Seek To Speed Relief For Drought Areas At Capital

SOLONS WILL CONFER WITH ROOSEVELT

Tidings of Rain in Drought Belt Cheers Congressmen at Conference Extraordinary with President; Roosevelt Determined to Meet Needs of Drought Area

Washington, D. C., June 5.—(AP)—Glad tidings of rain in the drought belt cheered Congressmen today as they joined a White House conference extraordinary to push a vast relief program.

Whether the rain that fell in parts of the Middle West last night would affect plans to spend about $500,000,000 for relief remains to be seen. Officials said that large sums would have to be spent to repair the enormous damage already done.

President Roosevelt was described as determined to meet the needs of the drought area in an aggressive and affirmative fashion.

Ominous reports from fields yesterday spurred Congressmen from fifteen stricken States. They told of the danger of food shortage in at least one section and water famine in another.

Drowning livestock and brush fields also added to the crisis.

APPEAL FOR LIBRARY FUND

Kiwians Ask Commissioners For Contribution to Aid Local Institution

An appeal for funds for Sheppard Memorial Library was carried before the Board of County Commissioners by members of the Kiwanis Club here yesterday, but no action was taken in the matter.

The appeal was in connection with a campaign recently launched by the clubmen with a view to providing more funds for the library so that the book supply may be increased, especially in the children's department. The club has already been instrumental in providing scores of books for the institution and hope was expressed that the commissioners would see fit to act favorably upon the request.

Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, whose appeal for the library before the clubmen several weeks ago, caused them to inaugurate the campaign, told the commissioners of the need of improving the stock at the library. He paid especial attention to the children's department, declaring the stock had become greatly depleted in recent years because of wear and tear of constant use and lack of appropriations to replenish the stock.

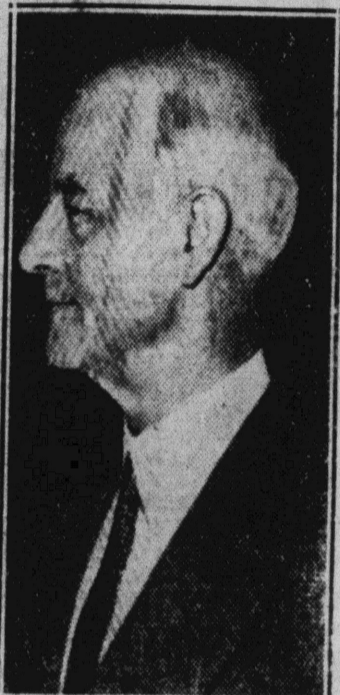

Dr. Combs told the commissioners the library not only serves the people of Greenville, but hundreds from surrounding territories. He said the library is one of the most valuable assets of the city and urged that favorable consideration be given to the request for additional funds.

Other members of the committee appearing before the commissioners were Judge Dink James, Herman Duncan, D. C. Moore, Jr., W. A. Darden and C. W. Parsons. Each made brief talks, impressing upon the commissioners the value of the library to the cultural life of the section and the need for additional funds to enable it to continue to serve the best interests of the public.

In addition to hearing the delegation, the commissioners confined the major part of their regular monthly sessions to consideration of routine matters.

COUNTY COURT AT WORK HERE

First Session in Two Weeks Marked by Comparatively Heavy Docket Today

County court was in session again today after being idle the last two weeks on account of the sitting of civil superior court which was adjourned here the latter part of last week.

The docket for today was one of the heaviest in some time and it was doubtful if work would be completed before tomorrow. Judge Dink James is presiding.

County court is always forced to abandon regular sittings when Superior court is in session here, and the past two weeks were no exceptions. The lower court has been idle several times the past spring because of the frequency of the higher court sessions, but the term just completed is the last to be held here in the next three months, and county court will be able to meet regularly without interruption.

BOARD CHECKS PRIMARY VOTE

Proposal For New Voting Places in Greenville Expected To Mark Canvass

The Pitt County Board of Elections met at the courthouse this morning at 11 o'clock to put an official stamp on the returns from Saturday's balloting in the statewide primary.

The board is expected to be in session all day, if not a part of tomorrow, as a thorough canvass of the returns in all precincts is to be made.

One of the highlights of the session will be a proposal for creating more voting places in Greenville and Chicod townships, the largest of the county, in order to expedite the compilation of ballots in future elections.

