Price: Five Cents

LEAF PRICES HOLDING UP GOOD HERE

Yesterday's Average $27.57 per Hundred; $169,125.70 Paid Out To Growers.

Tobacco prices continued to hold their own on the local market yesterday and while the day's average price was slightly below that of Monday the average quality of the offerings was below that of Monday's sale making the price situation about the same.

Official figures for yesterday's sales showed, 613,542 pounds sold for $169,125.70 averaging $27.57 per hundred pounds.

Warehousemen continued to urge the growers to exercise care in the grading of their tobacco and to keep same dry as tobacco marketed in good order brings a better price than wet tobacco.

Offerings were light again today running around the 600,000 mark and all sales were completed by early afternoon giving the market a clean start for tomorrow's sales. Sales tomorrow and Friday are expected to be larger than those of the early part of the week and will probably set a season's high mark for poundage.

Reports from the market this afternoon were to the effect that the prices on the better grades of tobacco ranged from two to three cents higher than heretofore this season.

MORE MAN THAN MONKEY VERDICT ON APELIKE MAN

Port Elizabeth, South Africa—(AP)—The Taungs man-ape of prehistoric Africa, which some scientists held to be a manlike ape and others have called an ape-like man, was more man than ape. Dr. R. Broom told the South African Association for the Advancement of Science.

Evidence now analyzed shows that he killed baboons and large antelopes and caught moles and hares. The Taungs, known to science as Australopithecus, must, therefore, Dr. Broom deduces, have hunted in packs, lived in communities, and used tools to make traps for small animals. They must have used sticks for clubs and stones for digging and therefore have had a much more human-like hand than the gorilla or the chimpanzee.

DAKOTANS DELVE FOR GRAVEL TO BUILD ROADS

Bismarck, N. D. (AP)—They're prospecting in North Dakota—not for gold, oil or gems—but for gravel, so motorists in the state may ride in greater comfort.

Through the hills and over the plains, prospectors follow a trail ages old and rich in deposits of gravel, crushed by the mass of moving ice in the age of glaciers.

Trained in the art of gravel-field detection, these bands of men are employed by the state for no other purpose. Daily they search that North Dakota motorists may ride more comfortably.

From their labors has come the saving of a fortune for the state—more than $1,000,000 in costs of gravel.

Once North Dakota paid from 5 to 25 cents a yard for gravel. The cost now is as little as two cents a yard, according to J. N. Roberly, research engineer of the state highway commission.

TELLS OF WILD RIDE ON RUNAWAY CATTLE CAR

Sylva, Aug. 29—(AP)—A wild ride down a mountain-side on a runaway cattle car was described here today by 15 men and boys who said they had a narrow escape from death in the hair-raising experience. The car, loaded with 35 FERA cattle, broke away from the engine on a steep grade on Balsam Mountain early yesterday morning, and sped down the rails with increasing momentum before it was wrecked a mile and a half distant.

Fearing for their lives, the men and boys leaped from the car, some of them being carried a mile before they jumped. None was seriously injured. Four cows were killed, and property damage was estimated in the hundreds of dollars.

Monograms Are Back

Paris—(AP)—Monograms are back in the new winter mode. Dilkusha uses them in polished leather backed by metal as the fasteners or lapel ornaments of sports suits and coats. One big wrap-around sports coat of greige wool has three brown leather letters on the left lapel, and a black wool suit is fastened with black leather letters.

GIVES FACTS ON THE CODE

Powell Issues Statement On Recent Amendments to The Retail Code

R. L. Powell local retail code authority today issued a statement covering recent amendments to the merchants retail code with reference to one cent sales or advertising "two for the price of one" sales. The statement issued by Mr. Powell follows:

"The National Retail Code Authority with the approval of the National Recovery Administration, announces the following amendment to Article VIII of the retail code:

"Section 3—Combination or group sales. In group offerings or sales of merchandises the selling price of the group shall not be less than the sum of the minimum selling prices of the individual items of the groups as determined in accordance with Article VIII, section 1 and 2.

