Adolph Hitler Given Great Vote In German Elections

FOUR MILLION PEOPLE VOTE AGAINST HIM

Some See Waning of Hitler Strength in Preliminary Figures; He Was Given 43,000,000 Votes in November Plebiscite; Big Decline Also Seen in Nazi Vote

Berlin, Germany, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Germany has given Adolph Hitler a 38,000,000 vote—"JA!"

In Sunday's one-man election, called to let the people say by ballot if they approved Chancellor Hitler's action in naming himself upon the death of Paul Von Hindenburg, as President, the vote was "yes" 38,362,760; "no" 4,294,654; "invalid" 872,296.

Some see in these preliminary official figures a waning in enthusiasm for Hitler, pointing out that yesterday's "no" vote were more than twice the number cast in the last November plebiscite.

Attention is also called to the sharp decline in the volume of Nazi party votes, as compared with the November voting.

In the November plebiscite there were 43,453,000 "JA" votes and in the November Reichstag election the Nazi vote was 39,655,244.

J. P. MILLS PASSES AWAY

Influential Farmer Dies Following Five Months of Failing Health

Jarvis Prince Mills, 52, influential farmer, died at his home two miles from Greenville, Saturday night at 9:30 o'clock. He had been in failing health for five months and death was not unexpected.

Funeral services were conducted from his late home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. R. F. Pittman, pastor of the Free Will Baptist Church, and burial was made in the family burying ground near Black Jack.

He was a member of the Free Will Baptist Church of Oak Grove. He had been engaged in farming all his life and had lived the past two years on the farm where he died. He was held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends.

He is survived by his wife, who before marriage was Miss Lila Sawyer, and five children, Charlie and Louis Mills, and Misses Marjorie Bell, Annie and Eula May, all of the home-place; three brothers, Louis, Cleveland and John, all of Pitt county.

Funeral bearers were: Charlie Mills, Jim Mills, Andrew Coghill, C. B. Joyner, Mark Baker and F. C. Burroughs.

TWO CHILDREN STEAL PISTOL FROM ARMORY

Smithfield, N. C., Aug. 20.—Two little white boys will be given a hearing in the juvenile court Monday, charged with the larceny of a pistol from the local armory. Night police Officer E. A. Johnson has secured from these boys one Colt's automatic and six of the eight army pistols which had been stolen. The pistol had been hidden in branches and in high weeds. The boys broke into the local armory by climbing the building by a pole and then upon the building by climbing upon getting through the roof by means of a rafter and the boys swung down the rope to the floor.

Move To Halt Higher Prices On Foodstuff

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—Food merchants today promised to help the government halt the growing spread between the prices the farmer gets and the consumer pays.

The drought's effect on the cost of living has aroused several United States agencies. Officials indicated that the price the housewife pays across the counter of the store were rising more rapidly than the prices paid the producers.

The National Goods and Grocery Distributing Code authority has pledged itself to support the Agricultural Department in its drive against profiteering and speculation. The code authority speaks for 6,000 food wholesalers and jobbers and 35,000 retailers.

The Treasury and Agricultural Departments were drawing regulations today to put into effect President Roosevelt's move to get the feed for livestock. The President has signed a proclamation lifting import on feed which will come shortly from Canada.

Mr. Hardee had lived all his life in the section where he died. He was one of the best known farmers of the territory and spent his entire life in the development of this industry.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed this afternoon. He is survived by five children, Callie Gray, Louise, Edna Earl, Evelyn Smith, and a son, James. Surviving also are two brothers, Heber and Lee Hardee, both of Pitt county.

Charge Will Of Hindenburg Was Falsified

Paris, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The newspaper Paris Soir charged today that the will of the late President Von Hindenburg of Germany had been falsified so as to eliminate a recommendation that former Kaiser Wilhelm should succeed him.

The newspaper said the last section of the will was written by Paul Von Gobbels, Nazi Minister of Propaganda.

It bases its story, written by a central European correspondent, on an authoritative source, it said.

The newspaper said the original will was much longer than that published last week.

American shoe polish producers rank second only to the British as exporters of that commodity.

