European Nations Begin Negotiations To Insure Austria's Freedom From Germany; Premier Mussolini Says He Is Ready To Back Austria To Limit Against Nazis; Minister to Rome Slain; His Friends Arrested

Civil war flared in the Austrian province of Styria today while European powers began negotiations to insure Austria's freedom from a union with Germany.

France, through Premier Doregue, made a veiled threat that Austria must be kept free. Informal negotiations for a course of "sensible action" were begun by London, Paris and Rome.

ASSERTS CITY MUST CLEANUP

Chief Clark Declares Rank Growth of Vegetation Must Be Destroyed

The mayor isn't any too busy now and would enjoy a slight respite from twiddling his thumbs and putting additional gray hairs in his head talking to somebody with an axe or so to grind and don't know exactly why the instrument needs grinding, and will handle weed violators not any too easy.

Chief Clark, who is in charge of keeping the city in a tidy condition, while not "looking over pretty girls at the beaches," issued an ultimatum several days ago, declaring that all weeds had to be cut down for the sake of health as well as civic pride.

He said this morning the "big boys" were co-operating in a highly commendable manner, but that the "big boys" have shown a disinclination to do anything about it.

It has always been this way with "big boys," but the chief said both large and small must do the city's bidding—and not wait too long about doing it.

Weeds are the best breeding places in the world for mosquitoes, the chief said, and as the tiny pests always go around with their "snouts" loaded with malaria, it is to the best interest of the community to eliminate them as far as possible.

The chief said he would tolerate no "monkey business" in the weed destruction campaign, and urged all citizens who have not done their part to get busy and do so before they are carried before the mayor to receive his rebuke and whatever else he deems necessary to bring into play.

Late News Flashes

Nazi Movement Smashed. Vienna, July 26.—(AP)—A new Austrian government today smashed at the Nazis who yesterday assassinated Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, driving armed rebel forces out of the province of Styria into Yugoslavia.

Government troops marched into Rattersburg, Styria without opposition in the later afternoon after the Nazis who had held the town for 24 hours decided their cause was lost. Hundreds of Nazis fled across the bridge into Yugoslavia and surrendered to the authorities there.

Fighting was continuing in the province and 15 men of the government forces alone were known to be dead.

MAN NABBED IN DILLINGER CASE KILLED

James Probasco Jumps To His Death From 19th Story Window Into Alley

Chicago, Ill., July 26.—(AP)—Brought to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for questioning in connection with the Dillinger case, James Probasco, 67, a West Side resident, committed suicide today by jumping from a nineteenth floor window into an alley below.

S. P. Cowley, in charge of the Bureau in the absence of Melvin H. Purvis, said the government had been informed that it was in Probasco's home at 2509 North Crawford Avenue that Dillinger had his face lifted in an operation performed.

No one could be found who witnessed the leap, but the body landed in an alley near Adams Street. It narrowly missed a pedestrian and was badly mangled.

Deputy Coroner A. J. Brody ordered police to remove the body to an undertaking establishment.

Mr. Freeman said their full line of auto parts had, not yet arrived, but they are expected any day now, and the firm will be in position to render extensive service in this connection.

The manager said it was the purpose of the firm to always render quick and satisfactory service and this was promised to everybody taking their needs to the company.

TOBACCO CODE EXPLAINED BY CODE LEADER

J. C. Lanier Warns Warehousemen That Code Must Be Adhered to Strictly

Failure of tobacco warehousemen to abide by the auction and loose leaf tobacco code recently approved by President Roosevelt might result in government control of the warehouse industry, J. C. Lanier of Greenville, loose leaf code administrator, told members of the Eastern Carolina Tobacco Warehousemen's Association and their employees at a meeting in Wilson yesterday.

Mr. Lanier's address, one of several to be made to warehousemen in all loose leaf belts between now and the opening of the season, was purely of an interpretative character, setting forth provisions of the code under which warehouses will operate and what is expected of the warehousemen.

Numbers of Greenville warehousemen attended the session and like scores of others, listened in rapt attention to the Greenville lawyer who a year ago was named an expert in the tobacco division of the United States Department of Agriculture and then was given a ten months' leave of absence to administer the code.

Mr. Lanier made no bones about the importance of the code to the success of the industry from the standpoint of fair trade practices, wages, etc., and urged his hearers to fully inform themselves concerning the provisions and be in position to administer them immediately upon opening of the market.