"In group offerings or sales of merchandise, where the selling price of one or more items of the group is indicated, the price indicated for each item or items, expressly or by inference shall not be less than the minimum price of such item or items as determined in accordance with Article VIII sections 1 and 2.

"Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to the sale of drugs, medicines, cosmetics, toilet preparations, drugs, sundries and allied items, as defined in Schedule A, section 1.

Under this section the "One-cent sale" and the "second pair for $1.00 sale" are things of the past, except when used for purposes of clearance.

"If a merchant advertises 'wallpaper 1c per roll when bought in combination with borders and ceilings,' he is violating the Code if the 1c wallpaper costs him more than nine-tenths of a cent, unless it is a bonafide clearance.

"If a merchant advertises 'buy one 25c article for 25c and we will sell you another for one cent,' it is a violation. If he advertises 'buy two 25c articles for 26c,' it is not, as long as the combined cost of the two articles, plus 10 per cent, does not exceed 26c.

"If a merchant advertises 'two for the price of one' it is not a violation of this section, although it may be a violation of Article IX, section 1 (A) if the advertisement is contrary to fact. Thus, 'two for the price of one' must necessarily be understood to mean that the merchant is selling two units of a given quality for the regular price of one unit of that quality. If that is not the case, the advertising is misleading.

If these amendments are not clear you can get further instructions at the Local Retail Code Authority office at the Chamber of Commerce.

'MERE GANG' SAYS HURLEY

Hoover Secretary of War Denounces Newly Organized Liberty League

Washington, Aug. 29—(AP)—Patrick J. Hurley, Hoover secretary of war, denounced the American Liberty League as a "mere gang" in a statement issued from his law offices here. The Oklahoma man became the first outstanding Republican to comment formally on the young organization. It has been hailed by some Democrats as designed to obstruct and embarrass the new deal. Its announced purpose includes to help President Roosevelt, not to hamper.

This government is by the majority, said the Hurley statement. When the policies of congress and the executive branch become distasteful a majority can change both the policies and the personnel. I am opposed to minorities trying to rule.

Reconciliation Between Mary and Doug is Probable

Hollywood, Aug. 29—(AP)—Answering questions about the reported reconciliation with Douglas Fairbanks, film star, Mary Pickford said today "I won't deny it." The question was asked the actress after reports were persistent that the couple would announce reconciliation within several days. They have been seen together frequently since Fairbanks returned 10 days ago from Europe where he went 14 months ago after his separation from the actress. She later sued for divorce but the case has not been brought to trial.

Late News Flashes

Troops To Strike Area. Columbia, S. C., Aug. 29—(AP)—Governor I. C. Blackwood ordered the Greenville company of the national guards to the strike area at Lonsdale Mill at Seneca today after disorders last night had been reported and state constables had said they were menaced.

The governor said he had been told a crowd of about 300 armed men went into the mill village last night, cut telephone and telegraph wires and threatened the mill workers. The constables reported the situation was gravely serious. The state executive received an appeal from an estimated 350 workers of the mill asking protection when the plant which was closed by a strike July 2 reopened today or tomorrow.

Jeffress To Richmond. Greensboro, Aug. 29—(AP)—Following further diagnosis this morning, it was determined by physicians to remove E. B. Jeffress, state highway commission chairman, from a local hospital to Memorial Hospital at Richmond, Va., for further study, and should the case justify, an operation. Dr. C. C. Coleman, of Richmond, was called into consultation with Drs. Ralph and Rigdon Dees, attending physicians to Mr. Jeffress, last night. This morning (Continued on page four)

RADIO STATION WEED IS DAMAGED BY LIGHTNING

Rocky Mount, Aug. 28—Lightning silenced local Radio Station WEED and burned up a power transformer during a minor cloudburst here. High winds and rain were responsible for broken telephone connections between this city and Nashville when a heavy tree was uprooted and dropped on the lines in that place.

Avery Wynn, owner of the local station, said that damages approximating $500 resulted but expects that the station can resume broadcasts on Wednesday.