J. C. Lanier to Address Gathering at Yum Yum Tonight At 6:30

Preparations had been completed today for the "Community Booster Meeting" to be held at the Yum Yum Barbecue Palace tonight at 6:30 o'clock, and around two hundred persons were expected to attend.

PUSH HOUSING PLANS IN N. C.

Pender County to Get 300 Houses Under Federal Construction Program

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Progress was reported today on the development of the Tendealea subsistence homestead project in Pender County, North Carolina.

Materials were reported on the ground for immediate construction of ten of the 300 houses eventually to be built on the 4,500 acres included in the development.

A million dollars has been allotted the project of which H. G. McRae, of Wilmington, is manager.

The Subsistence Homestead Corporation reported that the cannery already is in operation at Penderlea, and between 800 and 1,000 acres of land are under cultivation.

The project is intended to provide low cost farms on tracts of good soil. Families will be moved there from sub-marginal lands. The project is to be known as Penderlea Farms and the corporation in charge is the Penderlea Homestead, Inc.

ARTILLERYMEN RETURN HOME

Military Unit Captures Number of Honors in Annual Encampment at Bragg

Battery A, 113th Field Artillery, North Carolina National Guards, returned Sunday from a two-week encampment period at Fort Bragg. All of the men were in the best of health and fine physical trim after grueling camp life.

J. H. Waldrop, commander of the local unit, expressed himself as highly pleased with the fine showing made by the local boys, declaring that they were classed among the finest outfit in camp.

The unit was complimented by Col. Godfrey Cheshire, commanding officer of the camp, and Major Thompson for area work and the excellence of the kitchen.

The company also got out in the greatest order and claimed the distinction of being the only battery in camp with full strength—four officers and 65 men.

The battery also won out from the standpoint of health, having reported less men on the sick list than any other company in camp.

In the realm of sports the artillerymen captured the track meet overwhelmingly with Edmund Waldrop being declared best for high scoring honors.

The baseball team split in a three way tie with New Bern and Lenoir. The Lenoir team was in charge of Soup Porter, former officer in the local unit, but who several months ago went to Lenoir to make his home. In the draw for honors, Lenoir captured the cup.

The local unit for the last several years has returned home with numbers of honors to its credit, both in the field of military and sports, and the praise of commanding officers this year was as liberal as in any recent year.

Commander Waldrop and his men were highly elated over the showing and declared they would work from day to day in the future in an effort to maintain the high standard of training.

Fire Destroys Leaf Packhouse In Ayden Area

Fire, believed of incendiary origin, destroys the tobacco barn and contents on the farm of M. E. Canon at Roundtree, several miles from Ayden, early this morning, according to information reaching the city today.

About 15,000 pounds of tobacco housed in the building completely destroyed. No insurance was carried on either the barn or tobacco. The loss was estimated at about $3,000.

Although no information was given out, it was understood that investigation was under way today in an attempt to place responsibility for the blaze.

THREE KILLED BY FALL OF CHIMNEY

Houghton, Mich., Aug. 19.—(AP)—A final search of the ruins of the west wing of the Houghton County Infirmary, wrecked by the crash of a sixty-foot chimney during a wind storm last night, convinced authorities today that the renewal of three dead and ten injured, all those in the building had been accounted for.

The wing was reduced to a mass of tangled wreckage when the huge brick chimney without warning toppled over, ripped through the three-story structure, taking roof and two floors with it and piled much of the debris on the first floor. Whether it was struck by lightning has not been established.

GREENVILLE MAGISTRATE PASSES AWAY

Joseph Johnson 'Jack' Harrington Succumbs to Stroke of Apoplexy Here

Joseph Johnson "Jack" Harrington, 73, a veteran of the Spanish-American War, died at his home, 1109 Evans Street, Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. Death resulted from a stroke of apoplexy which he suffered last Tuesday night and from which he never regained consciousness.

North and South Carolina Included on Aviation Maps in This County

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—(AP)—When airplanes fly over the Carolinas in the near future pilots won't have to use automobile maps as they now have to do in some instances.

North Carolina and South Carolina were included among the States for which $508,000 in PWA funds was made available to rush to completion the master series of aviation maps of the nation.

The funds will be administered by the Aeronautic Branch of the Department of Commerce.

