Bloodshed Continues In Spanish Republic; Priest Burned At Stake

French Frontier Closed and Communications Cut Off; Revolution Strongholds Crumble; Revolt in Portugal Nipped in Bud

Madrid, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Reports that Premier Antonio de Oliveira Falazar, of Portugal, had blasted a bloody fascist rebellion in his nation were received from extremely reliable and official sources in Lisbon today.

These reports said the Premier directed the capture of half a dozen Nazi leaders during a clandestine meeting and that later they confessed they had been planning a movement to restore an absolute monarchy and put Durt Nuno on the Portuguese throne.

Madrid, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Priests died at the stake and northern Spain was completely cut off from Madrid today in new outbreaks of the extremists' revolt. Reports from San Sebastian said authorities had completely closed the French border and even foreigners were not allowed to cross. Telephone lines to the south were cut and communication with Paris was expected to be disrupted any time.

At Mataporquera, Santander, rebels burned a priest and a civil guard together last night and two priests in Catalonia were saturated with gasoline and cremated alive. Another priest was reported to have had a narrow escape from a similar fate at San Vincent de Castellat, in Catalonia, and churches were in flames or had been burned to the ground.

Twenty American employees of the Firestone Rubber Company were marooned at Basurari by the trouble.

In the northwest soldiers clashed with strikers at numerous points all along the coast from Euztanter to Hendaye. Snipers were active at Bilbao throughout the night. The town of Lenona was seized by the strikers and there was bitter fighting at La Serenes, near Bilbao. The casualty list was large, but estimates were impossible due to disrupted communications.

In the southern area around Madrid rebel bulwarks crumbled one by one before the relentless guns of the Spanish government. Most of the clashes were marked by the feeble resistance of the rebels against the regular troops.

Leaders of the newly-formed cabinet were to go before Congress today. There were indications that the republic might be placed under a military dictatorship.

Reports gathered by The Associated Press from official sources showed the principal revolutionary strongholds in Asturias, Oviedo and Gijon as well as many other centers had been taken after land, sea and air attacks.

NEW JERSEY NEGRO GIVEN HIS RELEASE

Wilson, N. C., Oct. 9.—Satisfied that his office had acted too hastily and convinced that a grave injustice had been done, Sheriff W. A. Weatherly directed the release from jail here of a negro held in custody for two months under a murder charge. The man in question was arrested under the name of William Mercer. The arrest was made after the police of Bridgeton, N. J., had told one of the sheriff's deputies by telephone they had such a man in custody.

He was said to be William Mercer wanted in connection with the killing of Wade farmer at Gardner's twelve years ago. The Bridgeton negro said he was Ben Faison and that he went to Bridgeton from Faison, N. C., many years ago. Mercer's own brother said the prisoner was not William Mercer. When the Bridgeton negro was brought here early in August a half dozen persons immediately said a mistake had been made. Sheriff Weatherly finally became convinced that the wrong man had been arrested and ordered his release.

Scores of Miners Trapped By Fire

St. Pierre la Palud, France, Oct. 9.—(AP)—A score of workers were feared killed today by fire at the bottom of an iron pyrites mine connected with the St. Gobian Chemical Works.

Three of the dead workers were brought to the surface by the first rescue squad to enter the workings. The men were trapped on the small night shift and they were caught when the fire broke out early this morning.

ALEXANDER I ASSASSINATED AT MARSEILLES

Was on Good Will Visit to France; French Foreign Minister Also Falls Before Assassins' Bullets

Marseilles, France, Oct. 9.—(AP)—King Alexander I of Yugo-Slavia, and Luis Barthow, Foreign Minister of France, were assassinated today as the Yugo-Slav monarch came to France in an effort to improve Yugo-Slav-French relations.

King Alexander was mortally wounded by three shots fired from the crowd as he passed in an automobile with Barthow who was struck in the left arm. The shots which struck King Alexander were a part of a fusillade of 20 fired. The assassin was maulled by the crowd and was reported dying. Barthow, who was struck in the left arm, died while surgeons were operating upon him.

The visit of Alexander to France was regarded as of great diplomatic importance to France and the Little Entente of which Yugo-Slavia is a part.

Alexander had been greeted as his procession moved through the city by cheering throngs. He was riding in the first automobile of the procession which was passing the stock exchange when the shots rang out. His car was riddled by shots but he was the only one to be hit. The dying king was taken at once to the prefecture where surgeons began their emergency work in an effort to save his life, but their labor was in vain.

