with some exceptions, write rather badly.

Also, artists are too close to their subjects and too liable to twisted judgment as a result. Thomas Mann is, to be sure, one of those individual vaguely classified as "critics." But he is also a gentleman with a pungent, rapid style, perfectly fearless, and apparently sufficiently removed from the artistic market to escape influence thereby.

In his "Modern Art" (Simon & Schuster) he is trying to evaluate the art produced since the turn of the century. He goes back to so-called "Bohemianism" to find its roots, such as they are, and shows the steps by which modern art has become an art for artists' sake, and lost its contact with the people. The Picasso "abstractions" which Mr. Craven believes mean exactly nothing, are examples of what he calls an art for artists' sake.

He also takes up one by one the innumerable figures in art today, taking up also the dealers and collectors, which last have, he feels, much to confess at the bar of judgment. But the chief point of this thick and handsomely gotten out book is the cracking, vivid prose that fills it. Mr. Craven can make an abstract subject sound as exciting as a punch-by-punch account of a prizefighter.

Writing Statesman

We have, it appears, a cabinet member who can think calmly and write down what he thinks. His name is Henry A. Wallace, and his book is called "Statesmanship and Religion" (Round Table Press). It is a strange title for a book by a cabinet member, but when one reads it, one finds that its author actually has something of value to say.

Mr. Wallace views religion not only as a personal experience, but as a means of evaluation. He considers briefly most of the problems of today, and conceives a solution founded upon an intelligent application of religious feeling and discipline. Mut his idea of religious discipline and religious values are not those of the dogmatist or the doctrinaire.

Thumbnail Reviews

"The Ginger Griffin" by Ann Bridge (Little Brown); another story out of Chinese diplomatic and social circles by the author of the Atlantic $10,000 prize novel "Peking Picnic." It is an amusing novel, not without its powerful moments, and proof that its author is no "one book writer."

"Roaming American Playgrounds," by John T. Faris (Farrar & Rinehart); an accomplished "traveller" takes his readers on a tour of many of the country's interesting corners; a sort of guide for the use of those kept in America this summer by the depleted dollar.

"Our Master's Voice," by James Rorty (John Day); twenty years in the advertising game have given Mr. Rorty the idea that most advertising is not only stupid, but rather detrimental to our civilization; he takes advertising for a good-humored but rather rough ride.

"The Begonia Bed," by Elizabeth Kyle (Bobbs Merrill); in which Miss Kyle shows the gradual and sinister effect of a mother's frivolity on her daughter's life, beginning in the present, and going back to trace the story through Victorian and Edwardian times.

The WORLD OF STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES
The stamp-producing art has been given another boost by a colonial issue of Great Britain for its island possession of St. Helena.

This island off the west coast of Africa, famed as the place where Napoleon was exiled in 1815, is celebrating its centenary as a British colony. There are ten bi-colored beauties in the set, ranging from one-half penny to ten schillings.

Five of the designs include portraits of the four British monarchs who have ruled in the last one hundred years—William IV, Queen Victoria, Edward VII and the present king, George V. In the centers are various scenes on the island as well as a map of it on the 1 and 1-2 penny. The other five concentrate on the scenic motif, with various decorative borders showing the plant life of St. Helena.

The paper bears a watermark of a small crown and script CA in multiple.

Mother's Day Stamp

The usual flood of comment that has followed the issuance of new stamps from Washington the last few years poured out upon the appearance of the 3-cent Mother's Day commemorative. After reading the arguments, most of which were unfavorable, one gathers the impression that there was nothing right about the stamp.

The American Artists' professional league said there had been a "mutilation" of James Whistler's painting and criticized a "ten cent vase" of flowers pictured in one corner of the stamp.

The collectors, in voicing their objections, thought the stamp was "not in keeping with the standards of stamp design previously set," and compared it unfavorably with the workmanship displayed by the stamp makers of foreign lands.

