Farmers Joyous On Border Marts Over Price Rise

Situation Reported Best Since 1919 on Some of the Leading Markets; Better Grades Bringing as High as $60; Few Offerings Sell For Less Than $5

(By Associated Press) Tobacco farmers of South Carolina and border belt markets continued to flock to sales floors in jubilation today as prices for their offerings continued to rise, making it once more in reality the "golden week" after a long stretch of lean years.

From Darlington, Lumberton, Dillon, Timmonsville and back and forth across the North Carolina, South Carolina border country came the same reports.

"Best in five years. Best in ten years. Best since 1919." Reported averages ranged from $20 to $26 per hundred at the various markets. Some better grades sold for as high as $60. Very few offerings sold for less than $5 or $10. Some markets yesterday reported prices for the worst grades which equalled averages for total sales at the same time last year. Daily sales were running very light.

J. C. LANIER TO SPEAK AT BOOSTER MEET

Tobacco Warehouse Code Administrator To Address Gathering Next Monday

J. C. Lanier, loose leaf tobacco warehouse code administrator, will be the speaker at the "community booster" meeting to be held at the Yum Yum Barbecue Palace next Monday night. It was made known today by the committee on arrangements.

The invitation was extended to Mr. Lanier this morning and shortly afterwards he announced his subject would be "The Warehouse Code in Relation to Competitive Practices between Markets."

In other words, it is the purpose of the administrator, a member of the tobacco section of the AAA, to tell the tobacco men what they can do and what they can't do under the code.

The code was recently placed in effect on Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina tobacco markets and Mr. Lanier was on the job during the openings to see that administration got away in a satisfactory manner.

The object of the meeting here is to boost the Greenville tobacco market, the greatest industry of the section. It is sponsored by the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, Tobacco Board of Trade and the Chamber of Commerce, together with Merchants Association.

Along with announcement of the speaker, the committee stated that Ralph Deal, member of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, and one of the humorists and orators of the community, would act as toastmaster.

Other parts of the program will be worked out during the week and everything will be in readiness by the date set for the gathering. The gathering is not confined to the five organizations involved, but it was said anybody interested in the development of the tobacco market was invited to attend with payment for the meal.

Tickets may be obtained from R. L. Powell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Vernon Parrish Stages Comeback In Melon Realm

Vernon Parrish, champion watermelon producer of this section of the county, has staged a comeback and he did it with a bang.

Several days ago when another producer brought a melon to town weighing 98 pounds, Vernon's friends thought he had lost his prestige and chided him about it considerably.

Vernon merely looked wise as an old owl and said, "Wait."

Yesterday afternoon he drove into town with his large automobile literally groaning under the weight of three or four melons. He headed directly for the Reflector office and presented the publisher with a melon tipping the scales at 101 pounds. It was 28 inches long and 46 inches around.

Placing the melon on the counter, Vernon remarked: "There were so many, I didn't try to pick the largest one."

He also said the melons were growing so rapidly he had to keep men in the patch at night with flashlights to prevent the melons from jostling against one another and bursting.

COUNTY COURT BACK AT WORK

Thirty Cases on Docket as Tribunal Finishes Month Vacation

After a month's vacation County Court returned to work today faced by a calendar of something like thirty or more cases.

Much refreshed after a month of recreation, court officials returned to the court room ready for the grind which is expected to continue through today and probably a part of tomorrow.

Judge Dink James presided over the session today. He spent several days on the banks of nearby rivers and creeks during the vacation attempting to convince some of his friends of his ability as an angler. So far, he has been unable to do that. Every time he went fishing some of the old heads at the game told him the "moon was wrong," or the wind was out of place, and fish just wouldn't bite.

The next time the judge goes fishing he said he expects to be sure of the location of the moon and the wind and try to bring back sufficient fish to convince his friends that he really can fish when they bite.

Cases for County Court have been piling up rapidly the last several days, with the majority originating in Greenville. Several charges of theft were scheduled to be aired along with others involving infractions of traffic and prohibition laws.

LEAF CARDS READY HERE

Farm Department Mailing Out Notices Telling Farmers to Come For Cards

E. F. Arnold, director of the local farm department, said this morning that tobacco marketing cards are ready and that notices were being mailed out telling the farmers to come and get them.

Mr. Arnold made it clear that it is necessary for farmers to sign for the cards. He also said it was necessary that all growers bring their contracts for identification.

