COURT MOVES TO SPEED TRIAL OF HAUPTMANN

Two Gangsters Escape From Richmond Jail Special Panel Of Jurors Will Be Sought In N. Y.

TWO OFFICERS AND GUARD ARE WOUNDED

Walter Legencia, Bob Mais, condemned to die for mail truck holdup and murder, sought by police and detectives; Members of Notorious "Big George" Phillips Gang, slain by Washington Police.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Two gangsters escaped from Richmond jail today in what was reported to be an "outside job" in which two policemen and a guard were reported shot.

Details were meager at first, but police said among those who broke jail were Walter Legencia and Robert Mais, both awaiting death in the electric chair for participation in the hold-up of a Federal Reserve Bank mail truck and the murder of its driver, E. M. Hubbard.

Both were alleged members of the notorious tri-state gang headed by "Big George" Phillips, who was slain by Washington police.

A radio call summoned police and detectives in pursuit. Police said the men seized the mail truck in the hold-up, drove it a few blocks, and jumped into a car with license No. 20629. They abandoned the mail truck.

THREE HELD IN MONEY SCHEME

Colored Pocketbook Sharpers Face Trial Here Next Monday Morning

Three negroes, two men and a woman, were in the city jail today awaiting hearing Monday morning on a charge of conspiracy to rob and defraud after an unsuccessful attempt to work a pocketbook game here circus day. It was made known today by George Clark, head of the local police department.

Eddie Smith, Bud Taylor and Helen Jones, who gave their homes as in Detroit and Chicago, came to Greenville circus day, allegedly intending to take members of their race for a ride for several hundred dollars, but when they ran into Josephine Price they met their Waterloo.

Josephine Price was in a local store shopping. She looked rather prosperous, and Helen Jones, also in the store, was said to have picked Josephine as a good prospect for a haul.

Helen began talking with Josephine and they left the store together. On the street they were accosted by a man who claimed to have around $2,000 in a pocketbook. He offered to let the two women have $700 each if they would pay $100 in advance. The Jones woman was said to have taken advantage of the opportunity to clear $600 in such an easy manner, but Josephine didn't have so much money with her, but started home to get it.

On the way home Josephine confided to a friend that she was about to make some "easy money." The friend immediately told the police of the scheme and the man and woman were taken into custody and the other man was arrested yesterday.

Chief Clark said the negroes were traveling in a late model automobile, were dressed fashionably and evidently had been meeting with splendid success in other parts of the country where they have appeared.

They will be given preliminary hearing Monday morning.

It's Not In The Color. Wooster, Ohio.—(AP)—The yellow color in butter is not necessarily an indication of vitamin-A activity, it is concluded by W. E. Krauss and T. S. Sutton, of the dairy department of the Ohio Experiment Station. For one breed, the color may be an indication—but not for different breeds.

BANK HEADS SPEAK HERE

Representatives of Federal Land Bank Address Borrowers At Courthouse

Borrowers of the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, S. C., from Pitt and Martin Counties today heard two officials of the institution urge them to pay their taxes and interest on borrowed money before applying their funds to other purposes, at a general meeting at the courthouse this morning.

The speakers were Judge Harry D. Reed, general counsel of the Federal Land Bank, and Alfred Scarborough, president of the Bank of Co-Operatives, an institution connected with the Land Bank and serving four Southern States.

The two visitors arrived in Greenville last night, attended the joint meeting of Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs and the Chamber of Commerce, were presented to the gathering, and immediately started preparations for the meeting today.

The gathering was called by Judge F. M. Wooten, representative of the Land Bank for Pitt and Martin Counties for the purpose of aiding borrowers and the bank to gain a better understanding of one another.

Judge Wooten presided this morning, explained the nature of the meeting and then presented the speakers along with L. P. McDaniel, Land Bank field representative and C. R. Pratt, field supervisor.

Judge Reed and Mr. Scarborough complimented the people of this section on the way they are taking care of their obligations and urged them to be sure to first make provisions for the tax payments and interest on loans.

They declared that failure to take care of obligations of this nature means loss to the bank and government and the inability of growers to obtain further consideration in the future.

At the suggestion of John T. Thorne, of Farmville, one of the leading business men of this section, a resolution of thanks was extended to the visiting bank representatives for coming to this section and using their influence in the recovery program.

