OLSON TAKES PHYSICAL CHARGE IN NORTH DAKOTA

French Premier Averts End Of Cabinet In Quick Move

DOUMERGUE SAYS 'BOYS MUST BE GOOD'

Tells Former Premiers and Party Leaders That Controversy in Stavisky Scandal Must Be Limited to Tardieu And Chautemps; Resignation of Herriot and Other Radical Socialists Threatened

Paris, July 15. (AP)—Premier Gaston Doumergue was believed to have averted the wreck of his cabinet today by spreading the word, "The boys must be good."

The veteran statesman made a lightning decision at a railroad station last night and sent his friends to tell former Premiers Andre Tardieu, Edouard Herriot and Camille Chautemps and party leaders that Tardieu's charges that Chautemps and radical Socialists knew the late Serge Stavisky was swindling the country must be limited to a controversy between Tardieu and Chautemps without involving parties.

Resignation of Herriot and other radical Socialists from the cabinet was threatened because of Tardieu's charges which they claimed broke the political truce under which the Doumergue cabinet was created in grave days of last February.

Doumergue then boarded a train for a vacation, smiling as ever, and refusing any comment on cabinet friction.

Because he has the whip hand threat of dissolution of Parliament for which deputies are not ready, Doumergue is expected to maintain the truce between the parties.

FIRE DESTROYS LUMBER MILL

Loss of $20,000 Sustained by Woodward Lumber Company at Farmville

Farmville, N. C., July 19.—With a high wind blowing from a favorable direction and assistance from the Greenville Fire Department, local firemen succeeded last night in controlling flames which at one time threatened to destroy the entire plant of the Farmville Woodward Lumber Company, situated just beyond the town limits.

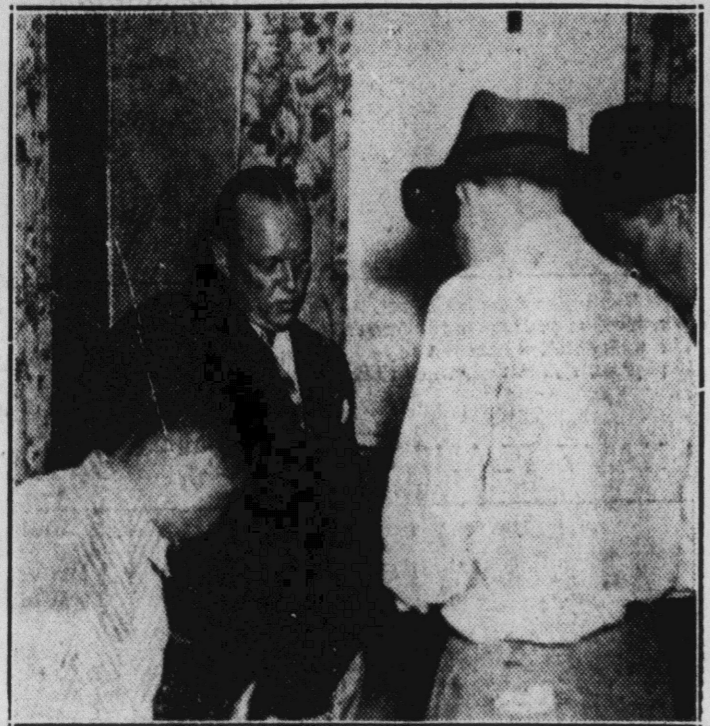

The mill was in operation when fire was discovered in the dry kiln about 3 o'clock. The flames gained headway rapidly and the fire forces were handicapped by lack of adjacent hydrants. A bucket brigade was formed to supplement the hose in use, and firemen, together with mill employees, battled desperately for more than two hours in intense heat before the flames showed signs of being checked.

Glowing heaps of ashes twenty feet high mark the racks where an estimated 500,000 feet of the finest pine and gum were piled, representing a loss which will run into several thousand dollars. There is between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 feet of dressed lumber on the grounds, the safety of which depends altogether on the prevailing winds of the next twelve hours.

Regarded as one of the most progressive industries of its kind in this section, catering to wholesale and retail trade, the Farmville mill is one of four plants owned by this firm, the others being located at Mount Olive, Hobgood and Williamson. R. L. Woodward, of Suffolk, Va., is president, and G. S. Vought, of Farmville, vice-president and manager of the local plant, which employs 130 men when in full operation.