In case it isn't convenient for a grower to go to the office to sign for his card, he may obtain same by sending somebody else with a written notice and his contract.

Farmers whose acreage measurements have not been completed were urged to speed up their work, obtain their certificates and apply at the Farm Office for their marketing cards.

With the tobacco markets scheduled to open August 23, Mr. Arnold said it was imperative that delivery of the cards be speeded up as much as possible so growers may be in readiness to market their tobacco when the market swings open.

VON PAPEN OFF FOR NEW POST WITH AUSTRIA

Vice Chancellor of Germany Becomes Special Envoy From Germany to Austria

Berlin, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Franz von Papen departed at 12:38 p. m., today on his long heralded mission of special envoy to Austria. He was bid goodbye at the airport by Frau Von Papen and other close friends. The vice-chancellor—he has not yet officially been removed from that post—declined an opportunity to make a farewell speech but stated briefly to the Associated Press: "I will see the leader at Berchtesgaden before I continue on to Austria."

He was referring to an intended conference with Chancellor Hitler, now in the Bavarian village.

A grim touch was added to the departure by the presence of a small detachment of Hitler's black uniformed guards, the Schutz Staffeln, which briskly presented arms as Von Papen arrived at the airport. The waiting photographers meanwhile were warned by the airport police: "Keep the Schutz Staffeln out of the picture."

POLICE CHASE MAD DOG HERE

Second Rabid Animal In Two Weeks Reported in Western Part of City

The reported discovery of a rabid dog in the western section of the city this morning caused police to renew their campaign to throw a safeguard around public life by keeping dogs off the street.

Police Chief George Clark said he had been seen in the vicinity of Garris-Evans Lumber Company and sent policemen to the section immediately to kill the animal. This is the second mad dog reported here the last two weeks. In all cases, the dogs have been slain but only after they had bitten other animals, it was said.

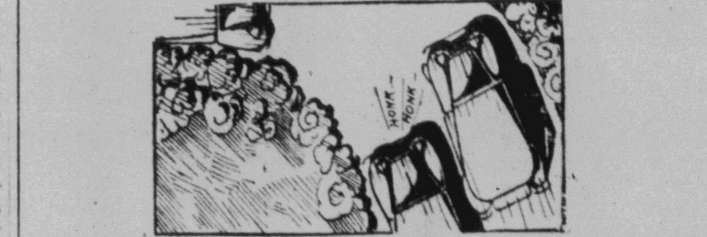

In view of this fact an ultimatum was issued by the police head ordering all dogs kept at home in leash, with the warning that any caught on the streets would be slain.

Carrying out the order, policemen have killed probably a hundred dogs within the last several weeks. The campaign will continue, it was said, until the danger from rabid animals subsides.

Several persons were bitten here last year, with one dying, and police tightened restrictions around dogs immediately in the hope of preventing further loss of human life from this cause.

Bill Manning Charged With Reckless Driving After Car-Truck Crash

It was said today at the office of the division highway patrol that a warrant had been sworn out against Bill Manning of Bethel, charging him with reckless driving as result of a truck-automobile collision on the north side of Tar river bridge yesterday afternoon.

The charge was brought against Manning after he allegedly pulled out from a filling station onto the highway, causing a Cascade laundry truck driven by Walter Gaylord to crash into the Manning machine. The truck was almost completely demolished and a second occupant, Norman Dixon, was reported to have received painful face lacerations.

Manning's machine also was reported to have been badly damaged as it was thrown through a guard rail of the causeway by the impact. Manning was said to have been driving in a careless and reckless manner and a warrant was issued immediately for his arrest.

NEW SCHEDULE FOR POOL HERE

Swimming Pool Also Announces Beginning of Swimming Classes this Morning

The schedule of the municipal swimming pool was changed today from 6 to 8 a. m., 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 6 p. m., and 7 to 11 p. m.

Sunday hours will be from 2 to 7 p. m., and from 9 to 11 p. m.

It was announced that the swimming class got away to a good start this morning with 32 persons being enrolled for instruction. Among the number were several women.

Beginning tomorrow swimming instructions will be given from 9 to 10 o'clock and during the time the pool will be closed to all but members of the swimming class and the life saving classes. The change in schedule was made, it was stated, for the convenience of the hundreds of people who patronize the pool from day to day and in an effort to render the greatest service to all.

Monday derived from the swimming classes will go to the general pool fund.

