THREE NATIONS SEEK CONFERENCE ON NAVAL ISSUE

Seige Of Rioting Strikers Is Lifted At Toledo, Ohio

TROOPS TAKE COMMAND OF STRIKE AREA

Ten Thousand Strikers And Sympathizers Dispersed By Timely Arrival Of Military Forces; Sporadic Firing Takes Place But Troopers Report Situation Is Now Quiet

Toledo, O., May 24.—(AP)—The seige of rioting strikers which kept 1,500 employees of the Electric Auto and Light Company, hemmed in the plant during all night disorders, was lifted today by a detachment of Ohio National Guardsmen.

The troops reported all was quiet as evacuation of the embattled plant started.

Rain and the long-awaited arrival of troops had thinned the crowd of nearly 10,000 strikers, sympathizers and spectators which thronged the streets around the plant last night to less than one hundred.

Bayonets and machine guns appeared as the guardsmen threw a cordon around an area of six blocks long and one block wide and remaining strikers were forced to withdraw.

Sporadic shots had been heard until a few hours before the troops arrived, forming a military force aiding civil authorities to maintain order.

Only a few hours before shouting defiance at police and their tear gas bombs and hurling insults and bricks at the besieged employees, the troopers had defied attempts of more than 120 civil officers to evict them.

As the guardsmen with bayonetting with guns and rifles and stronger tear gas bombs cleared the restricted area quickly, the evacuation of these imprisoned fifteen hours was begun.

WOUNDED CONSTABLE IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Dithers, N. C., May 24.—The condition of Curtis J. Crutchfield, Durham County constable, who was shot down without warning yesterday as he and another constable were attempting to arrest three armed negroes who alleged were creating a disturbance on the Chapel Hill road, was reported as critical today.

Sheriff E. G. Belvin attributed the shooting of Crutchfield to a "boot-leg war" now raging in that section of the county, near the New Hope Creek bridge, where Crutchfield destroyed a still late Monday afternoon.

Officers here say that Crutchfield, the Patterson Township officer, was lured deliberately to the vicinity and ambushed because of a "strident" blockading had against him for his activities there.

The three negroes who are alleged to have opened fire on Crutchfield for no apparent reason, two of whom have been lodged in the county jail, have been identified by local officers with blockading activities in the southern part of the county.

Recover Part Of Money Stolen From Bank Here

It was revealed yesterday that $8,100 of $8,360 reported to have been stolen from S. T. Hooker's lock box in State Bank and Trust Company here had been recovered, but the name of the guilty party or parties was not revealed. It was stated, however, that no one connected with the bank had connection with the theft.

The money was reported to have disappeared from the lock box between March 28 and April 27, and police immediately went into action when Mr. Hooker reported the incident.

The lock box was fingerprinted and the prints coupled with suspicion led to the apprehension of the guilty party or parties. It was rumored that Chief Clark and Mr. Hooker had agreed not to bring any criminal action against the party or parties if the money was returned, and on the basis of this agreement declined to reveal any names.

MAYOR MOVES FOR IMPROVED STREETS HERE

Says Bad Places in Streets and Sidewalks Will be Paved At Early Date

"Better looking streets for Greenville," was the objective of Mayor R. C. Flanagan today as he announced plans for repaving bad places in both streets and sidewalks during the next several weeks.

The improvement program is scheduled to get under way within the next week or so, the mayor stated this morning, and the citizenship has been called upon to aid in every way possible.

There are numerous broken places in various sections of the city which have needed attention for some time and now that Dickinson Avenue and Fifth Streets are being improved, the mayor said he thought the campaign should be carried to as many streets as possible.

A roller is the only thing standing in the way of the beginning of work, and this is expected to reach the city in the next few days.

The mayor also said that actual work in connection with repaving Dickinson Avenue would begin next week. All depressions in the brick pavement on this street have been taken care of and the placing of the surfacing material will make it among the best streets in the city.

Work has been completed in widening Fifth Street from Library Street of the city limits, and the new paving is expected to be thrown open to traffic during the week. Barriercs which closed the section of the street on which the work was being done were taken down the latter part of last week and traffic has been going through all the week.

OCEAN FLIERS LAND IN WALES

Cardiff, Wales, May 24.—(AP)—Captain George Pond and Lieut. Cesare Sabelli arrived at the airport here today with the engine of their trans-Atlantic plane, Leonardo Da Vinci, knocking and smoking.

They had flown from Point Talbot, Wales, where they were forced down earlier in the day on an attempted non-stop flight from Dublin to Rome.

The motor had failed them just as they reached land after flying the ocean and the cut-out again at Point Talbot disappointed the two fliers.

