GOVERNMENT READY TO PROBE TEXTILE STRIKE

Violence Reported As Mill Workers Prepare To Strike

EMPLOYEES AT WAGON MILL IN DISORDERS

Two automobiles loaded with company officials attacked by strikers; mill heads threatened; five persons placed under arrest; general strike set for tomorrow night

The nation-wide walkout of cotton textile workers is scheduled to begin tomorrow night. Violence already has echoed the strike call. Employees of the Payne Mill in Macon, Ga., struck yesterday and before midnight two automobiles had been attacked and company officials in them threatened.

Pickets armed with clubs marched outside the mill fence. Company guards carrying firearms were reported inside the gates.

Early today seven warrants were issued in municipal court against strike mill workers at Bibb No. 2, where disorders were reported this morning.

Other warrants, possibly for assault, were sought later in the day, it was said by officers.

Estimated 435,000 workers in the cotton textile trade were expected to be affected by the general strike. Another 300,000 employees in affiliated fields such as silk, wool and rayon have orders to "stand by."

J. Gorman, strike committee chairman, predicts they will win the walkout. About 300,000 mill workers are members of the United Textile Workers of America, which said that their average weekly wage was only $10.85.

The manufacturers' organization and the cotton textile institute dispute this saying the industry had granted bigger wage increases under the NRA than any other line.

The NRA is a center of the fight. The union demands under the Industrial Recovery Act the right to represent labor in collective bargaining. The operators say they cannot see where it is representative.

RIOTING TIES UP SPOKANE

Transportation Strike Results in Four Injured; Railway Suspends Work

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Rioting tied up the Spokane Transportation System completely today. After four persons were injured in an attempt to disperse a thousand strike sympathizers last night, President Frank T. Post of the Spokane Union Railway, announced service would be suspended today. He hoped to restore partial service in the afternoon.

FOUND GUILTY OF ASSAULT ON YOUNG WOMAN

Jury Asks Mercy For Jasper Mills, Young White Man, Held on a Rape Charge

Jasper Mills, young white man of the Cox Mill community, was sentenced to one year on the roads by Judge R. Hunt Parker in criminal court shortly before the noon hour today, on a charge of assault on a female. The jury returned a decision in the case last night but Judge Parker reserved decision until today.

Mills filed notice of appeal to Supreme court.

Jasper Mills, 20-year-old white man charged with rape, was found guilty of assault on a female by a jury in criminal court last night about 9 o'clock, with recommendation for mercy.

The jury received the case yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Hearing was begun the afternoon before.

Judge R. Hunt Parker of Roanoke Rapids, did not pass sentence when the verdict was rendered last night but was expected to make known his decision sometime this afternoon.

Mills was charged with criminally attacking Miss Bertha Frizzelle in the Cox Mill community August 6 while they were walking along a wooded path. When taken into custody shortly afterward he vigorously denied the crime.

Solicitor D. M. Clark announced that the State would not ask for a verdict of rape but for assault on a female with intent to commit rape. In his charge to the jury Judge Parker told the jurors they could also find the defendant guilty of assault on a female.

With jail cases scheduled to be completed this afternoon, court was expected to clear up odds and ends and adjourn. A considerable amount of work has been done and the docket of over a hundred cases has been sharply reduced.

NEGRO GIRL KILLED HERE

Shirley Moore Accidentally Shot to Death Last Night By Charles Smith

Shirley Brooks Moore, two-year-old negro girl, was shot and accidentally killed at her home near the colored graded school last night police revealed today.

Charlie Smith, colored, was released shortly after a coroner's jury returned a verdict that the child came to her death through the accidental discharge of Smith's pistol.

Several persons were gathered at the home of the child's parents. Smith was reported to have had the pistol in his hand preparatory to cleaning it. The revolver fell to the floor, discharged, one of the bullets penetrating the child's body.

Coroner A. A. Ellwanger, who was in charge of the investigation, said this morning there were four witnesses to the accident and that each told the same story, declaring it was merely accidental.

Rev. J. A. McIver, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, who has been touring several countries of Europe the last month, returned home last night, remarking that "the best part of his trip was his return home."