In order that all the children who wish to use the wading pool will be under careful supervision, the management of the swimming pool wishes to announce that Miss Elizabeth Norman will be in charge of the children from 10 to 12 and from 3 to 6 each day.

Miss Norman is a competent instructor of children and everything will be done to promote their safety. Parents are still welcome inside the wading pool enclosure but the children will be safe at any time under Miss Norman's care.

We feel that the mothers will feel safer in letting their children wade in the pool with someone to supervise it and if the crowd is justifiable it will enable us to continue with the services of Miss Norman.

AAA LEADERS TOUR NATION ON THE ISSUE

Farmers Told That Human Control Necessary to Curtail Overproduction and Restore Prices; Statement of Future Policies of Government to Also be Outlined by the President

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt is expected to lay before the country within the next few days a statement of future policy on drought and farm relief.

The indications are that it may include an answer to critics of the AAA's crop reduction, some of whom have been stressing drought devastation to emphasize what they call the "sin" of artificial slashing of food supplies. AAA officials have been touring the country answering this criticism. They told farmers that human control was necessary to curtail over-production that depressed prices, to restore farm purchasing power and thus to bring the national economy into better balance.

REALTY SALES SLOWING DOWN

Only Ten Deeds of Transfer Reported in Pitt County The Last Several Days

Realty transactions slowed down perceptibly in Greenville and Pitt county the last several days, it was revealed today by records in the office of the register of deeds.

Only ten registrations were reported the last several days, compared with twice that many for the previous period.

The largest of the transactions was from J. L. Cockerham to Atlantic Joint Stock Land Bank for a consideration of $2,500.

The next most important transfer was from Interstate Truck Corp. to N. C. Joint Stock Land Bank, for a consideration of $2,000.

The remainder of the transactions ranged from $1 to $1,200. Much of the property exchanged the last two or three months involved residences in this and other parts of the county. The housing shortage in Greenville has been acute for several months, and numbers of homes have changed hands as renters bought to prevent somebody buying their homes from under them.

The transfers follow:

- Selma Carson Moore to Mrs. S. L. Lewis, lot, $15.00. W. A. Sellars and wife to David A. Evans, lot, $1,000.00. Jos. L. Cockerham to Atlantic Jt. Stk. Land Bank, $2,500.00. Interstate Tr. SPLIT MARRIAGE

Chapter 4: AGREEMENT

"BUT you wanted to destroy the note?" Bob probed on, baffled. She dropped back to turn her face from him; her muted "Yes" failed to reach him.

"What, dear?" he asked, as he leaned over her. She turned to look up into the eyes that were so close. "Yes," she repeated.

"No you don't," he combated. "No human ever knows what another thinks. I realized that, Marsha, after I left you last night. Will you go back with me and go with me wherever I go for as long as you feel you can stand it? I want you to very much."

"Very well," she answered in a whisper. She hesitated; she said, "Suppose you want to marry some one else?"

"And for me!" she assured him with a leaning toward her old flippancy, "so I presume we might as well make the best of a bad job!"

EVERYTHING was being done for Marsha that could be done. Bob reasoned a week later, (and as he had a headed time such day of that week) and she did not grow better.

She usually answered with "No." Early in his vigil she had said, "Not unless you want to; unless it's too stupid for you to be here with nothing to entertain?"

Work in Seclusion Besides Milligan, it included such man of the Interstate and Foreign man of the Interstate and Foreign with satisfactory results.

"Marsha!" he broke out. "It's nothing! I don't know what makes me so silly!" she said with childish anger, to realize she had told him another lie. She did know what made her "so silly," and too well.

"He had risen at that; unable, through nervous restlessness, to sit longer. "No, of course there's no excuse for it!" he exploded. "You're only burning up with fever every day, starving, and no one does anything!"

"What does he call it?" Bob questioned belligerently. "Not really ill! when you're lying here, losing weight, hour by hour! But of course 'when earth's last picture is painted' the medical profession will be grafting pollywogs' tails on police dogs and calling it a day!"

HE MOPPED his brow. Marsha laughed suddenly, loudly. "Today's," she said, after she had sobered, "was even more amusing than yesterday's. Yesterday's specialist was more impressive, but today's—you towered over this one go, Bob, and you know you're rather long and lean and sometimes, lately, rather desperate looking, and this one was so fat and short and comfortable looking—and the contrast! Didn't it amuse you?"

"No, it didn't," he answered, and to his shame, not quite steadily. He had found no help; he had so confidently expected help from Bolt.

