Officers Seek Man Philadelphia Area As Stoll Kidnapper

Delaware Police Say Thomas R. Robinson Was One of Three Men in Auto That Eluded Officers this Morning

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 19.—(AP)—A man believed to be the kidnapper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll roared toward Philadelphia at seventy miles an hour today with Delaware State police in pursuit. Search for the car containing three men was concentrated in southwestern Philadelphia and adjoining towns.

Delaware police who chased the car for more than ten miles said they are certain one of the trio in it was Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., who is the subject of an intensive search throughout the southern and eastern section of the country. The car was sighted last in Marcus Hook, a Delaware River town, about midway between Philadelphia and Wilmington, Delaware. It was said to be carrying Maryland license plates.

Motorcycle police and police squads in radio cars started a systematic search in southwest Philadelphia. Township authorities ordered lookouts in upper Rarby and Eddystone. Robinson is charged with holding Mrs. Stoll for $50,000 ransom which her family paid before she was returned safely to her Louisville, Ky. home a few days ago.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 19.—(AP)—With the finding near Wartburg, Tennessee, today of two five dollar bills bearing serial numbers listed in the ransom money paid for the release of Mrs. Bery V. Stoll, the possibility arose that Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., accused of her kidnapping might be headed for his home here. Wartburg, county seat of Morgan County, in the Cumberland mountains near Petros, is on the airline highway which runs from Cincinnati to Chattanooga. Robinson has been reported as seen in Ohio.

The two were bills detected by H. W. Summers, president of the Citizens Bank and Trust Company. One had been taken in by a Wartburg garage.

Meanwhile the father of the kidnapper, Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., sat on the porch of his home here apprehensively awaiting some news of his son's fate on the far-flung man hunt.

Only Two Wrecks Reported Last Night

Only two automobile wrecks were reported in this county last night, and while both resulted in damage to cars, neither inflicted any serious injuries to occupants of the cars.

Berry Bostic en route to this city from Kinston late last night overturned his car near Ayden when he put on brakes to stop his car when a tire went flat. It was raining at the time and Mr. Bostic said when he applied the brakes the car cut a few capers on the wet road and then turned over.

The other accident was that of M. J. Moe, of this city, who crashed into the guard rail at the Serve-U Filling Station at the intersection of the Farmville and Winterville highways just west of this city. His car was badly damaged, but he escaped injury.

Potato Shaped Like Pigeon

With the digging of the sweet potato crop in this county each fall there appear potatoes in various and sundry shapes. The first such freak potato of the season was received by The Reflector this morning when Allgood Warren, who resides on Greenville Route No. 2, brought in a potato shaped like a pigeon, and just about the same size. The "bird" is almost a perfect specimen with the exception of the feet that have been supplied in the form of match sticks.

Mr. Warren stated that while his potato crop was not as large this year as in some previous years, the yield is normal and the potatoes the finest he has ever raised.

Watch Out For Counterfeit $10

Local bankers today warned the public to watch out for counterfeit $10 bills that have made their appearance in this community. While some of these bogus bills have found their way into circulation, they are described as poor imitations and are easily detected if the person receiving same will give a close look.

There was a time when a man thought he had to fight everybody who disagreed with him.

Late News Flashes

German War Leader Dead.

Berlin, Oct. 19.—(AP)—General Alexander von Kluck, the German who nearly captured Paris, died at his home today. He was 88 years of age. The aged field marshal had been saddened by the death of his only grandchild, Alexandra, who suffered fatal injuries in a motor accident at Bordeaux last March. Von Kluck's name stood out among those of German military leaders as those whose forces nearly took Paris in 1914.

The 85th birthday of the old fighter May 20, 1931, was signified by a great demonstration by his former comrades. Von Kluck celebrated at his suburban home at Gruenwald with members of his family where he received loads of flowers, letters and telegrams. The late President Von Hindenburg sent an autographed photograph with cordial congratulations.

Accuses Another

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Council for Rufus Satterfield, of Goldsboro, who faces death in the electric chair next Friday for the alleged murder of Herbert Grice, exploded a surprise in the public hearing before Parole Commissioner Edwin M. Gill today by introducing a statement purporting to have been signed by Satterfield accusing Donald Sasser, of Goldsboro, of having confessed he accidentally

A. M. WATERS DIED EARLY THIS MORNING

Prominent Resident Of Winterville Section Succumbed to Long Illness

Ad M. Waters, 62, died at 12:30 this morning at his home, the Meek in Move home-place, near Winterville. Mr. Waters had been ill for a long time, and the end was not unexpected. Funeral services will be conducted at the home Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. J. B. Moe, of Snow Hill, pastor of Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church and Rev. M. A. Woodward, of Winterville. The music will be in charge of Rev. R. P. Pittman, of Ayden. Interment will be in the Nobles family burying ground near the home.

Mr. Waters was a native of Beaufort County, but came to the Winterville section thirty-five years ago to make his home. About thirty-six years ago he married Miss Zula Moe, of Winterville section. He was widely known throughout the county.

He is survived by his wife, nine sons, A. Moe, Jr., Wiley Dal. Clarence, Ola Roy, S. J. Dalwin, Jack and Wilson Waters, and two daughters, Mrs. C. B. Harris and Mrs. Willie Carroll. Survivors also include several grandchildren.

The pallbearers will be as follows: Active: B. S. Warren, Edgar Duke, Allen Moe, George Dal. Ed. Smith, Henry Smith, and Roy Cox.

Honorary: Malachi Vincent, W. H. Dal. George Rouse, A. W. Ange, D. C. Davenport, Charlie Little, Ernest Langston, Charlie Langston, W. S. Moe, Jack Moe, George Edwards, Herman McLowhorn, R. M. Growing Interest In Revival Here

The Erickson revival, corner of Third and Cotanche Streets, is taking on considerable new life and the interest is growing nightly.

Last night, Evangelist Erickson based his remarks on the third verse of the 33rd chapter Jeremiah, and discussed the results of praying the prayer of faith.

Satan prevents victory until God steps in. Has God stepped into your life? Asked the evangelist. If not, why not?

Come to the tent in night at 7:30 o'clock and see about it. No service Saturday night.

