Order Calling Of Textile Strike In Next Fortnight

MAY EXTEND WALKOUT TO OTHER FIELDS

Silk, Rayon and Worsted Goods Mills May be Affected by General Strike; Mills Involved are in New England and the South; Only 12 Hours' Notice of Strike to be Given

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The greatest walkout since passage of the National Industrial Recovery Act is planned by the United Textile Workers of America to enforce NRA provisions in the cotton textile industry. Overriding conservative leaders, the union convention ordered its executive council yesterday to call a nationwide strike of cotton textile workers within a fortnight. Francis J. German, of Providence, R. I., first vice-president, said the convention would vote today or tomorrow on whether to extend the walkout to the silk, rayon and woolen worsted fields. Half a million persons work in the cotton mills and a quarter million in other textile plants. The union claims a membership of 300,000. Most of the mills involved are in New England and the South. Delegates from strike-torn Dixie, one of them scarred and limping, led the fight for the mandatory strike call. Only twelve hours' notice of the strike's actual start is to be given employers, but the "deadline" for the walkout was fixed at September 1.

Pigs' Ways

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
Willy Nilly and the pigs were having a great argument.

"But it's true that it's my birthday," said the first pig.

"And it's my birthday, too," grunted the second pig.

"I guess I ought to know my own birthday," squealed a third pig.

"I squealingly say the same," said the fourth pig.

"Of course," said Willy Nilly, "some of you were born at the same time but it's impossible for every one of you to have the same birthday."

"Ah, you don't know pigs," grunted one old pig. He had also said that it was his birthday, and while it was possible he had been born on the same date, as the others, several years before, it was impossible that all of the pigs should have arrived in the world on just one date.

"It makes it a little difficult," Willy Nilly tried to explain very politely, "to have so many birthdays at once."

"You see," explained the old pig, "we pigs have our own ways. In the pig world it is no: the custom to have the date on which one is born as a birthday."

"Oh no, that would never do. But whenever there is any chance of presents of food we all call it our birthday. This is the pig way and a very good way it is I can tell you."

"Yes, I can understand that," said Willy Nilly.

There was nothing else to do but to try to satisfy all the pigs, and he got a great deal of food for them. But now they began to quarrel.

"Everything goes wrong," thought Willy Nilly miserably.

GRIMES BROTHERS NOT ARRESTED AFTER ALL

Burlington, N. C., Aug. 17.—Ted and Ed Grimes, brothers, with nine confessed crimes in this section, jail escapes reported captured at Kenansville Monday, still are at large.

Sheriff H. J. Stockard and Officer Currie Murrie who went to Kenansville when advised by wire that the men were in custody there, returned empty-handed.

The officers were happy on the way down, certain they would return the robbers and jail-breakers back for trial before Judge E. H. Cramer in Superior Court in Graham, but both admitted their "feathers fell" when they went to the cell to identify the men held.

"We do not want these men," Sheriff Stockard reacted with a deep feeling of nausea. "They resemble the Grimes brothers, but they are not the Grimes brothers."

COME TO GREENVILLE

On next Thursday when the tobacco markets throughout Eastern Carolina open for business there will be thousands of visitors to the various markets and we extend a cordial invitation to you to visit the Greenville market on that day. Not only will you find a hearty welcome on the warehouse floors of Greenville, but in each and every business establishment in the city you will be made to feel that our people are really glad that you came to Greenville. Whether or not you are going to sell tobacco on that day we invite you to meet your friends in Greenville next Thursday.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO WAIT

Reports have come to us today that some tobacco growers of this section are carrying some of their crop to the border and South Carolina markets for sale at this time rather than wait until the markets in this belt open, which we believe to really be a disadvantage to the growers. As stated before in this column, as the season progressed in Georgia it was realized that the crop in that belt was shorter than anticipated and probably this had its effect in the higher opening prices of the border markets. The same is being learned with regard to a further shortage in the border belt, which should reflect itself in even better prices when the markets open in Eastern Carolina. It is less than a week before the markets in this section open, so the growers will not have but just a few more days to wait before they can begin to realize some money on their crop, and certainly we believe that the few days delay will mean money to them, especially in view of the fact that they will save the cost of traveling the far distance to the border markets in addition to the probability of even better opening prices here.

