TOBACCO MARKET SWINGS OPEN HERE TOMORROW

Leaf Movement To Reach Height During The Night

MANY LOADS ALREADY ON MARKET HERE

Nervous Activity Prevails in Tobacco Town as Final Preparations for Opening Are Completed; Thousands Expected to be on Hand Thursday; Growers Look For Higher Prices

Tobacco—literally the golden crop of this section of the country—was moving toward Greenville rapidly today in preparation for the opening of the local bright leaf market tomorrow morning.

As trucks and wagons loaded with the golden cargoes reached the market they were greeted by the usual nervous activity as last minute preparations for the opening were rushed to completion.

Hot dog vendors along all streets of the tobacco district cried their wares and itinerant musicians carrying every conceivable kind of musical instrument entertained small groups of growers along the streets as they awaited the siren-song voice of auctioneers to officially set sales in motion.

Buyers began arriving here the first of the week, and by the end of the present week numbers of bidders will come here from other belts ready to do their bit toward speeding up sales of the golden leaf.

The first load of tobacco was received here the middle of last week. Since that time other loads have trickled into market. The pilgrimages are expected to hit its stride tonight when hundreds of vehicles will clog every conceivable nook in tobacco town after being unloaded of their precious cargoes.

The vanguard of those who always like to attend opening sales to see how prices are going to pan out were also arriving today, and when sales get under way tomorrow morning over five thousand people will mill through the tobacco district listening to the song of auctioneers which means several million dollars to the people of this section each year.

With indications of the best season in years from the standpoint of prices because of the favorable opening in Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina border markets, farmers carried lighter hearts today than in many a year and were looking forward to jingling money in their pockets before sales have gone very far.

The farmers were not by themselves in anticipating better times. Business men and people in virtually all walks of life were looking forward to the opening with eager anticipation, realizing that the market means just as much to them as it does to anybody, and they, too, will be glad when the movement of money gets its stride. Merchants have put in large stocks of good to take care of the demands of the growers this season, and the rush of marketing is over and growers begin turning their attention to things for their families, they will find stores here amply able to take care of their demands.

Warehouses and factories are in fine shape to take care of the largest offerings in history because of improvements completed during the summer. Facilities for handling the leaf are increased here each year, and this season will see the leaf handled with greater ease than any other time in the market history.

Late News Flashes

Preacher Confesses Fake Kidnap. Goldsboro, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The Rev. R. H. Askew, four-square gospel evangelist, confessed today, Sheriff Paul Garrison said, that his story of being kidnaped was untrue and he wrote the ransom message received by his wife. "I needed a rest and had to get away," the sheriff quoted Askew as saying in explanation of his action. The 28-year-old man disappeared August 12 and turned up in Nashville, Tenn., four days later and told officers there he had been kidnaped and held prisoner by three men in a big green car. Sheriff Garrison said Askew confessed he fabricated the entire story of the kidnaping, sent a note and telegram to his wife demanding $25,000 ransom and also sent a note to Aine Semple McPherson de- (Continued on Page Four)

EXTRA POLICE NOT TO BE PUT ON THIS FALL

Regular Force to Attempt to Keep Traffic Moving Normally During Rush

No additional police have been added to the local department to take care of the rush and crush of tobacco season, it was said today by Chief of Police George Clark, but some of the present members will be forced to work extra hours to take care of the situation. There are seven men and the chief in service at this time, and Mr. Clark said no extra men would be added unless it became absolutely necessary. Usually additional men are put on the staff during the fall and winter to help look after traffic, but with all streets amply marked the police head said they expected to experience little difficulty keeping things moving along normally.

One hour parking legislation became effective in certain parts of the city yesterday, especially the business area, and sections of Dickinson Avenue will permit parking only on one side. The system of parking on the Av/ nue, Mr. Clark said, is very similar to last year in spite of the Government request that all streets 30 feet wide or less be opened to one side parking only. Only a section of the street will be affected, and that area in that tobacco district will permit parking on both sides as in the past.

Citizens have been urged to help the officers prevent congestion as much as possible by abiding by regulations with which they are already familiar and informing visitors of them. The tobacco district will be congested during the early part of the season, but if regulations are observed, it was hoped to keep streets fairly well open at times and traffic moving normally.