POLITICS IS GOOD CIRCUS PRICE SAYS

Washington Observer Says Politics Has all Essentials of Good Show

By BRYON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

It is an old figure of speech to refer to politics as a three-ring circus, but the description is so appropriate that it does not grow tiresome with repetition.

Look at the political situation today. Was there ever a circus better equipped with what it takes to thrill and amuse the public—bitter savagery with living specimens of the wild and the woolly, freaks of nature, magicians and soothsayers, tight-rope walkers and tumblers, ballyhoo artists, clown and tramp followers?

Under the political big top there are grim-visaged statesmen who look for all the world like lions in their native State, but turn out to be only toothless matrices performers when the ring-masters cracks the whip.

There are men as wild as any who ever came from Borneo, nor as pordorous as elephant men as well-schooled as the best trained seal men as funny to intelligent folks as any slapstick artist who ever lived.

The writer of this dispatch names no names, but the reader will be able to.

'Gigantic Mystery Act'

The stupendous special feature of the 1934 bill is a gigantic mystery act, performed in duplicate.

As the campaign progresses the contrasts and outright contradictions present within each of the two major party organizations become plainer and plainer.

Here names can be named, because the principals themselves proudly display their party labels. On the Democratic side are, among others, Carter Glass, Sifton Sinclair and Theodore Bilbo. On the Republican side are Herbert Hoover, William E. Borah, and Fiorello LaGuardia.

The great mystery is, what holds them together? And especially, what holds them together when both party groups are suspended in mid-air, whirling around at a terrific rate, and themselves uncertain where they will land and what the outcome of the act really will be?

It is a question no layman would undertake to answer.

Republicans Also Far Apart

The tremendous spread of opinion in the Democratic party, now once more enlarged to bring into the fold the "epic" movement in California, has been treated in detail heretofore in these columns.

That Republicans are at least as far apart as Democrats in their outlook on the present situation is demonstrated by two recent events.

The Maryland Republican State Convention adopted a platform denouncing Governor Ritchie for not having co-operated more closely with the Roosevelt administration which was, at least by inference, thus defended against alleged disloyalty on the part of the Democrats of Maryland.

If anything more surprising could be conceived, it is the action of Republican headquarters in Washington a few days later. It issued a pamphlet denouncing the President on a charge of attempting to destroy the Democratic party and, at least by inference, defending that party against alleged disloyalty on the part of the administration.

Coolidge Words Recalled

The late Mr. Coolidge, in his posthumous article in the Saturday Evening Post, predicted the Republican party would survive its 1932 defeat by making itself a party to "useful" criticism.

But those words were written nearly two years ago. Much has happened since. Surely no one then could foresee that Republican criticism in 1934 would include a joint debate among Republicans as to what constitutes Democratic loyalty.

Laughinghouse Rites Yesterday Largely Attended

The funeral of W. M. Laughinghouse who died at his home in the Cox Mill section Wednesday, was held yesterday afternoon with a large attendance and a beautiful floral tribute. The services were conducted by Rev. J. C. Giffin and interment was made at the Henry Jordan Williams' cemetery in the Cox Mill section. Appropriate music was rendered by a quartette composed of Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley, Mrs. J. H. Gaylor and S. N. Walters and Prince Burroughs.

THROUGH IN SNOW MOURNS KING

This Associated Press radiophoto shows the casket containing the body of the assassinated King Alexander of Yugoslavia, as it was borne ashore from the destroyer Dubrovnik at Split, Yugoslavia. A great crowd of people poured into Begrade for the royal funeral. So overtaken was the city's ability to afford shelter that thousands faced intense suffering in a bitter snow storm.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

By GEORGE DURNO

Washington, Oct. 19.—Peace: A year ago—even six months ago—our State Department officials always waited apprehensively for the diplomatic mail pouches from the Far East to arrive. They had visions of Japan and Russia flying at each other's throats any minute. Surface and sub-surface developments were pointing toward imminent trouble.

Cour statesmen are now breathing more easily. Latest confidential dispatches indicate the war clouds have lifted.

Sudden completion of Russia's side of the Chinese Eastern railroad, over which Tokyo and Moscow had been haggling for fifteen months, did the trick.

American diplomats in the Far East report that this sale proves conclusively neither Russia nor Japan ever really wanted trouble with each other.

Had Japan wanted to start something she easily could have smothered the railway. Equally, Russia could have found justification a dozen times for coming in to protect her property.

These closest to the situation now foresee a great economic cooperation between the two nations. Only a fraction of the purchase price will be paid in gold, the balance standing as Russian credit for buying all manner of Japanese goods. In fact the Japs may well walk off with a lot of the Russian business that American firms had hoped to acquire along with recognition.

Politically, sale of the Chinese Eastern means Russian de facto recognition of the "Empire of Manchoukuo". It was that puppet state, acting as a nation, which was the technical purchaser of the important line.

Diplomatic dispatches now predict the long deferred Russo-Japanese pact of non-aggression will be announced as unexpectedly as was the end of the railway dickering. And when the Japanese Emperor's own seal goes on such a treaty the Nippon militarists will respect it whether they want to or not.

The extremely able Shigeru Yoshida is now traveling quietly around Europe as Foreign Minister Hirota's personal proxy. It's his job to sidestep red tape and talk cold turkey with the men who really count. Observer at the scene are certain his chief business in Moscow has been to oil the skids for a smooth appearance of the non-aggression treaty.

Report, Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes is taking to the stump to answer Republican criticism of the manner in which Public Works money has been expended. His trip will take him pretty well around the country.

Ickes opens tonight in Pittsburgh. His Washington aids say he is going to slam back hard at the Pennsylvania G. O. P. organization which has been saying the State failed to get its just share of allotments.

Primarily the embattled Public Works Administrator is going after W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad and a powerful factor in Republican politics. The Pennsylvania Railroad got $80,000,000 form PWA (much of which has been repaid) but before making the loan Ickes insisted that exorbitant salaries be cut materially.

Atterbury's annual pay check was $150,000 to a mere $60,000. Ickes thinks snubs the General has "personal reasons" for his present political attitude and plans to say so tonight.

