ARRESTED FOR THREATENING EDESEL FORD

Federal Agents Nab Youth who Sent $5,000 Extortion Note to Auto Magnate.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 17.—(AP)—A threat to kill Edsel Ford unless he paid $5,000 was revealed by Department of Justice agents here this morning with the arrest and reported confession from a man who gave his name as Edward Lickwala. Federal agents said Lickwala, 20, wrote the note to Ford demanding that he leave the $5,000 in fives and tens in a candy box at the rear of 3321 Nedbury Avenue.

The agents said a dummy package was prepared and left at the designated place. They said Mrs. Calude Landerville, who lives at the address given, picked up the package and later Lickwala was arrested. The investigating resulting in the arrest of Lickwala was directed by William Larson, head of the Department of Justice, here.

The letter was dated October 8. The trap was laid October 12, but it was only partially successful. Lickwala was finally arrested last night, agents said, but it was kept secret until this morning. They said they had questioned all members of the Landerville family, and while they were involved as accomplices in the attempted extortion, information was obtained that directed suspicion to Lickwala.

ELECTRICAL SURVEY TO BE MADE IN GREENE

Snow Hill, Oct. 17.—Chester A. Walsh, who recently completed a survey in Lenoir County, has been appointed by Prof. David I. Weaver State College, Raleigh, to make a survey of Greene County in connection with Governor Ehringhaus' rural electrification project.

Existing electric transmission lines and proposed extensions will be mapped. Data concerning neighborhood district current will be secured. Names of prospective users of electricity will be listed. Surveys are being made to ascertain the feasibility of extending electric lines into rural sections.

HUGE BEAR IS KILLED IN COLUMBUS COUNTY

Old Dock, Oct. 17.—Last Saturday morning a number of men killed a huge bear on Juniper Hill Point, about one and a half miles from here.

The bear was killed by J. R. Kanipe and Yancey Simmons. Mr. Kanipe is from Rockingham.

The bear weighed 500 pounds. His height was about 7 feet, his feet 10 inches long and 3 inches wide. His teeth were 1 1/2 inches out of his mouth and his mouth opened 6 inches wide. His arms measured 14 inches around.

The members of the party were J. J. Long, leader, J. R. Kanipe, Yancey Simmons, Arthur Gore, Jim Ward, E. L. M. White, Sr., E. L. M. White Jr., J. M. Munney, R. L. Watts, N. O. Hyatt, Henry Lassiter and Cal Ross.

Evidently the bear had been fired on several times years ago for the shots could be felt very plainly under the skin. He was killed on several times before he was fired.

BOTTLERS TO ATTEND NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Statesville, N. C., Oct. 17.—Widespread interest among North Carolina bottlers concerning the outlook for their industry under NRA regulation will cause a majority of them to attend the annual convention and exposition of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages in Buffalo, N. Y., November 12 to 16, announces Frank L. Johnson, of Statesville, secretary of the North Carolina Bottlers' Association.

Mr. Johnson is making arrangements for a delegation from the State which will leave Asheville in special Pullmans on Saturday, November 10, and arrive in Buffalo on the evening of November 11. Besides this party, many North Carolina bottlers will motor and several plan to travel by airplane.

The North Carolina delegates will be headed by M. S. Brown, of Tarboro, president of the State Association, and Secretary Johnson, and will include Frederick O. Bowman of Chapel Hill, State supervisor for the NRA code authority.

AUTOMOBILE KILLER IS PUT ON PROBATION

Kinston, N. C., Oct. 17.—In Superior Court here today, judgment was continued for five years in the case of Miss Eunice Eubanks, who drove an automobile which ran down and killed Ernest Smith on a road near here some months ago, and Isaac Eubanks, her companion, who allegedly urged her not to stop. The woman said she lost her head. Smith was a constable. The Eubanks woman will pay his widow $1,000. They reside in Jones County, unrelated but neighbors.

Late News Flashes

Ask Three Year Program.
Raleigh, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Some 500 representative tobacco growers from the states producing fine cured tobacco today voted unanimously at a meeting here to ask the Federal Agriculture Adjustment Administration to continue the "weed" control program through 1938. The delegates, most of them from North Carolina, voted also to ask continuation of the present two-year control program through to its expiration in 1935 but asked that the AAA take steps to increase the tax now levied upon the non-contracting growers from 23 to 33-1/3 per cent next year.

A committee of five members drafted resolutions which thanked the AAA and its tobacco head J. B. Hu'son for their work in improving tobacco prices. The resolution also expressed appreciation to Congressman John H. Kerr and Senator E. D. Smith, authors of the tobacco control law, also all congressmen who helped in its passage and county agents who aided in putting the program across. The action taken to ask a three year program came after the delegation had earlier greeted with roars of applause the suggestion that a five year production control program should be placed in effect on fine cured tobacco.

Hauptmann Hearing Set

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Hearing of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's appeal for man order dismissing the habeas corpus writ through which he tried to escape extradition to New Jersey to face trial for the murder of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby was today set for 2 o'clock next Friday afternoon in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. ## EMERGENCY EXPENDITURES OVER BILLION

$1,828,396,679 Spent in First 3 1/2 Months of Present Fiscal Year.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The government emergency expenditures were reported today by the Treasury to have passed the billion dollar mark for the three and a half months of the fiscal year ending October 15. Total expenditures were $1,828,396,679.

Of these, the outlay for emergency purposes was $1,015,423,339 in spite of repayment of $125,000,000 by the Reconstruction Corporation and $10,000,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

President Roosevelt in his budget message to Congress last January estimated total emergency costs for the current year ending next June 30 at $793,296,500. However, the President had estimated emergency expenditures for the fiscal year ending last June 30 at approximately two and a half billion more than the amount actually used.

The Federal Emergency Relief contributed $444,000,000 to this year's emergency cost with the highways second with $152,000,000. Emergency conservation work accounted for $116,000,000. The Farm Administration has spent $80,000,000, which however, is balanced by $166,000,000 received in processing taxes and revenues. All the excess is earmarked for payment to farmers who have cooperated in crop control plans.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

By GEORGE DURNO

Interest: Political eyes will be focused on Miami next Monday. The American Legion meets in annual convention and the big question, so far as the politics are concerned, is what action—if any—will be taken on the bonus.

Old-time Legion wire-pullers think they have the bonus licked, but they know they are in for a fight. Fifteen delegations, some of them big ones, are heading south with instructions to fight for immediate cash payment of the balance due on adjusted service certificates.

White House wags lengths will be tuned in on developments. The Federal Treasury, according to New Dealers, is in no condition to shell out over two billion dollars in such fashion. If a showdown is forced in the next session of Congress President Roosevelt will buck the bonus boys to the bitter end. Naturally, he would rather avoid the fight.

The score to date among nationally prominent veterans' organizations stands one to one on the bonus. The Disabled American Veterans declined to take any action whatever at their annual meeting. Veterans of Foreign Wars on the other hand went the Above are pictured Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., of Nashville, Tenn., and his Nashville home. Robinson is being sought today by federal agents for the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll of Louisville, Ky., for whose return last night the Stoll family had paid $50,000 ransom.