They made emergency repairs at Point Talbot and reached Cardiff without mishap. General repairs will be effected here before they start again.

The movement started immediately after the death of Dr. Wright. At the staff meeting when resolutions were passed in his memory, the feeling was strong that something more tangible than words should be done to express the appreciation his colleagues had for his 25 years of service for the college and his life work for education.

Nothing seemed more fitting than a loan fund to carry on the work nearest his heart, helping boys and girls to fit themselves to teach. A committee was appointed to make definite plans. Yesterday afternoon these plans were presented to the staff and the campaign for the fund definitely launched.

Committees were appointed for presenting the cause to individuals and groups who wish to make contributions. E. L. Henderson is chairman of the committee, and M. L. Wright is secretary.

Details for the administration of the fund were included in the plan, the conditions of the loans, such as the selection of the beneficiaries and terms for refunding the loans.

Late News Flashes

Congress Busy On Tariff. Washington, May 24.—(AP)—Today brought disclosures of a first faint approach to the 1935 naval conference but Congress was too busy with tariffs and deposit insurance to pay immediate heed.

For long it has been plain that Japan wished to get more than its present battle strength which would make for difficulty. So virtual significance was attached to news that the United States, Britain and the Asiatics are already exchanging views.

The only present question is whether the countries might best precede the formal conference with informal discussion of pertinent questions.

Concerning more urgent matters the House Democratic leadership massed to force through the administration bill for postponement for a year of permanent deposit insurance.

Senate Democrats also were prepared to require extra long working days to get a vote on the reciprocal tariff bill.

BOUNDARY FOR PARK WILL BE DECIDED SOON

Mayor Flanagan Says Work Will be Rushed on the City Park As Soon as Possible

Settlement of a boundary line for a city park on the campus of East Carolina Teachers College adjoining the municipal swimming pool will be made within the next few days, it was stated today by Mayor R. C. Flanagan.

The mayor said he would confer with Dr. L. R. Meadows, temporary president of the college, probably today or within the next few days, regarding the boundary lines and hoped to be able to start work on the park immediately afterward.

The board of trustees of the college granted the late Dr. R. H. Wright authority to set aside a portion of the campus near the pool for the proposed park, but the boundary lines had not been established at the time of Dr. Wright's death several weeks ago.

The same authority is vested in the new president and Mayor Flanagan said in view of the fact that hot weather is already here and plans are being rushed for completion of the swimming pool he would make every effort to start work on the park as soon as possible.

The park will be on a hillside overlooking the swimming pool, and thousands of people are expected to gather during the summer to watch activities at the pool. The place will be well lighted by the city and benches will be provided for those who want to sit down and take life easy.

The proposed park has been highly commended by country people visiting the city from day to day throughout the year. They say such a recreational center should be of inestimable value to the city and community.

NEW MONEY CONFAB SEEN

Roosevelt Silver Message Believed To Hold Out Offer Of Discussion

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—The prospect of a new international monetary discussion projected today from the administration silver program. Hidden in President Roosevelt's silver message to Congress was a subtle invitation for nations plagued by money troubles to seek silver as a solution to their problems.

Nations were not named, but there was an intimation that Mr. Roosevelt had Britain, Germany, Japan and other nations in mind when he said: "The ebb and flow of values in almost all parts of the world created many points of pressure for readjustment of internal and international standards."

Administration quarters paid but slight heed to reports from London that financial circles are alarmed lest the Roosevelt silver elevation prevent Britain's return to the gold standard.

PLAN TO TALK PRIOR TO MEET SET FOR U. S.

First Overtures For Discussion Of Naval Questions Came From Britain And Japan; Japan Has Announced She Will Seek Revision Of Treaty Signed At London Conference

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—The United States, Great Britain and Japan were said authoritatively today to be engaged in preliminary conversations concerning the feasibility of holding discussion of naval questions prior to the Washington naval conference next year.

William Phillips, Under-Secretary of State, declined any official comment on the discussion, but it was understood the first overtures for an exploratory survey of naval questions came from Britain and Japan, through an official spokesman, has announced on numerous occasions she would demand revision of the present five-tenth three naval ratio established at the London and Washington conferences. Japanese officials also have suggested that preliminary discussions between the three nations on questions especially pertaining to the Pacific would go along way toward clearing the atmosphere for the general conference.

Secretary Swanson said yesterday at his press conference that the United States would consider extending its naval bases in the Pacific if the Japanese insisted on increasing the operation of their navy to that part of this country.

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and chairman of the American Iron and Steel Institute, today announced his intention of sending his resignation from the institute.

The veteran steel master said he did not know whether the resignation would be accepted.