Injured Highway Head Loses Ground

New Bern, N. C., Aug. 20.—(AP)—John D. Waldrop, chief engineer for the State Highway Department, continued to lose ground at St. Luke's Hospital where he was brought last Saturday for the treatment of injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Dr. J. F. Patterson, attending surgeon, described Waldrop's condition as "very grave" but has not yet been given up hope for his recovery. Waldrop has been unconscious since the accident. He sustained a fracture of the right arm and possibly internal injuries.

C. J. Hayes, who travels for an advertising firm, and who was driving the car that collided with Waldrop, is under $500 bond pending the outcome of the latter's injuries.

For North Carolina Chevrolet was leading Ford by 2,553 cars, in Pitt County the report showed that Chevrolet had registered 249 cars for the first 7 months, Ford 211.

REP. RAINEY DIES SUDDENLY IN ST. LOUIS

Picturesque Speaker Of House Passes Suddenly From Angina Pectoris

St. Louis, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Henry T. Rainey, picturesque Speaker of the House of Representatives, is dead.

Apparently on the road to recovery from an attack of bronchial pneumonia, he suddenly developed angina pectoris last night and died at 7:50 o'clock as three physicians hastily summoned stood by unable to aid him. Today would have been his 74th birthday.

The Speaker's unexpected passing brought expressions of deep sorrow from political leaders in all parts of the nation, from President Roosevelt down.

The President called him a "humanitarian whose fine patriotism and thought first of all for what he conceived to be the well-being and interests of the common law."

His predecessor and Speaker, Vice-President John N. Garner, was "shocked speechless." Leadership of the next House is in doubt as result of the death of Rainey, but Representative Joseph Byrnes of Tennessee, who helped him put through much legislation of President Roosevelt's program in the last Congress, is prominently mentioned as his successor.

PHILLIPS IS SPEAKER HERE

Hookerton Minister Delivers Sermon at Union Services Here Last Night

Rev. J. G. Phillips, of Hookerton, delivered the sermon at the regular Sunday evening union service on the courthouse lawn last night.

The service was again largely attended by members of various denominations. The series will come to a close next Sunday evening with the Rev. J. R. Potts, pastor of the local Presbyterian Church, delivering the closing sermon.

Mr. Phillips last night spoke in the place of Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of Jervis Memorial Methodist Church. He also filled Dr. Combs' pulpit at the Methodist Church yesterday morning.

Singing last night was led by J. H. Rose, superintendent of city schools, assisted by members of the Methodist choir. Singing throughout the service has been one of the most inspirational parts of the program, and last night was no exception to the general rule.

Mr. Phillips' last night based his sermon on Jesus' talk with the wealthy young man and the Biblical reference: "He looked upon him and loved him."

The speaker declared the love of Jesus was felt throughout the world today just as it was when He walked the earth in human flesh. He paid special attention to "love at first sight," declaring it having been exemplified in the Saviour's contact with the young man of old.

He urged his hearers to show their appreciation of Christ's love by a return of this affection and an attempt to abide by His teachings.

Although the largest crowds of the summer were reported the last two series, members of the Ministerial Association, sponsors of the concluding service would draw the largest crowd yet. They stressed the fact that Christians of all denominations should be thrown in closer contact with one another, understand each other's ambitions and aspirations for carrying the work to a success, and then turn hands to the great task.

Surviving are the parents and three brothers, Edward, Earl and Jimmie Frizzelle.

TRUE DEVICE OF THE DEVIL, SAYS GORMAN

Head of United Workers of America Scores Objects of Mill Owners in Biennial Address to Labor Heads; Sees Enslaving of Workers And Breaking Down Of Nervous Systems

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The primary object of the project of the proposed general strike in the cotton textile industry set for Labor Day was disclosed today as a fight against the machine.

F. J. Gorman, head of the research department of the United Textile Workers of America, described it as a battle against the "stretch-out" system under which more speed up to the machines are assigned each worker.

"A true device of the devil," Gorman termed the system in his speech to the biennial convention of the union just ended here.

"It is enslaving our workers, making nervous wrecks of them and bringing their usefulness to a premature end."

Gorman and other union leaders charged the system is to increase production without increasing the employed man-time or the individual wages of the worker.