Despite the criticism, the post-office department at Washington calmly commented, "The people seem to like it," adding that millions of the stamps were being sold. A recent bulletin issued by the Post-office Department to postmasters urged upon them a stressing of the sale of the stamp because of event it was commemorating.

ing national weaving exposition of that country. Each stamp bears an additional charge of 1 cent, apparently to aid in defraying the expenses of the exposition.

In the 1-let is an odd-shaped decorative structure with a thatched roof, on the 2-let is a girl weaving, while on the 3-let is a girl holding a spindle. The stamps bear the inscription, "L. N. P. R.—Munca Noastra Romaneasca."

The Papuan administration is preparing to issue a set of stamps to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of Papua as a British protectorate.

The new Belgium stamps, soon to come out, will bear a profile portrait of Prince Baudouin, baby heir to the Belgian throne.

Doumergue Cheerful As Remedies Ease French Economic Ills

By JOHN EVANS
Paris —(AP)—Premier "Papa" Doumergue feels he has a good start in curing his people's troubles.

All were asked "What's the matter with France?" to which Doumergue answered: "Politics!—Finance!—Dwindling business!"

Having diagnosed the ailment he is prescribing the old fashioned remedies of hard work, sacrifice and discipline.

His cure for politics is to eliminate them. His treatment for money trouble is a balanced budget and faith based on good work.

His medicine for poor business is to reduce cost so customers can buy. In Roosevelt's Steps

Radio fan that he is, the premier has taken a cure from President Roosevelt. He sits down for "talks" with his people in the first broadcasts any French government chief ever has made.

Bluntly the former president of the republic, who came from retirement to stop bloodshed and "save France," warns his "friends" listening in, of "civil war" and the danger of "foreign invasion."

When ministers or others complain his road is too hard, he threatens to return to his country home at Tournefeuille and let them shift for themselves. He smiles but means it.

Politics have been cured momentarily at least by forming a cabinet of all parties, with the ministers pledged to political peace. Each is charged with keeping his followers quiet. In time, Doumergue thinks all will learn the forgotten lesson of cooperation.

There still appears considerable complaint regarding the failure of motorists to observe the stop corners in this city... Reports of Tuesday's session of County Court reveal that a negro received 90 days of the roads for drunkenness and disorderly conduct while out of five cases were persons for possession of liquor for sale three were suspended upon payment of costs, giving the preference in favor of the liquor business rather than the drinkers. Such a record causes us to wonder whether in the year of the law the poor man who drinks it is more guilty of crime than those who make it possible for him to get a drink by having it for sale. In our opinion, he is as guilty as the other or without the drinker there could be no seller, and without the seller the drinker could not get it. The only way to break up the liquor business is to enforce the prohibition law vigorously to log as it remains on our statute books.

THEY HAD EYES BUT SAW NOT

(The Pathfinder) It was during the World War, way back in 1918, that the Pathfinder said: "Prices will continue to lead upwards until the strain becomes too great and then there will be a readjustment, if not a rash." People with even a moderate amount of common sense should have been able to see things as the Pathfinder foresaw them. If they had done that, the damage caused by the post-war deflation could have been largely avoided. But the majority of people refuse to learn anything, even from their own misfortunes. Three years after the Pathfinder published that warning, the first post-war crash came. All prices came tumbling down, factories were closed up and prices of farm products fell to a point where the farmers could not possibly operate except at a loss. But after that the boosters began to get in their work again. By 1920 they had worked up an artificial boom which was the biggest in history—and when the crash of that year came it made new records in spreading misery and damage. Right now, we seem to be once again in the grip of a boom psychology. Everything is now going up—and what goes up must come down. If the American people now have the wisdom to study these things and keep them under control, then they will enter into a new Promised Land of undreamed-of richness. But if they imagine they can reap where they have not sown, or that they can create plenty by loafing, or if they let these forces run away with them, there will be other crashes. This is as sure as fate.