Spanish Forts May Be Tagged 'Made in U. S. A.'

By REX SMITH Palma, Balearic Island—(AP)—Mighty guns and impregnable coast defenses, perhaps bearing the label "made in U. S. A.," are planned by Spain for its strategic islands here at the mouth of the Mediterranean. Spanish officials have asked the American government for information on the cost of virtually every type of coast defense used in the United States and which might be released to a foreign power. They believe that America has the best defensive weapons in the world. Although the plans for making

TIGER ISLAND A New Serial by Gouverneur Morris

SYNOPSIS: Wong Bo, captain, and Flint radio man of the "Holden" are literary owners of that dingy old tramp and soon to scuttle her for the insurance. Aboard are Angus McLeod and a messenger he has tripped. McLeod falls ill of appendicitis however and must be put ashore at a little Dutch port on the route to Singapore. McLeod wonders what to do with the animals, his doctor suggests that Harvey Bowers big game hunter, wants passage to Singapore and might help.

Chapter Three THE WAY OUT

"Oh, hey, Harvey!" called Van Reuter. "Look here a minute, will you?"

Bowers crossed the deck to Van Reuter and was introduced to the sick man.

"Mr. McLeod," the doctor said, "Mr. Bowers. And he added, 'Bowers is something of an expert with animals, and perhaps he can help you out. I know that a passage to Singapore is what he is after.'"

"Not Harvey Bowers?" said McLeod.

"That's my name," said Bowers. McLeod, who by now was feeling the effects of the morphine, turned a whimsical face to the doctor.

"It is well known," he said, "that Mr. Bowers is a great expert when it comes to laying low the birds of Malay circuses. There are sure to be trick animals and a trainer."

"Aye," said McLeod; "but the cost would be prohibitive. I would have to buy the man's animals and pay through the nose for his services."

"If you would let me finish," said Van Reuter, "I would have told you I got the impression that the impresario, what you call the manager of the circus, had eloped with the cash-box and left the performers on the rocks."

Bowers interrupted. "Your place is in the hospital," he said. "Suppose you leave everything to me? If there is a trainer, I will get him. If there are animals to be bought, I will look after that. That will be my private venture. Perhaps I shall be able to turn them over in Singapore at a profit."

"I NEVER thought," said McLeod, "to like a man that goes up and down the world hunting to kill; but now, young man, I am open to argument."

"Feel better?" asked Van Reuter.

"Yes and no," said McLeod. "The pain is still there, but it does not hurt."

His eyes, lazy with morphine, roved until they were focused on the placid face of Wong Bo. By eye and the air, and the beasts of the field. But has he any skill in the art of keeping the wild creatures alive and happy?

"You will hold the ship for Bowers," ordered McLeod.

"I am for the hospital, Mr. Bowers," he went on; "and these poor beasts are for Singapore; but there's none on this ship who has the skill to feed them and administer to their wants. You are said to be verily skilful in the killing of big game, Mr. Bowers. Do you know how to doctor them and how to feed them?"

"Not in the least," said Bowers frankly. "But I have certain qualifications. I've got to get to Singapore. I would be glad to help you, and I am not afraid. If you'll tell me what has to be done, and when, I'll write it all down and do the very best I know to follow instructions."

"Have you your notebook handy?" asked McLeod.

Bowers had, and Van Reuter chose the opportunity to summon the stretcher-bearers from the launch.

"Please don't misunderstand me," said Bowers, who was preparing to take notes. "I am only taking this job on condition that I can find a first-class assistant. You say that there is no one on the ship?"

"Not a man with an idea in his head," said McLeod, "or a heart in his breast."

At this moment Van Reuter returned. He was followed by two magnificent Malays in white sarongs, who carried a stretcher.

"Doctor," said Bowers, "do you know any man in Sinbao who is a first-class hand with animals?"

Van Reuter chuckled. "Not unless you are the man," he said, "and the animals are women."

"That's a nice reputation to give me," said Bowers; but he was not altogether displeased. "Think hard. There must be someone. These islands and the whole of Malaysia are full of people who understand animals."