The assassin was described as a man about 40 years of age, perhaps a Czech.

Almost as soon as the shots were fired the French government clamped a tight censorship on dispatches of the tragedy. The censorship lasted for 40 minutes but news stories had already been sent and the ban on the news was lifted.

Barthow was not the only French officer wounded. General Alphonse Joseph Georgius of the French Supreme War Council was also injured. All three shots that wounded him struck King Alexander in the chest. Death came to him within an hour.

All the street was thrown into turmoil, making immediate identification of the participants difficult, but when a semblance of order was restored it appeared that there were two assassins. One of them not immediately identified was not killed by police as he attempted to escape. The other was Petris Jaleman, 35, a Yugo-Slav, who had been born in Zagreb. He was wounded with a slash of a police sabre. Several persons gathered around the king's automobile were also wounded apparently by the fusillade of assassins' bullets.

THUGS GET PAYROLL OF BANKING CONCERN

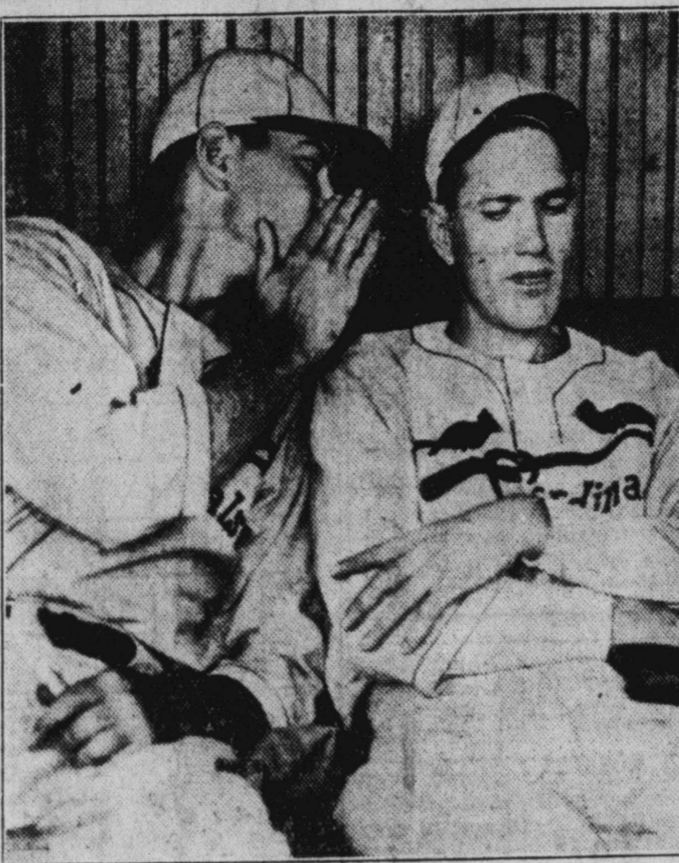

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Four thugs escaped with a $3,100 payroll of the Elfenben Bakery Corporation yesterday after an employee chased them two miles through the crowded East Side.

William Weiss, a mechanic braved a fusillade of shots from the bandit guns during the automobile chase. He attempted to stop them by running his car into theirs.

Abraham Danlow 40, bakery manager, was making up the payroll when four nattily dressed youths, told him: "Stock 'em up and be quick about it."

The holdup men grasped the tray containing the money and dashed to their car. Weiss drove his car directly at them tearing a fender away on the bandit auto. Weiss then trailed the quartet through traffic despite bullets he said were fired at him.

LEAF PRICES MOVE UPWARD DEPOSITORS GET 5 PER CENT

More Than Half Million Dollars Paid out Yesterday; Average $37.24

After a slight sagging the latter part of last week, tobacco prices turned again upward on the Greenville market yesterday and 1,369,432 pounds sold for $510,029.36, averaging $37.24 per hundred pounds.

Yesterday's sales brought the season's total sales to 34,939,212 pounds for $1,697,274.34, with a season's average price of $30.61 per hundred, or more than double that of last season.

Sales were light again today, and indications were that all houses would sell out early in the afternoon and the floors would be cleared for the further sales of the week. Sales were somewhat lighter last week while farmers took advantage of the good weather to save their hay crops. The same situation was expected to prevail during this week, after which it was expected that the tobacco would flow into the market rapidly until the end of the season is reached.

