Bandits Rifle Mail Truck At Butler, Pa. Premier Says Idea Of War Is Floating In Air

$50,000 IS OBTAINED AT POINT OF GUN

Car Driven by Holdup Men Found Abandoned by Troopers Shortly After Robbery; Cordon of Troopers Thrown Along All Roads From City; Postal Officials Begin Check

Butler, Pa., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Currency estimated by postal authorities at $50,000 was taken from a mail truck today by three men who fled in an automobile.

The money, postal authorities said, was being sent by registered mail from Pittsburgh bank of the Federal Reserve Bank to the Lyndora National Bank of Lyndora, near Butler.

State police said the robbers stopped the truck driven by Milton C. Lackey, on Butler Street. Pointing revolvers at him, they grabbed the three mail pouches, ran back to their car and sped away.

The car, troopers said, driven by the hold-up men, was found abandoned a short time later.

Postoffice workers first heard of the robbery when an unidentified woman appeared at the stamp window and shouted:

"A mail truck was held up in front of the Clinton Hotel just now."

State police from the Butler barracks went to the scene immediately and threw a cordon about all roads leading from Butler.

Lackey was questioned in an attempt to get a description of the bandits. Postal inspectors began making a check, but outside the Lyndora shipments could make no estimate of the value of the rest of the mail.

PITT SCHOOLS OPEN SEPT. 17

Two Changes Made In Principals in Various Schools of the County

Pitt County schools will begin work September 17 with practically the same teaching force as last year it was made known today by Donald Conley, director of public instruction.

Only a few changes have been made in faculty members, it was said. The list of teachers of the various schools had not been completed and will not be available for publication before September 1.

Two changes have been made in the principals at Stokes and Grimesland. J. S. Capps is the new principal at Stokes, succeeding V. W. Brinson, who goes to Bethel. W. M. Jenkins will be in charge at Grimesland, succeeding E. N. Hinnant, who has given up school teaching for the ministry.

Mr. Conley said there has been only a slight change, if any, in the teaching staff this year, 175 white teachers and 125 colored having been allotted to the county.

"The teaching load will be heavier than ever by reason of the expected increase in attendance, but the school head said they were looking forward to a good season.

Following are the principals of the various schools:

- W. T. Byrd, Ayden.
- R. E. Boyd, Farmville.
- C. D. Ward, Winterville.
- Z. E. Brinson, Bethel.
- H. B. Mayo, Fountain.
- H. C. Oglesby, Arthur.
- D. T. House, Jr., Chicod.
- S. T. Cherry, Patcolus.
- W. M. Jenkins, Grimesland.
- H. S. Capps, Stokes.
- D. B. Taylor, Falkland.
- Perry Case, Grifton.
- Newman Lewis, Belvoir.

PITT TOBACCO CROP SMALLER

Farm Department Says Allotment Calls For 30,032,729 Pounds This Year

Pitt County's tobacco crop this year will be 30,032,729 pounds, it was revealed today by E. F. Arnold, director of the local farm department.

The figures were based on allotment cards distributed to 1,639 farmers in all sections of the county, but does not include the poundage of a few non-signers whose tobacco will be sold under the Federal tax act.

Commenting on the value of the crop, Mr. Arnold said that to estimate the average at 25 cents the total amount of tobacco under contract would bring growers approximately $7,509,000 with a half million dollars benefit payment to come from the government. This would bring the total to around $8,000,000.

Although it was impossible to say what the average would be, it was hoped it would go beyond the 25 cent mark, giving the growers more money for their crop.

Mr. Arnold said this is the first time the department had been able to obtain a definite check on the amount of tobacco in this county.

He said less than it was last year, the total amount received from the crop at the estimated 25 cents average would be considerably larger last year, and over twice as much as in 1921 and 1932.

He expressed himself highly gratified over the way farmers co-operated with the government in its effort to control production, and said they are just beginning to reap their reward.

Records compiled by the University of Kentucky show an average dairy cow will produce milk valued at $141.37 annually, while feed costs $87.87.

Police Called To Rout Tomcat Believed Robber

About a year ago robbers broke a skylight in J. A. Watson's store, corner Fifth and Washington Streets, and made away with a considerable amount of goods.

Last night Mr. Watson heard footsteps on the top of his store and hurriedly summoned the police, declaring robbers were after him again.