LETTERS ASK RETIREMENT OF DANIELS

Catholic Organizations Seeking Scalp of Tar Heel Ambassador to Mexico.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Letters demanding the resignation of Joseph Daniels as Ambassador to Mexico are being received by the State Department from Catholic organizations. A speech Daniels made last July to a group of American teachers and students visiting Mexico started the controversy.

The Catholic organizations in the United States have interpreted the speech as approving "plans of the Mexican government to eliminate religion from the schools and institutions 'socialists' instruction."

Daniels on the other hand explained that the speech was simply a declaration of his faith in universal education and did not even remotely touch upon the character of education in Mexico.

Farmer Loses $1,000 in Cash from His Pocket

In one's trousers pocket is not a safe place for cash in large quantities even for a short length of time. At least, that is what Noah Tyson, well-known farmer of this community, thinks about the matter now, for as a result of having $1,000 (fifty $20 bills) in his pocket on Monday, Mr. Tyson is now just that much short.

According to the information Mr. Tyson is not one who usually carries his money in his pocket, but wisely keeps it in the bank, but on Monday he went to the bank to draw out $1,000 to loan to someone else. He was reported to have found when he reached the office of the lawyer, who was preparing the papers, that some were not ready, so with his money in his pocket he went up into the tobacco market next up in the city where he had business to transact. Mr. Tyson says that while up there he remembers taking a plug of chewing tobacco from the same pocket and at that time he is sure the money was still there, but later he ran his hand into his pocket to find that his bills had disappeared. Whether the money was dropped from his pocket or was removed by the nimble fingers of some pickpocket is not known, but officers have been unable to locate anybody who found the money.

OBTAINING PICTURES FOR NEW U. S. COOF

Penland, N. C., Oct. 17.—"Chimes in the Laurel," by Muriel Sheppard, which the University Press will bring out about the first of December, is at the moment receiving its illustrations at the hands of Mrs. Byard Wooten of Chapel Hill, who is in Penland for the purpose. Mrs. Wooten is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Lucy Moran of Appalachian School. Of this coming book, Mrs. Wooten says:

"This is really a very delightful manuscript of this section. There has been much research work done for it, and it is replete with ballads and anecdotes. I honestly think it is very fine thing."

On this trip into the Blue Ridge Mountains, Mrs. Wooten is illustrating also "Back Woods America," by Charles Wilson, which also will be published by the University Press, its appearance likewise scheduled for December 1.

Navy's first-string line-up this year averages only 171 pounds.

LEGION TO MAKE DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Local Post to Hold Two Day Observance of Armistice Anniversary

Beginning this morning, members of Pitt County Post of the American Legion began an intensive drive to renew all its memberships for the coming year before November 1. During the year the now drawing to a close the local Post enjoyed a membership of 228, which was double that of the highest previous year in the history of the Post. Last year the Post was the recipient of two awards by the State Department of the Legion for gains in memberships both in percentage and in numbers.

Commander Rose last night urged the members to get busy at once to renew these memberships before November 1 in order that the Post might make the best possible showing when reports are made at the installation of State officers at Lexington. At last night's meeting it was reported that already 40 members had paid their dues, and these were divided into four teams to work among the other ex-service men between now and the first of the month for memberships.

The Post last night took final action on plans for the observance of Armistice Day this year, and it was decided that the celebration would take place on Sunday, November 11, with special services in each of the city churches, and that on Monday the usual Armistice Day, speaking and barbecue would be held at the college, followed in the afternoon by a football game between the local college and Louisburg College.

Virginia Jails Studied
Richmond, Va.—(AP)—On the heels of the escape of two desperate gangsters from the Richmond jail, the State Department of Public Welfare is conducting a survey of the entire Virginia jail system, with a view of revamping it.

LEAF SALES REACH FORTY MILLION MARK

$12,524,044.55 Has Been Paid Out For Tobacco on Market This Season

Sales on the Greenville tobacco market passed the forty millions pounds mark with today's sales and the season's average price is gradually climbing upward.

Sales yesterday were 587,162 pounds for $215,567.19, averaging $36.71 per hundred pounds.

The season's sales through yesterday were 39,924,622 for $12,524,044.55, averaging $31.37.

Sales were light again today, and all finished shortly after the noon hour. Despite the falling off in sales, there is close touch with the situation are still confident that the season's total here will reach the fifty million pound mark and that $15,000,000 will be paid to growers selling on this market.

CANADA GOOSE TAKEN BY TWO KINSTON MEN

Kinston, N. C., Oct. 17.—From North Kinston today came word of the capture of a Canada goose by two men who found it flying low over Vernon Avenue. When the bird flew a foot or two above the pavement one of the men struck it down with his coat.

A fight followed. The goose resisted desperately when it was seized. It pecked at its captors with its beak and almost tore the shirt off one of them. It was finally carried off.

Why the goose should be flying low through town remained an unsolved mystery. Apparently it had not been injured. There were no tame geese in the vicinity. Vernon Avenue is a part of the Central Highway, which carries a heavy traffic than any other road in North Carolina.

BIBLE CLASSES PLAN MEETING IN KINSTON

Kinston, N. C., Oct. 17.—Baraca, Philathea and other Bible classes in this section will stage a rally in the church of the Disciples of Christ here at 3 p. m., October 28. Mrs. K. Edwin Fussell, president of the Philathea State Associations, is arranging for the meeting with the aid of ministers and others. The principal address will be delivered by R. N. Simms, of Raleigh, widely known Sunday school worker.

New Deal Pageant At Fair Tonight

One of the outstanding features of the fair now in progress here will take place tonight at eight o'clock when about 500 local people take part in the "New Deal" pageant. The pageant will picture the workings of the New Deal in this community contrasted with the era prior to the benefits of the New Deal. The local choral society will have a part in the pageant furnishing the music.

The fair, under the direction of N. G. Bartlett, of Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, opened here Monday afternoon and has enjoyed large crowds since the gates swung open. Yesterday was school day with free admission for all school children of this and adjoining counties and was one of the largest crowds ever assembled at a fair here. The fair will continue through this week with a complete program of free acts each afternoon and evening and an elaborate fireworks display each evening.

Nineteen newspapers are published in the Hawaiian Islands.

COUNTY COURT IS IN SESSION AGAIN TODAY

Several Liquor Cases Given Hearing in Yesterday's Session Of Court

Failing to clear its heavy docket yesterday, County Court, with Judge Dink James presiding, continued today with indications that the entire day would be required to complete the hearing. Today's hearings were mostly those of automobile wrecks from drunken driving and other causes. The cases disposed of yesterday were mostly liquor and assault cases in some of which the defendants received road sentences and others received fines ranging as high as $100.

Cases disposed of yesterday were as follows:

Ivory Green, colored, was fined $25 and costs as a result of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

John Lane, colored, drew a sentence of not less than twelve nor more than eighteen months on the roads on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The case against Lane was the result of his shooting at Sheriff Sam Whitehurst several months ago when the sheriff attempted to arrest him.