Julian S. Scarborough, president of the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, was scheduled to appear at the meeting, but notified Judge Wooten yesterday he would be unable to attend but would send proper representation.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Carey Lee Buck, and a daughter, Miss Ruth Buck, or Simpson, three brothers, B. S. Buck of Grimesland; G. H. Buck of Grimesland; and W. G. Buck, of Portsmouth, Va.; two sisters, Mrs. J. O. Edwards, of near Greenville, and Mrs. W. F. Galloway, of Grimesland.

Although Mr. Buck had been in ill health for quite awhile prior to the past year, his death was received with profound shock throughout the community where he was well-known and held in high esteem.

PREPARE FOR COTTON POOL LIQUIDATION

Allocation of $20,000,000 to Carry out Cotton Program Reported Today

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Liquidation of the cotton producers' pool was ready to begin today following allocation of $20,000,000 to carry out in full the details of selling cotton or making new loans.

Comptroller General McCarl and the Department of Justice have approved plans for the orderly liquidation of the pool, the office of Osar Johnson, pool manager, said.

During the coming week forms will be sent to holders of cotton in the pool to seek it or take advantage of the new 12 cents per pound loan, an advance of two cents a pound over the 1933 loan. Approximately 445,000 producers are not participating in the cotton pool fund and whole certificates on about 1,950,000 bales of cotton. The $20,000,000 fund will be used in paying farmers the difference between the 10 cent loan and the present market price, less carrying charges of 30 cents a bale if they decide to sell on the open market or in paying them the additional two cent loan if they prefer to hold the cotton under the new loan plan.

The proposal was presented at a meeting of Greenville Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs and the Chamber of Commerce which was attended by mayors, aldermen and club representatives from various towns involved.

Under the plan the power lines of Wilson, Rocky Mount, Greenville, Tarboro, Washington, New Bern, Kinston and Farmville would be connected under the name of North Carolina Electric Service Transmission Circuit to provide rural areas along the route with electric service in keeping with President Roosevelt's plan to electrify all farm homes desiring such service.

The proposal was presented by Judge F. M. Wooten, and a resolution calling for co-operating of the various towns to make the project possible was adopted.

Judge Wooten said it was planned to petition the next General Assembly to authorize the establishment of the transmission circuit if the various cities take advantage of the opportunity.

All cities involved in the project own their own power plants, and it is planned to have them operate as separate and distinct units, rendering services to the various counties in which they are located.

By linking the power lines, Judge Wooten said each plant would be able to eliminate duplications of machinery and this would decrease expenses to such an extent that service could be provided the rural districts at reasonable rates.

"By such circuits and exchanges of current the cost of production and servicing the home and farms could be put on a parity with the Tennessee Valley Administration rate, considered a yardstick for electrical transmission service," Judge Wooten explained.

It was also proposed that the organization succeed the Eastern Carolina Municipal Association which has existed since 1930 as a good-will organization holding these municipal plants to use of the people, plants to be used of the people, plants to be used of the people.

The proposal received the hearty endorsement of representatives from the various towns as well as those representing local organizations.

After the various cities except Rocky Mount and Wilson, not represented, met to discuss plans for carrying out the project, but no definite action was taken.

The proposal was also given the hearty endorsement of Wilbur (Continued on page eight)

Movement Started Here To Link Power Lines Of Eight Cities Of Area

A movement was started here last night to link the power lines of eight cities in this immediate part of the state for the purpose of carrying electric service to rural areas at reasonable cost.

The proposal was presented at a meeting of Greenville Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs and the Chamber of Commerce which was attended by mayors, aldermen and club representatives from various towns involved.

PLAN TO TALK EXPANSION AT MEETING HERE

Eastern Carolina Association to Launch Program at Gathering Monday

The Eastern North Carolina Association, Inc., expansion movement will be launched Monday evening, at 7 o'clock at a dinner meeting to be held at the Woman's Club in Greenville. Representative business men from all sections of the territory served by the organization.

In the opinion of Mr. Howard and his board, while Eastern North Carolina is enjoying the best tobacco season since 1929, and there is more money in circulation than at any time in recent years, nevertheless certain fundamental problems must be solved if the region is to be placed permanently in the prosperity column and on a sound economic footing.