DRIVE CAREFULLY TODAY

DANGER—CYCLISTS

The bicycle vogue is creating additional hazards on streets and boulevards. Youths and adults are taking to the wheel in increasing numbers. In the main, cyclists are subject to the same traffic rules as the motorist. For safety they should traverse the extreme right side of the street and avoid the common fault of weaving from side to side. Motorists should exercise unusual caution and slow down when cyclists are in view.

POST REFUSES TO OKAY ANY LEGION HEAD

Pitt County Post Delegation Will Go to State Convention Uninstructed

The August meeting of Pitt County Post, No. 39, was held last night in the field house at Third Street School. A large proportion of the members were present to enjoy a chicken supper, and to attend to the regular routine of business. The final preparations were made for attending the State Convention of the American Legion which he held in Greensboro, beginning next Sunday. Commander Julius H. Rose will lead the delegation of 15, which will attend the meeting. The headquarters of the Greenville delegation will be at the King Cotton Hotel, which is also State Legion Headquarters. The delegation will leave Greenville Sunday morning around 9 o'clock and return Wednesday. The Greenville delegation will go uninstructed so far as the constitutional amendment is concerned, and so far as the selection of the State Commander is concerned. While the delegation will be uninstructed as far as the constitutional amendment is concerned, the Post last night refused to endorse the amendment, since the consensus of opinion of the Post believes that the amendment should be killed.

The Post last night refused to endorse the candidacy of any one of the three aspirants for the office State Commander. The opinion seems to be that Herbert Olive, of Lexington, is favored. The Post accepted the resignation of Dr. R. S. McGeachy as member of the Post, and also as Child Welfare Officer. The Post passed resolutions of regret concerning Dr. McGeachy's departure from Greenville, and also remembered the fine work of Mrs. McGeachy in the Legion Auxiliary. Dr. Tom Watson was elected Child Welfare Officer in the place of Dr. McGeachy. Commander Rose reported to the death of Legionnaire C. H. Bishop, and a committee was appointed to draw up suitable resolutions to be forwarded to Legionnaire Bishop's family.

BANDITS ROB GEORGIA BANK

Three Armed Men Escape After Obtaining Unestimated Amount of Money

Palmetto, Ga., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Armed bandits early today held up the Farmers Bank here and escaped with an unestimated amount of cash. B. Hudson, cashier, and C. C. Austin, bookkeeper, in the bank, said the bandits entered flashing pistols. Making their way to the case they took all the cash in sight and fled. A third man was in an automobile on the outside.

Bank officials described the two men who entered the bank as young. One of them was about 22 years old and dressed shabbily, and the other, about 35, was tall and well dressed.

GOVERNMENT RAISES LOAN ON COTTON

Farmers to be Allowed 12 Cents Compared With 10 Cents the Past Year

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—A 12-cent "bottom" which President Roosevelt placed under King Cotton was described today as a move to permit the South to market its staple in an orderly fashion.

Farmers will not have to sell at low prices should the quotations drop in the near future, officials said.

Several factors promoted the administration to announce late yesterday that the R. F. C., through the Commodity Credit Corporation would increase its lending from ten to twelve cents a pound on cotton, low middling, or better. One is a threat of widespread strike in the cotton mills which would tend to diminish demand for the staple, and there also has been a drop in consumption this year compared with the past year.

If a grower decided against selling his cotton he can borrow twelve cents a pound on it from the government. The regulation is expected to follow closely those issued late last year when the government loaned ten cents.

BRILEY WINS DAMAGE SUIT

Tobacco Man Awarded $750 Damage in Civil Court Against Dr. J. W. Perkins

Harvey Briley, Greenville tobacco man, was awarded $750 damages against U. S. Commissioner J. W. Perkins in yesterday's session of civil Superior Court on a charge growing out of alleged personal injuries which he received when attacked by Perkins with a walking cane. The case did not go to the jury but decision was handed down by Judge R. Hunt Parker, of Roanoke Rapids, who is presiding over this term of court.

The court allowed Briley $250 actual damages and $500 punitive. Perkins did not appear in court during the hearing, although he was represented by Judge F. M. Wooten. Briley was allegedly struck over the head by the Commissioner one day while a group was talking on Fifth Street. Briley said he never did know why he was struck and no evidence was offered by the defendant in yesterday's hearing.

