CHURCH-STATE ROW IN MEXICO GROWS TENSE

Soldiers Patrol in Front of Schools as Anti-Catholic Movement Progresses

Mexico, D. C., Oct. 24.—(AP)—A few armed soldiers who patrolled in front of the schools in the capital presented the only visible evidence today that momentous changes were under way throughout Mexico. Within a short time the Catholic church, if not Catholicism itself, may be completely eliminated for the present at least, as a factor in the life of the country according to political plans. The National Revolutionary (government) Party is still withholding action on the proposal to exile all arch-bishops and bishops from Mexico but anti-church sentiment that first broke out in 1857 and reached a high tension in 1915 and again in 1926 under General Calles, is being put into concrete form in many states where churches have been closed and priests expelled.

300 High Point Workers On Strike

High Point, N. C., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Union leaders today estimated about three hundred workers in the upholstery departments of a dozen High Point furniture plants were out on strike. The strike was called by the local upholstery union in demand of a 25 per cent wage increase. There are about a dozen plants here with upholstery departments.

SEVENTEEN CASES HEARD CIVIL COURT

Most of Cases Heard Yesterday Were Disposed of by Way of Non-Suit

Civil Court with Judge R. Hunt Parker presiding, moved forward in clearing the docket again yesterday, disposing of a large number of cases. Many of yesterday's cases were disposed of by non-suit as on Monday. The cases disposed of yesterday were as follows:

- D. T. McLawhorn vs. Sillie Simmons, a claim delivery action; non-suit.
Johnnie Harrell vs. V. T. Corey; non-suit.
John Flanagan Buggy Company vs. W. C. Taylor suit over note; judgment in favor of plaintiff in the sum of $127.70.
Jim Jenkins vs. Ed. Pilgren claim delivery proceedings over a $5 gold non-suit.
N. E. Garris vs. F. V. Johnston, suit over check held up when Johnston was operating warehouse here. The matter had previously been settled and the action was non-suit.
Robertson Chemical Company vs. P. H. Edwards, admx.; non-suit.
John Daniel vs. Cleveland Buck and others; non-suit.
John Daniel vs. Cleveland Buck and others; non-suit.
Corporation Commission vs. Ayden Motor Sales Company; non-suit.
Corporation Commission vs. J. C. Cow and others; non-suit.
Blount-Harvey Company vs. Jodie Williams, differences had been adjusted before the case was called for hearing and it was dismissed.
Garris Evans Lumber Company vs. R. D. Edwards; non-suit.
Blount-Harvey Company vs. R. W. Faithful and others, settled out of court and voluntary non-suit taken.
C. P. Harvey, Sr. vs. S. O. Worthington and others; non-suit.
J. E. Winslow Company vs. J. C. Dixon; judgment in favor of plaintiff for $400.
Elijah Mills vs. Jim Hardee; non-suit.
State Banking and Trust Company vs. Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. Action growing out of check for $28 received and endorsed by railroad and deposited in old National Bank but which failed to clear before that institution closed. It was shown that sufficient time for clearing of the check had elapsed after it was deposited before bank closed and no judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff.
Pearl G. Carson vs. B. E. Jenkins. The action was a suit by plaintiff to recover funds due her from the Jenkins estate. By agreement, the plaintiff will receive $125 in addition to money already received from estate.

FINDS VALUABLE ORES WHILE DIGGING A WELL

Marion, N. C., Oct. 24.—Clark C. Boone, well-known blacksmith of Marion, while assisting a friend a few miles south of here in digging a well recently, found specimens of ore containing gold, silver and copper in such proportions as arouse hopes for a new source of wealth. Mr. Boone in exhibiting specimens of the ore among friends here, said he had known of the presence of minerals in the rock of that section for several years, but had not gone to the trouble to make careful investigations until a blast from the well threw up bits of rock that afforded convincing proof of the mineral content. A few specimens of ore, taken at random, were sent to the government assay office at Washington for analysis. The findings showed a fair proportion of minerals to the ton of ore. Mr. Boone plans to make further investigations to determine, if possible, the extent of the ore deposits, and then organize a stock company for developing mines in the near future.

WAYNE DEMOCRATS LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

Goldboro, Oct. 24.—The opening meeting of the Democratic campaign in Wayne county was held in the high school auditorium at Pikeville Monday morning. Claude C. Canady of Benson, candidate for solicitor to succeed C. Lawson L. Williams, was the principal speaker. He was introduced by Arnold W. Byrd of Mt. Olive, Democratic chairman for Wayne county. Mr. Byrd made a short talk, and following Mr. Canady's speech, introduced the candidates present, each of whom made a short talk.

DESERTED VILLAGE IS CLOSED TO PUBLIC

Carthage, Oct. 24.—The owners of Parkwood have ordered the deserted village of Moore county closed to the public. Since the wave of publicity through the state papers, a large number of people from over the state and from other states, daily visited the old town and many of these just had to have souvenirs. Much of value was taken away. So once again, this quaint and interesting place will be deserted by any save the caretaker.

Good Crowds Attend Revival

A large crowd was in attendance last evening at the revival now going on at the Free Will Baptist Church. Good interest is being manifested. A special song was rendered by the quartet. The Rev. Pittman's subject was "Take ye away the stone." John 11:39. He asserted that the resurrection of Lazarus is typical of the resurrection of a sinner. He was no more dead physically than the sinner is dead spiritually. The power of Jesus could alone give physical life and the power of Jesus can alone give spiritual life. The church has to roll away the stones in their lives before the sinner can be saved. As Lazarus had to be released from his grave-clothes by others, so it is that a soul has to be loosed from the entanglements of sin through the church. In conclusion he said: "If the church is to cooperate with Jesus Christ in raising of dead souls it must be free from the entanglements of death. Prayer meetings are being held each afternoon at 3:30 in behalf of the revival. Services begin promptly at 7:30. The public is urged and requested to attend these services.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG News Behind The News.

By GEORGE DURNO
Washington, Oct. 24.—As you read this the American Legion boys will be mixing medicine down in Miami to vote on the bonus question. Anti-bonus leaders were much disappointed when President Roosevelt failed to take a specific stand on the issue in his Roanoke speech last Friday. They know he is still opposed to cash payment now but wish he had said something to that effect. Forty-eight per cent of the voting delegates went to Miami instructed to demand the balance of the bonus immediately. If the Legion doesn't take a pro-bonus stand it will be a miracle. It looks very much as if Mr. Roosevelt will have to get his veto pen out at the next session of Congress. Additions: For the past week New Dealers have been gasping over the Literary Digest poll tending to show that administration popularity has receded from 61-39 to almost a 50-50 basis. It is the big topic of conversation among official top-liners. The Roosevelt boys simply refuse to accept the figures—although they

CALL STRIKE FOR ROANOKE RAPIDS MILLS

Workers to Strike Monday if Differences Not Settled Before Them

Roanoke Rapids, Oct. 24.—(AP)—This industrial center, one of the sore spots in the general strike which was called off last month, today faced the threat of a new strike to begin Monday. J. Dooley, president of the U. T. W. local here said union members had voted to go on strike Monday unless action was taken at once by the Textile Relations Board on charges of discrimination lodged with it. Meantime the board officials in Washington prepared to send an investigator here in an effort to settle the dispute which Dooley said was precipitated by mills refusing to take back strikers. Six mills here operating normally employ 3,000 workers. Dooley estimated that half that number were now working. Fifty per cent of the workers, he said, belonged to the union.

SILK WORKERS WILL STRIKE AT MIDNIGHT

Representatives Meet Today in Effort to Prevent Walkout of 20,000

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 24.—(AP)—A strike of 20,000 silk and rayon dyers in the Paterson area, the first major conflict since President Roosevelt made his recent plea for an industrial truce, was scheduled for midnight, but an eleventh-hour effort was being made to avert it. Union leaders and representatives of employers were to meet today at 2 o'clock with P. W. Chapman, a consultant of the United States Department of Labor in the hope of breaking the deadlock over the issue of the closed shop and the demand for higher wages.

