GOVERNMENT TO START LAND-BUYING PROGRAM

Railroads Seeking To Stall Operation Of Pension Law

SUIT FILED IN SUPREME COURT TODAY

Temporary Restraining Order Sought to Prevent Operation of New Law Pending Hearing On Permanent Injunction; Law Attacked On The Ground It Is Violation of Commerce Clause

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Railroads today filed suit in the District of Columbia Supreme Court asking an injunction to prevent the Federal railroad retirement board operating the pension law passed at the last session of Congress. The suit was filed by a committee of five attorneys headed by R. V. Fletcher, general counsel for the American railway association on behalf of more than 150 railroads. The railroads sought immediately a temporary restraining order to be operative pending a hearing on a permanent injunction. The law was attacked on the ground it was violative of the commerce clause of the constitution and also that it violated the fifth amendment to the constitution by taking property without due process of law.

THOMAS APPROVES SILVER ORDER

Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, long a proponent of an increase in the use of silver as money, hailed President Roosevelt's silver nationalization order in Washington. "It is a declaration that there is not enough gold in the world to satisfy the demands for money," he said. The large block he is holding represents the amount of silver in the country and the small one stands for the amount of gold. He has made frequent use of them in senate debates. #### Late News Flashes

Prices Higher For Tobacco. (By The Associated Press) Tobacco prices were higher on the South Carolina and border belt markets today with resumption of sales after the week-end. Although there was little improvement over last week in the quality of the tobacco, early sales indicated the average price would be a cent or more higher. Some of the better grades brought as much as $8 a hundred higher than was paid for the same quality last week. Deliveries were comparatively light, as is usual on Monday. Lumberton, N. C., warehouses received 260,000 pounds. The market was definitely stronger and first sales were at an estimated average of between $23 and $24. A calculation of the first hour of sales at Lake City showed an average price of $23.90 a hundred.

Confer On Morehead Port.

Washington, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Representatives of the Morehead City, N. C. port commission and the Norfolk Southern Railroad conferred today with Col. H. M. Waite, deputy public works administrator, on the PWA's contract to buy $332,000 port development bonds. The contract provides for the levying of an ad valorem tax not to exceed 10 cents on the $100 valuation of Morehead City property in the event port receipts are insufficient to meet payments and the gross income of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad which is leased to the Norfolk Southern to secure the (Continued on page four)

NASHVILLE MAN IS DROWNING VICTIM

Washington, N. C., Aug. 13.—Virgil W. Harlow, age 34, well known Nashville business man, was drowned yesterday at Bayview, resort 19 miles below Washington, a few minutes after 4 o'clock. Mr. Harlow, with his wife and two children, was spending the week-end at the resort. While standing on a small pier in front of the Elliott cottage and west of the main, some one pushed him over in shallow water. His clothing being already wet, he decided to pull off his shoes and go in wading. There is a sudden drop in the depth of the water and he stepped in a hole where the depth of the water is eight to nine feet. He was said to be a poor swimmer and was handicapped by having on his clothes, he called for help three times but those nearby failed to respond, thinking he was joking. His body was not recovered until 5:30. A pulmonator was brought from Washington and first aid given but with no avail.

R. F. PITTMAN SPEAKS HERE

Free Will Baptist Minister Heard by Tremendous Crowd At Court House

Rev. R. F. Pittman, pastor of the Free Will Baptist Church, was the speaker at union services on the court house lawn last night. One of the largest, if not the largest, crowd of the summer was in attendance and listened with interest as the minister spoke on the subject "Life Abundant," as promised by Jesus to those who follow in His footsteps.

The singing as usual, was inspirational, being led by Mr. Pittman assisted by members of the Free Will Baptist choir.

The services, sponsored by the Ministerial Association, are scheduled to come to a close the latter part of the month, and persons who have not been attending were urged to do so and enjoy the spiritual uplift in evidence each Sunday evening.

Members of all denominations take part in the services, and it is probable that larger crowds from the various churches were on hand last night than any other Sunday since the beginning of the services. All available seating accommodations were exhausted and numbers stood on the outskirts of the crowd and listened attentively to the service of praise and thanksgiving.

Not life abundant, in the physical sense, but the spiritual life as taught by Jesus during his brief stay on earth, is the life necessary to eternal happiness, said the speaker.

He referred briefly to the discontent and suffering prevailing throughout the world and declared the situation could be greatly improved by application of the teachings of Jesus in every day life.

He spoke briefly of the evidence of prosperity prevailing throughout the nation at this time and appealed to his hearers not to forget that life abundant is not to be obtained in this world but in that place where Christ promised eternal rest and peace.

CITY TO HAVE SPECIAL DAY THANKSGIVING

Presbyterians to Name Committee For Service First Sunday in September

A suggestion made from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church yesterday that the first Sunday of September be set apart as a day of special thanksgiving to Almighty God for His blessings upon our State and that all Christian people of the State, and especially those of the aster and that some sections had experienced great suffering and loss while this State had been blessed wonderfully in every way.

Rev. J. R. Potts, pastor of the church, who made the suggestion, pointed out that many sections of the country had been visited by disaster and that some sections of the country had been suffering and loss while this State had been blessed wonderfully in every way.

"We have had no storms or floods or drought or conflagration or evidence of disease, but have been blessed with a perfect season and magnificent crops and prospects of splendid prices and abundant prosperity," said the minister.

"Let us not wait for our national day of thanksgiving to thank God for His goodness to our State. Let us have two days of thanksgiving and let the first Sunday of September be one of them."