The damage was estimated at between $15,000 and $20,000.

CANNING FULL L. A. STOCKS SWING IN PITT BURIED TODAY

Hundreds of Pantries Being Stocked With Food For Coming of Winter

Emergency canning operations were under way at full swing in Pitt County today with indications that housewives in rural and urban districts will have plenty in their pantries this fall and winter to keep the bad, bad wolf from their doors.

From the office of K. T. Futrell, Federal Emergency Relief Director of this county, came word that canning operations were being carried to four hundred homes.

In Greenville and Farmville proper canning plants were operating at full blast with indications they would suspend operations sometime in September. Canning plants were conducted in the two centers last year and hundreds of families took advantage of the opportunity to put their surplus crops in cans to wait the coming of winter and the wolf which barked viciously around their doors three or four years previously.

With the Roosevelt administration bringing better times to the nation the wolf has been put on the jump, and today was hibernating in some far removed district ready to hit the trail at the first opportunity. But if Mr. Roosevelt has his way, and he seems to be having it as Washington and throughout the nation, recurrence of the depression is not going to happen during his administration, and people are going to continue jingling money in their jeans, although some so far have found the amount small but comforting.

It was impossible to say how many cans had been put on the shelves to take care of any emergency which may arise this winter owing to the fact that no definite check has been made, but the end of September is expected to see hundreds of well-stocked pantries with enough food to feed the community—or those who depend entirely upon emergency succor to take care of them.

Lift Suspension Of Fund For Power Project in S. C.

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—The Public Works Administration has lifted the suspension of its $2,767,000 allotment to Greenwood County S. C. for construction of a power project on the Saluda river, which had been strongly protested by the Duke Power Company.

The company challenged the cost of the development and said it would employ only one mill to obtain cheap power. Duke University and other institutions operated from funds of the Duke Foundation, deriving its income largely from the Duke Company, which also entered protest.

BUSINESS IS RESUMED IN 'FRISCO AREA

Walkout Gives Indications of Collapsing Under Federal Pressure

San Francisco, Calif., July 19.—(AP)—Wheels of business in San Francisco's metropolitan area moved again today under leaden brakes of a general strike.

Under pressure from Federal, State and county agents the general walkout gave indications of collapsing rapidly.

The State strategy committee of Alameda County in which 500,000 of the area's 1,300,000 residents reside, announced a vote would be taken at Oakland tonight on a proposal to end the strike.

Resumption of East Bay transportation service controlled by the Key Route system, including its ferry boats on the bay, employing a total of 900 men, was announced tomorrow by the carmen's strike committee meeting with officials of the company.

More street cars rolled through San Francisco streets. Shops reopened and food and gasoline business appeared normal apparently without hindrance while officials remained alert for danger signals.

The Pacific Coast maritime strike, key issue of the walkout in San Francisco bay cities, remained a problem which officials admitted still was loaded with dynamite.

NO HOPE OF ENDING MILL STRIKE SOON

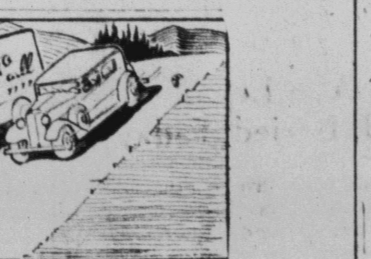

Over Twenty Thousand Men Away From Textile Mill Looms Today

Huntsville, Ala., July 19.—(AP)—Twenty-four mills were closed and an estimated 20,400 workers were away from their looms today as the textile strike entered its third day with no immediate settlement in sight.

Throughout the area the situation was quiet. In only one place, Florence, were additional police called out as pickets prevented an attempt to have merchandise moved from Gardner-Warring Knitting Mill. The pickets placed cross-ties on railroad tracks to stop cars loaded with food.

The total closed plants last night, the total closed plants last night, Pickets were placed before the Oxford plant of the Southern Mills Corporation while other employees were at work and issued an order to close the mills.