Roman Godley was found not guilty on a charge of transporting liquor.

E. R. Humbles, charged with operating a trailer without license, had judgment suspended upon payment of costs.

Maude Burke and Luther Burke, colored, faced a charge of having liquor for sale. Luther was found not guilty, and Maude, being adjudged guilty, was taxed a total of $25, including the tax.

Water Summerline, sentenced to twelve to eighteen months on the roads for operating a gambling house, appealed to Superior Court.

Otis Taylor and Bunn Mills faced charges of having liquor for sale. Mills was taxed $25, including the costs, while Taylor was fined $100 and ordered to close his filling station on the Falkland road immediately and not enter into like business in this county for a period of three years. Taylor appealed to the Superior Court.

H. R. Bullock had judgment suspended upon payment of costs on a charge of reckless driving.

Following his present sitting, there will be no further sessions of County Court until the 7th of November, the next two weeks being taken up with the work of Superior Court here.

James Earl Franks Dies This Morning

James Earl Franks, age four years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Franks, died early this morning in Duke Hospital, Durham.

Funeral services will be conducted from their home in the cotton mill district Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. Burial will follow in the Boyd graveyard near Grimesland. Rev. A. D. Brinson of Beulahville, will conduct the services.

Surviving are the parents, one brother, Edward Franks, and the grandparents.

Captures Still

Aurora, N. C., Oct. 17.—Sunday morning Deputy Sheriff Grady Stevens captured a large whiskey still at the old Bass place, about three miles from Aurora. Two large jars of whiskey were found at the still. The deputy sheriff carried the still to Washington. No one was found at the still.

WILL ASK FOR NEW GOV'T. HOUSING PLAN

President Roosevelt Says He Will Present Request to Next Congress.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today his recommendation to the next Congress would include plans for a big increase in the housing projects in connection with relief work.

Asked at his press conference if the housing program would fit in with the new public works program, he replied undoubtedly it would. At the same time Mr. Roosevelt said there was no inconsistency in moving the industrial unemployed to small farms with the Farm Administration plan limiting production before under the first arrangement the administration was trying to save human lives.

Japanese Youth Rush To Navy

Tokyo.—(AP)—The "naval crisis" which, according to Japanese navy propaganda means the prospect of an international fleet building race, has drawn an increasing number of youths to the sea-forces of the Empire. This year 11,283 young men applied for 345 vacancies in the Etajima Naval Academy, the Annapolis of Japan.

An apple contains about 82.5 per cent water.

Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., of Nashville, Being Sought Today by Federal Agents.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The death penalty will be asked for Thomas Robinson, Jr., and kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, United States District Attorney Thomas J. Sparks said today. Sparks said the Lindbergh Act as amended provides for the extreme penalty in cases where the victims are injured. Meanwhile the government pressed with all its force the hunt for Robinson no longer hampered by the fear of death for Mrs. Stoll who was returned last night after Robinson had cleared.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The relentless forces of the Department of Justice spread its net today for Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., 27 year old Tennessee, accused of kidnaping Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll. The wealthy young society matron was brought home last night after a harrowing six days of captivity for $50,000 ransom.

Robinson, a former inmate of a lunatic asylum, was named by Federal agents as the man who entered the Stoll home here last Wednesday, snuggled Mrs. Stoll with an iron pipe and carried her off to an Indianapolis apartment where she remained until yesterday afternoon. The government operators are confident they will get their man. He is believed to have fled from the Louisville area in an automobile bearing Illinois license plates and a Chicago tag. Investigators are also looking for the $50,000 ransom fund paid by Mrs. Stoll's husband, Bert V. Stoll, of company executive, for her release. Investigators are holding Robinson's wife, who they said, picked up the $50,000 ransom package from her father-in-law, intermediary in Nashville. Mrs. Robinson was captured as she accompanied Mrs. Stoll from Indianapolis to Louisville yesterday in company with the Rev. E. Arnold Clegg and his wife, who is a cousin of Berry V. Stoll.

George Stoll said today he had learned from his brother, Berry that Mrs. Robinson had proved a much needed protector for Mrs. Stoll during her Indianapolis visit and on the way to Louisville.

"She refused to participate in the ransom money," said George Stoll, "and came to Louisville at her own very great risk. The family here is very solicitous about her welfare and hope she may be given every possible consideration. We feel she has been very fair to us."

George Stoll emphasized that the Rev. and Mrs. E. Arnold Clegg, to whose home in Indianapolis the kidnaper victim was brought yesterday afternoon, were chosen for contact by the kidnapper because of the distant relationship to Mrs. Stoll and because of their high standing. An erroneous report (not carried by the Associated Press) said Rev. and Mrs. Clegg were both arrested.

FIND WHISKEY STILL IN RECESSES OF LAKE

Wilson, Oct. 17.—Federal geodetic agents and map-makers need have no further worries for a long sought island in the jungle fastness of Wilson county's attractive Silver Lake near here, has been discovered. Give the glory to the famous explorers, Deputy Sheriff Hinton Woodard and Carter. Discarding their proverbial gum shoes and taking to an insulated rowboat instead, the trio did their sleuthing on Silver Lake's waters Saturday and found the island in question, an island which they say they have sought in vain for the last three years, which gives an excellent idea of the impenetrable vastness of this great inland sea. Also the sleuths say, they found a still, of more importance to them than any geographical exploration, and 60 gallons of corn whiskey.

SYMPHONY TO PLAY AT FLORA MACDONALD

Red Springs, N. C., Oct. 17.—Distinctly North Carolinian in its entire make-up, the Little Symphony of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, with Lamar Stringfield conducting, will present a program at Flora Macdonald College Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock.

The orchestra is composed entirely of North Carolinians who were selected from more than 10,000 applicants from the Tar Heel State, and each was selected on his or her ability as a musician.

After selecting his personnel for the current season, Mr. Stringfield began the task of polishing up this symphony, taking off the rough edges and making it the smooth musical organization it is today. It was a arduous task, but Mr. Stringfield spared neither time nor effort to make the symphony orchestra a credit to North Carolina.

DRIVE CAREFULLY TODAY

THEY HAD THE RIGHT OF WAY

In 1933 more than 50,000 pedestrians crossing properly at intersections were injured by motor vehicles. One traffic rule which is practically universal is that the pedestrian has the right of way at intersections. Why must the pedestrian on crosswalks and at intersections where he has the legal right to proceed seem to forever give way to the driver? The answer is that because drivers under such conditions are "boorish." It is not too much to predict that unless motorists give more consideration to the welfare of pedestrians who are using the highways in the proper manner, strict and severe enforcement of rules for pedestrian protection must follow.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBIN COONS
Hollywood, Calif.—Two weaknesses—at least two—has Peggy Conklin. One is for "signing things" and the other is for raw meat.

These she revealed in a catch-as-catch-can conversation that started out as an interview and developed into: (1) A romp with a dog, (2) A visit with an old friend, and (3) A session with a hair-dresser.