The proposal met with a hearty response from the congregation, and it is said that committees to work out plans and arrange the program will be announced next Sunday.

POOL DRAWS HUGE CROWDS

Swimming Classes To Begin Tomorrow Morning With Two Divisions of Work

Official figures indicated today that 2,994 persons have taken advantage of the municipal swimming pool which opened here last Wednesday, and pool officials were looking forward to another large week this week.

Eric Tucker, pool manager, announced this morning that swimming classes would begin tomorrow, and that there would be no age limit for those desiring to learn how to swim safely and sanely. Classes will be for one hour, from 10 to 11 a. m. There will be two divisions of classes, one for regular swimming and the other for advanced students.

The price of lessons will be $1.00 for 10 1-2-hour lessons in advance. Those in charge of the classes are experts in their line, having taken Red Cross courses, considered among the best taught in this country.

Attendance figures, including Sunday, were 1,251 children and 1,473 adults.

Adequate life-saving equipment with sufficient life-savers to take care of an emergency have been provided at the pool so that the smallest child may go in bathing with safety. A wading pool has been provided for children too small to go in the regular pool, and this is proving to be a popular place with the youngsters seeking relief from the heat.

Everybody has been urged to visit the pool and take a dip. Hundreds are at the pool daily in addition to swimmers, standing at vantage points, watching the swimmers up in the cooling waters.

YOUNG PRINCE HURT IN AUTO WRECK, DEAD

Don Gonzalo, Prince of Spain, Succumbs to Bleeding Skin At Royal Villa

Klagenfurt, Austria, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Don Gonzales, 19-year-old Prince of Spain and fourth son of Alfonso king of Spain, died today of the malady hemophilia, or skin bleeding cause by an automobile accident.

Death came at Poertschach-on-Woerther See, the villa of exile for the royal family.

The prince was injured late last night in an automobile accident while returning to the villa from Kleagenfurt with his sister.

A physician said the injuries suffered by the prince would not have caused death to an ordinary person, but in this case the doctors were unable to stop the flow of blood.

COURT OPENS HERE MONDAY

Judge R. Hunt Parker To Preside Over One Week Civil Term Next Week

The stage was all set today for the one-week term of civil Superior Court to convene in this city Monday, August 20, with Judge R. Hunt Parker, presiding.

The calendar containing around fifty cases was completed by the Bar Association last week and was being studied by attorneys today in preparation for the week's hard grind.

This will be the first time Judge Parker has ever held court in Greenville, although he has appeared in other sections of the State for a number of years.

Several terms of court are scheduled to be held during the remainder of the year, and court attaches will be kept fairly busy until next summer when the annual recess of two months takes place.

PARENTS OF GREEN SENT TO JAIL HERE

Father and Step-Mother of Condemned Negro Held For Disorderly Conduct

Charlie Green, father, and Addie Pitt, stepmother of Jim Green, Pitt County negro scheduled to die in the electric chair on a charge of rape, were given a hearing in police court this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct and sentenced to jail for thirty days each. They were charged specifically with quarreling and fighting with a colored man.

The woman, police said, recently furnished an affidavit in the attempt now being made to commute the sentence of Green, that the condemned man had told her of having relations with the white girl he was charged with criminally attacking the first of the year.

This affidavit, along with several others, have been presented to the Parole Commissioner at Raleigh as newly-discovered evidence in the case.

Green has twice been relieved as the State deliberates his case. A decision is expected to be made by the State sometime in the near future.

NEW GERMAN CHURCH LAW FACES FIGHT

Ministers Prepare "Fight to Finish" Against Adolph Hitler's Nazi Forces

Berlin, Aug. 13.—(AP)—A "finish fight" between Adolph Hitler's Nazi government and rebellious protestant pastors over the state's church program appeared imminent today.

Authorities lost no time in clamping down on clergymen who defied laws rushed through the national synod last Tuesday giving dictatorial power to Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller, ardent follower of Hitler.

Reliable reports said a number of ministers were arrested over the week-end for expressing open opposition from their pulpits to Mueller and denouncing the Nazi program. Church circles appeared dismayed. The Mueller program included an oath of fealty to Hitler to which some pastors objected, claiming it placed the Chancellor ahead of God and Church.

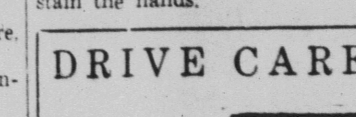

A manifesto drawn by dissenting pastors at Hamburg Friday is interpreted by some as an open "declaration of war" against Mueller. It declared proceedings of the "so-called national synod" invalid and called upon congregations not to obey them.

Police said O'Quinn has served two terms in prison on charges of robbery, and it was expected he would be sent up for a longer term this time.

DRIVE CAREFULLY TODAY

KNOW YOUR TURNING RADIUS

Rare is the driver who knows, except in a general way, the turning radius of his car. Many accidents are caused because of this lack of knowledge. Get out somewhere in a sufficiently wide space and have someone mark your turning radius with chalk. Make the shortest turn possible. Then get out of your car and study the line. You will probably find the curve much wider than you expected.

PLAN TO OPEN PLAYGROUNDS FOR WORKERS

National Park Service to Buy Huge Tracks of Poor Land in Several States to Create Recreational Centers For Industrial Workers; Properties Now Being Inspected; Relief Workers to Build Camps

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—(AP)—The government is about to start a huge land buying program so industrial workers can have better and cheaper vacations.

The national park service said today it is an important phase of the plan to retire poor lands from agriculture. It called for large recreational spots within easy reach of both the major manufacturing cities.