Mineral Production Increases. Washington—(AP)—The production of gold, silver, lead and other minerals in British Columbia increased 50 per cent in the first half of 1934 as compared with the output in the corresponding period a year ago.

Oklahoma's sales tax of 1 per cent netted the State $4,300,000 in its first year of operation.

SAYS GOLD PROFIT NOT TO BE USED

Roosevelt Says This Fund Is A Nest Egg And Will Be Regarded As Such.

Hyde Park, Aug. 29—(AP)—President Roosevelt emphasized today at his regular press conference here that it is only the ultimate intention of the government to use the gold profit from devaluation to retire part of the public debt.

The president spoke in response to questions about speeches last night by Secretary Morgenthau stating purposes to employ the $2,800,000,000 gold profit eventually to retire part of the public debt.

Sitting in his small study room of his family home Mr. Roosevelt smiled broadly at the suggestion that this opened the way to inflation by way of an additional currency base. He called attention to the word ultimately and said that meant a time pretty far in the future. The gold profit fund is a nest egg and will be so regarded, he said.

Mineral Production Increases. Washington—(AP)—The production of gold, silver, lead and other minerals in British Columbia increased 50 per cent in the first half of 1934 as compared with the output in the corresponding period a year ago.

Oklahoma's sales tax of 1 per cent netted the State $4,300,000 in its first year of operation.

FARM PRICES NEARING PRE-WAR PEAK

Richberg Declares Prices are Now Only Five Per Cent Below Former Parity

Washington, Aug. 29—(AP)—Donald R. Richberg reported to President Roosevelt today that farm prices had risen to within five per cent of the pre-war parity point which the administration had been striving to reach. The head of the president's executive council made it plain that his figures included the benefit payments received by the farmers through the AAA.

He also stressed the fact that drought had slashed some of the major crops and therefore the high prices do not mean a corresponding increase in the farm income. He warned that for complete farm recovery it is essential that there be more revival in industrial production and more extensive re-employment. In his first report last Sunday he claimed marked industrial gains in particular the re-employment of over four million persons.

Pre-war parity means the real price level between 1910 and 1914 as measured in terms of purchasing power and has often been cited as the goal of the Roosevelt agricultural program.

NEIGHBORLY POLICY A FACT

President's Program In Evidence on Every Side in Foreign Dealings

Washington—Those who may believe that President Roosevelt's "good neighbor" foreign policy utterance in his inaugural address was mere phrase—making should take an official recapitulation floating around Washington.

This document comprising some seven single-spaced typewritten pages, purports to show the present administration from the start had a definite conception of new relations with neighboring countries.

It represents an intensive search of every speech made by President Roosevelt himself or by his secretary of state since March 4, 1933, when the new chief executive, speaking on the steps of the capitol, declared:

"In the field of world policy I would dedicate this nation to the policy of the good neighbor."

Greetings Southward. Since that first exposition of his administration's foreign policy the President has reiterated it in public utterances on six different occasions and Secretary Hull on 10.

One month after his inauguration before the governing board of the Pan-American Union in Washington, Mr. Roosevelt declared that "never have the need and benefit of neighborly cooperation been so evident as they are today."

Six months later the President of Panama visited Washington. In a joint statement issued by the White House on that occasion there appeared the declaration: "It is in the interests of both our countries that we should be 'good neighbors'."

On the eve of the Pan-American conference at Montevideo in November, 1933, the White House greeted the delegates with the words that the United States had given "careful and hopeful study to means of contributing some practical expression of President Roosevelt's good neighbor policy."

At Warm Springs during the same month when the Cuban crisis was to the fore, the President declared that it was "our intention of playing the part of a good neighbor to the Cuban people."

Future Motivative Factor. In his first Thanksgiving Day proclamation he announced that "we seek no conquests and ask only honorable engagements by all peoples to respect the lands and the rights of their neighbors."

And during the visit of the President of Haiti to Washington in April of this year "the policy of good neighbor which the United States is endeavoring to apply" was stressed in the joint statement to the press issued by the two chief executives.