Regarding the administrator's reliance to the code itself, the Wilmington Times said in part:

"Mr. Lanier made an earnest appeal to those present to see that the code was enforced to the full, and asserted that if this was not done or derelictions became numerous it might result in government control of all warehouses of the industry."

What the warehousemen must most closely do to carry out their part, Mr. Lanier stated, included:

"1—See that all scales were perfectly balanced and have them certified by competent men.

"2—See that all baskets on trucks which weigh an average of 14 pounds shall not weigh over 15 pounds or under 13 pounds.

"3—Make a sealed weight test daily on units up to 25 pounds.

"4—All employees who weigh tobacco to be licensed by NRA.

"5—Only 360 piles of tobacco an hour may be sold as against some previous hourly sales of 500 piles.

"6—Wage scales of common laborer to be 8 hours a day, 40 hours a week maximum—this for those earning less than $35 a week.

"7—Wage scale for clerks, 40 hours a week, 8 hours a day, with preferential permission for 12 hours daily in some cases.

"Explaining he was not talking officially, Mr. Lanier stated there was no conflict he had heard of over the code and he assured Mr. Lanier the manifest would be fully observed in Eastern North Carolina."

"Mr. Lanier also discussed the Kerr market act briefly with respect to government regulation of planting, and the collection of tax by the warehousemen. He will always welcome complaints, he said."

LABOR OKAYS EFFORT TO END TWO WALKOUTS

Harbor Activity Again Thrives On Pacific Coast; Chicago Strike Near End

Chicago, Ill., July 26.—(AP)—Labor lent its approval today to proposals for settlement of two major strikes.

Harbor activity thrived on the Pacific Coast where the President's Mediation Board formulated conditions for the return to work of 12,000 striking longshoremen who voted four to one to arbitrate their differences with employers.

Eight hundred Chicago livestock handlers approved a plan to end their walkout, and efforts were redoubled to dispose of the glut of sun-stricken animals as officials of the union stock yards and transit company pondered the proposal.

Four thousand National Guards stood ready to enforce military rules on the Minneapolis strike front today unless truck drivers and their employers didn't adjust their differences. Federal mediators offered stipulations and called for an immediate settlement.

A conference with representatives of the National Labor Board was held today at Hopewell, Va., where the Tubize Chatillon Corporation announced it would close its rayon yarn producing plant, third largest in the nation, because of a strike.

The threatened strike of 30,000 aluminum workers at Pittsburgh was forestalled as negotiations between workers and the aluminum company of America were put over to August 3.

GET $50,000 JUDGMENT AGAINST W. J. BYERLY

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 26.—(AP)—A judgment for $50,000.00 against W. J. Byerly, formerly of Mt. Airy, now of Winston-Salem, was recorded in the office of the clerk of Superior Court here today.

An assessment in this sum was made as the result of the failure of the Bank of Mount Airy, in which Byerly was the principal stockholder. The bank failed to open after the bank holiday last year, and is now in a process of liquidation.

The judgment was handed down in Surry Superior Court at the instance of Gurney P. Hood, State Bank Commissioner.

PREPARE FOR OPENING POOL COMING WEEK

Henry Rivers, Engineer, Says Finishing Touches Being Put On Project Now

The citizenship today had the authoritative word of Henry L. Rivers, in charge of construction of the local municipal swimming pool, that the structure would be completed sometime next week and thrown open to a long-suffering public.

It has been stated from time to time the last several days that the pool would open the first of the month, but today was the first time that the authority in charge of construction has so much as parted his lips concerning the matter, and in the parlance of the small boy on the streets: "He didn't talk with his mouth wide open then."

Mr. Rivers said the pool proper had been completed and finishing touches were being put on the remainder of the project, including a wading pool for children, and the filtering plant, one of the most important features in connection with the sanitary safeguard to be thrown around swimmers.

The row of brick bath-houses also have been completed, the pool filled for tests, and hundreds of citizens, from the barefoot boy to hoary pioneers, have been on hand the last two days watching with keen interest the last-minute preparations for throwing the pool open to the public.

A natural park has been provided on the hillside of college property overlooking the pool, and in a short time now the park will be lighted and benches placed to take care of the hundreds expected to visit the recreational center at night to cool off and at the same time watch swimmers display their skill.