Eastern North Carolina, Inc., an outgrowth and expansion of the Carolina Shippers' Association, which for many years has been waging a relentless war on unfair freight rates for the district with considerable success, proposes not only to wage a better organized campaign against rate discriminations but also will promote the development of waterways, harbor and terminal facilities along the Atlantic seaboard of North Carolina as a further means of conserving at home millions of dollars now sent out of the State by shippers and consumers in Southern classification territory. The traffic department will continue to audit the freight bills of its members without additional remuneration.

The association will continue to press before the War Department Board of Engineers the development of Tar River, the Morehead City harbor development and other worthy waterway projects along the coast. With the organization numerically and financially powerful, the success of either the Tar River or Morehead City project can scarcely be questioned.

The organization proposes to begin a sustained and "hammering" campaign to buy North Carolina products. Why build the business of our competitors? the association asks.

It will establish a research department as a basis for intelligent industrial and agricultural promotion and will compile and assemble statistical data and information covering fully the resources and facilities of the territory which it serves.

Industrial development contemplating the ultimate establishment of an industrial department for the procuring or development of new industries and assistance of existing industries throughout the area is proposed. Many industrial plants are located on the borderland of Virginia, and it is the conviction of Eastern North Carolina association (Continued on page eight)

CIVIL COURT CLOSES HERE

Approximately Twenty-Five Cases Completed During One Week Sitting Here.

The one week term of civil Superior Court was adjourned here yesterday afternoon after disposing of twenty five or more cases.

The majority of the actions cleared from the docket of forty cases were compromised, only about four or five actually receiving jury trial.

Approximately two hundred cases have been completed in the several sittings of court the last two months and more were destined to go to the same route during terms scheduled between now and the first of the year.

The final cases disposed of in the local session yesterday was that of N. S. Tyson against C. T. Stuckey and Hubert Stuckey, involving the death of a mule. The jury gave Tyson a verdict for $175.

The mule was allegedly killed by a truck driven by the Stuckeys last fall, and when payment was refused, the plaintiff immediately filed suit for recovery.

One of the longest drawn-out cases during the week was the Turnage will action completed yesterday afternoon when a jury returned a decision in favor of the caveat, John Turnage, of Greenville. Hearing was begun Wednesday morning and the jury received the case yesterday morning. A 2 verdict was returned around 2 o'clock, holding that pressure was brought to bear upon the will, father in preparation of the will, causing all of his property to go to persons not related to him. Turnage received a $25 bequest and immediately filed suit to break the will.

Wants Ducks—Finds Oil. Bakersfield, Cal.—(AP)—Ten years ago R. E. Brantley, a former railroad man, visualized a profit through conversion of a swammy farm into a duck raising enterprise. Recently a 3,000-barrel day of oil was brought in on the abandoned duck farm.

LEAF PRICES STILL BOUND UPWARD HERE

Average of $36.58 Established Here Yesterday; Market Clears For Monday

With tobacco selling the highest in years, prices continued playing about with the stars here yesterday and the highest price average of 36.58 a hundred pounds, was disclosed today by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales of the local market.

Mr. Cobb revealed that the market sold 967,992 pounds of leaf for $357,378.91, with a general average of 36.58 a hundred pounds.

The supervisor placed season sales at 29,304,770 pounds, for which farmers received $8,605,355.73, at a general average of $29.37 a hundred.

With one of the lightest sales of the week, market floors were cleared during the early afternoon to make way for continued heavy offerings the first of the week.

Greenville hung up what is generally considered a world's record during the first two sales days of the week by paying out nearly a million dollars for the farmers' offerings.

The continued upward march of prices has brought joy to the hearts of growers who for the last several years saw their tobacco go at prices below the cost of production.

Prices displayed renewed strength on virtually all grades yesterday, especially on the improved qualities, any many a pile was sold at a figure that proved gratifying to growers.

Late News Flashes

Shoot Way Out Of Jail. Richmond, Va., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Two convicted gangsters, Walter Legencia and Robert Blair, sentenced to die for murder, shot their way out of the Richmond jail today, wounding three officers, and commandeering a mail truck and automobile in their escape with state and city police in pursuit.

Mais and Legencia shot their way to freedom when they were brought from their cell into the corridor leading to a reception room where Charles W. Moss, their attorney, was waiting to confer with them in regards to plans for appealing their case to the State Supreme Court.