GIRL SERIOUSLY HURT TRYING TO BOARD TRUCK

Wilson, Oct. 24.—Lillian Leggett, 18, of Wilson, was run over and seriously injured Monday night at the entrance to the Fair Grounds here when she tried to board a truck belonging to A. Hymes, a fair concessionaire, and was thrown off and fell under the wheels. She sustained a fractured pelvis and other injuries. She was taken to a local hospital here where she is under the care of doctors. According to State Patrolman W. W. Clark, who investigated the accident, the girl had tried all evening to enter the Fair Grounds by some means, and was ejected each time by the guards.

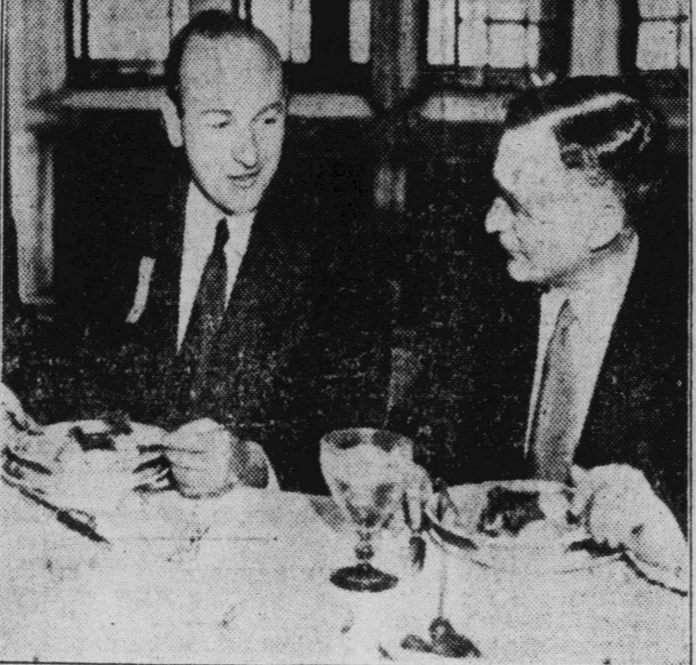

Funeral Services For Adrian Savage to be Held Tomorrow Afternoon

Adrian Savage, 76 one of Greenville's oldest native citizens, died at his home on East Eighth Street at 11 o'clock this morning following a long period of failing health and a critical illness for the past week. Funeral services will be conducted at the home at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon followed by interment in Greenwood Cemetery. Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, of which the deceased was a member, will be in charge of the services.

Terrell Will Face Rape Charge in Criminal Court Here Next Week

C. A. Terrell, 34, married man of Roanoke, Va., is in jail here without privilege of bail as a result of a rape charge. Terrell's attack on a local young woman two weeks ago resulted in his arrest on Thursday of last week when he returned to this city after several days' absence. He was placed in the city jail where on Friday night he was one of two inmates who staged an all but successful jail break by sawing their way from the cell and attempting to saw through the bars of the outside window. Before the latter task was completed one of the police officers making his rounds of the city jail discovered the attempted escape and rushed the men back into other cells. Terrell was given a hearing on the rape charge before Magistrate John Ivey Smith last night and remanded to the county jail without bond to await hearing in criminal court here next week.

LILIENTHAL HITS AT 'TORY CROWD'

David E. Lilienthal (left), Tennessee Valley Authority director, is shown with Mayor Watkins Overton of Memphis when Lilienthal visited Memphis to talk about the TVA. That city is to vote November 6 on whether to issue bonds for a distributing plant for TVA power. In an address Lilienthal said the leading enemies of the TVA are "the whole Tory crowd concentrated in New York and Chicago that fights every move toward giving the average man and woman a better chance." Late News Flashes

Ask Cash Payment
Miami, Fla., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Immediate cash payment by the government of the soldiers bonus at its face value was recommended in a resolution adopted today by the American Legion's legislative committee. Only two dissenting votes were cast. Gray Kelly, of Detroit chairman of the committee said no minority report would be submitted when the matter is formally presented on the convention floor probably tomorrow.

WILL HOLD HEARING HERE ON MONDAY

Alleged Slayers of Goldsboro Man Seek Freedom Under Habeas Corpus Writ
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24.—(AP)—The grim shadow of the electric chair was lifted temporarily today from over Rufus Satterfield as the woman and man he implicated in his eleven-hour statement looked to habeas corpus proceedings to regain their freedom. A thirty-day reprieve was granted by Governor Ehringhaus for the Wayne County man scheduled to die Friday for the slaying of Herbert Grice after a statement in which Mrs. Grice, widow and her brother, Donald Sasser, were alleged to have participated in the crime.

AGED CITIZEN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Adrian Savage, 76 one of Greenville's oldest native citizens, died at his home on East Eighth Street at 11 o'clock this morning following a long period of failing health and a critical illness for the past week. Funeral services will be conducted at the home at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon followed by interment in Greenwood Cemetery. Dr. G. R. New Head of State Schools Well Known Here

Clyde A. Erwin, prominent educator of this state and last night appointed by Governor Ehringhaus to fill the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction made vacant by the recent death of Dr. A. T. Allen, is well known in Greenville. As State Superintendent of Public Instruction he will be chairman of the Board of Trustees of East Carolina Teachers College here but will be no stranger to the school or the board members. Several years ago Mr. Erwin was a member of the summer school faculty at the college during which time he made many friends in Greenville.

GIVE STUDY TO TELEGRAPH CO. MERGERS

Order Hearing on Consolidation of Postal and Western Union Companies

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Hearing on the advisability of consolidation of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies were ordered today by the Federal Communications Commission for December 3. The hearing will embrace the advisability of consolidating or merging all telegraph companies. In announcing the hearings the commission said while Congress did not specifically direct the commission to inquire into this question, it did direct the commission to make a special report not later than February 1, 1935, recommending such amendments to the communications law as were deemed desirable. The commission said that the subject of mergers were one of the most important brought forward in the report of President Roosevelt for departmental studies by the commission. It was said that in as much as telephone companies since 1921 had had the right to consolidate, it was expected the hearings would confine almost entirely to the desirability of permitting telegraph companies to consolidate and to determine conditions and safeguards surrounding such mergers.

32 INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

Eight Cars of Fast Express Derailed And Several Overturned

Fowler, Ind., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Thirty-two persons were injured, none of them seriously, today as eight cars of the Cincinnati express of the Big Four Railroad were derailed a mile south of Earl Park, Indiana. The engine and five cars of the thirteen-car passenger train had passed safely over the east end of the Earl Park switch, but then the rear part of the train, including coaches and Pullmans left the rails, jolted over the ties and several of the cars turned over. One car was hurled about with its end extending across U. S. Highway No. 41, an arterial road south from Chicago, and motor traffic was blocked.

Chance To Change H. O. L. C. Bonds

Holder of unguaranteed four per cent Home Owners Loan bonds have this week to exchange them for three per cent guaranteed bonds. R. B. Davis, head of the Greenville district HOLC stated this morning in giving last notice to the holders of the bonds. At the time of the issuance of the four per cent bonds the government guaranteed the interest but not the principal of the bonds but since that time the three per cent bonds have been issued and the principal as well as the interest on these bonds is guaranteed by the government. Persons who desire to exchange their four per cent guaranteed for the three per cent guaranteed ones may do so by presenting them to any bank this week to forwarding to the Federal Reserve Bank of the district which in turn will exchange with the Treasury Department and send the three per cent bonds to the owner in care of the bank.

DISSAPPOINTED LOVER DIES BY HIS OWN HAND

Selma, Oct. 24.—Charlie Barefoot, 22-year-old son of Isaac Barefoot, who lives two miles of Benson, this county, committed suicide early Sunday evening, after his sweetheart, a Miss Stewart, according to his own statement had told him she was not ready to marry him. The young man borrowed a gun from a neighbor, stating that he was afraid to go home through a thick growth of woods. He shot himself through the abdomen. He was conscious after the shooting and told his father that the reason he shot himself was because of his sweetheart's refusal to marry him. Barefoot was carried to the Johnson County Hospital but died before reaching the hospital.