Under Federal supervision a playground will be provided for children of the city adjacent to the pool on and around the site of the old Model School. Supervisors, composed of members of the faculty of city schools, will be in charge of the playground, headed by Mrs. E. T. Roberson.

Two other playgrounds have been authorized for the county, one at Ayden and the other at Farmville, by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, and they are expected to play an important part in keeping children off the streets and safe from danger of congested traffic and detrimental influences.

DURHAM COUNTY TAX RATE 50 CENTS ON $100

Durham, July 26.—The Durham county commissioners set the tax rate at 50 cents per $100 valuation, approved appropriations for the fiscal year 1934-35 totaling $662,468.68 and tentatively voted to erase $155,764.40 off the tax books as uncollectable. The new tax rate is four cents below the figure for last year.

Of the total budget appropriations, $450,000 will be raised by ad valorem levy, leaving $212,468.68 to be raised by outside revenues. The tax rate is based on property valuations of $90,000,000. The total budget appropriation for the fiscal year 1933-1934 were $647,650.12.

On rainy days, the director said, all activities will be carried to the high school auditorium to protect the children from ill effects of inclement weather conditions.

Mrs. Roberson said carpenter's had been put to work building the playground. (Continued on page four)

PUSH WORK ON PLAYGROUND

Plans For Supervised Recreation Moving Along Smoothly Here Today

Preparations for the opening of the supervised playground for children of the city next Monday were moving along smoothly today, it was stated by Mrs. E. T. Roberson, who has been named directors of the recreational center here as well as those in Farmville and Ayden.

Mrs. Roberson said the property around the Model School and city park which will be used as the playground was being cleaned up and put in order today, and that everything would be ready Monday morning.

She said the wooded area of the college property which had been set aside for the recreational center would be used for story-telling and games, and that playground apparatus was being built in other sections of the property.

She said the high school auditorium would be used for all games and dance classes and that the ravine would be confined to baseball play.

On rainy days, the director said, all activities will be carried to the high school auditorium to protect the children from ill effects of inclement weather conditions.

WILL DEMAND AN AGREEMENT WITH BUYERS

Government Specialist Tells Oxford Audience That Tobacco Companies Agree Prices Will Be Above Parity Level; Large Increase In World Consumption Seen; Another Meeting To Talk Prices to Be Held Soon

Oxford, July 26.—(AP)—Present prospects for prices above the parity level for flue-cured tobacco of the 1934 crop are seen by representatives of domestic buyers of the golden weed, J. B. Hutson, chief of the tobacco section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, told North Carolina growers here today.

Mr. Hutson, Governor Ehringhaus of North Carolina and a number of agricultural experts spoke at the thirteenth annual field day exercises of the tobacco station experiment farm here.

The federal official, lauding the farmers for meeting their promise of last year and reducing production for 1934 nearly 100,000,000 pounds below the average world tobacco consumption level, sighted figures showing a general increase in tobacco consumption in recent months in most nations of the world.

World tobacco supplies are now about normal, he said.

"We discussed this situation fully with representatives of the domestic buyers in Washington on Tuesday of this week and also called their attention to your achievements in bringing about the reduced 1934 crop," Hutson said.

"We also indicated that we believed that a marketing agreement would make for the more orderly marketing of the current crop."

"So far as was indicated, they were in agreement as to the situation. They expressed the view that present prospects were for prices above the parity level and in view of this they questioned the advisability of entering into a marketing agreement with respect to prices."

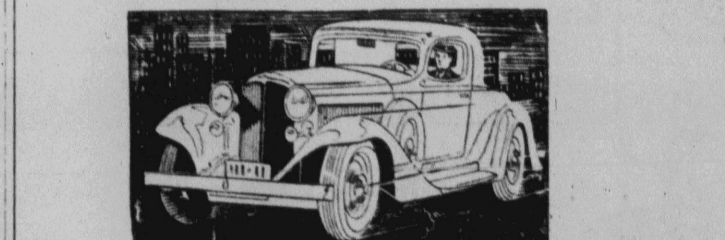

Another private meeting at which a committee of tobacco growers will meet with administration officials and buyers representatives will be held tomorrow," he said.