Truck Drivers Back at Work At Minneapolis; Strike Over

URGE AMPLE PARKING ROOM FOR VISITORS

Employees of Business District Urged to Leave Cars Home During Leaf Season

In an effort to make more room for the thousands of people who visit Greenville during tobacco season, people employed in the business district were urged today to walk to work in the morning and leave their automobile at home. This action, it was said, will make more room for visitors in the heart of the business district and give them a greater opportunity of seeing what the city has to offer.

This appeal has been made by leading business men annually. In many instances it has been headed, but sooner or later folks get tired of walking and bring their cars back into service cluttering up the best parking spaces in the heart of town and making it difficult to find proper places to leave their cars.

This is the season of the year when money pours into the pockets of the business men, and if they are to get their share, it was said, every effort should be made to keep traffic lanes free of congestion and make it possible for visitors to reach the heart of the business district and find place to park.

It is estimated that around two hundred cars or more are used by people working in the business section. Think what this would mean if the machines were left at home, how much space it would leave for visitors, and what an opportunity it would give them for looking over the splendid offering shown by the merchants.

The tobacco market opens tomorrow and persons who do not live too far away from their work are urged to leave the machines at home and thus speed up the handling of the tremendous crowd to attend the opening and who will also be here the most of the season.

SEEK BANDITS NEAR OLD FORT

Four Men With Injured Companion Take Car From Scott Blanton of Charlotte

Old Fort, N. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Officers of two North Carolina counties today believed themselves close on the heels of four bandits who stole the automobile of a passing business man after wrecking their own gun-laden machine near here during the early morning hours.

The men were believed to be on foot hiding in the mountains of Gaston county after abandoning their car they took from B. Scott Blanton of Charlotte. The car, soaked with blood believed to have been from injuries the men received in a wreck, was located near Midville some six hours after the hold-up. Officers said no other automobile had been reported stolen and that it did not appear the band had another machine hidden in the vicinity. The Blanton car was found on a little-used side road where tracks indicated no other car had passed since.

Blanton and his son, Scott, Jr., on route from Charlotte to Asheville, stopped at the scene of what appeared to be a serious automobile wreck two miles east of here about 3 a. m. Three men asked transportation to a Marion hospital for their badly injured companion who lay beside the wreck. The Blantons agreed only to find themselves facing a quartet of pistols a few minutes later. They were ejected from their sedan and the bandits sped away leaving them to walk to Old Fort.

The elder Blanton said there was no doubt that one of the men was injured but that he appeared to be getting better.

SUMMER TERM BEGINS FINALS

Dinner in Honor of Graduates to be Given at College this Evening at 6

The first of the closing events of the Summer School of East Carolina Teachers College will be a dinner in honor of the graduates this evening at 6 o'clock, in the new dining hall of the college. All of the graduates, members of the faculty and their wives, and the dormitory students will be the guests.

The Board of Trustees will hold their regular meeting for the summer quarter tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Tomorrow will bring to a close the classroom work and examinations. Commencement exercises will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the Austin Auditorium. There will be over fifty graduates in the two classes, those getting the A. B. degree and those getting diplomas for completing the two-year course. These are more nearly equal in numbers than ever before.

The graduates will wear the academic robes, but there will be no academic procession of the faculty. The caps and gowns of the A. B. graduates will be black and those of the normal school graduates, blue.

Dr. L. R. Meadows will deliver the address. This follows the precedent established years ago of having the president of the college the speaker at the August closing.

Holdup Band Member Given Death Sentence

Richmond, Va., Aug. 22.—(AP)—In one of the quickest and most dramatic trials in Richmond history Walter Legenza, alleged member of the "Big George" Phillips tri-state gang, was found guilty by a jury in Hastings court early today of murder in the first degree in the slaying of E. M. Hubbard, Federal Reserve Bank mail truck driver last March 8 and sentenced to die in the electric chair October 22.

Higher Wages Are Seen For Garment Work

Washington, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Word spread through N. R. circles today that an announcement was imminent of official approval of an agreement to the cotton garment code reducing wages from 40 to 36 a week and raising wages 10 per cent.