Mr. McIver attended the Baptist World Alliance in Berlin, Germany. Sessions lasted one week and were attended by representatives of the denomination from many countries. After leaving Berlin he went to Oberammergau to attend the Passion Play, described as one of the most spectacular performances of all times.

He also visited other sections of Europe, spending several days at notable places in France.

COURT SENDS CASES BACK TO LOWER COURT

Superior Court Returns Several Actions To County Court for Final Action

Criminal court caught a few minutes breathing space yesterday afternoon, closely scrutinized the docket, found numbers of cases within the jurisdiction of county court and sent them back to that tribunal for final action.

Judge R. Hunt Parker held that the actions did not belong in Superior court in view of the fact that County court had jurisdiction over them and ordered that they be transferred to the lower court for final consideration.

There were a considerable number of the actions and with the regular calendar of two weeks already ahead of them the lower court should be in session at least a week when it hits the trail again next Tuesday.

No press was also taken in several cases which had been hanging fire for sometime and when court adjourns either late today or tomorrow, the docket will be much smaller than it was the beginning of the week when the pruning process started.

Letha Avery and Lonnie Mills, young white men of the Black Jack community, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing chickens and were given a four months' suspended sentence to the roads upon payment of cost. The suspended sentence will extend for a period of two years.

MUST RETURN PART RENTAL

Farmers Who Increase Acreage Ten Percent Must Return One-Third Rental

A large number of farmers have inquired as to whether a farmer who takes advantage of the ten per cent increase in acres, and who expects to take the advantage of the ten per cent increase on his allotment card would be required to return one-third of his rental and also be reduced in his adjustment payment from twelve and one-half per cent, to eight per cent.

Late News Flashes

Strike Extended. Washington, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A general strike of the nation's cotton mill workers today was extended to include the woolen worsted industry.

Prison Farm Guard Killed. Raleigh, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Ernest Flux, guard at the Caldonia prison farm in Halifax county was killed yesterday afternoon when five prisoners, three of them convicted murderers, overpowered him, took his gun and forced him to accompany them in an unsuccessful attempt to escape.

Jack Reach, in charge of the prison department of the State highway Commission, was informed today of the killing.

The convicts forced E. Sharon, who was working at the prison camp, to hand over his automobile and with him in the car they started to flee from the farm.

The alarm was spread and I. D. Hinton, assistant superintendent of the farm, and a guard named Cook overtook the prisoners before they

URGENT GROWERS TO GRADE LEAF CLOSELY HERE

Careful Grading Declared Conducive to Improved Prices for Golden Weed

The Greenville tobacco market established an average of $27.26 a hundred pounds on the past week's sales. It was revealed today by the official report made public by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales.

The total amount of tobacco sold during the period was given as 4,293,392 pounds for which the growers received $1,170,444.45.

For the same week last season the market sold 2,693,686 pounds for $272,751.46, at an average of $10.12 per hundred pounds.

The sale here yesterday was one of the largest of the season, the report indicated with 1,222,470 pounds of leaf being actually disposed of. The farmers were paid $289,161.27, and the average was $25.76 per hundred pounds.

Tobacco men continued to urge growers to carefully grade their tobacco and keep it free of strings and other foreign matter. Leaf marketed in good condition stands much better chance of bringing good prices, it was said, and growers who attempt to give the buyers what they want certainly stand better chances of benefitting than those who confine little attention to grading.

There was a considerable amount of leaf on the warehouse floors this morning but sales will be completed during the late afternoon and floors cleared for the reception of the heavy break expected here Monday.

Jeffress Said To Be Better. Richmond, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The condition of E. B. Jeffress, Greenville publisher and chairman of the North Carolina Highway commission was still critically ill today but hospital attendants said he spent a quiet night and perhaps was a little better.

GRAND JURY WOULD OUST SLOT DEVICES

Recommends to County Court That Effort Be Made to Banish Slot Machines

The new six months' grand jury recommended that County Court "use every effort to banish slot machines from the county" in its report presented to Judge R. Hunt Parker in yesterday afternoon's session of criminal court.

Immediately after completing the report members of the jury returned to their homes in various parts of the county. They were selected Monday morning and will serve for the usual term of six months.

The recommendation was made, the statement said, because several complaints regarding operation of slot machines had been received by the body.