The Bethlehem chairman told members of the institute that if the steel industry's current operation rate of 55 per cent of capacity can be continued the present schedule for the third quarter will permit most steel companies to earn something on their investments.

Freight Rates Play Big Part In Commerce

It is an established fact that millions of dollars are lost annually through the lack of knowledge in freight rates and transportation. The trained traffic man knows how to eliminate that loss. When one is advised that there are nearly 500,000 tariffs and tariff supplements in effect in the United States alone, governing rates between more than 40,000 important shipping points, it is not difficult to realize the possibility of complications. This is one of the many reasons why every large industry in the country maintains an efficient traffic department. In fact it would be impractical for any large industry to carry on its business without a traffic department. Every business man is affected one way or another by freight rates whether he is a shipper or not, cause he is a consumer and at same time his success, to a certain extent, depends upon commerce. Eastern North Carolina has the few, if any, businesses large to maintain a traffic department of its own. Hence, the need of maintaining a co-operative organization such as the (Continued on Page 6)

PARADISE CASTLE

(Lillian Virginia Moore)

'Twas a castle steep and tall,
With towers and crimson walls,
And my secret chambers above the window.

Overlooks the lake where fragment winds blow,
Down among the hillside are birds,
Trees and flowers.

While up in the clear blue sky
Are the many towers
Of Paradise Castle.

There is a path as quaint as it looks,
Which leads to my tree in a nook
'Tis here I see God's own beauty and glory.

About me is the stream which tells its story,
With the colorful flowers and trees,
Fragrant and laden with bees
Of Paradise Castle.

While in the sunset sky with its many Colors are pink, gold and blue,
Where God put with His own hand
this lovely hue.

At twilight, and at dawn the birds
sing
Their sweetest melody which means everything.
At Paradise Castle.

While in the valley below the peasants toil and strive,
God sends sun and rain to make crops that thrive.

Where friends and peace we keep,
This is all romantic so in my heart I shall
Store this deep,
Now all of this surrounds my Paradise Castle.

STORY OF KIDNAPPING IS REVEALED AS HOAX

Durham, N. C., May 23.—Eighteen-year-old Clement Meadows of Granville County, confessed late last night that the kidnap story he told officers last week here, alleging that three strange men overpowered him and bundled him away in an automobile, was the product of his own imagination.

He admitted to having framed the hoax, allegedly to spite his mother, who requested him to retire early at nights. He invented the purported kidnap story to "scare" her and be more lenient with him when he returned home.

Thursday morning the youth reported to police a strange tale concerning his alleged kidnaping. He declared last night that he tied his hands with shoe laces, stuck a handkerchief in his mouth for a gag and then stumbled out of the highway to flag for a ride.

Senior Class To Present "You're Telling Me"

The Senior play "You're Telling Me," which will be given in the high school auditorium Friday evening, May 25, at 8 o'clock, promises to be the most rollicksome given in several years. This fast-moving and hilarious comedy deals with the situations which result when a group of social climbers attempt to crash society. The lines are never dull and the audience is guaranteed a good laugh every minute. A small cast which has had much practice, is ready to present a smooth and entertaining play tomorrow night.

Mrs. Coleman, who has directed the play, has also supervised the construction of a beautiful set for the enactment of this fashionable Long Island melodrama.

Entre act numbers include music by Gus Forbes and Edward Connelly.

The cast for "You're Telling Me" includes Julia Gaylord and Nancy Nisbet as leading ladies, with Ben Herring and Billy Stalon opposite them. Berta Arnold plays the mother superbly, and Julia Foley and her ambitious daughter, Melba Deane Robertson and Anna Mae Holliday afford much of the humor in the play. Ernest Lee Clark plays the part of a sophisticated foreign count, and "Possum" Kasey amuses the house with his fatherly manner and realistic snoring.

The play is less than two hours in length and promises to be delightful in every respect.

Nathan Brooks To Be Ordained Friday Evening

Nathan C. Brooks, Jr., will be ordained as a minister of the gospel at a special service to be conducted at Memorial Baptist Church Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The ordination sermon will be delivered by Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of the church, and others will participate in the service.

Mr. Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Brooks, of Greenville, will be the first young man sent out into the ministry by the church in recent years, and his ordination was being looked forward to with interest by members of the congregation.

Mr. Brooks recently was graduated from the Baptist Seminary at Louisville, Ky., with the degree of Doctor of Theology, and has a splendid educational background for the important field he is preparing to enter.

He has been spending the last several summers here with his parents and has supplied for pastors in most churches of the city.

Mr. Fleischmann said a cordial invitation was extended to friends and members of the congregation to attend the services.

Insull's Spirit Appears Unbroken By Troubles

By JOHN LLOYD
Of the Rome Bureau of The Associated Press, who accompanied Samuel Insull Across the Atlantic.