The question is, have we learned anything from the mistakes of the past? Are we doing our full part to make prosperity a permanent condition in this country, and not just a high point between depressions? Are we taking advantage of the situation and just "grabbing while the

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: The evidence indicates that the two men found dead in Pierre Dufresne's breakfast room killed each other, although they do not believe that, however, although the only fact that supports his theory so far is that the "Secretariat" has a reconstruction of the crime.

RECONSTRUCTION

"All right, let's try to reconstruct the whole thing," said Harper. "We've got certain basic facts to serve as foundations and we'll fit them in as we go along. We'll take eight o'clock last night as our starting point. Hamill had just made his report from the call-box it was snowing heavily, there was a cold, high wind.

"Hamill walked along on his beat for three blocks. That would bring it to say, ten minutes past eight. He crossed the street above here but halfway over he changed his mind and came down Powhatan Terrace instead. What made him do that? Obviously, something he saw or something he heard.

"From the spot where Hamill turned off it is doubtful that he could have heard any sound from inside this house, even a shot or a scream. If there had been a noise loud enough for him to hear, certainly some of the neighbors would have been up and investigating. We'll have to make inquiries about that." Harper jotted down a memorandum, adding other pertinent questions from time to time as he pursued the course of the mystery.

"It is much more likely," he continued, "that Hamill saw something. What could it have been? A light in the house? The electric switch had been turned off at the source. The curtains of this one lighted room were drawn close. That replaced here an idea, Jack. Suppose that man stirred up the fire, poked the logs. You know hearts fire don't burn so well on a rainy or snowy night, for a dim chimney chokes off the normal draught.

"A shower of sparks would shoot out the top of the chimney. I've often seen it on winter nights. There would be something to draw Hamill's attention. This is assuming that Hamill knew the house was unoccupied. The whole idea hinges on that. We've got to find out whether he knew the Dufresnes were staying elsewhere.

"That's a neat piece of deduction," Lafferty advised, "but you've overlooked an important point. What Hamill heard was the front door banging about in the wind. That was the sound that led Connally and Hilleary here so quickly."

"I doubt that," was Harper's rejoinder. "I've not overlooked that banging door. The idea that a heavy door like this one, could go on booming from a quarter past eight to nearly ten o'clock without arousing the other residents of Powhatan Terrace is nearly impossible. But there again is something we can inquire about.

"However, be that as it may, we have Officer Hamill coming up the walk. We're safe in assuming that his suspicions were aroused. Now, did he find the door shut and locked or open and banging? It should have been shut and locked, if Hamill found it that way, he knocked or rang the bell."

"Wrong again, Steve," Lafferty objected. "If he were suspicious he'd go first and have a quiet look around the outside of the house. But the footprints in the snow prove that he didn't, he walked straight up to the front door without any detours."

HARPER thought that over. "You're right about that, Jack. We're not clear about that door. Assuming that it was locked, from the mere fact that Hamill entered some one must necessarily have opened to him. Here, then, we have our unknown man facing the policeman. That would have been the logical place for any shooting if the fellow had been a homicidal maniac, for instance.

"Instead, they go into the breakfast-room, through an unlighted hall. Why, in Heaven's name? Surely Hamill would have been suspicious and kept his gun in his hand. Our mystery man then slid down in that chair, lights a cigarette, whips out his gun and shoots Hamill in cold blood!

"On the other hand, assuming that the door was unlocked, and possibly banging, as Hamill's direct approach might indicate, then he probably stepped inside and then turned on the lights. That resulting in nothing, he'd probably call or whistle to attract attention. Perhaps he noticed the light shining under the breakfast-room door. He would open it and look inside.

"Our stranger is sitting very comfortably at the table, drinking and smoking, very much at home and at ease. Everything is in normal order. The man is in formal dress and bears a startling resemblance to Mr. Dufresne. So, if Hamill recognized him at all, he would mistake him for the master of the house. Certainly there is no reason why Hamill should want to shoot Dufresne, but nevertheless they killed each other with a remarkable unity of purpose. That's a pretty stiff dose of theory to swallow!"