When they were led into the corridor by Warden Moore and Deputy Sargeant Scipio the two gangsters instead of turning left into the room as was waiting alone, drew pistols, ordered the officers to put up their hands and made a break through the front reception room leading to the jail entrance.

Seventeen state police in the Richmond area joined in the manhunt within a few minutes and all state officers within a radius of 80 miles of Richmond were on the alert in 15 minutes.

State roads to Washington, Rappahannock, Newport News, Petersburg and highways to the west were under guard.

Police call it "an outside job break."

DRIVE CAREFULLY TODAY

BOTH OFFENDERS

Our attitude toward the dangerous traffic offender, the speeder, and the reckless driver, is lenient. Society hasn't as yet classified this fellow as anything of a criminal. Yet the effect of his act is just as disastrous. The driver who indulges in reckless driving on congested city streets is a dangerous character. The only method of coping with him lies in severe penalties, vigorously enforced.

Dickinson Will Make Report On River Project

S. F. Dickinson, traffic manager and secretary of Eastern North Carolina Association, Inc., has returned from a trip to Wilmington in the interest of the Tar River project. He will confer Saturday with the members of the Tar River Committee, making his report and to discuss subsequent procedure upon the project.

Mr. Dickinson spent more than two hours in conference with Lieut. Col. Eugene Reybolt, United States District Engineer and his assistants. The report of the District Engineer's office will be completed within thirty to sixty days.

Headquarters Office of the Association plans the intensive follow-up of this project but details of future procedure were not forthcoming pending the meeting of the Committee.

Additional data will be filed and considerable additional work must be done by the Association according to the Secretary upon his return from Wilmington.

PIGSKIN WORK CATS TO MEET ON AT COLLEGE STATE TONIGHT

The job of moulding the 1934 E. C. T. C. athletic teams has been placed in the hands of Coach G. L. "Doc" Mathis, former Davidson College athlete and all State guard in 1932.

Coach Mathis called the first drills of the twenty-fifth, and at this time, was met by fifteen men. The material, at best, was only mediocre and much coaching will be necessary to produce a fair first string. However, several varsity men of last year are expected to be out soon. Present indications are that reserve power will be lacking in practically every position, and Coach Mathis will pay much attention to teaching the rudiments of football.

Mathis graduated from Davidson in 1932, and because of his outstanding ability in three sports, was retained to assist in coaching the incoming freshmen. While at Davidson Mathis starred in football, basketball and baseball, and during the past summer played baseball at Colombee and New Bern. At New Bern he was utility man, playing any position, and during the latter part of the season successfully managed the team. He was particularly good in the outfield, and knocked many circuit clouts to provide thrills for the fans.

Although it would be unfair to expect Coach Mathis to build up a winning football team this year, improvement over last year's brand of ball is anticipated, and E. C. T. C. supporters await basketball and baseball seasons with interest.

Regardless of game results, it is certain that the capable and hard-working Mathis will put new interest into athletics at the East Carolina Teachers College.

CATS TO MEET ON AT COLLEGE STATE TONIGHT

The banker knew personally every patron of his bank. When one asked for a loan, the bank simply asked itself whether the applicant was the sort who could be trusted.

All of that changed with the growth of the country. Chain banking sprang up, and many small banks were controlled from New York by men who knew next to nothing about the local communities where they had branches.

Personal banking all but disappeared. An applicant for a loan was required automatically to list his assets, usually to put a lien on some of them. The amount of the assets determined the amount of the loan. Senator Glass called it the depergration of man banks into nothing but "pawn-shops."

Integrity vs. Assets
The same thing happened to credit generally. When Marshall Field originated department store credit sales in this country he laid down one rule. He instructed his credit manager to determine in each case, not what property or endorsements the applicant had, but whether he was the sort of man who was accustomed to keep his word.

Today it is the usual thing for department stores to rely almost entirely on Dun & Bradstreet or similar ratings.

One great lesson of the smash of 1929 is that while character does not change greatly, collateral does. Stocks and bonds put up as security for loans, and real estate on which credit ratings had been based, dropped spectacularly in value almost overnight.

The lenders and those who sold on credit, after the manner of the new collateral loan era, were in deep trouble. They wished they had taken greater thought of the integrity of applicants, and less of the possession of physical property.