DRIVE CAREFULLY TODAY

PASS TRUCKS SAFELY

"Clear vision ahead for a safe distance" is always a good rule to remember and obey when overtaking and passing motor vehicles on the highway. It applies particularly in passing large heavy trucks and buses where the normal range of vision is less and the pick-up of the vehicle you wish to pass is slow. The safest way to pass large heavy vehicles is when they are on the down-grade, giving you clear vision ahead so that you may properly look out for and judge approaching traffic.

Over Hundred Perish During Polish Floods

Warsaw, Poland, July 19.—(AP)—Bodies of 120 victims of raging floods in southern Poland have been recovered; an official report said today, with 189 missing and believed to have perished.

A new flood menace was feared at Crecor where crests of water from the mountain regions roared down into the villages. More than 500,444 were without food and shelter as swollen rivers continued to leave their banks after days of continuous rain.

TEN BOMBING PLANES BOUND FOR ALASKA

Flight Squadron of Air Corps to Fly 8,000 Miles and Return Home

Washington, D. C., July 19.—(AP)—Ten bombing planes comprising the Alaska flight squadron of the Army corps hopped off from Bolling Field at 10 a. m. today for Dayton on the first leg of the 8,000-mile flight to Alaska and return.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt were among the 500 gathered at the field to waive the thirty airmen farewell.

Just before the take-off Major-General Benjamin F. Ladd, chief of the Air Corps, wished Lieutenant-Colonel Arnold, flight commander, good luck.

"Let us show our people in Alaska," he said, "that while thousands of miles separate them from the parent country, only a few days intervened between a possible emergency and arrival of a powerful air defense."

County Home Sets Record For Big Spuds

The County Home, which has distinguished itself the last several years in the production of bumper crops of abnormally large vegetables, came out today with the information that the largest "spud" so far heard of in this section have been produced on the county farm.

The statement was made by J. O. Harris, farm superintendent, who backed up his assertion by presenting The Daily Reflector with thirty "spuds" tipping the scales at 30 pounds.

Mr. Harris last year raised some of the largest sweet potatoes ever seen in the section. They were so large that samples were sent to West Virginia and Tennessee and placed on display in banks.

The farm not only claims a record in the production of potatoes, but raised tremendous cabbage, one of the largest weighing 14 3-4 pounds. Five thousand cabbage comprised the crop, a considerable number being canned for County Home use.

SPECIAL MEETING OF ASSEMBLY IS CALLED OFF

Olson Immediately Issues Proclamation At Statehouse Calling Off Meeting of Solons Called by Langer; Adjutant General Searles Announces He Will Stand by Olson

Bismarck, N. D., July 19.—(AP)—Lieutenant-Governor Ole H. Olson, acting governor, took physical charge of the chief executive's office at 10 o'clock (Central Time) today.

He merely walked into the office accompanied by two friends. National Guardsmen at the same time were posted in the corridors of the State-house. There was no disturbance.

Olson immediately posted a proclamation in the corridors of the State-house revoking a special session of the State Legislature called by William Langer, ousted governor. Doors of the two assemblies were locked. National Guardsmen were posted in the corridors, but were not before the executive's office at the time Olson appeared.

Adjutant-General Earle Searles, who announced he would stand behind Olson, was in his office downstairs at the time.

ENCAMPMENT DATE CHANGED

National Guardsmen To Go To Fort Bragg August 5 Instead of The 12

J. Herbert Waldrop, Commander of Battery A, 113th Field Artillery of North Carolina National Guards, announced this morning he had received word from General J. Van Metts stating that the date for the annual encampment of the guardsmen at Fort Bragg had been changed from August 12 to August 5.

Commander Waldrop said that in view of this information the local battery would leave at 1:45 p. m., August 5, and return August 19.

He said the change in date was made on account of the opening of the tobacco markets, and to give those in the battery connected with industry a chance to take their place when the annual rush gets under way.

The commander also announced that J. Howard Moye would accompany the guardsmen to camp where he will be commissioned a second lieutenant to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation several months ago of C. W. Porter who moved to another part of the State.

The local unit is going through regular drill work now in preparation for the encampment period. High honors were won by the unit during the last several years, and an effort will be made to maintain the distinction, Commander Waldrop said.

Late News Flashes

Farmers Behind Langer. Bismarck, N. D., July 19.—(AP)—A truck load of members of the North Dakota Farmers Holiday Association, whose forces stand behind William Langer, ousted governor, came into Bismarck today.