Dr. J. Paul Fitzgerald, member of the board, stated yesterday he would make the suggestion to the board in view of the long time required to count the ballots in the two precincts. Chicod finished counting about five o'clock Sunday morning and Greenville, about three o'clock Sunday afternoon. Chicod was away behind other precincts which are smaller and are able to complete their counts in much less time.

Counters were forced to work more than 12 hours yesterday. (Continued on page Three.)

STRIKERS TO STAGE MARCH ON CAPITAL

Plans of Steel Workers For Parade to Washington Made Known Today

Pittsburgh, June 5.—(AP)—Plans for a march on Washington by steel workers—who have been discriminated against for union activities—were announced today by Earle J. Forebeck, head of the self-styled "rank and file" group of the Amalgamated Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Tomorrow was set for the beginning of the march—unless President Roosevelt assures steel leaders now in Washington that the Wagner bill or similar legislation prohibiting so-called company unions is enacted.

TWO HELD IN THEFT CASE

Bound Over to Higher Court For Stealing Automobile and Clothing Here

Two negroes, appearing on separate charges of theft, were bound over to higher courts following hearing in police court here yesterday. It was revealed today by Chief of Police George Clark.

Charles Henry Pope, arrested Sunday for allegedly stealing an automobile belonging to Ben Green, was bound over to the next session of Superior Court. He was unable to give bond and was remanded to jail. The car was recovered, the officer said.

John Owens was held for County court on a charge of stealing clothing from Will Griffin and Redding Little. He will probably be given hearing before Judge Dink James sometime today.

The hearing of these two cases was the highlight of the regular Monday session of police court, although several other minor matters were disposed of.

Final Rites Are Held For Mrs. Collins

A large crowd attended the funeral for Mrs. J. H. Collins conducted from the Ayden Christian Church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and a splendid tribute of flowers denoted the high esteem in which she was held throughout the community. Burial was made in the Ayden cemetery.

Mrs. Collins was stricken with a heart attack while attending commencement exercises at the college here last Saturday night and died on the way to the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. B. Tucker.

She is survived by her husband, J. H. Collins, of Ayden; four daughters, Misses Margaret and Rosa Collins, Ayden; Mrs. Malone Tucker and Mrs. L. B. Tucker, Greenville; five sons, J. A. Collins and J. E. Collins, Greenville; Raymond Collins and Prof. Ralph Collins, Ayden; Jack Collins, Washington City; a brother, T. G. Stokes, Ayden; four sisters, Mrs. Annie Elliott, Washington, N. C.; Mrs. Gray Moore, Bath; Mrs. Canady Moore, Grifton, and Mrs. Rosa Baker, Palmont.

The following were active pallbearers: Tommie Stokes, Dr. Rand Smith, Delma Elliott, Howard Johnsons, and Mark Moore.

INSTANTLY KILLED IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

Laurinburg, N. C., June 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Z. V. Pate was instantly killed in a plunge of her automobile from an embankment after a skid near Laurel Hill late today. Her sister, Mrs. Ina Avinger, was slightly injured.

Mrs. Pate was a sister of John McNeil, former State Highway Commissioner.

Late News Flashes

Today In The Capital, Washington, June 5.—(AP)—Agreement upon a $525,000,000 drought relief program, a fresh approach to assuring order in the steel industry, and a senatorial discussion of silver purchasing bill made for liveliness in the capital today.

President Roosevelt and a congressional delegation readily joined hands for legislation embracing huge cattle purchases in the dry areas, the mea to be used for federal relief; for distribution of feeds and seeds to farmers and to provide work where possible.

In another conference the President revised the labor issue in general and talked over the situation with automobile manufacturing executives. It was not certain as to what effect, if any, their talk would have on the Wagner bill, aimed against employer dominated company unions. But that this was a factor appeared definite.

It developed at NRA headquarters meanwhile, that Hugs S. Johnson has sought to have steel men accept a plan for handling its differences with labor similar to that being (Continued on Page Four)

NEGRO ROBS PETER BROWN

Officers Seek Frank Harris For Holding Up Storekeeper Friday Night

Peter Brown, who resides about four miles from Greenville, was held over and robbed of $17.50 last Friday night by a young negro named Frank Harris, Jr. The negro lived only a short distance from the Brown home. He came to Mr. Brown's home about 10 o'clock and told him he would like to buy some candy and cigarettes. Mr. Brown told the negro he had gone to bed and did not wish to get up. The negro insisted that he let him have the candy and cigarettes as he was going to a party.

"You know me," the negro said; "it is no one to hurt you."