FIELD DAY TO MARK KINSTON 'TILT' TODAY

Coastal Plain League Game to be One of The Deciding Factors of Season Play

Today is to be one of the "Red Letter" days of the year in this city with field day exercises as one of the features of the Greenville-Kinston ball games at Third Street school grounds this afternoon. All clubs were rained out in the Coastal Plain League yesterday, and this left the standing the same with Kinston on top, Greenville a half game behind, and Ayden the same distance behind the local club.

The game today in all probability will be one of the deciding factors in the race for the honor of participating in the championship series and all clubs, especially the three leaders will fight as hard as they can to keep themselves in the race. The second position club, on the other hand will do their damndest to knock the higher-ups off the rung of fame, and real battles are in prospect.

A number of special events have been arranged before the game here today for the benefit of the players, and those coming out in first place will be given special awards. The events will include skill in throwing, running and hitting and the players will be given ample opportunity to display their skill.

In spite of the fact that half Wednesday holidays came to a close last week, indications were that one of the largest crowds of the year would be on hand to see the locals attempt to trim the league-leading Kinston club. Some of the business houses have indicated they will let some of their employees off to take in the game in spite of the fact everything is in a hum for the opening of the tobacco market here tomorrow.

Coastal Plain League play ends this week, and each game means some will hold their places and that others will lose out in the race for supremacy.

NEGRO HELD FOR SHOOTING

Sam Obey Bound Over to County Court in Shooting of Riddick Youth Here

Sam Obey, 15-year-old negro youth charged with shooting another negro boy by the name of Riddick here last week, was given preliminary hearing in magistrate's court here and bound over to the next session of County Court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Both negroes at first claimed they were playing when taken into custody, but police said Riddick later repudiated his first story and said they were not playing. Riddick received a painful neck injury when a bullet fired from a pistol by Obey penetrated his neck. Obey was held for County Court under bond and was later released when relatives arranged bail.

New CCC Camps Approved in N. C.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Location of thirty-nine Civilian Conservation Corps Camps in North Carolina for the fourth period of the 1934-1935 fiscal year was approved today by J. J. McEntee, acting administrator of emergency conservation.

The State Park Camp will be located at Morehead City in the Fort Macon State Park. The army reservation camp at Fort Bragg and the biological survey camp at Swan Quarter is the bird refuge of Hide Park.

The tricolored redwing blackbirds are so "regimented" that they all feed in one rice field even when there are many other fields nearby.

TROOPS ARE WITHDRAWN FROM AREA

Truck Owners Agree To Take Strikers Back in Acceptance Of Peace Plans Last Night; Strike Outlook Darker in Chicago; Murder Warrants Issued in Portland Tieup

(By Associated Press) The military returned Minneapolis to the citizenry today—the truck drivers' strike was over. Agreement of the truck owners to take back strikers without discrimination paved the way for the acceptance of peace plans advanced by federal negotiators. Shouting drivers last night announced the union's almost unanimous vote to return to work.

Governor Floyd B. Olson said military rule would be revoked, prisoners of the military court pardoned, and national guardsmen withdrawn. Four deaths have resulted from the five-week strike. Settlement of the garment workers' union strike in Boston was also effected. The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America announced several hundred men would return to work late today.

The strike outlook was darker in Chicago where leaders of the week-old bus drivers' strike denied they had agreed to arbitration and other terms for settlement of the walk-out. No progress was reported immediately for averting the transportation tie-up.

Twenty-nine murder warrants are being arranged by Portland, Oregon police as a result of the strike battle there and state police sought to round up parties taking part in the fight at the Good Will Mines where a man was slain and one union man said to have been slashed.

Other strikes, including that of the Aluminum Company of America employees and the impending nation-wide walkout of textile workers were in the conference stage.

DR. M'GEACHY LEAVES TODAY

Former Public Health Head Off For Halifax To Take Up His New Work There

Dr. R. S. McGeachy, who recently resigned as director of public health in this county, left today for Halifax to take up his duties there as head of the public health service. Before leaving Dr. McGeachy made his rounds of the courthouse in which the health department is located, bidding farewell to all of his friends. He was the recipient of many good wishes for success in his new field.

Although Dr. McGeachy actually took charge of his work in Halifax Monday, he was unable to move his household belonging until today, and he and Mrs. McGeachy postponed going to Halifax until this morning. Each, however, had made a number of trips to their new home to make preparations for moving.