Hold Man On Forgery Charge

W. A. Sawyer, white man, was arrested here yesterday at the request of Petersburg, Va., authorities and is being held here for the Virginia officers who are expected to come for him today. Sawyer is wanted in Petersburg on a charge of forgery, the report said.

Sawyer has been in this section for three or four months, and about three weeks ago married a Pitt County girl.

CAMPAIGN IS QUIETEST IN RECENT TIMES

Washington Political Observer Says Campaign Without "National Issue"

By BRYON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

In its broad national aspects, the present political campaign promises to rank among the quietest in recent times.

It is difficult to recall when there has been such an absence of frontal attack on a major national scale, so little hysterical activity around national party headquarters, such scant attention to the possible outcome in the "small talk" of the capital.

Of course that is not true of various local situations, which abound in color and interest. In fact, some of the State campaigns are so engaging that they far overshadow the national campaign.

If political reports were written in the language of the market reviews, the tempo of the national political scene would have to be described as "dull," perhaps even "listless."

No National Issue

One reason is that seldom has there been so little dispute about what the election returns will show, nationally. Only a few Republicans deny, even when they speak for publicity, that heavy Democratic pluralities are in the cards. With election day less than a month away, it is the common opinion of experienced politicians in both parties that the Democrats will increase—perhaps by half a dozen votes—the majority of twenty-four they now have in the Senate, and will lose to the Republicans somewhere between 25 and 50 of their present House majority of 190.

Another reason is that neither side has been able to establish a clear-cut issue, on a national basis.

It is true that Democratic leaders have offered, and the constituted Republican chiefs have accepted, a "new deal." But that statement is open to many qualifications.

For one thing, there are many on both sides who approve of parts of the "new deal," and disapprove of other parts.

More important, however, is the fact that many of those running on the "new deal" platform are not really for it in their hearts, while many who wear the Republican label are against it only half-heartedly, if at all.

A "Vote of Confidence"

In such a situation it is no wonder the campaign has failed to stir up much co-ordinated inspired crusading on either side. Yet some really important things may come out of this election.

The friends of Mr. Roosevelt expect the result to be such that he can interpret it as a sweeping vote of confidence—a mandate to carry through his Home Demonstration Clubs Greenville is hoping to enroll half of the chapter's goal.

WOMAN IS INDICTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Luberton, Oct. 9.—A true bill charging Lucy Amanda Dial, Indian, mother of two infant children with the murder of Ella Bullard, 30, Indian, mother of six, near Floral College in upper Robeson late Sunday was returned by the Robeson county grand jury here today.

The Bullard woman, it is charged, came to the Dial home braggingly telling Dial's wife of her association with George Dial, husband of the defendant, while Dials wife was incapacitated through an operation. A quarrel ensued. The Bullard woman was standing in the yard without weapon threatening to kill the Dial woman, when the later fired on her with a shotgun at close range. Death was instantaneous. Coroner D. W. Biggs investigated and carried the case before the grand jury.

RED CROSS ACTIVE IN THIS COUNTY

To Present Certificates at Farmville Friday; Lav Plans For Roll Call

It was announced today that Sam Underwood, secretary of the Pitt County Chapter of the American National Red Cross will present the Life-Saving Certificates to the Farmville boys and girls who passed the course the past summer under the direction of Bill Morton, Red Cross Life-Saving Examiner. Mr. Morton was given his training at the Red Cross National Aquatic School at Brevard by the Farmville unit of Pitt County Chapter and instructed in the new pool upon his return. The certificates will be presented at a chapel in the Farmville High School Friday morning.

Miss Evelyn Hart, likewise a graduate of the Red Cross National Aquatic School has started a class in first aid among the students of the sixth grade at the West Greenville School. This past spring Lieutenant Jones of the State Highway Patrol taught approximately forty men of the CWA the standard Red Cross first aid course. These men were mostly foremen of work projects, and in addition to their duties, they acted as safety men, equipped as they were with not only the first aid kits, but also with the knowledge of what to do in case an emergency occurred.