New York—(AP)—Age and his recent experiences have not robbed Samuel Insull of his vigor.

A few minutes' talk with the former utilities magnate brings a decided alteration in the impression given by his snowy white hair and mustache. Alert mental faculties and a keen memory show in his conversation. Bursts of energy make it apparent that he does not regard himself as "finished."

He can shift quickly from calm amiability to stormy anger. The cloak of age seems to drop completely from him in such moments and a spirited fighting character is revealed.

Then, as quickly, the easy, tranquil manner that has ripened with his 74 years returns. After the person against whom he has vented his wrath finds suddenly that they are again on the friendliest of terms.

Although he says a man of his age is living on "borrowed time," Insull with scarcely a change of breath launches into discussions of new business enterprises and speaks of places he hopes to visit and the things he hopes to do in years to come.

He is intolerant of any inference that he may have held his own well being above that of his investors in the management of his enterprises in America. All the property left to him in the world, he insists, is contained in the luggage he brought with him on the Exilona.

In a physical sense the former magnate shows certain definite marks of time, but his condition seems to be well above average for a man of his years. He lost 25 pounds in weight during the 20 months between his departure from Chicago and his exit from Greece aboard the Maitos last March.

Periodical medical examinations and constant caution, he says, have saved him from the grave consequences that might have resulted from a persistent heart ailment.

While he was once a collector of rare wines he prides himself upon never having tasted alcoholic drink. The collecting was a hobby and he grew to be an expert judge of vintages by the power of smell. He indulges heavily in cigars, eats heartily and enjoys sitting up late at night discussing world affairs.

His age did not deter him while in Athens from laying plans for development on a large scale of the light business. He says that if his personal situation had been settled he would have carried the plans into operation and that it would have emancipated Greece from its dependence on a foreign coal supply.

This he would have achieved through exploitation of immense lignite deposits, he told newspapermen. He said friends were ready to advance capital for the purpose.

The effect upon Greece's manufacturing industry and consequently her foreign trade, he contended, would have been enormous. The lignite, properly treated, was to be an economical substitute for the coal now imported in great quantities.

Despite the Greeks' withdrawal of their hospitality after he had been in Athens a year and a half the former magnate speaks fondly of them. He says he would have been content to spend the rest of his life in Greece.

ABERNETHY SUED BY WASHINGTON HOSPITAL

New Bern, N. C., May 24.—Suit has been filed in the office of the clerk of Superior Court here by the Washington Sanatorium, Inc., Washington, D. C., against Congressman Charles L. Abernethy of this city for $1,415.20 which is alleged to be an unpaid balance due for services rendered him while he was a patient in the sanitarium.

The suit is brought against the Congressman, his son, Charles L. Abernethy, Jr., and his wife, Mrs. Mary N. Abernethy.

The papers reveal that $3,155.10 of the bill has been paid.

The itemized account of the services rendered and payments indicate the Congressman was registered at the sanitarium under the assumed name of John Shelton. The heading of the statement reads, "Charles L. Abernethy, John Shelton."

The Star Spangled Banner was not officially the national anthem of this country until March 3, 1931, when President Hoover approved the act of Congress which so designated it.

Without Impurities... DEATH!

"A Pure Food and Drug Act for plants would be a death warrant to all living creatures."
—SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN

READ the above statement again. It seems strange. Yet no truer words have ever been written. If all impurities were eliminated from the soil, no man, no beast, no living thing, could stay alive.

Chilean Natural Nitrate, for many years, has stressed the importance of its Nature-given impurities. This magic plant food is the only nitrogen that comes from the ground. It is the only nitrate that contains Nature's blend of rare elements... Nature's own balance of vital impurities.

So you see the importance of protecting yourself by specifying Chilean when you buy nitrate. There are two kinds, Champion Brand (granulated) and Old Style. Both are genuine Chilean. Both are natural. Both have the vital impurities. You are safe with either one.

YOU KNOW WHERE HE STANDS

When the campaign first opened in this county we urged the voters to know where the candidates stand on the major issues and not to vote "Pig in the bag" style by casting their ballots for any legislative candidate who was not willing to declare publicly his or her stand on the important questions that must come before the General Assembly.

From one of our former editorials we repeat: "No candidate is entitled to the confidence of the voters who is not willing to tell the voters where he or she stands on the major issues."

In the absence of announcement on the part of candidates, last Friday we addressed an open letter to the legislative candidates through this column requesting them to set forth their views on a number of the major issues, for publication in yesterday's issue of the paper. Replies were received from every candidate with the exception of Mrs. J. B. Spilman, candidate for the State Senate.