The Federal surplus relief corporation will spend about $5,000,000 for the recreational centers. Agents of the park service are inspecting properties in many States and taking action where possible. Specifically, officials said, the service is trying to secure tracts in Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Virginia.

When the land is bought C. C. members and other relief workers will start building camps, railroads and picnic grounds.

HALF HOLIDAY ENDS THIS WEEK

Some Stores, However, May Close 22 For Kingston-Greenville Ball Game

Owing to the early opening of the tobacco market this year, Wednesday half holidays will officially come to a close the coming Wednesday, it was made known today from the Chamber of Commerce in charge of summer closing operations.

The half holidays were previously scheduled to close Wednesday, August 22, but in view of the fact that the tobacco market opens the next day, merchants have been released from their original agreement.

R. L. Powell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said today numbers of merchants had signified their intention of permitting employees to attend the Kingston-Greenville game here Wednesday, August 22, the day before the opening of the tobacco market, but the closing is not expected to be as general as during the remainder of the summer.

This will be the last opportunity local people will have to see the club in action on the home lot before the opening of the tobacco market, and hope was expressed that all merchants possible get everything in readiness for the tobacco opening and then help swell the crowd at what is expected to be one of the crucial games of the season, especially with Greenville a half game from the top and fighting like the dickens to keep the flag here for another season.

The local club will play out of the city Wednesday of this week, and those who have been enjoying half-holiday games on the local lot will have to follow the club out of town if they wish to see the boys in action.

Four wins out of the four games last week by our local team should be sufficient to make the fans here sit up and take notice and should inspire the boys on the team to try even harder for a place in the series. With Ayden and Kinston now tied for first place and with Greenville only half a game behind, we have a good chance to get into the series if we continue the streak of last week. At any rate this show of determination on the part of the team should cause our people to turn out in greater numbers this week to support the team.

Some trouble is being experienced at the swimming pool by spectators on the side lines throwing things into the pool. It is the intention of those in charge of the pool to keep it as clean and sanitary and safe as possible, and certainly the citizens who come to look on should be glad to co-operate with the pool officials. Small rocks, glass and other articles thrown into the pool endanger the swimmers who use the pool and it is to be hoped that there will be no more trouble of this kind.

Washington Daybook

MEMBER PEUMER
Washington, D. C. (AP)—Postmaster General Farley's first—and incidentally, much ridiculed—Post Office Department surplus of $5,000,000 was realized largely through "writing off" certain free services rendered.

They included, for example, amounts paid out for carrying the mail by air and ocean over actual postage cost; services rendered gratis to Uncle Sam and his departments; and the privilege granted members of Congress of franking "official business."

This last write-off is something to think about during this congressional election year.

In an unofficial preview of the huge amount of campaign material now being franked by both Senators and Representatives to voters near and far is taken into consideration, when Mr. Farley gets around to balancing his books at the close of the present fiscal year he himself will be amazed.

"Me In Congress"

The volume apprais the clerical staffs of both Senate and House. All of these electioneering documents carry in a prominent position the legend, "Not Printed at Government Expense." No mention is made about the free postage.

The topics of these political pamphlets cover almost every subject imaginable. Typical subjects are: "My Record in the Seventy-third Congress," "The Record of the Seventy-third Congress as I See It," "The True Friend of the Veterans," and "My Part in the Accomplishments of the New Deal."

It can be assumed, however, that the supervisory officials of the post offices throughout the country do not groan as they see the avalanche of political material flow across

SPITE MARRIAGE

Chapter 43
PAINFUL HOUR

"YOU, you don't hate me," (Marsha dropped her arm, looked at him) "do you?"
"God knows I don't, Marsha!" he answered heavily, and he saw tears brim in her eyes. He pushed her heavy hair away from her forehead, running his hand over her forehead and across her hair.

"We're not going to worry about anything, Marsha, except the fact that I was brutal last night. I want you to know that it will never happen again. Can you believe me?"
"Yes, I've never once really doubted you. I—"
"Quiet, dear."

He made no fight against the welling of tenderness that filled him. She was frightened, pitiable and lovely, with her hair lying disheveled on the linen of her pillow.

And still, she was his as he had dreamed she would be; his to care for. And he would care for her, so long as she needed him.

After a moment she relaxed and her sobs lessened.
"No one is going to bother you," he said slowly, close to sternly. "Do you understand? I won't let them! Do you hear me, Marsha?"
"Yes, I believe so."

"No one is going to bother you, Marsha."

"Yes—"
"My darling!" he thought; his own eyes wet. "I'll fill anyone who bothers you full of buckshot!" he promised.

She laughed unsteadily.
"We're only going to have that worthy M.D. come in here to give you a pill and feel your pulse and tell you that a few days in bed will 'adjust the matter—' see?"

"Y—yes—" she whimpered.
His touch had helped her, soothed her; he was elated by the fact.
"Breakfast next," he said and against her hair, "understand? A real one, coal miner's steel Tea or coffee?"

She laughed a little unsteadily. She said, "Tea, I think, this morning."
Bob's mind whirled. He was brought back to present and reality by Hannah's tap upon the door.

"WHO is it?" Bob called.
"It's I, Mr. Robert, Hannah. I wondered whether I might, please, bring Mrs. Powers' breakfast up now?"

"Yes. And make it a good one, Hannah."
"I will, sir, thank you, sir."
Marsha drew away. Bob rose.

"Now suppose," he suggested, "we prop you up with pillows and drape one of these things around you," (he picked up a negligee of coral lace from the foot of the bed) "and become attuned to soft-bodied eggs!"

