Urge Japan Prepare For War With Russia Six Companies Are Sent To The Northern Area

ARMY SENDS OUT PAMPHLET ON SITUATION

Stock Market Shows Decline in Face of Statement Issued Through Army; United States Cited As Building Larger Navy For Vigorous Policies in The Orient

Tokyo, Oct. 2.—(AP)—An official army pamphlet which urged Japan to make ready for possible war with Russia spread uneasiness among the nation's economic leaders today.

Newspapers said members of the cabinet as well as civilians were taken aback by the army's surprising manifesto which proposed drastic changes in the nation's economic affairs and the non-military government department.

It asserted the United States had three airplanes to Japan's one, and that America wanted a navy larger than this country's in order to support vigorous policies toward the Orient.

Newspapers asserted General Haysahl, Minister of War, would be questioned at the next cabinet meeting about responsibility for the authorship of the pamphlet.

Political writers predicted the pamphlet would be a grave political issue at the next meeting of the Diet.

A war office spokesman asked if the pamphlet was approved by General Haysahl who is now traveling in Spain, declined to reply, but said: "I can state that he expresses the views of the Japanese army."

The pamphlet said the strength of the Japanese army prevented the Soviets from interfering with the Japanese navy and "made futile the efforts" of Henry L. Stimson, former United States Secretary of State.

In a statement issued today State Bank and Trust Company of Greenville showed that during the past year deposits showed an increase of $1,167,929.46.

Resources of the institution were placed at $2,008,345.07, or an increase of $1,215,619.16 over the same period a year ago.

In referring to the fact that State Bank is "Pitt County's largest unit bank," the statement also called attention to the fact that it is also "the largest unit bank of twenty other counties of this part of the State."

Officials of the institution declared themselves highly gratified with the showing made by the bank the past year and declared they were doing everything possible to render a higher type of service to the territory.

SEEKS MORE AIRSHIPS FOR THIS COUNTRY

General Mitchell Says With Five Dirigibles U. S. Could Destroy Japan

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Calling the launching of the Navy dirigible Akron "disgraceful," Brigadier-General William Mitchell, retired, told the President's aviation commission today that with five dirigibles the United States could destroy Japan within two days if war broke out.

Mitchell, former assistant chief of military aviation, and a storm commander in the army air circles since he began his efforts for unified air service, in the 1920's, said the rigid airship was a great implement in time of war.

Dirigibles have a larger cruising power than any other aircrafts, he said, and with competent crews completely handled, they are probably the safest means of transportation.

Numerous accidents to American dirigibles, he said, "have been due either to gross stupidity of people who used the ships or to the inability of crews that handled the ships."

H. L. Willoughby Dies At Falkland

H. L. Willoughby, 52, died at his home in Falkland township yesterday at 10 o'clock, after a two weeks illness with pneumonia.

Mr. Willoughby was a highly respected citizen, influential farmer and was known by many friends in Pitt county, in which he spent his entire life.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. H. L. Willoughby, four children Royce, Pearl Mary and H. E. Willoughby. Four brothers Joe and Bob Willoughby of Bel' Arthur, and Ruel and Jim Willoughby of Wayne county.

Funeral services will be conducted at the grave today at 3 p. m., near Ballards, by Rev. List Joyner of Bell Author.

TRADE BODY IN EXPANSION DRIVE HERE

Eastern Carolina Association Launches New Program at Meeting Last Night

Leading business men of Greenville and vicinity gathered last night at the Woman's Club for the purpose of discussing the program and expansion movement of Eastern North Carolina Association, Inc. Mayor R. C. Flanagan, Judge James F. C. Hardin, and others spoke enthusiastically endorsing the movement.

In the absence of C. W. Howard, president of the organization, who was called out of the city late today upon urgent business, R. J. Blank, executive vice-president, outlined the work of the body, proposed for the ensuing year, asking the business men of this city to back the movement, both numerically and financially.

An executive committee headed by Judge James was selected to direct the raising of Greenville's quota toward carrying out the program of the trade body. Members of the executive committee selected include Judge James, chairman; John Mitchell, L. A. Stroud, W. H. Wolard, and J. H. Blount.

The entire dinner gathering was prepared to assist in the local solicitation movement beginning Wednesday morning, subject to the call of Judge James and his associates. Similar meetings and the numerical and financial building of the organization will be undertaken in Wilson, Kinston, Washington, Goldsboro, and Rocky Mount, embracing all the forty-four counties embraced by the association.

S. F. Dickenson, secretary of Eastern North Carolina, Inc., and his traffic and rate expert, was called upon to report his recent trip to Wilmington in the interest of the Tar River project.

Among the projects to be pushed by the association this year are included: A more intensive fight against discriminatory rates, resistance to the proposed 10 per cent general increase of rail rates, the Tar River, Morehead City and other waterway projects affecting transportation and freight rates in Eastern North Carolina; the development of the industrial, agricultural and tourist possibilities of Eastern North Carolina based upon careful research and statistical analysis by the Research Department which is to be immediately established. A "Buy North Carolina Products" campaign is also proposed.

Those in attendance included: Mayor R. C. Flanagan, Judge Dink James, J. Key Brown, John Mitchell, W. H. Wolard, F. W. Brown, B. B. Suez, Judge F. C. Hardin, G. W. Smith, L. A. Stroud, president of the Chamber of Commerce; R. L. Powell, Phil Goodson, Dave Turner, Dr. A. M. Schultz, Dave Whitehead, Bert Mow, Martin Swartz, F. E. Brooks, B. W. Moseley, J. H. Ross, N. C. Blount, R. J. Blank and S. E. Dickenson.

Meeting of the executive committee will be held at association headquarters at 8 o'clock Tuesday night to complete plans for raising Greenville's portion of the organization budget. Judge James announced immediately after the meeting.

H. L. Pate Dies At Kinston Home

News was received here today of the death at Kinston at H. L. Pate, who died at his home yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Funeral services were conducted from his late home this afternoon at 3 o'clock and burial was made in the Kinston cemetery.