LIGHT SALES ON TOBACCO MARKET HERE

Yesterday's Sales Only 560,414 Pounds with Average Price of $33.47

Despite lighter sales the Greenville tobacco market continued to push ahead toward its season's goal of fifty million pounds with observers confident that the goal will be reached or passed before the season comes to an end. Sales yesterday were 560,414 pounds for $187,570.79, an average price of $33.47. While the average price is lower than that of the day before market officials stated that much left over and common tobacco is now being sold by growers who did not use up the allotted poundage on their government cards and that this is pulling the average down. The regular grades are still holding their own from a price standpoint, it was stated, and there is complete satisfaction on the sales. Official figures for the season show 43,405,558 pounds sold for $1,744,062.75, at an average price of $31.66. Sales last season were close to 72,000,000 pounds which sold at an average of slightly above 16 cents, making the season's total payments between eleven and twelve million dollars, or about two millions below what has been paid out on the market here this season so far. It is believed that total payments on the market this season will reach the $15,000,000 mark.

Tent Revival Continues Draw Large Crowds

The old-fashioned revival, preaching old-fashioned salvation, and singing old-fashioned gospel songs is still drawing the people of Greenville to the big tent revival at the corner of Third and Cotanche streets each night. Evangelist R. L. Erickson gave a wonderful message last night about present day conditions and the signs of the time, according to New Testament prophecy. He told about the apostle Paul and the greatness of his prophecy as recorded in Second Timothy and the third chapter. Men from many nations of the earth were called together to discuss these conditions and supply a remedy, but failed. Why? Some families have pantries full and enough to spare, while others refuse to help. Why? Leaders of this nation of ours decree laws and destroy meat and wheat, while millions are hungry. Why? The revival tonight at 7:30 and find out about these conditions and why we get no relief. These questions are answered from the Bible. Every Bible prophecy has been filled, is being filled and will be filled, before the end comes. Don't wait until too late to know the truth, know it now.

Airplane Crack-up This Afternoon

This afternoon an airplane at the local flying field on the Farmville highway just west of this city was reported to have crashed, but no one was hurt. Full details of the accident were not known to whom the plane belonged, but it was stated that the crack-up occurred as the plane was attempting a take-off from the field.

NEYLAND-WADE MATCH WITS FINAL TIME

Durham, N. C., Oct. 24.—What has probably been the greatest series of games in Southern football between Dixie's two greatest gridiron coaches will come to a close in Knoxville Saturday when Duke and Tennessee have their annual engagement.

For several years at least there will be no "matching of wits" between Wallace Wade of Duke, formerly of Alabama, and Robert Neyland of Tennessee, always of the United States Army. After this season, Major Neyland leaves to take up his new post in Panama.

An argument might arise out of the naming of Wade and Neyland as "the South's two greatest coaches," but this football coaching business in the long run narrows down to the "won and lost" column. And in this respect no Southern coaches can touch Neyland and Wade for a like period of years. See the record books.

And some people may disagree with the statement that football games between Tennessee and Alabama (under Wade) and Tennessee and Duke, since Wade shifted to the institution represented by the Blue Devils, have been the greatest series in the South. And again, they will be shown the record books.

There is a marked similarity between the coaching systems of Wade and Neyland outside of the remarkable likeness when it comes to wins and losses. There is one thing that you are sure to see when you see Wade's and Neyland's teams on the field, and that is blocking and tackling executed to the nth degree of perfection.

They couldn't see how Neyland could have a good team this year—he lost too many men—but he took what he had, taught them blocking and tackling, and how they have traveled! They said the same thing about Wade, after Duke's great record of 1933, that it would be next to impossible for him to have another good team, but, like Neyland, he took what he had, taught them how to block and tackle, and Duke has been undefeated and untied in four years.

Not only for the thrilling closeness of most of the games between teams of Neyland and Wade, but because of the sheer brilliance of the play of the two teams, have the conflicts between their respective elevens been dubbed the greatest series of games in Dixie football history.

"Wins and losses" count in the coaches' records, but when it comes to the actual engagement it is that old story of "not that you won or lost, but how you played the game." Games between Neyland and Wade are always immaculately clean. They help football as a sport.

It was Morgan Blake, veteran and excellent sports editor of the Atlanta Journal, who wrote last year in a poem before the Duke-Tennessee game: "The fur will fly in Durham, when Wade and Neyland clash."

The fur will fly in Knoxville this week-end when Wade and Neyland clash for the final time in their present series of games.

Wherever Neyland locates when he returns to this country some years hence, there is little doubt but that Duke and that institution will then meet on the gridiron. Wade likes Neyland; Neyland likes Wade.

ALABAMA'S TRIPLE-THREAT STAR

DIXIE HOWELL

Already acclaimed as one of the South's most colorful gridiron stars, Millard (Dixie) Howell, Alabama's great triple-threat halfback, continues to bewilder all opponents with his loose-hipped runs, spectacular passes and long punts. Howell is one of the big factors in the Crimson Tide's triumphant parade in the Southeastern conference. (Associated Press Photo)

one of the most entertaining in some time. The roar of the Columbia Lions can still be heard along the gridiron battle-front. Lou Little's survivors of the Battle of Pasadena are moving along at a fast pace and they would like nothing better than another chance to journey to the Far West, especially if Stanford turns up as the coast choice or the Tournament of Roses committee.

There's also Pittsburgh and Princeton to consider. The Panthers and Tigers possess juggernaut power. Pitt plays the tougher schedule and with Southern Cal's scalp already in hand would like the opportunity to erase the impression of ineptitude previously given to coast football followers in the Rose bowl. Princeton's case is a bit more complicated. The Tigers, barring the biggest kind of a form reversal, figure to hide through Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale, but it's a question whether even a clean slate and a receptive frame of mind would result in Princeton getting an invitation. Stanford and Rose bowl authorities got a cold and somewhat abrupt response from the Tigers when the subject of playing Stanford was broached last winter. Such was the feeling on the coast at the time that notice was served Princeton would not again be asked.

Still Princeton might easily remove its high hat, under favorable circumstances, and convince the folks out West that the Tigers would welcome another invitation. A lot of things can be over-looked and many a hatchet can be buried for the sake of the gate receipts.

Now You Name One
"In justice to the greatest end I have ever seen, please remember the name of Todd Goodwin, of West Virginia," writes Bill Hart from his conning tower in Morgantown. "Pitt, truly great team, couldn't get him out of the way; never turned his end and he repeatedly made tackles on the other side of the field. I think Jock Sutherland or any of the Pitt coaches will testify to his All-America qualifications. I have been watching team—good ones, too—since 1914 but this had the greatest end I've ever seen. I hope you can see him perform against Fordham."
They're off, it would seem, in another All-American derby!

Carolina Will Send Veterans Against State

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 24.—Carolina will send a veteran team against State here Saturday. The line from tackle to tackle is identically the same as started last year's game, won by Carolina 6-0. And Coach Snavely has six of the nine backs who worked against State, including Herman Snyder, who started at full; Charlie Shaffer, who led the running attack; Don Jackson, who had the 60-yard touchdown run called back, and George Moore, who scored 103, 100-0-00.

CAROLINA HOLDS LEAD FOR STATE RIVALRY

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 24.—Carolina holds a big lead for its series with State. The Tar Heels have 19 wins, four ties, and three losses for the 40-year rivalry. However, the games of recent years have been uniformly close. Carolina has won the last five games by scores of 6-0, 13-0, 18-15, 13-6, and 32-0.

IRONMEN OF OLD DAYS HAD NOTHING ON HEELS

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 24.—The "ironmen" of the early days of football that one often hears about had nothing on some of Carolina's gridiron warriors. Shaffer, Tatum and Hutchins played the full 60 minutes against Georgia, and Captain Barclay, Shaffer, Snyder, Buck and Childers did the same thing against Kentucky.

