Cuban Army Takes Steps To Halt Anti-American Trouble

ALL SOLDIERS ARE ORDERED HELD READY

Col. Fulgencio Batista Takes Steps To Prevent Further Disorders; Signing Of New Treaty Increases Seriousness Of The Situation; Communists Seek Life Of Caffery

Havana, Cuba, June 1.—(AP)—The Cuban government held its army in readiness today to combat further disorders as anti-American outbreaks showed no signs of abatement.

Grave concern was felt by authorities, their responsibility increased when President Roosevelt signed the treaty disarming the United States 33-year-old privilege of intervention—the Platt amendment.

Colonel Fulgencio Batista, commander-in-chief of the army, ordered all soldiers at the Matanzas garrison to be held in the barracks. Similar instructions were given to other garrisons.

Attached to rocks, notes reading "Down with Jefferson Caffery, American Ambassador," were thrown through windows of the North German Lloyd and Hamburg-American steamship line last night. They were signed "The Communist Party of Cuba."

This incident followed on the heels of an apparently incendiary fire which destroyed a large paper mill. Owners said the loss would exceed $500,000. An attack was made on Caffery's life Sunday, the 2nd, he said, in three weeks.

ROBBERS LOOT BETHEL STORE

Merchandise Valued At Approximately $500 Reported Taken Last Night

Robbers entered the store of M. O. Hunt & Sons at Bethel last night and made away with merchandise estimated at between $300 and $400, it was reported here today by Chief of Police Martin, of Bethel.

Chief Martin said he believed the robbers were members of a gang of negroes operating in this section of the State and was in Greenville today following a clue obtained during an investigation at the scene of the robbery early this morning.

The stolen property consisted of shoes, caps, pants and other clothing. Entrance to the building was made by smashing a plate-glass window in the front of the store.

The robbery was discovered this morning when employees went to the store to begin the day's business. Footprints discovered near an automobile said to have been driven by the thieves led officers to believe that the robbery was pulled off by negroes.

Chief Martin said the robbers scattered shoe boxes about a mile along the Greenville-Bethel highway. He said he believed they were headed for Greenville, and the investigation was brought here during the early morning in the hope of rounding up the gang.

While a complete check of the loss had not been made when the police head came to Greenville this morning, he said he did not believe it would go beyond $400.

STATE VOTERS PREPARE FOR BALLOT FIGHT

Thousands Of Candidates In State-Wide Primary Set For Tomorrow

Raleigh, June 1.—(AP)—With several thousand candidates contesting for hundreds of offices, balloting of North Carolina voters on June 2 may record the fate of the state three per cent sales tax.

From sunrise to sunset the usual Democratic state will select its party nominees. The Republicans have no state-wide contest. The G. O. P. will have one solicitor primary and a number of county elections.

Since 1900 a Democratic nomination for state office has been tantamount to election. And in the banner year of 1932 the governor was nominated by 497,697 votes in the general election to 212,561 for his Republican opponent. Only once in 1928 since 1900 has the state given its electoral vote to a Republican.

The only state-wide contest is between Stanley Winborne, appointed to the post, and P. C. Macon of Asheville, for the nomination as utilities commissioner.

Principal interest in the congressional and legislative races as scores of members of the last legislature are not seeking re-election, the fate of the sales tax is believed to be in the balance.

NEGRO HELD FOR ROBBERY

Raymond Tyson Jailed Here Today For Stealing Chickens From Farmer

Raymond Tyson, colored, was held in the city jail today charged with the theft of about twenty chickens from the home of Zeno Hardee, farmer, residing several miles from Greenville.

The negro was taken into custody here this morning, police said, with nine chickens in his possession. He was attempting to sell them. Two others, believed by police to have been connected with the theft, were being sought today.

Tyson will be given a hearing in police court tomorrow morning and probably bound over to the next sitting of County Court.

Mare Mothers Call

Marysville, Calif.—(AP)—Adoption of a calf by a mare was the result of a ruse practiced by Alvin Farrell, owner of the Flying J ranch. "Gypsy," pet riding animal, gave birth to twins but both died and the mother became inconsolable. One of the colts was skinned and its hide draped over the calf with the result the mare permitted it to take nourishment from her and the two have become inseparable companions.

Late News Flashes

Discusses War Debts. Washington, June 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt in a report to Congress today on war debts held out a promise for discussion of the revision of present funding agreements to any European debtor nation who asks and presents special circumstances relating to means and methods of payment.

He indicated what special circumstances would be considered by emphasizing that factors would be whether the nations utilizing their resources for recovery purposes or make a "reasonable payment on the debt owned or are spending for unproductive nationalistic purposes."

In some official quarters the President's statement conferring possible conferences were considered significant as a prelude to Great Britain's note on the debt issue expected here at any time.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, is understood to have made overtures to the White House for a discussion of the debt issue.

With the next due date two weeks from today there arose Democratic (Continued on Page Six)

DRY FORCES TO MEET HERE

County-Wide Meeting To Be Held At Sheppard Memorial Library June 8

On Friday, June 8, at 8 o'clock, in the Sheppard Memorial Library, there will be held a county-wide meeting of citizens of Pitt County who are interested in preserving the dry laws of our State and in the promotion of temperance throughout the land.

At this meeting a representative of the permanent organization of united dry forces of North Carolina will be here from Raleigh. He will describe the situation in the State, tell of the aims and purposes of the united dry forces, and present plans for the organization of a county unit of the united dry forces for Pitt County. Most of the counties of the State have their permanent organization of the united dry forces ready set up.