Barred? Stories have been printed speculating on the possibility of General Hugh S. Johnson setting up shop here in Washington and cashing in on his intimate knowledge of NRA and its workings. As the yards went, he would become a "consultant" for industries having vital dealings with the Blue Eagle.

Since Johnson finally served his turbulent connection with NRA he has taken office space in a downtown office building. It is hardly conceivable, however, that he will undertake to represent big business before the alphabetical baby he nursed to near-maturity.

It was Johnson himself who laid down a stringent order that former employes of NRA be barred from the offices if they attempted to come back as agents of any special interest. The way that order read it would apply to the General also—unless the new setup should see fit to rescind it.

Prices: Rumors, pro and con, about possibility of further gold devaluation and other inflationary moves are flying around Washington thicker than bees in honey time. One day its going to happen and the next day it isn't.

Some observers suspect the Administration of paying a very cozy game in this respect. If true, the idea would be to get prices up a little more through the psychological effect of having inflation talked about without necessarily materializing.

Don't forget that the President's order nationalizing silver provided a 90-day period in which the government was supposed to pick up all the loose metal in this country. That 90 days expires right after election. Thus far the steps taken with

INSULL SOLD HIS WORRIES TO THE PUBLIC

Prosecutors Describe Stock Issues as Only A Bag of Insull Worries

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 19.—(AP)—That Samuel Insull, Sr., packed up his troubles in his old kit bag and then sold the bag to the public, is the gist of the mail fraud case which prosecutors are now pushing laboriously into its final phases.

They put this construction on the management of the last company organized by Insull, Corporation Securities Corporation of America, an investment trust company whose sales reached $100,000,000 in stocks. U. S. Attorney Dwight H. Green has piled up his case on two connected points, the first that the corporation was used to hold Insull's worries and second that it held little else.

PRESIDENT TO LAY OFF BONUS ISSUE

Observers Do Not Believe Subject Will Be Mentioned in Roanoke Address

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Veteran's affairs came to the front today as President Roosevelt turned toward historical Virginia to dedicate a $1,700,000 hospital for ex-service men at Roanoke. His short speech planned for late this afternoon comes only three days before the American Legion convention at Miami where the question of payment of the soldiers' bonus may bob up immediately.

There was some speculation as to whether Mr. Roosevelt would touch upon the issue. Close advisers did not look for any mention of it. At least they felt that the word bonus would be nowhere in the ten or fifteen minutes address. It was believed thought that the President would give a reassuring message to needy war veterans.

From Roanoke he goes tonight to colonial Williamsburg now being restored to its seventeenth century state. He and Governor P. Peery, of Virginia, will receive honorary degrees from the 241-year-old college of William and Mary tomorrow as its inaugurates its new president John Stewart Bryan, Richmond publisher.

HONEY, EASILY DIGESTED, HELD QUICK ENERGY FOOD

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—If you want quick energy, eat honey. So advises the Department of Agriculture in explaining the food value of this bee product.

Not only is honey sweet to the taste, but it can be absorbed almost immediately into the blood stream to provide energy without any tax on the digestive system.

Most foods must be digested or broken down into simpler substances before they can be utilized as fuel by the body. It is this not true of honey. It is composed of two simple sugars, dextrose and levulose, which can be absorbed directly into the blood stream without any difficult digestive process.

This fact explains why honey is a desirable sweetening in foods for infants, invalids and aged persons.

War Clouds Gather On European Horizon As Troops Concentrate

Seeks His Parents

Identified as Morris Jensen, although he denies that is his name, this 21-year-old youth of Barre, Vt., believes he was kidnaped from the home of wealthy parents in Chicago when he was four years old. He has instigated a search for his "real parents." His foster parents say the boy was given them by a woman in Chicago. (Associated Press Photo)

Yugoslavia Reported To be Placing Troops on Hungarian Border; Hungary Says Ultimatum Foolish

Maribor, Yugoslavia, Oct. 19.—(AP)—An unconfirmed report from a usually reliable source said today that Yugoslavia was concentrating troops along the Hungarian border. Neutral observers regarded the situation along the Hungarian-Yugoslavian front as dangerous.

Four former opponents of the regime of King Alexander were freed today from the government ban against them. They are Dr. Korolshetz, former Premier of Yugoslavia; Dr. Kulovec, Dr. Nataka and Dr. Obrizec. It was generally believed here that a general amnesty should be granted all Croatian leaders in prison. The release of these four prominent leaders was viewed here as the inauguration of a "new deal" in Yugoslavian politics, and was the death of the harsh military regime instituted by King Alexander.

The amnesty affecting Croatian leaders at present in jail is expected to be extended to a large number of Croatian leaders living abroad. The liberation of Dr. Korolshetz, once Alexander's premier and later one of his most formidable opponents, was regarded as an expression of the regency's announced policy to bring real political peace and unity among the racial groups of the kingdom of the Croates, Serbs and Slaves.

Budapest, Hungary, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Premier Julius Goemboes said today Hungary "is entirely guiltless of any connection with the foul crime" of King Alexander's assassination.

"We can prove we never harbored the king's murderer or any other assassin," he said, "and the idea of Yugoslavia serving an ultimatum on us is too puerile to discuss."

Yugoslavia has good reason to remember it was an ultimatum served on old Serbia that provoked the World War. Surely she does not wish to set Europe on fire again.

Goemboes left for Warsaw for important political and economic conferences with the Polish government.

Mrs. W. M. James Died Yesterday

Mrs. W. M. James, 28, of the Stokes section of the county, died about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon after several months' illness. Funeral services followed at the family burying ground near Stokes.

She is survived by her husband and one small daughter. Other survivors include her father, R. P. Singleton, a brother, Benjamin Singleton, and a sister, Mrs. Lillie Whitfield, all of the Stokes community.

New Theatre To Be Ready January 1st

Work on Greenville's new theater being erected by C. H. Edwards of this city is progressing nicely and expectations are that the playhouse will be formally opened to the public the first of January.

T. Y. Walker, manager of State Theater, and who will have charge of the new theaters throughout the State, stated today that the name of the new playhouse here would be Pitt Theater. The theater when completed will be one of the most modern in this section of the State. In addition to its seating capacity of about 900 persons, there will be a mezzanine with lounge for the ladies and rest rooms for the men.