Secretary Hull has stressed the idea even more. There is scarcely a formal expression on foreign policy uttered by Hull since he became secretary of state which doesn't emphasize this point.

TAR RIVER AT FLOOD STAGE

With the waters of Tar river at this place standing at the 13.8 foot level at noon today, just two-tenths below the flood stage, local observer B. T. Clark warned persons who had livestock in the lowlands adjacent to the river to get them out at once.

A telegram received by Mr. Clark from the Raleigh bureau at noon reported that as a result of heavy rains in the interior of the state along the river watershed a second rise in the river was already taking place at Rocky Mount and that there would be a further rise here.

Just how high the river here would go, Mr. Clark could not say, as he stated he would not know for several hours yet just what the situation was above this point and just how much water to expect.

Another telegram received by Mr. Clark about three o'clock this afternoon stated that the river would reach the 15-foot stage by Thursday night or Friday morning.

Elizabeth City, Aug. 28—Steps to secure a government beef canning plant for Elizabeth City were started today.

SEVEN ESCAPE FROM HOSPITAL PRISON TODAY

Led by Two Murderers Inmates Take Keys From Guards and Make Getaway

Raleigh, Aug. 29—(AP)—Led by Ed Deaver, who killed a neighbor after a quarrel over a water melon, seven criminally insane men confined in state hospital escaped early today after forcing two guards to give them the keys to the outside door of the ward. Two of the seven were convicted of murder.

The guard W. B. Bailey and a man named Murphy were at supper just after midnight when Deaver led three of his companions into the room in which they were eating and forced them to give up their keys. The guards were then locked in an enclosed courtyard while the four men went back upstairs to release three more inmates. Hours after the escape no trace of any of the seven had been found although state, county and city officers were searching over a wide area.

Dr. J. W. Ashby, superintendent of the hospital said a thorough investigation was being made of the matter with indications being the escaped men had forced the locks on four cells with pieces of wire. Each of the seven were confined in separate cells and four of them were freed before the keys were obtained from the guards. The guards quoted Deaver as ordering them to give him the outside key to the ward. "I'm going out here, and am not coming back alive," Dr. Ashby said the guards told him Deaver said.

Deaver bludgeoned a rocker broken from a chair and his three accomplices were armed with various weapons and belligerent attitudes and the guard gave up the keys the superintendent said.

Deaver was sentenced to be electrocuted for the murder of Isaiah Hester in Columbus county in 1932 after the two had fussed over a water melon. His death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment about a year ago. The other murderer who got away was Joe Stafford, convicted in Wayne county and given life imprisonment. Tom Jackson, facing two terms for robbery in Forsyth county aggregating 21 to 24 years got away after being back in the ward only five days from a previous escape. The others to escape were Reginald Blake, who had completed a short road sentence at Dunn but was held due to his mental condition; Robert Whiteside sentenced from Buncombe county for highway robbery to 10 years; N. S. Goddard sentenced from Bertie county for store breaking and Clyde Gaines sentenced to prison from Catawba county. All were white men.

SPEAKING OF SNAKES, HERE'S A SUGGESTION

Kinston, Aug. 29—Residents of localities in Beaufort and Hyde counties are reported seriously considering asking the State to raise kingsnakes.

The proposal would be the most unusual since the late Eugene Wood Kinston sportsman advocated State purchase of 10,000 goats. Wood wanted the goats distributed through the woods and swamps, where they would multiply, keep down scrub growth, eradicate vermin and provide a new game supply.

The Hyde and Beaufort county people would have the kingsnakes raised to war on rattlers, copperheads and moccasins, reported to be increasing in the tidewater counties. Kingsnakes, formerly numerous, are seldom seen now. The reptiles do not shun the haunts of man and it is believed farm hands, killing them indiscriminately, have about wiped them out. Cannibalistic kingsnakes prefer other snakes over any other food and unhesitatingly attack poisonous reptiles.

DOUGHTON SUPPORTING BYRNES FOR SPEAKERSHIP

Concord, Aug. 29—Congressman R. L. Doughton, in Concord today for the reunion of the Barringer family, told newspaper men that he thought Rep. Joseph W. Byrnes, of Tennessee, would be chosen speaker of the House in the next Congress.