Pastors of the churches in the county are urged to announce this meeting from their pulpits on Sunday and urge their representative people who are interested in the cause to attend. They and other citizens who believe in temperance are asked to get personally in touch with others who are interested and either urge them to come to the meeting or bring them in their cars. It is hoped that we may have representatives at this meeting from every community in Pitt County.

TWO JAILED IN GAS THEFT

Stepp Cousins Nabbed For Stealing Gas From Automobile Here Last Night

Heber Stepp, 28, and Rufus Stepp, 18, cousins, were taken into custody by police here today charged with stealing gasoline from an automobile of Willie Owens, mail carrier, on Chestnut street last night. They will be given preliminary hearing in police court tomorrow morning. Officers said the two men parked their car a short distance from Owens' home, then went to his garage, obtained the gas and returned to their car. As they started to put the gas into their machine, police suddenly appeared from the other side of the car and placed them under arrest.

This is the second time Owens' car has been robbed of gas. His car also has been stolen two or three times.

Officers said Heber Stepp recently completed a road sentence and that Rufus Stepp was given a suspended sentence when he appeared in court on a theft charge sometime ago.

SOLONS SEE EXTENSION OF CONGRESS

Session Will Be Prolonged If Controversial Bills Are Not Dropped At Once

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—Unless President Roosevelt drops the Wagner labor bill and housing program, the present session of Congress must be prolonged two or three weeks, congressional leaders said today.

The chief executive wants Congress to adjourn by June 9 and is also represented as wanting the Wagner and housing bills approved. Democratic chiefs generally took the view today that this could not be accomplished. Many believed he would let the bills go, for to enact either would require long debate and considerable dispute.

Surrounded by the gripping heat of June in Washington the majority sentiment of Congress is clearly for dropping everything and going home. With congressmen worn thin by the long session, heavy slumbering promised to accompany most of the remaining actions.

"The House today, for example, had a filibuster hangover on its hands. It was in the form of a complicated monetary measure by Representative Byrns of Georgia, to diversify prison industries.

The light that burns atop the capitol when either the House or Senate are in session after dark, burned until 9 o'clock last night as Republicans forced a roll call and employed various parliamentary devices to sidetrack the measure.

Representative Byrns, the majority leader, asserted the minority had been filibustering two days in an effort to delay adjournment.

BALLOT FEVER MOUNTS HERE

Secret Ballot Being Taken At Dickinson Avenue Cafe On Sheriff's Race

The political temperature was getting uncomfortably hot today on the eve of the Democratic primary tomorrow.

The temperature on Dickinson Avenue, especially around the Farmers Cafe, was said to be mounting all the time with indications it would reach fever heat by balloting time. A ballot box was placed in the cafe this morning by those interested in the race for sheriff and secret ballots were being taken to see which of the three candidates gets the greatest number of votes. Over two hundred ballots had been cast during the early afternoon with indications that the total would go greatly beyond that figure by nightfall. The box will be opened and ballots counted tonight at 9 o'clock.

All along the streets in other parts of the city candidates were "doing their vocal stuff," and when the ballot boxes are thrown open tomorrow morning many will be suffering from sore throats. When the ballots are counted, some will suffer from the headache and others will gloat over their victory. That's the way things happen election day. But who can help it?—certainly not the candidates and neither the public—it is just one of those twists of fate always upsetting the apple cart and keeping things in suspense until the final totals are known.

UNEMPLOYED WORKER IS DECLARED A SUICIDE

Lenoir, N. C., June 1.—(AP)—Charles Haas, nineteen-year-old unemployed textile worker, was found shot to death in a woods near his home seven miles south of here early today with a shotgun with a forked stick hooked over the trigger nearby.

Pronouncing the death a suicide, Coroner J. R. Swanson said no inquest was necessary.

12 ESCAPE DEATH IN PLANE CRASH

Twelve persons narrowly escaped death when a United Airway passenger plane en route from Cleveland to Newark, N. J., lost its way in a fog and crashed in the woods near Bethel, Conn., when making a forced landing. The nine passengers in addition to the pilot, co-pilot and stewardess, were treated for their injuries. (Associated Press Photo)

FINALS OPEN HERE TONIGHT AT COLLEGE

Governor Ehringhaus To Deliver Commencement Address Tomorrow Evening

The features of the twenty-fifth commencement of East Carolina Teachers College are the Governor's address, two services by a great New York preacher, the gathering of the alumnae from all parts of the State to pay tribute to the late President Wright, the graduation exercises and the opening event, the musical recital. This will be tonight at eight o'clock.

The business meeting of the Alumnae Association will be held at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in the Austin auditorium. The program will be at 12 o'clock and the luncheon at 1 o'clock. Instead of the usual program of achievements and reminiscences of the alumnae, there will be a symposium of tributes that will bring out the various sides of the man who has been the guide and inspiration of the alumnae for the quarter of a century the school has been in existence.

The honor class, those who graduated ten years ago, will be in charge of the program, with Miss Annie Howard Felton, of Bunn, as chairman.

Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus will speak tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Campus Building.

Dr. Finis S. Idleman, pastor of the Central Church of the Disciples of Christ, of New York City, will preach the commencement sermon at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning in Campus Building. He will speak at the Y. W. C. A. vesper services, held in the Campus Building, at seven o'clock.

The graduation exercises will be held Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The academic procession will be used on both Sunday and Monday, but will be formed in the building on Sunday, and on Monday will form in the Austin Building and across the campus, arriving at the Campus Building at 10:30 o'clock, the hour for the exercises.