Mr. Pate was a brother of Mrs. H. P. Taylor, of Greenville.

GETS PRISON TERM ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Charlotte, Oct. 2.—(AP)— Cecil King, 22-year old Texan, was convicted in superior court today of robbing a filling station here and was sentenced to 15 to 20 years in prison by Judge J. Will Pleas.

King was on the parole from the Texas prison where he was sentenced for highway robbery and was driving a stolen automobile at the time of the robbery here.

Solicitor John G. Carpenter announced a no plea would be taken in the case of Leona Salas, Mexican girl who was with King and who was charged as an accessory, and that she would be turned over to Federal authorities for possible prosecution for violation of the Mann act.

Leaf Averages $39.15 On Market Here Monday

Tobacco soared to new heights on the local market yesterday and the official report of sales issued this morning by K. W. Cobb, supervisor indicated the market average was $2.57 a hundred higher than the previous high record established last Friday.

In addition to this the market paid out the largest amount of money ever released on a single day's sale here or elsewhere, and sales were among the largest of the season, if not the largest.

Mr. Cobb said 1,413,128 pounds of tobacco sold for $553,205.79 and the average was $39.15 a hundred. The previous high average was $36.58 a hundred.

Prices showed soaring tendencies on virtually all grades of leaf, but as usual, buyers gave preference to the better qualities and farmers who had these types on the floors were overjoyed over what they received.

Mr. Cobb said sales today were among the lightest of the last several weeks and work was expected to be completed during the early afternoon. Floors will then be cleared for continued heavy offerings tomorrow.

Greenville has forged to the front in the payment of high prices this season, and all available records indicate that the market is leading all other important markets of the belt. This has resulted in farmers bringing their tobacco here from a greater distance than ever before and hundreds of people who never sold here before are loud in their praise of the facilities of this sales center.

COLLECTION 1934 TAXES BEGINS HERE

Commissioners Turn Tax Books Over to Tax Collector at Meeting Yesterday

Collection of county taxes for 1934 got under way here today following receipt of the tax books by the Board of County Commissioners meeting in regular monthly session here yesterday.

After receiving the books, the commissioners immediately turned them over to Henry Andrews, county tax collector, with instructions to begin collections at once.

Although the books were officially placed in the hands of the tax collector yesterday, payment of this year's taxes, have been received in the office of County Clerk Coward the last several days, and a fairly good fund was already in hand when work actually got under way today.

In addition to this matter, the commissioners considered several other minor issues and spent the major part of the session listening to reports from various county departments and paying bills.

FOLEY TO TALK KIDNAP CASE IN N. JERSEY

District Attorney to Confer With Governor Moore on Hauptmann Charge

New York, Oct. 2.—(AP)—District Attorney Samuel J. Foley left his office shortly before 10 o'clock for Trenton, N. J., to confer with Governor Harry Moore on the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

The Bronx prosecutor said before leaving in an automobile for the conference that he still regarded the case against Bruno Richard Hauptmann as "iron clad."

Foley was accompanied by two assistants, and at Trenton they will meet with Governor Moore and Attorney General David T. Willentz of New Jersey.

Governor Moore said yesterday that New Jersey probably would ask for extradition of Hauptmann before trial of the extortion case here which Foley said might begin the second week in October.

The district attorney said there was little he could say about the conference in advance of the meeting, but he expressed belief that there was nothing he could have to say in Trenton about extradition. He believed the conference would discuss the general aspects of the case.

Foley has maintained for some time that he would place no obstacle in the way of extradition in advance of the trial here if New Jersey had a good case there.

Investigation of the Bronx angles of the case and the questioning of acquaintances and friends of Hauptmann continued in Foley's absence.

FIRE DAMAGES TOBACCO HERE

Larry Moore's Storage House Suffers Loss from Blaze During The Morning

Two fires here last night and today did damage which firemen estimated at several hundred dollars it was reported this morning by George Gardner, chief of the fire department.

A blaze of undetermined origin this morning damaged the tobacco house operated by Larry Moore, next to Webb's Warehouse, along with three or four thousand pounds of tobacco.

Although the loss had not been determined, Chief Gardner said it would amount to several hundred dollars.

The building had not been opened for the morning and the blaze was not discovered until flames were seen issuing from the sides of the tin covered structure. The tobacco, consisting of a considerable amount of good grades, was damaged by fire, smoke and water.

The department was called to the Greenville Machine Works on Washington Street this morning shortly after 2 o'clock to extinguish a blaze believed to have been caused by a spark from a forge which had been in operation until a late hour last night. Shavings lying near the forge were ignited, but the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done.

A third fire this afternoon damaged the barbecue house at the Yum Yum Barbecue Palace on the opposite side of Tar River. The fire was said to have started in a pile of trash near the small building where barbecue is prepared. The damage was said by firemen to have been slight.

NEW TROUBLE BREWING IN MILL STRIKE

Radical Element Making Trouble in Rothville Section Near Tennessee Line

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Six companies of Georgia National Guardsmen were ordered mobilized immediately today by Adjutant General Lindley Camp and moved to an unannounced destination.

The order of Governor Talmadge invoking martial law in any localities where troops were situated during the textile strike has never been withdrawn.

The last act of the National Guardsmen in the strike zone came when the Adjutant-General's men took into custody fifteen men at Shannon, Ga., termed "radicals" by General Camp. The General has kept the men under arrest since that time.

Shortly after announcing the mobilization, General Camp said he released the men from Shannon under military charges. He said they would remain at their homes pending the sitting of a military court to hear their cases.

The General did not make known the nature of the charges.

General Camp had called the men "the biggest trouble makers" the Guardsmen faced during the textile strike.

The companies ordered out today are composed of 522 men and officers. The Adjutant-General in issuing his order to the mobilization did not make public his reasons, but it had been known for some time that trouble had been brewing in the northern part of the State at Rothville, just across the State line from Chattanooga.