"Now wait a minute," said Van Reuter. "Last night I heard some gossip. I didn't give much heed. It seems that in the outskirts of the town there is one of those little and by ear, Wong Bo had been a witness of all that had passed. So also had Flint. Both knew that Harvey Bowers was being wished on them as a passenger. Both regretted it. But neither was in a position to voice an objection.

"Wong Bo!" said McLeod. The Chinaman drew nearer and received his orders.

"You will hold the ship," said McLeod, "until Mr. Bowers comes aboard with his animal trainer. You will then proceed to Singapore. You will treat Mr. Bowers as my representative."

Wong Bo looked Bowers coolly over and fanned himself. Then he nodded his head.

"To Singapore," he said. "Very good. With permission I shall burn joss sticks for early recovery."

With the utmost gentleness Van Reuter and the two Malays slid McLeod from the mattress to the stretcher. Flint came forward and shook hands with McLeod.

"Wish you good luck, sir," he said; "and who knows? Maybe some day you'll think all this is for the best."

With infinite precaution, McLeod was transferred from the Boldero to the doctor's launch, and from the customs wharf to the hospital. He was not in any pain, but it was feared that any jolt might burst his appendix and most grievously complicate his disorder and jeopardize his chances of recovery. During the whole of the transfer, Harvey Bowers, notebook in hand, took down a whole gospel of the care of animals on the high seas.

Sinbao boasted of three or four taxicabs which had first seen the light of day in the far city of Detroit. They were very old and asthmatic, but swifter than rickshaws or bullock carts. Bowers chartered one of these and had himself driven to the open field in which the career of the Matassori Circus had come to an untimely end. The field lay between the last straggling houses of Sinbao and the dark mysterious Malaysian jungle. Some of the discolored tents had been struck.

AYDEN HALTS WIN STREAK OF LOCAL OUTFIT

Ayden checked Greenville's winning streak and regained second place in the Coastal Plain League by taking a 3 to 2 decision over the local yesterday. The loss ended a winning streak which had reached seven games and which had lifted Greenville into the runner-up spot in the league race.

Yesterday's affair was a hurlers' duel in which Wrenn had the better of Dean, although the locals outthrew Ayden, 10 to 9.

Royal and Mitchell, each with a double and a single, led Ayden. Huiskamp hit a triple and a double to pace Greenville. Bostic with a double and a single, and Weaver, with two singles, ranked next.

Bostic's hits sent Greenville's runs, in the second and fourth inning. Ayden did all its scoring in the first frame, mixing a double and three singles with a Greenville miscue.

Bostic was the star on defense. Ayden made one error; Greenville made two. Wagner caught for Greenville; Stephenson caught for Ayden.

NEW BERN WINS, 13 TO 1
New Bern, N. C., Aug. 17.—New Bern pounded three Tarboro hurlers for 15 hits to get a 13 to 1 decision here yesterday.

Jenkins started on the mound for the loses, but retired in favor of Perritt during the locals' five-run second inning. Perritt, in turn, gave way to Steinke who tried in vain to stop the flow of extra-base blows. Bill Wheaton held Tarboro to seven scattered hits and kept them scoreless except in the sixth. Biddle, with four hits in five tries, and Norwood, with three doubles in four chances, led New Bern. Cleary made a pair of hits to lead Tarboro.

Whalton produced enough runs to win his own game by hitting a homer with one on in the second. Richardson caught for Tarboro; H. Perebee and Covington caught for New Bern.

Late News Flashes

(Continued from page one) Two Officers Wounded. Statesville, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Sheriff G. C. Kimball and Deputy R. L. Gilbert were wounded today in a gun battle with Ralph Davis, former convict, who was being sought for the theft of an automobile. With Deputies Gilbert and A. L. Simms, Sheriff Kimball had tarried Davis to a tenant house ten miles from here where the officers surrounded the house about 11 a. m. Davis appeared in the doorway and began shooting. Sheriff Kimball dropped with a bullet through the abdomen and Gilbert was shot above the knee. Exchanging shots with Simms, Davis jumped into an automobile and fled toward highway No. 16 which leads to Salisbury. While a posse armed with machine guns set out after Davis the two wounded officers were brought to a hospital here. The sheriff's condition was described as critical.