GENEVA MEET QUILTS UNTIL COMING WEEK

Work Will Be Resumed Tuesday In Effort To Pave Way To Agreement

Geneva, June 7.—(AP)—Arthur Henderson, president of the Disarmament Conference, announced today that following the gravity of the situation the conference would be adjourned until Tuesday.

Shortly before Henderson's announcement, a British spokesman said privately that Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, saw little prospect of achieving anything important at the present in Geneva. Henderson purchased railroad tickets and prepared to return to London tonight.

Henderson's announcement was made just as the conference opened today. He told the assembled delegates that owing to the "extreme gravity" of the situation in the conference he would adjourn until Tuesday to give delegates time for reflection and an opportunity to find a road to partial decision.

The conference president said he wished to place before the delegates of the world the serious view he took of the present position of the conference.

He said the serious contemplation on his part had led him to the conviction that the situation was more grave than at any time since since the opening of the parity in February, 1932, then declared: "This situation cannot be settled by making speeches."

Pop Corn Sales Down

Washington.—(AP)—Apparently Americans are not feeding the girl friends as much pop corn as formerly. The agricultural department has estimated that although only a little more than half as much pop corn was produced in 1933 as in 1932, sales by distributors have been disappointing and they have ample stocks. Some pop corn is being ground for stock feed.

Candidates Finish Intensive Battle For Ballots Today

RECOMMENDS PAROLE FOR LUKE LEA, JR.

Judge Barnhill Would Have Banker's Son Given Liberty For Short Period

Pokey Mount, N. C., June 1.—(AP) Judge M. V. Barnhill, who presided over the trial of Luke Lea and Luke Lea, Jr., in Asheville in 1930, has recommended that Luke Lea, Jr., be paroled from State Prison where he is serving a sentence of two years, after he completes his term, not to exceed sixty to ninety days.

Judge Barnhill's recommendation, made in a letter to Edwin Gill, State Parole Commission, was made public today.

Referring to a letter to him by a Tennessee physician who treated young Lea, Judge Barnhill asserted "there is nothing in the letter which indicates with any degree of certainty that Luke Lea, Jr. is now suffering from any disease, malignant or otherwise."

Judge Barnhill, discussing evidence offered in the Lea trial at Asheville, said that "young Lea conducted practically all of the voluminous correspondence from the Tennessee end which was involved in the transactions connected with conspiracy for which he was convicted."

"I would not credit young Lea with so little intelligence as to say that he did not know or understand the nature of the transactions he was handling. I am sure he did and that his conviction is fully justified."

SEEK MONEY FOR LIBRARY

Kiwanians To Ask Commissioners Monday For Contribution For More Books

Continuing their campaign to raise money for new books for Sheppard Memorial Library, members of the Kiwanis Club will appear before the Board of County Commissioners next Monday and ask for a contribution to the cause.

A committee composed of three committees of the club has been asked to present the petition to the commissioners and other members of the club have been requested to be present.

The Kiwanians started their drive for new books about two months ago, and the library stock has been increased perceptibly by the movement. However, in view of the depletion of the children's department the clubmen have decided to continue the campaign until they have provided sufficient books to enable the library to continue its children's reading clubs this summer without interruption.

The need of additional books was presented to the club in a forceful manner at a meeting sometime ago by Rev. G. R. Combs, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. He was the chief speaker of "Library Night" and called attention of the clubmen to the fact that the children's department of the library was not able to meet demands because of wear and tear of volumes in recent months.

The club, under direction of Dr. R. S. McGeachy, president, immediately inaugurated a campaign for more books, sponsored a canvass of the city by Boy Scouts and raised money through other sources to further the cause.

The Board of Aldermen at a recent meeting contributed $150 to the library, and hope was expressed that other sources appreciating what the library means to the city, especially to the children, are being asked to contribute something to the movement to provide additional books.

HEAVY VOTE ANTICIPATED OVER COUNTY

Principal Interest Centers In Race For State Senate, House, And Several County Offices; Polls To Open at Sunrise And Close at Sundown; Voting Here To Be Conducted At Two Places At Courthouse

After one of the most intensive drives for votes in years, political candidates of Pitt County today prepared to place their fate in the hands of the voters in tomorrow's Democratic primary.

The polls at the courthouse will open tomorrow morning at 4:47 (sunrise) and close at 7:09 (sunset). Ballot boxes will be placed at each entrance to the building so that the important business of checking the sentiment of Greenville Township, the most populous of the county, may be conducted as rapidly as possible.

Booths provided under the Australian ballot system will be placed in the corridors of the building where voters after receiving their tickets at the entrance may vote in complete privacy, away from the appeal of candidates and supporters who as usual line the streets about the courthouse seeking to gain additional support.

In the face of the vigorously prosecuted campaign, election officials were anticipating a heavy vote, although not as pronounced as in the general election when Franklin D. Roosevelt rode into the White House on the most popular vote ever given a presidential candidate.

Word from all sections of the county indicates that candidates have done a thorough piece of work in interesting voters in their cause and a large vote is anticipated everywhere.

With contest in most of the county fields, interest today appeared to center mainly about the battle between A. B. Corey and Mrs. J. B. Spilman for a seat in the State Senate. Corey, who represented the county in the last Legislature, was confident of capturing his seat, but Mrs. Spilman was just as confident that she would be one to join the pilgrimage to Raleigh several months hence.

A real battle has also developed about the two seats in the House of Representatives with four candidates battling for supremacy and confident of capturing general favor in the battle of ballots tomorrow. Only one representative in the last General Assembly was in the race, Jack Edwards. Others seeking the posts are John Hill Paylor, of Farmville; M. O. Blount, Bethel, and J. Bruce Eure, of Ayden.