MISS LUCY CALDWELL HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 23.—Miss Lucile Caldwell, of Turkey and Wilmington, is a patient at Aston Park Hospital at Asheville, for treatment of injuries received in an automobile accident near Marshall.
According to a message received by friends here from the attending physician, her condition is serious. She suffered a fractured skull and a serious brain injury. However, her recovery is expected.
Miss Caldwell is a sister of Mrs. Herbert Williams of this city. Another sister, Miss Betty Caldwell, is now at Asheville.

YOUNG ABERDEEN MAN ATTACKED AND ROBBED

Aberdeen, N. C., Oct. 23.—Bill Shepherd, 24-year-old tobacco farmer of Ashley Heights, was knocked unconscious and robbed of $204 on a street here Sunday night about 9 o'clock.
Shepherd thinks his assailant was a negro. He was struck over the head and rendered unconscious. When he regained consciousness he had been dragged into some shrubbery in the town park, he was bleeding profusely from a blow over the eyes and his money was gone. The attack was preceded by a request for a match.
Shepherd was carried to the Moore County Hospital at Pinehurst.

MANY REMOVERS FOR MANY STAINS

For iron rust, hoisten stain with ammonia, then apply lemon after which dip in boiling water.
For machine oil stain, soak in cold water and then wash out with warm water and soap. Sometimes it is a good idea to put a little borax in the cold water for soaking.
There is nothing like strong sunshine for removing the slight scotch-sunshine marks that have been made on your nice new table cloth. A little rain water will help, for there is no scotch water than this.
For tea stains, cover with salt, then with lemon juice and place in sunshine for drying.
Egg stain can be removed by using cold water first, then washing thoroughly with hot water and soap.

Ted Miller, war veteran who recently died in California, had seen service in seven different causes, the Spanish-American War, the Filipino insurrection, the Boxes rebellion, the Boer War in South Africa, as a member of the Black Watch Regiment of the British forces in France and as a member of the A. E. F. in the World War.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

Fleeting Fame
Just to give you a brief idea of how swiftly the sporting scene and some of its principal figures can be shifted, take the current case of Harry Kipke, head coach of the University of Michigan's football Wolverines.

Barely six months ago Kipke was riding high on the crest of one of the finest coaching records of any youthful mentor in the big leagues of college football. Yale's alumni were insisting loudly and with some truculence that Kipke be lured from Ann Arbor and installed in complete charge of the tottering situation at New Haven. Conferences were held, terms were discussed, but Kipke resisted inducements and remained with his alma mater.

So what? Michigan dropped its first two games this fall by lopsided scores, losing to Michigan State 16 to 0 and to Chicago by 27 to 0. Instead of demands from Yale for Kipke's services, there may soon be demands for Kipke's scalp at Ann Arbor!

By-products of the situation, consistent with the dizzy life of the college football coach, are the immediate endorsements for Charley Bachman at Michigan State and Clarke Daniel Shaughnessy at Chicago. Bachman and Shaughnessy are second-year men in their present jobs. The former replaced Jimmy Crowley now at Fordham. The latter succeeded to the chair occupied for so long by Amos Stagg. Both were "on the spot" this season, their efforts subject to close scrutiny, but such is the rapid effect of just one outstanding victory that they can have just about anything they want from enthusiastic alumni from now on.

Before the dinner, Miss Oakley read from the third chapter of Proverbs, and her grandfather, W. H. Porter, led in prayer. Dinner was enjoyed by ninety of her friends and relatives. After dinner everyone enjoyed visiting with each other, and upon departure wished her a successful career.

Demonstration At High School.
Thursday morning at 10:40 J. S. Sloan will give a demonstration showing some of the marvels of liquid air. This will be held in the high school auditorium.

Air like we breathe is liquefied by subjecting it to terrific pressure and then lowering its temperature. It has a low temperature of 312 degrees F. below zero.

It is possible to perform a number of strange and fascinating experiments with liquid air as ordinary materials manifest peculiar properties when cooled to this low temperature. For example, if a rubber ball is immersed in liquid air and dropped on the floor, it breaks into many pieces as if made of glass. Liquid air will freeze a banana so hard it can be used to drive nails into a plank.

It is so cold a soap bubble will freeze into a thin film of ice when held above the chilly liquid. Mercury is solidified by liquid air, to the consistency of steel, and can be molded into the form of a hammer. Even alcohol, a liquid which was once thought impossible to congeal, freezes solid in liquid air.

The above mentioned experiments are only a few of the experiments that Mr. Sloan will perform. Many other varied experiments with liquid air will be performed in addition to those mentioned above. This presentation is being sponsored by the Greenville High School Science Department. Every high school student and many of the town people should take advantage of the opportunity to see this most interesting and educational demonstration.

Don't forget the time, Thursday morning, beginning at 10:40 and continuing until 11:35.

"Count of Monte Cristo" At State.

Alexander Dumas' historical novel "The Count of Monte Cristo" has been expertly adapted to the screen and is the feature attraction at the State Theatre today and Thursday. As a picture it's lavishness, shows that there was no stinting in cost. While it emphasizes the historical incidents of the book, the story never lags and romance and human interest are outstanding throughout.

Robert Donat plays his double role to perfection and judging by his performance he will reach stardom in the not-far-off future. A Walt Disney Silly Symphony "Peculiar Penguins" is also on the same program.

'Fates' Stir Pot And Dictate 'Who's Who'

By SIGRID ARNE
Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The three anonymous fates who set the Washington social pudding each year have done their baking and the pudding is ready to be served.

Each fall three of the most prominent women in the capital are called into secret session and asked to determine from their knowledge who "rates" and who doesn't. Their decision goes into the "Social List of Washington, D. C.," edited by Helen Ray Hagner, for years a well-known social secretary and dictator here.

The names of the three women are kept secret in case poisoned arrows fill the air of the drawing after the list is issued.

A Unique Situation
They are faced with a social situation which is unique because the capital's society changes so constantly, and because so many social lights from other cities choose to illuminate the Washington scene at irregular intervals.

This year there have been added the names of three members of the President's family; Mrs. Anne Dill, his daughter who is not living at the White House, and Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, and his wife, who have recently taken a home near the city.

'In Residence' Now
"Mrs. Dall," social dictators, are passing the word to social climbers, "should now be called on. She is 'in residence.'" Last year she was only a guest.

Whether Mrs. Dall will enjoy this situation is beside the point. The White House is open to anyone who wishes to call and leave cards.

Princess Cantacuzene will be in the book this year. Her arrival here has always sent delightful shivers up and down the capital's social spine. Her title of "Princess" lends an authentic note to a social affair, and then she is the granddaughter of President Grant. But the Princess will be listed as plain "Mrs. Julia Grant." She recently took out her American citizenship papers, and has gone to Florida to obtain a divorce, her husband has announced.

Lives On a Boat
There is some trouble about James A. Moffett who directs the "new deal housing corporation. His eligibility for the Washington social list is unquestioned since he already is persona-very-much-grata in New York drawing-rooms. Besides, he has a very personable and marriageable daughter, Adelaide. But he persists in living on a boat and has no address. He will not be included in the list.

'Miss Into Mrs.'
Then there are the debs who have dropped "Miss" for "Mrs." since last winter. Their names must be changed. Outstanding among them is Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, III, the former Laura Barkley, daughter of Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky. Her young husband is a nephew of Chief of Staff, General Douglas MacArthur of the army, and as such very much of the inner circle.

NRA Boosts Wages Of U. S. Women

By SIGRID ARNE
Washington, D. C.—(AP)—NRA has bettered women's wages, says a report of the women's bureau, but it has not brought industry to the point of paying high enough minimum wages to insure permanent recovery.

"NRA is just a beginning," says the bureau. "However, it has had one undoubted result in demonstrating the workability of national labor legislation. By setting standards on a nation-wide scale employers have been freed from the undercutting of competitors in States with less advanced women are showing an increased interest in organization, judged by their requests for help mailed to the women's trade union league.

the codes is a shabby one, as the bureau sees it.

For instance, only half of the 11,000,000 working women are affected by the codes. The larger groups not included are servants in homes, professional workers, home laundresses and dressmakers, and women in certain types of stores in small towns.