Dr. McGeachy is temporarily relieved by Dr. Needham E. Ward, who located in Greenville about three weeks ago. Dr. Ward accepted the post for sixty days until members of the Board of Health could decide upon a suitable successor to Dr. McGeachy.

The retiring health officer tendered his resignation to the Board of Health the first of the month. The board later accepted, at the same time expressing deep appreciation of the fine service rendered by Dr. McGeachy and regret over losing him. Mr. McGeachy had been with the local department for four years, coming here from Lenoir County.

STRANGE PARTNERS

"I WAS beginning to think," said the animal trainer coldly, "that you were different, that you weren't just exactly like every other man or monkey or beast."

Bowers winced as if he had been struck. "Well," he said presently, "I am just exactly. When I see a pretty girl, why then if she likes me, why she likes me; if she doesn't, she doesn't."

"Well," said she, "that's fair enough; and there's nothing doing. Get your clothes on, Helen. We're going to Singapore."

While she was helping Helen into a little red coat, edged with gold

"When my head aches," he said, "you'll give me aspirin? When I am naughty, you'll slap me?"

"That's the idea," said she.

"And what will you do for me when I am homesick?"

"Do you really want to know?" she asked. "Well, if you really get homesick, I'll try to make you think well of yourself. I'll say: 'Mr. Bowers, it is just barely possible that deep down, you're a tiny bit more chivalrous and decent than people think you are!'"

She changed the subject hastily. She pointed to the luggage. "Can you get all this stuff to the ship for me?" she asked.

"It will be taken care of," he said. "I have only got a taxi outside, and what's left of a chauffeur. That will do for our transport. We'll send a bullock-cart for the trunks and things. Are you going as is?"

"I'd like to change," she said. "I wouldn't be ten minutes if it weren't for the boots."

"What's the matter with the boots?"

"Somebody," she said, "ran off with my bootjack. I think it was probably the legless man. My boots are tough babies to get out of."

"Well," said Bowers, "if you'll sit down on that trunk, and excuse my back—"

One boot came off with a gulping sound.

braided, Bowers remarked that she hadn't told him her name.

"Ivy Green," she said.

"That's not your real name, is it?"

"No," said she, "of course not. 'What's yours?'"

"Harvey Bowers," she repeated.

"Harvey Bowers," she repeated.

"Well, well, well, now what do you know about that?"

But she did not say what was to be known about that until she had finished dressing the monkey. Then she began to elucidate, and there was a look in her eyes which he did not in the least like.

"Harvey Bowers," she said, "the killer!"

Anger and contempt seemed to be gathering in her brain.

"Do you know what I think of big-game hunters?" she asked.

"No, no, I don't," said Bowers hastily; "and I'm sure I don't want to."

But she had made up her mind to tell him what she thought, and she proceeded to do so.

"I think," she said, "that a man who goes around with a high-powered rifle, taking no chances, and murdering the big beautiful wild things, is low and rotten and cowardly. Put that in your pipe and smoke it!" Then she turned to the monkey: "Don't look so happy, Helen," she said. "We have just been freed."

"No, you haven't," said Bowers quickly. "Not if you still want the job. You have a perfect right to your opinion, even if you jump to it from a sloppy take-off. I suppose it's thinking the way you do that makes you get along with animals; but it doesn't look as if you were going to get along quite so well with me. But that's neither here nor there."

"Oh, yes, it is," said the young woman who called herself Ivy Green, and admitted that it was not her name. "What makes you think that you are not just another animal? We'll get along all right if you behave yourself."

Bowers was quick to take offense and quick to forgive. His displeasures never lasted very long. His mouth spread into a sudden beguiling grin with dimples at the corners.

Decision to launch the fight for abrogation of the rule at the very start of the session was prompted by the fact that no opportunity would be afforded individual members to get a discharge petition circulated.

Signatures to a discharge petition must be affixed on the floor when the House is in session. The petition rests on the Speaker's table and those who sign do so in full view of the House.

If afforded the opportunity it is fairly certain an effort will be made on the part of individual members early in the session to start discharge petitions. Twelve such attempts were made in the last Congress, five of which received the required number of signatures.