The party consisted of 22 farmers from Lamoure county. They said additional truck loads were on the way. The men were noncommunicative about their purpose but said they planned to drive to the state capital.

They arrived in the city as reports spread that sympathizers with Langer were head in readiness over the state.

The North Dakota House of Representatives, in defiance of Lieutenant-Governor Ole Olson's proclamation, revoking a special session of the legislature, convened at 12:03 o'clock today. A quorum of the House was declared present with 57 members answering the roll call and 56 absent.

The Senate convened a few moments later.

LEAF CURING AT FULL SWING

Pitt County Growers Getting Tobacco in Shape For Market Opening

The most monumental task facing Pitt County farmers annually—curing of the bright leaf tobacco crop—was in full swing today in all sections of the county.

The odor of curing leaf may be noted along every highway of the county, and in many instances barns fully fired up, may be seen by the thousands of motorists passing along the highways at night.

Although the crop this year will not be as large as that of the previous season, the outlook for good quality is as good as it has been in years, and farmers who spend nights at their barns keeping heat at proper temperatures, were looking forward eagerly to the opening of the market in August.

The shortage of the crop is the result of the government crop curtailment to boost prices and relieve the congested condition of the world market. With the parity price boosted to 22 cents a pound this year growers were hopeful of realizing as much jack from their efforts as during the past year, if not more.

After signing the government contract calling for 70 per cent of base acreage of former crops, the planters were later given the opportunity of increasing their crop 10 per cent. As planting had been completed in this county only a few, if any, growers took advantage of the opportunity. They were content to abide by the terms of the original contract and take the boost in prices demanded by the government in exchange for its efforts to reduce production.

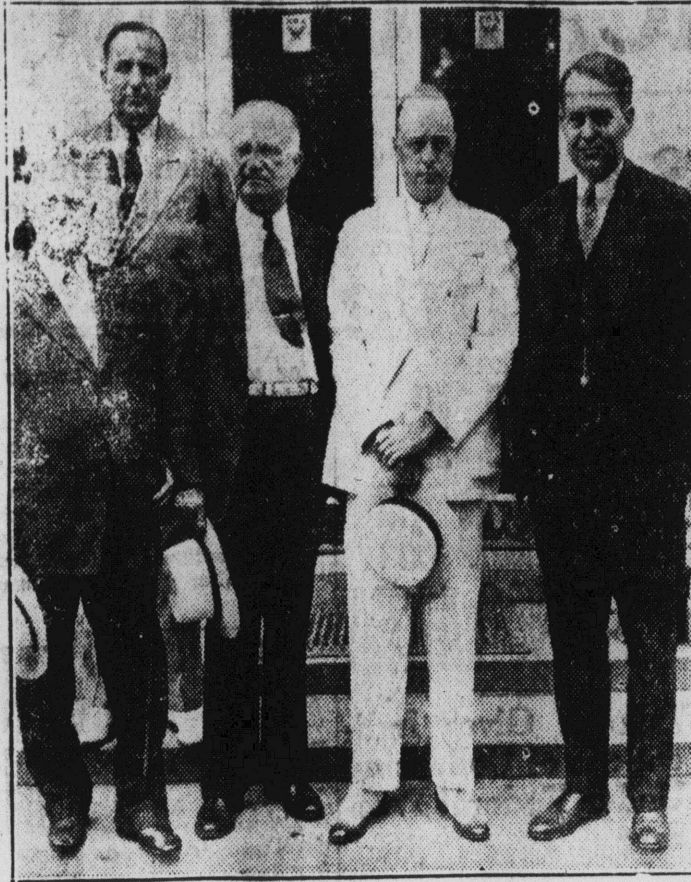

Curing will be about finished when the market swings open, and acreage measuring operations now under way in all communities by government supervisors is expected to be completed in time for the growers to get right with the government and begin hauling their tobacco to market.

Medicine's 'Silent Partners' Risk Lives To Fight Disease

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor) New York.—(AP)—Four New York physicians, submitting to the scratch of infantile paralysis vaccine needles, have joined a dramatic but unnumbered company of doctors who have volunteered their own bodies for experiment—the "silent partners" of medical discovery.