The first and most comfortable seating equipment obtainable will be used in the new theater, Mr. Walker said, and the sound equipment to be made especially for this building will be the very best that can be bought.

Contrary to rumors that the new theater will replace Greenville's present theater, Mr. Walker announced that his concern would continue operation of State Theater as well as operate the new one, thereby giving Greenville two up-to-date theaters showing the newest pictures at all times.

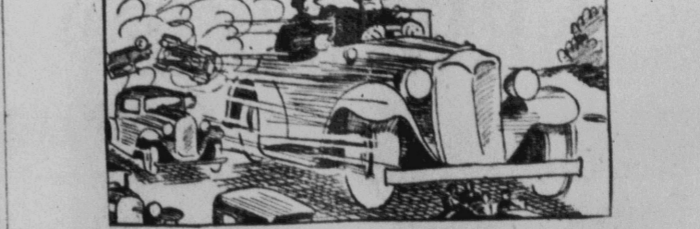

Foreman Save Baby

Oklahoma City, Okla.—(AP)—The Oklahoma fire department saved the life of a five-month-old baby, suffering from pneumonia and whooping cough, after sixteen days' treatment with an inhalator.

He is said to have worn out three bicycles and four automobiles during his service, won a fight to establish a church on a lot contested for by wealthy liquor interests, and delivered an average of four sermons a week for the forty-seven years he has spent in the ministry.

Prof. A. B. Sherry, head of the forestry department of Kansas State College, warned farmers normal around water conditions following the drought might not return for two years.

DRIVE CAREFULLY TODAY

THE SUPER HAZARD

For every bit of additional headway made by the "weaving driver" scores of other operators are endangered and thrown into confusion. Streets and highways are built and maintained for the use and convenience of all the motorists. The chief hazards are created by a small percentage of drivers who act as if these facilities had been constructed for their exclusive use. One survey shows that 5 per cent of the motor vehicle operators cause 35 per cent of the traffic fatalities. Be sure you are not one of the "reckless minority."

LARGE CROWD AT THE FAIR LAST NIGHT

Gala Week Ends Tomorrow With Free Admission to School Children.

Low hanging clouds did not keep the people from attending the Greater Greenville Fair in operation in Greenville this week.

Thousands poured into the gates to enjoy the sensational free acts, including the high diver, Bee Kyle; Vera Spriggs, the aerial artist; the Howards in their high bicycle acts; Billy Senior and his trained dogs and ponies; the Wild West rodeo and Kaus United Shows. While the midway was crowded, all seemed to be in good humor and were having a good time.

Only two more days of the fair—today and Saturday. All white school children will be admitted to the grounds free up to 5 o'clock Saturday. The shows will put on special attractions for the kiddies again. On account of some of the schools not getting out early last Tuesday, the fair management decided to have the children as guests of the fair again Saturday.

Last night the feature of the night's program was the merchants' popularity contest, participated in by about fifteen of Greenville merchants, represented by as many young ladies. These young ladies were voted on last night by the grandstand audience and the winners will be announced Saturday night at nine o'clock, and first prize will be $10, second $5, and third prize $2.50. Jack Steele will feature in his daredevil stunt Saturday afternoon and night, when he crashes through a board wall and a glass wall at a rate of about 50 miles an hour on his motorcycle. This will be his last appearance in this section of the State, as he will immediately return to the movies after his contract with the Eastern Carolina

Chamber of Commerce. The Greater Greenville Fair is being sponsored by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, and whatever profits are made, if there be any, will be used in the furtherance of Eastern Carolina development program which this organization has fostered since 1922.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood, Calif.—First of the new "Charles Dickens Cycle" to reach the screen is "Great Expectations," and it brings with it the notable talkie debuts of two notable stage stars, Henry Hull and Florence Reed.

It also brings—"right out of the book"—an assemblage of Dickensian characters engaged in a typically complicated Dickensian plot, with Phillips Holmes, Alan Hale, Francis L. Sullivan, Walter Armitage and George Breakston, the lad of "No Greater Glory," etching anew some well-remembered portraits, and one of the newer screen charmers, Jane Wyatt, registering effectively.

This story of the little common boy who became a young man of "Great Expectations" through the generosity of an unknown benefactor is directed by Stuart Walker.

True To Dickens
Henry Hull, a young character actor noted on Broadway recently for "Tobacco Road" is the star as Magwitch, the old convict who remembers a kindness done him by the boy hero, Pip.

Florence Reed, the stage star, portrays the eccentric Miss Havisham, deserted on her wedding day and living in darkness ever after. George Breakston and Anne Howard play Pip and Estella as children, and Phillips Holmes and Jane Wyatt take the roles as adults. Alan Hale offers a kindly picture of Joe Gargery, the blacksmith.

These lives and many others are interwoven in events and coincidences almost to the point of excessive plotfulness, necessitating some narration to tie the ends together—but this also is true to Dickens.

In contrast to the sentiment and quaintness of the Dickens tale is Monday-Tuesday—"Cleopatra." Cast, Claudette Colbert, Warren Williams and others. Cecil B. DeMille produced this lavish production with all the feeling and splendor that was early Egypt's at this time of Cleopatra's rule. No S. M. P. report this picture.

Wednesday-Thursday—"Count of Monte Cristo." Cast O. P. Heggie, Elissa Landi, Robert Donat. Alexander Duma's historical romance brought to the screen with painstaking care. A great production, worthy of the engrossing story on which it is based. Family.

Friday—"The Cat's Paw." Starring Harold Lloyd. Lloyd scores a hit in Clarence Kelland's story of a missionary's son. Splendid comedy. Family.

"The Gay Divorcee," smartly modern and musical, co-starring Fred Astaire of the restless feet and Ginger Rogers, with the omnipresent Edward Everett Horton teamed with Alice Brady for the sake of further comedy.

A Dancing Star
The screen has never had a dancing star, and that makes Astaire first in the field. "The Gay Divorcee," a tale about a girl (Ginger Rogers) who wants to get a divorce and in the process falls in love with a professional dancer (Astaire), reveals the stage star as a wizard of taps and rhythm, with a likeable grin and an unself-conscious lack of acting finesse which is in itself ingratiating.