If Miss Conklin brings to her role in "The President Vanishes"—she's leading lady in the romance department—one-half the personality she displayed in this reportorial session, she may start as a fresh "discovery."

The odds are against it, sadly enough. The hair-dresser, as we left, was arranging her tousled hair into neat curls, and the gentleman from the set, sent to fetch her, had reminded her that she was to wear what she had worn in the morning.

Has Hearty Laugh

Besides, no leading lady in serious drama is allowed to laugh so much, so heartily—yes, so impertinently!—as Peggy managed to laugh in this half hour. Certainly no secretary in the White House—that's Peggy's role—sits garb-like with her knees in her arms, wearing tousled hair, slacks and a plaid jacket, and jumps to the floor to scramble and wrestle with a dog, all the while answering questions.

She signed those two previous film contracts, she confessed, simply because "signing things" is one of her weaknesses. She "backed out" of coming to Hollywood because she really didn't want to be in pictures after all. She never had wanted to be in pictures. She signed with Walter Wagner—and came to Hollywood—because he had a definite role for her. "Snoop-ee!"

"Snoopy" Is a Terrier

"Snoopy" was the Scottish terrier, who had arrived with the friend, Mrs. Kate Cummings, mother of Constance. In Connie's absence abroad, "Kate" was lending "Snoopy" to Peggy, who pines for her own Scottie. "Snoopy" at the moment had wandered into another room, and "Snoop-ee" recalled him.

"Kate" was quite a help. She brought not only "Snoopy" but "Snoopy's" lunch—ground meat and cottage cheese. Peggy's eyes lit up. "Don't leave it, Kate," she warned, "or I'll eat it myself. I'm crazy about raw meat!"

And then the hair-dresser took charge. Neat curls replaced the tousled curls. And soon, no doubt, she would don a costume befitting a White House secretary. And of the set the peals on infectious laughter would give way to ART and EMOTION.

The World Arrives

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
"Our radio went back on us and we used up so much time and fuel waiting in that fog," explained Jerry.

"Were you up in your plane through all that?" asked Willy Nilly.

"Yes," Freddy answered. "No one will know where we are. We must let them know at once. Where are we, anyway?"

"You're in Puddle Muddle," answered Willy Nilly.

"Where's Puddle Muddle?" asked Freddy.

"It's in the world," answered Willy Nilly. "There is one village very close to us—only a settlement really—and there is another beyond that, a good bit farther along. Then there is a railroad stop down the line."

"How can we send word where we are?" asked Jerry. "And could you give us something to eat? We're famished. We ran out of food as we didn't carry any more than we thought we needed. We hardly had any. Speed was all we wanted to make."

"Yes," agreed Freddy, "we've been making speed records between various points and we were just making the greatest one of all when the fog got so thick we couldn't get above it."

Willy Nilly gave them coffee and sandwiches and the men were much refreshed.

"We must send word where we are so they won't worry about us," Jerry said.

But at that moment planes appeared in the sky, automobiles were rushing into Puddle Muddle, men were appearing from everywhere. The whole world was arriving in Puddle Muddle, thought Willy Nilly.

classes of people from school teachers to banker.

In "I, Governor" the author said, regarding the plan, that he expected to put it all through in the first year. As he further stated, "the plan comes first and party comes second," there is a disposition to wage the battle on the candidate's official publication of principles and base the arguments, pro and con, on interpretation of the successive publications rather than upon the platform which is not binding upon the nominee.

Criticism Aids Revision
Between "I, Governor" and "Immediate Epic" there is more of a spread than merely elapsed time. There have been numerous modifications of doctrine which the author admits with the explanation "the light of a full year's criticism. We have learned from our friends how to improve the plan and from our enemies how to present it more effectively."

In the meantime, to add to the complexities, the State's democracy, whose gubernatorial nominee Sinclair is, adopted a platform. The law makes this the official statement of party principles but otherwise gives it no vital force. A candidate is privileged to abide by it to the letter or disregard it at will.

Bank 'Crusade' Omitted

In the latest publication there is no mention of an intention to institute a "crusade to persuade the people to withdraw their savings from private banks and turn them over to the State to be used for the development of a State system of industrial production." The author formerly had said: "It would not be very long, I think, before the private bankers would be begging the State to buy their beautiful marble palaces at cost, and we should put an end to the private control of credit, etc."

But the bankers, in the newest book, are told bluntly that no "sabotaging" of the plan will be tolerated. "We have to make it plain that efforts at sabotage will not frighten us, and that if we cannot find anybody else to tax, we will tax the banks," "Immediate Epic" relates.

Two of the chief policies, establishment of State fostered manufacturing whereby the unemployed would produce their own goods and the colonization of land by unemployed, are retained.

Instead of issuing bonds of $300,000,000 to finance the State production campaign and other costs of the plan, however, EPIC will now depend on getting money from Federal grants or through other sources and by new forms of taxation and will rent instead of buy factories at cost.

Pension Plan Deferred
The pension plan for the aged and incapacitated who have lived in California for three years has been deferred until it is seen whether the national administration will assume this burden.

Hungarian Woman Deadly Shot

Budapest—(AP)—In the recent partridge season, 2,016 birds were killed in one day by Miss Andrea Muranyi, charter member of the new Hungarian Ladies' Shooting Club. Partridge were plentiful this year, partly because the birds have learned to avoid the alcohol-soaked grain with which poachers make them helplessly drunk.

Sinclair Pamphlets Reveals Modification in Program

By W. A. WELLS
San Francisco, Calif.—(AP)—California's election campaign is fast developing into a battle of book reviewers.

The literary critic's art got its political baptism with the publication of "I, Governor of California," in which Upton Sinclair, twice defeated as socialist candidate for governor, acquired the Democratic nomination, seated himself in the chief executive's chair at Sacramento and subsequently abolished poverty from the Golden State. (Sinclair's program was embodied under

'Dramatic Interludes' At College.
In the unique program of "Dramatic Interludes" given at East Carolina Teachers College last night, the English actor, V. L. Granville, presented, in costume, and with excellent interpretation, a dozen characters from literature.

He proved himself a versatile actor, as he was utterly merged in each character in turn. His program ranged through the various types, from heavy tragedy to comedy, but was made up entirely of selections of literary merit chosen from different fields and, from first to last, given in chronological order.

He opened with a selection from the Bible, presenting a scene from Job, taking alternately the part of the narrator and of Job. From the Greeks, he gave a scene from "The Clouds," the comedy by Aristophanes, appearing as Strepsiades. Hamlet was the Shakespearean character he assumed. The Restoration period was represented by the humorous character of Lady Wishfort from "The Way of the World."

The audience perhaps enjoyed Uriah Heep because of their familiarity with Dickens and "David Copperfield." The Oriental drama was represented by a scene from the Japanese play "Fluttering Hands," in which he took two parts. Russian comedy was seen in the character from "The Tregedian in Spite of Himself." As the Roman Emperor Nero, he showed the Roman character.

The Lord Chancellor, from Gilbert and Sullivan's "Iolanthe" gave the light opera touch. As Andre in "The Final Call," he closed his evening with a tragic note.