M. C. MANNING LAID TO REST

Final Rites For Bethel Township Man Conducted From Home Sunday

M. C. Manning, 70, died at his home three and-a-half miles from Bethel Saturday at 1 o'clock. Mr. Manning was a member of the local Penecostal Holiness Church and had spent his entire life in the community in which he died. He is survived by four sons: C. A. Manning, of Edgecombe County; B. K. Manning, of Arkin, Ohio, and J. L. and J. O. Manning of the local community; two daughters, Mrs. W. H. Ward, of Greenville, and Mrs. Myrtle Briant, who resided with her father; one brother, Ed. Manning, who resides near the late home of the deceased.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. W. O. Todd, of the Penecostal Holiness Church, assisted by Rev. J. O. Long, pastor of the Bethel Methodist Church.

The active pallbearers were: R. L. Whitley, E. J. Whitehurst, F. F. Polard, W. C. Whitehurst, W. R. Bowers, and R. E. James.

Honorary: Royal Carson, Charlie Manning, Orlander Manning, Johnnie Edmundson, Henry Rogers, Burris Manning, Charlie Whitehurst, Roy Bowers, G. R. Whitehurst, William Andrews, and Jesse Carson.

Interment was made in the family cemetery near the home.

SEVEN KILLED IN AIR CRASH

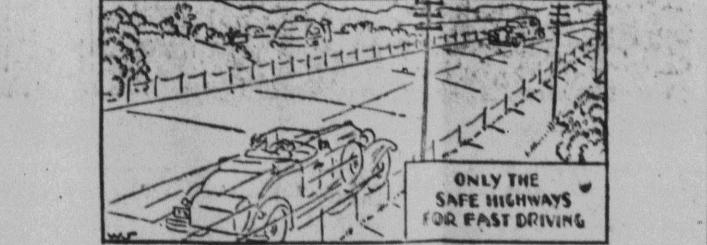

Plane Bound For France Crashes in English Channel; 2 Women Aboard

Folkstone, England, Oct. 2.—(AP)—An airplane with seven occupants crashed in the misty English Channel only three miles from shore today on a projected flight to LeBourge air field, France, killing all of them. Two of the passengers were women.

Three of the victims were English, one American and the other French. The cause of the crash probably will remain a mystery since no one witnessed it, although the captain of a German steamer heard the roar of the airplane engine followed by the crash as the plane plunged into the sea.

DRIVE CAREFULLY TODAY

KEEP TO THE RIGHT

There's safety and security in that little line that runs down the middle of the rural highway pavement. It is a veritable life line to motorists who will use it as they should. Keep to the right and you will always be right. While this is true at all times, it is especially important as you approach a curve or the brow of a hill. Motorists coming from the opposite direction have a right to expect this of you.

WASHINGTON WOMAN INJURED IN ACCIDENT

New Bern, N. C., Oct. 2.—When the car in which she was riding Friday night on the Vanceboro highway was struck by another automobile, Mrs. Jeff Davis, of Washington, D. C., received painful facial lacerations. She was brought to a local hospital, but her injuries are not regarded as serious.

The car in which Mrs. Davis was riding with her husband and their young son, Jeff, Jr., was owned by Mr. Davis' uncle, George W. Alee, of this city. Mr. Davis escaped with minor injuries, and the boy was not hurt. Driving the other car was H. Powell of the Fort Macon CCC camp.

DUKE TO PLAY TIGER OUTFIT ON SATURDAY

Durham, N. C., Oct. 2.—Just as the Duke-Georgia Tech game here on October 13 looms as the major early season grid contest in the South, Saturday's engagement between the Blue Devils and the Clemson Tigers ranks as the outstanding game of early Southern Conference clashes.

Clemson certainly won the right to be listed as a dangerous contender for the 1934 Southern Conference championship by its great showing against a powerful Georgia Tech team in Atlanta on Saturday.

The Tigers completely stopped Tech's highly-rated ground game and forced the jackets into the air to win the ball game. But for a fumble in the first quarter after they had advanced the ball to the one-yard line, Clemson might have put the game on the victory side of the ledger.

The Tigers have a defensive line they will rank with any in the South. The Clemson forwards are big, strong and fast, tipping the beam at an average of a fraction over 180 pounds—one of the biggest lines Duke will face this fall.

Behind that line, the Tigers have a dangerous quartet of backs led by Randolph Hinson, a 170-pound 1933 reserve, who was the big star in the great stand against Georgia Tech.

The winner of Saturday's battle in Duke stadium, which will be Duke's first home showing of the year, may be the 1934 title-holder. In any event, the game, bringing together Jess Neely and Wallace Wade for the first time as opposing coaches after nine years of working together at Alabama, promises to be as great a game as will be played in this section of the country this season.

at Shibe Park, the A's went on a rampage and tallied ten runs. That was the opening in which "Hack" Wilson, pudgy outfielder of the Cubs, lost a couple of fly balls in the sun and sundry other circumstances contributed to one of baseball's most dramatic reversals.

Tennis fans will remember the celebrated match at Wimbledon six or seven years ago when Henri Cochet, trailing by two sets and 1-5 on games against none other than America's Big Bill Tilden, rallied to win the last three sets.

Football, of course, has contributed notable come-backs, one of the greatest of which was Dartmouth's pull-up to a 33-33 tie with Yale's eleven some years ago after trailing 10-33 into the third quarter.

Then There's Chick Evans

Speaking of come-backs, a few bouquets should be tossed in the general direction of two of American golf's grand old champions—Chan Egan, of California, and Chick Evans, of Chicago. While their arrivals of other yetars were tumbling about like so many ten-pins at Brookline, being bowled over by "hands from the perambulator" as one writer phrased it, Egan and Evans waged one of the best matches of the tournament after surviving the first few pitfalls of the 18-hole massacre.

Chick, who is 44, took the decision from Chan, who is an even 50, and then went on to the round-of-eight, the quarter-finals, before being eliminated by young Don Armstrong, a fellow townsman. Evans finally faltered, but it was only because he lacked the stamina, not the shots. While he lasted, Chick was as good a shotmaker as any in the field, barring William Lawson Little, Jr., the siege gun from an Francisco. It was the veteran's best showing in a national tournament in seven years and entitles him to a rousing cheer.