Donald Conley, director of public instruction was called before the jury and instructed regarding the law pertaining to the operation of school buses.

The jury was informed by Mr. Conley that arrangements had already been made with Lt. Lester Jones, of the divisional highway patrol, to conduct a school for bus drivers and to fully inform them regarding the various traffic regulations.

The report follows: NORTH CAROLINA PITT COUNTY To His Honor, R. Hunt Parker, Judge Presiding at the August term of Superior Court.

We, the Grand Jury of this term of court respectfully submit the following report. We investigated all bills presented to this body and passed on same in accordance to the evidence.

We visited the County Home in a body and upon investigation we found the premises of same in very good condition, as to sanitation of all buildings, bedrooms and bed linen, we found all inmates in fair health. However, we recommend that the inmates should have a different food from what we found they got, namely they should have more milk and eggs.

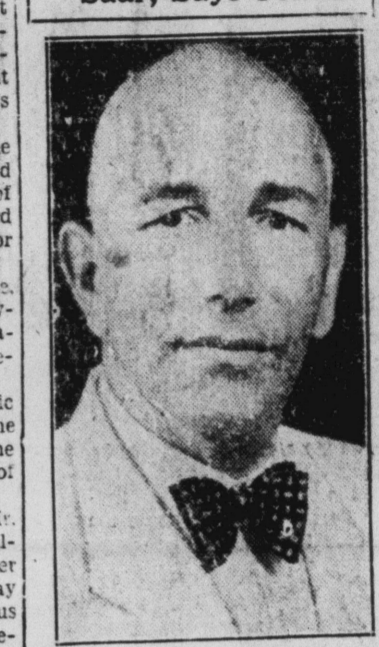

We visited the Prison Camp and found it in excellent condition, and do commend the officers in charge.

We visited the jail in a body and found same in good condition and do commend the officers in charge.

We visited and inspected all the County Offices, namely the Clerk, Register of Deeds, County Officers Board of Education, Treasurer's, Tax Collector, and the Auditor. Apparently all seem to be in good condition and are kept and handled in a business like manner.

Neutral Inquiry Is Considered By Relations Board

Reich to Recover Saar, Says Consul

In Atlanta, Ga., on an official visit, Dr. Ernest Wendler (above), German consul in New Orleans, expressed confidence the forthcoming Saar plebiscite will result in that valuable territory returning to Germany's possession. (Associated Press Photo)

Washington, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The government appeared ready today to launch a neutral inquiry into the issues behind the general cotton textile strike, as all hope for averting the giant walkout vanished.

Still striving for a quick peace, Chairman Lloyd Garrison of the National Industrial Relations Board, "supreme court of labor disputes," had in mind the appointment of a committee of three to explore the conflict impartially and perhaps recommend a solution.

Union leaders threatened to call silk, woolen and rayon operatives "out on the strike line" unless their employers meet demands.

This, they said, would boost the grand total involved from 425,000 to 725,000, including union, non-union and unemployed operatives who would aid the strikers.

The estimate conflicted sharply with those of the management, which said that in many mills none would walkout and the total would not amount beyond ten or fifteen per cent.

Pres. Roosevelt Confers With Louis Douglas, Director of the Budget

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—President Roosevelt called in treasury officials today in a resumption of his study of the national financial situation begun last night in a talk with Lewis Douglas, director of the budget.

Sec. Morgenthau and Thomas Jefferson Coolidge, under secretary of the treasury, headed the group who had an appointment for noon.

QUICK PEACE TO BE SOUGHT BY PROBERS

Chairman Garrison to Name Committee of Three to Explore Issues Behind Impending Walkout; Recommendation on Solution Sought; Leaders Say 725,000 Workers Will Be Involved in Strike

Washington, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The government appeared ready today to launch a neutral inquiry into the issues behind the general cotton textile strike, as all hope for averting the giant walkout vanished.

Still striving for a quick peace, Chairman Lloyd Garrison of the National Industrial Relations Board, "supreme court of labor disputes," had in mind the appointment of a committee of three to explore the conflict impartially and perhaps recommend a solution.