Mr. Brown got up, went to his shop, got the candy and cigarettes, whereupon the negro leveled a revolver already sprung and said: "Hands, I want your money; give it up or I'll kill you."

Mr. Brown said: "Don't do that. I'll give you my money if that is what you want."

"Talk in a whisper or I'll kill you," the negro said.

Then he made Mr. Brown turn his back to him while he took the money from his pocket. The negro, still holding the gun on Brown, marched him to the horse lot, made him untie a rope for a bridle, tied a loop in both ends of the rope, then made Mr. Brown stick both hands into the loop. He then led Brown to a post, tied him there, with both hands behind him, still holding the gun on him.

"This is not all your money," the robber said, "I am going in your house and make your wife open the safe and get all the money in it. If you make any noise while I'm in there I'll come back and kill you."

Mr. Brown begged the negro not to go in the house and scare his wife. "She is not well," he said; "I am afraid you will scare her to death. There is no use of your going in the house for you already have all my money."

"I am going in there," said the negro, "and if I find any more I am coming back and kill you anyway for having told me a lie."

Mr. Brown continued to beg the negro not to go in his house and disturb his family. He was told to hush or else he would be killed. About that time some one passed by and the negro was frightened away.

Mr. Brown was still tied to the post with two plow ropes. He said he remained there for some time expecting to hear his wife scream any minute, but everything remained quiet. After about ten minutes he made a strong effort to untie himself. He managed to get one hand out of the loop and then succeeded in freeing himself from the post.

TWO COLLEGE HEADS ASK TO BE RELIEVED

Dr. E. C. Brooks and J. R. Foust Ask to be Retired From Active Service

Raleigh, N. C., June 5.—(AP)—As the board of trustees of the University of North Carolina opened its annual meeting here today it was authoritatively learned by The Associated Press that the heads of State College and the Woman's College, Dr. E. C. Brooks and J. R. Foust, have signified to the board that they desire to be relieved of their duties. It was understood that the executive committee of the trustees had received notice of the wishes of the two men and that they would be retired at today's meeting.

It also was learned that there was little probability of successors being named to the two men today.

Franklin Jenkins Dies At Greensboro

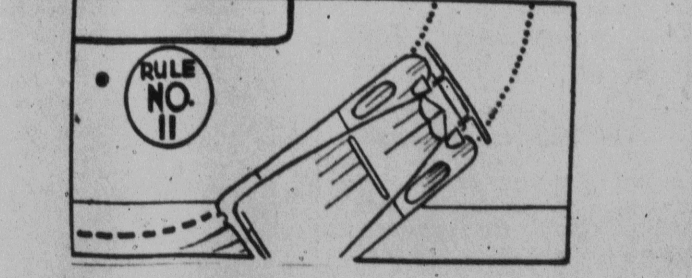

Mr. and Mrs. Dail Laughinghouse left this morning for Greensboro where they were called on account of the death of Mrs. Laughinghouse's brother, Franklin Jenkins of Shelby, who died in a Greensboro hospital early today. They were accompanied by Mrs. Charles Laughinghouse, Sr.

Funeral services for Mr. Jenkins will be conducted at Shelby tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

DRY WEATHER IMPERATIVE IN CAROLINAS

Serious Damage Threatened if Rain Does Not Give Away To Sunshine

Charlotte, N. C., June 5.—(AP)—While Western States today hoped for rain—the Carolinas sent out word they would be thankful for a little dry weather which would avert serious crop damage.

Rains in North Carolina and South Carolina recently have thrown a shadow of damage, even of ruined crops, and farmers were watching weeds skyrocket at the same time that they were reading weather forecasts to see when they would be able to work in the fields.

Weather bureaus said more rain was in prospect following torrential rain over the week-end that not only prevented farmers from working but in some sections washed out.

North Carolina, authorities said has had no real damage yet, but pointed out that the deadline has approached. A little more rain and the prospect of good crops will be very slim.

On the other hand, various sections in Eastern North Carolina reported "10 per cent damage already."

Tobacco has not been materially hurt, but it is also on the deadline. Rainfall in almost all sections of both States has been above normal in recent weeks.

ROTES TOLD OF JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Club Goes on Record Endorsing Movement to Improve Situation Here

Local Rotary Club heard a frank statement of the state of juvenile delinquency in Greenville last night at their weekly meeting by Rotarian Gus Fleischmann and goes on record with a definite motion for definite action of a specific sort. Following his presentation of the situation, Gus Fleischmann made the motion. Forcible harding with avidity gave the second. The vote was taken immediately and proved to be unanimous in favor of the motion to improve the condition in Greenville.