SPORT SLANTS

Who Said They Never Come Back?

The rapidly-recovering realm of sports has been filled with the excitement of marvelous come-backs, just when all seemed to be lost for the under-dog, but few ever packed more thrills than the six-goal chukker in the first game of the East-West polo series this season by virtue of which the Eastern youngsters came from behind to wipe out a 4-8 deficit and win by 10-8.

I doubt if there has even been the equal of this in high goal polo for a scoring spree. In the first place, there are only 7 1-2 minutes to a polo period and even on the fastest of ponies it takes time to gallop up an down a 300-yard field, aside from the tactics and play necessary to get the ball through the goal posts. To do this six times a period means virtually a goal a minute, when you take into consideration that the East misses a couple of shots between-times.

Secondly, the achievement came against one of the greatest teams that ever rode into action. Rated at 36 goals, the West combination of Pedley, Boeske, Smith and Aidan Foark hanks even with the famous "Big Fours" which represented this country in international polo. Pedley is an All-American No. 1, in the opinion of many critics. Boeske and Smith are ten-goal players, the limit in polo ranking. Foark is only a shade short of his famous brother, "Pat" Foark, in all-around ability, yet this quartet was unable to stop a youthful four, rated at thirty goals, for one entire period. They were simply swept off their ponies' feet.

Huge Tennessee Dams Speed New Industrial Empire

By ROY E. HUTCHENS

Knoxville, Tenn.—(AP)—Less than two years after President Roosevelt first told the country of his plan to harness the Tennessee River for mankind's convenience, an industrial empire of a new sort has taken shape.

Great dams and whirling turbines are electrifying the countryside. Ten thousand men are working in day and night shifts, bridling water power, reforesting barren land to offset soil erosion and building electric lines to population centers.

A new kind of town has arisen on land that was a wilderness little more than a year ago, a town designed as a model for combining the better elements of urban and rural life.

Monument to Senator Norris

Entering the valley from the north the first spectacle would be the $31,000,000 Norris Dam which will impound the Clinch River twenty miles northwest of Knoxville. About 1,200 men are working day and night to complete it on schedule. The finished structure will be 253 feet high and 1,800 feet long—a mammoth concrete and steel monument to Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, long champion of Tennessee River development.

The dam will form an artificial lake with a shore-line of 800 miles. About 1,500 workers are engaged in clearing timber and brush from 34,000 acres within the reservoir area.

Model Town Built

Four miles from the dam is the model town of Norris where the Tennessee valley authority is carrying out an experiment in town planning and modernization of homes at minimum costs.

Two hundred and fifty houses, costing from $1,600 to $3,300 each, have been built and are rented to workers on the dam at prices ranging from $14 to $40 a month. One is occupied by the TVA chairman, Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, and his family.

Maps For Long Flight

Washington—(AP)—Maps designed especially for airmen who engage in long cross-country flights with infrequent stops are being compiled by the department of commerce in the form of millionth-scale navigation charts.

Brazil went in for wine production when European tariffs cut down her coffee exports, producing 300,000,000 gallons in 1933.

Wallace Moses, hard-hitting outfielder bought by the Athletics from Galveston, is picked by many to out-hit Beau Bell, Texas League star, recently bought by the Browns. Moses can hit southpaw pitching with ease.

When the A's Beat the Cubs

I can recall few episodes to parallel this remarkable come-back, but outstanding in memory is the rally the 1929 Philadelphia Athletics staged to win a world series game from Chicago Cubs. Trailing 0-8 going into the home half of the seventh inning assigned the task of planting 5,000,000 trees on land subject to erosion. Meanwhile, workers have completed one hundred miles of rural transmission lines in Alabama and Mississippi. Led by Tupelo, Miss., about fifty municipalities have entered into contracts with the TVA for Muscle Shoals power.

Far to the south in Alabama there is another great reservoir, the Joe Wheeler Dam, in the making. Designed to cost $27,000,000, the structure, 50 feet high, will stretch nearly a mile across the Tennessee River and impound water that will cover 100 square miles. More than 1,300 men are engaged in its construction and 2,500 others are clearing its reservoir.

Turbines Are Turning

A little further down the river is the Wilson Dam at Muscle Shoals. Already its great turbines are generating electricity for municipalities and countryside in northern Alabama and Mississippi. All the power generated at that plant has been allotted by the TVA and no more will be available until the Norris and Wheeler Dams are completed in 1936.

Scattered throughout the valley are 4,000 CCC boys who have been

Get a LIFT with a Camel!

A PLEASURE that drives away fatigue and listlessness!

Jack Ford, crack Burlington engineer, says: "When the 'Zephyr' rolled to a stop at Chicago, I'd been through a lot of excitement and strain and felt pretty much used up. But a Camel quickly gave me a 'lift' and I felt O.K."

"Most railroad engineers prefer Camels. And Camels help to increase their energy when they feel worn out. I've smoked a lot of Camels in my time, and that goes for me—all the way."

Everyone is subject to strain—whether physical, mental, or emotional. So it's important to know that Camels do release your stored-up energy.

The findings of a famous scientific laboratory have confirmed Camel's "energizing effect." So begin today to enjoy Camels often! For the costlier tobaccos in Camels never affect the nerves.

Assembly Hour at College.
The new plan for the assembly hour at East Carolina Teachers College to hold assembly twice a week, lengthen the time, place it at the end of the schedule of morning classes, and to have both students and faculty responsible for the presentation of interesting and attractive feature programs, was presented this morning by the faculty chapel committee composed of Miss Davis, R. C. Deal and Dr. C. L. Adams.

Tuesdays and Fridays are the days on which assembly will be held and the time will be from 12:05 to 12:35. Beginning with Friday of this week, classes will begin at 8:10, five minutes earlier than now. All morning classes will begin at ten minutes past the hour and close on the hour. The afternoon schedule remains unchanged.

