THREE DEMOCRATIC PARADERS KILLED IN PENN

Millions Of Voters Go To Polls In America G. O. P. Leader And Family Are Held By Police

DEMOCRATS FACE TEST OVER NATION

Machine Gun Ambuscade Mars Pre-Election Quiet at Kelayers, Pa.; Three Persons Killed; Police Precautions Taken To Prevent Bloodshed in Number of Territories

(By Associated Press) Clement weather beckoned millions of American voters to a test of the New Deal today after a momentous election campaign marred at the last moment by a massed shooting of red-fire paradars in a Pennsylvania mining hamlet.

A machine-gun ambuscade at Kelayers, Pa., which killed three marchers in a Democratic procession and wounded fifteen other persons, emphasized a senseless prevailing in several areas as voters across the nation balloted on 466 members of Congress, 33 governors and a host of other contests.

Unusual police precautions to prevent more bloodshed were the rule as the voters poured forth in what seemed sure to be record numbers for an off-year election. Nearly 48,000,000 persons had registered and it was believed 30,000,000 or more would vote before the polls closing place closed at 11 p. m.

Besides Pennsylvania—a battleground where the political campaign has stirred passions to white heat—contending factions warned of possible disturbances or irregularities in California, New York, Delaware and other states.

Almost perfect weather was on the cards of the 47 states where elections were being held. The voting was heralded a thorough, if an exact, criterion of the Roosevelt ho' on the electorate.

Many months of campaigning ended at midnight in a burst of conflicting predictions by Democrats and Republicans. Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic National committee, and Chairman Henry Fletcher, of the G. O. P. committee made final appeals to voters over the radio.

Fletcher said: "We are going to recapture seats in Congress and we are going to win back control of state governments, but whether our victory be great or small, the Republican party workers will have to stand firm during the next two years."

Making bids for votes for the New Deal rather than along party lines, Farley predicted a gain of six Senate seats and a probable Democratic increase in the House of Representatives. He thanked those Republicans, Independents and "thinkers people of all sects who have been thoughtful enough to aside party labels in the public interest."

ACCIDENT SUFFERER ASKS $20,000 PAYMENT

Gastonia, Nov. 6.—Ed Mayberry, Gaston county resident, has filed suit for $20,000 in superior court here against A. T. Fronberger, also of this county, for damages sustained in an automobile accident on Highway 20 near Bessemer City on Nov. 14 last.

Mr. Mayberry alleged that A. T. Fronberger, driving his father's car, ran him down on the highway, seriously injuring him, and causing him to spend large sums of money on hospital and doctor's bills.

TEACHER SCATTERS WORTHLESS CHECKS

Baltimore, Nov. 6.—Miss Catherine Bouserman, 23-year-old Virginia school teacher, who told the court she has a master of arts degree from the University of North Carolina, was in the Baltimore jail tonight awaiting Judge Robert F. Staunton's decision as to sentencing her for false pretense and forgery.

Yesterday she pleaded guilty to 12 indictments, 11 for forgery growing out of the police investigation of the bad checks she scattered over the city. She admitted, in a statement to the Judge, that she also had written some 30 other checks, equally as worthless.

Japan Threatens To Build New Warships

London, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Authoritative quarters said today any proven violation of the Japanese mandate in the Pacific islands would be a breach of Article 1 of the Washington Naval treaty of 1922. This would automatically bring the question in the naval division.

Article 19 says: "The United States, the British empire and Japan agree that the status quo attained in the signing of the treaty with regard to fortifications and naval bases shall be maintained in respective territories."

Official quarters followed with great interest the mandate situation at Geneva, where a Japanese diplomat was questioned concerning reports of the construction of a naval base on a former German island.

PITT COUNTY GOES TO POLLS

Voters Balloting in General Election Like Other Parts of The Country

With only slight opposition on last Pitt county voters went to the polls today to cast their ballots in the general election which is holding sway in all sections of the nation today.

Although the election is an off-year affair, it was indicated a fairly heavy vote would be cast, especially in those sections of the country where Democrats are faced by much Republican opposition.

Pitt county Democrats whose nomination in the June primary was tantamount to election, were faced with opposition only in one field today and that centering around the board of county commissioners where Republicans were offering candidates for the entire five seats.

Voting was being conducted with greater facility than ever before in Greenville and Chicod townships where new voting places were created to relieve congestion so evident in past years.

Greenville voters were casting their ballots in four precincts and Chicod voters in three. Voting in Greenville was being conducted at Third Street school, the Court House, the City Hall, and Pitt Drug Company.

In Grimesland the voters were casting their ballots at Grimesland, Cox Mill and Venter's store. Each of these townships prior to the election, had only one voting place. State and Congressional offices in addition to the county ticket were involved in the balloting today, and in view of the fact that many of the state and county officers were without opposition, only minor interest is centered in the election.

However, W. E. Hooks, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive committee, appealed to the voters late yesterday afternoon to go to the polls in large numbers and vote for party candidates given the okay in the June primary. It was declared that votes cast in favor of the Democrats would mean approval of the New Deal legislation to the country by the Roosevelt administration.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG News Behind The News.

By GEORGE DURNO SAUCE: The other day this column reported on the determination of organized labor to kick up a concentrated rumpus almost immediately.

Stepping over to view the opposite angle of that picture it is apparent the bosses have their backs fully as high in the air as the men who speak for workmen carrying union cards.

A terrific drive is about to start in an effort to prove to the general public that the employers are being sinned against sadly. Reverberations of the debate, pro and con, will shake the U. S. Capitol's walls materially this winter.

Meanwhile the naval conversations continued with a meeting between Norman Davis, of the United States, and Sir John Simon of Great Britain, in the latter's office.

If Japan does not get a naval parity with the United States and Great Britain, it was learned today, she plans to construct a number of warships of an entirely new type.

Secret plans called for battle-ships so powerful that some of the present categories for world fleets outlined by the Washington and London treaties might be made useless, it was said. The vessel is understood to resemble an advanced model ship which will be built only if no new treaty involving the Japanese program for parity is approved by London and Washington.

Sheriff Whitehurst Continues Probe of Safe Cracking at Court House

Belief that the robbery of the safe in the auditor's office at the court house here last Sunday night was an "inside job" was expressed today by Sheriff Sam Whitehurst as he continued investigation of the case.

In pointing to the fact that the robbery was committed by somebody acquainted with the "lay of the land" in the office, the sheriff said he did not mean that it was persons connected with the office. He merely meant it was a person or persons familiar with the court house and knew that money was kept in the safe of Auditor John Coward from time to time.

The sheriff said suspicion that Curtis Williams, assistant negro janitor at the courthouse who is serving six months in jail for carrying a concealed weapon, had been dissipated when finger prints found on the doors of the safe failed to check with those of Williams.

The officer said he did not believe the robbery, which netted the yegmen a small sum described by Auditor Coward as a "stamp fund" was the work of experts. In fact, he said he believed the combination on the safe had not been on at the time and that the only difficulty experienced was opening the three lock boxes with a crowbar.

Working without what he considered a clue of any importance, the sheriff said he would continue the investigation and hoped the finger prints found on the lock boxes would be an aid in finding a solution to the robbery, described as the boldest in the history of the county.

Stock Exchanges Closed In U. S.

New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—All stock exchange and commodity markets in the United States are closed today—election day—except Salt Lake City stocks, Boston wool, Savannah naval stores, New York livestock and various cattle markets. European and Canadian markets are open as usual.