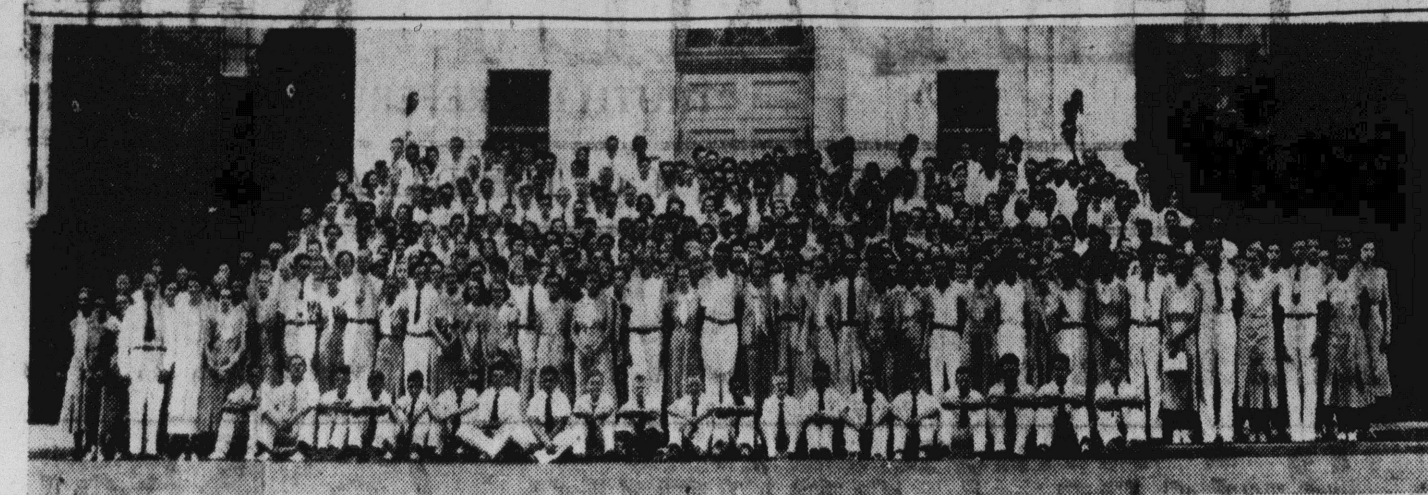

"What, Bob?" "I am worried about you, I guess I'll have to acknowledge. I've always had the greatest respect for the medical profession. I know what they can do—do do do—from living in lands where the ill must stay ill if the devil-doctors can't help."

"Perhaps that is as it should be. I don't know. I know only that it makes life difficult. And you needn't be worried about my getting well. I shall, it may take a little time, but you won't have to see the struggle. I shan't be going with you."

"I want to tell you about it," she said, "and I wonder whether you could come here to sit on the edge of my bed and hold my hands very tightly as you used to while I fell ill? And don't, please, stop holding them so until I'm quite through, because... but you'll know later. You won't, Bob, stop holding my hands and holding them tightly?"

U. S. Army Heads Plan "Stockade"

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—"War in the skies" would find the United States encircled by up-to-date defense units if plans developed by the War Department are executed.

Under the direction of General Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, the department is working out a defense program calling for complete and modernized anti-aircraft guns, searchlight batteries and fire control equipment for eight regular army regiments, seven national regiments and nineteen inactive regular army regiments.

The program would cost about $33,325,000. Secretary Dern of the War Department, who recently made an inspection of Panama Canal defenses, reported that the canal, a vital link in ocean-to-ocean communication, is seriously lacking in anti-aircraft equipment and the first steps in the program probably would be taken there.

At the end of the war, equipment was crude and unwieldy, methods used were too slow and cumbersome to combat new planes. The War Department and civilian manufacturers began an intensive study of the problem, developing these anti-aircraft weapons and equipment: (1) The 3-inch guns, to combat heavy bombardment planes and observation planes engaged in photographic reconnaissance at high altitudes. To hit such targets, the gun must have a high muzzle velocity and excellent ballistic characteristics.

(2) The 50-inch machine gun, designed to combat low flying planes which attack troops, trains and establishments with light bombs and machine guns. These planes fly so low and so fast that it is impossible for an artillery gun to re at them effectively.

(3) "Fire control" system for computing firing data and transmitting it to the anti-firing data and transmitting it to anti-aircraft guns, including a stereoscopic height-finder and a director to keep the gun pointed at the target and set the fuse so it will explode at the proper second. (4) Searchlight units, consisting of lights of 600,000,000 candle power, with power plant, and means for locating the aircraft before the light is turned out.