ALLOTMENTS MUST BE HELD

Tobacco Cards Cannot be Sold But Must Be Returned at End of The Season

County Farm Agent E. F. Arnold, received the following instructions relating to sale of allotment cards to speculators or other persons, which is as follows:

"A producer is permitted, in accordance with the provisions of Administrative ruling No. 29, to sell tobacco of another contracting grower under his allotment card (s) but he is not permitted to sell such cards (s).

COL. TURNER IS DELAYED

Noted Flier Unable to Join West to East Race Today Because of Line Trouble

Union Air Terminal, Burbank, Calif., Aug. 31.—(AP)—A broken gas line developing fifteen minutes before the start of the transcontinental air race today forced Col. Roscoe Turner, holder of the west to east record, to withdraw from the race.

Colonel Turner, who made a desperate effort to repair the line, saw the other three entrants in the long distance speed event of the National Air Race, get under way.

The last to take off was Lee Zehlbach of New York, who was delayed due to trouble with the starter of his huge green speedster. Winner of the 1933 Bendix cup race, Colonel Turner said he would hop off tomorrow in an attempt to break the west to east record of 10 hours and five minutes.

arthritis, not to mention injuries caused by accidents. Heart trouble, not only the physical heart trouble, but the kind that results from disappointed affection or lack of it, is common with the menagerie family. This is true of every kind of beast or bird so confined. They are true to their mates and indulge in a protracted season of mourning upon the separation from a mate, or even from a keeper or trained to whom they have become deeply attached. This is especially true of the monkey tribe.

Last season the Russell Bros. Circus lost two very valuable chimpanzees because it became necessary to leave the keeper behind. Both animals refused to eat or drink, would not sleep and actually died from grief. This year if the reader happens to be a spectator at the Russell Circus, they may see a very unusual sight and remarkable display of beast affection. Mrs. Pauline Webb, wife of the manager of the circus, has a pet chimpanzee, about a year and a half old. It is more intelligent than a five year old child and better mannered than many children. "Topsy" is full of life and mischief, too, as her name would indicate. She tried to imitate anything she sees a human being do, even to the remarkable attempt of threading a needle, which she actually accomplished after much pa-

KEEP THE STRINGS OUT

Despite the numerous requests made of the farmers to keep the strings out of their tobacco there was much tobacco on the market today in which there was strings. Of course we realize that some of the growers are grading their tobacco as rapidly as possible and are not taking the necessary time to remove all the strings, but in the long run it will pay them well to take the extra time to take the strings out for the tobacco will sell higher when marketed in a clean condition. The growers want every penny possible for their crop and we believe if they will exercise care as to the grading they will find that they receive more than the man who handles his tobacco in a haphazard way.

SLOT MACHINE RACKET UNTOUCHED

It seems that the slot machine situation in this county is likely to remain the same with machines in evidence on every hand for children as well as adults to drop their pennies and nickels in to receive, in most instances, nothing in return. According to the grand jury report, that body in session this week received several complaints about the slot machine menace in this county but instead of investigating the matter and having the operators hauled into court the grand jury without any investigation recommended that the county court take steps to break up the slot machine racket. By way of explanation it was stated that Judge R. Hunt Parker, presiding over the term of court, advised the grand jury that the slot machine activities were not of sufficient importance to take up the time of the grand jury or the Superior court but was a matter for the county court, hence the inaction on the subject on the part of the grand jury.

The matter in the minds of some may be of little or no importance, but in our opinion any racket, and surely this slot machine business is a racket, that can take hundreds upon hundreds of dollars away from the public daily without giving anything in return, and at the same time breed the gambling spirit in the minds of the children is enough importance to have the attention of the officers and the courts, from the lowest to the highest.

The slot machine racket has been going on in this county for a long time. At one time the grand jury investigated the situation and issued presentments for a large number of operators to appear at the next term of court. Before that term of court convened all the papers in the case disappeared from the clerk's office, with the result that nothing was ever done about it and the slot machines have continued to operate in this county and so far as we know, no officer has taken the trouble to do anything else about it. Now with the grand jury adopting a hands-off policy and leaving the matter up to the county court, we presume that nothing will be done about it until public opinion demands it to the extent that the officers will be forced to take some action. Just why nothing can be done about the slot machines here when other counties and some states have outlawed them we do not know, but apparently it is one of those things that everybody knows about but does nothing about it.