Alton Haddock Dies In Chicod Funeral Today

Alton Haddock, age 6, died Monday at 1:30 o'clock at his home in Chicod township after two days' illness from pneumonia. He is survived by his mother and grandmother, Mrs. Martha Haddock, and an aunt, Mrs. N. E. Elks.

Funeral services were conducted from the home of the grandmother at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and burial was made in the Elks' burial ground.

DISCIPLES TO OPEN MEETING ON WEDNESDAY

The ninetieth annual convention of the Disciples of Christ opens tomorrow (Wednesday), with the ministerial session at 1:30 P. M. The State Board of the Women's Missionary organization meets at 2:30, and the ministers' wives will hold a session at 3:30. At 5:00 Mr. and Mrs. Travis E. Hooker will entertain the delegates at tea in their home on West Fifth street. The Greenville congregation was organized in the Hooker home in 1909.

The evening session will begin with a devotional service promptly at 7:15, and will be followed by an address of welcome by Mayor R. C. Flanagan. The president's address will be delivered by Rev. Richard Bagby. The closing address of the session will be delivered by Dr. R. H. Miller, minister of the National City Church of Washington, D. C. There will be special music by the choir of the Eighth Street church.

The local congregation extends to the general public a most cordial invitation to attend any or all of the sessions of the convention and sincerely hopes that this invitation will be accepted by many of the people of Greenville.

Several Hundred Church Members Expected to Attend Session in Greenville

The drive for funds for organized Boy Scout work in Greenville got under way today, and although reports from the various committees were not available this afternoon it was said that progress was very encouraging.

The canvass of the city followed a fellowship breakfast enjoyed by the twenty workers at the Friendly Dining Room this morning, and another will be held Wednesday morning at which time a complete report of activities will be made.

Twenty workers took part in the canvass today and shortly after noon they reported they were meeting with gratifying response from the list of citizens they had contacted.

It was said by members of the campaign forces that it would be impossible to contact everybody in the city, and persons desiring to contribute to this cause were urged by Dr. G. R. Combs, one of the leaders of the Scout movement, to do so at once.

It is necessary to obtain $1,500 for a Boy Scout program in Greenville, and the generous response which campaigners met with this morning virtually assured them that the entire sum would be raised.

Members of the committee said they desired to complete the canvass tomorrow, and anybody desiring to give to the cause was urged to contact Dr. Combs or other members of the committee at once and let the amount of their gift be known.

WHITE HEADS THE ROLL CALL

Local Business Man Selected Chairman Of Red Cross Membership Drive

Volunteer workers for the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross are making plans now for the annual Roll Call membership campaign which opens on Armistice Day, Sunday, November 11, according to a statement today by Julian White Roll Call chairman of the local chapter. The quota assigned to this chapter is $1,500 and Mr. White says there is every indication that the goal will be reached, if not passed, during the roll call campaign.

"A gain in membership was reported by the national organization for last year," Mr. White said today. "The organization did not suffer a serious loss in members at any time during the period of stress such decrease as occurred was checked last year, and the response to the roll call this year is expected to be well up toward the pre-depression figure."

"Immediately after President Roosevelt was inaugurated in March 1933, the Red Cross pledged him its support and the use of all its facilities, and over and over again the federal government has called on the Red Cross for cooperation.

"Disaster relief and relief and rehabilitation for veterans and soldiers and sailors are a permanent national responsibility of the Red Cross. In addition to this permanent service there has been close affiliation between the Red Cross and various Federal Emergency Relief activities during the past year. Red Cross chapters were enrolled in Civilian Conservation Corps camps and in the ranks of Civil and Public Work forces. First aid was taught by the Red Cross on CWA and PWA projects, and is now being taught in CCC camps to lessen accidental deaths and injuries; public health nurses have worked to prevent illness and malnutrition in the homes.

ASKS FILING OF LEAF CARDS

Farmers Who Have Filled Their Cards Asked to Turn Them In To Farm Dept.

E. F. Arnold, director of the local farm department, today requested tobacco growers to bring their marketing cards to his office as soon as they are filled.

Mr. Arnold said numbers of growers had already finished selling their tobacco, and that they should place their cards in his hands as speedily as possible. This is necessary, he said so that the cards may be figured and sent to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for final check.

Mr. Arnold said the sooner cards are in the hands of his department, the quicker growers will receive their payments from the government.

With the bulk of the tobacco crop already sold, the farm director expressed belief that all marketing cards would be in his hands in a short time now.

Doumergue Cabinet Is Overthrown in France

Paris, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The political truce cabinet of Premier Gaston Doumergue was wrecked by politics today after nine months' volage on the French sea of politics.

Five radical members of the cabinet led by Edouard Heriot, vice-premier and minister without portfolio, deserted Doumergue at the request of radical party leaders. The sixth resigned orally at a cabinet session. The formal resignations of the cabinet will be present to President Lebrun Thursday.

The cabinet wreckage occurred nine months to the day following the cabinet induction on February 6 and after the riot which shocked France and overthrew the governor (Continued on page 6)

FARMERS GET 12-CENT LOAN

Deliveries to the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association are running far ahead of expectations, M. G. Mann, general manager, said here today.

He said practically all the farmers are taking advantage of the government's liberal 12-cent loan plan on cotton and that a large number of these farmers are getting their government loans through their own cotton cooperative.

Every type classed by government graders, proper premiums for better grades and staples, quick and convenient sales, and more than 12 years' experience in handling cotton—these are four of the advantages the cotton cooperative offers to farmers in getting their 12-cent loans.

The fact that North Carolina is leading all Southeastern states East of the Mississippi area in the production of inch to inch and one-sixteenth inch staple this section makes it all the more important that farmers get their 12-cent loans (Continued on page Two)

Winston-Salem, Nov. 6.—Edward Pfaff of Pfafftown, former clerk at the local postoffice, this morning pleaded guilty to robbing the mails and was sentenced to fifteen months in the federal penitentiary by Federal Judge Johnson J. Hayes. He also was fined $250 and was ordered to make restitution in the sum of $71.

LEAF SALES FAIRLY HEAVY

In spite of the fact that the bulk of the tobacco crop has been sold in this part of the state, the Greenville tobacco market enjoyed comparatively heavy sales yesterday.

The official report of activities made public this morning by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales, showed the market yesterday handled 715,594 pounds of tobacco for which growers were paid $224,040, at an average of $31.31 per hundred.

The sale carried the season's poundage to 48,009,846 pounds, for which the market paid $15,262,346.65 at a general average of $31.79 per hundred pounds.

Sales were completed shortly after the noon hour. With sales somewhat lighter today work was expected to be completed around noon.

Farmers have been urged to give careful attention to grading their tobacco so it will be in the best condition possible when offered for sale. This, it was said, is conducive to improved prices.

COUNTY BOARD HAS DRY MEET

Members of the Board of County Commissioners, meeting in this city yesterday, confined their attention principally to the payment of bills for the past month, and hearing the reports of the various county departments.

The meeting, it was said today by J. C. Gaskins, register of deeds and secretary to the board, was purely of a routine nature and only slight time was required in completing the day's work.

This was the last meeting of the Board until the first Monday in December, when the new board elected in June will be inducted into office. After completing its business during the morning hour the old board will turn over its affairs to members of the new organization.

Of principal importance to the new board is the election of a chairman to succeed Herman McLawhorn, who will be among the outgoing members.