The "flash number"—billed as successor to the "caricature" of "Playing Down to Rio"—is "The Continental," but many give this second place to the picture's more graceful and lulling "Night and Day, Day and Night," danced by Astaire and Miss Rogers without the background of a chorus. Mark Sandrich directed.

Approximately one hundred industries have been established in Holland in the last eighteen months by immigrants from Germany numbering about 250,000.

Tips on CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL Wrong Contracts

The greater the expert the nearer he approaches infallibility, but all of them are short of it. Today, instead of describing some feat of play or brilliant bid, we'll tell just the opposite.

There will be no names. We'll simply record two hands we noticed as kibitzer in a game of high class players at a well-known club.

South opened the bidding with one spade and West called two hearts. North bid three hearts, indicating a great fit in spades and at least first round control of hearts with probably no losers at all. East passed. South offered three no trump, having a heart stopper and spades not being rebiddable. West passed. North bid five spades and South could not resist. He bid six spades.

The ace of hearts was opened and ruffed. South immediately took a club finesse, deciding that was a safe way to play. Winning the club king, West led a diamond. Eventually the declarer found that he could not ruff out his three heart losers and at the same time draw East's nine-spot of spades.

The argument centered around the point whether South should have accepted the urgent slam invitation. While the South cards have good high-card value, the hand is anemic in suit length. The census was that the slam invitation was properly accepted and that unusual distribution could be blamed.

In hand No. 2 a bid was thought to be a cue bid and the declarer took a vulnerable set with a misfit:

NORTH—S—Q 6 2.
H—K Q 9 7 6.
D—7 5 3.
C—K 4.
WEST—S—A K 10.
H—5 3.
D—A Q 9 4 2.
C—10 9 6.

EAST—S—J 9 8 5 4 3.
H—A J 10 4.
D—None.
C—J 7 2.
SOUTH DEALER—S—7.
H—5 2.
D—K J 10 3 6.
C—A Q 8 5 3.

South passed his minor two-suit, dreading a major bid North. West offered one diamond. Vulnerable North overcalled with a heart. East passed, liking the sound of things. South offered two clubs and West rebid diamonds. North rebid hearts. In view of the club fit, and East passed again.

South said three diamonds. Encouraged by North's two vulnerable overcalls he tried to send a message meaning: "If you have the spades stopped safely, bid no trump." West doubled the three diamonds for no apparent reason and North let it ride around to South. Fearing now that a three diamond bid would be set, South offered three hearts, and East doubled after North's raise to four hearts.

The diamond ace was opened, followed by a diamond ruff. A spade put West in to lead a diamond for a second ruff and East made the ace of trumps.

As the set was being recorded, South blamed North for the vulnerable heart rebid and North blamed South for the diamond bid. North thought it was a bid inviting slam and meaning no losses in diamonds. North argued that anyhow he gave South a chance by passing the double of three diamonds and then South bid three hearts, seeming to confirm the apparent cue bid. North pointed out that South could have played three diamonds doubled, and it would not have been at all bad.

Leave For Williamsburg.
Three members of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, Mrs. Adelaide Bloxton and Misses Charlton and Browning, will attend the inauguration exercises of the new president of William and Mary College and be present throughout the celebration.

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, immediately after the parade, John Stewart, former lawyer and newspaper man, will be inducted into office and the inaugural ceremonies will be held. President Roosevelt will speak and will have the L.L.D. degree conferred upon him.

Mrs. Bloxton's home is in Williamsburg. She is an alumna of William and Mary, her husband was a member of the faculty, and she has two daughters in college there now.

Mrs. Moseley Entertains.
Yesterday at her home on Fourth street, Mrs. A. M. Moseley was a gracious hostess, delightfully entertaining at luncheon and bridge.

Lovely fall flowers were artistically placed in decorating the home. In the living room pink cypripediums and dahlias were used, in the dining room red roses and red dahlias, and in the library yellow and lavender dahlias.

Guests arrived at one o'clock and a delectable three-course luncheon was served. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. J. S. Ficklen.

After luncheon bridge was played, and at the conclusion of the game Mrs. E. J. Garrett was awarded cigarettes for high score. Table prizes, novelty ash trays, were won by Mrs. A. H. Williams, Mrs. E. R. Conway, Jr., Mrs. J. S. Ficklen and Mrs. E. J. Garrett. Out of town guests were Mrs. H. D. Bateman, Mrs. Tom Lee and Mrs. Noel Hardee of Wilson.

Dr. Meadows at the college chapel hour this morning made the first talk he has made to the assembled student body since he was elected president. He read as the Scripture lesson the Beatitudes, and took as his theme "Jesus, the Master Teacher." It was fitting that he should call attention to the chief purpose for which the institution was established, to train teachers, and in his first talk as their leader should hold up to prospective teachers the model he would have them follow.

He named some of the outstanding teachers in the history of the world, in ancient times, such as Confucius and Socrates and, in modern times, William James and John Dewey. The great influence these great teachers have exercised cannot be measured. Most students here he believed, would say a certain teacher had had more influence on his or her life than any one else besides mother and father, and he said he knew this to be true in his own case. He outlined the steps in the career of Jesus and selected the chief characteristics that marked his teaching. In his preparation, Jesus worked in a carpenter shop, mingled among people, studied them, and knew them, knew nature and the life around him and was well-versed in the Scriptures. He spent thirty years in training. His method was clear, and simple and people understood him well. His audiences saw clearly things they had not seen before. His audience was a cross-section of humanity, not a selected few.

Dr. Meadows in pleading with the students to emulate the qualifications of Jesus as a teacher brought out the greatness of the calling. He said he would rather be a great teacher than have great riches, great fame, or than to be anything else in the world.

Mrs. Wright Club Hostess.
Mrs. M. L. Wright charmingly entertained members of her bridge club and several additional guests yesterday afternoon at her home on East Fourth street.

Tables were placed for bridge in a setting of colorful garden flowers. At the conclusion of the game Mrs. M. K. Fort was given plaques for high score and Mrs. J. W. Blanks of Clarksville, Va., and Mrs. H. B. Bailey of Cochran, Ga., were remembered with attractive gifts.