The army now has four anti-aircraft organizations in the United States and four in the Philippines, Hawaii and Panama. They are, however, only skeletonized regiments.

Fayetteville, Aug. 14.—Helen Maness, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Maness of Greensboro, died in Highsmith hospital here yesterday from injuries sustained Friday morning when her father's automobile struck the approach of the Little River bridge at Manchester. The child sustained a fractured skull and paralysis of the brain. She lived nearly 70 hours without regaining consciousness. The body was taken to Greensboro for burial.

All six members of the family were injured, and Mr. Maness is still confined to the hospital but is now considered out of danger. Mrs. Maness, another daughter, Margaret and two sons, Fred and Julian, were less seriously hurt.

The Maness car crashed into a heavy timber erected by the Highway Commission to guard the sharply angled approach to the bridge. More than twenty wrecks have occurred there within three years, but this is the first fatality.

Grimes, confessed perpetrators of nine robberies in this section, last night succeeded in effecting an escape and eluding a large posse of officers in an all-night man-hunt.

Both men were still at large late today. A third prisoner, Frank Smith, awaiting trial on a charge of larceny, was captured by Deputies Lawrence Gowens and Alec Davis as he attempted to follow the Grimes brothers in their dash for freedom.

The escape occurred at about 7 o'clock last night during the absence of Jailer Lawrence Gowens who had been called away from the jail in Graham to assist other officers in handling an emergency case.

YOUNG FRENCH ACTRESS BECOMES A MISSIONARY Paris.—(AP)—Mlle. Marvye Wendling, young comedienne, has deserted the stage for missionary work in Africa as a nun, the third French actress to take the veil within two years.

Friends denied reports that failure to attain stardom in the boulevard theaters caused her to enter the convent at Venissieux, near Lyon, where she is serving her novitiate. It is a case, they insist, of religious devotion triumphing over a worldly career.

Yvonne Hautin and Suzanne Delorme are the other two youthful actresses who have retired into convents, each after having played leading roles on the stage.

A Duck Squabble

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER "How dare you hit my mate," quacked Mr. Quacko Duck angrily and gave the visiting lady duck, who had slapped Mrs. Quacko, a good whack with his wing.

"You're a brute and a bully to strike a lady duck," quacked one of the visiting Mr. Ducks furiously. "Now wait," said Willy Nilly. "The very idea to say that I have no manners," quacked Mrs. Quacko. "I, the smartest and most superior duck any one could find. I associate with ducks such as Mrs. Quacker of Quackerville."

"I know her," said the visiting lady, "and I've often heard her say you put on airs and that you were a gossip."

"She said that about me, did she?" asked Mrs. Quacko. "Well, I'll tell you that if there is a bit of gossip Mrs. Quacker doesn't know I'd like to hear about it."

"Of course you would!" quacked the visiting lady duck. "You put your webbed foot into it that time!" "I meant," said Mrs. Quacko Duck, trying to recover herself, "that there isn't a bit of gossip Mrs. Quacker ever misses. And she puts on airs—thinks there's no place like home."

North persisted to three no trump and South, lacking an entry except for the spade ace, thought it would make bad matters not quite so worse by bidding for spades. West passed, but East, sure there was something wrong, injected a double.

West led the ace of clubs and followed with a club for East to trump. East shot back the jack of diamonds, which West took with the ace. He led a third club for East to ruff and East came back with another diamond.

In the dummy now, the dealer thought it would be well to finesse East in trumps because of the double. Lo and behold, the queen of spades went to West's king. West led a heart which went to East's ace. A diamond lead enabled West to make his last trump. South was set four.

Pest-Meritms North took the floor: "You (South) had a nerve to do anything but pass."

South came back: "You should have bid one no trump, instead of two, on the second round, and then should have passed the two spades I should have bid."

North: "You couldn't have made two spades."

South: "You couldn't have made one club."

North: "They could have done something in hearts."

South: "Let 'em. They never would have reached any contract. The hand would have been passed out if you hadn't been dazzled by those king-queens."

Tips on CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL Signing Off Players who don't open in first or second position without a rebid and expect partner to give them a chance to bid again on the slightest excuse should watch their steps when the responding hand sign off.

After a pass East, South with his wonderful assortment of high cards, concealed his disgust, but essayed to give North a chance by offering one spade. West sat tight, hoped and passed.