The new board will be composed of B. M. Lewis, W. A. Cherry, G. S. Porter, new members and Roy T. Cox and Noah Williams, the only members of the old board re-elected.

Other officers elected in the primary last June, and confirmed in today's general election, will be inducted into office at the same time the commissioners take oath.

YEGGS CRACK SAFE IN ROCKINGHAM OFFICE

Rockingham, Nov. 6.—Yegmen Sunday night drilled holes into the safe of the Pee Dee Oil Company, here, and blew it open with nitroglycerine. About $25 in cash and $300 worth of checks were secured. Manager Hinson's new overcoat was used to deaden the noise.

The oil company is owned by Highway Commissioner James Hardison of Wadesboro, with Minor T. Hinson as manager of the Rockingham office. No clue as to the identity of the robbers has been obtained.

TWO BADLY WOUNDED IN WAYNE GUN BATTLE

Goldboro, Nov. 6.—A gun battle at Gaine's filling station at Five Points on Highway 40 and 123, five miles south of Goldboro, at nine o'clock Sunday morning, resulted in serious injuries to two men, damage to property, and the arrest of a 15-year-old boy.

C. H. Edwards, 42 of near Four Oaks, was shot in the head, and on Monday morning had one eye removed at the Goldboro Hospital. Nedham Gaine, operator of the station, had several No. 8 shot removed from his body at the hospital, and is now in bed at his home near the filling station. Dallas Edwards, 15-year-old son of C. H. Edwards, is out under a $1,000 bond.

FIFTEEN ARE INJURED IN DISORDERS

Citizens of Kelayers Fearful of Further Violence as They go To Polls Today; Republican Leader Joseph Bruno Held As Paraders Are Shot From His Home; High Powered Rifles and Shot-guns Used

Hazleton, Pa., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The echo of gunfire that swept Democratic paraders last night, killing three and wounding fifteen, rang in the ears of Kelayers voters as tense and fearful of further violence they balloted today.

The Republican leader of the little mountain village, five miles south of here, is held with 13 others as state and federal officers start an investigation of what Gov. Pinchot described as "an unspeakable outrage."

Cries of "Kill them!" came from the throats of citizens who surged about state police as the Republican leader, Joseph Bruno and members of his family were arrested.

Threats of dynamiting the Bruno home were muttered.

The shooting, described as a raking cross-fire, occurred as men, women and children, under banners of the Democratic party, paraded down the main street.

The fire was opened as the paraders reached a point in front of the Bruno home. Police were told that shots were fired from the Bruno home and from the home of Bruno's nephew across the street.

The weapons used in the cold-blooded murder, as State Democratic Chairman David L. Lawrence called it, were found today disposing of the belief widely expressed by paraders that machine guns had been used by the killers.

Lieut. Edward Griffith, in charge of the state police investigation, said four shotguns, two high-powered rifles, four automatic pistols and two revolvers had been found at Joseph Bruno's home, and that one high-powered rifle had been found in his nephew's quarters.

Only Routine Business Considered by Commissioners Here During Yesterday

Members of the Board of County Commissioners, meeting in this city yesterday, confined their attention principally to the payment of bills for the past month, and hearing the reports of the various county departments.

ROTES FAVOR LICENSING OF AUTO DRIVERS

Chairman of Red Cross Roll Call Asks Clubmen For Support of Campaign

By WYATT BROWN
The Rotary club voted to sign the petition being circulated by the Charlotte Junior Chamber of Commerce to secure the passage in the coming session of the State Legislature a law requiring licensing by the state of all automobile drivers, last night at their regular weekly dinner meeting in their club building on Rotary Avenue.

Julian Whate, chairman of the Pitt County Red Cross Roll Call of 1934, called the attention of the Rotarians to the coming Roll Call which starts on November 15th. He called their attention to the fact that Pitt County has fallen below most of the neighboring counties in securing members and he urged that Pitt County go over the top this year with 150 members. To show the value locally of Red Cross, Mr. Whate indicated the recent campaign initiated by the Red Cross National organization to drive pellagra out of Pitt County by supplying yeast and following it up with permanent extermination efforts in a garden program. Further he added, it was the Red Cross that supplied the Greenville and Farmville swimming pools with trained Life Savers, which has taught first aid in the schools, and home hygiene in rural districts and intends to enlarge on this program with funds gathered this year. He bespoke the cooperation of the Rotarians to see Pitt County get its fifteen hundred members. He explained how only fifty cents of each membership fee is sent to national headquarters no matter how much is paid for the membership.

Under the aegis of Maestro Adams, Jack Humphrey in costume accompanied on the piano by Miss Katie Lee Johnson sang three songs to the delight of the Rotarians in his soft rich baritone voice.

Captain Stratford, local director of the Salvation Army, brought to the attention of the Rotarians the need in this community of a Boys Club for the older boy as well as the younger boy. He said "One Boy's Club is worth fifty thousand policeman's clubs. This came as a suggestion from Captain Stratford with the offer from him to do all he could to its practical working out.

There was a loud murmur as though of mutiny last night at the Rotary Club. All sat tense awaiting the casting of the lot to determine the winner of the attendance prize. With breathless awe each sat listening to see if he were the winner. Phil Goodson cast the lot. Jasper Winslow picked it up to read out the lucky name. As he was pulling out his trusty lenses to better see, Phil murmured "It bears the name of Jasper himself." Then the murmur but the glasses found it true Jasper's name was on the lot.

Herbert ReBarker, president of the club presided over the meeting. The ladies ought to know what Happy Watson said about Ladies night for the silence of the rest gave assent to his opinion.

through an agency which can bring them the full reward for better grades and staples.

"This is particularly true this season," Mr. Mann said, "for while more than one-half of the North Carolina cotton ginned so far is shown by government reports to be inch and better, cotton in other states is much shorter than usual this year.

"This means that the premium for 15-16 and better cotton will be higher this year than usual and it is important that farmers get the full reward for these better staples.

He termed significant the fact that most of the cotton used by North Carolina mills is between inch and inch and one-sixteenth and said the cotton cooperative has a good connection with these mills as it sells the most of its cotton to mills right here in this State more than 90 per cent, in fact.

"The quickest and most advisable way for a farmer to get his government 12-cent loan is to take his cotton to one of our more than 250 receiving agents or more than 50 official warehouses," Mr. Mann said. "Make it plain you want to get your loan through your cotton cooperative.

He announced that the following receiving agents and warehouses have been appointed to serve farmers in this section:

C. E. Gardner, Grifton; A. P. Peoples, Fountain; A. W. Ange, Winterville; Stokes and Conley, Stokes; L. R. Whitchard, Whitehall; A. F. Fleming, Grimesland; J. B. Bowers, Bethel; Farmville Bonded Warehouse, Farmville; and Ayden Bonded Warehouse, Ayden.

Have A Bite Of Clay!

"Have you had your 'clay' today?" That's what citizens of Memphis, Tenn., might be asking each other soon following disclosure that negroes, flocking to the banks of the Mississippi river, have eaten about a ton of clay which they regard as a delicacy and a medicine as well. Physicians say the clay is rich in iron and arsenic contents and sufferers from anemia and intestinal parasites might benefit from eating it. Pretty Pauline Miles is shown with a sample of the clay. REALTY SALES PICK UP HERE

Over Fifty Exchanges Of Farm And City Property Reported Last Few Days

Along with the improvement of the financial situation in this section, the transfer of real estate has taken a pronounced jump.