"I am for Byrnes," Mr. Doughton said. "He is the majority leader for the House and is well qualified for the important post of speaker. I have nothing against the other candidates but I'm supporting the Tennesseean."

Mr. Doughton plans to open his campaign for reelection to Congress on September 15th at Boone.

Diamond Imports Up. Washington—(AP)—The value of diamond imports into the United States in 1933 was only 18 per cent of the 1923-1925 average but it was 107 per cent higher than the value of imports in 1932.

DRIVE CAREFULLY TODAY

HOW DO YOU DRIVE?

A very large percentage of motorists drive with a reasonable degree of care and caution, and a comparative minority of drivers is responsible for a percentage of serious violations. A study of traffic casualties results in a serious indictment of youthful drivers. Their number mounts high as offenders in all of the accident records.

WILL YOU GET YOUR SHARE?

With tobacco bringing good prices our farmers are going to have money to spend and it is up to the local merchants to get their share of this business rather than have it go to mail order houses. In order to keep this business at home the wide-awake merchant will present his sales message to these potential buyers right in their own homes through the columns of the newspaper. There is no better medium through which you can contact the people of this trade area than The Reflector and if you are not going after business through an advertising campaign in this paper you are overlooking one of your best bets for increased business this fall.

THE ABC OF SAFETY

The cause of safety has a very simple and important A. B. C. The letters mean—Always Be Careful. That motto should govern conduct in every home, in every place of business—and especially in every automobile. Because it is constantly violated, thousands of people die needlessly each year, 33,000 of them in motor accidents alone, and property damage runs into the billions. In no other nation do accidents take so great a toll. There is nothing difficult about "playing safe." The main thing to remember is to never take a needless chance—never do anything unnecessarily that might lead to injury. An automobile driver, for example, can probably pass cars on curves nine hundred and ninety-nine times without anything happening. On the thousandth time he may kill and maim and injure. The element of risk is always there—a little thought will reduce it to a minimum. There is no greater and more absolute waste than that caused by accidents. No kind of waste possesses less justification—the unavoidable accident is so rare as to be almost non-existent. Nearly every accident is caused because someone was reckless, careless, ignorant. Remember the A. B. C. of safety—and you will be doing your part to eliminate hazards that menace every citizen.

TIGER ISLAND

A New Serial by Gouverneur Morris

SYNOPSIS: Somewhat to his surprise, Harvey Bowers, the big game hunter, finds himself chasing a cargo of wild animals to Singapore, assisted by an exceedingly attractive young animal trainer by name Ivy Green. What Bowers and Ivy do not know is that Captain Wong Bo and his American radio man, Flint, plan to scuttle the ship for the insurance.

Chapter 13 WONG BO

THE same two Chinamen who had assisted McLeod had been told off to assist Ivy. They were born shirkers. You had to stand over them coaxing, cajoling and bullying to get any work done at all.

The day's work began almost immediately after breakfast. The cages, which now seemed innumerable, had to be cleaned, and it soon appeared that when Ivy said cleaned she meant cleaned.

This work consumed the better part of the morning. A tattered awning shielded the forward cargo-deck from the direct rays of the sun, but the rays themselves were not to be thwarted so easily. They darted around the edges of the awning, and bounced upward and inward from the nearest surface of the sea. Only the stokehold was hotter.

Wong Bo was catholic in his tastes. He liked English cooking and French cooking, but he preferred one or two of the coolie dishes, and all the aristocratic dishes of his own people.

One of the preferred coolie dishes was of course, rice. The other was pork, exquisitely roasted and served cold in narrow strips. Bird's nest soup, shark's-fin and one hundred-year-old eggs tasting for all the world like avocado pears, were staples. Champagne flowed, and dinner was a merry time.

After dinner the Chinese captain, Flint and the two passengers played bridge in the old smoking-room. This had been scrubbed clean, and a punkah had been installed. With the high-silled door hooked open and all the portholes ajar, it was like being on deck.