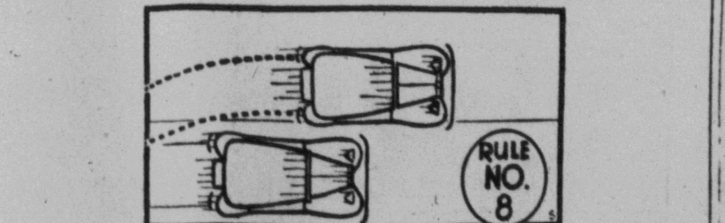

J. C. Gaskins, who has been registered for a number of years, is opposed by Mrs. J. P. Moss. In the three-cornered race for sheriff, the incumbent, S. A. Whitehurst, is bidding for re-election. He is opposed by R. W. (Dick) King and S. I. Dudley.

From the standpoint of numbers, the race for county treasurer is destined to be one of the most pronounced of the campaign in view of the fact that six are entered for the post. They are: A. T. Moore, incumbent; George L. Rouse, Vance Perkins, W. E. Warren, Charlie Martin, and C. W. Willard.

A. A. Ellwanger, coroner, is opposed by S. G. Wilkerson. The battle for the five seats on the board of county commissioners promises to carry plenty of firework also with nine Democrats, including all but one of the incumbents, and six Republicans on the ticket. The Democrats are Roy T. Cox, Frank M. Kilpatrick, J. Noah Williams, G. S. Porter, B. M. Lewis, W. J. Smith, J. K. Barnhill, Walter Cherry and R. Herman McLawhorn.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

While there has been a good deal of national concern over the failure of the stock market to stage a spring rally, besides worry over the Mid-Western drought, the "stationing" of private credits and the pitching plight of the world champion New York Giants, the fact is that the boy has overlooked a notable factor in the counter-balancing act.

I refer to the dramatic rise of the St. Louis Browns under the leadership of plain-spoken, hard-titten Rogers Hornsby. It is a pleasure to do so at this time because I left the camp of the Browns, at West Palm Beach, last winter with the conviction that Hornsby was in a fair way to bring about a big improvement in any talent at his command.

I remarked at the time that there were at least two things Hornsby could be depended upon to develop in the Browns; first, any real or hidden talent for knocking base hits, and secondly, fighting spirit from start to finish of any ball game.

OFFICERS CHASE BANDIT SUSPECTS

Seaboard, N. C., June 1.—Excitement and high in this section yesterday when news was brought to town that three men answering to the description of the bank robbers, who staged a hold-up on the Farmers Bank here on April 9 had been seen near Cumberly. R. B. Farnes first observed them in a Ford parked on the unrequented road talking to the driver of a Hudson. His suspicion being aroused by a similar subsequent scene in another place later on, he took the license number of the Ford which was reported to him by that of the bank robbers. The four strangers made a quick get-away, the trio speeding toward Manganisville and the driver of the Hudson toward Jackson. The latter was stopped in Jackson, where he was charged with technical liquor charges pending investigation. He was identified as Smith of Roanoke Rapids, alleged ex-convict. Officers pursued the other car to the Meherrin River between Sevier and Berkins where all traces were lost. Officers and bank officials throughout Northampton are thoroughly alert, two suspected attempts on banks having been reported recently.

AN APPRECIATION OF ROBERT HERRING WRIGHT

First President of East Carolina Teachers College, By the Board of Trustees.

The Board of Trustees of East Carolina Teachers College desire to enter upon its records an appreciation of the services of the late President of the College, Robert Herring Wright, who so faithfully and ably served as its executive head from its organization until his death—a period of twenty-five years. In the building of the college President Wright was the outstanding figure.

The Board, inspired by its vision of what the college should be, and having great confidence in his splendid business ability, followed his leadership in guiding and shaping the affairs of the institution. The result is that the college stands today as a monument to his loyal, efficient and unselfish service to the childhood and youth of North Carolina.

His presence and wise counsel at the Board meetings will be sorely missed, but his influence and the impress of his splendid Christian character will remain for years to come.

The Board hereby expresses its great regret and deep sense of loss at President Wright's sudden and untimely passing and extends to his loved ones its deepest sympathy.

Signed by Members of the Board of Trustee.

Guests were then taken to the Rocky Mount Country Club where an elaborate four-course luncheon was served. The luncheon table was centered with a large silver bowl of mixed flowers with a pink and white color note predominating. Three tiered candelabra holding burning candles were placed at either end. Places were marked with bridal cards bearing wedding bells showered with white ribbons.

During luncheon Miss Moye was presented an imported china cigarette box, decorated with pink roses. After the luncheon hour, guests were invited back to the home of Miss Braswell where Miss Moye was presented a platter and a vegetable dish in hammered silver.

Those most interested in the Carr Bookshelf decided to place on it, history, written in an attractive style, suitable for reading as well as for research and reference. The library book committee in conference with Dr. A. D. Frank, head of the History Department of East Carolina Teachers College, used much care in selecting the books. Dr. Frank's wide acquaintance with historical material was very helpful and his willingness to give time and attention to the matter was highly appreciated by the regular book committee. Seventy-six volumes were purchased, a special book plate has been placed in each and the Carr Bookshelf books are now in the display case in the library. Later they will be placed on a marked shelf in the main reading room.