This was indicated today by records in the office of the register of deeds which showed that a total of fifty-odd exchanges of property had been made during the last several days, or since the last report a week or so ago.

The transactions involved property in virtually every section of the county, including both farm and residential and business property.

It is the largest batch of transfers reported from the office of the register of deeds in years for a similar period, and shows to what extent interest in real estate is reviving in all parts of the county.

The transactions ranged from $1 to $13,000.

The largest of the transactions was that between J. C. Green and A. R. Barrett for a consideration of $13,000. The type of property involved in the deal was not mentioned.

The next most important deal was that of F. M. Wooten, commissioner, to J. L. Rollins, trustee, for a consideration of $11,000. The remainder of the deals ranged from $1,000 to $6,000.

The entire list follows:
Town of Grifton to J. A. Adams, lot, $10; S. J. Everett et als to J. H. Bullock, lots, $1,525.00; W. I. Wooten and wife to Garris-Evans Lumber Co., $10,000; Drucella Williams to Claude Harrington, et als, $550; James Brown and wife to David Hardy and wife, $10; Wilburn E. Small to M. H. MODELS 'CRACK DOWN' ON DEBS; MAY STEAL THEIR MEN

Life threatens to become increasingly difficult for the New York debutante's man this season as professional mannikins square off for a finish fight with Park avenue debs, sub-debs and post-debs. The fashion models are shown above signing a petition in protest to the practice of society girls competing with them. Miss Gertrude Mayer (standing, extreme left) called the meeting and said, "We'll steal their men if they don't stay in their own backyard." Miss Peggy Sykes (right), was one of the Gotham bluebloods that modeled at the fashion show of the Green ball for charity. (Associated Press Photos)

AUTO DEATH TOLL DROPS

Nine Persons Killed In This Highway Patrol Division During Past Month

The toll of death dropped slightly on the highways of this patrol division during October compared with the previous months, the monthly report of Lester Jones, patrol lieutenant, indicated today.

Nine persons were killed and 72 injured in a total of 88 accidents investigated during the month as compared with 13 deaths and 65 injured for the previous month.

Drunken drivers, who have been giving patrolmen considerable trouble for several months, continue to increase, the report showing that 49 were arrested during the month as compared with 25 for the previous period.

Chief Jones declared his men were doing everything in their power to check the operation of automobiles by drunken drivers. He said the courts were giving them the full penalty of the law and virtually all those taken into custody by patrolmen were fined heavily and had their licenses revoked from ninety days to six months.

Of the hundred and eighty-six arrests made by the department, a hundred and eighty-three were found guilty and sentenced to a total of 678 months on the county roads. Only three of the defendants were found not guilty.

Warnings were issued to 2,174 motorists.

The total amount of revenue collected by the patrol was given as $14,979.83.

Because of heavy damage by recent storms, 35 important telephones lines in France has been placed under ground.

and the NEW

The difference?? One word will explain... ELECTRICITY. You wouldn't think of tolerating clothes which were the vogue in 1904, but what about your kitchen equipment? Is your range as badly out of date? To be able to enjoy the leisure of the home maker of today your working tools must be as modern as your clothes. Electric cookery is not only modern—it is fast, clean, safe, certain and economical.

Regardless of the size of your family or the limitations of your budget there is an electric range to meet your requirements. Convenient terms may be arranged.

1¢ PER MEAL PER PERSON is now the average cost of electricity for electric cooking. In addition to being the safest, cleanest and most convenient of all known fuels, electricity is one of the most economical.

ALLEGED POSSESSORS OF BAD MONEY FREED

Lumburg, Nov. 6.—A woman and six men held here since Sunday while authorities investigated their alleged possession of spurious money, were released yesterday after W. B. Cawley of the U. S. Secret Service, had taken their fingerprints and checked the case.

More than 15,000 houses are being built in Scotland with government aid.

The suspects, all white, who had been operating concessions at a negro fair in upper Scotland county, were listed as follows: Bernice G. Baker, Raymond Davis, B. R. Milford, Joseph Doherty, all about 30, Alfred Craft, 21, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Herbert, all of Pittsburgh, Pa. They were an angry crowd. Herbert was quoted in a partying wish that that every officer connected with the roundup might be hit and killed by some heavy motor vehicle.

Luncheon for Miss Hadley
Mrs. W. H. Woolard was hostess to about thirty-five guests at a charming luncheon Saturday at her home on Cotanche street, in honor of Miss Rose Hadley, whose wedding to James Howard Moyer was solemnized this month.

Colorful fall flowers were used throughout the home. In the dining room, softly lit by candlelight, the lace-covered table was centered with a lovely arrangement of pink chrysanthemums. Seated at one end of the table, Mrs. J. H. B. Moore served delicious hot barbecue, and at the other end Mrs. Durward Tucker served sole sauté on lettuce. They were assisted in serving the tempting accessories by Mesdames W. H. Williams, Selma Carson Moore and W. J. Bundy.

Misses Helen Settle, Evelyn Turnage and Mary Woolard served coffee. A little later a white-coated chef passed delectable old-fashioned lemon tarts.

An attractive hors-d'oeuvres dish in a hand-painted box was given to Miss Hadley, and Miss Janice McGowan, who is to be married in December, was remembered with a similar but smaller gift.

Out-of-town guests were Misses Velma Harrison and Oro Finch, of Williamston, N. C.

Miss Coates Speaks at Wilson
Miss Dora Coates made a talk to the teachers of Wilson yesterday afternoon on the subject, "The Relationship of the Individual to the Activity Program." This is the first in a series of meetings when all the teachers of Wilson will get together to consider problems of vital importance to the schools. They will meet, in turn, at the different school buildings. About sixty-five teachers were present yesterday afternoon, and they had a most satisfactory meeting.

All parents of the school are especially invited and urged to attend.

Drama Group Meets.
The drama-study group of the American Association of University Women and visitors from town who are interested in the drama were entertained last night at Ragsdale Hall by Miss Mary Dirnberger's reading of Sidney Howard's play, "They Knew What They Wanted," the 1925 Pulitzer prize play.

Miss Dirnberger, the director of work in drama in the college and community under the FERA, began by commenting on the incidental notes in the play, its background of industrial trouble and of preoccupation with prohibition, both typical of the year of the play's appearance.

She mentioned also the fact that Mr. Howard had used a very old situation, but one that is always interesting in that it is always repeating itself in life.

The play was read in a way to make the characters live, the elderly Italian, "Tony," who had everything he wanted except wife and children; Amy, the young waitress whom he fell in love with from a distance and whose promise to marry him he secured by sending a photograph of his foreman, Joe; and then Joe, who made the third in the eternal triangle.

Tony's broken English seemingly presented little difficulty for the reader, who made very clear the greatness of heart of the elderly, illiterate Italian, in his final attitude toward the two who betrayed him.

Miss Lucille Turner, the leader of the drama group sponsored by the committee of education of the A. A. U. W., introduced the reader.

The next play will be read by M. V. Mulholland of the Greenville high school faculty, on the first Monday night in December, in Ragsdale Hall.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.
"Everlasting Punishment" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches and Societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 4th.