Arriving upon the scene, all out of breath, and expecting to be confronted by a terrible looking robber, the police instead observed a big black tomcat prancing sedately up and down the roof, probably prepared to meet his affinity.

The police looked at the cat, the cat looked at the cops, and both nearly fainted. Mr. Watson drew a breath of relief, thanked the cops and tossed a brick at the fleeing cat.

Tobacco Prices Reflect Greater Strength Here

J. C. Eagles, president of the East Carolina Tobacco Warehousemen's Association, announced today that the full five sets of buyers would be on the Greenville tobacco market when sales are resumed Monday morning.

The market operated with two sets of buyers yesterday and today because of the inability of buying companies to bring their men from other belts before Monday.

Official figures for the opening day showed that 437,436 pounds of leaf were disposed of for $118,827.46. The average was $27.16 per hundred.

Farmers, who were overjoyed when opening prices nearly tripled those of previous years, continued to show elation today when prices exhibited greater strength.

Sales were halted for a time yesterday afternoon on account of the heavy cloud sweeping over this section, causing poor visibility in the warehouses and making it impracticable to continue sales until the weather cleared up a short time later.

The market will re-open Monday morning with five sets of buyers and larger quantities of the leaf are expected to be handled than on the opening day and today.

Farmers were urged by tobacco men to grade their tobacco carefully, keeping it dry and free of strings. Tobacco marketed in good condition always gets more consideration from the buyers, it was said.

TWO TOBACCO NON-SIGNERS APPEAR HERE

Story of Pitt County's Co-operation in Government Drive Unfolded Yesterday

The story of how Pitt County farmers have taken part in the government's tobacco acreage reduction was unfolded in a convincing manner here yesterday when only two non-contract signers were represented among the hundreds of growers selling their tobacco on the local market.

Records this morning showed that one non-signer sold on the two first sales warehouses, all the remainder being who had lived up to the government's terms and are receiving the best prices since war-time as result of their faithfulness.

Farm officials said this morning records showed only three or four non-signers in the county. Farmers who failed to sign the contracts have to pay a 25 per cent tax on all tobacco offered for sale, and those who participated in the benefits are relieved of the tax. The tax is paid at the warehouses where a corps of government men have been stationed to collect the tax from the growers' checks.

Pitt County was highly praised by members of the government acreage reduction campaign at the outset of the movement to cut production, relieve congestion and improve prices. (Continued on page three)

TWO MEN DIE IN CAR CRASH

Citizens of Oxford Killed When Sedan Sideswipes Large Motor Van Today

Henderson, N. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Cameron C. Henderson, Oxford department store manager, and Henry B. Cooper, of Oxford, son of a prominent Henderson family, were instantly killed near here today when their coupe sideswiped a motor van, overturning the smaller machine against a fill.

Cooper was the son-in-law of J. P. Owen, banker and retired capitalist of Henderson. His company was manager of the Legett Department Store at Oxford. Both were about 30 years of age. The two died instantly, three miles north of here, as the car crashed after sideswiping the motor van.

Cooper, owner of the Cooper Ford Company at Oxford, is survived by a widow and a small son.

MISS GARRETT SAYS GERMANY NOW 'CONTENT'

Greenville Young Lady in New York After Tour of Several Countries

(Special To The Reflector) New York, Aug. 24.—(ICN)—"A Germany content under Adolf Hitler, who is practically the object of worship throughout the Reich which seemed to be quite prosperous," was the picture brought home by Miss Eloise Garrett of Country Club Heights, Greenville, N. C. Miss Garrett arrived late yesterday on the SS Bremen following a two months' tour of Europe.

Miss Garrett visited eight countries as a member of the Brownwell College tour party headed by Mrs. Herbert C. Bonner of Washington, N. C., including five Carolina girls and seven boys, all college students.

"It is surprising," said Miss Garrett, "that despite the censorship and severe restrictions noticed by all tourists, how content the German people are with conditions. I was not surprised to hear of the tremendous vote Hitler received in the recent presidential plebiscite for he is fairly worshipped and his orders are law."

"Just to see what might happen on our way from Heidelberg to Berlin some of our party, purposely bought English newspapers containing anti-Nazi news material. Sure enough, Nazi troopers confiscated and destroyed them."