Mr. Granville showed great ingenuity in his management of stage business and change of costumes and make-up. When he took two parts, he appeared in a spotlight on the darkened stage. He had his own lighting equipment. His assistant rendered evidently valuable assistance.

Better Baby Festival.
The local Modernmen of America, Camp No. 13885, will sponsor and conduct a Better Baby Festival in this city starting promptly at 2:30 p. m., Thursday, October 18th. Registration headquarters will be opened at 303 Evans Street, in Proctor Hotel buildings, where all names must be entered.

It is not necessary to bring baby at time of registering name. Every baby will be examined free of charge to parents by eminent physicians and nurses.

The Festival will culminate with a grand coronation ceremony, when all the prize winning future generation will be presented to the public and receive their awards.

The local officers of the camp are V. L. Baker, counsel; Jesse R. Boyd, secretary; W. G. Craft, secretary, and other local and rural men in the order.

The first set of twins entered receive gold prizes, the youngest baby entered and first out-of-town baby; and a silver loving cup to the first baby to be registered at 2:30 p. m., Thursday, October 18th.

Remember babies, no entry fee, no charge to register baby or have it scored. $200.00 worth of prizes will be awarded to the winners in the event.

Further information will be given at office and through these columns daily. Every baby in Greenville, Pitt County and vicinity invited to participate in this big baby event. Let Baby reign supreme for two weeks.

One-Act Plays At College
Three one-act plays have been selected for presentation by the students of East Carolina Teachers College at their first public performance under the direction of Miss Mary Dirnbarger, the new dramatic teacher. The bill, consisting of two native plays and a romance of the eighteenth century, have been scheduled for November 2.

"Cloey" was written by Mrs. Norretta Carroll Bailey, the author of "Jacob's Kinfolk" and "Strike Gold." The action takes place in the Winston-Salem of twenty years ago.

"Third Verse," a comedy of a small town newspaper office, was presented last season by the Carolina Playmakers as a part of their commencement program. It is said to be one of the most genuinely amusing pieces written locally for several years.

"Counsel Retained," having for its main character such colorful figures as Peg Woffington and Edmund Burke, offers a challenge to the students of costume and stage design.

Over two hundred students tried out for seven women and three men parts. Final selection will be made today. The committee on casting consisting of Miss Emma L. Hooper, Miss Dora Coates and Miss Mary Dirnbarger feel confident that three well-balanced casts can be chosen. The plays will go into rehearsal immediately.

The production on Friday, November 2, will be one of the regular features offered by the Student Entertainment Committee. As usual, there will be a number of seats reserved for townspeople of Greenville.

Dr. Slay Speaks To Students
Dr. R. J. Slay talked yesterday morning to the college students on the theme, "What Science Has Done to Drive Out Superstition." This was the second talk in a series to be given by the members of the college faculty at the semi-weekly chapel hour.

One of the greatest blocks in the development of civilization, Dr. Slay believes, has been superstition. He traced the slow progress made by scientists in their fight against ignorance and superstition, and selected one example from each of the last three centuries to show how superstition has been relieved by the discovery of the causes and cures of diseases.

These were: Edward Jenner, who conquered smallpox by developing a vaccine; Louis Pasteur who discovered the pasteurization of milk and experimented with hydrophobia; and Walter Reid, who drove out yellow fever by discovering the cause.

Before the eighteenth century there was no cure for smallpox, and ten out of every hundred people who died were victims of that disease. Jenner, by vaccination, greatly reduced the number of victims.

In the nineteenth century, because of the two things that he did, Louis Pasteur saved millions of lives and was often called the "Savior of France." On his seventieth birthday all the nations honored him in Paris.

Since the contribution of Walter Reid, of Virginia, the horrible epidemics of yellow fever that once threw the people into panics, and wiped out whole towns, are unknown, and yellow fever is only a matter of history.

WELFARE WORKERS HOLD MEETING TODAY
Elizabeth City, N. C., Oct. 17.—The Northeastern North Carolina District Welfare Conference ended here yesterday afternoon with the election of Mrs. John D. Whitford, of Craven County, secretary. A. H. Oulaw, Pasquotank relief administrator, is the retiring president.

Delegates from twenty-two northeastern counties heard relief officials during the day discuss variations of the theme, "Some Present-Day Problems in a Changing Social Program."

During the luncheon program Dr. T. A. Russell, of Portsmouth, Va., discussed "Local Programs for Juvenile Protection."

BROKE NARCOTIC LAW, IS GIVEN PRISON TERM
Wilson, N. C., Oct. 17.—Dr. J. A. Duguid, of Vanceboro, was sentenced by Federal Judge Isaac M. Meekins on Monday to eighteen months in the Federal Penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth for violating a probation promise of a year ago growing out of charges that he had broken the Harrison narcotic law. It was shown to the court that between January 1, 1933, and June of this year, the Vanceboro physician had disposed of 7,100 grains of morphine without keeping a record of distribution. Dr. Duguid said he had two patients to whom he gave two grains each every day, and that he used the rest himself, admitting that he frequently took as much as ten grains a day. He was given two weeks in which to settle his private affairs before being sent to prison.

Marian Gordon
by JEANNE ROWMAN

SYNOPSIS: While on their honeymoon, Marian and Lon find out that the tract of land Lon has been looking for to develop into a community of beautiful small homes for people of taste but no money. Lon and Marian are in their own home, and Lon is pushing work on the others when he learns that a secretary has been dumped with all the money back of the scheme. Marian tries to comfort Lon by the time-tried cake and coffee method—and drops the cake.

Marian, binoculars to her eyes, read the story in the droop of his shoulders as he left the car to open the gate, but rushed down to meet him with Hero.

"Meet one of the army of the unemployed," was Lon's greeting, as he stopped the car to let Marian and Hero join him.

"Lon," chided Marian, "you're conceited. Imagine a man thinking he could go into a strange town and pluck a fine job off the first tree."

"I tried more than one tree, lan," countered Lon seriously.

"Of course you did, dear, but you mustn't feel downhearted because you weren't successful the first try."

"I'm not downhearted because of that," he informed her, "but because of the attitude of the men I interviewed. They asked me why I didn't go back to Cleveland where I belonged. You see I had to tell them I came from here."

"Did you tell them you owned property here?"

"I told one man. He said if I had enough money to own property he'd better give his stray jobs to some poor devil who had nothing at all."

"Of course building is picking up again," Marian insisted, "and by fall it should be in some sort of shape."

They salvaged the cake, nibbled on it wondering if the broken glass plate had left any splinters in it. After the coffee pot was empty Marian curled up beside Lon on the divan.

Silence while the fire crackled, then—"You see lan," Lon began, "what worries me most is that I'm broke, flat broke. I was so sure I could wire for money and have it here within twenty-four hours that I paid cash for everything.

"The worst of it is, I gathered that crowd of unemployed fellows to do the road work and I haven't the money to meet the pay-roll Saturday night."

"How much do you need?"