Late News Flashes

Rev. Askev Returns. Goldsboro Aug. 20.—(AP)—Rev. R. H. Askev, who turned up in Nashville, Tenn., after a bizarre disappearance from his home here last Tuesday, was brought back shortly before 3 p. m., today and was put to bed immediately.

Ms. Askev, who met the preacher in Raleigh where he left the train which had brought him from Nashville, said Dr. R. B. Miller of Goldsboro, had ordered Askev to bed until tomorrow.

When Dr. Miller was called into the case could not be learned. He was not in a party which left here this morning to meet Askev.

Visitors at the home following his return could see the 28-year-old minister lying in bed on his back and being fanned by women members of the household.

Askev's return cleared up uncertainty which developed when he failed to arrive yesterday as expected.

Reports tending to discredit Askev's story that he was kidnaped a week ago set his flock agog today. Nashville officers who already were openly incredulous of the evangelist's tale of being held captive four days in a "big green auto" announced that employees of a hotel there had identified Askev from (Continued on Page Four)

CIVIL COURT OPENS HERE

Judge Parker to Preside Over Two Week Mixed Term of Court Here

A two weeks' term of Pitt County Superior Court convened here this morning with Judge R. Hunt Parker, of Roanoke Rapids, presiding. The first week will be confined to the hearing of civil cases and the second to criminal.

Approximately fifty or more cases awaited consideration this week and it was expected a number would go to the compromise route with a number of others being completed through actual hearing.

The criminal docket, as always, contains a number of jail cases, and these will be given consideration in an effort to clear the county bastille of congestion. Two or three murder cases and several charges of robbery are also on tap.

This is the first visit of Judge Parker to this county for the purpose of holding court, and he was greeted cordially by members of the bar this morning.

WARD TAKES HEALTH POST

Acting Health Director Begins Work at Pitt County Health Office Today

Dr. Needham E. Ward took charge of the Pitt County Health Department this morning as acting health officer, succeeding Dr. R. H. McGeachy, who assumed charge of the Public Health Department in Halifax County this morning.

Although Dr. McGeachy started work in Halifax this morning, it will be Wednesday probably before he and Mrs. McGeachy will complete moving to their new home in Halifax.

Dr. McGeachy resigned his work here the first of the month and a committee named by the Board of Health to select a temporary successor, decided on Dr. Ward Thursday. A permanent health director will be chosen in the next sixty days.

Dr. Ward located in Greenville, about two weeks ago. He is associated with Dr. J. M. "Jimmie" Barrette in the practice of medicine on Third Street, and will resume general practice when the permanent health head is selected.

Hopkins is held for action by the grand jury at the next term of Superior Court in the second week in September.

bankers still recall government demands, the final disappearance from Democratic politics of a name conjured with by the party for nearly forty years.

Many farm families near Marvin, N.C., were in hayracks during the heat wave, spreading mattresses and blankets for lack of hay.

Homicides in Texas in 1933 reached a new high score since records have been kept—982 deaths during the year.

Politics is like that. Ten years ago a Democratic national convention extraordinary was held in old Madison Square Garden.

When the turmoil was over, the ticket read: Davis and Bryan. And two men were happy, beyond all others.

One was C. M. Shaver, of West Virginia, the obscure pre-convention manager for John W. Davis, lifted suddenly to the bright light of a national chairmanship. The other was "Brother Charles" Bryan, of Nebraska, given a Vice-Presidential nomination out of nowhere, to the surprise of the country and even of the convention itself.

Now, within a week, these same two men have written in disappointment what many look upon as the closing chapters of their political careers. Both, aspiring to senatorial nominations, were snuffed under by newcomers. Politics is like that.

For Shaver, it was the old familiar story of the failure of a once-important figure to come back.

For Bryan, it was something more. His loss of ascendancy in Nebraska politics may mean the end of a

BLOODIER

The increase in the death toll on North Carolina's highways continues uninterrupted. In the first seven months of 1934 a total of 460 persons have been killed as compared with 412 during the same period last year.