The larger groups of women comprise under the codes include those in textile mills, hotels and restaurants and clothing shops and stores. For these women the great gains probably have been in the reduced working hours, says the bureau. The majority of codes have adopted the 46-hour week, whereas formerly the most common hours ranged from 43 to 59.

Wages Raised
Minimum wages range from $12 to $14 a week. Before the codes were adopted average wages paid women in many industries ran below the present minimums. And since they were "average," it meant half the working women were setting less.

But minimum wage rates have not been a complete gain, the bureau finds. Many codes vary the minimum with the size of the town, or set a lower one for the Southern States.

Women in the clothing industry, who gained some of the greatest benefits under her national recovery program.

The industry formerly was "honey-combed with sweatshop practices," says the bureau, and large numbers of women were paid less than $5.00 a week.

In certain industries, hotels and restaurants as an example, the women can expect little improvement in the working conditions, says the bureau.

"The laundry code will not raise the distressingly low wages women received in the past," it says.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood, Calif.—(AP)—Yesterday's "second generation" among the film players had established itself more or less satisfactory on the movie ladder.

Now there's a new set of sons and daughters making tentative gestures toward climbing up there with the rest. And some of their gestures are more emphatic than merely "tentative."

Many of the older set already had made names for themselves. There are the Bennetts, Constance and Joan, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who no longer has cause to squirm at the thought of traveling under the aegis of his dad's reputation.

Phillips Holmes, son of Taylor the veteran, is a leading young actor. Ann Dvorak, daughter of Anna Lehr of the old Vitagraph films, is a star. Doles Costello, with a career behind her, put it aside to be Mrs. John Barrymore, the early matinee idol of the movies.

More recent additions to the lime-lighted sons and daughters of the film famous are headed perhaps, by Katherine De Mille, adopted daughter of the director Cecil M., who has made decided hits and is on the way to further recognition.

Son of Lon Chaney
Then there's Creighton Chaney, son of the late Lon Chaney, who after one poor start recently returned to resume his career as an actor. Patricia Ziefeld, daughter of the late famed producer and Billy Burke is on the Hollywood scene although not yet as an actress. She has been assisting her mother in production details for "The Great Ziegfeld," biography film of her father's career.

Mary Rogers, daughter of Hollywood's rope-twirling Will, appeared briefly in films last year under the name of Mary Howard, then took a flyer in eastern stock, as further preparation for an acting career. With her in stock went Carol Stone, daughter of Rogers' stage pal, Fred Stone, the comedian.

A decided "possibility" is Helene Cohan, daughter of the noted George M., who was one of this year's "Wampus baby stars," and regarded as among the more promising.

Beery and Bushman Seins
Barbara, daughter of Reginald Denny, has made a beginning, however modest, in the profession. You may have seen here in courtroom scenes of "One More River," in which her father was featured.

Noah Beery, Jr., son of the basso profundo "heavy," goes right along in outdoor roles, while a dozen or more sons of one-time stars struggle in small parts of recognition.

Ralph Bushman, under contract to M-G-M, was formerly billed as Francis X. Bushman, Jr. At one time he played leads, but now is progressing in smaller parts which, promisingly, are getting bigger.

Tips on CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL
Two Slam Lessons

We kibitzed a rubber game in which that eminent bridge-master, William J. Huske, failed to profit through lack of skill on his partner's part. As the enemy in satisfaction recorded a profit of one hundred points on the rubber, Huske pointed out to his partner how there could have been a balance of more than 3,000 points on the other side of the ledger.

A small slam failed by a losing guess when the contract could have been made by an end play. A grand slam in the wrong contract was set, I probably would have succeeded in another contract.

Huske's partner, South, opened the bidding with two hearts. The enemy passed throughout. Huske answered with three hearts. South said three spades and North four hearts. South then went to six hearts, the contract.

The king of clubs was opened. After taking with the ace in the North, his diamond. Taking the third diamond trick, West led a club. After ruffing, the declarer took a losing spade finesse.

Lesson No. 1 from Huske: "The hand could have been made whether West or East held the king of spades. Take the first trick North with the ace of clubs. Trump a club south. Return to the north hand with a trump. Ruff a club south. Play another round of trumps. The adversaries then will have none. There will be trumps in both the North and South hands. Play the ace, king and three of diamonds. West will have to take the third diamond. If he leads from his king of spades, you make the queen. There will be nothing in the North and South hands but spades and hearts. If West leads a diamond or a club you can discard a spade North and trump South, then play the ace of spades and trump spades North."

This was the grand slam hand:

NORTH—S—K J 10 6 3 2.
H—7 5 4.
D—A 8 6 3.
C—None.

WEST—S—9 5.
H—K 10.
D—K Q 9 4 2.
C—J 9 5 3.

EAST—S—8 7 4.
H—Q J 8 3.
D—J 10 7 5.
C—10 7.

SOUTH DEALER—S—A Q.
H—A 9 6 2.
D—None.
C—A K Q 8 6 4 2.

South started with a club and West mentioned diamonds. North offered a spade. East passed and South forced with three clubs. West passed and North said three spades. South bid five no trump. North had to say six spades and South went to seven clubs. West passing contentedly. The bunching of clubs West set the contract one. West had not doubled in fear of a seven spade contract.

Lesson No. 2 from Huske: "After my free bid and two rebids of spades, you should have realized that with your ace-queen I had length in spades to the king and that your clubs would have offered discards for losers from my hand. You should not have taken the chance that the adverse clubs were split evenly. Seven spades could have been made with a diamond opening, although not with a heart opening, as a heart lead would prevent access to the south hand for discards on clubs.

"With a diamond opening, after taking the first trick with the ace of diamonds, North would lead a spade to the ace and then ruff a low club North. The king and jack of spades would exhaust the adversaries' trumps and the South hand would be entered by the heart ace for discards of hearts and diamonds from the North hand on South's clubs."

Science Finds 'Death Rays' In Outer Space
By MUNRO KEZER
Falls City, Neb.—(AP)—A 225-pound railroad boiler-maker foreman who wields the baton for a little symphony orchestra he organized.

Adolph Goodman, 61, turns at night from nuts and bolts and the task of directing a crew of men in the railroad shops to a neat suit and the job of directing a 24-piece orchestra. It has won success despite predictions that this town of 5,000 was too "countryfied" to support it.

Studied in Germany
The director-boiler maker studied music in Germany before coming to America for his career. He took up railroad work when he decided he could earn a better living for his family in the shops than on the platform.

A boiler-maker foreman now for 25 years, this is his first attempt to organize a large orchestra. He called together and selected the members of his orchestra, conducted the rehearsals and directed the concert.

By day, the big-boned gray-haired music lover can be found garbed in overalls, shirt and a tan hat. His hands are darkened with grease and he directs his men with quiet words tinged with a broad German accent, often helping at some task.

Abhors Jazz
A few hours after he finishes there he steps before his hand-picked orchestra. His large body looms before the musicians, bending and swaying to the strains of the classical music, for he abhors jazz.

In Germany, Goodman concentrated his study on the clarinet and piano and spent three years at the University of Music in Freiburg, Baden. He was a member of a regimental band while he served in the German army and for two years played in the Heilberg Symphony Orchestra.

In 1898, when 25, he came to the United States and immediately joined the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra as first clarinet. Later he played with a Sioux City, Ia., band and directed a 28-piece orchestra in Des Moines.

HERE'S A TIMETABLE TO AID THE HOUSEWIFE
For the young housewife whose cooking experience is limited and who would like some idea as to the approximate time it takes to cook vegetables, here is a list of depending, of course, on the power and heat of the stove.

Turnips, half to three-quarters of an hour.
Spinach, half an hour (allowing plenty of time before for a thorough picking, washing and soaking).
Young beets, about two hours.
Asparagus, about half an hour.
Carrots, about half an hour to 40 minutes.
Cauliflower, about half an hour.
Celery, about 20 to 30 minutes.
Onion, from half to three-quarters of an hour.
White potatoes, half to three-quarters of an hour.
Sweet potatoes about half an hour.
Peas, twenty minutes to half an hour.