A tempting salad course was served the club members and the following guests: Mrs. J. W. Blanks, Clarksville, Va., Mrs. H. D. Bailey, Cochran, Ga., Miss Katherine Holzclaw, Miss Mary Greene, Mrs. N. S. Beard and Mrs. D. M. Clark.

Revolution By Electricity.
Those interested in the Tennessee Valley experiment should read "Revolution By Electricity," by Paul Hutchinson, in Scribner's Magazine for October. This is one of the best magazine articles of the month.

Another one of the "ten" is "Regimentation and the Business Man" by John T. Flynn, in the same number of Scribner's.

Ayden Woman's Club.
Ayden, Oct. 19.—Wednesday afternoon a meeting of the Woman's Club was held in the Rotary room at Hotel Ayden, with Mrs. J. C. Andrews, the president, presiding.

During the business session the club decided to give a medal, as has been their custom for a number of years, to some member of the public schools, for some phase of excellence, the candidates to be decided upon by the superintendent, W. T. Byrd.

Mrs. A. C. D. Noe was elected delegate and Mrs. William Quinerly alternate to the district meeting of the Woman's Club to be held at Columbia October 23rd. Every member of the club has been urged to attend in order that we may have 100 per cent attendance and win the prize offered by the organization.

The American Home Department, Mrs. J. J. McCles, chairman, had charge of the program, which was both entertaining and educational. The program follows: "The Ten Commandments For Parents," by Mrs. Jack Quinerly; a paper, "The Ideal Home," was read by Mrs. G. R. Riddick; a vocal duet, "There Is Beauty All Around" by Mrs. Roy L. Turnage and Mrs. J. J. McCles, accompanied by Mrs. J. B. Eure at the piano; and a paper, "Art In Dress," by Miss Leckie McLawhon, high school home economics teacher.

The American Home Department served a delicious ice course.

Mrs. Burgess Entertains.
Ayden, Oct. 19.—Tuesday afternoon Mrs. J. E. Burgess entertained her club, the Merry Matrons, and special guests at three tables of bridge at her home in West Haven.

Halloween decorations were used and Halloween favors given. Mrs. J. C. Andrews, club member, and Mrs. J. B. Eure, special guest, both received Halloween candy for high score, and Mrs. Jack Quinerly was given a party handkerchief for second high.

A delicious salad course and orange ice, carrying out the Halloween idea, were served to the following guests: Mesdames S. J. Worthington, M. C. Phillips, Keith Brunson, Jack Quinerly, J. B. Eure, S. M. Edwards, Esther Quinerly, P. R. Taylor, J. C. Andrews, Lloyd Turnage, T. G. Worthington and Miss Georgia Moore.

WHAT IS IT ?

That is a question that has been asked hundreds—yes, thousands—of times, during the past week in the city of Greenville.

What Is This MILLION DOLLAR CLUB

And the thousands who have asked the question, who have been interested in knowing what it is, will be more interested in it after getting that information.

The Million Dollar Club Is—

A group of Greenville's leading spirits—men and women keenly alive to their own opportunities for success, but never forgetting their greater opportunities and responsibilities in service to Greenville.

An unofficial, unchartered organization of volunteers who during 1934 will make an investment of $130,000.00 for themselves—an investment that will pay them over 6 per cent, TAX-FREE, with the utmost safety and security.

A body of men and women who, while thus profiting themselves directly, will profit themselves and all of Greenville by the investment of that $130,000.00 in homes for a still greater Greenville.

With Individual Investment of only $2.50 a week

The Million Dollar Club

Will finance the building of over 300 new homes in our city during the next 6 1-2 years.

How will they do it? Simple enough: Each member of this Million Dollar Club will subscribe for at least ten (10) shares of stock of the Home Building & Loan Association. Their joint effort—a weekly investment of ONLY $2.50 EACH—will make available $130,000.00 a year for the financing of Greenville homes. The average home loan is slightly over $2,800. That will mean the addition to our city of approximately 50 new homes a year for a period of six and a half years.

Can you imagine a finer service to the community, or one that is possible with so little individual effort?

The Million Dollar Club will be composed of many people who have never before discovered the opportunities and privileges for themselves, and the service to their city, offered in the Building and Loan plan; and of many others who have long participated in both its profits and its service. To the latter this story of service is more or less familiar, but a part of it is worth repeating:

We Aided 42 Greenville Citizens to Build During 1934

It is evident, therefore, that there is open to the Million Dollar Club a very large service to Greenville—one of which the city is in pressing need. It is a fortunate circumstance that the thousand rare spirits of this club can perform that service and at the same time profit themselves through steady investment in one of the strongest savings-investment plans known to the world; their money handled under direct State supervision and safeguarded to them by first mortgage liens on Greenville real estate! Of course you will want to join the Million Dollar Club. Its membership, being voluntary and unhindered, will not only be a mark of distinction in civic service, but a tribute as well to your keen business judgment—for here is an investment that pays profits in two directions, direct and indirect—Big profits, too!

Join at once—the first opportunity you have—Let's—write a club list that will make history in the home building of Greenville.

WILDCATS AT CHAPEL HILL FOR BATTLE

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 15.—Coach Chet Wynne and Captain Joe Rupert led the Kentucky eleven into town this morning, and both the Wildcats and the Tar Heels were to take their last drills in Kenan Stadium prior to meeting in their feature Homecoming battle here tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Carolina's Homecoming celebration gets under way with the great torchlight parade and pep meeting scheduled for tonight. A throng of several thousand old grads are expected to join students, whose interest and enthusiasm is running high, for the Tar Heel-Wildcat battle and the colorful celebration it will climax.

Big, raw-boned and clean-cut, the Wildcats made a fine-looking squad physically, and were said by Coach Wynne to be in good shape for their game with Carolina.

Both teams have come along with a rush under their new coaches. Kentucky blanking Cincinnati and Clemson in its last two starts and Carolina pulling the unbelievable by upsetting Georgia 10 to 0. Tomorrow's game is seen as the big test for both teams with no favorites being quoted.