Reverend Fleischmann titled his remarks "Investments in Youth." He told the Rotarians that it was a question of whether Greenville preferred to invest money to the amount of a cent in added taxes now and save our youth or spend it later for added police protection which would surely be necessary if the present delinquents are permitted to continue in their present untutored fashion.

"Rotary must justify itself by more than its fellowship, though we are not blind to the value of that. Still Rotary has a larger purpose than fellowship for its members as we see in the motto, 'Service Above Self.'"

"Unemployment has contributed to juvenile delinquency. Many of our troubles are common to other communities. But that is no excuse for us to let down. We cannot be real Rotarians and let the situation continue without our doing something (Continued on page Three.)"

Newspapers Say France Was Right In Refusing to Pay

J. R. WHICHARD BURIED TODAY

Final Rites Held From Memorial Baptist Church This Afternoon

Funeral services for Julian R. Whichard, 75, native of Greenville and one of the State's pioneer newspapermen, were conducted from Memorial Baptist Church this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor, and interment followed in Cherry Hill cemetery.

Mr. Whichard died early yesterday morning, after several years of ill health.

He was born in Greenville January 11, 1859. He was the son of the late David Fleming and Violet Jordan Whichard. While in his teens he and his brother, the late David J. Whichard, were connected with the Greenville Express. The Express was discontinued the first of January, 1882, and on the 13th of the same month the brothers published the first issue of The Reflector, J. R. Whichard disposed of his interest in the paper to his brother and went to Salisbury where he was engaged in the newspaper business for several years. He continued active in the newspaper field until about 1905. His years of service in the newspaper world covered several fields, including Greenville, Snow Hill, Hickory and Albany, Ga.

He returned to Greenville after retirement from the newspaper field and engaged in other business, but ill health forced him to retire about four years ago.

The deceased was a member of Memorial Baptist Church. He was also a member of one of Pitt county's old and prominent families.

Mr. Whichard is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Barney, of Atlanta, Ga.; and two sons, Robert D. Whichard, of Greenville, and W. B. Whichard, of Silver Springs, Md., and a sister, Mrs. Ora Whichard Kennedy, of Bertie county.

Pall bearers were: Active—F. C. Harding, E. G. Flanagan, J. F. Harrington, J. C. Gaskins, Carlos Harris, W. D. Turner, Bruce Hooker and Eugene Wilson.

Honorary—J. R. Moye, J. G. Moye, W. E. Moore, Dr. Joe Smith, Hicks Corey, A. B. Corey, Charles O'H. Horne, Burney Warren, J. L. Little, C. T. Mumford, J. D. Murphy, J. L. Kilgo, J. R. Starkey, J. H. Boyd and J. C. Tyson.

Under the circumstances, the note said, it is to the advantage of all that a showdown on the whole question come immediately.

OTHER POWERS WILL FOLLOW BRITISH STEP

Britain in Refusing to Pay Installment in June Demands Showdown on Debt Situation; London Officials Surprised at Washington's Action In Making Note Public Before Commons is Informed of Action

Paris, June 5.—(AP)—Paris newspapers hailed Great Britain's decision to suspend war debt payments to the United States today as proof that France was right along in defaulting and that henceforth a united Europe will oppose America on the question.

"France was right. War debts are dead," said headlines in the papers. France, now that she has Britain for a companion as a debt defaulter, is expected to press for new effort to liquidate her huge war debt to the United States. A basis of ten cents on the dollar appeared today to be a likely proposal for settlement of the $3,860,772,238 fortune owed America.

Washington, U. C., June 5.—(AP)—The twelve billion dollar debt that Europe owes the United States became a badly frozen asset today.

Now that Great Britain—for the first time in the proud history of that empire—has decided to default, other countries are believed likely to follow suit.

Only little Finland has announced it will pay its full installment of $166,538 on the line June 15.

Except for talk of the possibility one other debtor might pay something, the prospect for much cash on $474,000,000 due or overdue in mid-June was considered extremely remote.

The British refusal to pay—announced in a note delivered to the State Department last night—heralded virtually complete collapse in a situation that had filled the scene with bitter recriminations for years.

Britain said she would defer all payments on her $4,000,000,000 debt until inter-governmental talks revived the debt-funding agreement on a payable basis.

Great Britain on the last two dates has made token payments. Her note said a part payment would have been made on the $262,000,000 due June 14 except for the new Johnson act which brands as a defaulter any nation which fails to pay in full.

