Strike Movement Gains Scope On Pacific Coast; Many Unions Join Plan

SHORTAGES OF FOOD AND FUEL CAUSE ALARM

Nearly 100,000 Workers in San Francisco and Other Cities Pledge Themselves To Walkout; 27,000 Maritime Workers Out; Taxi Drivers and Other Unions to Join Strike

San Francisco, Calif., July 13.—(AP)—Housewives and men in the street felt the Pacific Coast maritime strike today as an increasing number of labor unions joined the movement towards a general strike in the San Francisco bay area.

Shortages of food, gasoline and fuel became an actual threat. With a move toward a general strike gaining headway in Portland, Oregon, and rumblings of a similar movement heard in Los Angeles the San Francisco strategy committee called a meeting of all unions this afternoon at which a general strike is expected to be demanded.

Nearly 100,000 workers in San Francisco and the bay cities of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda pledged themselves to walk out in sympathy with 27,000 striking maritime workers if the strategy committee says the word.

Two thousand, five hundred taxi drivers and chauffeurs walked out at 5 o'clock this morning, bringing to 6,370 the number who had already joined the protest for immediate settlement of the waterfront strike. Nearly 5,000 more—bushers, laundrymen and retail delivery men will join them Saturday night.

BIBLE SCHOOL CLOSING TODAY

Demonstration to be Given For The Public at Third Street School Tonight

The stage was all set today for the Daily Vocational Bible School in the auditorium of Third Street School at 7:30 tonight. The school will close this afternoon after four weeks of service to the children of the community and the demonstration tonight is to give the citizenship an opportunity to see what the institution has accomplished, or some of the things it tried to accomplish.

The program, an interesting one, was completed yesterday by the Ministerial Association, sponsors of the school, assisted by members of the Bible School faculty.

Persons interested in the work which the school has done are cordially invited to be present tonight and inform themselves regarding the high standard of training received by nearly three hundred children during the four week term.

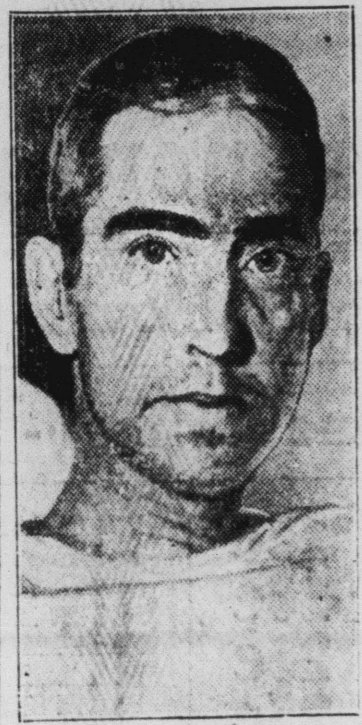

Co-operating in the school movement is the public school system. Expenses are paid through public contributions which today stood near the $400 goal.

The school is the outgrowth of a desire to improve the moral standard of children during the summer months and send them back to school in the fall prepared to influence the general student body in the ways of righteousness.

The juvenile situation previously had been described by members of the clergy as the most alarming in years and demanding immediate attention.

The largest fish ever caught with rod and line was brought in by Z. W. Grey, the famed author. It was a spotted marlin swordfish, which weighed 1,040 pounds, and was near Tahiti in 1930.

BAILEY AIRS FREIGHT RATES

Raleigh Man Speaks At Annual Meeting Of Eastern Carolina Association

I. M. Bailey, of Raleigh, former Corporation Commissioner, was the chief speaker at the annual meeting of the Eastern Carolina Association held at Bayview yesterday. He explained the present freight rate situation as it affects this State and urged his hearers to "awaken to the fact that united effort would be absolutely necessary to relieve the State of the burden."

A delegation of business men of the eastern part of the State were present. The trip from Washington to Bayview was made on the Embalene, 400-ton vessel of the Norfolk, Baltimore and Carolina Line which was sent from Norfolk especially for the trip. The return was made at 6:30 in the afternoon.

Election of officers for the ensuing year, one of the highlights of the meeting, was deferred until a meeting of the board of directors to be held here in the next ten days. The majority of members were re-elected and several new ones added. Among these were W. C. Denmark, Goldsboro; Pierce Johnson, Weldon; L. H. Sasser, Smithfield, and M. S. Brown, Tarboro.