In view of our stand in this matter and in view of Mrs. Spilman's refusal to let the voters know where she stands along with the other candidates in our yesterday's issue, we now urge the voters to cast their ballots for Senator Corey. You may or may not agree with his stand on the issues presented by us in our questionnaire to the candidates, but at least you know where he stands on these issues.

TRADING WITH CRIME Despite the fact that Chief of Police George Clark is being praised for a good piece of detective work in connection with the recovery of a large sum of money for S. T. Hooker, stolen from his lock box in one of the local banks, the refusal to make any facts known in the matter or divulge the name of the person who illegally removed the money from the box and the announcement that no further action would be taken now that the money has been recovered, leads us to wonder whether crime in our community has reached the stage that criminals have to be traded with and immunity even from publicity has to be promised in order to get them to come across with their ill-gotten loot.

As we see it, the fact that no legal action is to be taken and even the name of the criminal is being kept secret, the whole affair is a reflection upon the city, the bank, and every person who has access to the safe deposit vault at the bank, and all other parties concerned.

We do not believe that the citizens of Greenville will condone such action as this in connection with a crime of such a nature, and they should demand that the true facts in the case be brought to light and the guilty parties justly punished.

Freight Rates Play A Big Part in Commerce (Continued from page one) Shippers' Association, Inc. It can and does render the same services and protection to the small concern as the traffic department does to a large concern.

Freight rates are continually changing. New tariffs and tariff supplements are published almost daily and the average shipper and receiver knows nothing about these changes until it is too late. The traffic organization or Carolina Shippers' Association receives advanced notices of all proposed changes affecting every interest in Eastern North Carolina. Whenever possible it prevents those changes that would be unfavorable or detrimental to the territory and groups of shippers, irrespective of whether they affect its members or not. This takes a great deal of time and money as they proposed changes involve rates, rules and regulations which must be studied and analyzed to see to what extent the changes affect the section.

In many instances during the past the association has been terribly handicapped in carrying on this and other work due to the lack of financial support. The association has many cases before the Interstate Commerce Commission in addition to rendering the services already outlined. Many rate adjustments affecting the territory and groups of commodities are now involved. It is very difficult for a great number of people who support the organization to understand why the association does not receive full co-operation from the business men in the territory.

As already stated, under the circumstances, the territory could be considered one large industrial plant with its annual commerce amounting to many millions of dollars. A large industry doing the same amount of business would maintain a traffic department with an annual cost of at least $100,000. The annual cost of maintaining the Carolina Shippers' Association or Eastern North Carolina Association, Inc. is less than one-tenth of that amount. For the past nine years, the association has been the "sloth dog," so to speak, for Eastern North Carolina. It has protected every shipper and receiver of freight in the section at the expense of a few. It has saved the section millions of dollars during that period. Every citizen has been benefited in one way or another.

DIRECTOR CONNORS waved his big, blunt cigar in the air. "Yes, Harper, if you've got anything substantial to build on, let's hear about it."

Harper drew himself up stiffly. "Very well, Director. I have been reluctant to part with this information for fear it would hamper my further work in this case. Maniac or not," he answered impressively, "this man was murdered, not by Officer Hamill, but by a third person who was here in this room! This same unknown person also killed Hamill! The scene was fixed, the evidence tampered with so that it would look as if the two men had killed each other. At first this was only a theory, a suspicion of mine, but now I positively know it to be a fact."

"You have the proof?" Captain Macklin asked with restrained tenacity. For reply the detective briefly recounted the doubts he and Carlin had shared concerning the wound in the murdered man's head and how it had led to the recovery of the original .45 bullet and the roll of carpet with the telltale bullet hole.

Harper had been keeping a wary eye on Dufresne during his recital, passing of Sanders marks the transition of the party away from Hoover.

In the first place, a very large part of the Republican voting strength left the Hoover leadership on election day in 1932. Another very large percentage followed suit on the following day, when they read the election returns. There is no tangible evidence whatever to support the widely-disseminated story that Sanders was trying to organize the party for a Hoover comeback.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: There are many long words in the following account of a murder and a chase in Greenville. The murderer of a mysterious 45 caliber revolver seems to lead to Dufresne himself. Sergeant Harper is the man who took the case. Dufresne is the man who took the case. Dufresne is the man who took the case.

Chapter 26 PEACEMAKERS "SERGEANT," the Director began in his booming voice, "Mr Dufresne has asked me to see what can be done to expedite this inquiry. Of course," he continued quickly, "it has never been my policy to interfere arbitrarily with any man in my Department, as you know, Harper, but Mr. Dufresne is an old friend of mine and I want to be as accommodating as I can, especially in view of Mrs. Dufresne's mishap."