"About five hundred dollars. I sounded Eaton out on a loan and you read the answer. I could try to mortgage this place, but mortgages on orchard land won't be looked upon with favor. I might try to sell the car but I don't believe I'd get that much and—"

"Lon, I have some money. The aunt who sent me to school left me a thousand dollars when she died. I've spent some of it, but I believe I have six or seven hundred dollars left."

"As if I could take money from you."

"YOU could borrow it," Marian insisted, "you could borrow it at five per cent. I'm only receiving four percent at the bank and it would be such fun to have you paying interest to me." She forced a laugh with some success.

"And where would I find the interest?" he asked, unconvinced.

"You'll find work right away," she assured him, "and Lon, it would be better to borrow it from me than to let those poor fellows do without their pay, wouldn't it? I have you to take care of me and they probably haven't anyone."

"If you'll look upon it as a business loan," he conceded and she noticed he had brightened perceptibly. "I'll go out and find myself a job in the morning."

Marian saw him off in the morning, running to the hilltop to wave with her wispy apron, and running back later in the day to watch for him.

The hours passed. Mount Diablo turned from purple to green and then to dark blue as the sun spanned the valley and moved on, and then into the road that led to their home came Lon's car.

"What worries me, lan, is that I'm broke."

"And how will we live until fall?" demanded Lon, a note of irritation in his voice.

He swung the car into the driveway and brought it to a stop before the house.

"Well, Lon, it's nearly July now, you have the nuts and fruit to harvest, we have food enough to last us for months and anytime we want to run up home we can have as much more—"

"I'm not living off your folks," interposed Lon.

Marian started to retaliate, then remembered it was the hurt pride of a man speaking, checked the words and put others in their place—"we can trade them prunes and walnuts without their knowing what it's for, can't we?"

"Don't worry, I'm not down to the barter and trade level yet."

"Lon, listen," Marian's red hair was beginning to bristle. "I think you're being a rotten sport. I know how you feel about the money. Lansing gave you the worst deal possible. But surely you have enough backbone to face it like a man. I don't like the way you're talking to me. My folks came out here in the early days when there was nothing but barter and trade and were glad they had something to exchange with the next fellow. I'll bet your mother's people did the same."

"I'm sorry, honey," he threw his arm around her shoulder and nuzzled his head down into the warmth of her hair. "I'm just so . . . so sunk at thinking that maybe I won't be able to keep you . . . gosh, it scares me. Suppose I lost you."

"Try to lose me and see how far you get with it," whispered Marian, divided between laughter and tears.

The storm blew over. They had their dinner, then went out to the hilltop to watch night move slowly into the valley, to watch the air beacon on Diablo flash its ruby and white beams.

Tomorrow, a bad penny returns.

might either suspend interest charges altogether or reduce them materially. Such a proposal by the President might well stymie the business.

Funds: Since the Marselles assassinations tossed sparks over the European powder box American advocates of universal peace are increasingly thankful that the last Congress passed the Johnson Act which forbids lending of American money to any foreign powers in arrears in their war debts.

Those who are highly anti-war-mind that all of the Continental nations are well prepared for further conflict, but none of them have the resources to sustain it as yet. They are hoping the potential belligerents will think twice before starting anything because of the knowledge Uncle Sam's purse-strings are drawn against them.

Hi Johnson, of California, may have had long vision when he put this particular act through.

Gamble: Plans of the Federal Relief Administration and the Veterans' Administration to take disabled veterans out of the cities and put them on government-built subsistence farms don't click very well with spokesmen for the more seriously wounded ex-service men.

out five-acre homesteads in lots of 10,000, that many more being made ready when the first are filled. Each vet who signs up will have $15 a month taken out of his compensation for fifteen years in payment.

Leaders of the disabled veterans point out these men are around 42 years old and city-bred. Their compensation averages $40 a month—although by eliminating the totally blind and wholly incapacitated they would get more than $30 a month.

No veteran will be taken unless he has a wife and two children. Those who speak for the vets here think it would be better to leave them in the cities where they can eke out a full subsistence with some familiar form of work. To turn them loose in the country with only $15 a month to support their families until they get acclimated, if ever, would be a long-shot gamble.

By JAMES McMULLIN

New York, Oct. 17—1934: New York insiders are paying close attention to RFC chairman Jesse Jones and the part he may play in future scenes of the national political drama. Informed circles speak with assurance of Jones' ambitions and there are a number of indications that he's busy frying his own fish. But it isn't quite clear on which side he's frying them.

His continued tenure of his RFC post and recent signs that he's been given broad authority to handle the railroad problem that he stands well at the White House and is cooperating to make the New Deal a success. But there are several bits of evidence which add up to quite a different total.

1.—It's known that Mr. Jones has lately been hobnobbing with enemies of the administration in many directions. Perhaps it's for the purpose of converting them but shrewd observers are skeptical.

2.—Backstages of the stop-Roosevelt movement before the 32 convention talk about Jones in favorable terms. New York learns that conservative southern Democrats are especially friendly and some of them regard him as their best hope to "bring the party back to its senses."

3.—Insiders understand that Jones has privately befriended Democrats who got in wrong with the powers-that-be. Men who have been eased out of government jobs for boring the New Deal from within have sometimes been taken care of by banks under the Jones influence.

4.—Sources with close Washington contact hear that some of the Silver Senators will demand a thorough probe of the RFC—along the lines of the munitions investigation—when Congress meets. They aim to spotlight Jesse Jones' operations. The move will not be intended as a slap at FDR—quite the reverse. The silver statesmen have no reason to be anything but grateful to the President.

Piece these together and what do you get? The possibility that Mr. Jones may be the medium for repeating Palmer-Buckner strategy years later. It's a solid gold cinch he could have strong political and financial backing. You can take it as assured that powerful utility interests would support his candidacy under such circumstances. 1936 is still remote but already there's talk that Jones might pull a Theodore Roosevelt and walk out on that year's Democratic slate. The object of course would be to elect Jones then to beat Franklin Roosevelt.

Financial men who figure this way make no claim of being infallible prophets but they do say the RFC chief's activities are well worth watching.

Politics: A big-time New York Republican recently told associates at a private party meeting up-state that the last thing they should hope for was victory in 1936. He believes that business conditions will still be so adverse following the next inauguration that the party in power will be on the spot and probably headed for an overturn in 1940. He added that he didn't think the G. O. P. need lose sleep about winning too soon because he can see nothing but Roosevelt re-election in '36 barring an earthquake.

His views on Republican comeback prospects are born out by an analysis of election statistics for the past 60 years. If these can be accepted as reliable guides the Republicans will have little or nothing to show for their efforts this fall. The analytical oracle further forecasts a Roosevelt victory in '36 by a reduced plurality, a tremendous Congressional turnover in '38 and a sweeping Republican triumph in '40.

The swing-back is estimated to reach so far by then that the devil himself could win for the elephant. The wizard at figures has it all worked out that bright young people will take off their coats and dig in during these thin years. He says the rewards will be sweet.