The length of time for the assembly has been doubled, so that the amount of time given to the assembly each week is only a little less than the time heretofore given to the five periods.

The periods left open the other four days will be used for occasional meetings of groups, such as call meetings of societies, clubs and other extra-curricula activities, or for conferences.

The students will have charge of the program regularly on alternate Fridays and extra periods will be given them from time to time. The faculty chapel committee will be responsible for providing the program for other periods. Members of the faculty and outside speakers will be called into service and special programs will be arranged.

Dr. Meadows will inaugurate the new plan on Friday morning of this week, when the new schedule of hours will also go into effect.

Miss Davis, chairman of the committee, this morning explained the new plan very clearly, presenting the schedule and giving the purposes for the change. Mr. Deal made an appeal to the students and faculty to work together for the success of the venture and pointed out the advantages of the plan. Dr. Adams suggested some definite ways in which students could help.

The changes made are not sudden or radical. For the past two or three years the students have had a committee functioning regularly and they have been responsible for about a third of the assembly time. This committee will continue to function. Members of the faculty, outside speakers, singers, and others have often appeared at this hour, and there have frequently been musical programs, but at irregular intervals, and the president of the college has been responsible for the hour. Under the new plan, the burden will not fall so heavily upon the president. During the summer school there were only two assemblies a week.

As in the past, all students who are not on duty at either the high school or training school, are expected to attend regularly.

Lady Says CARDUI Eased Pain In Side
Cardui eased an Oklahoma lady, as described below, and many others have benefited in a similar way. "I had a hurting in my side every few weeks," writes Mrs. Bill Stewart, of Dewar, Okla. "I had heard of Cardui and started taking it. It stopped my hurting and built up my strength. I took 11 bottles and I sure felt better."

Try Cardui for pains, cramps, nervousness due to a run-down condition. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Greenville Unit you will miss a great privilege. The North Carolina Music Festival Association plans to have a chorus of some five thousand voices all trained as one for the big spring festival. All the units of the state will be combined for this gigantic event next year. It will be one of the biggest music programs the state has ever witnessed. People from one end of the state to the other will be joined together in song under capable leadership. All the directors in the state have had uniform training in conducting, so when all the various units are combined they will recognize any one of the conductors that will lead them.

Plans are being made to give this big festival program in one of the football stadiums as there is no auditorium large enough to accommodate such a large crowd. There will probably be a big junior and high school choral festival in the late afternoon. All the junior choral groups will be combined for their groups will be combined for their part of the program and the high school choral groups will be heard in a special presentation of their own. In the evening the combined college bands of the state, numbering some 300 or 400 pieces, will give a concert along with the big choral group. The band will accompany the chorus on several of their numbers. F. S. Allen has already started work with the Greenville unit.

He will soon outline the state program and begin definite work in preparation. In addition it is planned to give several local programs during the year; community sings for everybody, sacred and secular concerts with the junior and adult choral clubs and sometimes during the year the conductors will combine the units under their direction for a sectional festival program.

Come tonight to the Library and join the Music Festival Association.

First Church of Christ, Scientist
"Reality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 30.

The Golden Text was from Philippians 4:8: "Whatever things are true, whatever things are honest, whatever things are just, whatever things are lovely, whatever things are good reports; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect" (Matthew 5:48).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man and his Maker are correlated in divine Science, and real consciousness is cognizant only of the things of God. The realization that all inharmonious is unreal brings objects and thought into human view in their true light, and presents them as beautiful and immortal. When we learn in Science how to be perfect even as our Father in heaven is perfect, thought is turned into new and healthy channels, towards the contemplation of things immortal and away from materiality to the Principle of the universe, including harmonious man" (p. 276).

REAL ESTATE MOVES LIVELY

Thirty-One Transfers of Property Reported Here The Last Several Days

Real estate continued to change to new hands here the past several days and records in the office of the Register of Deeds today revealed the largest number of transfers in the past several months.

Thirty-one pieces of property found their way to new owners during the week of activity, and some of the largest sums of the year were involved.

Virtually every section of the county was represented in the transactions, consisting mainly of city lots, quite a number being in Greenville.

The largest of the transactions was that of Gurney P. Hood, State Bank Commissioner, to Greenville Banking and Trust Company, farm property, for a consideration of $10,000.

The second most important deal was that from Charlotte E. Grimes to E. C. Buck, two lots, for $9,362.70.

Several other deals carried sums ranging from $10 to $3,000.

Approximately a score of more transactions have been reported weekly for the last several weeks but the batch on file this week unquestionably the largest recorded here since the days preceding the depression.

All of the transfers follow: Willis D. Johnston to Annie D. Robertson, lot, $10.

Jas. L. Little, trustee, to J. H. Waldrop, et al, seven lots, $2,500.

Standard Fertilizer Company to Mrs. Winnie McLawhorne, $483.06.

Paul Vincent and wife to Zeno G. Mills and wife, $1,000.

M. A. Woolard, mtg., to W. O. Cherry, lot, $289.

Nora Patrick to Alfred F. Eermans and wife, $3,500.

J. F. Cannon and wife to R. L. Cannon and wife, $500.

Albion Dunn, trustee, to W. R. Harris, two tracts, $1.

Greenville Banking and Trust Co. to Turnage Sales Corporation, lot, $1,900.

Annie Arnold to Jarvis Gaskins, $500.

L. M. Ernest and wife to J. B. Bunting, lot, $10.

Gurney P. Hood, Commissioner, to Greenville Banking and Trust Company, $10,000.

ASSOCIATION WORK LAUDED
the utmost success in all such efforts."

Hon. Lindsay Warren says: "May I express to you my appreciation of the fine work that is being done by the Eastern North Carolina Association. There is a distinctive field for an organization of this nature and it offers a medium for the problems of our section. I have had personal knowledge of some of the constructive work that has been done and I think it deserves and is entitled to the support of the business men of Eastern North Carolina."