At the Hotel Victoria in Heidelberg, Miss Garrett recounted, the party witnessed an ovation for Goebbels in which the entire town turned out to greet him and almost mobbed his hotel. His arrival was the occasion for a display of patriotism which took the form of much singing and marching in the street, cheering from balconies and a monster attendance of his address.

Other scenes witnessed by Miss Garrett and her companions were the Vienna disorders following the Dollfus assassination, the party leaving Vienna two days following and the grief of the German nation upon the death of its late President Hindenburg.

Following a brief visit in New York, Miss Garrett will return to Greenville early next week.

W. H. ROLLINS LAID TO REST

Final Rites For Stokes Citizen Held From Methodist Church This Afternoon

Funeral service for William Henry Rollins, 77, who died yesterday morning at 5 o'clock at the home of his sister, Mrs. M. A. Woolard, at Stokes, was conducted from the Methodist Church at Stokes this afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. Mr. Hardesty, pastor, and burial was made in the family burying ground near Sheppard's Mill.

Mr. Rollins had been in declining health for two years and death followed two weeks of critical illness.

He was a native of Pitt County and spent all of his life in the development of agriculture. A devout Christian, he played an important part in the work of the Methodist Church of his community and attended church regularly until ill health forced him to inactivity.

He is survived by his sister and a number of nieces and nephews, the majority of whom live in Pitt County. He was unmarried.

Pallbearers were members of the board of stewards of the Stokes Methodist Church.

The final rites were largely attended and a profusion of flowers told in a mute way of the high esteem of friends.

TALKS BEFORE GATHERING OF HIS SOLDIERS

Premier Declares Complications Might Have Developed If Italy Had Not Sent Troops to Frontier in July; Necessary to be Ready For War Today And Not Tomorrow; Cheered by Troopers

Bologna, Italy, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The idea of war "is floating in the air" and it behooves Italy in preparation for the development "to become a militaristic, even a war-like nation," Premier Mussolini said today in an address to 5,000 army officers and military attaches at the conclusion of the Italian army maneuvers.

"No one in Europe wishes war," he said, standing on the turret of a heavy tank as he spoke.

"But the bulk of thought is all around that. At the end of July, an unforeseen situation developed which was similar to that prevailing in 1934," he continued.

"If we had not sent out divisions to the frontier complications might have resulted that could not have been solved except by the voice of cannon."

"It is not necessary to be ready for the war tomorrow, but for the war today."

When his officers cheered him vociferously, Mussolini continued: "We must become a military nation, even a militaristic nation. We might even add a war-like nation."

"The political, economic and spiritual life of the nation ought to be based on military necessity," the Premier said, "because as nations rise and others decline it develops that good-will conferences and treaties of war will accompany the fortunes of nations through centuries."

"The entire Italian people," he added, "is ready to respond as a single unit of need."

"Go out from this institution and pay your debts to the state," was the burden of the advice Dr. L. R. Meadows, acting president, gave to the graduates on Friday morning, August 24, in his address at the close of the twenty-fifth Summer School of East Carolina Teachers College.

"Compensation" was his theme, and he gave three ways in which these young men and women could repay the State for what it has done for them: First, by supporting the schools; second, using their training for useful public service; and third, by accepting responsibilities as citizens.

The A.B. degree was conferred upon twenty-four graduates for the completion of the four-year college course. Among these were three young men. Twelve counties were represented in this number. Pitt in the lead with seven.

Diplomas for the completion of the two-year normal school course were awarded to thirty-one young women, representing twenty-four counties. Pitt having four on this list.

Formal graduation exercises were held at 10 o'clock in the Austin Auditorium. The stage was beautifully decorated. The chief marshal (Continued on page three.)

FASHION GETS IT "IN THE NECK"

Fall Frocks Draw To Point Between Chin and Shoulder

This fall frock of tobacco brown wool in the mossy grain that fashion likes so well this season is cut on the simplest of lines with a big bold scarf and lower sleeves of haze blue taffeta. Madame Agnes wears it with a brown felt tricorne hat of her own design pitched over one eye.

By RITA FERRIS
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)
Paris—(AP)—"Accent the neck!" is the style world's slogan for the "in-between-times" frocks it has designed for late August and September wear.