"It sounds crazy to me," Lafferty agreed. "As you say, a door could hardly be banging away for nearly two hours without some of the neighbors doing something about it. On the other hand, doors don't open of themselves and set their locks so that they can't shut again. If Hamill had left the door unattached behind him, it would have banged shut just once and locked itself."

"Well, like it or not, all our evidence states that the door could not have been touched after the shooting, since both men were dead. We have only to examine the snow to see that Connally and Hilleary were the next to enter the house. Considering the shooting as a separate action, we get into another maze.

grabbing is good," are we showing moderation and sober judgment and doing what we know to be RIGHT, even though it may cost us personal sacrifices? These times are like war times; they are the times that try men's souls. Some of us will have to be martyrs. Can we come through the test?

Don't forget that there are "bottoms" still lower than the one we reached at the low point of February, 1933. It was 30 years after the War of 1812, and likewise 30 years after the Civil War, that commodity prices reached their lowest levels—and those levels were 15 to 20 points below the "low" of last year. If we allow the boosters and unprincipled speculators to prey on the country, as they did after those other depressions, they can drag us down again.

NEW 'BLUE EAGLE' AIDS FIGHT OF GERMAN-AMERICAN SHOPS ON BOYCOTT OF NAZI PRODUCTS

By RADEE WINGET
New York.—(AP)—There is a new blue eagle flapping its wings in New York.

It is a German-American blue eagle, and in German-American sections of New York it is reported to be as popular as the NRA bird.

Introduction of the eagle here is considered another move in the long and often bitter fight between elements of Germans and Jews, a reflection of racial disturbances in Nazi Germany.

Shopkeepers, especially in the German-American Yorkville section of the city, are proudly displaying the eagle of imperial men perched above the letters DAWA and a rising sun. DAWA stands for Deutsch-Amerikanischer Wirtschafts-Ausschuss—meaning German-American Economic Committee.

History of Movement
Those flying the eagle are reported to have pledged not to buy supplies from any source that boycotts German goods. Backers of the plan say there are 1,500 eagles and many more than that number of consumers pledged to buy from the new eagle shops.

The history back of the movement starts with reports to Nazi persecution of Jews in Germany last year. Jew and Jew's sympathizers, especially in New York, whose population includes approximately 2,000,000 Jews, organized a boycott of all things German.

In the face of the boycott, some of the largest department stores announced they would not purchase German products, and mass meetings were held to protest Hitler's treatment of Jews in Germany. Ambassador Hans Luther in Washington lodged complaints with the American government, but Federal authorities said they could take no action because no Federal officials were involved.

Congressional Probe
The pro-Nazi movement in the United States came to light when Heinz Spanknobel, leader of the Friends of New Germany, left the country as officials sought him for questioning.

as valuable as a Republican nomination in Georgia.

It is a different story this year. Prospects of victory are so rosy that the Democrats are engaged in an old-fashioned tilt for nominations as United States Senator, Representatives and Governor.

Joseph E. Guffey, national committeeman, and Roland S. Morris, ambassador of Japan under the Wilson administration, are in a nip-and-tuck struggle to see which one will run against either Senator Reed or Governor Pinchot, Republicans, for the Senate.

"Doubtful" States
A similar situation prevails in Ohio. Governor White, former Governor Donahay and Representative Traux are campaigning to see which one will oppose Fess for the Senate.

Ohio was preponderantly Republican until Senator Bulkley crashed through with a Democratic victory in 1930 and the G. O. P. still is confident it will be Republican this year.

Other States usually considered as safe for the Republicans in election years are marked down as "doubtful" at the present. Democrats, in such States as Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Nebraska and West Virginia are split wide open in their contests for State and Congressional nomination.

Bryan and Mullen
Democratic prophet are loud in their predictions that an additional Senate seat will be picked up in West Virginia this year. Senator Hatfield, Republican, is regarded as certain to be renominated. Two Democrats are campaigning for the chance of opposing him in November.