The Red Cross roll call which begins November 11, Armistice Day, and continues through Thanksgiving is the only means the organization has of supporting these and many other services rendered to communities throughout the nation. The roll for Pitt County has been set at one thousand members, which is figured on a basis of only two people joining out of every hundred population. In some States the percentage of members per hundred is as high as eight. North Carolina ranks 45th in Red Cross membership, and a great effort is being made to bring the State up this year to a more satisfactory position. With the increased wealth of Eastern North Carolina and a general push in business this should be accomplished. Last year of the county's five hundred members, two hundred were enrolled in Farmville. Miss Ethel Nice has consented to assist the local chapter in enrolling the rural sections of the county through her Home Demonstration Clubs Greenville is hoping to enroll half of the chapter's goal.

Each borrower will be required to purchase Class B stock in the production credit association from which he secures his loan equal to 5 per cent of the amount borrowed, the rule in this respect being the same as in an ordinary production credit loan. A production credit borrower who has repaid his production loan may, of course, use Class B stock which he already has in the making of the cotton loan, so far as it will go toward making the 5 per cent of the total amount borrowed on his cotton.

The offices of the Greenville Production Association are located in the Belmont building in Greenville and the offices of the counties by the association may apply for loans.

Ready To Make Loans on Cotton

The Greenville Production Credit Association serving the counties of Pitt and Greene, is now in position to make cotton commodity loans to growers who desire to market their cotton in an orderly manner, according to an announcement by J. C. Galloway, secretary of the association.

The loans will be made on the basis of twelve cents per pound for cotton classed low middling or better in grade and seven-eighths inch or better in staple and eleven cents per pound for such cotton classed low middling or better in grade and below seven-eighths inch in staple. The interest rate will be 4 per cent per annum, and interest is charged only for the time the money is used.

As security for each loan the borrower must furnish a warehouse receipt from an approved warehouse. The grower may sell his cotton at any time and in such way as he sees fit. The notes are made to mature July 31, 1935, but the cotton may be sold at any time prior to that date.

Each borrower will be required to purchase Class B stock in the production credit association from which he secures his loan equal to 5 per cent of the amount borrowed, the rule in this respect being the same as in an ordinary production credit loan. A production credit borrower who has repaid his production loan may, of course, use Class B stock which he already has in the making of the cotton loan, so far as it will go toward making the 5 per cent of the total amount borrowed on his cotton.

Marian Gordon
by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Marian Gordon, reporter for the Morning Dispatch, has protected the callous Silver Hound against the world and against Silver Hound. Silver just has divorced her husband, and he has shot himself. Marian sends word from Reno that Silver is reconciled to her former mate. But now Silver has set her cap for Lou Cloud, Marian's friend and to escape. Marian and Lou are starting to drive alone in the early morning from Reno back to Oakland.

LIFE HISTORY

ON was waiting for Marian in the lobby, and after helping the boy stow the boxes in the rear he tucked her under a huge woolly robe as if she were something fragile. He even cautioned her not to crowd her.

As the shining nose of the car headed along Virginia street and on to the transcontinental highway they laughed together. There was a sense of adventure in this running away from the gently determined Silver.

And then, rolling over the white pavement and through mountains where blazing scars seemed to have slipped from the sky to become entangled in the high ridge of pines. Lou began to talk; talked seriously, personally.

"Jan, I said I had a lot to talk about," he began. "You'll probably laugh when I tell you that I am the subject. But, you see, you don't really know anything about me, and I want you to know everything.

"You know I come from Al's town, Cleveland. And you know that before I went to Cleveland I came from further south and that I have a few relatives down Missouri way. That's all you know I came out here; to go into business for myself, but you don't know where my money for that business came from nor anything of the real me, so here goes.

"I was born and grew up in St. Louis. My people were poor, and I mean poor; you have no idea of what poverty can mean. My father was Irish and my mother was a Canadian, and like most Canadians, worked all of the time.

"Each summer I worked on the job with him, sometimes building factories, sometimes working on the little houses that had become my hobby.

"And out of this experience I evolved an idea. I decided I wanted middle class people, the white collar crowd, to have a chance at home owning. I wanted these men and women who'd never be able to collect enough money for a down payment on the kind of a home they'd like to have, to be able to pay their rent into their own bank accounts.

"My guardian agreed it was worth trying. I figured I'd buy a tract of land, cut it up into lots large enough for a good vegetable garden and chicken yard in the rear and a flower garden in the front.