Under the circumstances, the note said, it is to the advantage of all that a showdown on the whole question come immediately.

London, June 5.—(AP)—Washington sprang a surprise on Britain by revealing contents of her default war debt note, and until today officials appeared not to have recovered from their astonishment.

Officials were perturbed that the United States gave out the note before Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, had a chance to place it before the House of Commons which is the traditional policy here.

Officially the government declined to discuss the matter, merely referring to yesterday's announcement, but Chamberlain was to make a full statement in Commons this afternoon.

The government was assured of strong approval for its sweeping step by the majority in Commons.

Local baseball fans will have the opportunity tomorrow afternoon to see the Greenville team in action on the home fields. With the half holiday going into effect tomorrow no doubt the opening game will draw a record crowd. The surest way to have good baseball is to support the home team and attend every game possible.

Democrats of the county are urged to attend their precinct meetings next Saturday afternoon preparatory to the county convention to be held here Monday morning. It is important that the best possible men and women be chosen to direct the party's affairs in the county, but unless the citizens make it a point to attend the meetings and express their wishes the party's affairs will probably pass into the hands of the few politicians who never miss an opportunity to get control. If you want your party organization to be representative be sure that you take part in the convention in your precinct and select the best possible member for the county executive committee.

Plans for the Daily Vacation Bible School to be conducted here are fast nearing completion. Such a school should prove of inestimable benefit to the community and when the citizens are asked to give it their financial support the response should be a generous one.

MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Although Sergeant Dwyer has proved that the murderer and the policeman found dead in Pierre Dufresne's house did not shoot each other, but were murdered, he cannot pin the crime on anyone until he can show how the murderer escaped, and who the stranger is. He is questioning Mrs. Croden, and has learned that she and her husband have an apartment in North Carolina. He notices particularly a handsome diamond ring she wears.

Chapter 36
DUFRESNE AGAIN
HARPER leaned forward. "Now, Mrs. Croden, I would like to know more about the servants in this house. Has there been trouble with any of them in the past, or any trouble between themselves? I don't mean petty squabbles."

For the first time Aline Croden hesitated, and Harper felt the lowering of an imperceptible veil of aloofness. With her hands lying motionless in her lap she studied the detective's face with cool gravity. In all the house there was not a sound at that moment.

"I am afraid there is nothing I can tell you that would be relevant to the ideas you hold," she answered at last, quietly.

"What about Andrews? I gather that he is greatly in Mr. Dufresne's confidence."

"Andrews has spent his whole adult life in the service of the Dufresne family, starting with Mr. Dufresne's father. Naturally, he is treated almost as a member of the family."

Harper thought that over. "How long have the Whitmores been employed?"

"It must be about ten years. We wish we could find some one half so efficient and conscientious for our own house."

"What about Donaghy, the chauffeur?"

Mrs. Croden shot him a quick, penetrating look, which the detective did not miss, and as she thought over her reply, she kept turning that unusual ring around and around on her finger.

"Joseph is considerably younger than any of the others," she answered at last, "less settled in his habits and no doubt he has more outside interests. But he is courteous, prompt, and obliging, and I believe there has been no question at all as to his conduct either on or off duty."

"Then there has been nothing in the nature of friction or bad feeling between Andrews, say, and the Whitmores? Or between Donaghy and Andrews?"

"No, indeed."

"What of the housemaid who was here last year, Ellen Becker? She left rather suddenly, I believe. Was there an undeclared reason for her departure?"

"I think not. Ellen never fitted in very well here. She was a reserved, rather melancholy girl, from what I saw of her. I'm sure she left of her own accord. My sister would have said something to me had it been otherwise."

"How old was this girl?"

"Thirty, or perhaps a year or two older. Not an attractive girl at all," she added, "and a rather sullen demeanor that did not improve her any."

Harper rubbed his chin reflectively. "In spite of what you say," he remarked, "all has not been as tranquil as the surface seems to indicate. That much is obvious, for, aside from the murders, Mrs. Croden, we know there have been repeated secret meetings held in this room, a thing extremely unlikely without the help and connivance of some one in this house. I value your opinion and judgment, Mrs. Croden, but last night's occurrences will not let me accept them at face value, in this particular matter."

"You must do as you think best," Aline Croden answered, in a non-committal tone. She looked down at her relaxed hands and noticed Harper's eyes following the flashing glitter of the twin gems.