A LONG FELT NEED

It is gratifying that efforts to secure Boy Scout work for Greenville are now taking definite shape for certainly there is a great need in this city for work among our boys. The Boy Scout movement will give the boys of our city the opportunity of proper training in the path to good citizenship and the amount of money necessary for the program is indeed small compared to the great good to be derived from the establishment of the Boy Scout movement here. Of course the citizens of Greenville will be asked to furnish the necessary funds for the work but we are sure that when called upon they will respond liberally for certainly there is no greater work than that of seeing to the proper character building of our future citizens. Greenville has long felt the need of this form of work here among its boys and we repeat that it is most gratifying that a group of our citizens have decided to get behind the movement and see that it is successful.

OUT IN THE OPEN

There is one thing that can be said for the Greenville tobacco market this season and that is that its operations and claims have been out in the open. There is nothing that builds confidence any quicker than to be known as an individual or organization that is willing to come out in the open and tell the truth, and since the Greenville market opened this season the official figures subject to verification by the buying companies as well as the state department, have been published whether those figures be high or low.

We mention this fact not with the intention of casting reflection upon any individual or any market, for we know that in the past all markets including our own, have been at times guilty of juggling their figures to make them appear to the best advantage. While for the past several seasons our market has been getting further away from this practice, we believe this is the first season that even our market has made its official figures known every day of the season. Certainly this effort to give the public the true facts from day to day will build confidence in the market and the individuals who operate on it, and in view of the past history of the tobacco selling industry we feel that this stride toward greater confidence and better understanding is worthy of commendation.

unemployed had been built at costs ranging from $650 to $900. This must have made faces red in the Subsistence Homestead Division of the Interior Department—to say nothing of the White House. The houses at Mrs. Roosevelt's pet Reedsville, W. Va., project cost between $4,000 and $6,000 each and then didn't turn out to be so hot according to all reports.

Hopkins has made a fine field showing on what can be done as experience is gathered. Picking: There is an extra reporter sitting in at all sessions of the Post Office Department's current inquiry into ocean mail contracts.

In addition to the official stenographic reporters a young lady hammers away diligently at a stenotype machine. Newspaper men who have watched her closely notice that she was not recording everything said but picking her spots instead.

This young lady works for Carl Ristine, special assistant to the Attorney General in charge of air-mail and ocean-mail prosecutions, if any. It is her job to get down verbatim any statements made from the witness stand by steamship men that may have a bearing on any court proceedings Ristine might decide to institute.

Tight: There have been so many all breaks recently that obviously were made possible by assistance from the outside that the Department of Justice has taken unusual precautions at Alcatraz Prison in San Francisco Bay. The prize collection there of public enemies is on a scientific basis that makes hops of escape or insurrection less than a dream.

Alcatraz prisoners on good behavior are permitted visitors once a month but they no longer can come in personal contact with their callers—who might be tempted to slip them a gun, knife or saw. A steel door now separates prisoner and visitor. Conversing is done through a tube arrangement and sight of each other is possible only through a peephole filled with bullet proof glass.

Ark: Secretary Wallace and Chester Davis, AAA administrator, are chagrined by the failure of cash-fertilized farmers to give AAA a whopping endorsement just before election. Of the 50 per cent who voted at all, only a bare majority voted to suit the planners, Wallace, always frank and fair, announces that this result does not justify him in claiming that the farmers have rendered an unmistakable verdict.

Another plebiscite is to be taken and Washington will beg the grangers to "get out and vote." A big majority for AAA is needed to impress Congress. Otherwise the AAA may be amputated and twisted out of shape. Radicals are determined to go too far to suit Wallace, and conservatives, including many Democrats, are lying in wait to hamstring the program.

The heart of the difficulty lies in the attempt to bring producers of many different kinds of commodities into Wallace's AAA Ark. Noah had fewer troubles. Rose: Jouett Shouse, president of the American Liberty League, doesn't like the terms "liberal" and "conservative" as applied generally to the two schools of political thought. So far as the Liberty League is concerned he would prefer to have its members known as "conservators of constructive thought."

Notes: David Lloyd George is coming soon to visit friends in Washington. "Never mind," said Representative Patman "We'll get a bill through to issue $2,400,000 in currency to pay the bonus." Vice President Garner will confer soon—minus publicity—with FDR at the White House to shape up the winter program. The Supreme Court is considering omnibus refusals of students in land-grant colleges to perform military service. Nobody but objectors fortified by religious scruples is exempt according to law. Strong forces including the administration are lining up against AFL's demand for a 30-hour week.

New York, Oct. 24—Punces: Big time utility leaders have decided they're fed up with suffering in silence. The Edison Electric Institute is preparing to launch an aggressive campaign that will tell the world the utility side of the New Deal argument. An imposing array of figures will be mustered in an effort to prove that the power companies have been sadly maligned and mistreated by public officials. Special attention will be given to combatting the whole theory of public ownership as unfair socialistic competition with legitimate private enterprise.

This decision to take their case directly to the public marks a sharp reversal in Edison Institute policy. Until recently—as pointed out in this column—the Institute's directors figured it was wisest to lay low and confine what they consider their life-and-death battle with the New Deal to suominarine tactics. They felt they were so discredited in the public mind that anything they might say in their own defense would be greeted with razzberries. But now the school of thought which preferred an open offensive has won out and you'll see plenty of action from here on.

Insiders attribute the Institutes change of heart largely to forceful Tom McCarter—its president. He firmly believes the utilities are victims of misrepresentation and injustice and he's all in favor of saying so out loud. He's had quite a time persuading some of his more timid associates—who are better accustomed to indirect methods—but he's finally carried his point. Even now a number of his followers are worried about the kickback to such boldness. They remark that the government has a dozen ways of securing uncomfortable reprisals if so inclined and that government spokesmen inevitably have a big edge in getting and holding popular attention.

Details of the Institute's campaign aren't fully settled but an announcement is due soon which will make its intentions clear. Tentative plans call for establishment of a Washington bureau which will function as a combination lobby and listening post. There will be an abundance of high-powered publicity though its exact nature hasn't yet been determined. You can count on it that the Institute pushes won't be pulled.

Teamwork: But don't think the utilities are abandoning their subtler forms of New Deal opposition just because they're going to step out in public. Political sniping will continue unabated.

For instance many utility chiefs would rejoice to see Governor Lehman of New York defeated for reelection and insiders say they are doing their quite best to bring about the desired result. They have a double objective in concentrating on Lehman. One is to punish him for the restrictive laws he prodded through at the last session of the legislature. The other is to dent FDR's prestige by upsetting his friend and political protege in his home state.

You couldn't prove it in court, but the informed are convinced that this factor has an important bearing on Tammany's apathetic attitude towards the Governor. Relations between New York utility interests and Tammany big shots have long been cordial and it's a pretty safe bet they have been mutually beneficial. There are signs that the old teamwork is still going strong.

Efforts have also been made to mobilize utility security holders against Lehman. Not that the power companies themselves have done anything about it officially—they are far too wise to risk the repercussions that might ensue—but they certainly haven't discouraged stock and bond owners who wanted to spread the word among their fellows that the Governor is their enemy. The only trouble is that the mass of security holders decline to get excited about the situation or to rally in herds to the organization formed for their protection.

Labor: New York business leaders haven't said much about the Federation of Labor's decision at San Francisco to foster industrial—or vertical—unions as against the craft type of organization but they've been thinking plenty. Informed circles privately believe this change in the labor set-up will make it much tougher to keep company unions alive in competition with Federation groups. Some of industry's best minds are focussed on the problem of how to offset this new approach to the closed shop.

Generi: Motor's experiment in labor relations is worth watching in this connection. The motor people have one big advantage over most other industries in their fight on the closed shop—Presidential sanction of collective bargaining with minority labor groups. GM's aim now is to cultivate friendly contacts with independent unions and give them every break possible—in the hope of removing all incentive for employees to join up with A. F. of L. Other large corporations will try the same stunt if General Motors can make it work.

Sidelights: Tammany chiefs are still chuckling over Governor Lehman's statement that he's the boss of the New York State Democracy. Lehman didn't help his cause when he failed to mention Tammany's pet candidate—Frank Taylor for Comptroller—on the Tiger's own platform.