These seven months of 1934 have all been months of protest and alarm concerning the bloody tide of carelessness on the roads of the State. In them suggestions have been made in great number as to possible laws to prevent the continued increase in highway killings. But in those same months there has been little if any expenditure of greater energy in enforcing the laws already on the books to safeguard human life. New laws, if new laws were enforced, might help. But new laws unenforced will do no more than the present laws unenforced are doing to remove the menace which today threatens every user of the highways of the State.—(News and Observer).

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE
 (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

General Johnson's hint that he might be willing to remain as a sort of head-director of NRA lifted many Washington eyebrows.

There had been a pretty good understanding all round that the general was about ready to go. He virtually had said so publicly, himself, week ago. The Hot Springs conference of industrialists had adopted a resolution inferentially bidding him good-bye. The White House had refrained carefully from comment.

The codification process was to have been completed by August 15, and September 1 had been talked of as a possible date to change managements of NRA. But there were unexpected delays while the President was away. When he came back he found General Johnson still hesitating what to recommend as a permanent set-up.

Carefully the White House again refrained from comment when Johnson hinted of his willingness to remain on certain conditions.

And the impression persisted, among some of Mr. Roosevelt's intimates at least, that the general still was on his way out.

'Ambassador' To Bankers

It is beginning to dawn on Washington that Eugene R. Black, the unobtrusive Atlanta banker who has just stepped out as head of the reserve board, must possess a brand of courage hitherto wholly unsuspected.

He is going in where angels fear to tread, and he is doing it at his own suggestion. He will try to establish understanding and good will between the big bankers and the administration.

Few ambassadors ever undertook a more complicated mission. It is well known that a large part of the banking community is completely "off the reservation" so far as the Roosevelt policies are concerned. Mr. Black himself knows it particularly well; that is what makes his voluntary offer of mediation so impressive.

Many things are involved. Some

TIGER ISLAND A New Serial by Gouverneur Morris

SYNOPSIS: The tramp ship "Bridger" with its cargo of wild animals is about to be scuttled by its owners. When the radio operator finds for the insurance, but the owner of the animals, Angus Bowers, tells him of appendicitis and the ship puts in at Sinsoo so he may be taken to a hospital.

Chapter Five DIFFICULT MEETING "I DON'T understand," said the voice, "how you dared to run away in the first place; but once having run away, I don't understand how you dared come back. Haven't I sheltered you and guarded you? Haven't I kept you away from evil, and evil away from you?"

At this point the daughter began to be personified. She was called by her name. "Helen, Helen, Helen," said the voice, "how could you? How could you run away from the mother that loves you so, and stay away three days and nights?"

"I've a cargo of animals wished on me," Bowers said

"What's that you say?" said the mother. "Innocent? Guilt is written in every feature of your depraved little face. What have you done with your clothes?"

During this harangue Bowers had formed a mental image of Helen. Her name attracted him. The face of a young woman by the same name was said to have launched a thousand ships.

"Now don't stand there," said the voice, "and tell me that you've been robbed." Bowers choked down a laugh. And all at once the cold, hard voice became tender and beseeching and forgiving.

"There, there, honey, don't cry. Come to Mother. Mother forgives you. Now then," the voice had taken on a playful, coaxing quality, "tell Mother all about everything. . . . Yes, darling. . . I understand. . . . Well, I guess that's nature. . . . sea nature, monkey nature and human nature!"

Then there was silence. It seemed as if the silence was going to last indefinitely. Surely, thought Bowers, the young woman has had time to calm down. He struck the tent flap sharply a number of times with his open hand. Then he said loudly: "May I come in?"

THERE was no immediate answer; and thinking that neither his voice nor his hand-slappings on the canvas had caught the attention of those within, he pulled the flap gingerly aside and poked his head cautiously into the tent.

The tent did contain a pretty young woman, or should we say, a beautiful young woman; and she was fully and even elaborately clothed. For the rest, the tent contained five great animal cages which were empty. The iron-barred doors were ajar.

Some pieces of cheap and gaudy luggage formed a group. A doll-sized tin trunk was open. A red suitcase, no bigger than a woman's vanity bag, stood beside the trunk.

The pretty, or perhaps beautiful young woman, stood in the midst of the tent with a small female monkey of the Rhesus species in her arms. The young woman had hair of the color or quality known as platinum; and to the experienced eye of

Tips on CONTRACTIONS

By TOM O'NEIL Care With Freaks When there are sundry long suits around the table, fireworks in bidding are inevitable and doubles are likely to be unadvisable because high cards will be ruffed.