She shuddered; he smiled down on her. "They have their place!" he stated, thinking, with a wry twist of heart that, for her, he might belong with nourishing, uninteresting, unsipped foods from which the jaded sometimes turn with loathing.

Tarleton was highly excited! Had Tarleton's defections a part in her being ill, or was it all a product of that which he saw as his "vile brutality?" A little time and he would know. There would have to be some degree of frankness between them in order that they might determine the best thing for them to do.

Hannah brought the tray; Marsha tried to eat, but after she had their books of "business done."

Bigger Business
The pay scales of postal field forces—postmasters and supervisory assistants—are based in part on the amount of business their offices do. Washington, for example, gets first political mail. The allowance for this and government departmental mail which salaries are based is extra high.

It makes Washington one of the major postoffices of the country despite the fact that very little commercial and industrial mail is handled. Its product is mostly politics.

Washington, D. C. (AP)—Defeat of Representative John Young

Brown, of Kentucky, has halted, for the time being at least, the political career of one of the most colorful figures to come up from the South in recent times.

The 34-year-old youngster, who hails from the famous blue-grass section of the State and whose home is in the city where the Kentucky Derby is run each year, came to Congress for the first time as a member-at-large in the Seventy-third.

He had been here but a few days when he attracted attention. His youthful appearance, sparse stature and big force made old-timers sit up and take notice.

Attack On Colleague
It was Brown's nerve and fearlessness which brought him into the limelight here. One of the first things he did as a member of the House was to junk the time-honored tradition that "freshmen" should be seen and not heard for at least a little while.

Brown had been here less than a month of the special session before he started a row. He lashed out on the floor one day in a vitriolic attack against his colleague from Kentucky, a five-term, a man forty years his senior and a member of the powerful Ways and Means Committee—Fred Vinson.

He lectured Vinson for having had inserted in the Congressional Record a day or so before a speech which cost $225 of the taxpayers' money to explain a vote of his, so that in the future he can get votes by virtue of his explanation of this one.

Turns Out Well

"So we decided to sail through the matinee, and not even wait for laughs—just save everything we had for the night when Mr. LeRoy would be in the audience."

"At the night performance we learned Mr. LeRoy saw the matinee. When we told him what we'd done, he laughed and said that the afternoon show doubtless was best anyway, because we probably tried too hard that night."

"As a result of my performance in that hurried-up matinee, I received a motion picture contract on recommendation of Mervyn LeRoy. How's that for luck?"

WYOMING TRIBES
REBURY HATCHET
UNDER MARKER

Sheridan, Wyo.—(AP)—Close to the spot where leaders of the two tribes met to bury the war hatchet after long years of bitter enmity, a bronze marker has been set to remind younger Crow and Cheyenne of the peace pact of their chiefs.

Generations before the first pale-face rode into their hunting lands and for many years after, the tribes were ruthless foes. During a recent rodeo here, when Crow and Cheyenne came to do their dances, the chiefs invoked the white man's craftsmanship to strengthen the bond of good fellowship.

Not a rustle of their beaded garments broke the stillness as they gathered to watch workmen in a foundry pour the molten metal for the marker. When it was finished the monument was placed in front of the grandstand on the rodeo grounds, site of the smoking of the first peace pipe and burying of the tomahawk.

From metal remaining, tinsmiths were made for each of the chiefs, some of whom, as young bucks, boasted of scalps of the enemy.

Des Moines, (AP)—Inhabitants of Iowa's rural hamlets are getting their minds off the drought by reading, says Miss Julia Robinson, secretary of the state traveling library association.

During June, Miss Robinson says,

Willy Nilly did not know what he would do. The hens and chickens, roosters, ducks, pigs and dogs from all the barnyards in the neighboring countryside had come to Puddle Muddle.

Top Notch knew more than he had said. He had admitted that he invited these guests, but he had said he would explain when he had time.

Why had he roosted; asked all these creatures at once? Willy Nilly wondered. And why had he wanted to entertain when they were just having a little time free of interruptions and trouble?

Willy Nilly was annoyed, too, that he had been a "ain little man and had taken on the adhesive tapes with which he was going to fix his ears so they would stay back. Now he didn't know when he would be able to give them any attention."

But he hadn't time to think of this now. Here was Puddle Muddle simply over-run with all the animals; and the Puddle Muddlers were around to see what was going on.

Mr. and Mrs. Quacko Duck were angry now because the visiting ducks had discovered some bags of grain and were helping themselves. "Those are our bags of grain," quacked Mrs. Quacko angrily.

"Leave them alone, quack, quack," shouted Mr. Quacko Duck. "You haven't any manners," said one of the visiting ducks.

"I have the most perfect duck manners," quacked Mrs. Duck in an angry voice. "I didn't invite you here."

"You rude duck," quacked another visiting duck and gave Mr. Quacko a slap with her wing.

A gallery talk by Miss Bonrétz will enable those who attend to understand and appreciate the picture. The public is invited to this exhibit.

Mr. Jones Dies in Warrenton.
Robert J. Jones died Sunday at his home in Warrenton. He was born in Engand but came to this country in his youth. He was a former secretary and treasurer of the town of Warrenton, and assistant cashier of the Citizens Bank.

Mr. Jones was the father of Mrs. J. B. Bobbitt, formerly of Greenville, now of Farmville, and a cousin of Mrs. W. W. Pheps of this city.

Birthday Dinner.
Sunday evening at her home on West Fifth street, Mrs. Elvin Jones gave a birthday dinner honoring her sister, Miss Elsie Zanhiser, who has recently made her home with her mother on Jarvis street.