"I think it would be inadvisable to move from the scene of the crime under present conditions," Harper replied, quietly but firmly. "But why in Heaven's name?" cried Dufresne. "Am not I the one most concerned? There will be no more threatening letters, no more shots from hiding. I don't care who he was or what he was. It is enough to know that he will not trouble us again. He was undoubtedly a homicidal maniac."

"What makes you think so?" Harper challenged. Dufresne stared in surprise. "What else can we think? You have every characteristic of a violent homicidal maniac."

"Apparently, yes, and of the most virulent type," agreed Harper. "But you forget that we have no proof whatever that the man who was killed last night was the same one who wrote the threatening letters and shot at you yesterday."

Dufresne broke in excitedly. "Sergeant, you are deliberately manufacturing difficulties. To call such a train of events a coincidence is to stretch a remote possibility until it snaps of its own thinness." He snorted his scorn of such an idea.

Captain Macklin had been taking in this verbal tilt intently. From the first he had sensed some underlying current of hostility between Dufresne and the detective. He injected himself smoothly into the conversation. "Harper, have you any direct evidence that this man was not the one who wrote the crank letters?"

"Captain Macklin, I would prefer to make my report privately."

"Come, now, Sergeant," Connors boomed, "there's no need to take that line. There seems to be a little friction between you and Mr. Dufresne. We don't want anything like that."

"Gentlemen," said Dufresne with great dignity, "my wife needs peace and quiet after the shock she had last night. She is the innocent victim of bungling methods."

"Mr. Dufresne," Harper snapped, his temper rising, "you will please remember that I had nothing to do with Mrs. Dufresne's mishap."

"I am not blaming you, Harper. There was nothing personal in my complaint, but the fact still remains."

"Let's not get side-tracked," Macklin resumed. "Is there any such evidence, Harper?"

"Not direct evidence, sir."

"Of course there isn't," Dufresne interrupted again. "What happened in this room last night is plain to be seen. There is no need to twist it into still more fantastic shapes nor in trying to rationalize a madman's actions."

The dissatisfaction against Sanders as chairman grew out of more potent causes; he had not been able to replenish the party treasury and his work of reconciliation among the warring factions was not making the progress some leaders thought should be made.

ROBBER OF HIS MONEY, HIS HAT AND HIS SHOES Laurinburg, N. C., May 23.—Verlton Brindell, clerk in a local chain store, reported that, en route from Laurinburg to Fayetteville, he picked up a hitchhiker who, between Raeford and Fayetteville, suddenly jammed a gun in his side demanding his money, about $15, and his watch. He then despoiled Brindell of his shoes and hat and disappeared.

I felt better after I took my first bottle, so kept on taking it as I felt such a need of strength, and it helped me so much."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

BETTER BALL CLUB IS SEEN FOR THIS CITY

Milton Harrington, manager of the Greenville club of the Coastal Plain League, promised this morning that the local club would be even better than last year.

He said he had about eighteen players under agreement at this time and that they would report here between June 1 and 4 to begin practice.

Among them will be Wagner, star catcher of Duke University, who hit at a .370 clip during the present season. Wagner, Harrington said, is already under contract, and is one of the several players who have actually placed their names on the dotted line.

"Lefty" Jean, Oak Ridge pitcher who hurled so brilliantly for the local organization last season, will not be with the club this year. He is going North to obtain some experience for his entry into the big show after he finishes school. It is understood he has already been tendered a contract in the majors.

Harrington said he had obtained agreements from some of the fastest players in college ball in this part of the county, and feels confident of placing a decidedly faster team than last year in the field with the first yell, "Play ball!"

With a hard-hitting catcher behind the bat, the "skipper" better the organization would be better rounded out this season than last, and fans may rest assured of seeing the old apple banged about the lot in real baseball style.

Harrington declined to discuss the other men who will report here for practice, declaring that his line-up would hardly be completed until the season actually gets under way. The wedding out process will begin the first day practice gets under way, and by the opening of circuit play June 6, the "skipper" expects to have everything in line for again capturing the pennant.

Buzz, Buzz

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
"Do you see that interesting looking object hanging from that tree?" Blacky Bear asked Jupiter.

"O h y e s, growl, growl," answered Jupiter.

"I am old enough to know what that is," said Blacky as he snatched his honey. "I'll climb up the tree and shake it down."

So Blacky climbed up the tree and he shook out the interesting looking object, but as he did so Jupiter began to cry: "Oh, it hurts. Oh, that one hurt. Oh, dear, dear."

For Blacky had shaken down the nest belonging to a great many bees and the bees were objecting.

"Buzz, buzz, buzz," sang the bees angrily.