Col. E. G. Flanagan:
"I have noticed for some time the work that your association has been doing in Eastern North Carolina... especially your labors in the extension of the Tar River project. You have presented this case extremely well, and I want to congratulate you. I feel that your association is doing a great work in the eastern part of this State, and the people should unquestionably rally to your support."

John Mitchell:
"Eastern North Carolina Association deserves the moral and financial support of every citizen of Greenville and Pitt County in its fight for Tar River development alone to say nothing of the splendid work it has done on rate traffic matters that contemplates along other lines."

Hon. R. C. Flanagan, Mayor of Greenville:
"The new deal demands organization. Business will not come back; it must be brought back. Through the medium of the Eastern North Carolina Association we have a powerful agency if numerically and financially we rally to its standard. Without our support it is helpless to represent us in the drive back to prosperity."

Martin Swartz:
"Membership in Eastern North Carolina Association is no donation. It is an investment that will bring large dividends directly or indirectly to every man in the territory it serves."

C. W. Howard:
"Unless and until we learn to cooperate, giving both our financial and moral support to promote Eastern North Carolina permanent prosperity will be slow. Eastern North Carolina Association is well equipped to fight our battles if we support it as we should."

L. A. Stroud, President Greenville Chamber of Commerce:
"No worthwhile results of outstanding community achievements can be wrought without a closely knit and powerful organization today. Eastern North Carolina Association is no exception; it is fighting your battles and mine. Support it liberally and watch this area forge to the front."

Noted Cartoonist Honors Students Of Fourth Grade
Walt Disney, creator of Mickey Mouse, was so well pleased with a song written by children of the fourth grade of Third Street School that he created a cartoon from the verses and sent it to the class.

Principle among the characters is the famous Mickey Mouse and three little pigs dancing their hearts out as Mickey directs their activities from the top of an apple barrel.

Miss Dixie Taylor, teacher of the grade, announced receipt of the cartoon today and said the children were elated over the recognition at the hands of the great cartoonist.

The verses were written by last year's class and were sung before the Parent-Teacher organization as well as before other groups. It was such a swell, airy piece of music that Miss Taylor, at suggestion of the pupils, sent a copy to Walt Disney just to let him know what children think about Mickey Mouse and his capers.

Chapter Nine
COACHING SILVER

MARIAN gave the reporter the bare story, being careful not to say anything that might destroy the possibility of getting down to the essentials of the tangle.

She also gave him Anne Stanton's name as the best intermediary, watching Silver twist and squirm in her effort to release herself from Hamlin's arms. Hamlin's face was a curious combination of interest and disgust.

"Hush, Silver," he repeated over and over. "Hush; it's better this way."

"It's a lie!" screamed Silver, but Marian, who had seen her struggle loose from her friend, placed her finger on the receiver bar and destroyed the connection.

For a moment it looked as if she would vent her fury on Marian, and again Max stepped in shaking Silver as if she were a toy doll.

"For your own sake, Silver, calm down."

"B-but she lie..."

"She certainly did," agreed Max. "That lie was a masterpiece. You ought to get down on your knees and thank her. She kept the world from knowing just what kind of a woman you... are not if that ex-husband of yours has a fighting chance for life, he'll make the grade. If he hasn't he'll go out happy."

"You told me you wanted to be an actress. All right, here's your opportunity. Play up and I'll see you have a chance in my next show."

"Now let's sit down and discuss the future. But first I'm going to telephone the lodge and have them send over some hot coffee and sandwiches. That friend of yours looks like she's about to pass out on her heels."

Marian didn't need a second invitation to slip into a chair before the hearth. Now that her story was in, the scene with Silver over, she felt physically and emotionally exhausted. She knew there were things she should do. Help Estes with his pictures... She knew he had taken extorters, had seen the flash of his light with its muffled report. And she should wire Lon Casad that she wouldn't be able to see him that night.

"Now, Miss Gordon," Max had seated himself opposite her, the subdued Silver between them. "do you think the other newspapers will send up their representatives?"

"They may," Marian answered. "The Hondons represented one of the oldest, finest families in the State, and Cliff was the last of the line. Silver's father has been an important figure in politics, and she's been copy ever since she was born."

"Then we'd better coach Silver to uphold your version of this tragedy."

"Please," Marian intercepted, "you asked me if I were here as a friend or a reporter. I wonder if it wouldn't be fair for me to ask a similar question. Are you here as a friend or a fiancé? I don't even know your name."

"Touche," murmured Max, "my name is Hamlin. I am merely a friend. I came up here to take the matrimonial cure. It is permanent. My wife, or ex-wife, doesn't like cold weather, so I obliged her by getting a divorce for desertion, while she went to Florida to be with her next—er, husband."

"My interest is more or less impersonal. I started my play-writing career by being a stage manager and I've never recovered from the desire to pull strings and watch the puppets dance."

"Thank you," Marian smiled at his frankness. "Then would you mind pulling a couple of those strings to make Silver pose for a picture?"

Hamlin turned to Silver, thought a moment, then spoke. "Miss Gordon

On that first ballot at Chicago, when the Roosevelt boom was visibly struggling for its life, fourteen State delegations voted preponderantly for candidates other than Roosevelt.

The States were California, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Texas, and Virginia.

Of course, two of these—California and Texas—never figured in whatever blackballing the FRBCC set out to do.

don has given you a choice of playing the lead in a clean drama... or showing what a poor sport a spoiled woman can be.

"You believe Mr. Hondon did this to spite you; to make the world believe you drove him to do it. The best way you can check that impression is by acting the part of a lovable, misunderstood woman, ready to forgive and—"

"But, Max," protested Silver, "I don't want to go back to him. I'm through... through!"

"He may not be there to go back to. Good heavens, girl, if he is alive can't you be woman enough to stand by until he's out of danger?"

"I... well, but I won't fly back, I'm afraid."

"You may not have to go at all, remember. Ready now for some pictures?"

"I... maybe I'd better change," she faltered, and Marian looked away afraid the contempt she felt would show in her face. "A dark dress, don't you think, with a little white around the throat, sort of school-girl looking?"