The New Yorkers are trying one of the first paralysis vaccines to be used on human beings. Heretofore such vaccination has been too dangerous and doubtful for anything except animals. They say they are taking no risks, that it's nothing to talk about.

That phrase—"nothing to talk about"—pictures the whole company, past and present, and the sort of courage they possess, a bravery that does without boasting. Although medical men say there have been thousands of such self-experiments, medical literature runs true to form—it doesn't record them any better than the physicians themselves.

Search of the great library of the New York Academy of Medicine failed to produce even one comprehensive printed list of such heroes. Fielding H. Gardner's history of medicine listed twenty names as medical martyrs, beginning with Servetus, who died in 1553, not from his experiments, but for his opinions. He discovered the blood relationship between heart and lungs.

He was on the staff of Walter Reed in Cuba, at Las Animas Hospital, where a small group felt certain the mosquito carried the infection. Lazaer saw a mosquito in a yellow fever ward light on his hand. He did not brush it off, but let it bite. Five days later he came down with a fatal case of yellow fever.

'ARMY' DRIVE PUSHED TODAY

Salvation Army Workers Attempt to Raise Emergency Fund for Work Here

Representatives of the Salvation Army hit the long, long trail today in their Emergency Dollar Drive in an effort to save the local organization from going out of business. A canvass was to be made in the business district during the day and Captain Stradford, vigorous young worker who recently took over the work here, expressed hope the public would contribute liberally to the cause.

The drive is the result of failure to raise last year's budget. The Army has been working on a mere pittance the last several months.

Captain Stradford said he and his wife, who served with distinction in several other cities, were here to render service to humanity and expected to go out in the byways and hedges and carry the Word of the Bible in addition to physical relief for those suffering from want.

With a tremendous influx of new residents here, the Army leader said work of his organization this winter would be in demand more than ever, and he hoped to be able to take care of the situation with the emergency fund until the time rolls around for the next budget campaign.

Contributions of $1.00 are asked of the citizenship, and the names of those who contribute will be published in the columns of The Daily Reflector.

One of the first negro millionaires in the world was R. R. Church, boss of Beale Street, Memphis.

During extremely hot weather in New York City, city officials noted an increase in mortality.

We are still hoping that

Tobacco curing is in pro-

reports from every sec-

the crop, from a qual-

years. With the curtailed production and the exceptional quality this year there could be no trouble in getting that hoped for 25 cents per pound average price.

How did you enjoy your vacation?" we asked a Greenville citizen who has returned from a tour of several states. "Fine," he replied, "and the most pleasant part of it was that in the states through which I passed I did not have to bother with paying a sales tax and likewise found gasoline prices much lower than at home." Such a reply as this makes us wonder just what citizens think of our state when passing through it and how they have to add several dollars to each purchase they make in the state and how they have to pay from two to five cents more for gasoline here than in other states. Of course, there is nothing we can do about the sales tax until the Legislature meets ernor would do well to push the promised investigation of the gasoline price situation in North Carolina.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington, D. C.—(AP)—It's been nearly two years since members of Congress returned from a tour of inspection, spotting branches that interlace too much, and perhaps marking the trunks that promise good timber. If any smoke, presaging an industrial forest fire, is sighted on the horizon, he is to wig-wag to the men than a very painful headache.

Yet during their campaigns this summer and fall, they must talk intelligently about each one.

'New Deal' Catechism
Here's how Marvin Jones of Texas, chairman of the House Agricultural Committee, and the man who steered most of this type of legislation through that body came to the rescue of his colleagues.
He has put out what may be called the "Jones Catechism" or "What the 'New Deal' Means to the Farmers of America." He has made it available to all members of Congress.

In convenient question-and-answers form, the Congressman stumped by a constituent's query only has to turn to this document to find an instant answer. It covers the whole field from farm finances to the scaling down of the farmer's debts.
For instance, suppose he is asked "What will the farmers receive in benefit payments from the government by the end of the present year?" He has only to turn to the "Jones Catechism" to find "It is estimated they will receive $750,000-800."

The questions and answers run the whole gamut of "new deal" agricultural policies.
And this sort of thing is not confined to agriculture alone.