C. A. Flynn, of Washington, presided at the meeting due to the illness of C. W. Howard, of this city, who was unable to attend.

Dr. Maynard Fletcher, of Washington, made the address of welcome and the response was made by Mr. Flynn, acting president.

Mr. Bailey was introduced by Mr. Flynn, who stated that Mr. Bailey was one of the most widely read men on railroad and transportation problems in the country today.

Mr. Bailey stated that the Morehead City port development would be worth millions, but at the present time the importance of such a project could be figured only on paper. Before the full value of such a port could be realized the potential advantages must be envisioned. He further stated that no one disputed the fact that the State is burdened with unjust freight rates and that in order to overcome this handicap united and persevering efforts are necessary. He stated that more legislation affecting transportation has been enacted during the last decade than during any other period in the history of the country. "So closely have railroads been tied with legislation," he said, "that they were practically bankrupt last year as a result of the depression. With earnings limited in good years, the need of reinvesting capital in the roads during the lean years worked a

CITY REJECTS PROPOSAL FOR 2 INSPECTORS

Aldermen Expected To Employ Sanitary Inspector Independent of County

The Board of Aldermen, meeting in special session at the City Hall this morning, rejected the county proposal for the employment of two sanitary inspectors, and the committee named at a previous meeting was requested to report definite recommendations on the proposition at the regular meeting of the board in August.

It was said it was believed the committee would decide on an alternate inspector for the city independent of the county and action of the board is expected to be based on the report.

The committee attended a meeting of the County Commissioners the first of the week and listened to the proposal and reported back to the entire board this morning.

In addition to this matter, the board accepted a proposal for extending Contentnea Street from Third Street to the river to open the King, Fleming and White property in the western part of the city, and to bring Colonial Street to Third Street from the Riverdale section.

The board also heard reports from various committees regarding needed equipment for the new year in order that it may be included in the new budget to be compiled during August. The request was made by the board at the regular meeting the first of the month in an effort to speed up preparation of the budget and at the same time leave nothing on the outside.

CHILD BADLY HURT BY TRUCK

Mamie Tyndall Probably Fatally Injured When Hit By Machine Yesterday

Mamie Tyndall, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Tyndall, was probably fatally injured when she was struck by a truck near the intersection of the Greenville-Stokes highway yesterday afternoon, the highway patrol reported today.

The child was rushed to the local hospital where little hope was held out for her recovery today. She suffered severe laceration of the head and one foot and a broken thigh.

David Gillikin, of Beaufort, driver of the truck, was held blameless after the officers declared the accident unavoidable.

The child, accompanied by her eight-year-old sister, Elizabeth, was standing at the side of the Greenville-Bethel highway waiting to cross. Trucks were coming from both directions, but evidently she saw only the one coming toward Greenville on the side of the road where she was standing. After this truck had passed, she dashed directly in the opposite direction.

Late News Flashes

Hitler Speaks To Reichstag. Berlin, July 13.—(AP)—Chancellor Hitler told the German people and the world today that he would make a brutally frank declaration of events "which will live in the memory of our history."

Speaking before a packed audience which included the German Reichstag, the chancellor told the waiting throng they had been called "to give me a chance to explain events."

"The content of my declaration will be brutally frank," he said. He said events of which he intended to speak were "as sad as they were menacing."

"I must limit myself," he said, "only to the extent of my regard for the interest of the Reich and otherwise for a feeling of shame. We have not made a revolution as anarchists. But as executives we have removed the regime of a revolt."

"We did not conceive our past to be that of securing our power through bayonets but rather of deriving it from the heart of our people and there to anchor it."

"If today I read in foreign newspapers that I am filled at present with deep apprehension with economic worries I can give but one answer; yes; but anxiety is not a thing that weighs me down only today, it has always weighed me down."

NAVY PLANS FOR INCREASE OF STRENGTH

5,500 Additional Men To be Added Along With 19 New Ships In Fiscal Year

Washington, D. C., July 13.—(AP)—Looking toward treaty strength by 1942, the Navy has adopted a plan calling for 5,500 more enlisted men and the laying down of nineteen new ships in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936.

This "operating force" planned would give the Navy 88,000 men as compared with 82,000 during the present year. The new ships would include twelve destroyers of 1,500 tons each, two heavy destroyers and five submarines.

A high Navy official said the building program is being pointed toward a future plan for laying down around fifteen ships each year.