BOWERS had faced his first game with much misgivings. He was an excellent player, and disliked nothing more than being the victim of persons who had yet to learn the rudiments. But both Ivy and Flint had natural card-sense and played soundly enough, while Wong Bo, it seemed, had made such a hobby of the game, that he was a past-master.

Ivy had dealt, sorted her hand and bid two spades. Bowers passed.

New Bern, Aug. 29.—Mrs. Lulu Rowe Fowkes has been named secretary for the Craven farm debt adjustment committee. Her salary is to be paid by the FERA. On the county committee are G. Allen Ives chairman; Marvin Aldridge, secretary; J. M. Wilcox, of Riverdale; J. L. Paterson, of Vanceboro, and

F. H. Whitty and William Dunn, of New Bern.

SEEK TO DETERMINE FAIR VALUE OF BRIDGE

Manteo, Aug. 29.—The appointment of an arbitrator board to find a fair value of the Wright memorial bridge across Currituck sound is advocated in a resolution passed by the Dare county board of commissioners.

This move is made in an effort to protect owners of the bridge which connects Currituck and Dare counties, from what citizens of the county term coercion by the State in purchasing the span.

RUM-RUNNER ASKS HELP OF WRONG MAN

Piolet Mountain, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A rumrunner in a light sedan with 70 gallons of liquor broke down on the road about four miles south of here. Unable to repair the machine, he walked to the nearest farmhouse and asked for help in hauling his load into Winston-Salem.

The supposed farmer welcomed

Wong Bo used a bottle of champagne for shaving lotion.

The work of cleaning the tiger cages fell to Ivy. Bowers' one attempt drove them into a frenzy of excitement, and they disliked the ministrations of the Chinamen infinitely more.

But when Ivy wielded the scraper, thrust in between the bars, or the swab, they behaved like good children getting their great paws out of the way and only growling an occasional mild remonstrance.

The cleaning hours were a bedlam of sounds, but it was not until fifteen minutes before feeding-time that the real concert of the day began. In this even the birds who had food always with them joined. Everything joined except the reptiles.

The tigers made so much noise that you might have thought there were a dozen of them instead of only two. The monkeys yelled bloody murder. The birds screamed. When the animals had been fed, there was more cleaning to do, and not until half-past four or five was there leisure in which to loaf or read a book.

It was then that the two lounge chairs which Bowers had provided came in handy, for by that time both he and Ivy would be pretty well exhausted. White persons were not designed for hard work in the tropics.

On the other hand, a white man who works hard in the tropics lives longer than one who doesn't. There seems to be no limit to the amount of liquid than can be lost through the pores and regained through the mouth.

After a loaf and a talk, the "Get Ready" gong sounded, and they bathed and dressed for dinner. There was usually enough time between dressing and dinner to lean against the rail and watch the swift miracle of the sunset.

Dinner began as Flint had prophesied with a glass of champagne. It was of an excellent vintage, brut and light. Wong Bo liked good food and it is probable that Ivy and Bowers fared better than any other passengers at that time sailing in the China Sea.

Wong Bo bid five diamonds. Flint passed, and Ivy jumped her original bid to a little slam. It was then that Bowers realized that he had fallen into good hands. Wong Bo smiled a sudden approving smile at his partner.

"Oh, you play CuLertson," he said. The stakes were low and the games were most amiable. Wong Bo was the best player, but both Bowers and Flint preferred to cut with Ivy, and this was not because as a rule she held the best cards. A young man is an irrational animal. He would rather go down to defeat with a pretty girl than win decisively with a fat Chinaman.

Both Flint and Bowers put themselves out to be agreeable, not only to Ivy and Captain Wong Bo, but to each other. Wong Bo would have been glad to play all night. Like all Chinamen, he was a nocturnal animal. But Ivy insisted on early hours: three or four rubbers was her limit.