DEVIN TO DECIDE ON HYDE COUNTY MATTER

Washington, June 1.—The question as to whether the Lake Landing school is to be consolidated with the Engelhard school is expected to have some light thrown on it Friday after a decision is given by Judge Devin now holding court in Manteo.

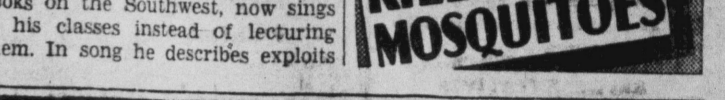

The jurist tomorrow will issue or refuse to issue a restraining order preventing the county officials and the county school board from issuing $15,000 in bonds for the proposed change.

The proposed plan according to G. M. Guthrie, superintendent of Hyde County schools, is to have one accredited high school to take the place of two schools, Engelhard and Lake Landing, both of which are expected to fall below the number of sixty, required for an accredited school. By combining the two schools Mr. Guthrie pointed out it would be possible for the new institution to support an agriculture teacher for the boys and a home economics teacher for the girls.

VOTERS ATTENTION

It has been argued that the Register of Deeds office is not a woman's position. If not—why not? More than half of the work in this office is done by women. Lenoir, Wilson, Edgecombe, and Wayne Counties with several others throughout the State already have women in this place.

The office would mean a great deal to me, while my opponent is making a sacrifice to continue there. He is a man of a wonderful personality, and with eighteen years' experience, should aspire to a much higher office.

DO YOU WANT CLEAN ELECTIONS?

In the interest of cleaner elections every citizen who visits the polling places tomorrow should make it a point to report any apparent violations of the election laws for investigation.

AGAIN WE URGE YOU TO VOTE

Yesterday in this column we urged the citizens of this county to do their duty tomorrow by going to the polls and casting their ballots for the candidates they consider most capable and best suited to fill the various offices.

We are aware that there are a lot of people who became so disgusted with the primary two years ago that they have expressed their intentions of not voting tomorrow, but let us remind you that your remaining from the polls makes it just that much easier for the candidates you oppose to get the nomination.

SALES TAX PROPAGANDA

This last minute effort in favor of the sales tax apparently in the hope of influencing votes for legislative candidates who favor retention of this form of taxation should have little or no effect upon the voters in their choice of the candidates in tomorrow's primary.

lengthy statement in which one of the sponsoring organizations in a last minute appeal urges the retention of the tax. A careful study of all this propaganda gives clear indication that all of it has originated from sources that are profiting by the shift of the tax burdens from the sources most able to pay to the backs of the down-trodden masses of the state.

Again we urge you not to fall for this line of propaganda. As we have declared many times, there are ample sources in this state from which to get the necessary revenues without resorting to the sales tax and we urge our voters to cast their ballots for those candidates who have definitely said that they will not vote for the sales tax so long as these other sources continue to escape their just share of taxation.

'Genesis' Story Found In 'Bible' Of Maya Indians

By F. B. COLTON Washington.—(AP)—The "Bible" of the great Maya Indian empire of Central America, which contained an account of creation of the world in twenty days and its destruction by a flood long before the white man's Bible came to the new world, has just been translated into English.

This book was the holy writ of a civilization that rivalled in glory and power the dynasties of Egypt. It is known as the "Book of Chilam Balam," a Maya prophet who was living at the time of the Spanish conquest. Originally it was written in the Maya hieroglyphics or picture writing.

Prophecy Of Fall Tragically for the Maya empire, the book contained a prophecy that led directly to the nation's downfall. Chilam Balam prophesied in it that the Maya god Quetzalcoatl would sometime return in the flesh white-robed attendants. Soon came the Spaniards, who must have seemed like gods to the Maya, and they were believed to be Quetzalcoatl and his followers. As a result, the Maya extended a friendly reception to the strangers who were destined to conquer them.

In the ancient Maya empire copies of Chilam Balam's book were scattered throughout the many magnificent cities that then flourished in Central America. It is believed they all were destroyed, unless a copy may be preserved unknown in a Spanish library.

Transcribed By Priests Before the book was destroyed, however, it was transcribed under direction of Spanish priests in the Maya language written in Spanish script which the conquered Maya learned in mission schools. One of these versions has been translated by Ralph L. Roys of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, which has undertaken to reconstruct as far as possible the lost glories of the Maya.

TIPS ON CONTRACT

CAPITALIZING DOUBLES (By Tom O'Neil) It is often far better for the defender to take a chance that the dealer will guess wrong and go down undoubled than to double and thereby mark a successful course to the contract.

At times doubles enable a declarer to put an adversary into the lead at a crucial time so that the contracting side can cash tricks which otherwise might be lost.

Table with columns for NORTH, WEST, EAST, SOUTH and card suits (A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2).

After two passes, Thomas, South, said a spade. West, passed and North offered two diamonds. East went to three clubs and South re-bid spades.

West doubled four hearts and North went to four spades. East doubled on his high card tricks plus West's double of the hearts. North had been doing some plotting to tease a double of spades. He re-doubled.

MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Although Sergeant Harper has proved that the stranger and the policeman found dead in Porter Dufresne's house were identical, and did not kill each other as the evidence appeared to show, he can neither identify the murderer nor show how the murderer escaped from the house without leaving marks in the same house, although he has an apparently airtight alibi, has aroused Harper's suspicion.

Chapter 33 HARPER'S THEORY

AFTERWARD, Dufresne's alibi was so soundly airtight that it annoyed me," Harper continued. "But how to get around it? I had that idea in mind when I left here right after the discovery of the bodies and dashed back to the Anstertitz—but there he was, dead drunk, and our own men on guard."