Blacky had joined Jupiter on the ground again, and together the cubs snatched the bees with their paws. At last the bees had either been killed by the bears, or had flown away from these enemies to build another hive.

Jupiter's paws and face hurt, and so did Blacky's, but there was some honey left behind and it made them feel a great deal better. There was nothing in the world like honey.

But after a little while the stings they had received burned more than ever. They'd have to learn more about how to get honey without being stung!

"Look," said Jupiter, "why don't we see if there isn't some water in that bucket?"

He pointed to the bucket which was on top of the well. In a short time he was going to wish he hadn't seen it!

Diphtheria, once one of the heaviest scourges of children, took fewer lives than whooping cough in 1933. Deaths from measles and lethargic encephalitis increased slightly, and infantile paralysis deaths remained the same as in 1932, although the drop from 1931, when the rate was 2.0 per 100,000.

Almost all the leading causes of death took a smaller toll in 1933 than 1932 except cancer, heart and circulatory diseases, including hardening of the arteries, blocking of arteries and veins by clots, high blood pressure and inflammation of blood vessels.

The tuberculosis death rate dropped as follows: 1931, 64.8 per 100,000; 1932, 60.4; 1933, 56.4. Diabetes showed a very slight drop in 1933 compared with 1932.

U. S. Death Rate In Slight Drop For Last Year

By F. B. COLTON

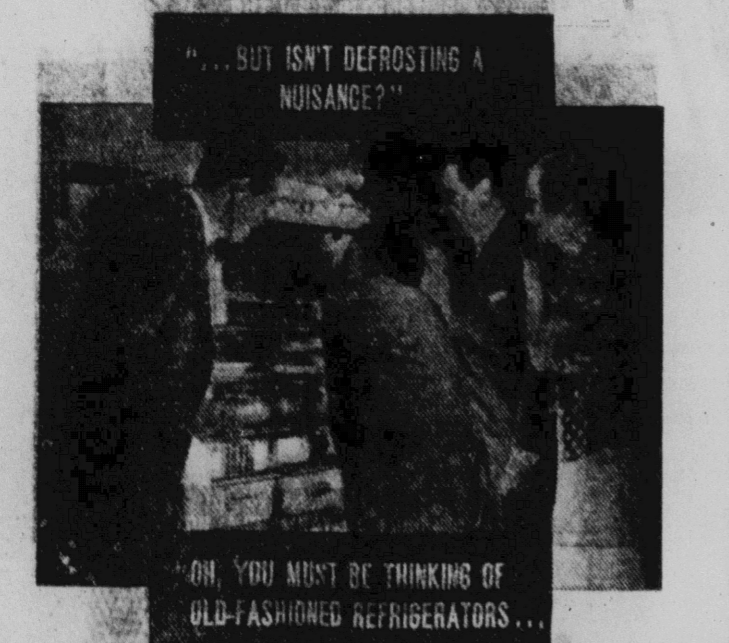

(Associated Press Service Writer)
Washington, D. C.—(AP)—America's death rate fell slightly in 1933, judging from figures just released by the Public Health Service, but heart disease, circulatory disease and cancer continued to take an increasing toll.

Human endurance and medical skill showed a higher percentage of victories than in 1932 over some other important causes of death, however, including pneumonia, apoplexy, nervous diseases, tuberculosis, influenza, diphtheria, typhoid fever and deaths in childbirth.

The Public Health Service report covers 23 States and the District of Columbia, all that gather complete statistics such as are needed for compiling the figures, but is believed to give a roughly accurate cross-section of conditions throughout the country. Nearly eighty million persons, about two-thirds of the population of the nation, live in the territory covered.

The death rate, from all causes, was 10.6 per 1,000 population in 1933, as compared to 10.9 in 1932 and 11.01 in 1931. Three depression years did not serve to send it upward.

NO MORE fast tread-wear!

Here's what you get in Goodyear's new "G-3"!

- You get the broader road contact of a flatter, wider All-Weather Tread.
- You get quicker-stopping and the greater road grip of more non-skid blocks in the center.
- You get the easy steering and smooth travel of wider riding-ribs.
- You get the slow, even wear of closer-nested non-skid blocks and ribs.
- You get more rubber in the tread—an average of two pounds more per tire.

—all of which adds up to 43% MORE NON-SKID MILEAGE at no extra cost to you!

Goodyear has licked problem that baffled the tire industry—with the new "G-3". See it here!