Two no trump, remarked the enthusiastic North. Pass East. South in anguish bid three spades, hoping that North would pass and wishing North had bid one no trump, so that two spades could have been mentioned South.

BOY KILLER TO FACE JUDGE BARNES TODAY

Raleigh, Aug. 14.—A hearing of murder charges against Jack Rogers, negro boy who shot and killed Marvin Saunders, 12-year-old lad of his race, will be held this afternoon in juvenile court, his age having been definitely determined at 13 years.

Earl M. Smith, boys' probation officer of the Wake County Welfare Department, after examining school records said yesterday that Jack Rogers was under age and would be tried first in juvenile court by Judge Wiley G. Barnes. Rogers had said that he was 12 years old.

My Beauty Flint

By CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG (Screen Actress) Keeping mentally alert an youthful is more important than cosmetics. Although I am in my forties, my face shows few wrinkles. For me, witch hazel and lemon juice take the place of bottled cosmetics. The witch hazel keeps the skin smooth and the lemon juice is a bleach and cleansing aid.

By EDITH HASKINS (Screen Actress) As a blonde, I recommend a lemon rise which is also a mild bleach—the juice of two lemons in a quart of water. Another good rinse for blonds hair is one-half ounce of peroxide to quart of water.

By ANNABELLA (Screen Actress) Bright eyes are an asset to the woman of any age, and they may be kept so by the daily use of a thoroughly reliable eye wash. One's eyes should be given equal care with one's complexion or teeth. Dust that gathers during the day should be washed away before retiring.

Sauces and Custards In making tomato stew or tomato sauce, the cover should be left off in cooking. That will prevent the tomatoes from burning and adhering to the bottom of the tin.

When making cup custards, scald the milk slightly at the start and the custards will cook in half the time, so that you will be using your oven for a shorter period and the job may be accomplished more quickly.

Meat and vegetable stock should be saved, as it is useful in making soups and sauces.

Goldsboro, N. C., Aug. 14.—W. E. Pender, 52, merchant of Pikesville, this county, was shot in the abdomen by a negro just after he left his store about 12:30 Sunday morning. He was brought to the Goldsboro Hospital, and it was found that his intestines had been punctured. On Monday his condition was considered very serious.

Two Pikeville negroes, one named Spruill, 30; the other Hagans, 22, were arrested and lodged in the Wayne jail, pending the outcome of his injuries. Each admitted that he shot at Mr. Pender, but it is not known which one hit him. It was stated that the shooting was the result of previous personal grudges.

SNOW HILL TO PLAY LOCALS HERE TODAY

After winning four games in a row from the league-leading Ayden club last week, Greenville took on Snow Hill on the home grounds this afternoon.

At the same time Kinston was to play in Tarboro and Ayden at New Bern. In other words, it was first division teams against second division ones and the outcome of the week's play was being looked forward to with interest in all six towns comprising the circuit.

Ayden and Kinston are tied for first place and Greenville lags only a half game behind after staging the spectacular rally last week in which the Ayden club was trimmed four times in as many days.

The season will close August 25 after which the post-season series will get under way. It looks now as if either Ayden, Kinston or Greenville will be in the race and play this week will largely determine which will be the lucky ones. However, should the week-end with the three leading clubs holding their same places in the standing, next week's play will be the determining factor.

After the splendid showing against Ayden last week, it was expected hundreds of fans would be on hand this afternoon, in fact the remainder of the season, to see "Tick" Poole and his hetties try for a place in the championship series.

Greenville captured the flag last season by taking four straight games from Ayden and this embodiment of victory is flying proudly from a flagstaff in center field at this time. It is the cynosure of all eyes at all games played on the home lot and the battle to keep it where it is will be the most spectacular probably ever seen in this part of the country.

Love Laughs At County Line
Rutherford, N. C.—(AP)—A couple obtained a marriage license in Rutherford County, came to Gray's Chapel Church, most of which stands in the adjoining county of Polk, and asked Pastor J. A. Fry to unite them. State law specifies a marriage must be performed in the county that issued the license, so Mr. Fry solved the problem by ushering the couple to the small, far corner of the church that is in Rutherford by a few inches—and there the vows were taken.

Andy Hewlett To Go To Morganton High This Year

Andy Hewlett, Greenville high football coach for the past year, has accepted a position as coach with the Morganton High School, it was made known today.

No successor to the post here so far as known has been obtained today.