A Washington Daybook

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The recent disclosure that the Federal government had bought a million acres of worn-out farm lands has focused renewed interest on one of the most far-reaching experiments of the "new deal."

It represents an effort on the part of Uncle Sam to make at least partial amends for mistakes made in the land settlement program of the last century.

Some idea of how extensive were these mistakes may be had in estimates compiled by the land policy section of the agricultural adjustment administration that from 750,000 to 1,000,000 families are now on land so poor that to make a comfortable living from farming, even in prosperous times, is impossible.

The present situation, officials say, was brought about by the haphazard way the agricultural lands of the country were settled. Homestead seekers first settled in the good lands along river bottoms. When these were exhausted the pioneering spirit pushed more and more of the settlers to the more undesirable sections of the Western plains.

A Losing Battle

This backwash of settlement left many families holding farms on rocky and steep land. The descendant of these first families since have fought a losing battle and have failed generally to make an adequate living.

There are considerable areas in which the average cash income per farm seldom has been as high as $100 a year.

Department of Agriculture estimates of acreage which ultimately should be taken out of cultivation range between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 acres. Buying operations are being conducted in practically all sections of the country. An allotment of $25,000,000 of public works money has been made for the retirement of these submarginal lands. The Federal Emergency Relief Administration has an additional $12,500,000 set aside for this purpose by President Roosevelt out of the drought relief appropriation.

Eager To Leave

Director Hopkins of FERA estimates that between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 acres may be bought with the $25,000,000 public works allotment.

Most of the families whose worn-out lands are being purchased by the government have plans of their own for the future. Hopkins estimates that only about one-third of the families will have to be placed on new land.

FERA is experiencing little difficulty in persuading these families to divest themselves of their poverty-stricken farms. In most instances they are eager to quit the lands on which they have been barely able to eke out an existence in the past.

Boilermaker Foreman By Day, Orchestra Conductor At Night

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—"Death rays," as deadly as any war invention ever dreamed, are raining upon the earth's outer atmosphere from the distant stars.

They hold the threat of a blistering, blinding death for every living thing if they ever can penetrate the "ozone fortress" that surrounds an orange.

These messengers of doom from the skies are silent invisible, and give no light. They come chiefly from the big hot blue stars scattered through the heavens. These stars, scientists have just discovered, give out vast quantities of these death rays, and almost no other kinds.

In this they differ from the sun, which gives out a few death rays, but also the beneficial ultra-violet rays and heat rays that make life possible on earth.

Scattered Through Space The death rays from the stars presumably are scattered all through space, diffused in every direction by the tremendous radiating power of the stars which generate them. Some of them reach the outer edges of the earth's atmosphere after traveling trillions and quadrillions of miles through space, and others are constantly raining down from the "nearby" sun, only 93 million miles away.

All the death rays, however, are stopped on this earth's very threshold by a tenuous layer of ozone, a form of oxygen, in the upper reaches of the earth's atmosphere. After speeding across vast distances almost too great to be imagined, they are stopped and absorbed by the ozone only a little more than forty miles habitats, while the beneficial rays come through.

Careful Study Made

"It is astonishing and even terrifying," says Dr. Charles G. Abbott of the Smithsonian Institution, "to contemplate the narrow margin of safety on which our lives thus depend. Were this trifling quantity of atmospheric ozone removed, we should all perish."

He and his assistant, L. B. Aldrich, studying the stars this summer at Mount Wilson Observatory, California, discovered that the blue stars are raining down vast quantities of the ultra-violet death rays. The death rays from the sun have been known for many years.

The scientists analyzed more carefully than ever has been possible before the kinds of radiation sent out by different kinds of stars. While the blue stars, which are among the hottest, and out mostly the ultra-violet death rays, the cooler stars sent out less of these and more ordinary light and heat rays.

Yellow stars like our sun sent out more rays in the yellow-green section of the spectrum than any other kind, while the red stars, cooler than the sun, emit little or no ultra-violet rays but a great deal of invisible heat.

Let's find out why Turkish tobacco is so important to a good cigarette

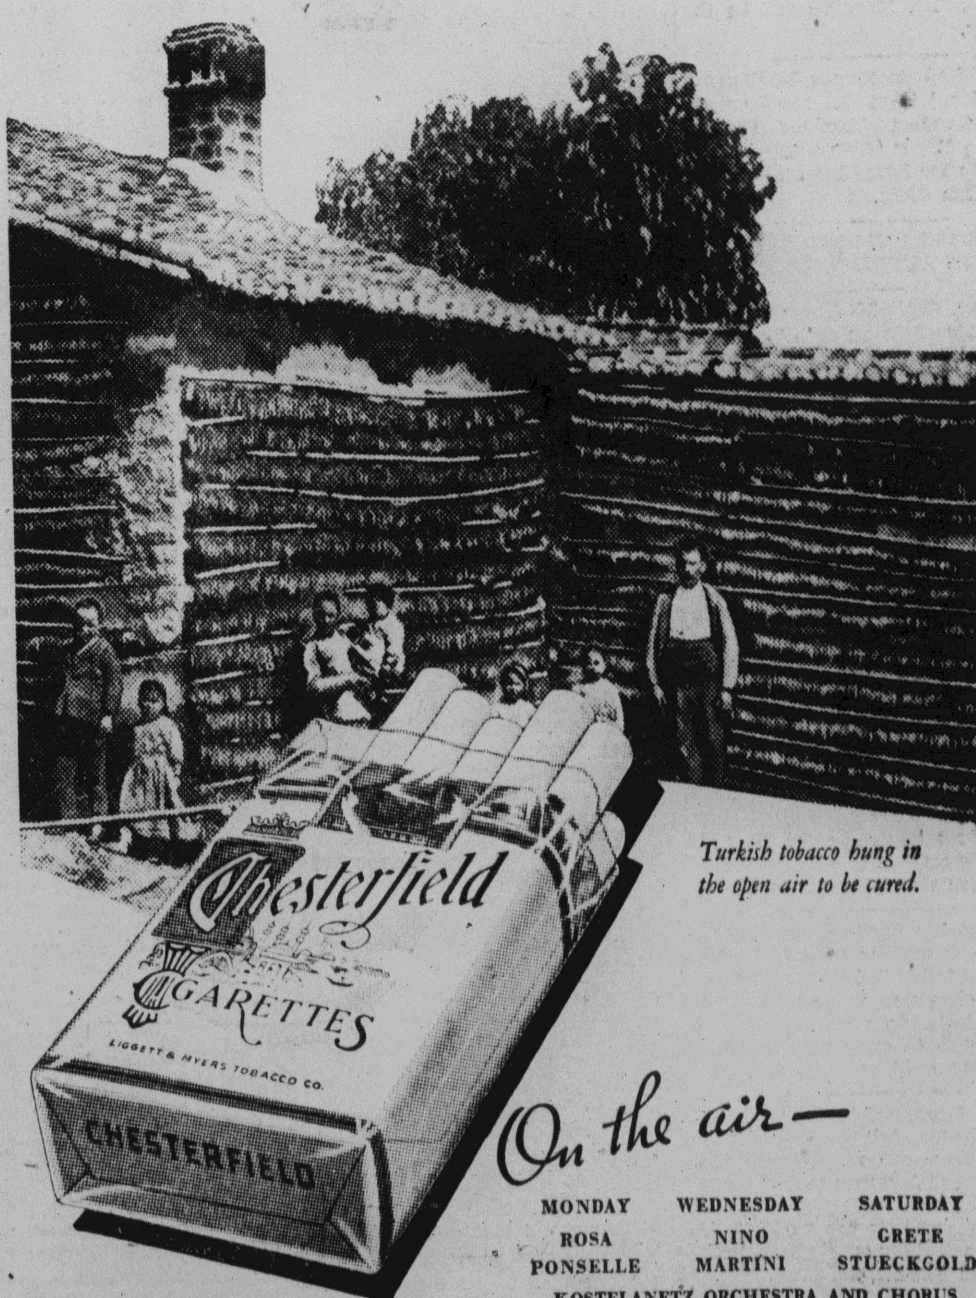

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna . . . in the fertile fields of Macedonia . . . along the shores of the Black Sea . . . grows a kind of tobacco that is different from any other tobacco in the world.