He shook his head. "That's a tough nut to crack. I guess we'll have to look elsewhere for the murderer. There are two vital questions we'll have to answer before we can pin it on anybody. The first one is, Who is the dead man? Certainly the man lived somewhere, ate his meals somewhere, bought things, and met people to some degree. You can't live in any city without some personal contacts."

"The second question is, How did the murderer escape from this house without leaving tracks in the snow? Each is a vital question and we've got to supply the answers."

"The newspapers will help us establish his identity," Lafferty prophesied. "With all the publicity we're getting, something is bound to come out. But the question of the escape through the snow we'll have to solve ourselves. Do you suppose we could possibly be wrong about that? Maybe the murderer hid and didn't leave until later."

Harper smoked in silence. "It's got me guessing, but I'm convinced it was done. That's where the murderer showed his devilish ingenuity, picking his time and arranging the circumstances so that it was nearly impossible that his presence at the scene of the crime should even be suspected. We've been over every inch of the house half a dozen times. No hiding-place for anything larger than a cat has escaped attention. Add to this the presence of the Dufresnes, the Croydens, the servants, and you see how impossible it would be for an outsider to escape notice."

"I can't conceive of one outsider coming into this house to meet and kill another outsider. That wouldn't be reasonable. If you take that line you've got to explain why any one in this household should be moved to cover up the evidence, as this hiding of the gun proves."

"No, every indication points to the murderer as being among those present. There's some trick to that escape and we've got to fathom it. We know from the evidence in hand that there were previous meetings in this room between some one from this house and our man of mystery. The killing was carefully planned, with every detail worked out in advance."

"You think the snowstorm was arranged for by the killer?" Lafferty demanded facetiously.

"I THINK the presence of snow was essential to the whole scheme," Harper replied, seriously. "Assume there was some guilty relationship between the person who met here, say, a blackmailer and his victim. The killer has determined on murder as the only way out. But that murder must be made to look like suicide."

"For the past three days the Weather Bureau has been reporting a blizzard sweeping the Middle West and warning that we were sure to catch the tail of it. The killer saw the big chance. A completely detached and unoccupied house, with snow all around it, and no prints in the snow. That person had forty-eight hours to figure out a way to turn that unmarked snow into an unassailable alibi."

Harper tapped down the ashes in his pipe. "By the way, you haven't said a word about your check-up in the nearby houses. I suppose it was a wash-out?"

Lafferty nodded disgustedly. "I couldn't gather two cents' worth of evidence," he growled.

"Did you cover all the houses?" "Every one in this block, both sides of the street, and the three nearest the back of this house."

Harper stirred restlessly. "Every thing hinges on that get-away. Until we can discover that our story will not be fully credited. What happened here last night is almost as plain to me as though I had been hiding behind the door. The trouble is that the murderer's face is just a blank and almost any one of our eight faces could fill that space."

Tomorrow, Harper suggests the reason for the mystery of the banging door.

must have the ace-queen of clubs and the king-knave of diamonds to justify his overall. Also he probably had the protected jack of spades. If East had a heart or two the contract could be made. West's club knave won. A second club lead by West was ruffed South. The ace and king of hearts were led and a third heart was trumped North with the spade ace. Three rounds of spades, including an earmarked wedge against East's knave, exhausted the adversaries' trumps.

contracting side. East had too many trumps to permit a spade to be left in the North hand. But the heart double indicated to South a way to exhaust East of hearts and compel the diamond or club lead. Had there been no doubling the declarer might well have lost two diamonds, a club and a spade through an over-ruff of a heart.

DOG GETS FASCIST MEDAL FOR VIGIL OVER MASTER

Florence, Italy.—(AP)—Mostly "just dog," canine Stellino of this city has been decorated by the Fascist animal protective society.

Stellino was found holding solitary vigil over the body of a workman master who fell into a cave near here. The man had been dead for some days, the dog nearly starved. A special silver medal has been struck for Stellino's collar. The Fascist emblem is on one side. On the other: "He could not have given more."

Believing That Results of the Operation of the General Sales Tax Have Been Advantageous to Eastern North Carolina We Solicit Your Support of This Measure For the Following Reasons: FIRST: It has relieved the Tax burdened Land Owners of Eastern North Carolina, which would not have been the case had not the Sales Tax been operative; Eastern Carolina is almost entirely Rural and land values have got to be restored before we can ever have a prosperous section. SECOND: It has made it possible to keep every school in North Carolina running for the full eight months term, which would not have been the case had the Sales Tax not been operative. Your child and every other child in the State, no matter how far he lives from a town, has the same opportunity that the child in the largest city in the State has. THIRD: It saved the Credit of the State and every unbiased thinking Citizen knows this. Why was it then that the North Carolina Banks didn't want any North Carolina paper at any rate of interest, when now less than twelve months since the Sales Tax went into operation, they are begging for this paper at a very low rate of interest? The fact that the Credit of the State is A-1 gives every citizen a certain amount of pride in his State that nothing else does. FOURTH: It has made it possible for every citizen to be a part of his State Government and he feels better for it. He feels that he is paying his share of the cost of State Government. For these reasons and many others, we are appealing to the Citizens of Eastern North Carolina to support the Sales Tax for another Biennium at least. Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
 Washington, D. C.—Tuesday, June 5, has been set down in the future date book of that veteran G. O. P. wheel horse, James Eli Watson, of Indiana, in large capital letters.

The turn of events on that day will determine whether this Hoosier politician once more takes a commanding place on the national political stakes or continues in the comparative obscurity to which he was relegated in the Roosevelt landslide of 1932.