Often it is better to risk a small set at an overbid, if not vulnerable under such circumstances, than to try to penalize a vulnerable opponent.

From Bridge House, New York, is a hand at which W. H. Rapp, by good timing, ended a rubber when opponents were expecting a sizeable set and could have made game:

Bridge hand diagram showing NORTH, WEST, EAST, SOUTH cards.

South, not vulnerable and possessor of a part score, bid a heart. West, vulnerable, overcalled with two clubs. With three hearts, a diamond void and the club king, North felt justified in calling two hearts, enough for game.

Knowing what is to be expected from the average young white man in the tropics, and from the old ones too, for that matter, the young woman's attitude, if not belligerent, was cool and noncommittal.

"Looking for someone?" she asked. Bowers, respectful, charming and disarming, came closer. Where women were concerned, he always took Rapp, the declarer in the east, pondered. Evidently all the missing trumps were south and the king of clubs was north. There should be a club void south. The spade finesse was futile. The problem was how to get rid of a club from the east hand.

The solution reached was to establish a spade suit on which to discard a club. With that end in view, the opening lead of a heart was trumped in the west hand, although east could have taken it with the king.

The spade ace was led, followed by a low spade, which was trumped by east. When South shed the kind the declarer's idea was on the way to success. From the east hand the heart king was led. South covered and the ace was trumped with the queen of diamonds. The spade jack was covered by the queen and trumped east.

South Sorry East led the ace of diamonds, followed by a low diamond. South won and returned a heart, which East trumped. South was then permitted to make his diamond king. He had to return a heart. East ruffed, led a club to the race and discarded his low club on West's ten of spades.

FOREST FIRES IN WEST CONTINUE Spokane, Was., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Flames raged through western timberlands today in ceaseless fury, with thousands of blackened acres marking their path.

Lessening of the wind served to halt the spread of smaller blazes, but on a half-dozen fronts from California into Canada large fires defied control.

The worst fire in more than three years destroyed surface workings of two mines and swept over 12,000 acres of the Boise National Forest in Idaho.

Six hundred men were on the fire lines. Foresters hoped the blaze might seal its own doom eventually by advancing into rocky terrain.

APPROVE OF EFFORTS TO OBTAIN CANNERY Fayetteville, N. C., Aug. 19.—At a special meeting yesterday afternoon the Fayetteville board of aldermen went on record unanimously as approving the movement to have established here a meat cannery to dispose of the cattle brought to this section from the Western drought area. All members of the board expressed themselves as heartily in accord with the movement and promised every co-operation with the Federal and State relief organization to make the project a success.

DOCTOR SAYS POWDER MAY CAUSE CATARRH Bournemouth, England.—(AP)—Theodore Just, London aural surgeon, said at the annual conference of the British medical association that nasal catarrh was more common among young women than other persons.

"I think the reason is not that they are more neurotic," he declared, "but that practically all women use face powder. 'Many women are particularly susceptible to orris root, and I am told great pains to get himself liked, and was not accustomed to difficulty. "I HAVE had a cargo of birds and animals wished on me," he said. "I am taking them to Singapore for a friend, and I don't know beans about taking care of them. I thought that maybe you might know of someone, an expert, someone to take care of them, feed them, make them happy. There is a good piece of money in it," he went on, "and return passage. Know of any man that bills the bill?"

After a little hesitation, the young woman said: "Why yes, I do." Bowers was delighted. "By George," he said, "that's a big load off my mind. Can you put me in touch with him?"

Bowers before her answer came, there was hesitation. Then she said slowly: "Yes, I can; but I won't." She could hardly have made the statement more rudely. If Bowers was quick to be attracted, he was equally quick to take offense. He felt a little as if his face had been slapped.

"If you won't, you won't," he said coldly; "and thank you very much for practically nothing." And he turned on his heel. "Just a minute," said the young woman. "I didn't mean to be rude." Bowers affected amazement. "What," he said, "you didn't? Well, you had a tremendous success without trying."