The Golden Text was from Proverbs 26:27: "Whoso diggeth a pit shall fall therein; and he that rolleth a stone, it will return upon him."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Ye have sown much, and bring in little; ye eat, but ye have not enough; ye drink, but ye are not filled with drink; ye clothe you, but there is gone warm; and he that earneth wages earneth wages to put it into a bag with holes. Thus saith the Lord of hosts: Consider your ways." (Haggai 1:6,7).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If sin is not regretted and is not lessening, then it is hastening on to physical and moral doom. You are conquered by the moral penalties you incur and the ills they bring. The pains of sinful sense are less harmful than its pleasures. Belief in material suffering causes mortals to retreat from their error, to flee from body to Spirit, and to appeal to divine sources outside of themselves." (Page 405).

Training School P. T. A.
Monday night was parents' night at the Training School, and a large number of parents visited the school. The parents first visited the individual rooms, where they met the teachers and practice teachers, and were shown and discussed the progress of their children. After visiting the rooms they assembled in the auditorium.

Miss Wahl, principal of the Training School, welcomed the parents on behalf of the teachers and extended an invitation to them to visit the school often. She then introduced Prof. J. H. Rose who spoke a few minutes on National Education Week, and then in turn introduced Rev. W. A. Ryan, the speaker of the evening. Mr. Ryan spoke very pleasantly on the Modern Methods of Education, and made the parents feel more keenly their responsibility and desire to be a part in the great system of education. At the conclusion of Mr. Ryan's talk a meeting of the Training School Parent-Teacher Association was called to order.

Mrs. J. J. White, chairman of the nominating committee, reported that all the officers except the President and Vice-President had been secured. Rev. W. A. Ryan for President, and Mrs. E. L. Henderson for Vice-President, were unanimously elected from the floor.

The other officers are Mrs. Wm. Webb, secretary; Mrs. John Clark treasurer; and Mrs. S. L. Bridgers reporter. It was decided to meet the first Monday night in each month to give the fathers an opportunity to attend.

After the meeting, punch was served by the teachers and a short social hour was enjoyed. This was one of the most largely attended and enthusiastic meetings the Association has ever known.

North Carolina Symphony.
The State Symphony, with Lamar Stringfield as conductor, will open its tour of Eastern Carolina with a concert at East Carolina Teachers College on next Tuesday evening, November 13.

For the past two months the symphony has been giving concerts in the Piedmont section of the State, with headquarters in Winston-Salem. Since they were here in the early summer, soon after the present members were selected and as now organized out on their first tour, they have shown marvelous improvement, according to press reports, although from the start they delighted their audiences.

Mr. Stringfield selects his programs with the idea of appealing to both the laymen, and to the music-lovers in the community. He himself is a North Carolinian and knows well his audiences. He has the happy faculty of sensing the good elements in popular and folk music and also of discovering the things in the classics that have popular appeal. He has composed a symphony in which the strains of the ballad "Sourwood Mountain" forms the basis.

Dr. Meadows Attends Three Big Meetings
President L. R. Meadows left today to attend three important meetings within the next few days. Governor Ehringhaus has called together a group of educational leaders to meet in Raleigh in conference tomorrow to consider the problems of Negro education. Dr. Meadows is chairman of the group to study ways and means of improving the scholarship of Negro teachers.

He will address the alumnae of East Carolina Teachers College of Rocky Mount and vicinity at a dinner meeting this evening, and will present the cause of the Wright Memorial Loan Fund.

Dr. Meadows will also attend the meeting of the North Carolina College Conference, to be held in Greensboro on November 8 and 9. Dr. H. J. McGinnis, Dr. A. D. Frank and Mr. E. L. Henderson of the college faculty will also attend this meeting and Dr. McGinnis will talk to the group of Registrars of Colleges.

W. S. Tyson and Family Return
W. S. Tyson, Mrs. Tyson and little son have returned from Columbia, S. C., where Mr. Tyson for the last year has been connected with the Federal Land Bank.

Mr. Tyson, prior to going to Columbia was chief clerk of accounts in the United States House of Representatives for a year.

He said he would resume the practice of law which he relinquished here when he went to Washington to accept his new post.

County Agent E. F. Arnold today issued a request to all tobacco growers to bring in their allotment cards as soon as they are completed in order that work of figuring government benefits might get under way at once.

The sooner these cards are turned in and the records completed the growers will receive their checks from the government.

The checking over of all these cards and preparing the forms is going to be a big job and the sooner those who must do this work can get at it the better it will be for everybody concerned.

So bring your cards in at the first possible moment.

IT NEEDS YOUR SUPPORT

It is possible that you did not get called upon by those soliciting funds for the Boy Scout movement today, but just because you were not seen is no indication that your contribution is not needed nor wanted.

It is the desire of those sponsoring the movement that every citizen who possibly can do so have a part in financing the Boy Scout program in this city.

If you would like to share in this movement, even in a small way, do not hesitate to send it your contribution now.

It is impossible for the volunteer workers to see everyone personally but your contribution may be sent direct to Dr. G. R. Combs, or to this paper.

The movement needs your whole-hearted moral and financial support.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

On the old theory of sauce for the goose being just so much gravy for the gander, the industrialists intend to demand that union labor shall be restricted from forcible recruiting.

A big rush is under way to make membership in the so-called company union just as legal as in any of the militant organizations reporting to President William Green.

TOUGH: The New Deal was showing plenty of trouble making its proposed truce between capital and labor stand up when the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company got involved in a labor dispute.

This one really gave the inner circle a good case of litters.

Here is an independent organization as is independent. The 98 per cent family owned corporation is said to have split about $20,000,000 in annual profits among the lucky few who belong, to say nothing of robust laid-away reserves that would keep the well away from anybody's door.

When they put a "closed sign" on their Cleveland stores they could have done likewise in every other town in the country in which they operate.

The next egg long since had been warmed up to the proper temperature.

New Dealers would have been

Marian Gordon by JEANNE BOWMAN

Chapter 40 MISUNDERSTOOD AGAIN

Marian remembered as they neared home that Hamlin had mentioned having a lodge at a place which she associated with summer resorts, and then she remembered he had given Lon his address on a card.

She would ask Lon for the address; but what excuse would she have for that? Lon would naturally want to know why she was interested in Hamlin.

She knew she wouldn't have enjoyed having Lon ask her for Silver's address, if they hadn't chanced to meet again.

Under the circumstances she'd have to risk his displeasure.

She did, and found she hadn't minimized it.

Lon came in from work, his brow creased with a worried frown. He looked at the shrubs with apathetic interest, barely touched his dinner, then went out to stand on the hill and look down on the subdivision he had started so bravely months before.

Marian finished her housework and joined him.

"Looks like a cemetery," he said moodily, "those stakes are like so many headstones."

"I'm sorry, Lon," she touched his sleeve with her hand. "I do understand how you feel."

He patted her hand and continued staring down hill, where the cool autumn wind was whirling dead leaves into yellow piles.

Marian watched him and her determination to do something to change this queer route their life had taken awakened anew.

"Lon," she said, "do you remember Max Hamlin's giving you his address, that last evening we were with him?"

Lon gave her a quick, suspicious look. "I do, why?"

"I was trying to think of the place today. A summer resort, wasn't it?"

"Not that I know of."

"You still have the card, haven't you?"

"No, I threw it away."

"Lon," she couldn't help the hurt cry, "why did you do that?"

"Because," he said evenly, "I thought the time would come when you'd want to know where he lived."

He turned and started walking to the house, leaving Marian looking after him.

Marian watched Lon, a queer baffled feeling dulling the hurt she might have felt. Mechanically she walked to the other side of the hilltop, sat down on the dry grass and looked out over the valley.