The chairman of the Republican National Committee and the nomination as United States Senator from Indiana will dangle before the eyes of "Sunny Jim" for a few brief hours on that June day—the former at Chicago, the latter at Indianapolis.

In Chicago, members of the republican National Committee will be meeting to elect a successor to Everett Sanders, resigned. In Indianapolis, delegates to the State G. O. P. convention will be in session to choose their nominee for the Senate.

"Eating That Cake"
 The expression, "You can't have your cake and eat it, too," is particularly applicable in Watson's case. He can't be chairman of the National Committee and a candidate for office at the same time.

Until a few days ago, Watson figured only in speculation concerning who would succeed Sanders as National Committee Chairman.

An active candidate for the post, he has been reported in the field lining up proxies in his behalf for delivery in the balloting at Chicago.

Almost overnight his name was projected into the Indiana fight over the Republican nomination for the Senate seat now held by Arthur Robinson.

Robinson's "Bid" Fails
 Robinson, who seeks to succeed himself, struck out boldly in an attempt to gain control of the Republican organization in Indiana.

He failed and, in the opinion of some familiar with Indiana politics, his failure may cost him the nomination. He had been without an opponent before, but after this stroke three party leaders became so angered they refused to accept a resolution proposing that he be given a clear path in his campaign for re-election.

Predictions now are being made that a powerful candidate will be fought against Robinson in the convention on June 5. Jim Watson's name figures largely in this connection. Watson has controlled the Indiana Republican organization for years before his defeat in 1932.

He has taken little part in its activities since, but Indiana politicians who have followed Watson almost a lifetime in politics believe he still is a power to be reckoned with.

Washington, D. C.—One would have to be possessed of a vivid imagination to say that Huey Long of Louisiana things along the same lines as President Roosevelt on a public question.

Yet, Mr. Roosevelt probably could not have told the Senate better just why he wanted authority to negotiate reciprocal tariff agreements with foreign countries than Huey told at one time during debate on the measure.

The "kingfish" was telling stories out of school, but what he said lies at the bottom of the whole thing.

"I'll tell you how we got a tariff oyn copper last time," he said. "We got it because several other Senators and myself went around here swapping enough votes to get it. . . . We couldn't get the tariff with oil and copper and coal by themselves, so we put in lumber in order to get a few more votes. . . . There's no need of whipping the devil around the stump."

It was because the President knew about tariff "log-rolling" that he asked the authority to do the job himself.

Robinson's Idea
 Senator Robinson of Indiana is about the only leading Republican who has put his opinion on record as to the type of man that should be selected as chairman of the G. O. P. national committee in Chicago, June 5.

Others have been rather cagey in their comments on the sort of man to fill Everett Sanders' shoes, but not "Li'l Arthur," who is up for re-election this year.

He inserted in the Record recently an article outlining the qualifications the next chairman should have.

It said he should be "skillful in organization, entrenched in the confidence of business men and wise in the party's needs," and should possess those "outstanding qualifications and traits of character which radiate courage, inspire confidence, elevate and dignify honesty of purpose in espousing a cause in the interests of the common weal."

The Record doesn't show that he has any particular candidate in mind who measures up to the ideals.

'Builders' Booming
 Republican politicians have had their attention drawn recently to an organization in New York labeled "Republican Builders."

They hadn't heard much about it here in Washington until James Wadsworth, member of the House from New York, and Ogden Mills, former Secretary of the Treasury, appeared before the organization the other day to speak at the formal celebration of the founding of the "Builders."

Reports have it that the two men most prominently mentioned in connection with G. O. P. presidential hopes in 1936 were amazed at the spirit and enthusiasm they encountered there.

The organization, composed of some older Republicans, but mostly newcomers on the political scene, started in New York and has branched out into New Jersey and Rhode Island.

Plans are to extend the organization into all the States.

board chairman who recommended Socialism?

So for the moment the Darrow report has done something more than stir up friends and foes of NRA. It has split the opposition, it has introduced a new note of bitterness and personal accusation, it has given the public enough reading matter to last all summer, it has confused the politicians.

But it has settled nothing, unless all appearances fail. The disagreement goes on just as it did before.

POLITICS at random

By BRYON PRICE
 (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

The political possibilities of the Darrow incident are so many and varied that some of the wisest in Washington are keeping very quiet for the moment.

They know the picture has changed rapidly, and may change again. The only certainty is that the dispute over NRA is far from ended. At this stage nothing seems to have been settled, nobody seems satisfied.

It is obvious that if the voters are to be asked to pass any sort of judgment during the coming campaign, the issue first must be reduced to understandable terms.

The report of Mr. Darrow and his board of review is so voluminous that comparatively few ever will read it. Both are, in large part, written in the lumbering language of lawyers, and studded with technical references.

The real significance of the controversy has been obscured further by the sandstorm of hot words and personal opinions which accompanied report and reply.

Darrow's remark that Socialism is the only real solution, although not a part of the majority report, got pretty well confused with it; and the strong epithets used by General Johnson and others raised up controversies.

"Adroit" Maneuverings
 No angel—if, indeed, there are any angels in politics—will tread incautiously into a situation like that.

Besides, the string of political disappointments which led up to the present confusion is, in itself, a warning. The story is an extraordinary one.

Unquestionably Senators Nye and Borah, when they spoke out several weeks ago against treatment of "the little fellow" under NRA, thought they were doing a very good thing for themselves.

Mr. Roosevelt, in turn, appeared to his friends to have taken a very neat trick when he invited Messrs. Nye and Borah to conduct an investigation and take responsibility for recommending something better. The two Senators shied away very quickly.