Hewlett is a product of Davidson College, having played quarterback for that team. He coached at Morehead City two years before accepting the post here. He succeeded C. W. Porter, who accepted work in the western section of the State last year.

SPORT SLANTS

Pitching, as Bucky Harris remarked in a dugout chat at the Yankee stadium the other day before his Red Sox galloped out to engage the Yankees, happened to be just about the biggest factor as well as the biggest headache in the life of a big league manager.

"The team that has at least two steady, reliable pitchers—fellows who will go out there in their regular turn and come close to winning twenty games apiece—is the one you have to beat," remarked the Boston pilot. "Power, speed and team spirit are fine assets, but they are generally wasted if your pitchers are being banged around by the opposing club. "Everyone knows what keeps the Giants up there and has made them world champions. Sure, I know they are hitting, too, with the livelier ball, but the main reason is that Bill Terry has four fine pitchers. Something can happen to one or two, but the others will come through. You rarely see the Giants lose a series to any team or go into anything resembling a slump, because the pitching defense is consistently too good to be broken through."

The American Flingers

Harris turned then to the American League situation, in which he is more vitally interested right now. "There's no standout team in the league this year, and for just one main reason—none has a steady pitching staff. The Yankees have Gomez, but the others are erratic. The Tigers have had great luck with Rowe, besides the help of Bridges and Marberry, but Mickey Cochrane has had to do a lot of shuffling with his staff. Cleveland potentially has the finest pitching in the league, but it has not been consistent. "Now look at our club. This spring I naturally figured Grove as our ace, a twenty-game winner, with Bob Weiland and Dusty Rhodes now out there pitching to batting practice, trying to get back into shape! He has won four games and it is doubtful he will recover in time to pitch a half dozen more for us this year. Weiland didn't come through, either, and we lost Pizarro. Rhodes hasn't been consistent and Ostermueller, the young southpaw, has had bad luck in some well pitched games. We were lucky to get Wes Ferrell after the season was well under way. "Ferrell's fine performance shows you how uncertain the business is. He wouldn't sign on Cleveland's terms. His arm had gone bad last year and many thought he was all through. I looked him over down South and figured he had a chance to make a comeback and the Red Sox finally got him on my recommendation. Even with a late start, Wes thinks he can win 20 games. I don't annoy me if he does, but think how far we would be out in front of everybody if Grove had been able to keep pace with Ferrell for us?"

How Phils Got Davis

How did the Phillies happen to get the pitching prize of the year, Curtis Davis, when it would seem at least a dozen other big league clubs could have bid higher for his services? "There were a lot of others who would have been glad to get him," explained Harris, "but the Phillies, as a seventh place club, had the preference in the draft and beat the others to him when his name was pulled out. Davis always looked good to me, when he pitched for San Francisco against the Tigers out on the coast, and there was nothing mysterious about the fact he was the most effective flinger in the Coast League last year."

GIANTS RAP LIVELY BALL FOR 16 TWO-DIGIT SCORES

New York.—(AP)—Another bit of statistical proof that the world champion Giants have made the most of the new lively ball this year by emphasizing attack rather than defense.

By the first week in August the Terrymen had won sixteen games in which they scored ten or more runs, topped by a 21-4 decision over the Phillies that saw eleven runs pour over the platt in the last inning.

In their victorious 1933 campaign the Giants scored in the double digits only seven times all year. Opponents have reached "10" only four times this summer against the Polo Grounders.

HUBBELL FINALLY ATTAINS WIN OVER PESKY DODGERS

New York.—(AP)—The current big league season had mosed along as far as August 7 before Carl Hubbell, the Giants' pitching ace, managed to score a win over his jinx team, the Brooklyn Dodgers, and thus complete his cycle of trimming every other National League entry at least once.

At that, King Carl's win came in a rescue bid where he hurled the last four innings, allowing the Stengel crew to tie the score when he took over, then holding them in check while his mates regained the lead. Hubbell's complete record against Brooklyn is ten wins against twenty-one defeats in the seasons since 1928.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, seven to eleven points decline on lower Liverpool cables, favorable crop reports from India and liquidation.

Offerings were absorbed at about the initial prices and the market steadied later, and at the end of the first half hour December was ruling around 13.55 with active months showing net declines of five to eight points.

Offerings were light and December worked up to 13.58, but later fell back, and at midday the market was quiet around 13.53 for December, or about seven to eight points net lower.