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

The relief problem again is threatening to nose out all others in the scramble for attention at Washington. Industrially, September has cast no convincing shadow before it. Cold figures do not promise, thus far, the really big employment upturn hoped for by the administration. Some officials think relief expenditures during the coming winter may reach proportions entirely unforeseen a year ago. Budget officers grow serious when they view the prospects. There is more and more talk that President Roosevelt may have to go even deeper into the red than he had planned. As to relief methods, the administration merely is feeling its way, and probably will continue to do so for some weeks to come. A revival of CWA will be avoided if possible although something very similar may be substituted.

Johnson Wants to Quit
Political implications adhere inevitably to almost every act and policy in Washington, and the latest NRA-Johnson episode is no exception. The truth is General Johnson wanted to quit, and almost everyone concerned felt he probably had completed the organization job for which he entered the government service.

It was one thing, however, for him to slip out naturally, and quite another, politically, for him to leave in a huff or under fire from within the administration. This is a campaign year, and democratic political chiefs knew an open break between Johnson and the White House would be widely interpreted as a repudiation of NRA itself. Johnson, on his side, is reported half-willing to become a senatorial candidate in Oklahoma in 1936, opposing Senator Gore for renomination. He has no desire to make that race handicapped by a White House cold shoulder.

Perhaps these things had a greater influence than was generally realized in defeating the effort to elect the general forcibly—a development which completely changed the whole picture overnight.

Strike Cause Confused
So much confusion and secrecy surrounded preparations for the textile strike that government conciliators were compelled to do a lot of shooting in the dark. Some of the union demands, such as abolition of sweatshops and union recognition, were so elastic in meaning that it was hard to get at the real cause of the dispute. The investigators found the trouble centered almost entirely in the south, where neither employers nor employees are familiar with the new unionized set-up inaugurated under NRA. Underneath, the southern mill owners were accused of all sorts of "chiseling" including open discrimination against union men. The union leaders, in turn, were accused of inexperience and hot-headiness. There was a feeling on the part of some New England and other northern owners and workers as well that such a situation would not have arisen in the long-unionized north—and that if it did, it speedily could have been adjusted. The northerners on both sides agreed to go along, however, even if many of them did not fully understand. That made it all the harder for the government to get an agreement.

TIGER ISLAND

A New Serial by Gouverneur Morris

SYNOPSIS: The big game hunter, Harry Bowers, is chasing a cargo of wild animals to Singapore. His assistant is Ivy Green, animal tamer from a desert circus. Both Bowers and Ivy are in love with the S. S. Boldero, who is in love with Ivy. Ivy and Bowers have a fight to land their conversation into personal matters.

Chapter 15 DARK PLOT

BOWERS is incorrigible. He says: "Suppose you liked me a million times more than you do?" "Suppose I did?" "I wonder what would happen." "Nothing, I assure you. You'd better count sheep." Then Bowers in a complaining voice: "I'm not doing any harm. I'm just lying here thinking. I wish I could see you for a second."

"Why?" "I always thought you were pretty; but today when you were talking to the big tiger you were so kind and understanding, I got to thinking that maybe you were beautiful. So if I got to see you for a second I could be sure, couldn't I?" Ivy is not in the least interested in the conversation. She wants to go to sleep, and she remarks with petulance: "This makes five nights in a row that you haven't stopped chattering." Flint, if he had been eavesdropping, would have been comforted. It was obvious that Bowers' suit, if it were a suit, was not making any progress.

Curiously enough, Flint, about to be a partner in an act of barratry, did not consider himself an ineligible suitor. An insurance company was a cold impersonal machine. Stealing from an insurance company wasn't like stealing from a person. The insurance company itself was probably a great thief. Men had shipped goods on the Boldero and these goods would perish, but what of it? The goods were insured. The slippers would not suffer. The barratry once committed and insurance collected, Flint would be a man of independent means. He might not be as rich as Bowers, but he would have plenty. He would be distinctly eligible. He would be a great catch for a girl like Ivy.