Big bold cravats which fluff out under the chin like those worn by the Directoire "Incroyables" (men who dressed in extreme styles in the 1790's), necklines which pull a bit to one side, cockleshell and anchor clips all appear to draw the eye to a point between chin and shoulder on frocks designed for wear until real winter styles are on the market.

The cravats, sometimes taffeta, sometimes knitted wool, are apt to appear in a color which contrasts with that of the frock, as a rose and black plaid on a black frock and an almond green on cocoa. Clips, apparently used on the theory "two are happier than one," almost always appear in pairs, one snapped to each corner of a square neckline or to each side of a round one. Diamond shells, gold anchors and silver darts are favorites.

The frocks themselves are cut on the simplest lines. Silhouettes are neither ultra-straight nor ultra-fitted, but fashioned on a slender narrow profile which has no marked fullness anywhere. A few designers like sleeves with fullness just below the shoulder but many prefer, for September wear, an almost straight line. Belts on these simple early-fall gowns are generally quite important. Box calf cut in a wide plaque in front with a silver dagger thrust through, patent leather designs with a plaque of leather leaves in front, and little narrow string belts no larger than a finger are all being seen.

The frocks themselves are generally made of one or two fabrics: (1) soft wools or (2) silk or artificial crepes, often with a pebbled grain. Among such dark colors as black, navy blue and rich brown are a number of bright hues such as grass green and tomato red. Multi-colored wools are also seen in such combinations as gray splashed with red and white dots. Crepe frocks designed for more formal wear gen-

First Church of Christ, Scientist.
"Soul" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 19.

The golden text was from Psalms 143:8: "Cause me to hear thy loving-kindness in the morning; for in thee do I trust; cause me to know the way wherein I should walk; for I lift up my soul unto thee."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Now the just shall live by faith; but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him. But we are not of them who draw back unto perdition; but of them that believe to the saving of the soul." (Heb. 10:38, 39).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Even though you aver that the material senses are indispensable to man's existence or entity, you must change the human concept of life, and must at length know yourself spiritually and scientifically. The evidence of the existence of Spirit, Soul, is palpable only to spiritual sense, and is not apparent to the material senses, which cognize only that which is the opposite of the Spirit."

Willy Nilly Accused

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
"Now I'll never be able to budge them," sighed Willy Nilly. "It just seems as though they were here to stay. Nor will I be able to get any rest with these visiting animals all over the place and everything so upset—not to mention the way the pigs have spilled food everywhere."
"To be sure they have eaten up almost everything but I can't touch a spot that isn't sticky!"
Willy Nilly sat down under the tree belonging to Christopher Columbus Crow.

"You're lucky," said Willy Nilly. "Your nest is the only place they've left alone."
"You won't follow any of my suggestions," said Christopher. "I'm thinking them over," said Willy Nilly. "But just now I'm so tired and so confused with all that has happened that I don't know what to do."
"Caw, caw, caw," exclaimed Christopher. "Look at all the people coming up the hill!"
"People?" asked Willy Nilly. "Don't tell me we're going to have any more visitors! We've had all the animals in the neighborhood and the surrounding country. I couldn't stand it if the people all came along now, too."
"They're coming," cawed Christopher. "Do you see them?"

"Yes," moaned Willy Nilly. "I do." Top Notch rushed over to Willy Nilly, his wings fluttering.
"I know I've been a dreadful rooster and caused you so much trouble, but the people coming now weren't invited by me."
And then, to Willy Nilly's amazement he heard himself accused of stealing!

In the front of the auditorium. The normal school graduates in blue caps and robes, came first, and the degree graduates, in black robes and gowns, entered last, taking the first row of seats.

After the singing of "America" by the audience, Dr. Meadows graciously welcome the people in the audience as friends of the school who had come from communities the college attempted to serve. He said the closer and more frequent the contacts, the better service the college could render them.

The task set for a teachers' college, he said, is to send trained teachers out to help build up communities. During his talk he showed how the trained teacher is an essential to society, even to the training of such groups as lawyers and doctors. In making the graduates see the ways in which they will be called on to support the schools, and education, by rendering the best service possible, he pointed out the dangers that would result if we let our schools go. "We will not be fit to associate with England, France and other nations, if the schools do not continue to grow."