IT TAKES a better tread to keep its grip on modern high-speed highways—with faster cars, quicker get-aways—more powerful brakes. All these strains grind away ordinary treads too fast. But now we've got the answer! A tread that keeps its grip 43% longer—gives 43% more non-skid mileage. Grueling, grinding road tests show that it keeps its grip twice as long as competitive tires! Read that list of extras in this new "G-3" All-Weather tire—and remember, you have to have "NON-SKID" before you can have "NON-SKID MILEAGE"—you have to have GRIP where you see it on this tire—in the center of the tread—if you want the extra miles of safety which you get in the "G-3". It costs no more!

New York Cotton

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened fairly steady, five to nine points lower in response to lower Liverpool cables and favorable weather reports. The market held fairly steady right after the call. Offerings were light and scattered demand caused changes of two or three points in the prices.

Trading in current May contracts ended at noon after selling off to 11.17 during the early trading under a little belated liquidation the prices rallied and the list stood at 11.22; or six points lower. At midday July was ruling around 11.28 and December 11.58, or about six to eight points net lower.

Futures closed steady, none points lower; spots steady; middling 11.40.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Dullness prevailed in the financial market again today, but prices were generally steady to firm and sentiment seemed to have taken a slight turn for the better.

The inertia displayed by equities was even more pronounced than that of the previous session. The majority of traders apparently were still confused regarding Washington legislative developments and were content to hold snug positions on the "delines pending a clearing of the political and economic skies."

At the same time cautious buying was in evidence as some of the heavier stocks of yesterday showed signs of recovery.

Shares up fractionally to around a point included those of American Telephone, Case, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, United Aircraft, Westinghouse, Paramount, Lowes, Santa Fe, New York Central, National Distillery, Shelley, U. S. Smelting Borden Brkands, and American Commercial Alcohol.

U. S. Steel and American Telephone were a little better than steady.

Transfers were approximately 500,000 shares.

The Florida Experiment Station is conducting an investigation to determine the best practices to be followed in allowing over-worked farm land to rest.

Willard Thorpe, an Amherst professor, recently resigned the post after his nomination had been rejected by a Senate committee.

The committee stated that Thorpe had not had sufficient practical experience for the Department of Commerce assignment.

John Dickinson, assistant secretary of commerce, insisted that politics was back of the rejection.

Senator Bailey praised the selection and five members left in the committee, after four others had departed, were reported to have expressed favor for the nomination.

Washington Daybook

By HUBERT PLUMMER
Washington, D. C.—Curiously enough, Senator Carter Glass of Virginia had it within his power at the very beginning of the Roosevelt administration to prevent what he now contends is a "deliberate affront" by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

The Virginian has been on the warpath because he was excluded from the list of Senate conferees on the stock market control bill. He was so infuriated that it was reported he wanted to resign his membership on the committee.

When the Democrats proceeded to organize the Senate after their smashing victory in 1932, Senator Glass occupied an enviable position. By virtue of his long service, he found himself eligible for two powerful committee chairmanships. They were Banking and Currency and Ap-

Appropriations.

Glass Had Choice
Everything in Glass' public career pointed to his acceptance on the Banking and Currency post. A former Secretary of the Treasury, a member of the Senate since 1920, his hand had been in evidence in nearly all financial legislation enacted over a period of more than thirty years.

As a member of the House, he fathered the Federal Reserve Bank system and is regarded generally as the foremost Congressional authority on financial matters.

But lass sprang a surprise when the committee slates were announced. Fletcher, of Florida, took the Banking and Currency Committee chairmanship while Glass was listed as head of the Appropriations Committee.

It was just another odd twist which politics sometimes forces.

It's For History

Had things been reversed, the history of banking legislation in the present Congress might have been many things done by Senator Fletcher's committee which have not been to Glass' liking, and which he could have changed, perhaps, had he been chairman.

Certainly he would have been on the list of Senate conferees on the stock market control bill. And in view of the fight he put up in the Senate to have a separate five-man commission instead of the Federal Trade Commission administer the act, as well as for more liberal margin regulations than were provided in the House bill, it might have been a wholly different piece of legislation than that which finally went to the White House for approval.

U. S. PAYS $4,406.51 TO TAR HEEL FARMERS

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—Rental and benefit payments to North Carolina farmers under the agricultural adjustment act totaled $4,406,051.91 through April 30.

The Farm Administration, in making this public today, reported an additional $389,650.47 was spent for administration of the act in North Carolina, making total expenditures for the State $4,795,702.38.

Payments to cotton farmers took the bulk of the money sent into North Carolina, with $2,826,135.27 going for this purpose. Tobacco farmers were paid $1,542,879.89 and wheat farmers $37,036.75.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep...Vigor...Vitality
Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes of filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. They should pour out thru the bladder 3 pints of fluid a day which contains 4 pounds of waste matter.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, setting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS.

...a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable relief that contain no "drugs" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.