"The question had been raised as to the effects of higher prices upon the export trade," he continued. "Some feel that if prices are advanced substantially above the level prevailing in the latter half of last season some decrease in foreign consumption may take place."

"However, we are of the opinion, in view of the present exchange situation, that no marked decrease in consumption would take place with the price that would result in a total income as large for flue-cured tobacco growers this year as was received last year."

"With the crop of 527,000,000 pounds such an income would be received with the price around 22 cents per pound." Hutson said the income from sales on markets in 1933 due to reduction plans was $113,000,000 compared with $45,000,000 in 1932, and $56,000,000 in 1931.

DARKNESS INCREASES PERIL

Approximately 50 per cent of automobile accidents occur at night, although night traffic is but one-fourth as dense as day traffic. Night driving is therefore about four times as hazardous as day driving. At night danger is not always observed. Drive with extra care after dark.

to let it go for whatever is bid, and that they want to know is that they are going to get a fair price for their product. With a short crop it is possible that the demand will be sufficient to keep prices up but if this is the case then the buying companies should have no hesitation in agreeing to pay the parity price. Certainly we see no harm that the agreement can do the farmer, while on the other hand, it would be mighty good for him to know that the crop as a whole must average 22 cents or whatever figure is set by the Agriculture Department as parity. Without the agreement the farmer may or may not receive a good price for his crop, depending entirely upon the wishes of the buying companies.

SPITE MARRIAGE
 by Katharine Haveland Taylor

SYNOPSIS: Bob and Marsha Powers are on the verge of divorce, because of Bob's stubborn misunderstanding of Marsha's former friendship for Geoffrey Tarleton. But Bob's mother is ill of an incurable disease and he decides that until her death Marsha and he must pretend happiness. Bob is leaving December 25 to close out his work in Mexico.

Chapter 23 DEPARTURE
CHRISTMAS was over. The small tree which Bob had put up and Marsha had helped him trim, "as a surprise," was a little worn. And, Marsha realized waking, that it was morning of the twenty-eighth of December. That Bob was going, that day.
 Well! She sat up in her bed. She had over-slept she saw; she had been restless during the night, waking constantly to lie wakeful for long.
 Bob going at noon on a train that would carry him south to the border and across it. People were kidnapped in Mexico; even people as big and as strong as Bob, she supposed.
 He must be careful. She must ask him to be very careful. And to tell her where she could find a map of Mexico in the library. Perhaps he'd have time to mark it. He had prom-ing to be right where you left us when you come back!" she said brightly, "and perhaps on extra happy, dividend days, we'll telephone you to say, 'Hello, are you there?' (This line is busy, please get off!) Bob, I can't hear. A little louder, please, Bob, are you there?" and repeat for about ten minutes, you know?"

 He smiled; took her into his arms. For a moment, he held her close, his cheek pressed to hers. Whatever she was not, she was a sport. And selfless, as his mother said.
 He had come upon her with Bartholomew, planning a luncheon that would tempt his mother to eat. He knew she had asked old friends of his mother's to come in to tea that afternoon. The leave-taking with her was not all a masquerade for him . . . but Marsha need not know that.
 He kissed her once; again; his arms tightened. He had forgotten his mother; then remembering her, and that the "display" had been enough, he let Marsha go.
SHE stood at the door with Mrs. Powers as he stepped into the motor. He saw Marsha's arm around his mother; Marsha waved at him, a jaunty little figure with chin high; but just before the motor door was

"I'm sorry I overslept."
 He tapped on her door; "Come in," she called. He entered, crossed the room and with a "May I?" settled on the edge of the bed.
 "If anything changes here, you'll wire, won't you?" he asked.
 "Immediately."
 "I'll come running."
 "I know."
 "I'll be back, anyway, in March at the latest. I think I can hurry my part of it through before then. Lord, I hate going! But can't let them down."
 "I know; I'll do everything I can, and exactly as I think you'd want it done."
 "I'm comfortable enough about that," he said slowly. "You're gentler, and more understanding than I can be with all my trying."
 "Oh, no! I'm sorry I over-slept."
 "I'm glad you did. I saw your light beneath the door. I knew you'd had a bad night."
 "And you did too?"
 "Well, more or less, I suppose. It doesn't matter. You'll write me about things?"
 "Regularly, and as often as you like," she promised.
 "Twice a week, if that's not too much?"
 "Oh, no. I'd do that anyway."
 He rose. "You must not—let yourself be worn out!" he warned anxiously. "Promise me you won't! Get any help you need, Marsha. Will you promise me you will get all the help you need?"
 "Yes, I do promise you anything you want me to promise, Bob!"
 "Very well, and I thank you!" he said as he hurried toward the door. His mother smiled bravely as she said goodbye; he looked on her, eyes tragic. Llewellyn had said—"A year at most—" Perhaps before he could get back even, she would be gone. Perhaps he might lose his last days with her through his obligation to finish a job that no other man could swing.
 He turned to Marsha. "We're go-same venerable institution.