Always while the winnings and losses were being computed, the cabin boy in an exquisite suit of silk brocade fetched a nightcap bottle of champagne in a bucket of salt and ice, and an extra bottle in its straw jacket. As Wong Bo always carried this extra bottle off with him, it was fair to presume that he drank it warm through the night.

This, however, was not the case. There was a large shipment of champagne in the hold of the Boldero, and as this was not destined to be delivered to the consignee, it was without any value in dollars and cents.

To serve it so freely at meals and in the smoking-room cost Wong Bo nothing, and it would have interested the two passengers to know that the bottle which he carried off to his cabin every night served him as a tooth-wash and a pleasant lotion after shaving.

The days and nights were much alike. Little breezes rarely ruffled the waters, and by the same token, there were few disturbances of the routine set for Bowers and Ivy by the nature of their task.

Bowers has, tomorrow, a new sort of "great moment."

HOME AGENTS HEAR DISTRICT SUPERVISOR

New Bern, Aug. 29.—Mrs. Estelle Smith, of Raleigh, district home demonstration agent, made the main address Saturday at the regular meeting of the Craven council of home demonstration members held at Neuse-Forest. She stressed the importance of co-operative buying and home improvement.

Miss Blanche Stator Honored.
Entertaining for Miss Blanche Stator, bride-elect of September fifth, Misses Mattie Vines and Elizabeth Mayo were charming hostesses last evening in the Woman's Club. The rooms were artistically decorated in a variety of late summer flowers and numerous glowing blue pink tapers. Eleven tables were placed for bridge in this attractive setting and a number of games were enjoyed. At the conclusion of the game Mrs. Ed Wikerson was awarded bridge cards for high score. Miss Stator was presented silver in her selected pattern. Miss Rose Hadley, bride-elect of November, was remembered with a lovely handkerchief and Miss Lucia Harding of Charlotte, with guest powder puffs.

Miss Doris Hardee, Miss Mary Ette Patrick and Miss Daisy King Mayo assisted the hostesses in serving a delicious ice course.

that a discard would harm. The ace of diamonds was played, followed by the king and ace of hearts. With this foundation laid the remaining two trumps were played south. With one club left to play, the situation was:

North	S-J	East
	D-K Q 7	H-Q 10
West	S-Q	D-9
	D-J 10 3	C-10
South	H-3 2
	D-8
	C-7

On the lead of the club jack if west lets go a diamond the spade is discarded north and all the diamonds are good. If west sheds the spade a low diamond is discarded north. Miss Crowley had three opportunities to make the hand in contract to the original South's one chance of finding the adverse diamond evenly divided. There was the possibility that the hand that held most of the spades also had most of the adverse diamonds; there was the possibility that the hand that held most of the adverse diamonds also had most of the adverse hearts. The squeeze would work in either case so long as the hand with the bunched enemy diamonds also did not have many trumps. And finally if the squeeze should not work there was the chance of a diamond break.

Circuses Originate In West.
During the era of high class theatrical productions, all such bore the stamp of New York and Broadway. Even if they had not actually played on Broadway, their managers proclaimed in big type that they were big Broadway accesses. This, because any theatrical production from the west was considered without merit and consequently the average attraction so unfortunate as to come from the west met financial disaster. The same applied to vaudeville stars, the latter always claiming to be from New York, if not from abroad.

Circus history is the reverse. The representatives of Russell Bros. Circus which is to give two performances in Greenville Monday, September 3rd, are invariably greeted at every stop on this, the first eastern trip of this show by the remark "Russell Bros. Circus—never heard of it." However, the fact that that individual has never heard of the Russell Circus does not necessarily imply anything against the circus.