This number will take care of absences and provide necessary replacements even of battleships. The cost is estimated at around $95,000,000 a year.

Gradually this goal is being approached. Thirty-two ships were started the past fiscal year and 21 will be laid down this year.

The program depends, of course, on what Congress provides. Budget estimates of the cost of 1936 program have not been prepared.

JOHN SIMON IN SPEECH TO BRITISH HOUSE

Louis Barthou, of France Begins Work On Locarno Pact; Polish Ambassador Invited to Discuss Polish Objections to Closer Relationship With Soviets and Germany; England And Italy Off of Obligations

London, July 13.—(AP)—Great Britain has reinforced the pact of Locarno, but has not entered "any select alliance" with any country, Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, declared today before the House of Commons.

In his anxiously awaited statement of position on continental affairs, Sir John said the recent Anglo-French conversations had resulted in a greater feeling of peace and security in Europe and will greatly improve conditions on the continent if powers affected fully enter the proposed Eastern regional agreement.

He added that Premier Mussolini of Italy agrees with Britain as to the necessity of an eastern pact—"eastern Locarno"—as it has been called and fully approves it.

Paris, July 13.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Louis Barthou began work today on his pet project, an Eastern Europe or Locarno pact, while Sir John Simon, the British Secretary was still speaking in the House of Commons.

He invited Polish Ambassador Chlatowski to Foreign Ministry and discussed at length Polish objections to closer relationships with the Soviets and Germany, particularly in the face of Chancellor Hitler's new line up with the formidable Reichswehr, or German army.

Rome, July 13.—(AP)—England and Italy are in accord in assuming no further political obligations in Europe, said an official communique issued today in consequence of the visit to London of Louis Barthou, the French Foreign Minister, where he discussed an Eastern Locarno pact with Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary.

WRECK PROBE NEXT MONDAY

Coroner to Inquire Into House Station Crash in Which One Man Was Killed

Coroner A. A. Ellwanger stated this morning that a second inquest into the death of Hardy Mizelle, 56-year-old Old River Road community farmer, who was killed in an automobile collision at House Station, Monday afternoon of last week, would be held next Monday.

Isaac Mizelle, brother of the dead man, and Willie Mizelle, a son, were released from the local hospital here yesterday and returned to their home greatly improved. It was thought at first their injuries might prove serious. The second inquest was held up pending their recovery so they could appear as witnesses.

Oscar Mizelle, driver of the death car, was slightly injured but was released from the hospital the day after the tragedy.

The car occupied by the Mizelles had a fender of a machine driven by Hayward Dall of Greenville, went out of control and then crashed.

Final Rites Conducted From Christian Church Here Yesterday Afternoon

Funeral services for Mrs. Bettie Tyson Smith, 56, wife of R. L. Smith, were conducted from Eighth Street Christian Church yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock by Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of the church, and interment was made in Cherry Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Smith died at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning after an illness of one year and critical illness of several days.

The final rites were largely attended and the floral tribute expressive of the love and esteem of hundreds of friends in this and other parts of the country.

Mr. Ryan paid tribute to Mrs. Smith's devotion to the cause of the church, which she served actively over a period of many years until illness forced her retirement, and declared her loss would be felt keenly not only by the congregation but the denomination.

Mrs. Smith was a member of the Eighth Street Christian Church. She was the first regent and one of the organizers of the Greenville Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and a past president of the Round Table Club.

She was also active in the social life of the city, being a member of one of the old and socially prominent families of this community. She was a graduate in music from Salen College and was artistically inclined.

FIRE CAUSES FARMER LOSS

Sam Hardee Suffers $3,000 Loss From Fire Believed of Incendiary Origin

Fire, believed of incendiary origin caused estimated loss of $3,000 on the farm of Sam Hardee, of the Venters' Cross Roads community early Thursday morning, according to information reaching the city today.

A packhouse, barn, 2 horses and two cows, and a barn of tobacco went up in the flames, it was said, in addition to 15,000 tobacco sticks and all farm implements stored in the barn.

The fire was discovered about two o'clock but was so far out of control that all efforts to save the animals housed in the stables proved futile.

Although the origin of the blaze had not been definitely determined today, opinion was expressed that it was the work of a fire bug and an investigation was under way today to run the guilty party to earth.