In Indiana a half-dozen or more Democrats want the privilege of opposing Senator Arthur Robinson Republican, R. Earl Peters, Democratic State Chairman in 1932, and for several years before that, is an active candidate.

In Nebraska Governor Bryan, brother of Willie Jennings Bryan, wants to be the Democratic nominee for the Senate, but there is talk that Arthur Mullen, friend of President Roosevelt and his floor manager at the 1932 convention, has ambitions along the same line.

If Mullen should decide to seek the nomination a bitter party struggle would certainly be precipitated with far-reaching consequences.

Washington, D. C.—From all indications, the present session of Congress will enter the home stretch next month and cross the finish line with as dazzling a burst of speed as has been seen on Capitol Hill in many years.

All hopes for anything resembling a leisurely coast to the tape by either House apparently have been doomed by recent developments.

The sudden and confusing turn the question of what is to be done about silver has taken his muddled the legislative situation considerably. In addition, President Roosevelt's announced intention of sending some sort of message on war debts to Congress before adjournment has complicated things further.

Even if some sort of agreement on the former is reached by the White House and Congressional leaders, the latter is certain to open flood gates for the release of millions long imprisoned.

Wrangling Ahead
The Senate already faces long and dreary days of wrangling to clear its calendar of pending legislation. The tariff bill, alone, assures this. The House, while not so bogged down as the Senate, quite easily could get itself tied into a knot on such controversial questions as silver and war debts.

Stormy days are in prospect for the next month or six weeks, but once they have subsided a period of calm is in prospect for at least a part of the summer months.

Members of Congress will lose no time in shuffling off for their homes and re-election campaigns after adjournment. And Mr. Roosevelt is said by his friends already to be talking in delighted fashion of the day when he can board a navy warship and cruise lazily eastward to Hawaii and the Philippines.

That the cares of the President will be left behind by Mr. Roosevelt transfer as possible on the trip is indicated by plans now in the making.

Entourage Limited
As on all such previous excursions he has taken since entering the White House, the President is insisting upon as complete freedom from observation on this cruise as possible. Present plans call for only three newspapermen to accompany him.

He is adamant on such occasions and all the arguments of his secretariat as to the necessities of the press in the case of a President can't shake him.

Steve Early, his secretary in charge of relations with the press, recently admitted when the question of newspaper coverage on a machine trip was up that he talked with the President no less than five times.

"Each time," said Early, "he just grinned and said 'No.'"

Washington, D. C.—It's been a little since the Democratic caucus has seen such a mad scramble among politicians to win its favor as is now going on throughout the country.

In almost every State delegates are being waged to obtain Democratic nominations. Candidates apparently are convinced that another Democratic victory is in the cards. However, and they want to be on the bandwagon.

Take the State of Pennsylvania, for example. Outside of a few districts, until this year a Democratic nomination was considered about 5 Six-Footers... and not a cramp in a Carload!

See how much less space is occupied by the V-8 engine as compared to the ordinary "six" or "eight." Less space for the engine means more for the passengers.

● This Ford V-8 front seat is easily and quickly adjustable to the comfort of any driver. No one laments being too tall—or too short—in a Ford V-8.

WHO SAYS THERE'S NO DIFFERENCE IN MOTOR OILS?

These people tested Gulf-lube against famous 25c oils—Now read what they say . . .

"GULF-LUBE TOOK ME 41% FURTHER BEFORE I HAD TO ADD A QUART."

"I WENT 51% FURTHER ON GULF-LUBE BEFORE A QUART WAS CONSUMED."

Mrs. Lee Keener, Winston-Salem, N.C.—Chrysler owner.

"I GOT 24% MORE MILES OUT OF GULF-LUBE BEFORE MY OIL-LEVEL DROPPED A QUART."

Mr. J. D. Bowden, Atlanta, Ga. Plymouth owner.

Each of these motorists made two trips to some distant point.