Futures closed fairly steady, 13 to 16 points lower, pots steady, middling 13.45.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Treasury permitting gold to flow out of the country to support the dollar, inflationary fires cooled in the stock market today.

Prices of shares held very steady in sluggish trading save for some of the silver stocks where moderate reactions developed. Some of the foods, oils and tractions were a little higher.

Bonds were firm, including U. S. Government. In commodities grains resumed their advance, but such staples as cotton, sugar and rubber were lower.

U. S. Smelting lost two points while Santa Fe, U. S. Steel, Cerro Despasso, Howe Sound and American Telephone were off fractions to around a point. The late tone was easy. Transfers were 500,000 shares.

Three Killed In Blast.
Elizabeth City, Aug. 14.—(AP)—With a terrific explosion which shattered the building in which it was housed, the J. S. Wiggins saw mill boiler blew up at Trotville in the adjoining county of Gates today, instantly killing two men and fatally injuring another. The dead: Alvy H. Wiggins, 26, son of the owner; W. G. Hollowell, 50.

Isaac Eason, 45, negro fireman. J. S. Wiggins, the owner, was badly injured and was rushed to the Suffolk hospital. Another son, Floyd Wiggins, was less seriously injured and is being treated at home. Hollowell died between Sunbury and Corapeake while enroute to the hospital.

The colored fireman went to the saw mill this morning to get up steam for the day's sawing. Just as Wiggins and his sons and Hollowell drove up the boiler exploded. Eason and Alva Wiggins were instantly killed and their bodies were found in the ruins.

Turning cold water in the hot 60-horsepower boiler was blamed for the explosion. The boiler had been in use since 1918.

Seek Higher Wages In N. C.

Asheville, Aug. 14.—(AP)—E. B. Jeffers, chairman of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, today said he had asked Governor Ehringhaus to urge the next General Assembly to enact legislation allowing wages of highway workers to be increased.

Addressing the annual convention of the State Federation of Labor, Mr. Jeffers said the inflexible budget set up by the legislature and changed economic conditions since the budget was enacted, made it necessary to go back to the legislature to get relief.

"A little over a year ago the NRA went into effect and a little over 18 months ago the N. C. Legislature adjourned," he said.

"The budget adopted by the legislature," he said, "was based on the assumption that we would have decreasing costs in both labor and materials."

"Insetad," he pointed out, "both have increased. Drastic steps were necessary to save the credit of the State and its budget was balanced," he continued, "but as a result there was an unbalanced budget of employees."

Seek to Impeach Waldmsley

Baton Rouge, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Governor O. K. Allen announced this morning that he would issue a call for a special session of the legislature at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

He didn't say when the session would convene. When asked what matters the legislature would consider, the governor said: "I'm still working that out. I will announce it all at 2 o'clock."

It was reliably reported that it was planned to call a five-day session from August 19 to August 23.

The session would be extended, if necessary, it was learned. The legislature will take action, it was reported, to impeach Mayor T. Semmes Waldmsley of New Orleans with whom Senator Long is contesting political control of the city.

BEGGED FOR WATER IN VAIN; IS FOUND DEAD

Waynesboro, N. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Sterling A. Clemmons, 30, a construction employee of E. I. du Pont de Nemours, Inc., staggered, fell and lay helpless in a vacant lot just inside the city limits last night.

"Water," he gasped, as pedestrians strolled by a few yards from where he lay. They ignored him. Clemmons crawled a few feet and again begged for water. Again strollers passed him by.

"Some drunk," repeated police this morning as they found his body, an empty pint flask clutched in his hands.

"Heart failure," scrawled Coroner T. M. Perkins as he signed the death certificate. He added that a drink of water might have saved Clemmons' life. In the flask found near by the body were a few drops of water. The man had not been drinking.

DUST STORM MADE IOWA A FERTILE FARMING STATE

Iowa City.—(AP)—Dust storms, which reddened the eyes of Iowans during the spring drought this year, are believed by geologists to be largely responsible for the fact that Iowa is a rich agricultural region.

Dr. George F. Kay, geologist at the University of Iowa, explains how it happened. "Fifty thousand years ago," he says, "there were dust storms which covered Iowa with the fine, pebbly soil the farmer is now plowing. The dust brought in by the wind-storms covered the less valuable or worthless 'drift' left Iowa by the glaciers with a soil which has made the State famous."

The wind-blown soils cover three-fourths of the State, he adds—the best farming and dairying areas.