A dreary place on this autumn evening, overcast sky above, yellowing tree smudged with twilight below. Diablo had retired beneath a blanket of clouds, only the pinnacle with its shining eye above, "like an old woman pulling the quilts around her chin," thought Marian.

How to locate Hamlin. Her thoughts wandered for a few moments, resting on the events of the day, the previous week, back on the problem before her.

"I'm a fine newspaper woman," she thought suddenly, "I know much more cheerful if organized labor had leaped on a more vulnerable foe. Yes they know full well that the unions have picked out the A. & P. as a very, tough nut to crack.

Impartial betting here is that the nut is too tough. Representatives of employers in other fields are hoping so and cheering loudly.

LOTTERIES: One Congressional election is being run off today that should interest all those citizens who have an urge to gamble and do it despite existing laws.

Rep. Edward A. Kenny, Democrat

is running for re-election in Bergen County, New Jersey, on a major issue of putting through a national lottery law.

Kenny thinks the federal, state county and city governments ought to get a little revenue from the gambling that is going on. He believes further it would be a good idea if the waging gentry had definite assurance they were getting a square deal.

His theory is that you can't legislate the gambling instinct out of the human race so you might as well regulate it and drag down a profit for government.

At the last session of Congress

Kenney succeeded in getting a committee hearing on his bill for a national lottery. This was almost unprecedented but the fact Congress legalized boxing in the District of Columbia and almost did the same for horse racing seemed to indicate the trend of the times.

At the moment Washington's police force is under attack by the local papers because of a murder allegedly committed by hirelings of a gambling ring.

U. S. Attorney Garnett, on the basis of his inability to stamp out gambling, has publicly stated it should be legalized and controlled.

AMBITION: Socialists of the 26th New York District must have a diabolical sense of humor. Otherwise they never would have endorsed Hamilton Fish, leading Republican Communist-baiter in Congress, for re-election.

Fish, according to his intimates, is a candidate for President. He represents Dutchess County, in which Franklin Roosevelt happens to live, and the fact it always has gone Republican probably gives him courage. He is 46 years old, helped organize the American Legion and consistently has been active in its affairs.

The Congressional Record has carried many of his doggerel poems kidding the political opposition. His latest contribution to American humor was an all-American lineup for President Roosevelt's much publicized football team. Richberg, Tugwell and Frankfurter won commanding positions but FDR didn't even figure in the substitute list.

Fish's secretary is also secretary-treasurer of America, Inc., an organization which defends the Constitution more ardently even than does the American Liberty League.

BLOCKED: In the old days a bank examiner used to descend suddenly on some bank in any given town and start appraising its financial condition.

The practice then was for the bank first visited to call all the other banks in town and warn them to get their books out.

Comptroller of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor has inaugurated a new system. He sends his examiners in to towns in crews. A Treasury agent arrives simultaneously at each financial institution.

NEW YORK (By James McMullin)

ELECTION: Financial circles have about as much interest in the outcome of today's elections as a fish in a barrel.

Put the crusher on their hopes of getting anywhere politically this year and since September they've become resigned to the inevitable.

The only political question that still even a glimmer of concern is whether enough conservatives will be elected to help the President defeat radical legislative proposals that are sure to be offered in 1935.

New York believes the East and South will contribute enough of these to prevent cure-all theorists from running wild.

Even the Sincir contest in California fails to stir much excitement. Conservatives would like to see him licked on general principles but even if he wins they will console themselves with the thought that his efforts to put a radical political philosophy into practice will probably react in their favor.

This indifference doesn't mean that New York has permanently there's a pile of old newspapers in the garage. The summer ones will have lists of resorts. I'm sure if I once read the name I'll remember."

She waited until Lon had left the following morning, then burrowed into the yellowed sheets, chose a Sunday newspaper and opened it to the page carrying display advertisements of resorts. Almost instantly her eyes caught one section topped by the words "Russian River Resorts." That was it, Russian River . . . but the river was miles long and was lined on both sides of its banks with resorts.

"John King said to call on him. I know he'll be able to locate Hamlin with this lead."

Marian dispatched a note to King, when Waki left that evening, and then began the nerve-racking wait for an answer.

Lon grew more restless. Marian would awaken in the middle of the night to find him gone. She would listen, stiff with apprehension, then hear matches striking, hear the roar of the fire in the fireplace, or she would hear dry leaves crunching as he paced up and down outside.

IF ONLY he could tell her what was worrying him. But he couldn't. One night when a bitterly cold wind was presaging the coming of a cold spell she heard him pacing up and down outside. She arose, built a fire on the hearth, heated milk for a warm drink, then called him in.

He responded to her request that he sit down before the fire and drink the hot milk, allowed her to sit beside him. But he said nothing, just stared into the fire.

"Lon," she began, at length, "if you don't tell me what is worrying you, I'm . . . I'm going to do something desperate."

"What do you do when you're desperate?" he asked her, and watched intently as she answered.

"Things," she replied. "Lon, why don't you quit McSwain? Conditions are so much better and you can find work elsewhere, and even if you can't we've a nice bit of money behind us now. I'll be so economical you won't know me. Lon, won't you?"

"Quit McSwain?" he repeated, and then he gave a short, bitter laugh.

A little later he asked her to go back to bed, promised he would keep the hearth fire burning, even went out and brought in a few logs to convince her. She went to bed but she couldn't sleep. She lay listening to the whisper of the wind under the tiling of the roof, the occasional rush of rain on the window pane, and the rare sound of someone moving in the next room.

At dawn she went in to find Lon on the divan asleep, the fire burned to grey ashes. She covered him with an Indian blanket, then built up the fire and sat down to enjoy the warmth, and as she sat there she studied her husband's face as if he were a stranger.

The man lying there was a stranger, compared with the one she had married. The pleasant lines of an assured future had been erased to give place to ones of care. The soft boyish line of the chin was gone and the face, lean now since his brief illness, showed a surprisingly strong chin.

Lon was certainly being disciplined. Would he learn whatever lesson there was to be learned?

(Copyright, 1934, by Jeanne Bowman)

Lon makes a curious request, tomorrow.

LOTTORIES: One Congressional election is being run off today that should interest all those citizens who have an urge to gamble and do it despite existing laws.

Rep. Edward A. Kenny, Democrat

is running for re-election in Bergen County, New Jersey, on a major issue of putting through a national lottery law.

Kenny thinks the federal, state county and city governments ought to get a little revenue from the gambling that is going on. He believes further it would be a good idea if the waging gentry had definite assurance they were getting a square deal.

His theory is that you can't legislate the gambling instinct out of the human race so you might as well regulate it and drag down a profit for government.

BIG CROWDS AT SCHOOL MEETS

Best Parent-Teachers Association Meeting In History Held Here Last Night

The two best Parent-Teacher Association meetings in the history of the Greenville City Schools were held last night at the Third Street School and the Training School from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. The largest crowd of fathers and mothers ever assembled for a school meeting in Greenville was present in both of these buildings.

At the Third Street School the program was opened with a short talk by Superintendent Rose on the "Meaning of American Education Week in the State, Nation, and City." This was followed by music by the first and fifth grades. Next there was an address by Dr. G. R. Combs, who chose as his topic, the "Home, School and Church," or "Parent, Teacher, and Preacher." He brought out forcibly the fact that the development of the child was dependent on intelligent co-operation of these three forces in his life. Following this address the parents visited the various class-rooms, saw exhibits of work done by the children, and talked with the teachers of their children. They were then served punch and cake by the members of the faculty of the school. This association voted to have its next meeting at night so that more of the fathers could attend.