Friendly, tall and large, with a broad, tolerant grin, Richberg brings to the job the diplomatic, conciliatory and administrative talents which he has displayed in more than a year as general counsel of NRA.
An erudite and polished orator, on occasion he has proved to be almost as apt as General Johnson at

"Hard boiled" on occasion, he nevertheless has a flair for poesy, rang-

He Also Writes Books
Of known progressive tendencies when he came to NRA, Richberg has been accused in public prints on the same day of having "turned conservative" and of fomenting revolution.

As general counsel it has been his task to go over with a fine-tooth comb and a magnifying glass more than 400 NRA codes for legal loopholes and "jokers."
Born at Knoxville, Tenn., July 19, 1881, Richberg is a product of the University of Chicago and Harvard.
He has practiced law since 1904 at Chicago, much of that time representing railway unions. But he also was a special assistant states attorney in Chicago from 1913 to 1915, and in 1915 was the Republican nominee for judge of circuit court.
He was chairman of the resolutions committee of the progressive national convention at Cleveland in 1924 when the late Robert M. La Follette was nominated for President. He has written a few books, among them, "Tents of the Mighty"
and "In the Dark."

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES
Win Back Pep...Vigor...Vitality
Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.
If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.
If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait.
Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.
But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable reflect that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

NINE ARE INJURED IN COLLISION OF TRUCKS

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 19.—(AP)—Rumors of mangled bodies being taken from a wreck at the city limits were cleared up here when it was learned that Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Culler, of High Point (904 Sixth Street) and their seven children were painfully but not seriously injured when their truck was struck driven by Coleman Hicks. The Culler truck contained a load of canned blackberries and other fruit, and the seven children were plentifully and graciously smeared with juice when ambulances arrived.

The injured were removed to a High Point hospital where it was said all were suffering from cuts and bruises. Hicks was charged by police with reckless driving.

SPLITTE MARRIAGE

SYNOPSIS: Marsha marries Bob because the man she thought she really loved, Geoffrey Taylor, had she believed, married another girl. But Marsha suddenly realizes that she loves Bob far more deeply than she had. Geoffrey Taylor calls and she confesses the truth about her marriage—which Bob overhears. Now they are headed back to New York and divorce.

He shifted in the taxicab. She fumbled for her handkerchief; he saw her search her bag. Was she crying? No, thank heaven. Just a dab at one corner of her eye. A cinder, perhaps, or dust. Again he stared ahead.

Outside, Fifth Avenue was cloaked in her most becoming dress. Dusk made the air hazy and soft. Lights, which would grow harsh in another hour or two, shrill from being backed by black, were now gentle looking as if they hung behind layers of moist, brown-gray chiffon.

Motors, which were sumptuous in the light of day, now became huge shooting things with flashing eyes, or, brilliantly lit frames from which women in velvet cloaks, or soft fur wraps, looked indolently out upon the passing throng.

The buses, those lumbering elephants of traffic, stopped at curbs, then, after a heavy jerk or two, went ponderously on.

People hurried. It was the going out and the getting home hour. And the faces of most held the look of happiness and expectation. The air, which was crisp, added to the feeling, and so, to the picture.

BOB absorbed it stupidly. Through his absorption beat the chilling consciousness that he was seeing all along the coast, being one of only two along the entire Atlantic seaboard that extends east and west and thus face the prevailing breezes, says Mr. Ferrell. In mentioning the many decided facilities of the resort its lack of undertow is also a decided advantage, he says.

This section of East Carolina should have a remarkable expansion, with limitless possibilities in the next few years, Mr. Ferrell believes, calling attention to the authorized $2,000,000 port developments at Morehead City, the removal of tolls from the beach bridge and causeway, and the restoration of historic Fort Macon with completion of a new shore State highway the three miles there from the beach causeway.

Chapter 22 CLOW TORTURE

BOB sat back on a raised paper, which Marsha knew he did not read, as they went by train to town.

Durham, his mother's chauffeur, would come for the maids and see that the car was taken to town, Bob had said; Marsha knew that he did not trust himself to drive.

Their start had been early; so much had happened in so short a time! They would reach New York in early evening, when people, for the most part happy people, hurried to theatres. Bob had not eaten lunch, Marsha realized and with worry. That she also had not eaten, was a fact she did not consider.