Another brisk advance sale was reported at the ticket office this morning. Indications point to a near-capacity crowd, although several thousand good seats will be left for the gate sale tomorrow.

Captain Rupert, who leads the Kentuckians, was All-Southeastern Conference end last year, while Captain, George Barclay, who calls the signals, backs up the line, and is a power in the interference for Carolina, was third All-American guard.

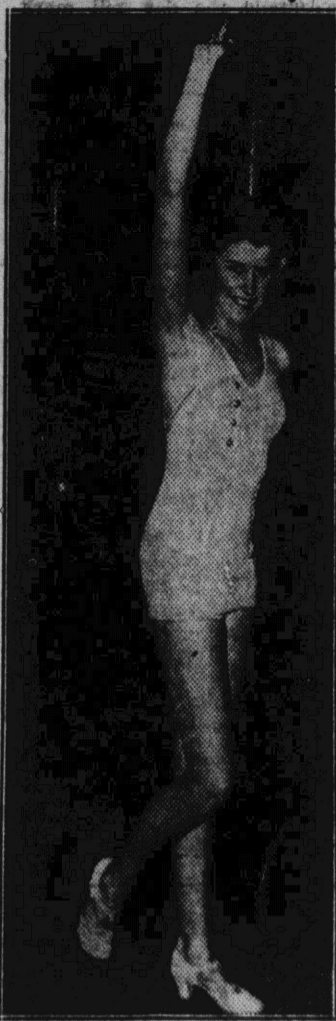

One of the feature duels tomorrow will be that between Bert "Man o' War" Johnson, 185-pound triple-threat whom Kentuckians are likening to Bo McMillan and touting for All-American, and Don Jackson, Carolina's expert passer, and Charlie Shaffer, whose punting average against Georgia was a cool 43 yards.

Other Kentucky stars include "Honus" Wagner, who was credited by many with outplaying Freddie Crawford last year; Bob Pritchard, prancing fullback; "Big Bill" Jobe, who is the fastest lineman on the squad for all his 227 pounds; and Ernest James, brilliant center.

Bill Moore, Carolina's injured end, will be replaced by the 9.9 seconds sprinter, Odell Childers.

Officials: Black (Davidson), referee; Chambers (Denison), umpire; Jackson (E. and H.), head linesman; Brewer (Maryland), field judge.

RECORD FISH CATCHES IN SWANSBORO WATERS

New Bern, N. C., Oct. 15.—Reports reaching here from Swansboro are to the effect that pore cero, amberjack, mackerel and bluefish are being caught there now than ever before in the memory of the older fishermen. Record catches of big fish are reported.

One party of three sportsmen from Charlotte on the Miss Swansboro recently caught fourteen cero and 237 bluefish in four hours. Mr. and Mrs. J. Craig Nelson, of Norfolk, Va., Tuesday caught eight cero, six amberjack, two of which weighed 30 pounds each, and more than a hundred bluefish.

DEVILS OFF FOR BIG GAME

Durham, N. C., Oct. 15.—Hoping to "carry on" their unbroken string of victories for this season, but realizing they are facing a tough battle, Duke's Blue Devils left here today for Davidson where tomorrow they will battle the Presbyterian Wildcats. The Duke squad will spend the night at Concord, going on to Davidson Saturday morning.

It will be Duke's first game in the North Carolina Big Five race, and they will attempt to start off on the right track in their campaign for a third consecutive State title. Duke was defeated once in the State in 1932, and did not suffer defeat in North Carolina last year.

There are many reasons why the Wildcats will be a tough foe for the Blue Devils. They started planning for this game when the schedule was being worked on, leaving an open date in order to have two full weeks in which to "brew up" some "secret poison" for the men of Wallace Wade.

And, too, they haven't tasted of victory since their early game with Elon, having lost to N. C. State, 7 to 0, and to Army, 41 to 0. They looked mighty good against the Wolfpack, according to Duke scouts, but something happened to them at Army, for no North Carolina fans believe the Army to be that much better than Davidson. The Wildcats feel that a good way to revenge the Army defeat would be to beat the Blue Devils.

Davidson can always be counted upon to show form in their annual homecoming day game, and they will be playing Saturday before a throng of former students returning for the game.

Last year a great crowd watched the Blue Devils and the Wildcats in their annual battle and were awarded a fine game. Another such crowd and another such game is expected tomorrow.

Pro Football Gains

In Pittsburgh one recent evening in the middle of the week, 20,000 persons attended a game of professional football between the Chicago Bears and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Obviously, the professional game is in taking hold. It has moved out of the class of professional wrestling and into the class of professional baseball.

The critics have been predicting intercollegiate football's doom. It will go, they say, the way intercollegiate baseball has gone. It will run the collegians into the corners of the sports pages.

It takes a stretch of imagination to believe this. As evidence, they say that the pros play better football. This is doubtful, but even if it were true, I do not believe it is particularly significant.

Collegians Have Setting As long as the universities take advantage of the student body and the setting in which the great stadia are, there is little doubt about which game provides the greater entertainment.

To many who attend the intercollegiate game, the game itself is incidental. These are mainly interested in the colorful crowd and the bands, and the universities which the team represent. They are interested in the spectacle.

It is very likely that professional football will build up a definite rivalry between the cities. Soon, indeed, the average fan will think of Cincinnati, for example, as the city which not only has a last place ball team but a last place club in the National professional football league. But it is doubtful if the game will ever be able to match the color of the intercollegiate game.

These Great Bands
The universities have not "sold" their product as they should have. They have not taken advantage of their natural advantages, and by failing to do so, have allowed the pro game to creep up to a position of importance.

Organized cheering, for example, has not been encouraged as it should. The students in all schools have not been kept together as they might; consequently, they got lost in the crowd and the cheering suffered. The U. S. Military and Naval Academies have shown what can be done through organization.

The Big Ten has developed bands which compare in musical ability to any in the country, and surpass any in the country in marching. It is a genuine thrill to watch these fine bands—numbering sometimes 250 men—marching in brilliant uniforms up and down the green, chalk-marked gridiron.

In all deference to the pros, they cannot match this.