Dr. Meadows threw out a number of pertinent questions not attempting to answer them, but suggesting trends of thought and problems the college trained people will be called upon to help solve. Among these were the following: In the methods of mass education which is best, State, local or Federal control? What can be done about tenant system farmer a problem which the majority of the teachers in this State have to face? How can the self-respect of people and nations accepting charity be maintained. How can people be aroused to a sense of privilege intelligently?

To show the meager compensation teachers receive in the terms of salary, the speaker actually cited actual instances of wages illiterate laborers and quoted figures on teachers' salaries, but he drove home the point that there are richer compensations and expressed the faith that the salaries would later be raised.

Dr. H. A. McGinnis, registrar of the college, presented the candidates, conducted Dr. Leon R. Meadows, acting president and director of the Summer School, to the stage. The audience remained standing while the graduates, led by marshals, filed down the aisles and took their places for degrees and called the names of those receiving diplomas. The exercises closed with the singing of "Carolina."

Miss Myrtle Leigh Peacock, of Roper, who was president of the four-year class, it was announced had missed only one day from school throughout her entire school life. Miss Sarah Croom Gully, of Selma, was president of the two-year group. The marshal were as follows: Misses Eloise Birch, Malone and Isa Costen Grant, and Christine Nelson.
The enrollment for the Summer School showed an increase of thirty-two per cent over that of last summer. The records show that the quality of work done was of a very high order. The majority of the students were former students, many of whom were regular teachers. There were a number of transfers from other colleges and universities. Among them graduates working for professional credits.
Social affairs, such as barbecues, watermelon feasts, lawn parties, teas and swimming parties were featured. There were several high-class professional entertainment, among them a concert by the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra.

LIGHT BREAKS MARK TOBACCO MARTS TODAY

Prices Apparently Higher Than Those Prevailing at Opening Yesterday

Raleigh, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Breaks were light in the new bright leaf tobacco belt today in the face of the Saturday holiday, but prices held to the opening day figures.
Official figures showed yesterday's sales loomed more than a million dollars in trade channels of the belt with approximately 4,000,000 pounds of weed being sold at an average of $27.09 a hundred.

Here are some of the official figures for some of the leading markets:
Greenville, 437,436, average price $27.13; Wilson, 418,126, average price $27.28; Rocky Mount, 421,323, average price $27.82; Goldsboro, 199,984, average price $26.13.
Prices were more than double those of last year as the 1933 opening day average was around $11.50 a hundred and were the best in a decade.
Approximately 350,000 pounds of tobacco were on the floors of Rocky Mount warehouses today, the bulk of it being first and second pricings. The average appeared from

DON'T BE A SUCKER

Everybody is pleased with the high tobacco prices, but as in the past even good prices bring with them a drawback to the community in the form of all kinds of fakirs with get-rich-quick schemes who flock to the tobacco belt looking some easy money.

In view of this return of prosperity to our section no doubt there will soon be an influx of slick-tongued salesmen and others with glowing tales of great profits out of small investments and as in the past all the purchasers will get in return for their money is a pretty stock certificate not worth the paper it is printed on.

IF YOUR CHILD HAS WHOOPING COUGH KEEP IT AT HOME

Some complaints are being received about the failure on the part of certain citizens to observe the quarantine laws regarding contagious diseases especially whooping cough. There have been reports that there are several cases in the city where no quarantine signs have been displayed and some of the parents are said to be lax about keeping the children with the disease off the streets.

TIGER ISLAND A New Serial by Gouverneur Morris

SYNOPSIS: The plan of Captain Wong Ho and his radio operator, Fung, to locate the "Tiger" for the insurance has been temporarily postponed by the illness of Angus McLeod.

FINAL INSTRUCTIONS

"DON'T masticating cigarettes make the honey-bear sick?" asked Bowers. "He said not," Ivy answered, smiling. "He would rub his stomach when they were down, and the expression on his face was not pain. It was sheer bliss. For some time after he had swallowed a package of cigarettes he would look and behave like a blessed angel."

They drew up presently in front of the hospital, and after hesitation, Bowers thought that Miss Green had better be on hand in case McLeod wished to ask her questions. "I won't tell him that I have engaged a woman," said Bowers. "But these Scots are devilish shrewd and he may guess. Then, of course, he would want to see you. But don't worry about that. You have sold yourself to me absolutely, and you'll sell yourself to him."