Elements: But astute New Yorkers mention two factors which make past performance look silly as a basis for prophecy. One is the woman's vote which—as pointed out here recently—tends to string with the New Deal's social consciousness. It is growing in volume with each election.

The other is the restriction on immigration effective since '21. Imported labor was a boon to vested interests. It was cheap and hard to organize. It had little interest in social problems and couldn't vote anyway. Now it is being replaced by its children and grandchildren—who can vote and who have a strong background of antagonism to the old system. Women and labor are political elements which will be increasingly potent in future elections.

Dogs: There's been quite a flurry

STATE READY FOR BATTLE WITH FLORIDA

Fair Example

Beauty must be a common characteristic among the girls of Stoneleigh college at Rye, N. H., if that school's choice of "typical" girl of the current college year is to be taken as any criterion. The young lady is Jane Sampson of Worcester, Mass., an artist and good student as well as the school's shining example. (Associated Press Photo)

College Station, Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 17.—Every second of daylight is being used by Coach Hunk Anderson these cool October afternoons in getting the State College Wolfpack ready for its games Saturday with Florida at Tampa. Daily drills start promptly at 4:30 o'clock and campus buildings are nothing but shadowy objects when drills end several hours later. "We will practice until we can't see the ball," Coach Anderson tells the Wolves as they begin each afternoon's work. State fears Florida, especially its pass defense led by Billy Chase, a junior, who, according to Ed Kosky, State's end coach, is one of the best passers in the South. "He is a great passer," Kosky says, "one of those who can flip passes accurately at close or long range." Chase completed fourteen passes against Tulane Saturday and the heaves netted Florida 206 yards. One pass scored a touchdown. The stage for another was when three were completed in succession. Spot Kosky's praise of State's opponent did not end with the ability of Chase as a passer. "Florida has a fine team. It has a big, hard and fast charging line, and some of the best backs you will find in the South." Although beaten, 28-12, by Tulane, Kosky says there was not much to choose between the two teams. Because of Florida's exceptionally fine pass offense, Coach Anderson is stressing pass defense this week. "Our pass defense has not been so successful this season, and unless it is improved, Chase is likely to pass Florida to a win," Anderson says. "Should State check Chase in the air, the Wolves still have to content with him as a runner. And there is that driving fullback, Charlie Stolz, who was one of the best line-crackers to face State in 1933. There is one thing about never leaving the old home town. You miss the opportunity of startling the natives by coming back all dressed and a big, powerful car.

PREDICT GAME ON SATURDAY BE ANYBODY'S

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 17.—Anybody's gall game is the prediction of Coaches Mac Reed and Walter Skidmore, who scouted Kentucky for Carolina. The colorful Homecoming battle here Saturday will mark the first time that teams of two institutions have clashed on the gridiron since 1903. "The two teams should stack up on even terms," was the opinion expressed by the two Tar Heel coaches after seeing Kentucky in its 7 to 0 defeat. "All of which probably means," they think, "that superior effort and fight will determine the winner Saturday."

Coach Reed and Skidmore, of course, could not judge as to the improvement the Tar Heels displayed in their 14-0 upset of Georgia, one of the Southeastern Conference favorites.

But they did see how good Kentucky looked, and they make allowance for the fact that the Tar Heels might have caught Georgia napping and might have been playing over their heads Saturday.

"Kentucky is big and fast and has a fine ooking squad physically," they reported.

Tar Heel scouts waxed eloquent about three or four of the Wildcat stars, and especially "Man D'War" Johnson, 185-pound triple-threat halfback, whom the Blue Grass people are likening to the great Bo McMillan.

They also told the Tar Heels plenty about Captain Rupert, end; James center; Pritchard, fullback; and Wagner and Jobe, tackles.

Rupert was All-Southern Conference last year. Wagner was thought by Kentucky partisans to have outplayed Duke's Freddie Crawford last year. Jobe at 227 pounds is the fastest lineman on the squad.

The Tar Heels are working hard this week to lay a defense for the powerful, wide-open Kentucky attack, as mapped out by Chet Wynne, ex-Notre Dame star, who made a fine record at Auburn. Coach Snavely is paying particular attention to pass defense; Reed and Skidmore think the Kentucky serial attack will be more dangerous than Georgia's.

England is faced with the problem of raising enough food for her needs, instead of having a surplus, as in the United States. She is now making a detailed survey of the island with the aid of 22,000 volunteer surveyors.

May Quit School For Federal Post

The appointment of Robert M. Hutchins (above), president of the University of Chicago, to the chairmanship of the national labor relations board appeared imminent after he had talked with President Roosevelt. (Associated Press)

Would Rest First. Mrs. Nagger—I suppose if I were to die tomorrow, you'd marry some other woman immediately.

Mr. Nagger—Not right away. I'd take a little rest first.

With Doug Nott back for his last year of football, the University of Detroit will feature a passing game this fall. Last year Nott completed 53 passes for total gains of 1,092 yards.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, D. C.—If predictions of the Democratic high command that the next Congress will have the smallest percentage of Republicans since pre-Civil War days prove true, a very real and serious problem will confront the party.

And that problem will be one of leadership. That wise old veteran on Capitol Hill—Jack Gardner—in his valedictory to the House before he moved over to become presiding officer of the Senate, made this significant statement:

"As a Democrat I am naturally clated that we have as many of the brethren as we have in the House. But, in my opinion, the ideal balance would be a majority of 50 or 60 whether they be Democrats or Republicans."

Garner was speaking from long experience in the handling of majorities and minorities in a House of Congress. No one knows better than he how difficult it is to hold members in line when the number is so large.

Danger of 'Revolt'. Administration leaders in the last Congress still remember with something closely akin to a shudder some of the narrow escapes they had in the last Congress. More than once revolt threatened and in some instances succeeded.

Don't Trifle With Coughs. Don't let them get a strangle hold. Fight them quickly. Creomulsion combines 7 helps in one. Powerful but harmless. Pleasant to take. No narcotics. Your own druggist is authorized to refund you money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion. (adv.)

This despite the fact that during a large part of the last Congress the administration had at its disposal that most powerful weapon for keeping party lines taut—patronage.

Patronage will not play as conspicuous a part in the next Congress as it did in the last for the simple reason that "Big Jim" Farley's pie counter is not as well stocked as it was at the beginning. The burden, therefore, of steering the administration's program safely through will rest squarely on the shoulders of a virile and aggressive leadership in both Houses.

Experienced Leaders Only. The way the Democratic chieftains have figured out is that the Republicans will have only about twenty-five seats in the Senate and fewer than one hundred seats in the House in the next Congress. That estimate depends upon conditions remaining as they are until election time.

With that preponderant majority almost anything is likely to happen. The House has powerful machinery in its rules of procedure to force recalcitrants into line. At the same time, application of these rules depends on the willingness of the membership itself.

Faced with such a situation the White House, whether it desires to go so or not, might find it absolutely imperative to see that only those who have demonstrated their capacity to lead in the past shall be entrusted with leadership in the future.