"I happen," said the woman, "to know of a Hindu who is first rate with animals, A. I. You said you wanted a man. Well, he doesn't need the job as badly as I do."

"But!" Bowers started to object. "You needn't look so surprised," said she. "In spite of this gay uniform, I am not just the big show-off. I am a professional trainer and conditioner of animals; and though I say it myself, I'm a good one."

Big Bertha had told Bowers that the animal-trainer tent was to be recognized by the smell. To a keen nose this might have been true; and Bowers, turning to the big cages, sniffed and said: "Tigers. What's become of them?" (Copyright, 1934, by Gouverneur Morris) that orris root is to be found in certain kinds of powder."

The trainer makes an offer to Bowers, tomorrow.

LOCALS AGAIN TAKE CHARGE SECOND RUNG

Snow Hill, N. C., Aug. 19.—Dave Smith, youthful Greenville pitcher, held Snow Hill to six hits Saturday as his mates hatted an 8 to 2 decision in a game played before a big crowd.

The visitors made thirteen hits off the pitching of Silver and Stewart. Milton Harrington, who hit a triple, a double and two singles—paced Greenville. Bummer Woodworth, with three hits, ranked next. Perry made a pair of safeties to lead Snow Hill.

The Greens got enough runs—three—in the first inning to win, but they added three more in the second and tallied two others later in the game.

Saxe Barnes, former Wake Forest College pitcher, Saturday made his debut as a league umpire. He came in for plenty of riding by local players and fans.

Good defensive play featured the game. Snow Hill made the only error. Wagner caught for Greenville; Royce caught for Snow Hill.

How Street Was Named
Atlanta, Ga.—(AP)—Historians say Peachtree Creek, which flows through Atlanta, and Peachtree Street, the city's longest thoroughfare, derived their names from a gigantic tree used as a target by early Cherokee Indians in their game of throwing rocks. The tribesmen called it the "Pitch-tree" because they pitched stone at it.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, six to nine points higher in response to steeper Liverpool cables and on continued unfavorable weather.

The opening advance met some further liquidation, but there was no great deal of Southern selling and the market worked up a few points right after the call with December advancing to 13.34 and May to 13.37, or about ten to thirteen points net higher.

The market worked up to 13.39 for December and 13.64 for May later in the morning on the early demand which represented net advances of about 15 to 18 points. The buying then tapered off somewhat while offerings were not heavy and prices eased slightly.

At midday December was around 13.32 and May 13.58, of ten to eleven points higher.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Securities markets were again becalmed today on trading seas where only faint ripples were discernible. Brokerage circles continued to watch Washington for breezes which might blow up a little enthusiasm. But many board rooms were deserted as the generally silent ticker tape accentuated the inertia in the final session.

Stocks recorded only minor changes although some of the metals improved. While what got up a rent or more a bushel and sotton firm, profit-taking tended to retard any sharp upward movement in the staples.

Declaration of an extra dividend by Dupont while pleasing was in line with most prognostications.

American Telephone, American Can, and U. S. Smelting were steady, but U. S. Steel and Chrysler eased. American sugar refining was off around two points.

Rainey Funeral Wednesday.
Washington, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The funeral of Speaker Henry Rainey will be held late Wednesday afternoon at Carrollton, Illinois.

The body of the speaker, who died last night in St. Louis, will leave that city Wednesday morning for Carrollton. The funeral will be held at the Episcopal Church and burial will be in Carrollton cemetery.

S. C. Merchant Threatened.
Georgetown, S. C., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Authorities revealed today that J. J. Scurry, well-to-do chain store operator, had received a note which threatened death unless he paid $11,000.

The note was left in Scurry's mail box Saturday night, but which was not postmarked, read: "Bring us $11,000 at 316 High Market street at midnight or you will be killed."

The envelope enclosed a picture of a man's head which had been punctured full of holes. Sheriff H. H. Bruton and Chief of Police B. E. McLeod posted men at various points in the neighborhood but for two nights no extortionists appeared.

The address given in the note is only three blocks from the Scurry home and is occupied by negroes. Officers said they had practically no clue on which to work. However, they were seeking four car loads of men apparently traveling together but in cars bearing licenses of four different states who were described as tough looking by a filling station attendant who refused to accept a check from them in payment for gas about 9 o'clock Saturday night.