The barratry was to be accomplished without any loss of life. He had gone into that many times with Wong Bo. There mustn't be any mistake about it, no slip-up anywhere, no accidents. It was one thing to play a huge practical joke on an insurance company. It was quite another thing to have blood on your hands. When the time came, the Boldero would be cracked open in mild weather on a sunken reef. To guard against the possibility of her remaining afloat until help came and being salvaged, her sea-cocks would also have been opened.

While he himself broadcast the news of a ship in distress at such and such a crossing of latitude and longitude, the ship's boats would be got overboard and provisioned. There would be room for everybody.

FLINT had arranged with Wong Bo that Ivy and Bowers should not be in the same boat, but Ivy and Flint would be in the same boat and if that boat did not come ashore upon a part of the Borneo coast far removed from the point at which the boat containing Bowers came ashore, it would not be Flint's fault.

If the present days were hard for him to bear, and especially the present nights, he looked forward to days and nights of heavenly propinquity and high romance. One afternoon Bowers brought all his guns and rifles on deck in their solid leather cases for a general cleaning and overhauling. The glitter of handsome weapons drew first Flint's attention and later Wong Bo's. Ivy, who was making herself a dress, something decent to go ashore in, was also interested.

But her interest was resentful. Those were the things that men killed with for pleasure. If Bowers had been a Turk and his weapons a harem of beautiful women he could not have loved them more dearly or with more solicitude. The great enemy of modern weapons is the power which makes them weapons. More particularly is this the case with rifles. After firing your rifle, you may clean it until the inside of the barrel an dthe rifling shines like a mirror, but a day or two later when you look through the barrel there are symptoms of corrosion.

SUITS FOR $83,000 ARE BROUGHT IN ACCIDENT

Lenoir, Aug. 31.—Suits totalling $83,000 were instituted here yesterday against John W. Terrell, employe of a local dry cleaning establishment as the result of an automobile accident near Hudson on June 27, this year. Miss Lola Sides, an "infant" of Burke county, is suing for $75,000 for the loss of one eye, probable loss of another, and injuries sustained when the car allegedly driven by Terrell struck her while she was walking with Miss Janelle Putnam of near Hudson, along No. 17 highway. Miss Sides is suing through her father, R. O. Sides. Miss Putnam, suing through L. N. Putnam, is asking for $3,000 for injuries, chief of which was a wrenched back. R. O. Sides is asking for $5,000 for the loss of services of his daughter. Both Miss Putnam and Miss Sides received hospital treatment as a result of the injuries.

The Department of Agriculture is breeding disease-resistant tomatoes because of the great increase in tomato juice drinking.

Breeding disease-resistant types of vegetables is believed to be the best hope of conquering plant disease.

The unemployed in cities and town of North Carolina cultivated about 50,000 acres in relief gardens last year.

Two Strange Men

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"They hadn't even the manners to say they had had a good time," said Top Notch, strutting about angrily. He was, of course, responsible for the visitors and he was so annoyed with himself that he felt like being annoyed with the others too. "I'm a nervous wreck," he said, and pulled out his little mirror to see if he looked very ill. "Don't be so vain that you think about yourself now," barked Rip, the dog. "Think of what has happened to Willy Nilly's place, and the garden, and everything."

"Oh, don't speak of it," sighed Willy Nilly. "I don't know what to do. I feel as though I'd never get things to rights as long as I lived—the way I feel."

"We'll all help," said Rip. "I know a blackberry patch and I'll bring over some berries so we can have some refreshments," cawed Christopher Columbus Crow. "Tell me where the bushes are to be found and I'll help you," growled Jelly Bear.

"Can I trust you?" asked Christopher. "Woof, woof, I should say you could," growled Jelly Bear. "We'll all share here in Puddle Muddle—but I'm tired of outsiders."

"It's strange," said Willy Nilly. "We love company—but these visitors just took advantage of us and had no respect for our place!" Christopher and all the bears went for the berries and the Puddle Muddlers sat down and had a berry feast.

But as they were sitting and eating they saw two strange men, carrying two queer boxes, coming up the hill to Willy Nilly's house.

Kinston Grabs Second Game In Series Tilt

By J. GASKILL McDANIEL

Kinston smacked out nine hits yesterday afternoon at opportune intervals to defeat a scrappy Greenville outfit by a 4 to 1 margin.