ON the first trip they used one of the well-known 25c oils. On the second trip they used Gulf-lube. And Gulf-lube cut their oil consumption from 24% to 51%!

Switch to Gulf-lube—the oil that beat 3 other famous 25c oils in the AAA Indianapolis "high-mileage" test. Pare down oil costs . . . get better lubrication! 25c a quart. Plus Tax.

GULF-LUBE... the "high mileage" motor oil

FIVE big men can relax in utter comfort on the deep cushions of the Ford V-8. Wide seats keep elbows out of ribs. Ample leg room keeps legs from being cramped.

Why? Because Ford measures roominess in terms of usable body room. Not in terms of the distance between bumpers, which means nothing when you come to analyze it.

The Ford V-8's very engine construction gives you more body room, as the diagram explains. Cylinders are "doubled-up" saving space, not strung along in a line to waste it.

The Ford V-8 front seat is adjustable. It quickly and easily adapts itself to a six-foot-two husband or a five-foot-two wife. It ends forever that source of strife.

See the new Ford V-8. Revel in its comfort. Marvel at its performance. And drive it before you buy any car at any price.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

It is still debatable whether Glenn Cunningham can outfoot Bill Bonthron, providing they are on anything like even terms for the final dash to the tape at the end of a mile run, but there is no question that the barrel-chested Kansas boy is far and away the most consistent miler this country has ever had.

Like a great artist, Bonthron has his superb moments and a finishing "kick" that sends the thrills racing up and down the spine, but the order of the palm, with ribbons, goes to Cunningham for his consistency over a two-year stretch of competition in this country and Europe.

Galoping Glenn has been beaten only twice within this period—three times, if you count the mile race he lost to Glen Dawson of Oklahoma one time last year when he failed to turn on the customary Cunningham "heat." The two occasions with which we are most concerned, however, are the races Glenn lost to Venke, at 1,500 meters, and to Bonthron at one mile. Both were indoors and the margin each time was so thin that none but the judges could detect it.

Cunningham has now run at least five mile-races in less than 4:13 and is the only foot-racer in the world with the distinction of twice having beaten 4:10 for the distance.

They all may have the speed but Bonthron, Lovelock, Beccali—the three outstanding rivals of Cunningham for world honors—cannot show anything like the consistency of the Kansan.

East Gets 'Break'

It seems pretty definite now that the big coast universities will not be represented by teams at the annual Intercollegiate A. A. A. track and field championships the end of May at Philadelphia, for the first time since the war. In effect, this gives the big meet back to the East, for only once in the last 15 years has an Eastern college been the winner. Yale's 1924 victory stands out like a shipwrecked sailor on a raft in the ocean of Far Western triumphs. Things got so bad in recent years that the I. C. A. A. A. meet was more like a dual contest between Stanford and Southern California than anything else.

Dean Cromwell's Trojans, who made it four titles in a row last year and a total of six triumphs in ten years, will not be represented at all because of the responsibility of playing host to the National Collegiate A. A. championships late in June at Los Angeles. Southern California is posting a $20,000 guarantee for expenses of the N. C. A. A. meet and hardly can afford to finance sending a team all the way across the country, in addition.

Stanford and California may send one or two men, like John Lyman, the shotputter, and Bob Kiesel, the sprinter. The newest coast member, U. C. L. A., plans to enter Jimmy Luvall, crack quarter miler, who won the 400-meter event in 46.9 seconds last spring at Harvard.

Mile Relay Record Topping
Paul Zimmerman writes us that Southern California has the world's one-mile relay record at its mercy—the aforesaid record now standing at 3:12.6, in the possession of Stanford University, and therefore doubtless attractive to the Trojan challengers.

The quartet, counted upon to take it apart, consists of John McCarty, a sophomore with a 47.5 quarter-mile to his credit; Ed Ablowich, veteran of the American Olympic 1600-meter relay champions, 47.6; Harry Tompkins, made-over sprinter, who has done 48 flat; and Al Fitch, a Stanford transfer, 48.2.