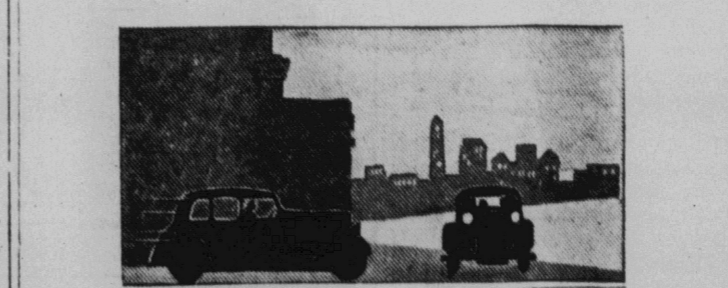

The loss was one of the worst suffered by a citizen of that community in a number of years, and light from the blaze brought scores of farmers from the surrounding community to the scene where they stood helpless to render assistance.

FOR BETTER HEALTH SERVICE

Delegations appeared before the County Commissioners this week and urged the adoption of an increased budget for the county health department. Despite some opinions to the contrary, the health department is one of the most important of all county departments and an adequate budget for health work in any community is essential.

While the commissioners gave no definite answer to the requests for an increased budget for the health service they did take the matter under consideration and certainly it is to be hoped that their final action will be favorable.

CAN THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AFFORD TO NOMINATE MR. HOEY?

(Rocky Mount Herald) There seems to be some agitation from special interests and the machine for Honorable Clyde Hoey to run for Governor. According to an editorial appearing in one of the State papers, it was stated that several candidates for Governor were awaiting decision as to what Hon. Hoey would do in the matter. We do not believe that this is the condition.

SPITE MARRIAGE by Katharine Haviland Taylor

SYNOPSIS: Because she thinks the gay Geoffrey Tarleton has married another, Marsha Moore marries Bob Powers, who is hopelessly in love with her. They are spending their honeymoon at South Island, on Long Island. Much to Marsha's surprise, she finds she really is in love with Bob, and that she is content to devote herself to making him happy.

A little later he said, angrily, as her hands grew quiet on the keys, "My Lord, what does your aunt want? You play—exquisitely!" Those were quiet, sane days that did not drag; days that hurried by with nothing of exciting nature in them "to pass the time."

The weather was rarely mild. They walked the beach arm in arm; sometimes they talked, again they were silent. They drove over the hills, played chess, read. She played the piano for him to find her heart swell as she realized he liked to listen.

No, she had never before known what it meant to be happy; but she knew certainly that it could not last.

"How could it," she reflected, "considering all I've done; all I can't do or be because of all I've done!" And thinking thus, terror, an icy deluge, would fill her heart.

Geoffrey Tarleton became a remote wraith of the inferno she had known. She held his memory close, however, and deliberately. He would be well matched with her, her aunt had said; her aunt had said that this was an almost equal depravity.

No, this life with Bob could not last. She must not let herself dream forward, kissed the tip of her nose, sat back.

He tried very hard not to bother her much; he felt she was a little happier when he seemed but gay. "When lies are made to make people happier," he stated, "the jewel expert in heaven hurries to get another jewel for the liar's crown. . . . See? You know, when we telephoned mother last night, and I said, 'I'm missing you?' " "Yes."

Chapter 16 IDYL "WHY did you tell Ella she looked well in her cap, dear?" Bob asked.

"Because, Bob, she felt she didn't grace caps," Marsha answered quickly. "Of course she doesn't; you know how her caps will ride with one deck under water."

"You haven't it yet," he went on, "why did you tell her that gruesome lie that makes me turn shuddering from you?" "Because—she felt badly about her caps and, the inebriated way they will look, skidding 'round on her two hairs."

"Well, don't you see, dearest?" he asked. She didn't; she shook her head, looking up at him. Her eyes were wide; so often to him she was a pitifully baffled child; he leaned that it could, she reminded herself. She had, by constant compromise, made herself fabric for the wife of Geoffrey or of some one like Geoffrey. She could never be, and with all trying, the suitable wife for Bob; and she knew it—too well!

AT the end of the week she began to wonder whether Bob could love her if he knew why she had become his wife. The question persisted; grew strong; it turned her silent often and it led her to look at him questioning.

"Tired of me?" he asked on one of these occasions. She wanted to answer with a violent, "I shall never be tired of you! A lifetime won't give me enough of you! I'm a second-rate, shoddy piece, but no one could love you so well, if that counts."