THESE Turkish tobaccos are the only tobaccos of foreign cultivation that are used to any great extent in making American cigarettes.

Turkish tobaccos are famous for their spicy aroma, and a blend of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco with our own home-grown tobaccos is better than any one kind used alone.

In Chesterfield we balance mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country with just the right amounts of the right kinds of Turkish.

It is by blending and cross-blending these different tobaccos that we make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

Turkish tobacco hung in the open air to be cured.

New York, Oct. 24 (AP)—Cotton opened steady 6 to 7 points higher on steeper Liverpool cables and trade buying. Business was quiet at the start. At the end of the first half hour December was holding around 12.30 and May 12.41 or five to seven points net higher. The market continued steady later in the morning. December advanced to 12.37 and May to 12.47 or about 11 to 13 points net higher. Offerings increased slightly at these figures, however. The market at mid-day was dull with prices showing reactions of two to three points from the best.

N. Y. Stock Market

For the tenth consecutive session the stock market held to its extremely narrow trading range today Wall Street was awaiting President Roosevelt's address tonight to the American Bankers Association with expectation and was somewhat perplexed by Ambassador Bingham's urging currency stabilization in an address at Edinburg late yesterday. Business and trade news was moderately favorable. Bonds were firm in commodities cotton was stiff and grains followed a narrow groove. Aircraft issues were given a little whirl evidently in celebration of the smashing of records in the London to Melbourne race.

Sets New Record

Clinton, Iowa, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Union Pacific streamlined train en route from Los Angeles to New York, arrived here at 12:10 p. m. (CST) paused one minute to change crews and left on the last lap to Chicago after making 349 miles across Iowa in 353 minutes. The train pulled out of Omaha on schedule this morning streaking eastward toward Chicago on its cross country trip from Los Angeles to New York. When the train reached Omaha at 6:05 a. m. (EST) it had set a world's record for the fastest sustained speed of 500 miles or more by an average of 84 miles an hour between Cheyenne, Wyo., and Omaha, said Ed Schmidt, relations man for the railroad.

Two Killed; Ten Hurt Indiana, Pa., Oct. 24 (AP)—A bus carrying twelve passengers upset and splashed into a stream of the Benjamin Franklin highway near here today killing two passengers and injuring ten. The dead were brought to the morgue in Indiana but were not immediately identified. Passengers said the front wheels of the bus en route from New York to Chicago seemed to shimmy and then the huge vehicle left the road. It turned over twice going down the embankment. The coach itself was separated from the chassis in the plunge and thrown clear, sending the passengers sprawling.

Dies From Injuries Burlington, Oct. 24 (AP)—I. M. Tull, Jr., 29, manager of Chaplin Hill airport died in a hospital here today of injuries suffered when his plane crashed in a woods 10 miles east of here, Monday afternoon. Two blood transfusions were given Tull but he failed to help. He lost considerable blood and suffered several injuries when his machine fell after the engine went dead. The body will be sent to Kinston for burial tomorrow.

Hauptmann Trial January 2

Flemington, N. J., Oct. 24 (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann entered a personal plea of not guilty today on a charge of murdering the Lindbergh baby and Supreme Court Justice Thos. E. Trenchard fixed January 2, 1935 as the date for the trial. The indictment returned by a Hunterdon County grand jury two weeks ago was read Hauptmann by the clerk. Then he was asked how he pleaded. "Not guilty" Hauptmann answered in a loud voice.

Will Recommend Increased Housing

By HERBERT PLUMMER Washington, D. C. (AP)—President Roosevelt's announcement that he will recommend a big increase in housing projects to the next Congress may give home owners one of the biggest "breaks" in the "new deal." Within the comparatively short time of three and one-half years Uncle Sam has set up machinery to aid home owners rivaling any of the other vast and intricate governmental mechanisms. And apparently the end is not yet in sight. Literally billions of dollars of government and industrial money have been made available. Uncle Sam took the first step in this direction in the latter part of the Hoover administration when Congress passed the first Federal home loan act—the father of the numerous similar acts now on the statute books. From then on alphabetical agencies created to help the home owner increased by leaps and bounds. New Alphabetical Set-Up RFC came along to do its share by expanding its powers to include issuance of bonds to finance Federal housing agencies. Then FHLBB—Federal home loan bank board—made its appearance first $125,000,000 in capital and authority to operate a dozen banks and make loans to their affiliates. HOLC was next, operating on a temporary basis under FHLBB with $3,200,000,000 in capital. In the closing days of the last Congress FHA was created. Now there has just been created the newest agency—FSLIC (Federal savings and loan insurance corporation) to protect savings and loans accounts in eligible building and loan associations, Federal savings and loan associations, co-operative banks and homesteads. The godfather of FSLIC is FHLBB, but the corporation was created in the act with established FHA. FSLIC is a mere $100,000,000.

It is estimated that when FHA really gets to functioning at high speed approximately 5,000 persons will be on the payroll. "New deal" officials have no apologies to make on the size and scope of their home-aid organization. Chairman Fahey of FHLBB and HOLC says that as compared to other countries the United States never has given its housing problem the attention it deserves. Fahey believes the depression might have been stopped long ago if there had been adequate laws, including housing laws.

NEGRO STUDENTS Pay Tribute To Late Educator

More than one thousand students assembled in the auditorium of the negro high school yesterday to pay tribute to the late Dr. A. T. Allen. The following program was rendered: Scripture, 90th Psalm—Mrs. P. K. Fisher. Lord's Prayer—Chanted by School. Hymn: "Nearer My God To Thee." Talk on the Life of Dr. Allen—Miss E. Englehardt Williams, Cherrie Artis. Tribute to Dr. Allen—Miss D. A. Keys. Music: "Lead Kindly Light." Expressions as to Dr. Allen's work—Misses Ruth Johnson, Ochia P. Dover, W. H. Davenport. Closing Remarks—Miss Sadye Sautler. The music was conducted by Mrs. N. W. Cherry. Master of Ceremonies C. M. Epps urged the children to take note of the real friends of human uplift. The rugged sympathetic characters that have served the state have not failed to go as near as possible the length they should go to aid their brother—the stately buildings that negro children have today is due to big hearts of men like Dr. Allen who sleep and those who live. The closing music was "Shall we meet beyond the river, where the surges cease to roll."

200,000 Motor-Minded Men See Why Germ Processed Oil Cuts Motor Wear and Saves You Money!

AFTER seeing the demonstration of oiliness and film strength pictured below, at least 200,000 motor-minded men have been convinced that "Any oil would be better oil if Germ Processed!" Every well-known motor oil in America has been tried in this instrument. The addition of a drop of Germ Essence to every oil used gave an increase in film strength and oiliness that could be felt, seen and heard! That's proof that New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil—the only oil made by the patented Germ Process—has greater film strength and more oiliness than any mineral oil. Proof that it will give you greater motor protection and lower oil consumption. Change at any of the 18,000 Conoco Red Triangle stations and ride with the comfortable feeling that you have the safest, finest motor oil ever made.

1 Assembled instrument. Split bearings and shaft, lubricated with competitive oil, are clamped between "jaws" of instrument. With set-screw, extreme pressure is applied.

2 Crank is now used to turn shaft. Oil film ruptures and bearings "seize." Shaft extremely hard to turn. You can even hear the metal-to-metal contact!

3 Drop of Germ Essence is added to oil in bearing. Same pressure applied. Shaft can now be turned easily. Smooth, quiet movement—no seizing—no sound. Proof that Germ Processing increases oiliness and film strength of any oil!

SCIENCE IMPROVES ON NATURE

Just as scientific fertilizing makes the best corn land produce better corn, so does scientific Germ Processing make the best mineral motor oils produce better lubrication. Continental developed and patented the Germ Process—no other oil company can use it. Drive in at the Conoco Red Triangle to get greater motor protection and lower oil consumption!