Leaf Prices Drop In Georgia.
Atlanta, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The average price paid for tobacco on Georgia's 14 bright leaf tobacco markets during the week ending August 18, dropped to $14.38 cents per hundred, H. J. Ramsey, statistician of the State Department of Agriculture, announced today.

The average price for the second week of the season was $20.45 per hundred and for the third week $22.62 per hundred. Sales during the third week totalled 6,896,023 pounds compared with 20,053,604 pounds last year. The average price per pound during the third week in 1933 was $9.90 per hundred.

During the opening week this year, 6,966,178 pounds were sold and the second week saw sales of 15,247,178. Sales to date range around the $30,000,000 mark.

SPORT SLANTS

It may be premature to write finish to the career of America's most colorful polo internationalist, Tommy Hitchcock but there is strong reason for suspecting that the second head injury he has suffered within a year will limit his future big league activities, if it has not actually ended them.

The risk he would run in high goal, hard-riding play is such from now on that he may have no alternative but to let the younger generation of the East take over the job of meeting the onrush of the Western stars in this year's inter-sectional matches at Meadow Brook in September.

"If Tommy recovers satisfactorily from his latest concussion," said a prominent polo official, "it is doubtful if he can get back into condition to rthe type of polo this series is bound to produce. Hitchcock suffered the most serious fall of his career in the East-West battle last year at Chicago. He does not know how to spare himself, any time he is in the game, and he would be foolish to try to combat the country's foremost players when not in fit shape to do so."

Youngsters Looking Good
The East team would be deprived of its only ten-goal player and the series robbed of its spectacular personality if Hitchcock is unable to ride out with the team at Meadow Brook, but the test matches so far have revealed sensational development among the "younger set" of Eastern stars.

It is entirely possible the East could safely rest its polo honors in the hands of the Mike Phillips, Jimmy Mills, Ebby Gerry and Billy Post, a 29-goal quartet. All are in their early 20's, all graduates of Yale, Harvard or Princeton and all literally born to polo playing.

Such an Eastern team would contrast sharply with the older and more experienced Westerners, Cecil Smith, Rube Pedley and Aidan Rorark, but it probably would give a splendid account of itself from start to finish. Whatever the youngsters lacked in weight or experience they likely would offset in speed and spirit. They are difficult to discourage an they have the natural resiliency of youth when it comes to the rougher side of the game.

West Has Its Ills, Too
While Hitchcock's projective loss is a distinct blow to Eastern polo enthusiasts, it should also be noted that the Western outfit is not entirely free from personal handicaps.

Cecil Smith, the ten-goal Texan, has been laid up most of the summer with sinus trouble and has had only a short time in which to get back into condition for the East-West series. Smith's eyes have bothered him for some time.

Boeske, who also was raised to ten goals this year, has not so far played up to his high rating. He was a disappointment abroad with the Aurora team, but this is blamed on the fact he had to play out of position at No. 3. Boeske is at his best at No. 2 or at back.

The Hidden Bones
By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
Willy Nilly was, at heart, a worried little man. He loved his animal friends who lived with him in Pudde Muddle, but having all these visiting ducks and chickens, hens, roosters, pigs and dogs was inconvenient to say the least.

To be sure the ducks were out of the way now, down at the pond, but he was unable to do anything about the way the hens, chickens and roosters were scratching up his garden. And the pigs were ruining the whole place.

Now, from just a little distance away, he had heard angry barks and growls.

Rushing first for the 'pepper shaker he then ran in the direction from which the sounds came. As he arrived all the dogs were fighting. It seemed that Rip had been very good to the visiting dogs and had let each one of them have a bone while he enjoyed a bone of his own.

But Rip always had a small supply of bones hidden away which he pretended, even to himself, were nowhere at all. Then, when he hadn't a single bone left, he could find one of these!

It was like having a small savings account of bones. The visiting dogs had discovered these hidden bones, and not only was Rip angry, but the other dogs were fighting among themselves for the bones they had found.

"Growl, growl, bark, bark, ca-choo," and now every dog was sneezing. Willy Nilly always knew how to stop a dog fight!