The visitors got to Reynolds May early for a pair of runs in the first, but the Greens came back in their own half to put across a run of their own. Bunn Hearin's pace-setters tallied once more in the seventh and then added a final marker in the ninth.

Bolger let the losers down with six safeties, but Tick Pople's boys appeared little the worse for wear after Kinston's one-sided win of the previous day. Playing errorless ball, the Greens kept in the game until the last man was retired. Dean and Lambeth were the folding stars for the home towners although May did more than his share in getting no less than ten assists.

Kinston's infield can justly receive all due credit for the victory. Turning in a sensational defense that included three sparkling double plays, the visitors stiffed rally upon rally. Gene Zaiser contributed the game's only error when he threw wild to Hayworth on an easy roller.

Irwin, Zaiser and Peele led the Kinstonian attack with a pair of hits each, while Ty Wagner drove in a pair of singles to lead Greenville. Incidentally, both pitchers grabbed a hit, and May's was a nice two-bagger.

Bolger and May shared the game's two strikeouts, but Bolger was responsible for three of the four free passes issued.

It was a clean, hard-fought affair with no stolen bases, wild pitches or passed balls. But for a pair of close decisions by Base Umpire Smith there was little squawking on the part of a disappointed crowd that cheered throughout the tussle for the hard fighting Greens.

This institute was to be held on September 3rd.

All teachers coming under the Federal Emergency Relief Program take notice of this.

ACCIDENT FATALITY BRINGS $10,000 SUIT

Asheville, Aug. 31—Claiming that Eddie Eugene Meadows was fatally injured when kicked by a horse while he and the animal were riding on a truck, Ocie Ovel Meadows, administratrix, filed suit in Buncombe county superior court Tuesday afternoon, seeking damages of $10,000.

The complaint naming Leroy Owens of the county home road section as defendant, stated that Meadows was "kicked, pushed, knocked or crowded" off the truck by the horse and "died within an hour". The tragedy occurred July 7

Here's Wise Food for Hot Weather

Keeping cool is largely a matter of what you eat. These hot days, instead of a breakfast that makes you feel dull and lousy all morning, try cooling, nourishing Shredded Wheat, fruit and milk.

You won't need anything else. If you wanted to, you could live, grow and work, on this fine combination of food—and nothing else.

Shredded Wheat is whole wheat, nothing added—nothing taken away, in a most appetizing and digestible form. It gives you carbohydrates you need for energy, proteins for tissue building, mineral for bone structure, vitamins that help you to resist disease, and bran to keep you regular.

Children grow strong bodies, red cheeks and happy alert minds on Shredded Wheat. Grown-ups find it is good hot weather food that helps them sail through the summer smiling and full of pep. Start Shredded Wheat today!

Flying Circus Here Week-End

A flying circus will be put on here Saturday and Sunday by Eddie Brockenbrough and his flying companions. Brockenbrough is already here with one plane and others, both cabin and open ships, will be on hand for the circus.

The circus will consist of wing walking, parachute jumping and other air thrillers. The exhibitions will take place on the airfield near Serve-U Filling Station.

Farmers in conference at North Carolina State College recently advocated tax exemption for home-steads valued at $1,000 or less.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady 2 to 5 lower on the textile strike news and the decline in sterling exchange October contracts sold off to 13.00 for the first time since early in the month while December declined to 13.12 and May to 13.27 with all positions making new low ground for the present movement at net losses of 6 to 10 points.

The market steadied later and was holding within three or four points of these figures at the end of the first half hour. Demand around the 13-cent level for October which was said to be getting close to parity to loans offered on farms prove sufficiently to steady the market later in the morning.

The general market was steady a few points below yesterday's closing quotations. The market rallied late in the day on trade buying and covering.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Labor troubles, another relapse in the British pound and industrial uncertainties combined with the usual pre-holiday apathy today fettered any strong bullish sentiment that might have appeared in the financial market.

With many traders out of town or for an extended Labor Day recess and others subject to nervous indecision, stocks generally were permitted to drift aimlessly in a narrow range.

There was profit taking in grain notwithstanding private crop reports which forecast the smallest crop since 1891.

The market developed a steadier tone following the forenoon sag. Transfers were 370,000 shares.