The home was attractively decorated with mid-summer flowers. A most appetizing dinner was served. The birthday spirit was carried throughout the evening.

Master Elvin Ray Jones, Miss Zanhiser's nephew, presented her with an armful of useful gifts.

Later in the evening ice-cold melons were cut and enjoyed by all.

IN MEMORIAM
Mrs. S. D. Tucker.

She has gone to the home of the weary and blest.
Where the saints of Eternity meet.
To sing with them there on that beautiful shore.
Ever praising at Jesus' feet.

She stands at the gates ever beckoning us.
To come to her home over there.
Tis yet but a day, we shall go there to say,
Her love and His love ever share.

This home of the soul may we strive to attain.
Ere Heaven we miss, 'tis Hell we will gain.
And the sad estate of a soul that is lost
Could we ever count the cost?

Let us wait, let us pray
Till the dawn of the day.
For others whose lives are not blest
That crossing the bar they may follow the star
That leads to the land where she rests.

Life Saving Class
Opens At Pool Here

The life-saving glass started at the local swimming pool this morning with an enrollment of six juniors, it was said by Miss Evelyn Hart, director of the class.

Classes will be conducted from 9 to 10 o'clock and Miss Hart said a large enrollment both of juniors and seniors was hoped for.

No charge will be made except the regular pool fee.

The class is being conducted under the auspices of the local chapter of the American Red Cross and hope was expressed that numbers would take advantage of the life-saving classes in order to more completely throw a safeguard around swimmers.

CHINESE GIRLS DROWN IN MARRIAGE PROTEST

Amoy, China.—(AP)—Dissatisfaction with married life under the rigid family system of old China caused nine young women—eight of them married—to chain themselves together and leap into the sea off the Fukien coast. All were drowned.

Seven came from one family into which they had married. The unmarried girl, faced with a life under the old type of family despotism which allows no freedom to women, chose to join her sisters in the suicide pact. The ages of the girls varied from 13 to 19.

Value Changes
The editors of the newest edition of the standard stamp catalogue, to be dated 1934, look back upon what they describe as the greatest value revision in stamp history.

The changes have been due mainly to the fact that shortly after publication of the 1933 stamp year book the dollar was devalued. The revised listings reflect this monetary move in that in numerous instances there have been increases in the dollar values of both used and unused stamps. On the whole, this increase probably does not go above 25 per cent.

There have been reductions, as well as some increases, in the listings of the values of rare stamps, based on the prices brought in the auction sale of the Arthur Hind-

By QUINTON JAMES

For three hundred years the two groups of islands in the West Indies known as Curacao have been a colony of the Netherlands. This year, the tercentenary, is made the occasion for the issuance of two special stamps bearing the dates of 1634 and 1934.

In keeping with the recently adopted design of the stamps of the Netherlands and its colonies, the commemoratives are pictorial, one showing a modern scene and the other a drawing of the earlier days.

On the six-cent is a modern scene of the port of St. Anna, with oil tanks prominently in the foreground. Oil refining is the chief industry of the colony. The color is slate. The 12 1/2-cent, printed in blue, shows an ancient caravan against a background of old brick houses of the Amsterdam quays.

First 1935 Stamps
The first stamps to bear the date 1935 have already come on the scene. They comprise the set of four, previously announced, that make up Belgium's special issue calling attention to the international exhibition to be held in Brussels next year. The stamps will remain on sale until September, 1935.

Beautiful designs have been employed to create upright oblongs, each using a different scene. As is the case with all Belgian stamps, the inscriptions are in two languages, French and Flemish. The word Brussels appears on either side, reading from the top down, while across the bottom is "International Exposition."

and other senators in behalf of silver. The mountain ranges of the state, rich with silver, long have been neglected by miners due to the low price of the metal.

Now it is different. The miners are singing their folk songs again in the Sonora hills; mines are being worked again and the silver treasure pits are once more yielding rich stores of metals.

Good Times Foreseen
In the silver jubilee, called in Spanish "La Fiesta de la Plata," Mexican calaberos and American cowboys will join in celebrating silver's return.

Black-eyed sonoras will vie with charming American girls in laughter and entertainment because of the prospect of prosperity's return.

Silver was first mined in Sonora by Spanish conquistadors. Later Jesuit and Franciscan missionaries taught the native Indians how to mine it. The silver-plated country was once set aside by Spain as a royal mineral field.

At the fiesta, Senator Pittman will receive a thirty-pound solid silver plaque on which will be engraved an Aztec calendar. The presentation will be made by Rudolfo Elias Calles, governor of Sonora, and son of former President Plutarco Elias Calles of Mexico.

The two border cities of Nogales, one located in the United States and the other in Mexico, separated only by a street called International will be in gala attire for the fiesta.

Mexican grandees and high ranking officials will meet and mingle with American dignitaries; vagabonds and booted miners will parade through the streets paying a gay tribute to the Nevada senator.

PREACHER SAYS JESUS COMMANDED SNAKE TO BITE

Sylva, N. C., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Albert Teester, Holiness preacher whose right arm is still swollen twice its normal size from venom, today told his flock and a crowd of curious onlookers why he let a rattlesnake sink its fangs into his flesh.

"Jesus," the preacher said, "told me to do it."

A hushed silence fell over the little mountain cabin where Teester spoke to his congregation. The preacher's eyes burned passionately as he stood at one end of the sparsely-furnished room and bared his poisoned arm to his audience.