THE RIGHT MAN FOR THE JOB

There comes a rumor from Raleigh to the effect that someone other than Dr. Leon B. Meadows, temporary head of the college here, is being slated for election as permanent head of the college. The rumor also is to the effect that the new aspirant for the place has the endorsement of President Frank Graham, of the University of North Carolina, and Governor Ehringhaus. As we see it, Dr. Meadows, during the quarter of a century he has been connected with the college here has rendered invaluable service and is the proper man for the place as president of the college. This same opinion has been expressed by the student body and the alumnae of the college in resolutions endorsing Dr. Meadows for the place. It seems to us that years of service and qualifications should be the main considerations in selecting the person for this important post and certainly measured by such a yardstick Dr. Meadows is the man for the job.

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Democratic leaders of the House have decided definitely on the strategy to be pursued in the next Congress to tighten up on rules or procedure. The move will be swift and executed at the very beginning of the session.

The so-called "discharge rule"—by which signatures of 145 members of the House force a showdown vote on any piece of legislation—is the target. This rule so bedeviled the Democratic leadership in the last Congress that its execution was ordered forthwith.

Speaker Rainey, Floor Leader Byrns and Representative Bankhead, chairman of the rules committee, however, had their hands tied. It

PARIS OFFICIAL TELLS WHAT TO DO WITH BOMBS

Paris.—(AP)—A shovel, a pair of tongs and a bucket of sand in every apartment building are officially proposed as weapons against the next wartime air raid—and Paris is scornfully laughing.

Raoul Brandon, city councilman, asked the authorities to order apartment-house owners to provide tenants with a "shovel to receive ten-bomb, large tongs to take hold of it and a bucket of sand in which to place it, there to distinguish itself without danger."

War veterans wrote one sarcastic editor, "I will be enchanted to learn, twenty years after 1914, that a shovel, tongs and a bucket of sand are sufficient to capture a bomb and render it harmless."

WEAPONS FOUND IN PRISONERS' LOCKERS

Washington, Aug. 22.—(AP)—A formidable store of knives, blackjacks and slingshots discovered in prisoners' lockers at the District of Columbia reformatory at Lorton, Va., today by officials investigating the background of a threatened prisoners' strike.

The plans of the convicts were thwarted when the men were routed from bed before breakfast and 250 of the institutions 1,225 inmates were locked in their cells.

The demonstration was scheduled to take place at breakfast in an attempt to prompt officials to answer a list of fifty grievances.

Petitions demanding better food had been in circulation several days and at a motion picture show last night James Donahue, a hold-up man, announced the protest would be made at breakfast.

Prisoners not locked in cells were confined to their dormitories all throughout the day. About 200 are Federal offenders.

Plan Bigger State Fair For October

Raleigh, Aug. 22.—Norman Y. Chambliss, general manager, said today nothing is being left undone to make the State Fair, which will be held here the week beginning October 8, one of the biggest and most entertaining October events of its kind ever staged in the long history of the fair.

Extensive improvements have been made with the help of CWA money on the State-owned property and visitors to the fair this year will find many added things for their comfort and enjoyment. The grandstand has been enlarged.

Mr. Chambliss has just returned from New York City, where he conferred with his associate, George Hamid, New York producer, relative to plans for entertainment features this year. Contracts have already been signed with some of the best talent leaving New York this fall to exhibit at the fair.

"We do not intend to leave anything to be desired in the form of entertainment at the fair this year," Mr. Chambliss said. "Mr. F. E. Miller of the State Agriculture Department, tells me that he is already getting a number of inquiries about exhibits at the fair this year. We are giving away over $10,000 in prize money for the best exhibits this year and every cent of it will be distributed among North Carolina exhibitors."

Mayor T. M. Arrowsmith of Hillsboro, has been named as general superintendent of the horse races, which will be featured for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of Fair week. Another experienced horseman, Joe McGraw, Washington, Pa., will be official starter. There will be a horse show on Tuesday.

Automobile races will be a feature of the Fair on Friday under the direction of Ralph Hankinson, noted automobile race conductor. Race drivers provided many thrills last October on the dirt track at the fairgrounds as they spun around the track at a high rate of speed with some of them cracking up against the rails.

SAYS PART OF GANG FUND LEFT IN WILSON

Richmond, Va., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Leonora Gosslyn Fontaine, alleged gang girl and former associate of William Benjamin Phillips, alias "Big George" Phillips, leader of the so-called Tri-State band of gangsters, with Washington headquarters, stated while testifying today as a commonwealth witness in the case of Walter Legerza, a member of that gang, on trial here for the murder of Ewell M. Hubbard in a Federal Reserve mail truck hold-up the evening of March 8, that she was acquainted with C. P. Phillips, father of the gang leader, and that she went to Wilson, N. The man who posed as a customer made some small purchases and hour before the hold-up and came back a second time making other purchases and hung around until the store was free of customers.