Like everything else in Dutch Malaya, the Sinbao hospital had an immaculate look. A man need not have objected to eating his curry from the veranda instead of from a clean plate. The building was of modern construction. It was only one story in height, but there was a fine big air-space under the green-tiled roof, and strategically placed electric fans helped to keep the temperature down.

The appointments of the hospital were surprisingly modern. On the right, as you went in, was a waiting-room with selections of newspapers and periodicals. On the left there was an office where you gave your name and stated your business to a sweet-faced middle-aged Dutchwoman in a nurse's uniform.

But Bowers, apparently, did not have to give his name. He had accompanied McLeod to the hospital earlier in the day, and the woman remembered him. She nodded to him and spoke softly through a telephone, and almost immediately Dr. Van Reuter appeared in the entrance hall, still wearing the white smock and turban in which he had operated.

It had of course been frightfully hot in the operating-room and the doctor was drenched with sweat. It made dark patches on the white smock, and it must have been running into his eyes, for he wiped them from time to time with the backs of his hands.

For the rest he was smiling and cheerful. He knew that he had done a good job. Whether McLeod lived or not was another matter. The appendix, he told them, had not burst. For the rest, poor McLeod had had less vitality than had been expected, and was a very sick man.

"WILL he live?" asked Bowers. "He isn't an old man," said Van Reuter, "and he will have every care. If there are no complications, I expect to pull him through. He has only just come out of the ether, and ought not to make an effort of any kind; but he insists on seeing you."

"He could perfectly well afford to hold the ship over for another day and see you tomorrow, but you know these Scotchmen. The mere thought of spending a penny that doesn't actually have to be spent runs up their temperature when they are sick, and makes it subnormal when they are well."

"If it were a question of your life or mine, I would say 'No visitors,' but it's a question of McLeod's life. McLeod is a Scotchman, and you know how they hang on to whatever belongs to them."

"By the way, Doctor," said Bowers. "I have engaged an animal trainer. Miss Green, may I present Dr. Van Reuter?" "You are the trainer?" asked Van Reuter. The young woman nodded.

France Finds Oil In Her Own Empire Casablanca, Morocco. — (AP) — France's 100-year dream of finding oil in her own empire has come true. How long it will last is problematical. It has been brought in between Fez and Rabat, producing 700 barrels a day, a run which compares favorably with that of many European fields. Active drilling is going on in nearby fields with expectation that more productive wells will be working soon. But the bare discovery of oil in Morocco, after many years of geological work, has brought joy to France. While French experts do not expect Moroccan production to supply the French market, they hope to market Morocco self-sufficient. The North African province imports 140,000 tons of manufactured petroleum products each year, with a

It may be that an unsuspecting public sees no occasion for alarm in the signs of the times nor any reason for off repeated warnings. Be that as it may, to every one who gives thought to the trend of things these admonitions are timely and pertinent. No motive except an unyielding devotion to the principles of democracy embodied in the constitution of our beloved state impels this pen. If any explanation or apology is needed let this suffice. There may be in this county many voters who have not even heard of the proposed changes in the constitution to be voted on at our next election, now just a little more than two months off. As this is not a personal matter in one sense, who will come out and tell these people how the very foundation of our government is endangered as never before? When shall we organize? How may the people be brought together? Those who are laboring so hard to put this "New Constitution" over us are wide awake, have ample means to carry out their plans and are always on the job. Let us then be up and busy before it is too late. And do not forget that there are many vital matters for our next Legislature to settle. MRS. CHAS. McARTHUR. RAIN CHECKS ALL PLAY IN COASTAL AREA

The Coastal Plain League was in more of a muddle than ever today as result of the inability of the six clubs to play off rained-out games before the closing of the circuit tomorrow.

Greenville and Kinston were to have engaged in a play-off at Kinston this morning, but Kinston called the game off on account of a wet diamond.

Greenville has another rained-out contest to make-up with Ayden and a tie game to play with New Bern. Other clubs have two rained-out games to play off. But the schedule closing tomorrow, the club managers found themselves in a quandry today, not knowing where to turn next.

A double bill is scheduled here with New Bern tomorrow, but it had not been decided today whether the double menu would be served the fans. However, with Greenville playing in New Bern this afternoon, it was hoped some decision would be reached.