It was a week ago today that the 39-year-old Holiness preacher stood in the pulpit of his mountain church, waved a five-foot rattlesnake before him and let the reptile sink its fangs into his arm to prove to his congregation that "God will not let me die."

He ran from the church, screaming with pain. His arm burst from swelling. His tongue became so thick he could not swallow. He convulsed with pain. But, true to his faith, he would allow no physician to come near him. He hovered near death for several days. And today he was able to appear before his congregation.

LOCALS AGAIN TRIM STRONG AYDEN TEAM

Ayden, N. C., Aug. 12.—Greenville made it four wins in a row over Ayden by taking a 9 to 8 victory here Saturday and the defeat dropped the locals into a tie with Kinston for the league lead. The victory hoisted Greenville to within half a game of the dead-locked leaders.

Greenville took an early lead and held the front throughout. The contest was a slugfest, with the Greenies outlasting Ayden, 15 to 9. The visitors scored four runs in the eighth and added another in the ninth, and these late tallies were needed as Ayden counted four in the eighth and Dwight Wall opened the home half of the ninth with a homer.

Bostic and Wagner hit homers for Greenville. Phil Weaver with four hits, paced the winners. Bostic, Hulskamp, Woodworth and Harrington made two each. Miller and Wall, each with two hits, led Ayden.

Batteries: Greenville—May, Traylor, Dean and Wagner; Ayden—Cesnovar, Shields and Smith.

Faust Johnson, Ayden outfielder, hit safely Saturday to run to 32 the number of consecutive games in which he has hit safely. Advances here Saturday were that the Greenville scorer had changed his ruling on a ball hit by Johnson in a game there Saturday. That was Johnson's only hit in Saturday's affair. It was a hard-hit ball which bounded away from the third baseman.

KINSTON TOPS TARBORO

Tarboro, Aug. 13.—Kinston continued its "comeback" for the league title by grabbing a 9-7 decision from Tarboro Saturday in a free-hitting game. The locals led in hits 15 to 13.

Kinston shoved in front in the second inning with a salvo of home runs—Rogers, Peele and Tatum hit homers in succession before anyone was out in the second. Another run was added in this inning, after two were out, on Weathers' single and Irwin's double.

Bill Croom hit three singles and Richardson hit a double and two singles to lead Tarboro. Croom also featured a field. Kinston's hits were well divided, but Bolger batted 1000 for his two turns at the plate.

Batteries: Kinston—Longest, Bolger, Physioc and Tatum; Tarboro—Shoaf, Skipper and Richardson.

NEW BERN GETS WIN

Snow Hill, Aug. 13.—Stuart Flythe State College athlete, held Snow Hill to three hits Saturday as his New Bern mates collected 11 safeties to take a 4-2 decision over the locals.

The visitors did all their scoring in the first five innings, getting the runs against the pitching of Sivley. Newsome, who followed Sivley on the hill, hurled shutout ball for the last five innings.

Smokely Ferebee hit a triple and three singles to lead 300 and lead New Bern. H. Ferebee, Patton and Johnson made two hits each for the invaders. Newman was the only Snow Hill hurler who could really do anything with Flythe's offerings. Newman hit a triple and a single. Newborn, second-sacker, featured a field for Snow Hill. H. Ferebee caught for New Bern; Roye caught for Snow Hill.

KINSTON TOO FAST FOR WILMINGTON

Kinston, N. C., Aug. 13.—A hail-storm of 23 hits which accounted for 46 bases resulted in a 16 to 1 victory for Kinston over Wilmington here Sunday afternoon.

Every man on the local team got at least one base blow; some got four. Rogers, Kinston outfielder, hit two homers.

Four pitchers were used by Wilmington—Turner, Scarsella, Rhein and M. Smith—and all were hit freely.

More than 1,500 fans, coming from every section of Eastern North Carolina, witnessed the most complete slaughter by bats ever seen on the local diamond. The stands were packed to capacity.

Wilmington batsmen got six hits off Rogers in 7 innings, and one off Rogers in the last two frames. Hickcock caught for Wilmington and Tatum and Love for Kinston.

Kinston's heaviest scoring was done in the seventh and eighth frames with four and six runs, respectively. The locals made two errors; Wilmington none.

"SCREEN TEST" OF GOLF MAKES RUYAN PRACTICE

White Plains, N. Y.—(AP)—Paul Ruyan, who won the 1934 P. G. A. golf crown at Buffalo, refuses to let good enough alone.

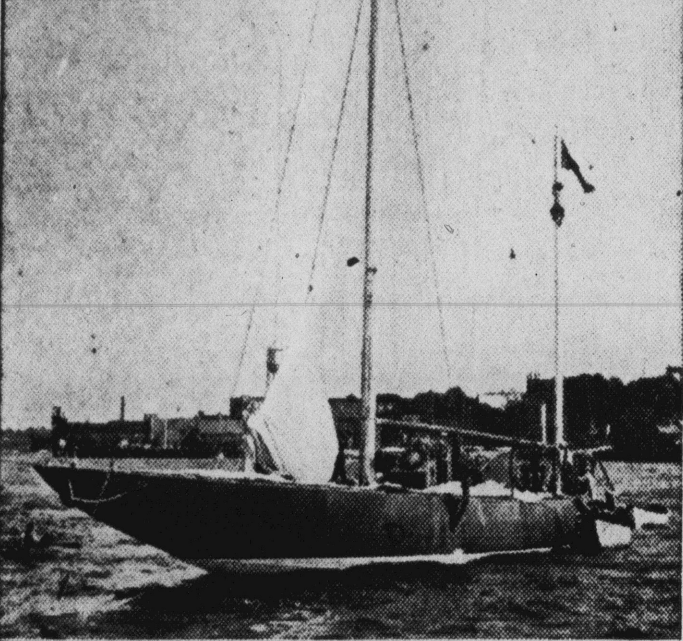

After winning the title, he went to the movies here and watched the newsreel version of how he beat Craig Wood in the finals. He detected a lunge in his swing.