The reason many people in this section have never heard of Russell Bros. Circus is because heretofore it has confined its tours to territory west of the Wabash river as far as the Pacific coast and south to Mexico. This fact is a reminder that with one or two exceptions, all circuses in this country have originated in the west, likewise of course, Wild West shows. The great rodeo put on every year in Madison Square Garden successfully is the production of a Texas man. It seems the big open spaces of the west not only produce men willing to be venturesome in life generally, but they are also willing to gamble in a hazardous business such as the circus and willing to endure the punishment and sacrifices incident to establishing it. There are several very creditable circuses in the west today which have never been seen in the east. Charles Ringling, once made the remark that the Ringling Circus made three trips east before it profited a dollar on an eastern trip. That show originated in Iowa and Wisconsin. In the west Russell Bros. Circus is as well established as a meritorious circus and clean attraction as was the Barnum & Bailey show in the east. It was with some hesitancy that the management ventured east this season, but so far they have no regret since Russell Bros. Circus has been very well received and liberally patronized in every eastern city it has visited and that means about all of them. Fortunately for this show, a number of eastern newspaper men had seen it in the west and did not hesitate to vouch for it to their readers—then too, Russell Bros. are ardent believers in newspaper advertising and have spent a small fortune with the papers since it first took to the road. Recently Russell Bros. Circus exhibited in Utica, New York and the next day the Observer-Dispatch of that city commented as follows: "Utica was visited yesterday by one of the cleanest and most reputable circuses it has had in years. The Russell Bros. Circus put on an excellent entertainment to two full houses and the test of a good show was proven by the fact that both audiences departed from the circus grounds completely satisfied. Russell Bros. made a decided hit and "be welcomed for a return date." So again, the west comes forward with the kind of a circus the east approves and it is evident that Russell Bros. Circus may become a repeater and play return dates in its new territory same as it has done for years in the west. The east still has the credit for what few successful theatrical productions there are, but the west still carries off the honors for producing circuses, wild west and rodeos.

do you remember

how the store next to the post-office did business?

that little country store on Main Street had what you wanted . . . or sent to the big city and got it for you. They knew about the weddings and the babies and the cousins-come-to-visit. They knew when the crops were good and when the blue mold got the tobacco . . . and bought for you accordingly . . .

and when you came to the store for the mixed chicken feed or the yard and a half of gingham . . . you didn't have to have your money in your pocket. They trusted you . . . believed you'd pay next fall when the market opened . . . and you did. Maybe you didn't even buy anything at all . . . just came to see what was in . . . and to sit around a while . . .

there's a store with the same sort of understanding of your needs, on the corner of Evans and 4th Street in Greenville . . . a big department store that answers your abundant needs, abundantly . . . that sees to it that prices are within your reach . . . that trusts you, too . . . lets you charge what you buy . . .

South contracted for seven clubs, the bidding by South and North going: club, two diamonds, three clubs, four no trump, five no trump, seven clubs. The enemy passed all the while.

West led the king of spades, which was won by North's ace. The lead of dummy's king-queen of clubs disclosed that East originally had four to the ten and the declarer could see nothing to do except hope that the adverse diamonds were evenly divided and that two low hearts from the south hand could be parked on North's diamonds after trumps were exhausted. Down one.

"You could have made it," remarked Miss Dolly Crowley, who set the contract. "The lead of the king of spades showed that I had the queen. All you had to do was to run trumps so that I would have had to discard a diamond or the spade queen."

The hand was distributed again and Miss Crowley exchanged places with South. Taking the king of spades with the ace she trumped a spade south and returned to the north hand with south and a trump spade was ruffed with a club. A second spade was returned. West showed out which increased the probability that the contract could be made by a squeeze.

The thing to do now was to eliminate as many hearts and diamonds as possible from the west hand so

The Hard Sleepers

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
"Come along, pigs," said the farmers. But the pigs merely blinked their little head-like eyes and grunted.

"It's not daylight." Another farmer spoke to the dogs, but they merely shook a little as they were partly aroused, and then turned around and went back to sleep again.

"You've been up to something," one of the farmers told Willy Nilly. "Oh, my," moaned Willy Nilly, the little gnome-like man, "oh, my, will I ever get around to looking after my pointed-out ears?"

N. Y. Stock Market

STOCKS New York, Aug. 29—(AP)—Some of the gloom was wiped off the market sentiment today and the price structure showed a much firmer undertone. Secretary Morgenthau's explanation of the country's financial condition appeared to be helpful although there was some argument as to his estimate of the cost of the new deal.