With Kinston, Greenville, Ayden and New Bern running close for first and second places in the standing of clubs, it is probably the league directors will be asked to prolong the season to permit the play-off of postponed games. Whether that will be done is problematical. If it should it would throw the closing of the circuit into the middle of next week.

For the second time in three days, rain yesterday washed out all scheduled activities in the Coastal Plain League.

The league, in its last week of a last-ditch fight for the two places in the post-season series, was thus thrown into right much of a puzzle as to what to do about making up the postponements. Some clubs had started a movement to gain permission of directors to continue play beyond Saturday, scheduled closing day for the circuit.

Yesterday's rained-out games were: Greenville at Ayden, Kinston at Snow Hill, New Bern at Tarboro. The contests which were rained out on Tuesday were: Greenville at Kinston, New Bern at Snow Hill, and Tarboro at Ayden.

With only one more day of play after today, the circuit has a program which is running seven games behind. Greenville and Kinston will reduce the number to six by staging their play-off this morning. In addition to the five other games rained out this week, the hold-over program includes a tie game played some time ago by Greenville and New Bern. These clubs have permitted a number of open dates to pass without making up the deadlock. However, it was reported last night that negotiations have been started to have New Bern and Greenville battle in a double-header Saturday at Greenville. If such a twin bill can be arranged, the tie can be played off in stride.

In view of the closeness of every game, the movement for a continuation of the season may meet approval of directors. The league was unusually fortunate—until this week—in so far as postponements went. Only three games had been blocked by rain prior to this week. All had been made up, and the New Bern-Greenville tie was the only carry-over when the final week of play opened.

Yet Balboa Called It "Pacific!" The West in general and the Pacific Coast Conference in particular is girding its loins for the annual athletic rushing season, our scout report.

From all reports it will be as hotly contested as the football championship which follows. In fact, actively designed to induce grid stars to enroll at the respective institution already is off—with few qualms in evidence.

True, the conference officially frowned on California's alumni who announced last winter they would openly seek to induce athletics to attend the Berkeley institution. But the rather uncouth word "proselyte" isn't used.

A short time ago Stanford's alumni met at Long Beach, Calif., and listened to a plan evolved by Robert "Dink" Templeton, fiery track coach, whereby the graduates of The Farm were asked to contribute a dollar a month to help see athletic stars through school.

Stanford and Southern California admit they have operated athletic scholarships for years to combat the ebbs of the Coast Conference, whose tuition as State institutions is much lower.

Because of the transfer rule, the fall rushing season may have considerable effect on the impending football season, since stars from the junior colleges may be enrolled in September, eligible to play immediately.

dena. George was a close friend of the son of one of Stanford's most important alumni members.

He spent much of his time at the man's home. Southern California also had an inside track. But when fall rolled around neither Stanford or Southern California could locate Anderson. Then they discovered that an athletic official of California had personally transported him to Berkeley and had installed him in his home there.

But it doesn't stop here. Not a few stars have appeared on a given campus matriculated and even pledged a fraternity, only to suddenly disappear and show up a few days later on another campus.

The West admits these things unblushingly. As one official of a university points out:

"They're doing it all over the country. Look at the California boys who go East. The only difference is, we admit it!"

Vital statistics show 1,057 pairs of twins and twenty triplets were born in Kentucky during 1933.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE

I, Lonnie J. Stocks, having this day qualified as Executor of the Last Will and Testament of David Stocks, notice is hereby given to all persons indebted to said estate to make immediate settlement with the undersigned Executor and all persons holding claims against said estate are hereby notified to file their claims properly verified and itemized with the undersigned Executor within twelve months from the date hereof, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of recovery of said claims.

This the 4th day of August, 1934.

THEY SCATTER, TOO

California, which boasts of raising great athletes, could point out that 47 gridsters from the Sunshine State performed in other climes, from the Atlantic seaboard west.

Of course, many of them went to northern members of the Coast Conference—Washington, Washington State, Oregon, Oregon State, Idaho and Montana; but others played for Princeton, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Notre Dame, Chicago, Navy, Army, Arizona, Nevada and Rocky Mountain Conference teams.

Even so, California's big four—Stanford, Southern California, California, and University of California at Los Angeles—appear to have fared quite well. Some of the schools ever have established junior college "farms" where athletes are sent for conditioning, or until they are needed.