Now he's on the practice tee every morning trying to improve his stroke.

When lost in the woods, a person walks in circles to the right; the first circle is large, the next one a bit smaller, and each subsequent circle a bit smaller than the one preceding it.

ENDEAVOUR REACHES U. S.

After a 16-day jaunt across the Atlantic under her own sail, Endeavour, T. O. M. Sopwith's British challenger for the America's Cup, arrived at Bristol, R. I., and immediately preparations were begun for the races next month. The yacht is shown above after her arrival, and inset is Skipper George Williams who guided her safely across the ocean. SPORT SLANTS
By ALAN GOULD

It was a very nice gesture on the part of his old home town, Rochester, N. Y., to pay tribute to Walter Hagen with a golf tournament, even though the visiting professionals and his comrades-in-arms were by no means courteous about the way they gave the "Hag" a shellacking.

Hagen has lost the consistency that carried him to so many championships, at home and abroad, but he is still the most colorful personality in golf, one of the best-liked and at times one of the most spectacular of all the top-ranking shot-makers. Sir Walter is, as he says "still a kid" alongside old Mike Scott, who won the British amateur championship at 55 last year, but he has now been playing "major league" golf for upwards of 23 years, which entitles him to rank with Ty Cobb or Devereux Milburn for long-term competition.

Hagen has had his ups and downs. When he was "in the chips" Sir Walter traveled high, wide and handsome, enjoying life to the utmost. Like Babe Ruth when the home-run king was in his prime, the bright lights never seemed to affect Hagen's hitting eye. He might be late at the first tee on the morning after the night before, but he would still be dangerous. Times have changed and Hagen has experienced reversals, but you wouldn't suspect it, if you met him on or off the links. He still carries one of the finest competitive temperaments in any sport.

Wen National Open At 20
Hagen's first athletic love was baseball. He was well known on the diamonds around Rochester in his youth and yearned to make the big league grade, but his first taste of tournament blood, in the Canadian open championship of 1911 satisfied him it was worth while to concentrate on golf. He finished in a tie with the famous Alex Smith, former United States open champion, in eleventh place in the Canadian event and was as happy as though he had won the tournament.

Hagen was only a kid of twenty when he won his first American open in 1914, the year after Francis Ouimet had electrified the home-bred with his victory over Ted and Harry Vardon. He repeated in 1919 and since then has won the British open four times and the national P. G. A. crown five times. The only contemporary who tops the "Hag" is Bob Jones, who won thirteen major national tournaments.

Southwest Scrabbling
"Yourself and friends are cordially invited to attend the Fifth Annual Hardscrabble Invitation Golf tournament, to be held at Fort Smith, Ark., September 21, 22, 23. Banquet and auction of players Friday night at 7:30. Entrance free $3.00."

So read the notice accompanying a letter from Johnnie Porter of the Southwest Times-Record, Fort Smith. We had heard a lot about the football of Arkansas Razorbacks, football pride of that section of the country, but the Hardscrabble golf party seems to have been scrambling all these years in relative obscurity, albeit in good company.

"This tournament," says Porter, "is an infant in comparison with some of the more established invitation features, but in four years the winners include Fred Lampe, the former Tulane grinner and intercollegiate champion; Edwin McClure, the Texan who won the Arkansas State title three straight years.

"Chastain Harris and Emmet Spicer of Memphis and Reuben Bush of New Orleans, former Southern champions, have found the going rough, as has Larry Moeller, the former Notre Dame luminary, who, I believe, once won the intercollegiate. (Ed's note—he was a runner-up).

"Gus Moreland, now recuperating from an operation to relieve water on the knee, expects to start his comeback on the local layout. With him will be Leland Hamman, the Trans-Mississippi champion; Spec Goldman of Dallas and Zell Eaton of Oklahoma City, the runner-up and winner, respectively, of the Western this year; Walter Emery, former king of the collegians; McClure and Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, Southern champion.

"P. S.—And have your Southwest operative watch the Arkansas Razorbacks again this fall. They won the honors last year after much debate behind closed doors, but are apt to repeat on the field again this year."

He Calls 'Em As He Sees 'Em, Anyway

The boys finally "pinned one" on Bill Klem, the National League's most famous umpire and they didn't miss the long-awaited opportunity to rub it in, as a consequence of President John Heydler's reversal of the arbiter's ruling on an infield fly ball and his order to replay the game, involving the Cubs and Cardinals, from the spot where the mistake occurred.

It's all because Klem is noted for his outspoken claim that he "never made a mistake" in calling 'em from behind the plate or on the bases pin thirty years of major league umpiring. A gruff disciplinarian, Klem has never compromised with the ball players. He is held in highest respect by one and all. But the fact that he finally "missed one" that left him no comeback has been relished in baseball circles.

In all fairness to Klem, however, it should be said that the long-standing popular notion about his attitude on making decisions has been misconstrued. Bill never meant to have the idea prevail that he didn't or couldn't make a mistake. He has of ten told friends: "I may have missed some of 'em but what I mean is that there was never any doubt in my mind when I called a decision." In other words, what Klem meant and still means is that, right or wrong, he calls 'em as he honestly sees 'em.