She hurried away, and Hamlin and Marian exchanged glances. Then both of them laughed.

"You call in your photographer, I'll call the emergency hospital," he said.

By the time Estes and Marks entered the call was through, and Hamlin motioned Marian to the telephone.

"Jenny," Marian said to the hospital switchboard operator, "this is Marian Gordon of the Dispatch. How is Mr. Hondon... oh, her breath caught in a quick gasp, "is Anne Stanton there? Please put her on the wire—"

MARIAN waited in breathless suspense for Anne's voice to come over the wire.

Then, "Hi, lan" came the cheery greeting, "what did I tell you about saving a man's life? I did it but I grinned, and now they won't give me credit."

"Anne, be yourself," Marian laughed in relief at the message. "You mean, I suppose, that Hondon will live?"

"It's this way, Hondon had a fighting chance to live, but he wouldn't fight. He kept sinking and sinking until we started counting the minutes. Then someone telephoned a message that his ex-wife sent her love, and wanted him to put up a good battle and that she was going to fly here to be with him."

"Well, lan, he was going low for the third time when I put this message across to him. You should have seen the change. His eyes opened, and, gosh, you should have seen the light in them. From that moment on he started picking up. If he can stand a blood transfusion later on he's all the good."

"What did you say?" she asked, for Marian had given an inarticulate gasp. She was realizing the responsibility she had assumed in her unsolicited usurping of Silver's rights. Suppose Silver refused to carry on?

"Anne," she said, "what effect will it have on him if Silver isn't able to reach him for... say forty-eight hours?"

"Better for him if she can't," Anne returned. "I imagine, under the circumstances it would be a pretty stiff strain. If she's going to have difficulty in reaching here I'll tell him she's already in town, but we won't let her in until he's strong. That will keep him fighting and give her time. Then when he's out of danger she'll probably be ready to see him. How does that sound?"

"Like a reprieve at the eleventh hour," Marian told her enthusiastically. "And say, Anne, will you telephone Lon Casad and tell him I won't be able to make it back to town in time to keep my engagement with him? Thanks. See you in a couple of days."

As she turned from the telephone a servant from the lodge appeared with a tray, and from the inner door appeared Silver, a demure figure in dark blue, a wide white pique collar giving her the appearance of just having stepped from a convent.

After she had posed for innumerable photographs to the satisfaction of Estes (and, Marian believed, herself) the four of them gathered about the table Hamlin had spread.

Relaxed, Marian listened to the clock strike four and to the roar of an approaching motor. In a few moments she heard a step on the cabin porch.

Marian, tomorrow, is not too glad to see her best friend.

"Alfalfa Bill" Murray has seen his state of candidates snowed under in a Democratic primary.

In Connecticut, Illinois and Maryland party control is in dispute. The Roosevelt wing in Connecticut, under the lead of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, appears to have made appreciable but conclusive gains. Since the death of Mayor Anton Cermak, the Illinois democracy has been torn by internal warfare. An insurrection against Governor Albert Ritchie in Maryland seems to be receding.

But few disputes the continuing dominance of Governor Paul McNutt in Indiana, Senator David I. Walsh in Massachusetts, Tom Pendergast in Missouri, Frank Hague in New Jersey, Peter Gerry in Rhode Island, or Senator Harry F. Byrd in Virginia. In these six States the Willy Nilly read aloud the answer he had written to Fire Chief Crabapple telling him he and his animal friends in Puddle Muddle would be happy to have the old fire horse, Quick-Dick, live with them. He also asked to be told where he would get the horse, and all other arrangements.

Then Willy Nilly went to the next settlement, bought a stamp, and gave the letter to Rip, the dog, to take to the village beyond where there was a postoffice.

Rip started off, carrying the letter in his mouth. He was very tired when he came home as it had been quite a long distance and he had hurried all the way.

"I couldn't reach the box into which you told me I should put the letter," said Rip, "but the boy was there who brought along our special delivery letter and he put it in for me. He's the son of the postmaster."

"Well," said Willy Nilly, "I'll try to get straightened up a bit before we receive an answer to our letter. I think I'll build an addition to the shed so there will be a place for the horse as well as the automobile. Yes, I'd better do that first of all."

So Willy Nilly set to work and he thought how strange it would be to have a horse with them in Puddle Muddle.

The little gnome-like man was so happy at the prospect that he forgot all about his sticking-out, pointed ears that needed attention.

Yes, it certainly would be nice. And now the Puddle Muddlers were busy talking. They wondered what color Quick-Dick would be, and whether he would let some of them ride on his back. They hoped they would not have long to wait.

Boat Used In Lindbergh Case Now 'Sea Home'

Baltimore.—(AP)—A yacht which figured in the Lindbergh kidnaping case is now serving as the seahome for a Maryland family.

It is the 85-foot ketch-rigged motor sailor, Cachalot, and according to its present owner, Capt. Charles M. Robinson, was used by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in an effort to locate the kidnapers of his child.

The vessel, Robinson says, was then owned by Arthur L. Foster, and was docked at Norfolk, Va. Lindbergh, Foster and John Hughes Curtis, who reported he had contacted the kidnapers, cruised from Norfolk to Delaware Bay seeking a mystery ship on which the baby was supposed to be held.

Curtis later confessed the idea was a hoax and was fined on a charge of obstructing justice.

For the last two years the Cachalot has served as the home of Captain Robinson, his wife, and two daughters, Jane, 15, and Anne, 13. All are officially residents of St. Mary's City, Maryland.

FARM PROGRAM SHOULD BE EXTENDED

With the tobacco growers now receiving the highest prices in years for their crop as a result of the government acreage control program for this year and next, a movement is already under way to get the growers to sign petitions for extension of the program for another five-year period beyond the present contracts, carrying the program to 1945. We were in hearty accord with the government control program even before its results were seen and now that we have been just how much it means to the people of this section we are certainly for an extension of the program for another five years period. Despite what some few individuals might think about it and despite the desire of some to want to chisel, it is apparent that the government program has proved the financial salvation of the growers this year and now is the time for the growers to make up their minds that they will definitely stick to the program for another five years period beyond the present contract.