Now the housing program seeks — in a limited way, it is true, but significantly — to restore intrinsic worth as the basis of credit.

In the course of a few weeks or a few months, the country will know whether the bankers really mean business when they promise to go along. The test will be whether John Jones really gets his loan without first showing he is in a condition, financially, to repay it tomorrow down to the last nickel.

Some diet experts contend that our digestive systems need sixteen hours rest out of twenty-four and that one good meal a day is sufficient.

POLITICS at random

By BRYON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Unlike many of the Roosevelt policies, which spring from theories new to American thought, the banking aspects of the housing program represents essentially a turning back to old fundamentals.

The program proposes to make character, rather than collateral, the accepted security for loans. That is a reversal of the whole modern trend, but a reversion to the principles on which banking first began.

In effect, the government now says to the banker: "Here is John Jones. He wants a loan, but can give only his word that he will repay. He is an honest man, with a good record for keeping his word and if the bank will make the loan, the government will assume some of the risk by partially insuring that loan against any failure to repay."

To many of the younger generation of bankers, such a proposition is revolutionary. Administration officials have been surprised, however, at the widespread promise of the banking community to cooperate. To what degree that cooperation actually will be carried through remains to be seen.

Community Once Factor
Like everything else in the American economic scheme, banking and credit originated in the small community. It carried for many years the stamp of that influence.

POKES DEAD BULL MOOSE AND LIVES TO TELL TALE

Deer Creek, Minn.—(AP)—Bill Holgrum, resident of the Leaf River bottoms near here, got close enough to a large bull moose to poke it with a stick—and lives to tell the tale.

Holgrum took a short cut through a swamp. He noticed what appeared to be a large dead moose at the foot of a tree.

Picking up a five-foot stick Holgrum cautiously approached. When near enough he poked the stick into the animal's ribs—and then came action.

As surprised as Holgrum, the moose bounded high into the air and sped away. Several moose have been seen recently in the vicinity of this northern Minnesota community.

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened three to eight points decline in response to lower Liverpool cables and under liquidation and Southern selling.

The market again sold off into new lowground. A fair volume of trade buying appeared in the December position, and after pressure had abated, December recovered from 12.33 to 12.38, and May from 12.53 to 12.58, or back to the previous closing levels at the end of the first half hour.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The stock market ended the week today with more traders holding down seats on the sidelines.

Although there were a few scattered soft and firm spots, leading issues generally followed an extremely narrow range. Dullness was the rule throughout the brief session.

Transfers were only 200,000 shares. While speculative sentiment was still inclined to be mildly bullish, Wall Street's collective mind apparently decided that caution was the best policy pending the President's bedside chat with the country tomorrow evening.

Late News Flashes

(Continued from page one) Carolina in September aggregated $3,053,552.52, or more than three times the receipts in the same month last year when they were $962,222.45.

Dr. M. C. Nobles, Jr., executive assistant commissioner of revenue, released the monthly report today in the absence of A. J. Maxwell, the commissioner.

At the revenue offices it was pointed out that most of the increases in collections of various classes of revenue during September were due to "getting the taxes on time when they are due."

The heavy September receipts pushed the first quarter total for the general fund to $7,112,562.98 or 62.23 per cent above the total 1933-34 first quarter figure of $4,434,162.87.

With details of the highway fund receipts for September not completed it was shown that $1,764,318.58 was received during the month. This was an increase of $291,790.31 over the September, 1933 figure and gave the fund an increase for the first quarter of $45,946 over the similar period last year.

Name Cotton Garment Board

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28.—(AP)—The new NRA board today named D. M. Nelson, Willard Hotchkiss, and Francis J. Haas as an impartial committee to investigate working hours in the cotton garment industry.

Creation of the committee was provided for by President Roosevelt last night in ordering a stay until October 15 of his previous direction cutting from 40 to 36 hours the work-week in the cotton garment code.

Nab Wrong Man in Kidnapping

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 28.—(AP)—The hope of Chicago police that they had nabbed the man who received the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom seemed fading today as Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan announced he could find nothing tangible to link John Bowman with the crime.