"Of course there have always been cheap places but they looked it and the kind of people I was thinking about would rather do without, than live in them. I wanted attractive houses with the grace of good architecture and the assurance of substantial building. No shacks nor shanties.

"Before we could try out this idea, my guardian died. That was last year. He left me a lump sum of cash, for my personal use, the rest he left in a Building and Loan Society which he had headed, to be used in my experiment. 'Experiment in human nature,' he called it.

"He had suggested I try the west where good property at a reasonable figure could be found within a short driving distance of industrial and commercial centers.

"I bought this car, my only luxury. Came out to visit Steele and met you.

"I was pretty sure of myself all along the way. I thought when I found the right girl she wouldn't mind keeping house for me without servants, doing without a lot of things. And then I met Silver Hound. He paused.

"And then I met Silver," he repeated, "and I realized that a luxury wife might be And I wondered if I had the right to ask any girl to give up the beauty that is 'bought with money.'

"There are other kinds of women?" Marian ventured.

"You're one, and that's why I'm getting up nerve enough to ask you if you'd be willing to be poor with me?"

would seem to mean that the league as such has no hopes of hitting its target of education for our object-campaigns of this year.

The more "comprehensive" explanation of the league's program brings squarely into the open two complaints heard so often of late against the "new deal."

The first is "bureaucracy," and the other is deprivation by the Federal government "of the rights that have been guaranteed to the people by the Constitution."

Licensing Power Dropped
On the one hand we have the American Liberty League, Senator Borah and others declaring that Congress should represent the people and should not shrink that task in any way by "delegating its authority to bureaucrats."

On the other we have "new dealers" claiming that NRA codes, AAA marketing agreements and the like constitute direct application of the American theory of decentralized self-government and majority rule with the Federal authority exercised only to safeguard the general public interest.

AAA contends that no part of its program is compulsory except the Bankhead cotton bill and that is the result of the will of the cotton farmers rather than any bureaucratic order.

As for NRA, "new dealers" cite the fact that the licensing power of NIRA never was used and was dropped at the end of a year with no White House request for its extension. It was a powerful instrument for domination of all business.

Courts Uphold NRA
As to the change that the "new deal" is depriving the people of their constitutional rights, the administration has an answer for that, too,

Little Theatre Grop.
On Monday afternoon at the Woman's Club the people of Greenville were offered the opportunity of starting a Little Theatre Group—only seven attending. The response was very disappointing in view of the fact that this was the first time such an opportunity had been presented to our fellow townsmen. We realized that there was entirely too little publicity given the meeting. Therefore, let all who are in any manner, form, or phase, interested in the theatre, come to the library at 7:30 Thursday night. Old, young, men and women—we want you all—and we need you.

We have decided that we will not only produce plays but that we will also study them. There is much to be gained from studying the technique of the theatre. If you are not interested in acting you might be interested in studying plays and in learning something about the art of writing them.

You will be assured of expert direction as we are to be guided by Miss Mary Dirnberger who has been associated with the famed Carolina Playmakers.

There will be no dues charged for membership in this organization. Remember, Thursday night, 7:30, at the library—come.

—JANE HALL.

Triennial Bulletins in Library.

The publicity chairman of St. Paul's Woman's Auxiliary wishes to call the attention of the men and women of the parish to the bulletin to be found among the publications on file at the Sheppard Memorial Library. This bulletin, issued daily and mailed from Atlantic City, where the triennial convention of our church is in session, will give a brief account of the work of the Triennial from day to day and will keep us informed as to all important questions dealing with the policies and work of our national church throughout this country and our foreign mission fields for the building up of Christ's kingdom and the furtherance of all religious endeavor. Our people are urged to avail themselves of this privilege made possible by the generosity of a consecrated North Carolina layman who realizes that our usefulness as individuals or as members of a church organization will be immeasurably strengthened by an intelligent comprehension of the needs and aims of our church.

If I'm to see someone, and have come in tired from the studio and ask for pajamas, and Blanche thinks I ought to dress, her answer is invariably, 'Miss Jean, they're all at the cleaner's'—and I dress."

PAINTED NAILS LEAD TO SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Wilson, Oct. 9.—Grieving over finger nails that had been painted by unknown women while he was drunk Levi Whitley 28, decided Sunday night that he would "end it all." His wife had been asking about the finger nails which were painted a bright red. He went to the drug store and bought six tablets of bichloride of mercury and devoured them all at once. He is in a local hospital recovering from the effects of his error. Doctors say if he had taken two instead of six tablets, he really might have "ended it all."