The trouble with this plan is that the stars often change their minds and suddenly pop up at an opposing institution.

THEY DON'T STAY PUT

As an example of what can happen, the northern California institutions were running neck and neck for the services of George Theodoratus, giant tackle and shot-putter. They reckoned with no outside competition until the big Greek star showed up at Washington State.

A similar state of affairs existed in the case of George Anderson, California's sprint sensation from Pasadena.

Is Your Child Left Out of Things?

What a heartache parents have when their children are left out of things because they're not strong enough to keep up!

Many Doctors will tell you that children thrive, grow strong, and take on weight (if they're too thin) when they eat Shredded Wheat, milk, and fruit at least one meal every day.

Shredded Wheat contains the carbohydrates you need for energy; the proteins you need for tissue building; the mineral salts you need for bone; these mysterious vitamins that help you to resist disease, and bran to keep you regular.

Shredded Wheat is easily digested, and does not lie heavy on your stomach. It is the ideal food for hot weather.

SMITH & SUGG—MARKET REPORT

TOTAL SALES AT STAR WAREHOUSE YESTERDAY, OPENING DAY, INCLUDING EVERY PILE SOLD, 198,438 POUNDS FOR $54,489.67
AVERAGE $27.46 FOR ENTIRE SALE

From 11:30 A. M. until sales were concluded we averaged over 31c for everything sold. The quality was a little better but the market got stronger. We wish to praise the growers for the nice handling and grading of their tobacco. It is important that you keep your tobacco dry and do not let it get in too high order when grading.

We are putting into our sale all the combined strength and power of our 22 years experience in behalf of our patrons and the market. Those who have been on all the flue cured markets compliment us for having one of the most capable, efficient and courteous forces to be found in the business. Seventy-five new patrons were on our sale yesterday and everyone seemed to be greatly pleased with the efficient manner prevailing in the conduct of our sales.

We are personally familiar with the buying organizations on the various markets, and we know none excels Greenville in buyers who are more courteous and experienced and they are determined that no market shall pay more for each grade of tobacco than is paid in Greenville. This is a short crop and prices are going to continue good. Be sure you do not lose or misplace your allotment card. Under President Roosevelt's Code with warehousemen, we cannot and will not exceed 360 piles per hour.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened fairly steady 3 to 7 lower on reports of rain in western Texas and disappointing Liverpool cables.

Trading was comparatively quiet at the opening. Scattered offerings on the easy showing of Liverpool and reports of further rain in the west were absorbed on the early decline to 13.33 for December or about 5 to 8 points below yesterday's final.

A little southern selling was reported here during the morning but the offerings were not heavy enough to make much impression on the market and prices held steady on a moderate demand. At midday December was around 13.39 and May 13.36 or 1 higher to 2 lower. The market rallied later in the day on increased trade and Wall street buying.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Securities markets dozed peacefully today as most traders were inclined to await some fresh spur to jaded speculative enthusiasm.

Activity in both stocks and bonds was at a low ebb but price changes were narrow in many categories.

News developments were not of a character to generate renewed life in either list.

While hogs at Chicago continued to record new highs for the past three years, grains were different. Slightly lower levels were reached by wheat and other cereals.

Transfers were $20,000 shares.

Bandits Take Payroll

Rome, Ga., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Bandits armed with sub-machine guns today obtained $9,785 in the holdup of two bank messengers transporting the weekly payroll of the Tubize Chattillon Rayon mills from the National City Bank to the bank.

Joe Palmer, cashier of the bank, and Raymond Fore, bank messenger, were in the car with the payroll. Palmer said the payroll was insured. The robbery took place on the city limits of Rome.

Poultry experts have found that fowl pox, commonly known as "sorehead" is caused by a microscopic germ affecting the skin and mucous membranes of the fowls.

OPENING SALE OF 239,998 POUNDS SOLD FOR $64,997.00 MAKING AN AVERAGE OF $27.10

We think this is the highest opening price in history. The paying off of sales in office has been slowed down on account of new Government regulations, but those men as they become more familiar with the work, will soon be able to make out the Tax Payment Warrants and make entry on allotment cards, fast enough to keep up with the sale and there will be no delay. We strongly advise working first curings. Keep them dry and get out all strings. The market will easily sell out today and we start out Monday with a clean slate.