To Examine Hauptmann New York, Sept. 28.—(AP)—District Attorney Samuel J. Foley said today that early next week three psychiatrists, one appointed by the District Attorney's office, one by the State of New Jersey and one by the defense, will examine Bruno Richard Hauptmann, indicted for extortion in the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

Railroad Loses Lease

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus said this afternoon he was informed over long distance telephone that the board of directors of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad meeting at Kinston unanimously voted to declare forfeited the lease of the road to the Norfolk Southern Railroad.

The governor sometime ago recommended that the lease be declared forfeited due to default of the Norfolk Southern in its rental for two years.

Next steps in the matter, the governor said, called for the Attorney-General's office to notify the Norfolk Southern that the lease has been declared forfeited and to ask if the Norfolk Southern desires to enter into any negotiations in regard to the matter.

Failure of the Norfolk Southern to pay the State $72,000 per year rental for the State-owned trackage from Goldsboro to Morehead City is reported to have caused a hitch in the plans for use of Federal funds in port development at Morehead City. It is understood that the FWA wants to be sure the State will collect the rental which would be pledged as collateral for the loan for the port terminal before the money is available.

WINTER FEED DEMAND BRINGS ALFALFA THIEVES

Baudette, Minn.—(AP)—Demand for winter feed to tide northwest livestock herds over has set such a premium on hay that thieves even tried to steal a seven-acre field of growing alfalfa.

Theodore Peterson who lives in the brush country several miles from the field was notified by a passerby that someone had cut and raked up the alfalfa. He reached the field with his shooting iron before the hay-thieves reappeared to haul away the crop.

plants in Virginia can be brought to this section once fair competition in freight rates is procured.

It will co-operate closely with local Chambers of Commerce throughout the region as well as back up any worthy projects fostered by any other civic body for the common welfare of the entire area.

The tourist and travel industry rapidly becoming a major industry in America has its place on the docket of the trade body. Several million dollars from this source can and will ultimately be diverted into Eastern North Carolina.

Believing that Eastern North Carolina needs new capital and new faces a rational and consistent program of national publicity and advertising is of permanent importance. In proportion to its assets, the association board believes this section is little known to the nation.

It will co-operate with all agencies for the promotion of agriculture and the well-being of its farmers and growers. The "live-at-home" movement and diversified farming will be emphasized. Such a program must not be either spasmodic or haphazard in character.

In the words of Carl Fast appearing in a recent article in the "State," Eastern North Carolina, Inc., stands for the program: "Not only live at home, but manufacture at home."

bank at home, buy at home, and sell at home."

Realizing that the first step toward carrying out a program of work of this ambitious character is adequate membership and financial support a membership movement will be launched next week in Greenville and carried into every county served by the organization. Details of the finance campaign have been worked out, and it is expected that Greenville, headquarters of the executives and staff will set a splendid example for the remainder of the territory.

Mr. Dasher said the idea of civic clubs was to help communities carry light to all sections, and he heartily approved the support which Rotary and Kiwanis were giving to President Roosevelt's plan to make farm life easier by carrying electric service to the door of every grower.

He declared the clubs should do everything in their power to cast out gloom of the depression by carrying light wherever possible and lauded the unselfish spirit in which the members of the various organization were going about this work.

The meeting was held with the Kiwanians and Judge Dink James, Kiwanis president, extended a welcome to the clubmen and then called upon Mayor R. C. Flanagan to welcome the out-of-town visitors which he did in a way that drew considerable applause. Mayor Flanagan said the mayors represented at the meeting were the best in the United States, had the finest brains in the country, and had challenged their people to make good during the period of prosperity sweeping over this section of the country.

Representatives of the various cities responded and said they were in favor of the movement looking to carrying electric power to country homes. Mrs. Charles White delighted the gathering with the rendition of two duos numbers and was heartily applauded. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ray Tyson.

The following resolution pertaining to the proposed linking of power lines was adopted:

"Whereas, President Roosevelt and his administration is committed to a policy to make available to every home and farm electric power at a reasonable price, and to accomplish this has caused Muscle Shoals power plant and three other like plants to be erected; and

"Whereas, no such plant being within approximately 800 miles of Eastern North Carolina, and Wilson, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Greenville, Washington, New Bern, Kinston and Farmville own power plants, it is the duty of said municipalities to co-operate in every manner in their power to further the President's program, and to that purpose we recommend that the governing bodies of these respective towns join in conference to conserve and promote their own interest and enlarge their usefulness to their farmer neighbors."