RAIN WASHES OUT COASTAL LEAGUE PLAY

Rain washed out all Tuesday's scheduled games in the Coastal Plain League and set the clubs to thinking of methods for squeezing in play-off of contests which may loom all-important when the final standings for the season are compiled.

Kinston and Greenville, in first and second place, were scheduled to meet at Kinston. Tarboro was booked for a game at Ayden, and New Bern was carded to play at Snow Hill. Old Jupe Pluvius, who had been very kind to the league all season, decided to hit a home run for a change.

Yesterday marked the first day during the season that more than one league game had been blocked by rain. In fact, yesterday's three postponements equalled the total postponements for the season up to yesterday.

Today's schedule in the circuit is featured by the Kinston-Greenville contest at Greenville. This meeting of the two top clubs offers numerous possibilities. Ayden's third-place outfit will play at New Bern, and Snow Hill will play at Tarboro.

It's an unusually close race that the league is offering. Places in the post-season title series will go to the clubs finishing first and second. And it's because of this "anything may happen" angle of the league race that the various clubs are considering methods of making up yesterday's scheduled games. It appeared last night that morning contests might be scheduled for later in the week in order to play off the postponed games. In the event league sanction can be secured, there's a possibility of Sunday play to make up postponements.

Tomorrow's schedule in the league will be topped by the Greenville-Ayden game at Ayden. Kinston will play at Snow Hill and New Bern will play at Tarboro.

Incidentally, followers of the New Bern club are still hoping that their favorites may land a series berth. New Bern, in fourth place, is a game and a half behind Ayden. Ayden trails Kinston's leaders by one game and trails Greenville by a half game.

Late News Flashes

manding a similar sum upon threat of death of Askew and the burning of Angelus Temple.

Sheriff Garrison quoted Askew as saying that after he left Goldsboro on August 13 he went to Raleigh and took a train to Richmond, Va. The first ransom note mailed to his wife was mailed here before he left and the note to Mrs. McPherson was mailed in Richmond.

From Richmond the sheriff said, Askew went to Washington by bus and sent a telegram from there to Mrs. Askew telling her to have the money ready by Saturday. Askew went from Washington to Knoxville and from there to Nashville, making the trip by bus.

T. N. Stapleton, special agent in charge of the Charlotte office of the Bureau of Investigation, participated with Garrison in the questioning of Askew. He declined to discuss the possibility of prosecution of Askew for sending ransom notes through the mails but said as a matter of course all the evidence would be turned over to the U. S. District Attorney.

District Attorney Silent.
Wilmington, Aug. 22.—(AP)—J. O. Carr, Wilmington, U. S. District Attorney, said this afternoon he would have no comment to make on the proposed confession of R. W. Askew, Goldsboro four-square gospel minister, that his story of being kidnaped was untrue until he had been officially notified by federal agents proving the case.

Endorses Strike.
Washington, Aug. 22.—(AP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor today endorsed the proposed general strike in the textile industry and pledged the full co-operation of his organization.

Meanwhile, a closely guarded statement believed to outline the plan of the Cotton Textile Industrial Relations Board for averting the second textile strike was being prepared by Robert Bruere, chairman of the board.

After an executive session Bruere said the statement if approved by the agencies of the government, would be given out late today. He declined to discuss the contents.

"I might prejudice my value in the action if I spoke prematurely," he said. Questioned regarding the outcome of his connect in New York yesterday with the cotton textile code, Bruere again declined.

"My conversations with other officials in this situation have been merely preliminary and intended primarily to enable me to orient myself."

Cut Working Hours

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—There was revival of optimism in the stock market today without any especial important new developments to account for the change in sentiment.

Following yesterday's slow but substantial advance leading issues opened quiet in the second hour and there was a buying flurry to sent prices up one to three points and caused the ticker tape to drop behind floor transactions. While the spurt lasted only a few minutes, advances were fully maintained. Following a lull, stock prices again moved up to the top prices in the final dealings.