U. S. TOURISTS PASS UP WINES IN FRANCE

Paris.—(AP)—A French hotel director, who has made a study of drinking habits, says ice water is the favorite drink of Americans who come to France, and not cocktails or wine.

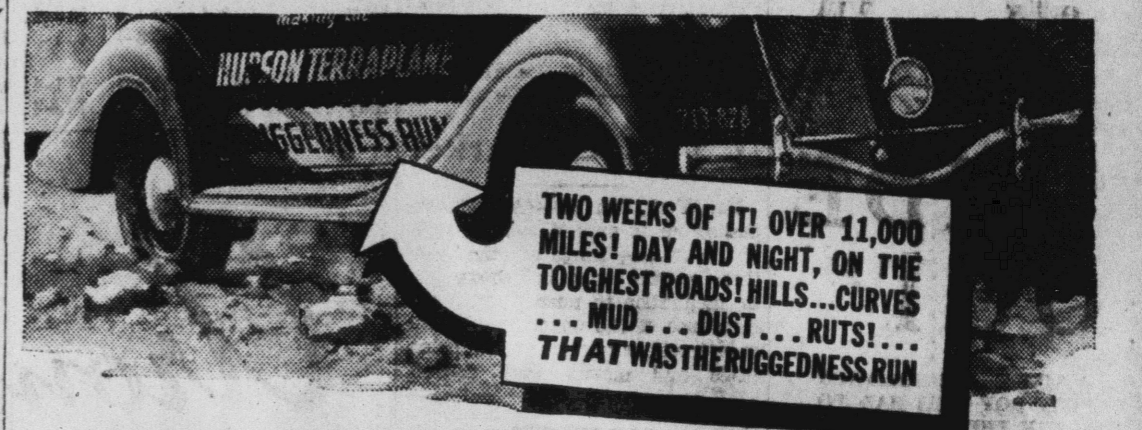

As an example, he cites a group of Americans from twenty-five States who stayed at his hotel for a week. Out of 125, only fifteen drank anything but water, he says, and some of these took iced tea.

"During prohibition," he says, "many Americans believed it their duty to experiment with the wine card. Now that Americans can legally drink whatever they wish in their own country, they have relapsed into their water-drinking habits.

"When Americans dine alone in Paris, water is usually the beverage on the table, although you see milk and iced tea occasionally. When they are accompanied by French friends, a bottle of wine is ordered, but the Frenchmen usually drink it alone.

WHAT A POUNDING THIS CAR TOOK!

Comes through stiffest Ruggedness Test of ALL time in perfect condition—Ready for more

They said it couldn't be done. But the Ruggedness Car did it! An actual owner's car—a Hudson-built Terraplane—with a year's mileage already to its credit—took more than another year's punishment in 14 days and finished in A-1 condition! Day and night this car swung around a giant course, picked because it offered the toughest going to be found in this section of the country. Over "unclimbable" hills—through rain, mud, sand and dust—roads most drivers avoid if they can. What proof of ruggedness this is!

The "Ruggedness Cars" Are Here For You To Drive. A car that can "take it" like this is the kind of car you want to own. We have them at our showrooms—cars exactly like it—waiting for you to see and drive. Cars that have challenged all comers to public tests of economy, hill climbing and all-around performance—and have beaten those that dared accept. Cars that hold scores of official AAA stock records.

They have the same power that carried the Ruggedness Car triumphantly through its two-week grind. The same smooth riding, speed and flashing getaway that made 1,000-mile days possible on this run.

Come in and see them. Drive them. Ask for the sworn affidavits of owners, showing that this is the kind of performance you can expect from any Hudson-built car.

Contest Still Open! Win a Terraplane! Other Valuable Prizes! There is still time for you to enter the Slogan Contest—and win a valuable prize. A brand-new Hudson-built Terraplane for the best slogan and the best explanation of Hudson Terraplane ruggedness! Cash and merchandise prizes, too! But this contest closes in a few days. Enter now. Get entry blank and complete information at any Hudson Terraplane showroom.

VANN MOTORS, Inc'

"I knew that car of mine could take it!"

"I knew what it could do, because I'd already driven it 9,724 miles before they took it for this Ruggedness Run. But, at that, I didn't look for quite as amazing a record as this. Think of it—over 11,000 miles on all kinds of roads, in all kinds of weather, over the toughest going in three states—all in 14 days! Great performance by a great automobile."

"I'd like to see any other brand new—match the performance of this year-old Terraplane. If you want proof of RUGGEDNESS, you needn't look further."

New York Cotton

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady two to four higher on steeper Liverpool cables which were largely offset by favorable weather.

General business was quiet but the market continued steady after the call and there was scattered demand which seemed to be coming partly from Wall Street.

December sold up to 12.45 and May to 12.62 with active months ruling around four to seven higher at the end of the first half hour.

Business was quiet later in the morning and prices sagged off slightly under scattered southern selling or realizing and liquidation. Offerings were taken by the trade and the market was quiet but fairly steady around midday.

December sold off to 12.40 and May to 12.57 back with in a point or two of yesterday's closing quotations.

YUGOSLAVIA CLAIMING CENTENARIAN RECORD

Belgrade, Yugoslavia.—Yugoslavia claims to have more centenarians than any other country in the world of equal size. More than eighty per cent of the native Mithuselahs are men.

The country's oldest woman is 106. She is Majsto Erisinich and lives on a little Dalmatian Island with her goats, chickens, dogs and cats. Like Mahatma Gandhi, she lives largely on goat's milk, to which she attributes her long life. She smokes a pipe, as do many Balkan peasant women, but never touches alcohol. She has never seen a lip-stick, nor has she ever listened to the radio or seen the movies.

Off Light
 Wilson, N. C., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Two men and a woman wanted in connection with the kidnaping of W. J. Morrisette, Federal agent's aide in Currituck County, surrendered here today, pled guilty and were given sentences ranging from five years on probation to $1 fine. The three were Roy Coppersmith, Sykes Forbes and Margaret Parker. Coppersmith was sentenced by Judge I. M. Meeks to five years under probation; Forbes to two years under probation, and the woman was fined $100.

Morrisette was taken from his home about 4 o'clock on the morning of August 5, beaten and held captive two and a half hours by six

"Full Feeling" After Meals

Here is how Thedford's Black-Draught proved helpful to Mrs. Archie W. Brown, of Fort Green, Fla.: "I have taken Black-Draught when I have felt dull from over-eating or eating too hurriedly," he writes. "Small doses right after meals rid me of gases and heavy feeling. I am a great believer in Black-Draught."

Aromatic Turkish tobacco

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna . . . in the fertile fields of Macedonia . . . from the shores of the Black Sea . . . that's where the best kinds grow . . . the kinds used in making Chesterfields.

THERE are about as many kinds of Turkish tobacco as there are kinds of apples—but they all have a spicy aroma and flavor which seems to "season" a cigarette better than any other kind that grows.

The right Turkish is costly—but it adds something to Chesterfield's milder better taste.

When you go on your next cruise, stop at Smyrna and visit our tobacco factory. We think you will find it interesting.