Hollywood Sites

By ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood, Calif.—(AP)—Introducing Blanche Williams, negro, maid to the original "platinum blonde": If you ring the bell at Jean Harlow's house on the hill, and it happens to be the butler's day off, Blanche will show you into the platinum blonde living-room. Except for a pleasant manner, there is perhaps nothing about her to distinguish her from other movie stars' maids.

Then Jean comes in — no jewel ever had a more fitting setting than Jean Harlow in this room designed by her mother — and after you've talked of this and that for a while, and Blanche has brought several water and comes in quietly several times to announce who's on the telephone, Jean may get around to telling you about Blanche.

Turned Down Other Jobs

For five years Blanche has been maid to "Miss Jean." It seems that Blanche had her heart set on working for Jean Harlow. Not from Jean, but from a friend, came this portion of the story: Blanche turned down jobs and kept calling the secretary of Jean's agent until Jean saw—and hired—her.

Only by accident did Jean learn, two years later, that Blanche had worked four years for May McAvoy, and two years for Eleanor Boardman.

On Blanche's day off, she's as likely as not to come back to the house on the hill, or not to leave it at all.

She finds things to do that nobody but she—she—she—can do. "One day," relates Jean, "Blanche was gone and I was trying to dress in a hurry. I had to call her to find where this article and that one was. I suspect," she laughs, "that Blanche hides things on me! I accused her of it once, and Blanche just laughed. 'Miss Jean,' she said, 'that's just how it should be. As long as you can't get along without me, then you can't get rid of me, can you?'"

HIGH SCHOOL OPEN SEASON WITH AYDEN

The Greenville high school will open its season on Friday afternoon of this week with the strong Ayden team. This Ayden team defeated Snow Hill high school last Saturday by the score of eighty to nothing, one of the largest scores recorded in this section in years.

The local squad is working under the direction of Mr. Henry M. Woods, Jr., who is a member of the local high school faculty. Mr. Woods is an A. B. and A. M. graduate of the University of Virginia, and while at the University made his "V" in football, basketball and baseball. For nearly three weeks thirty boys have been out on the field at work and are eagerly awaiting the game to be played Friday.

Several men of last year's team have graduated but there are a number of men back who made their letter last year and in previous years. Summerell at center, Cox, Haddock, Size, Smith and Hatem in the line, Brewer, Carroll, Forbes and Ellers in the backfield. In addition to these there are a number of others working for places.

Another Ellers and another Size are working for places. Then there is a freshman, Harold Forbes and Harris who are going to go places.

The game Friday will be played at 3:15 and the people of the city are urged by these boys to come out and see them in action. Matt Phillips is manager of the team. Mr. W. W. Morgan of the high school faculty is faculty manager of all athletics for the year.

TENT REVIVAL IN PROGRESS

"For or Against God" Subect of Strong Sermon Here Last Night

At the tent revival last night Evangelist Erickson told his hearers that men could be neutral about some things but not about salvation. Many things man can be against, but not God. A normal man would rather have everything and everybody against him, but not God.

A great and horrible thing exists today, because the heads of many families are against salvation and their children are following after them.

That man depending upon human goodness for salvation is worse than the vilest sinner, because of his influence over others. He may be better than some professed Christians, and that makes his influence more damning, even in his family life. If man can be saved by good works, Christ died in vain. Some say foundations outside of Christ, which only lasts during life, for it ends at death.

Good deeds will not save baptized sinners, neither can the church half hearted service on the part of church members has caused many to be lost.

This revival is a good time to reach the host; are the Christians of Greenville interested?

Dr. Gordon told of a little girl whose funeral he was called to preach, and he wanted to know if she was a Christian. He called to see the superintendent of the Sunday-school the little girl attended and asked him if he knew she was a Christian, and he said, "Doctor, I felt inclined three weeks ago to speak to that child about her soul's salvation, but I failed to do it, but her Sunday school teacher could tell you" and the doctor called to see the teacher, and she said: "Doctor Gordon I felt two weeks ago that I should speak to that child about her soul, but I failed to do it, but I am sure the little girl friend that brought her to Sunday school would know," and he called to interview the little girl friend, and this friend said: "Doctor Gordon I felt the urge to speak to my friend about her soul, but I neglected to do it; now it is too late.