Ransom Paid For Labatt. Toronto, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Despite information from an authoritative source that no ransom was paid to effect the return by kidnapers of John S. Labatt, London brewer, information was made public in Hamilton today that "less than $50,000 ransom" was paid for the release of John Labatt. This statement made a few hours after the wealthy London, Ontario, brewer had been released from a gang which held him captive for 65 hours, followed one declaration that "not a cent of ransom was paid," and another that the complete $150,000 demanded had been put up.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened easy, thirteen to fifteen points lower under general selling, lower Liverpool cables and the threatening textile strike. After selling off to 13.40 for December at the start, the prices stiffened up to 13.46, but liquidation continued and the market at the end of the first half-hour was rather unsettled with December holding around 13.42 and May 13.68, or 13 to 14 points net lower. The initial break to 13.40 for December seemed to bring in more trade buying and offerings were absorbed. At midday December was selling around 13.45, or five points up from the lowest, with the general market showing net declines of about ten to thirteen points at midday.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The stock market remained apathetic today, falling to develop enthusiasm over moderately optimistic week-end trade surveys. A few specialties broke out on the upside, but the list as a whole was quiet and barely changed. In the commodity market wheat and other grains sagged in the early dealing, but wheat soon rallied. Foreign currencies stiffened against the dollar, but the bond market continued its slow recovery. U. S. Steel, American Telephone and Chrysler sold fractionally lower. New York Central and U. S. Smelting were about even. Transfers were 450,000 shares.

RED CROSS NURSES FIGHTING MALIGNANT MALARIA EPIDEMIC

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—Five Red Cross nurses have been sent by Red Cross national headquarters here to Camden County, North Carolina, where an epidemic of malignant malaria is raging. Three were sent in to the county last week in response to requests for help sent in by the chairman of the Camden County Chapter of the Red Cross, Mrs. George Upton of Balcrass and by Dr. W. L. Stevens, local health officer. Miss Margaret Dine, of the Red Cross Nursing Service, went to the scene to make a survey of conditions, and this morning she telegraphed a request for two additional nurses who were immediately authorized to report for duty. Her telegram reported there are 74 cases of the fever and there have been five deaths. "The epidemic began about a month ago," said Dr. William DeKlenzie, medical director for the Red Cross. "It was at first tentatively diagnosed as undulant fever and was later thought to be a tropical disease, dengue. Now it has been diagnosed as malaria of the malignant type once known as blackwater fever. It is transmitted by mosquitoes. The nursing campaign in Camden County will probably last a month or six weeks."

JAPANESE ASIATIC TRADE PROMISED NEW SEA GATE

Peiping.—(AP)—Completion of the harbor works started by the Chinese government five years ago at Hulutao Bay on the east shore of Petchihai Gulf, about two hundred miles north of Tientsin has been decided upon by the Manchoukuo railway authorities, Japanese advisers state. When Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liann was governor of Manchuria he signed a contract with a Dutch engineering firm to construct a modern port at Hulutao at an estimated cost of $7,000,000.

Outing of Chang by the Japanese halted the work in 1931. Now Manchoukuo has decided to make the harbor navigable for small steamers of up to 2,000 tons. Hulutao thus would become an outlet for Jehol and Inner Mongolia, as well as a channel through which Japanese goods could be introduced to those regions.

Sinclair Dealers Fight $40,000,000 Bootleg Racket The American Automobile Association believes that motor oil bootleggers steal $40,000,000 from Americans annually on short measure alone. A. A. A. investigators who bought oil in 100 service stations in a large city were short-measured in 79 cases. In 40 cases they got an inferior oil. In 63 cases an oil of the wrong grade was substituted. The conditions discovered by the Automobile Association do not exist when you stop at a Sinclair station. Here you are sold Sinclair Motor Oils in Tamper-Proof cans. These cans are filled and sealed at Sinclair refineries with a full measure of Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil or Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil or Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil in Tamper-Proof cans.