TEXAS MALARIA INCREASES LAID AO RECENT DROUGHT

Washington.—(AP)—The drought of the past summer, drying up small streams until they were only a succession of quiet pools, has caused an increase of malaria in at least one State, Texas.

The only mosquito in the United States which carries malaria breeds only in still water pools, explains the public health service. Another type breeds in streams where the water is moving slowly in small eddies, but it does not carry malaria.

When the drought dried up these small streams, however, so that only a few still pools remained in the stream beds, the malaria-carrying mosquitos moved in and drove out the harmless type, taking over their breeding places. As a result malaria spread. This has happened in Texas and possibly elsewhere, says the public health service.

Exploitation of mining in the Philippines will be encouraged by the government if proposed legislation is passed.

CHILD IS BURNED BY SISTER AT PLAY

Washington, N. C., Oct. 15.—Pattie Told Marshall, age three, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Marshall, of Englehard, Hyde County, is in a serious condition at the Taylor Hospital where she was brought on Wednesday following severe burns.

The little girl was playing in her parents' yard with her older sister, Annie Blanche, age six. This child set fire to the dress of the three-year-old child. Several years ago Annie Blanche was kicked on the head by a mule and her health has not been good since then. She is said not to have realized what she had done.

PITT COUNTY BOARD OF ELECTIONS

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, D. C.—Organized labor's characterization of the selection of S. Clay Williams as chairman of NIRA as "biased, unfair and inconsiderate" marks resumption of an old feud.

The big, quiet and affable former president of one of the largest cigarette manufacturing concerns in the country long has been a target of the American Federation of Labor because of his company's earlier troubles with labor. The cigarette industry has been in almost continuous hot water with organized labor.

Williams himself, however, generally has been regarded here as having made his peace with labor. He stepped into the national picture for the first time in his life in March of 1933 when President Roosevelt named him a member of the National Labor Board.

He later was elected vice-chairman, and during the period that the Senate duties of Wagner of New York took him away from the meetings of the board, Williams presided.

Served On Many Boards

From all outward appearances at least he performed his task to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Later in 1933 Secretary Roper of the Department of Commerce set up a board of 58 industrialists to study long-time planning for industry. Williams was one of the number.

Drafting the codes for industry, however, dwarfed the activity of the Roper committee and Williams became the spokesman for the cigarette manufacturers.

With this out of the way, the government again pressed him in service. He was appointed to a place on NRA's advisory board. When his term expired last March he was held over, with four others, to take part in the mas meeting of codes.

Colleagues Respect Him

Despite his labels of conservatism, his frank expressions when he was arguing the code for the cigarette industry, his record on the Labor Board, the unions' previous complaints, Williams has the reputation of still being able to command the respect of his colleagues of openly opposing views.

Donald Richberg once described him as a "man" capable of giving trial to any sound doctrine regardless of his previous condition of mental servitude."

President Roosevelt appointed him to NIRA, but Williams was elected chairman by his colleagues.

PROMISES DECISION ON PARKWAY SOON

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—(AP)—An early decision on the Southern location of the Shenandoah-Great Smoky parkway was promised today by Secretary Ickes.

The route has been determined for the northern end from the Shenandoah National Park in Virginia to Blowing Rock, N. C., but North Carolina and Tennessee are fighting over the location from that point to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in those States.

Ickes, who heard delegations from North Carolina and Tennessee debate their respective claims several weeks ago, said at his press conference today he expected to announce his decision shortly.

FILES DAMAGE SUIT FOR INJURY TO CHILD

Currituck, N. C., Oct. 19.—A $20,000 damage suit for personal injuries has been instituted in Currituck Superior Court against Kenneth Bateman of Elizabeth City. Mrs. Helen Curry is bringing the suit in behalf of her daughter, Helen, a minor.

Chester Morris, of Currituck, attorney for the plaintiff, said the suit is brought against Bateman for running over the little girl at Guinear Bridge Mill, in Currituck County, on August 9, 1933.

Lawrence W. Rogers admits he got quite a scare when he uncovered a "head" while digging in his garden at Windham Center, Maine. Carefully turning it over with his hoe, he found it was just a potato.

New York Cotton N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady three to seven points advance with only partial response to higher Liverpool cables owing to southern selling and slow demand. The market was barely steady during the early trading and December eased to 12.35 while May ruled around 12.50 at the end of the first half hour, with active months about two to three net higher. The market was quiet later in the morning and prices moved in a narrow range. There was a little southern selling taken up by scattered demand but no special trading in futures developed. At midday December ruled around 12.35 and May 12.50 or two to three points net higher.

N. Y. Stock List

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Drooping tendencies were displayed in most of the financial markets today although few analysts, were able to put their finger on the cause or causes of the trading diffidence.

Stocks were extremely dull and the majority of commodities gave ground and bonds eased without any especial pressure being exerted against the loan list. News that might affect speculation was still rather colorless. Grains turned downward for losses of a cent or so a bushel, but cotton was a bit more resistant. U. S. Government securities were in supply at declining prices. The British pound continued to move ahead against the dollars abroad while European gold issues showed a heavy tone. Many traders were content to clin to the safety sidelines until further developments from Washington.

Trading at the fourth hour approximated 30,000. The day's turnover approximated 500,000 shares.

ILLINOI TO HONOR IMMORTAL GRANGE AT OHIO CONTEST

Champaign, Ill.—(AP)—It's been a long time since Harold "Red" Grange streaked up and down the gridiron of Memorial Stadium here scoring victories for the University of Illinois, but the memory of him lingers on.

Now, nine years since Grange turned in his famous "77" jersey to become almost as great a professional player as he was collegiate, a movement is under way to invite him to be the guest of honor at the Illinois' homecoming game against Ohio State October 13.

The idea met with popular approval with students, few of whom ever saw "Red" in action, and it is expected the day will be designated as Red Grange Homecoming with a brief ceremony either before the opening kick-off or during the intermission at which Grange will be introduced to the crowd.

Incidentally, the day will mark the tenth anniversary of the day Illinois dedicated its stadium.

"Let's quit killing" is the slogan adopted for a traffic safety program in Portland, Oregon. City council gave $200 toward the campaign expenses.