He lowered his paper. Her heart beat hard, sickeningly. He leaned toward her chair.

"My mother is sensitive," he be-

Was she crying? A cinder, perhaps.

gan, "feels atmospheres intensely, you know. So I feel it would be best for us to put up at some hotel for a few days, and until affairs are somewhat-adjusted. I don't want her troubled, worried."

"No, of course not." "I'll evade explanation for the present. Then when the matter is decided, our course of action, I mean, I'll tell her the truth."

Marsha said nothing; he glanced once into her eyes. They hurt him anew; the hurt was a pin prick in numbed flesh. She was probably sorry to have knocked him as she must know she had, he decided.

"He heard her say 'Bob'—in a muted, frightened way that made her seem a child. Yet again he lowered the paper. 'Where are we going?' she asked.

"I don't know. Would Murray Hall suit you? It's quiet. We want to avoid seeing people we know, of course."

Her chin raised, her face stiffened. "It will suit me as well as anywhere," she answered.

SHE stared then from a misted window and upon a darkening world. In their many talks Bob had told her of how he, with his mother, had often stopped at that hotel while the house was being opened or closed, or refurbished and of how, there, there was a reassuring feeling of solidity and of old New York and of years lived well.

There was irony in stopping there. But she realized that cruelty had had no part in his naming of the place; that he was incapable of such cruelty. He had mentioned it because he knew it well; because the stricken, dulled, grasp blindly, the first suggestion that is near to hand.

Bob was conscious of a dull anger at himself as they rode up town. He should have thought of where they would put up; it was awkward to her; where they headed. Yet what difference? Nothing could change, lighten or intensify the situation. It had its bold, black, solid form.

that he had aungered for, for months, and that it didn't matter. The hour was one which he, a trifle ashamed of his want for home and his love of it, had when an expatriate remembered constantly.

Small flashes of home had come upon him at odd times, sometimes while he wrote reports and made his requirements to the New York office.

Then in the candle flame he would see a wavering picture, and through it feel the cold air. And that had made the pull. The pull to get back; to feel it, smell it, love it. And he had come, and then Marsha; and he hadn't seen or felt anything else, and now—

Well, it was almost over, and he would go back to his work, carrying a new set of thoughts—he could not call them dreams—and the crippling burden of disillusionment.

"We're almost there," he heard, and answered with "Yes."

"What were you smiling at?" she ventured timidly.

"I was thinking of a chap I had on a small job near Chihuahua; he used to spend his evenings waiting for those big spiders that come so thickly at some seasons, and when they ventured out, he used to pour candle grease on them which he kept hot for the purpose in a saucer. They were nailed down in that way all over the floor. I almost broke my neck from skidding across the place."

"How ghastly!" "Oh, I don't know. It is less ghastly than some of the things men do when they are alone too much and too far from home."

"Yes I know, and appetites and dissipation one can understand. But that sort of thing—" She hoped he would go on. It was the first time he had talked with her; it made her swallow convulsively, and she had to clasp her hands in order to keep them where they belonged.

Beach Lots For Sale at Morehead

Atlantic Beach, N. C., July 19.—The Atlantic Beach Sales Corporation has just been organized, with headquarters at the beach, near Morehead City, for the purpose of selling lots on the resort property.

J. W. Ferrell, of Petersburg, Va., well-known through this section and extensively experienced in real estate work, is president of the new company, with W. L. Long, of Raleigh and Roanoke Rapids, as vice-president; M. D. Goodrich, of Petersburg, vice-president, and S. R. Geasley, of Petersburg, secretary.

The company has already erected a headquarters office on the beach and has started operations, taking over the sales end of the resort work from Robert W. Gordon, beach manager for the Manufacturers Trust Company, chief stockholder in the beach-owning company.

During the past 45 days new cottages have been built at the beach. Mr. Ferrell states, and many other lots have already been sold. He predicts that the resort will be extensively built up by next year, as lights, water and other utilities are available at the same rates as in Morehead City without any city taxes.

KINSTON LICKS THE 'FIRE' OUT LISTLESS BUGS

Bunny Hearn's Kinston Dynamiters came over to Greenville yesterday with their bats loaded with high explosive and licked the fire out of Greenville, although the Bugs looked as if they didn't have much fire to be extinguished.