"I see that my heirloom has been attracting your attention," she said, extending her hand in a graceful gesture. "It came from Mr. Croden's mother, and I can't bring myself to separate the stones or modernize the old setting."

"Gems are fascinating things," Harper replied. "I certainly would not diminish their sentimental value for the sake of a modernized setting."

operative, so that the people will realize that the constant extension of regulatory powers over business and agriculture has been halted."

Another 'Rebel'?
Those who know the Virginia Senator are emphatic in their denials that his kicking over the traces on AAA means he is out of sympathy with Roosevelt's policies, generally. As one expresses it:

"Byrd has neither turned his back on the administration nor violated any pledge to support Roosevelt. It means simply that he is following the bent of his own mind. He has enjoyed wide experience in government, particularly insofar as they affect agriculture."

His outspoken opposition already has forced the AAA "brain trusters" to give ground. Many believe that more concessions will be made before the battle is over.

Mr. Roosevelt recently affectionately referred to Carter Glass as an "unreconstructed rebel." It may be that he will place the junior Senator from Virginia in that same category before the finish.

Took CARDUI During The Change of Life
CARDUI is purely vegetable, harmless, for women of all ages. Many women who have used it advise their daughters and friends to try it. "I took Cardui for weakness during the change of life," writes Mrs. Clara C. Allen, of Enfield, Ill. "It helped me and built up my strength. I also gave it to my two daughters and they were helped. I think Cardui is a good medicine during the change and for girls."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

But Pierre Dufresne went on quietly tapping his cigarette against the platinum case. There was mockery and defiance in his glittering look, and Harper caught a faint reek of brandy on his breath.

"Don't let us stop you!" he sneered, "but I'll be damned if we wish you any luck!"

LAFFERTY looked through the pocket lens at the crystal body of the goblet and then again at the sheet of yellow letter paper Harper held out for his inspection. "It's a sneaky print," he stated, "but there's no doubt about it—that's Andrews' thumbmark in both places. Well, let's have another round with the model butler. We'll see if he can think fast enough to get out of this one."

The lanky detective took the letter and read it over. It was the third of the eight crank letters Dufresne had turned over to the police when he had first placed the matter in their hands, about a week before. The thumbmark appeared a about midway of the left margin.

"It was 'just a fluke," Harper explained. "I was showing Mrs. Croden how a fingerprint is brought out for photographing and I happened to pick up this glass for the experiment."

"It would have come out long ago," Lafferty grumbled, "if Dufresne hadn't opposed the fingerprinting of the staff. Come on, let's put the screws to the old boy. I'm going to enjoy this."

"Not so fast, Jack, not so fast. There's no profit in going off half-cocked. Nobody's going to run away while we figure things out. It might be a help if some one did," he added as an afterthought.

Lafferty threw his superior a sardonic look. "You're hard to convince," he protested. "What are you holding out for now, a hand-written confession from the murderer?"

"No, but we're not a couple of rookies out after big game for the first time. If we made an arrest every time we struck a clue we'd have Mrs. Dufresne locked up because she went out last night and Dufresne because the gun disappeared from his room this morning. Before we tackle Andrews let's have a good look at these letters. We've been so busy with other matters they haven't had the attention they deserve."

"The first thing that is apparent," he went on, "is that each was mailed downtown. That gives us no help with everybody at the Austerlitz except the Whitmores. The first four were exactly one week apart, then came a gap of eleven days with the last four somewhat irregular. Dufresne placed them before Director Connors on the 4th of January. On the morning of the 7th came the last letter, at least up to the present."

"At least? Do you think there are going to be any more of them?" Lafferty questioned.

To The Voters Of Pitt County

Please accept my most hearty thanks for your loyal support in re-electing me as Coroner in the primary Saturday. I especially want to commend the officers and officials of the election board for conducting a fair and impartial primary. It was the most orderly election I ever attended. I shall continue serving this office as economically as possible for the people.

A. A. Ellwanger

To The Voters Of Pitt County

I take this method of thanking the voters of Pitt County for again nominating me as a member of the Board of County Commissioners. I trust that I will be able to perform the duties of the office in such a manner as to justify this confidence.

J. Noah Williams

To The Voters Of Pitt County

I wish to express my sincere thanks for the loyal support given me in Saturday's Primary. I entertain nothing but the kindest feelings toward the other candidates, their friends and supporters.