Then Nye had another happy thought. He would nominate Darrow to do the investigating, knowing the skill and fearlessness of the old Chicago lawyer. The administration couldn't very well refuse.

There were anxious weeks around NRA when it became known Darrow was going to be rough in his report. For seventeen days his findings were kept very secret while the best minds of NRA prepared an answer. The senatorial critics were chuckling all of the time to themselves.

The Disagreement Remains
 When the report and reply finally appeared, however, they began to waver. Almost in one breath they asked for time. For the situation was becoming very complicated.

The opposition had counted on much help from solid business men in their attack on NRA, but how many such could take sides with Darrow and his known radical tendencies?

And did Nye and Borah themselves, for that matter, want to appear to align themselves too closely with the ideas and conclusions of a

The Party

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
 Honey Bear had expected to see Jupiter looking bruised, but suddenly she realized that Blacky's face was swollen and that his paws were making him quite uncomfortable.

"We were stung by the bees," Blacky explained, and told all that had happened before Jupiter had fallen down the well.

Honey Bear and the others went for mud—which was always easy to get around Puddle Muddle—and rubbed it on the faces and paws of the cubs. Then she rubbed Jupiter's bruises, and every one made a fuss over him, saying every few minutes:

"How do you feel now?"

"We've had so much worry and suffering," said Willy Nilly, "that I think we should all have a party and celebrate for a change."

"Yes, let's have a party," quacked the ducks.

"Let's have a party," crowed Christopher.

"Let's have a party," barked Rip.

"We want to celebrate after all this," growled the bears.

"It's a very good idea," cackled Top Notch.

So they all went back to Puddle Muddle, and Willy Nilly prepared a feast.

There were seeds and grain and Honey and jelly and bones and berries and fruit and milk and brook water and cake. How every one did eat!

After the feast the bears went back to their cave. They needed a good rest. But Willy Nilly knew that he had better get the bucket out of the well before Grandma came back. As he reached the Galumps there stood Grandma and Grandpa!

SIX BABIES PAY IN FULL FOR ITALIAN LIFE POLICY

Rome.—(AP)—A "nuptial policy" has been created by the National Institute of Insurance to encourage timid bachelors to marry and thereby aid Mussolini's campaign for a numerically greater nation.

The policy will be issued to bridegrooms on their wedding days, interwoven in a neatly bound booklet explaining the religious and civil rules of matrimony and containing many of the features of regular life insurance.

But under the Mussolini influence the policy stipulates that half of its capital sum will be paid to the holder upon the arrival of the sixth child, and the rest of the policy will be declared paid up.

This remainder will be paid in full either on death of the holder or upon his silver wedding anniversary.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, June 1.—(AP)—Stocks continued to look at the dark side of the market picture today and prices generally pointed downward.

Although business news was fairly bright despite seasonal recessions in a number of lines, speculative forces exhibited some nervousness on the possibility of further serious labor disturbances, especially in the steel and textile industries.

Trading, while a little more active than in yesterday's session, was still dull.

Grains jumped three or more cents a bushel in early transactions, but the advance was reduced later under profit-taking.

The selling momentum increased in the last hour.

Transfers were approximately 600,000 shares.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence of Mrs. Bland's son.

Mr. Bland, a prominent Republican, and former member of the State Highway Commission, and now on the State Board of Elections, operated hotels at Charlotte, Durham, Greensboro, Rocky Mount and other places.

Mrs. Bland is survived by her husband, one son, Alton Lee Bland, of Raleigh, and a grand son, Alton Lee, Jr.

Two sisters and four brothers, including A. L. McGowan of Greenville, also survive.

Strike Hinges On Conference.

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—Whether 300,000 cotton textile workers would strike next Monday hinged on the outcome of a conference today of NRA officials, representatives of the workers union and the manufacturers.

Confronted by the strike ultimatum from Thomas McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, called McMahon and his aides into a conference with George A. Sloan, chairman of the cotton textile code authority; Harry O. King, division administrator; Robert Bruere, chairman of the cotton textile industrial relations board, and Donald Richburg, chief of the NRA legal division.

The strike threat resulted from an NIA report for a three months' period starting Monday as a safeguard against over-production while the hourly wage would not be altered. Union leaders said the order actually would mean a 25 per cent reduction in wages as result of the shorter working week.

McMahon and his aides made it plain that their grievances went far beyond the reduction order. They indicated that nothing short of a "short" work week with present wage levels unchanged would satisfy them.

At the same time they indicated that any adjustments acceptable to them must provide for elimination of alleged stretch-out abuses.

Postpones Arms Parley.

Geneva, June 1.—(AP)—Because of the gravity of the disarmament situation, Arthur Henderson, president of the arms conference, today adjourned the parley until Tuesday and then later announced it would be necessary to postpone the next session until Wednesday.

JONESBORO GRANGE OPPOSES SALES TAX

Jonesboro, N. C., June 1.—The Jonesboro Grange has unanimously voted its opposition to the sales tax "in its present form." The report adopted by the Grange says of the sales tax:

"It is unjust and unfair. It not only taxes the necessities of life but it taxes the 'misery and misfortunes' of the people. We call upon the next Legislature to repeal this unjust and inequitable tax.

"At the same time," says the report, "this tax must not be returned to land. In many instances, perhaps in most, the tax on real estate is too high. We desire to encourage home-owners rather than to drive them from their homes by excessive taxes. The tax on real estate must not be increased, but gradually reduced."