Composite Prima Donna
 Consuelo, heroine of the mystery, is a soprano with all the glamorous trimmings, and her favorite role is Nedda in "I Pagliacci," which also is Miss Mario's favorite role.
 "But I must disclaim any connection with Consuelo," says Miss Mario. "On the contrary, she is an imaginary character with the composite features of all the beautiful and glamorous prima donnas I have ever met."
 "And this is how I happened to write it. I've been an inveterate mystery reader for years."
Wrote On Train
 "About three years ago a little incident occurred at a rehearsal—unimportant in itself, but I made the remark afterwards that had certain conditions been different, it might have had a very different ending. My husband laughed at me and said I had read so many mysteries that I could see a possible murder in almost anything."
Compromise Damage Suit
 Winston-Salem, N. C., July 26—(AP)—A damage suit growing out of the death of J. Matt Marshall in an automobile accident near here February 9 was compromised before Judge Frank Hill in Superior Court here today for $6,500. The suit was against P. H. Haskins and Sarah B. Graves.
 The first counterfeit "greenback" in the United States was one imitating the ten-dollar bill of 1862. It was circulated the same year.

NOT ROOM FOR BOTH

One big improvement that could be made in the parking situation here would be the removal of the five minute parking privilege on the East side of Evans Street in front of the postoffice. With right angle parking on the opposite side of this street very often persons parked in front of the court house find themselves completely hemmed in while persons parked in front of the post office not only go after their mail but stay inside to read it or carry on conversation with others who are getting their mail. With five minute parking on Third Street next to the post office there is sufficient space for those who must go for their mail to get game without having to park on the Evans Street side and certainly a no-parking rule on the Evans Street side would do a lot to relieve traffic congestion at that point. There is room for parking on only one side of this street and if it is deemed absolutely necessary to provide parking on Evans Street for persons visiting the post office then parking on the opposite side of the street should be prohibited.

Washington Daybook

By HEERBERT PLUMMER
 Washington, D. C.—(AP)—If anyone thinks Uncle Sam doesn't learn by experience, let him glance at Public Law No. 127 enacted in the last Congress.
 P. L. 127 is the vehicle by which is made good one of the Democratic party's major promises to the electorate in 1932—" . . . independence for the Philippines."
 The last time Uncle Sam did anything like this was in the case of Cuba. Rules and regulations prescribing how the Cuban constitution should be written and what it should contain were written in Washington.
 The constitutional convention of the Island republic adjourned, however, before Washington had a chance to give its approval.
 Nothing like that is likely to happen in the case of the Philippines under P. L. 127.

With Reservations

In the first place, a draft of the proposed constitution for the Philippines was written in Washington (by request) by the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and cabled to Manila days in advance of the first meeting of the convention.
 Certain political factions in the islands are reported to have resented this, charging that if a people are to have "complete independence," as P. L. 127 provides, they should have the right to formulate their own constitution.
 P. L. 127 does "provide for the complete independence of the Philippine Islands," but it also provides "for the adoption of a constitution and a form of government for the Philippine Islands."
 It does more than that. Section 2 of the law is all but the constitution itself. It makes mandatory that the Filipino constitution "shall contain a bill of rights"; "absolute toleration of religious sentiment"; the public debt shall not exceed limits set by the Congress of the United States; an adequate system of public schools shall be established "primarily conducted in the English language."