At the Training School the parents gathered first in the various class-rooms where they were introduced to the teachers—both the home-room teacher and the apprentice teacher. The routine of school work was explained to the parent, the new report card was explained, and the parents were also shown a fine exhibit of work already done by the boys and girls in the school this year.

Following this the groups assembled in the auditorium, where Superintendent Rose spoke briefly concerning the school situation in Greenville, and the State of North Carolina. Mr. Rose introduced Dr. W. A. Ryan, pastor of the Christian Church, who in his address compared the "Schools of Today" with the "Schools of Yesterday," showing how that the modern school is attempting to do what the old school failed to do, namely: adapt the school program to the needs of the individual person rather than to the individual person to the school program. He then pointed out the fact that very often the work of the school of today is hindered by some parents who think that the children of today should have the same type of school that the parent had. Dr. Ryan bemoaned the fact that each teacher today has so many children in her classroom that it's almost impossible to meet the need of the individual person.

Following the address of Dr. Ryan, Miss Wahl, principal of the building, brought out the fact that the Training School unit of the P. T. A. did not yet have a president. She called for nominations. Dr. Ryan was nominated and unanimously elected. Nominations for vice-president were called and Mrs. E. L. Henderson and Rev. J. A. McIver were nominated. Mrs. Henderson was elected. This is the first time in the history of the Parent-Teacher Association that a man has been elected president. It was also decided to hold the meetings at night in the future so that there could be a greater attendance by a larger number of fathers.

The West Greenville Parent-Teacher Association will hold their meeting on Friday night of this week at 7:30. There will be a meeting of the parents at the High School building on Friday afternoon of this week. This week the schools are holding open house and all parents are requested to visit the schools at any hour of the day.

McIver Pounded By Congregation On His Birthday

Rev. J. A. McIver, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, was "pounded" by members of his congregation last night in celebration of his birthday.

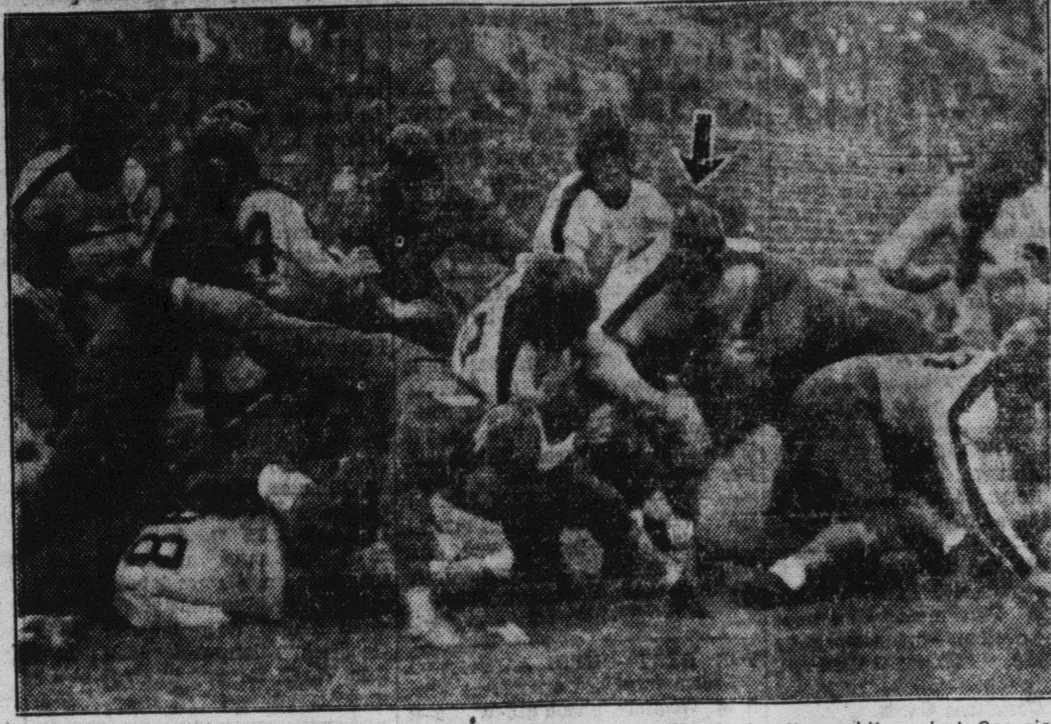

A group of members bearing large bundles of foodstuffs and fruits appeared at the minister's home during the early evening, sang "Happy Birthday" on the front porch and then presented their offerings. It was an old-fashioned Methodist "pounding" presented in Baptist style, and Mr. McIver, who recently went to Europe and who said he came home "dead broke" was lavish in his expression of appreciation of the gifts.

In spite of the impropriations of some of the "pounders" the affable minister declined to say how old he is, but admitted he was "getting along in years" although he felt as good as he did when he first entered the ministry and began fighting for the great cause.

The Gypsies Leave

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Rip, the dog, had been so happy finding the bones that he forgot about telling all the other Puddle Muddlers that they mustn't interrupt Willy Nilly until he made the speech that would help his ears.

Rip had intended going out to warn the others at once after he had disturbed Willy Nilly, but thinking again of the bones had driven all thoughts from his dog mind.

Willy Nilly decided he would get up early so there would be no chance of an interruption and he had almost finished the speech when he remembered that he must get the feathers to rub over his ears. He would finish the speech as soon as he had the feathers. He rushed out-of-doors and there was Christopher looking at something very bright, turning it over and over so that the sunlight would make it dazzle.

"What have you got?" cried Willy Nilly, as Christopher tried to grab the bright object and hide it under his wing. Poor Willy Nilly! Suddenly he remembered that now, once more, he would have to wait about his ears. He had spoken other words before finishing those the gypsy had told him to say before speaking to anyone.

Study Of History By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

A tremendous effort is being made in plays, books and motion-pictures to teach the story of the past to the present day world.

To the adults meeting it for the first time as a living thing, it probably seems merely another story or picture done to amuse. They often fail to draw from the past the parallels which might be to some extent applicable to the present.

There is no subject which is more important to the world than history—not only the history of recent times or of the land we live in—but the history of man from his earliest beginnings. Not only does such information make for real culture, but also for a wide tolerance and a feeling of world interdependence.

To children the past can be made to live, and they seize eagerly on the story of man's growth and experiences as on stories of when grandpa or grandma was little.

Unfortunately, instead of fostering this interest in other lands and other times and encouraging the child to make his own excursions into them, we tend to turn history over to the schools and colleges where too often it is made dull and unprofitable.

The child's study of history is best begun when he is very little. At first he will be unable to grasp time and space measurements, or differences in language, but the conception of these things gradually builds up, and by the time he is of school age, he will find in himself an ability to grasp historical facts, without knowing where he got it.

Supply him with folklore, songs and tales, both, mythology, fairy tales, ballads; describe to him how other people live, tell him stories of the past, show him pictures, inspire him to delve into the matter himself.

INSIDE DOPE ON HIGH GRID AGGREGATION

By Wm. WATSON MORGAN

Some of the most common questions that arise when football fans are discussing various teams are: what does he weigh, what position does he play and when does he graduate. Our own Greenville High School team is no exception. Many people have asked me the above questions about members of the team. So I have decided to give you the following information: There are 23 going out for football now. Eight of these are seniors, seven juniors, six sophomores and two freshmen.