None knew if she was saved. God tried three weeks to get three different Christians to speak to this child about her soul's salvation, and all three neglected one week ago to do it. Will the Christians of Greenville neglect to do their duty during this revival?

Service tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Wilson, N. C., Oct. 9.—Eva May Peacock, an eleven-year-old pupil of the Methodist Orphanage in Raleigh, is in Carolina Hospital here after having been accidentally shot with a 32 calibre bullet prior to a Sunday singing performance she and several other little companions were to have given before the congregation of Home's Church, not far outside the Wilson town limits.

The children were brought over from Raleigh and were taken to a near-by neighbor's house to prepare for the concert. They were accompanied to the home by an older girl, but she failed to see little Helen Long reach up to the mantel piece and take down a pistol and was startled at the sudden report. Helen thought it was a toy pistol, pointed at Eva May and pulled the trigger. The child was stooping over tying her shoes. The bullet entered her neck, ranged downward through a lung and lodged near the heart. Physicians said the chances were against her, but she was resting surprisingly well last night. The pistol had lain on the mantel piece for three years, presence of little children in the room not being anticipated.

CHILD BADLY INJURED BY FALLING TOMBSTONE

Elizabeth City, Oct. 8.—Winford Jones, six year old daughter of Mrs. R. C. Jones of South Dyer Street is in the Albemarle hospital with both legs broken as a result of having a heavy tombstone topple over on her Friday afternoon.

The accident occurred in front of C. E. White's memorial studio on South Road Street. According to Mr. White, the child was standing on the foundation of the monument and shaking it.

Mr. White said he and Ken White of Church Street, shouted a warning to the little girl when she saw her shaking the stone and just before it crushed her to the sidewalk. One leg was broken above the knee and the other a few inches above the ankle.

Mr. White said the little girl's mother and Mr. and Mrs. E. Ludford of South Road Street, were standing near the monument, which he estimated weighed approximately 500 pounds. Mr. White and Ken

White were standing several feet away. Ken White and Mr. Ludford removed the stone from the child.

AWARDED SUM OF $500 IN ACTION FOR $20,000

Washington, Oct. 9.—A judgment for $500 was returned late Saturday night in Superior court here for D. Oscar Moore of Chocowinity against J. Bryan Windfield also of Chocowinity in the former's suit for malicious prosecution.

Moore was asking for $20,000, charging that Windfield had him arrested and prosecuted without cause on a charge of stealing oats from Windfield's barn last summer.

More than two days were consumed on the case and due to the popularity of both parties the courtroom was crowded throughout the trial.

OCTOGENARIAN TOLD TO GET OUT OF COUNTY

Durham Oct. 9.—Alexander Jordan, Greensboro octogenarian well known here for his drinking sprees and his insane dislike of being compared "Rip Van Winkle" because of his long beard, was today ordered to leave the county by Superior Court Judge E. H. Cramer, when arranged on an illegal possession count.

Before the trial was over, Jordan told the court for the first time that he was an ex-Moses. "I was in the movies once in Long Island; up there I played the part of Moses," Jordan said, pointing to the shaggy

Azov, U. S. S. R.—(AP)—The Azov Black Sea bureau of natural sciences has broadcast a request to the public and all government institutions to make hourly observations of weather conditions between now and June 19, 1936, when the sun will be fully eclipsed in the north Caucasus and part of the Ukraine.

Astronomers from all parts of the world have announced they will visit southeastern Russia to witness the eclipse and soviet scientists are preparing to supply them with full meteorological data for the two years before the phenomenon occurs.

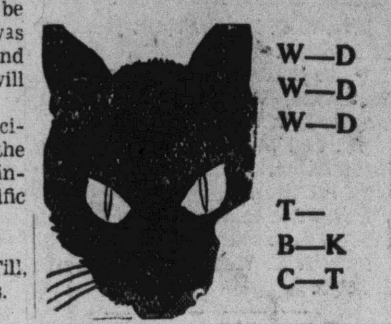

Collective farm schools, sanatoriums and railway offices throughout the affected area are making charts of the weather. Records will also be provided as to whether the sky was light or dark blue each hour and the nature of the sun's aureole will be indicated.

This information will assist scientists to determine what the weather will be in 1936 and will indicate the best point for scientific observations.

Steel production at Broken Hill, Australia, is breaking all records.