MARKETING AGREEMENT NECESSARY

The Agriculture Department, not satisfied with the announcement that tobacco growers occupy a "flattering position" making a marketing agreement unnecessary, has called another meeting for Friday at which time effort will be made to reach an agreement whereby the buying companies will pledge to pay parity prices for this year's crop. Of course, it is encouraging to hear that the growers this year occupy a "flattering position" but the growers and everyone else know that when tobacco is placed on the market the grower has

FARMVILLE FOLKS GET TAX REDUCTIONS

Farmville, N. C., July 26.—At a meeting of the town commissioners at the municipal building last night for the purpose of drawing up the town budget for the coming year, the tax levy for 1935 was set at $1.20 per $100 valuation. This is a reduction of 20 cents per hundred since the present rate is $1.40 per hundred.

The cut in the tax rate was made possible, Mayor John B. Lewis said, because of an increase of taxables. During the past year more property has been listed and the public utilities have been operated at a larger profit.

SALISBURY LINEMAN SHOCK IS KILLED BY SHOCK

Salisbury, N. C., July 26.—Vernon A. Bailey, 27, was electrocuted today as he worked as a lineman on wires of the Southern Public Utilities Company on South Main Street. He was on a pole handling a wire carrying twenty-three hundred volts when the wire touched his arm above his glove. His body was lowered by fellow-workmen and at a local hospital vain efforts were made for three hours to revive him but at the end of that period he was declared dead. Mr. Bailey had been with the company for eight years and was considered a first-class lineman. He leaves a wife and two children; his mother, Mrs. John Bailey, also survives.

TWO ARRESTED FOR PASSING BAD MONEY

Charlotte, N. C., July 26.—(AP)—Henry Thomas, United States Secret Service operative here, today said two men giving their names as William L. Glenn and Charles Egbert Payne had been arrested at Cheraw, S. C., on charges of possessing and passing counterfeit money.

Thomas said the arrests were made by L. O. Padgett, secret service operative, and that $500 in bogus ten dollar bills was found on the men.

Glenn, he said, has a prison record, having served time for participating in a bank robbery at Efland.

OFFICERS NOT FAZED BY SKULL AND CROSS-BONES

Lenoir, N. C., July 26.—Symbols of death—the skull and cross-bones—and a warning which bore the legend, "Beware, officers," meant nothing to Deputy Sheriffs Hester Shuford, Sam Sharpe and Felix Parlier as they raided a still in a mountainous section of Caldwell.

Without warning, they swooped on the still site and captured two men, Galtier Dula and his son, Harley, but a third man escaped. A steamer distillery and ten gallons of liquor were destroyed.

When the men were arrested they offered no resistance, officers reported. Neither of them was armed, which led the officers to believe that the skull of a horse and cross-bones were nailed to the nearby tree simply for effect.

FARTHEST NORTH SEAPORT FOR SOVIET ARCTIC TRADE

Moscow.—(AP)—The most northerly seaport in the world is being constructed by the Soviet Union on the Bay of Tiksi in the delta of the Lena River, Siberia's greatest stream. It's at latitude 71 degrees, 31 minutes north.

The bay is a deep natural harbor, and 22 steamers called there last year.

With modern wharves it is expected that by 1937 about 65,000 tons of salt, petroleum and fish will be shipped from there annually.

ARMY GIFTS MOVE SLOWLY

Contributions to Salvation Army Emergency Fund Develop A Rather Slow Pace

The Salvation Army, which started out several days ago to raise a $125 emergency fund to keep the bad, bad wolf away from the doors of the community's needy, reported today that contributions were still considerably behind in spite of an intensive canvass by members of the organization.

The organization has been without funds for some months now because the budget failed to materialize last year, and the special drive was put on to obtain sufficient funds to tide the Army over until the date for another budget rolls around. Captain and Mrs. Stratford came to Greenville several weeks ago and have injected new life into the organization's work. But they will not be able to cope with the situation here, it was said, unless the emergency drive proves a success. The captain and his wife have had a difficult time existing, so small have been the contributions, but he expressed hope that gifts to the cause the next few days would enable them to go over the top.

JAPANESE EMIGRANTS HALT TO VIEW CAPE TOWN PARK

Capetown, (AP)—More than 1,200 Japanese emigrants a month pass through Capetown on their way to colonies in Brazil, and during the twelve hours that their steamship docks here they all visit a Japanese park in the city botanical gardens, presented to South Africa by the Japanese government.