"That," concludes Zim, "gives the boys 3:11.3, not taking into account the fact three of them will be enjoying the advantage of a running start. McCarty has been clocked in 47 flat with a running start."

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 17.—(AP)—The stock market enjoyed a mild inflationary thrill today following word from Washington that the administration had reached an agreement with the congressional silver bloc on the bill to expand monetary uses of the metal.

While enthusiasm in most categories was restrained, such issues as United Smelting, American Smelting and Cerro de Pasco and others of this group got up two to five points.

Trading was almost as dull as that of the previous session, and opinion as to nearby trends was mixed. Wheat, hesitant during the early hours, rallied a cent or more a bushel after the opening and other cereals steadied.

Cotton improved with silver sentiment. Stocks were given an upward whirl later in the day under the leadership of the metal issues which responded to the new administration agreement with the Senate silver bloc.

Transfers were approximately 1,250,000 shares.

Tariff Splits Senate.
Washington, May 17.—(AP)—The tariff bill split the Senate in twain this afternoon to create a tension that was rivaled only by feelings in the House.

Tonight was a meaningful deadline for representatives out to force a vote on the 30-hour week, closed bank payroll and farm mortgage relief bills.

Unless the petitions had the 145 required signatures before capital proceedings gave way to dinner, the chances to get votes were slim.

It was Harrison vs. McNary in the tariff debate, the first for this administration and the latter for the Republican opposition.

The American Farm Bureau endorsed the measure as well as the Senate silver advocates.

Arrest Negro Extortionist.
Lake Charles, La., May 17.—(AP)—John Collins, a negro, was under arrest today in connection with an attempt to extort $100,000 ransom from Tom C. Austin, wealthy president of the Stevedore Association here.

The negro, a former railroad employee, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Department of Justice operators when he went to the spot, an extortion note directed the money be placed. He denied writing the note or being connected with the plot.

"I just found the package and was going to give it to the white folks," he said.

The letter received by Austin Tuesday warned: "You may inform police at your own sorrow," and directed the money to be placed in a wadded section near the intersection of the Southern Pacific and Kansas City railroad in the city limits.

MODERN HANGAR GOING UP AT ROCKY MOUNT

Rocky Mount, N. C., May 17.—The steel and concrete hangar at the municipal airport was beginning to take definite shape here today following the pouring of concrete foundations and erection of the principal columns.

C. E. Exum, city engineer who is in charge of the work said the hangar is about one-fifth completed. About two weeks will be needed to finish the job, assuming that a number of wind-braces arrive soon; otherwise completion will take longer, Mr. Exum said.

The hangar will be 80 feet by 100 feet at the base and will be modern and well equipped in every particular. The largest planes, commercial and otherwise, which are expected to include the local airport on regular routes in the future, can easily be housed in the hangar, it is reported.

ABSOLVED OF BLAME IN TRAFFIC FATALITY
Wilmington, N. C., May 17.—The death of Mrs. P. S. Jordan, Castle Hayne, was a regrettable and tragic traffic accident, and the jury verdict absolved the driver of blame.

Mrs. Jordan was struck down by an automobile driven by Mr. Weigelt late in the afternoon of March 7, as she stepped from a car driven by J. E. Howard, Jr., and was across the highway to enter her home.

Funeral services were conducted here this afternoon for Mrs. Jordan.

DEATH OF WOMAN IS LAID TO FATHER-IN-LAW
Reno, Nev., May 17.—A coroner's hearing was held Monday night to the death of Hester Lightner who was shot to death at the home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lightner, early Sunday morning.

The verdict was that she came to her death by a gun shot at the hand of Howard Lightner, her father-in-law. He was brought from Halifax for the hearing, but did not testify, nor did his son, Paul, who is not under arrest. Mrs. Lightner and several people from her neighborhood gave testimony.

After the hearing, Lightner, who appeared unperturbed, was returned to Halifax jail to await Superior court which convenes June 2.