He had been standing by the hearth; tapping bricks with an emptying pipe. He turned to settle on the broad arm of her chair; "I am beginning to know you," he said slowly. (She felt his hand on her hair; he was always so gentle!) "And I know you wanted to say more, but old habits cling! Am I right?"

Trade War Gains Against Britain Seen By Japan

By GLENN BABB Osaka, Japan. (AP)—May, the month in which Great Britain imposed quota restrictions on Japanese textile imports into the United Kingdom and British colonies, saw Nippon's cotton goods set a new high record.

Statistics published by the Japan Cotton Spinners' Association support the Japanese contention that they have wrested from Britain her century-old leadership in cotton textiles exports, the generations the first staple of world commerce.

Nippon Wins First Clash Thus the advantage in the first phase of the Anglo-Japanese trade war inaugurated by Walter Runciman's quota announcement, is claimed by Japan.

In May the Japanese cotton industry exported 265,623,000 square yards valued at $14,550,000, surpassing the previous high mark of March, 1934, by 42,000,000 square yards and $2,500,000.

According to the association's figures British exports for May were 150,000,000 square yards, the lowest figure since August, 1933, the month in which the rising tide of Japan's sales passed the falling British figures.

For the whole of 1933 Japan's cotton goods exports were 2,090,000,000 square yards and Britain's 2,031,000,000.

Gains in British Lands Indicating that the new British barriers were ineffectual, the figures showed that some of Japan's largest gains were made in British territory, especially India, the Straits Settlements, Australia and South Africa.

For the first five months of 1934 Japan's cotton goods exports to the markets in which competition with Britain has been keenest—India, China, Dutch East Indies, Africa, Malaya and Latin America—amounted to 622,000,000 square yards against 457,000,000 for Great Britain.

The Japanese advance in the new Latin American markets, although on a smaller scale than in British territories, helped make the new record. Latin America in May bought 13,615,000 square yards of Japanese cotton goods, a new record for that territory.

They are: James Carr, president; Louis Stuart Ficklen, vice-president; Ralph Gaston, secretary; and Earle Shuff, treasurer.

In Remembrance. The Patient Circle of the King's Daughters and Sons of Greenville have recently lost one of their most devoted, faithful and loyal members in the death of Mrs. Ada Cherry.

For many years she was really ill, but her unbounded faith in "The Great Physician's" power gave her strength to carry on.

As a daughter of The King her loving, willing spirit to promote the interest of our work in the state and community never changed.

Early in her life she chose the good part, and all through her earthly sojourn she held fast to God's hand and guidance. The weary, the lonely, and the discouraged came to her in her home sure of loving help and sympathy.

We acknowledge the wisdom and goodness of God in granting her many years of service.

We shall miss her, for truly she was The King's Daughter indeed ever serving in His Name.

Without Words. By MARY GRAHAM BONNER. "Quick! Quick!" the people shouted. "The bear is killing the child."

"Get a gun, get sticks, beat him, kill him!" they cried.

Jelly Bear held the little girl in his arms. She was crying now from the fright and suffering she had had. Oh, it had been so terrible when she had fallen into the pond and had gone down under the water.

Then she had choked so that she had hardly known where she was or what was happening.

"He's killing our little Rita," cried the mother of the girl.

"Get him to let go of her," some of the others shouted.

"I want to get her away from him without making him angry," cried her father. "If we fight him now he may crush and kill her. Oh, whatever shall we do?"

"I've saved her from drowning," Jelly Bear growlingly shouted. He was so excited that his voice was loud and the people thought he was wildly angry.

He still held the child in his arms and now the people started throwing stones and sticks at him.

"Be careful! He may not let go of Rita and we may hit her."

"They were frightened but they did not know what to do. And Jelly Bear could not talk.

Oh, it was dreadful not to be able to speak any words.

"I think I could aim this sharp stone so it would hit him in the head without touching Rita," her father cried.

Tomorrow—"Rita Speaks"

Rita Speaks. By MARY GRAHAM BONNER. "Dear, dear Bear," said the little girl Rita, and snuggled up in Jelly Bear's arms.

"Oh, I want this bear to go home with me," she said to the astonished people.

"Come darling, say goodbye to the bear," said her mother, who was so afraid she would never get her child away from the terrible bear's arms.

"I've been so frightened," Rita said.