TO ACCOMMODATE THE POLITE LITTLE SIGHT-SEERS, the director of the gardens hangs out signs in Japanese when an emigrant steamship is in port. Many of the emigrants carry paint and brushes and spend the day making sketches in the gardens.

LOCALS WIN KINSTON

By R. O. MOYE

The Greenville baseball club cast aside its old jinx of losing baseball games and started on the upward turn yesterday afternoon by defeating Kinston 4 to 2, in Kinston. The game also marked the second one under the management of "Tick" Poole and several hundred fans from Greenville were over to Kinston to witness the victory.

The game was marked by the brilliant pitching of Reynolds May, Duke pitcher last season. May who pitched the entire game allowed only five hits, one of which was a home run and another a double. He received splendid support from his teammates and pitched a brand of ball that was more than pleasing to the many spectators. He showed perfect control in the box and it is said that he only made two bad throws during the whole game. Only two men received passes to first and he struck out a total of seven batsmen.

Physic, Kinston hurler, was sent to the showers early in the ninth frame after allowing Greenville all its five hits, and three of its four runs. Hewas relieved by McKelthan who pitched the balance of the inning.

Kinston scored its two runs in the seventh and eighth inning. In the seventh inning Rogers first man up doubled and advancing to third on the next hit ball was brought home on a perfect sacrifice hit by Physic. The run in the eighth inning was the result of a home run by Zaiser over the left field fence.

Greenville scored all of its four runs in the ninth frame. Woodworth, first man up, reached first on an error by Irwin. Dean then hit a beautiful three bagger in deep center, scoring Woodworth; Wagner followed with a double, scoring Dean. Weaver was walked, and finally came home on a wild pitch by McKelthan.

Zaiser with a homer and single, and Rogers with a double and a single collected four of the five hits received by Kinston. Dean's triple and Wagner's two bagger were the feature hitting for Greenville, although it was Martin's timely single that broke the two-all tie in the ninth frame.

TARBORO WINS IN NINTH
 Tarboro, July 26.—Tarboro scored two runs in the ninth to get a 7-6 victory and snap Ayden's winning streak here yesterday.

Red Cleary furnished the big blow which sent in the ninth-inning runs, hitting to the far reaches of the outfield after Bill Croom had drawn a walk and Ed Askw had singled.

Askw, with three for four, led Tarboro. Biggs hit a homer for the locals with one on in the fifth.

Worley Knowles, as usual, was trouble. The Ayden slugger hit a homer, a double and a single to bat 600 for the afternoon.

Woodlief's relief pitching—he hurled a bit over four innings and allowed only four hits and one run—featured for Tarboro. Ayden out-hit the locals, 13 to 10.

Batteries: Ayden—Turbeville, Shields and Stephenson; Tarboro—Jenkins, Woodlief and Perritt, Richardson.

NEW BERN WINS
 New Bern, July 26.—Big Bill Wheaton limited Snow Hill to four hits and New Bern breezed to a 7-2 win here yesterday.

The locals made 10 hits, with Snooks Shipp, Ham Ferebee and Smokey Ferebee getting two each to show the way. Perry, with two hits, was high for Snow Hill. Walker and Tuck got the visitors' other hits.

Wheaton's mates gave him errorless support. Norwood, New Bern centerfielder, had a busy afternoon, handling seven chances. H. Ferebee caught for New Bern; Roye caught for Snow Hill.

New York Cotton

New York, July 26.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened firm, two to four points higher on reports of storm damage on the Texas coast and commission house buying despite relatively lower Liverpool cables.

The buying continued with October selling up to 12.83 and March to 13.10 during the early trading, or about five to eight points higher.

After showing advances of eight to eleven points during the first hour, cotton turned easier after a sharp break in the stock market.

October after having sold off to 12.71 was ruling around 12.74 at midday with market quiet and steady at declines of two to seven points.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 26.—(AP)—Financial markets wilted today under European war clouds with a general revival of trading pessimism.

Stocks capitulated one to around ten points also at the worst when rumors spread that Italian troops had marched into Austria.

While prices were irregularly lower after the start, there was a downward swoop in the second hour which put the ticker several minutes behind and resulted in the worst break since last September.

Grains and cotton steadied to firm at the beginning and turned back with securities.

Successful selling waves taxed trading facilities and losses ranged from two to around twelve points. Rails approximated 3,300,000 shares, the largest in months.