The final score, dear lover of the national sport, was Kinston 7, Greenville 2.

Foxy Bunn Hearn sent his crack slab ace, Fletcher, of the University of North Carolina, to the mound and the lad had the locals virtually feeding from his right hand all during the game. In fact, it looked as if he planned to goose-egg the Bugs until the ninth frame when a belated batting rally by the locals resulted in two runners reaching the home plate. Prior to that only one man had reached as far as the third corner.

Against the Kinston ace the Bugs pitted Taylor—not Roger of local fame—but an unknown quantity who allowed the visitors one run in the first frame and three in the fourth that sent him to the showers. To the mound went no other than Bobby Forbes, who managed to get through the rest of the fracas with three runs chalked up against him.

Kinston batted the fire out of both hurlers with Dean and May, Greenville first-water moundsmen, resting their carcasses in the dugout watching the Bugs get what little fire they had in them converted into ashes.

Bunny Hearn's boys really made the local club look like it was standing still. It was a poor exhibition of batting and fielding by the Bugs for the fifteen hundred or more half holiday fans who spent their good money to see the exhibition.

Bunny Hearn seemed satisfied the way his boys batted the apple about the lot, featuring two triples and a similar number of doubles, to bring the total hits to ten, while Greenville collected seven feeble blows to the outfield, part of which enabled them to stave off the goose-egging in the ninth.

Hearn, who hung around coaching quarters on the third sack, responded to a number of jabs from the bleacherites, telling them they oughtn't to get sore because Kinston was in first place, that Greenville occupied the same position last season and crashed through with the pennant.

But three is a big difference between the first placers this season and the victorious aggregation that brought the flag to Greenville, and nobody realized it more to their sorrow than the boys in the bleachers and grandstand who took Bunny's backfire with shouts of laughter because they knew what he said was all too true.

Greenville went to Tarboro celtaric center this afternoon to try out the rejuvenated Tar Babies.

New York Cotton

New York, July 19.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to three points higher on commission house buying continued dry weather in Texas, profit-taking and Southern selling.

October contracts which had sold at 13.25 at the opening advanced to 13.35.

At the end of the first half-hour the market was steady and in a point or two of the best.

The failure of the early buying movement to send prices above yesterday's high levels encouraged reactionary sentiment later in the morning. Prices fell off to 13.14 for October and 13.25 for December. Offerings then tapered off and the market at midday was steady at slight rallies on the lowest.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 19.—(AP)—The stock market was a quiet and selective affair today with only an occasional buying or selling flurry to relieve the monotony of a creeping ticker tape.

Steel issues due to special influences edged into new high territory for the year to date and with a few others reflecting various uncertainties sold at bottom prices for 1934. Public participation was still a minimum and professional interests notably cool.

Early firmness of grain and cotton was succeeded by further realization in the staples.

The volume continued light with transfers of 600,000 shares.

Union Workers Strike.
Kenton, Ohio, July 19.—(AP)—Faced with reports of fresh outbreaks of violence in Harden county's strike of union workers, Sheriff Wilbur Mitchell today sought assistance of the Ohio national guard.

The sheriff said he was asking Governor George White to send troops in to the marshlands where the body of strikers has swelled to about 700.

Stinging tea gas bombs dispersed a crowd of a score of persons in the heart of Scioto union fields, and in the fracas four men were injured.

Murder Sweeps Germany.
New York, July 19.—(AP)—Johannes Steel, former German official to oppose the Reich because of his opposition to the Nazi program, said in a copyrighted story in the New York Post today that "A quiet wave of murder is sweeping the concentration camps of Germany."

The writer said that the inmates of the camps "have according to a secret order of General Goering (premier of Prussia) been cut off completely from the outside world."

"Their relatives," writes Steel, "have been without news from these prisoners for three weeks. It seems that massacres have taken place which are beyond human imagination."

"The toll of deaths has been put by absolutely reliable sources at no less than 2,000 men and women," Steel said.

"The army during the last week has been able to consolidate its position and the military dictatorship is complete. Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen at this moment is the man who runs everything. He has come out on top."

Steele says Hitler "is the absolute prisoner of the Reichwehr army which watches every move he makes and is waiting for the moment when Hitler's trustee has dissipated to such an extent he can be put away safely."