"We know, darling, but we've come to take you home, and you'll have your toy bear there."

"I want a real bear," said Rita.

"The bear has bewitched the child," they all said. "He's a terrible creature, and probably belongs to some old, old family of bears where they've had the power to do as they wished with children."

"We must get her away from him and then we'll kill him," another said.

At this Rita began to cry again. "If you kill my bear I'll never come home."

What were they to do? Rita was right in the bear's arms and they didn't dare take her from him for fear he might become angry and kill her.

Jelly Bear did not know what would happen. If he let the little girl go from his arms the others would then kill him. They would not pay any attention to what Rita said once she was with them. What should he do?

Jelly Bear thought and thought about it until he could think no more.

ARMY OF 500 SEEKS YOUTH

Bobby Connor Believed to be Held For Ransom By Itinerant Peddler

Hartsdale, N. Y., July 13.—(AP)—An army of 500 State troops, police and volunteers beat through the dense woodland around Hartsdale today for blue-eyed 18-month-old Bobby Connor, feared kidnapped.

Authorities said they were convinced the child, missing since 6 o'clock last night, was being held for ransom. He is the son of Chas. H. Connor, mortgage banker and the grandson of Charles A. Connor, wealthy retired New England clothier.

Bloodhounds failed to pick up the trail of the child last reported seen while playing near the home of his parents in exclusive Hartsdale manor. Society folk left their dinner parties to join the hunt which was pushed through the night with flashlights and lanterns.

Police expressed belief that an itinerant peddler who had called at the Connor home yesterday afternoon figured in the kidnapping. They said he talked with the child's mother there shortly before the child's absence was discovered.

TAR BABIES BUMP KINSTON FOR SHUTOUT

Tarboro, N. C., July 13.—Jack Jenkins, Tarboro youth and Davidson College athlete, held Kinston's league-leaders to three hits and the locals edged a 2 to 0 victory here yesterday afternoon in a speedy game played before a capacity crowd.

Jenkins had Bunn Hearn's colleagues thoroughly in check throughout. A double by Hayworth was the only extra-base knock among the three Kinston hits, which came in the second, fourth and eighth innings. It was the first time this season that Kinston had been white-washed.

The victory was the third of the season for Tarboro in league play and was the first in thirteen starts. Olin Perritt, who took over management of the local club last Saturday, today made his debut as a player—and he had been a good hand in the win. He handled Jenkins' pitches nicely and helped on offense with a double and a single. Perritt's double came in the second and sent home Lawrence, who had singled.

Tarboro's other runs came in the third when Collenberger doubled and Bill Croom singled.

Lawrence, Tarboro shortstop, stole the show on defense. He made many fine plays and capped the day's work with two stellar plays in the ninth inning. Irwin, rival shortstop, featured Kinston's defensive play.

Clearly, with two singles, tied Perritt for battling honors for the locals. Tarboro made nine hits against the pitching of Davie Phisloc, University of Maryland ace. Tatum caught for Kinston.

AYDEN TOPS SNOW HILL

Ayden, N. C., July 13.—Ayden defeated full control of second place by defeating Snow Hill, 8 to 7, here yesterday afternoon.

Home runs accounted for three-fourths of the locals' scores and helped to send Doug Johnson off to an early 7 to 0 lead. Faust Johnson hit a homer with one on in the third, and Stephenson hit for the circuit with three on in the next inning—an inning which saw the departure from the mound of Bill Herring, Wake Forest College slab ace. Herring had been pitching for Williamston in the Albemarle League and yesterday's start was his first for Snow Hill.

Snow Hill outdid the locals, 12 to 8, but the visitors also led in errors, 6 to 2.

Tuberville, Knowles and Stephenson, each with two hits, led Ayden's attack. Turk made three hits to lead Snow Hill. Gaylord, former Williamston player, and Griffin ranked next, each getting two safeties. Perry hit a homer for the visitors.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 13.—(AP)—The principal question in most financial markets today was, "Where do we go from here, and with no immediate answer forthcoming prices generally displayed irregular trend.

Further heaviness in rails based partially on declining car-loadings, the pension controversy and prospects of a campaign for higher freight rates tended to depress the stock list.

The one note of encouragement was that the declining movement was accompanied by extremely dull trading which indicated to the bullish sector that many shareholders were not overly anxious.

Rails lead generally in the last hour. Transfers were 550,000 shares.