CHILD SURVEY PUSHED HERE SLOWLY REALTY MOVES SLOWLY HERE

State-Wide Movement To Check Condition Of Children Moving Rapidly

Workers' wages in each county are being paid by the ERA funds. The survey has a four-fold purpose and is expected to result in the recording of the status of every needy, blind, deaf, or crippled child in the State; the listing of every World War veteran and World War orphan. The needy children of veterans will be recorded so that those eligible to receive help from the Legion's National Child Welfare Endowment Fund of more than $5,000,000 may be determined.

Every blind and deaf child now not receiving adequate care will be listed, as will adult blind persons, and all crippled children and other persons who need industrial rehabilitation will be noted.

The results of the survey will be studied and followed up by State and National Agencies, Joint Welfare Committee of the Legion and Auxiliary Child Welfare Committee of local Units and Posts, and other Welfare Agencies. To secure the necessary help for your county the survey must be complete as possible.

Today the canvassers made the following statement: "In the Child Welfare Survey we desire that every one who knows of any child that should be included in the census of veterans' orphans, physically handicapped, or other under-privileged children, please notify the two canvassers my mail. It is very essential that we have the whole-hearted co-operation of all civic organizations if the survey is to be a success in your county."

Coastal Plain League Opens Today; Kinston Plays Here Tomorrow

The Coastal Plain League started play today with six clubs making an initial start toward capturing the pennant.

The opening found Greenville playing at Ayden, Tarboro at Snow Hill, and New Bern at Kinston.

Greenville will celebrate the opening here tomorrow with Kinston playing on the local diamond. At the same time Ayden will be at Tarboro and Snow Hill at New Bern.

Milton Harrington, "skipper" of the local club, said he had his team in line for tomorrow's conflict. Practice started last week and the weeding out process left around 18 men still in camp. They probably will be seen in action in the opening encounter.

Several of the players who helped Greenville walk away with the pennant last season were back in the line-up today. They are "Blng" Miller, third base; "Runt" Bostic, shortstop; Billy Brown, first base; and Roger Taylor, pitcher, who made such a fine record off at school this year.

Others in the camp include Wagner, catcher, who led Duke batters this season; Deameron, second baseman; Farley, Duke outfielder; Lulhern, outfielder; Haughlin, outfielder; Houscamp, outfielder; Hood, outfielder; Cahall, pitcher; Felts, pitcher; Lewis, pitcher; Taylor, pitcher. Another moundsman by the name of May was scheduled to join the club June 15. Utility men included Fred Potts, Jim Johnson and Curry Roger Taylor, former Greenville High moundsman, is the only hurler to return to the local camp this season. Harrington said Taylor would probably be seen in action against Kinston tomorrow.

Only four towns were in the league last season but with Tarboro and New Bern finding berths this year fans were looking forward to plenty of fast ball. The circuit is considered one of the fastest semi-pro organizations in the state and probably will attract considerable attention as the race actually gets under way. Large crowds were urged to be on hand tomorrow to give the locals a rousing send-off.

New York Cotton

New York, June 5.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened fairly steady, unchanged to two points lower on liquidation in different Liverpool cables and the absence of new constructive developments.

The market steadied slightly after the call but eased again after the low opening of the wheat market. October after working up from 11.86 to 11.90 was ruling around 11.85 at the end of the first half hour with the general list showing losses of about one to three points.

While business remained quiet, the market steadied later in the day, improving on recovering and buying encouraged by fear of too much rain in the astern and Central belts. October sold up to 11.95, with active months showing gains of about five to ten points at midday.

Futures close very steady, 27 to 30 points higher; spots steady; middling 12.10.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, June 5.—(AP)—Stocks staged another rally today under the spur of technical factors and the expectancy of bullish Washington developments.

Grains of fractions to two points were recorded by leading equities. Some short covering and outside buying was reported. This was said to have been based partly on the theory that the market had oversold and at least momentary recovery was overdue.

Prospects of settlement of the threatened steel strike and an announcement of NRA policy revision also aided the recovery. Trading expanded in the first two hours but the activity sagged down after noon. Virtually all groups improved and quotations held to about the best in late trading. The volume got up to approximately 750,000 shares.

Retire Foust And Brooks.
Raleigh, June 5.—(AP)—The board of trustees of the University of North Carolina today retired Dr. J. R. Foust of the Woman's College, and Dr. E. C. Brooks, of State College, from active duty and abolished the office of vice-president of the university.

The board stated in resolutions that it acted on the request of the two men.

Dr. Brooks was made president emeritus of State and Dr. Foust was named president emeritus of the Woman's College.