That's all any arbiter can do with only his own eyes and judgment to rely upon, and it would take the camera's eye, split to one-thousandth of a second, to detect exactly what happens on many of the close ones. It's well to remember that as many as a half-dozen experienced, trustworthy judges, all on the same line, have been proved by the camera to be wrong in calling a number of foot-racing finishes.

The Big Bam Moans

Anyone who think Babe Ruth no longer worries about getting his base-hits, during the decline and imminent fall of the Great Bambino hasn't sat with him recently in the Yankee dugout, as I did the other days, while the Red Sox were in town.

The Babe, as everyone knows, has not even been hitting 300 this year. He was squawking about getting so many bases on balls, about somebody who had been using his pet bat and about Max Bishop. "That guy robbed me of two hits yesterday," "Seems to me ardraahruuapau and I need 'em," he remarked. "Seems to me when I catch hold of one nowadays, somebody is always in the ways of it."

That afternoon the Babe belted one that looked to have the home-run ticket on it, but Carl Reynolds backed up against the fence to catch the drive.

Ruth is using a slightly lighter stick this season, but he isn't shortening his swing. He still takes a lusty cut, whether he connects or not. "Maybe I'll be so weak I'll have to use a 20-ounce club next year," he laughed.

"Say," he added, "if you think that Gehrig doesn't sock 'em feel this bump on my shin, where a ground ball hit me a couple of weeks ago. I thought my leg was busted in pieces when that happened. It would have been if I didn't happen to have it lifted at the time while running toward second base."

Gehrig Gallops Along

Meanwhile Gehrig goes along regardless of lumbago, broken toes or just plain weariness, playing every day for the Yankees and adding steadily to the greatest iron-man record in the entire history of sport.

The Durable Dutchman, rounding out ten consecutive years of big league play, is one of the most remarkable figures in athletics. Since he has broken all records for continuous play his streak no longer concerns him, but he has no intention of asking for a day off, just to experience the novelty of it or to write "finis" to his mark, which seems likely to stand for all time.

"I'm ready to play as long as they want me out there on first base," says Lou in answer to any and all questions about how it feels and all that sort of thing.

Since he is now enjoying his greatest season of stick-work with the Yankees, and battling Jimmy Foxx for home run honors, there is no immediate prospect that Boss Joe McCarthy of the Yankees will ask Gehrig to take a rest.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened fairly steady, three to nine points higher, with only a partial response to steeper Liverpool cables owing to liquidation and foreign selling.

The market stiffened up further right after the call with December advancing to 13.68 and May to 13.90. The advance was not fully maintained during the early trading and at the end of the first half-hour December was holding around 13.62. After the early realizing of scattered selling had been absorbed the market worked up and at midday was quiet with December ruling around 13.62 and the general list showing net advance of about three to five points.

Futures closed fairly steady, two to five points higher; spots quiet; middling 13.60.

Dollar Loses Two Centimes.
(By The Associated Press)

The dollar lost 2 centimes in Paris at the equivalent of 6.68 cents to the franc today, while the latter dipped 0.01-2 cent to 6.69 cents.

Orders Drought Purchases.
Washington, Aug. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt in conference on the drought situation today ordered federal purchases of any foodstuffs which might otherwise go to waste, and laid down an emphatic ultimatum against politics in the relief campaign.

He authorized Aubrey Williams, assistant federal relief administrator, and Secretary Wallace to draft a plan for government buying of hay and fruit in small quantities which might not otherwise be harvested.

Williams emphasized this was primarily to afford relief for the small growers. He said there was no concern over a possible lack of sufficient foods.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Securities markets slackened emphatically today. Strong buying appeared in the U. S. Government bond after Saturday's sharp recession and the stock market realized briskly.

Grains declined a cent or so a bushel as trading was resumed after being all but stopped by the full limit drop on Saturday, but selling slackened.

Cotton turned upward and the dollar improved in foreign exchange dealings.

The strength of commodities stocks along with the improvement in the dollar and in U. S. Government bonds reflected the still confused state of mind in the financial community over inflation prospects.

Traders in stocks seemed to feel that commodity issues should benefit from the raising commodity prices due to crop damage, production control and other factors, and at the same time offered a hedge against inflation.

Shares up one to around three points included American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Goodyear, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Armour, Illinois and Great Western Sugar.

Transfers were 800,000 shares.

SUSPECT MORE CASES OF BLACKWATER FEVER

Elizabeth City, Aug. 13.—Two cases of what may be Blackwater Fever, malignant subtropical form of malaria now epidemic in Camden County, were reported here Saturday by Dr. Mercer Bailey.

Tests will be made if the patients do not improve to determine if they have the Blackwater variety of malarial fever.

In lower Camden County where the epidemic has been raging for the past four weeks, no new cases of the fever were reported.

Chowan County officials appealed to Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, state FERA administrator, to send engineers to start a campaign of malaria prevention.

Mrs. O'Berry promised that an engineer would be sent to Chowan County immediately to make a survey of what work is needed and that federal funds would be forthcoming for drainage and screening.

No cases of Blackwater Fever have been reported in Chowan but 500 cases of ordinary malaria have aroused the county board of health to action.

Keeping Things Fresh

If you wish to send a cake through the mail, cover the top with paper and over this spread some thinly sliced apples. This will keep it fresh and moist.

Flowers will be kept fresh longer if you put a piece of gum camphor in the water.

In cutting angel cake, dip the knife in cold water before slicing each piece so that the cake will not stick to the knife and become hard to handle.