MORE MONEY HERE

Judging by the bank deposits of the local banks there is more money in this section than there has been before at any one time. In recently published statements one of the local banks showed a new high peak of deposits of more than four million dollars, while the other banks in the community likewise report deposits at their highest peak in the history of the institutions. If the bank deposits can be taken as a barometer of conditions this city and county should have a long period of good business ahead of it.

POLITICS at random

By BRYON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

The "For Roosevelt Before Chicago Club"—the FRBCC for short—is recording progress, but hardly can be said at this stage to dominate the field of Democratic politics completely.

This mythical organization—which of course never existed except as a figure of speech—had its origin in a policy of National Chairman Farley to dish out patronage only to this party's leaders who had climbed aboard the Roosevelt bandwagon in advance of the Chicago convention.

In some notable cases that policy has been followed by a breaking down of the prestige of erstwhile anti-Roosevelt leaders, and the capture of their organization by the Roosevelt wing of the party.

In far more cases, however, not-

New York Cotton

New York, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, four to eight points decline on lower Liverpool cables and under Southern and foreign selling. The market steadied after the call. December contracts after selling off to 12.22 rallied to 12.40 while May worked up from 12.44 to 12.48 with the general list ruling about net unchanged to two lower at the end of the first half hour.

The market dipped back a few points from the best, and at mid-day December was ruling around 11.26 and May 12.46, or about four to five points net lower.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Pressure on the stock market today, although dullness accompanied the rallying efforts of the principal sufferers in the recent sessions.

There was no news of consequence to the equities division and traders were seemingly less gloomy were not disposed to reach for their favorites. Mining shares showed the best improvement. Grains continued to sag under the influence of a break in the Winnipeg market where wheat lost more than three cents a bushel.

Scattered buying in the metals followed an advance of 1-8 of a cent an ounce in the price of bar silver to 50 1-8 cents a new high since 1929. The late tone was steady.

Transfers were 400,000 shares.

Late News Flashes

destruction of a still in Currituck county on August 6, were announced here today by J. O. Carr, U. S. District attorney.

The indictments were returned under the Lindbergh kidnap law and Judge I. M. Meekins who is presiding over a term of court here, yesterday explained the maximum penalty is death or life imprisonment.

It was expected the case would be tried at the federal court term now in session, but court attaches indicated today that a continuance would be granted.

Japan Dangerous Enemy.
Washington, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Brigadier General William Mitchell, retired, told the President's aviation commission today "our most dangerous enemy is Japan and our planes should be designed to attack Japan."

Seek Another in Kidnap Case.
Trenton, N. J., Oct. 2.—(AP)—An associate of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Lindbergh kidnaper suspect, who apparently knew that the German carpenter was passing "hot" ransom money was being sought today by the New Jersey State police.

C. H. Norman Schwartzkopf at a press conference revealed that "about February 14" Hauptmann and a companion still unidentified appeared at a lumber yard and ordered small wooden panel which cost 40 cents. When William J. Riley, yard superintendent, was tendered a $10 bill by Hauptmann he noticed it was a gold note and hesitated. The second man without a suggestion from Hauptmann offered the correct change.

Riley said the men said they would return later in the day to get the panel but that they never came back.

Seeks More PWA Funds
Washington, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes indicated to reporters today that he would seek another substantial public works appropriation from the next congress to provide employment until private enterprise once more can take up all but the large slack of unemployment.

"I would like to have a real appropriation," Ickes said. "I think the PWA program has more than justified itself and that we ought to go ahead with appropriations on a substantial scale until we are out of the depression that we would be prepared to slacken up whenever private industry can take up the burden of providing sufficient employment."

BODY OF DROWNED MAN IDENTIFIED BY SON

Morganton, N. C., Oct. 2.—The body of the white man who was found Wednesday floating with a 25 pound rock fastened to his waist in Lake Hickory was positively identified here late last night as Fred Carwell, 32-year-old Hickory furniture worker, who left his home in East Hickory at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, September 22.

His son, John Carwell, made identification from clothing removed from the body and kept here by Coroner E. A. Kirksey following the inquest of the jury which returned a suicide verdict. The man was buried Thursday. The son said his father left home declaring only "he could get a better job" and his family presumed that he left in search of work. He gave his son an order on the Martin Furniture Company where he was employed regularly, so that he might receive earned wages on pay day today. He had little if any money with him and no money was found on the body. The son knows of no motive for suicide, and declared his father was alone when he left home.

HEDGECOCK DEATH CREDITED SUICIDE

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Death by suicide was the verdict of the coroner's jury Sunday after hearing the evidence in the case of M. N. Hedgecock, 49, of 358 West Lee Street, car foreman of the Southern Railway System, whose body was found early Saturday on the floor of his office at Pomona yards with a bullet wound in the head.

Quinn - Miller & Co.
"Pitt County's Leading Furniture Dealers"

In referring before to the fact that State Bank is Pitt County's largest UNIT Bank, it will also be of interest to its many friends to know that it is also the largest UNIT BANK in any of the following counties.

Halifax	Bertie	Hyde	Onslow
Northampton	Martin	Lenoir	Duplin
Hertford	Tyrell	Jones	Pender
Edgecombe	Beaufort	Craven	Sampson
Chowan	Greene	Cartaret	Pitt

These counties are mentioned because they largely make up Greenville's marketing territory.

State Bank has always featured quality and not size. The quality of its service, however, has appealed so strongly to the people of this community that they have increased their deposits in State Bank 181 per cent in one years time.

During the present year State Bank has not refused a single applicant for a loan if the loan was considered good. This policy it will continue to follow and is now actively seeking good loans over reasonably short periods.

Deposits in this bank are fully insured under the U. S. Government Plan up to $5,000.00.

If you are not a customer of State Bank, we would like for you to be.