In their new posts the men will receive salaries of $4,000 annually without any grant from the state. The resolution retiring them stated they were to be paid any compensation and grant the trustees determined.

To replace of the office of vice-president of the State College and Woman's College units of the University, there will be a dean of administration at each. There will also be a dean of administration at the Chapel Hill unit.

The new deans will be selected by a committee of trustees to be named later by Governor Ehringhaus and President Frank Graham of the University. The resolutions called for their selection as soon as possible.

Henderson Threatens To Quit

Geneva, June 5.—(AP)—Arthur Henderson, president of the disarmament conference, threatened to resign today after Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, had torn to pieces a proposal by Henderson for disarmament.

The French leader particularly objected to Henderson's suggestion of a new effort to be made to get Germany back into the conference.

Henderson, who is British, proposed sine die adjournment until the critical difficulties of the situation between France and Germany could be reconciled.

Kerr Bill Approved.

Washington, June 5.—(AP)—Compulsory control of the tobacco crop for the coming two years was approved today by the House committee when it gave privilege status to the Kerr bill to limit the output.

The measure's purpose is to make the big buyers pay a reasonable price for tobacco and to protect the grower who is cooperating with the Carolina, told the committee.

The legislation gives the secretary of agriculture authority to take out of production as many acres of tobacco as he sees fit in any county and to refuse the right to grow tobacco to anyone who has not cultivated it for three years.

Reduction in tobacco import quotas are authorized also, a feature described by the committee mem-

Ablaze

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
A great whistle was being blown in the next village and now the flames could be seen leaping higher than ever. The wind was blowing in the direction of Puddle Middle, and sparks were dropping all around Willy Nilly's house.

"Fire Chief Quacko Duck!" shouted Willy Nilly. "Jelly Bear! Top Notch! Christopher Columbus! Everyone! Come here!"

Fire Chief Quacko Duck and many other ducks came hurrying along in their fire engine, while some of the others dragged the long hose from the pond right up to Willy Nilly's.

Jelly Bear saw that Honey Bear was safe with the cubs Jupiter and Blacky in the cave and then came along to help. Christopher Columbus Crow was cawing orders and Top Notch, the rooster, was keeping everyone calm.

"We'll have to stamp out the sparks and see that nothing catches fire," cried Willy Nilly.

Everyone was working hard. The ducks played the hose on the sparks that lighted on the roof and Jelly Bear and Willy Nilly rushed from spark to spark, seeing that none got any headway.

At times it seemed as though the fire were dying down, and then other flames came up afresh.

Willy Nilly thought of going to the next village to help them fight the flames there, but then he realized that would not be wise. There were many people in the little town to put out the fire, but if it spread to Puddle Middle it would go right on to the woods and the fear of a forest fire was in his mind.

More and more the wind was blowing in their direction!

CHARGE AGAINST AGENT IS WIPED FROM BOOKS

Greensboro, N. C., June 5.—United States District Court today finally wrote off its record the charge that John Funk, former prohibition agent, conspired with liquor law violators of Caswell County to violate the prohibition laws.

Twice convicted in Federal Court here, Funk won one reversal from the Circuit Court of Appeals and a second from the United States Supreme Court. Today district court ordered a nol pros in the case. Several of the government's witnesses were not available for a third hearing, and this case of some years legal history was ended.

YOUR ENERGY VARIES DURING THE DAY

Let CAMELS increase your flow of ENERGY

Tired? Light a Camel. And as you enjoy its cool, pleasing fragrance, you feel a new flow of energy... a quick and delightful "energizing" effect.

So when you're feeling run-down, tired, "all in," smoke a Camel and see what happens. That tired feeling slips away. Camels have helped your own body to help itself and bring you back in "pep" and energy.

IT'S YOUR OWN NATURAL ENERGY RELEASED

AND CAMELS' NEVER JANGLE YOUR NERVES!

You've probably noticed this yourself and have wondered why and how it happened. The "lift" you get from Camels is a release of your own natural energy... your latent energy made easily and harmlessly available.

You can smoke just as many of these delightful Camels as you want. And you need never worry about your nerves. Camel's costlier tobaccos never get on your nerves.

WHO HASN'T FELT "dog-tired" after work... with a long evening ahead... and dinner time still an hour away? That's just one of the many, many times during the day when you will want to light up a Camel—for restoring your flow of healthful energy. You'll like Camels—a matchless blend of costlier tobaccos!

WORN OUT... and then he smoked a Camel!

CAMELS Costlier Tobaccos never get on your Nerves

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.