Out of this group six from the starting lineup are seniors; they are Cox, end, Size, tackle, Hattin, guard, Summersell, center and in the backfield, Jack Forbes and Wm. Brewer graduate this spring. The subs that are listed as seniors are George Size and Chas. Musselwhite. The backfield should be very strong next season, with enough linemen remaining to have a very good nucleus to start with.

Should one go out to the football field some afternoon they would likely hear some of the following nicknames. Each player has one; see if you can place him. Buddy, Pete, Nip, Sleepy, Flash, Skipper, Flossie, Jay, Big Mouth, Jack, Snagum, Ham, Wop, Lightening, Sap, Dick, Sully, Bo, Sump, Rip, Pee Wee, Bill, Brawns.

In the line with Summersell, Size, Smith, Ha'em, Clark, Hattin and Cox starting the games this will give an average weight of 164 pounds. If Musselwhite plays instead of the ailing Size, then the average weight will be much lighter.

With Wm. Elers, Brewer, Carroll and J. Forbes starting in the backfield the average weight would be 142 pounds. If Harris should start instead of Jack Forbes then the average would be 146 pounds. With Berrice Elers in the backfield it would be much lighter, 138 pounds. The team came through the Kingston game in good shape. The fact is, they seem to be in better shape than before last Friday's game. John Size is improving and should be in condition by the next game. Every member on the team is working hard with the hope of getting into the game with Washington. The Greenies have been pointing all the season to the game next Monday, Nov. 12th with Washington High School. This is the game of games to them; this is the time that they want to come off of the field the winner.

We often wonder, just what is the cause for such an intense rivalry between two teams. Is it a dislike, or jealousy that exists between the teams or the towns in which the two schools are located? Or, is it that the players taking part in the game realize that there will be more people out to this game than any other game that they will play the entire season. If so, what a good chance to show what a team we have, to walk off the field the hero—that is, if they happen to be the winner, and believe me they will be giving their all in a game like this.

Robert C. Zuppke, one of the leading coaches in this football-loving country of ours has recently released an article in which he discusses the great fall made by many coaches in trying to adapt one certain system. In this article he states: "Football is a mental exercise expressed physically. The greatest player is the one who can carry a pimple brain faster than anyone else to the place of action and execution. . . . but football is more than a game—it is a spirit. It is only the old and dilapidated who talk about exercise. Boys play football because of the hero urge, the spirit of adventure."

We in Greenville are hoping that this hero urge and spirit that Mr. Zuppke speaks of will carry the team on to victory in our next game Nov. 12th with Washington. Russia is increasing the use of British ships for Russia cargoes.

POLITICS at random

(By BYRON PRICE)

Passage of the campaign of 1934 into history does not mean that politics is adjourned.

For special reasons, not even a temporary truce in political activity appears in the cards. Two years ago the situation was different. The Democrats were so securely in the saddle, and the Republicans so demoralized and bewildered that for the time being both sides seemed content to forgive and forget.

During the first Roosevelt Congress the submergence of party reached a stage seldom paralleled in history. It would be extraordinary if that phenomenon were repeated again in this generation. All signs are that it certainly cannot be repeated during the second Roosevelt congress.

No one questions that the President again will be in control but neither does any informed politician expect him to win many of his victories in the future by default, as he did so often in the past. However small the opposition, it will be there, and fighting.

Entente is Broken For one thing, the scars left by this campaign scarcely can be healed easily.

Some very bitter things have been said. Republican charges that the Democrats were buying the election with Government expenditures were designed to bring into question the very sincerity of the administration. The replies have been in kind.

The entente is broken. Retribution will be in the minds of many public men in and out of office.

There is today no recognition, as there was two years ago, that election day marked the beginning of a new era. The new era has had its chance, and the natural thing is for the enemies it has aroused to grow stronger, rather than weaker, as time goes on.

In other words, the election of 1932 meant the turning of a corner.

Men were wary of taking a stand until they knew a little more about the new pathways ahead. This year the election means merely a continuation along a pathway now somewhat familiar.

Those who do not like that pathway now say so directly.

Painting Toward 1935 On the purely practical side, both parties must think more and more of political strategy during the coming months because 1936 is a presidential year.

From now on it becomes the job of the Democratic organization, as now controlled, to re-elect Mr. Roosevelt two years hence. It becomes the even more urgent job of the remnants of the Republican organization to rally for the defeat of Mr. Roosevelt two years hence.

Those tasks would fall upon party leaders automatically at this time even if the entente had not already been broken. The groundwork, for both, must be laid without delay; the materials must be dug out of the administrative and legislative problems of the present and immediate future.

The public is unlikely to see all that happens in the process. On the Democratic side, the approaches to 1936 are sure to be adroit. On the Republican side, the picture promises to be confused and often puzzling.

But the effort will be there, and can be seen if the inspection is sufficiently painstaking. Politics goes on. The campaign is dead. Long live the campaign!

NOTICE OF EXECUTION SALE

Claude Murray, vs. J. Harry Gurganus.

BY VIRTUE of an execution directed to the undersigned from the Superior Court of New Hanover County, in the above entitled action, a duplicate original thereof having been served upon the defendant by the Sheriff of New Hanover County, I will on Monday, the 3rd day of December, 1934

at twelve o'clock noon before the Courthouse door in Greenville, North Carolina, sell to the highest bidder for cash to satisfy said execution, all the right, title and interest of J. Harry Gurganus, defendant, in and to the following described real estate:

A tract or parcel of land situated in Carolina Township, Pitt County, described as follows: Beginning at a stake on the County road, a corner of Mary Gurganus; thence with her line North 25-35 West 1244 feet to a stake on the East side of a road, her corner; thence with J. Harry Gurganus line South 44-20 West 728 feet to the run of Briery Swamp; thence in a

Southeast direction with the run of said swamp to the center of the bridge on the County road; thence with the said County road to the beginning, containing 22.38 acres, more or less, and being the lot of parcel of land allotted to J. Harry Gurganus in Special Proceedings No. 2838 in the Superior Court of Pitt County, and being a part of Lot No. 4 described in Special Proceedings No. 2112 to which reference is hereby made.

This the 3rd day of Nov., 1934. S. A. WHITEHURST, Sheriff of Pitt County. Nov. 6-11w-4wk.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been pure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any drug store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2-1/2 times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25 per cent more for your money.

MUCH BUILDING GOING ON HERE

Over $150,000 Worth Of New Construction Reported Here This Year

Building operations have picked up sharply in Greenville this year and records in the office of Building Inspector George Clark showed today that permits for over $150,000 worth of construction work had been issued.

The boom, of course, is small compared with the boom period several years ago, but it is the largest for any single year during and since the depression period which virtually halted all types of construction.

The largest sum was spent in the erection of the New Pitt theatre, which is now under construction on Evans street near Five Points. The show is C. H. Edwards. The owner is C. H. Edwards. The building will cost $50,000.

The next largest sum spent for any single building was involved in erection of the New Dixie tobacco warehouse in the heart of tobacco town. The building was used for helping take care of this year's crop, and has all conveniences of the up-to-date houses used in this important industry. It cost $28,000.

Several residences in various parts of the city also were included in the permits. They range in cost from $1,500 to $10,000. The list of builders and the amount involved in the construction follows:

- R. C. Merritt, East Fifth street, $10,000; W. S. Moye, Evans street, $6,000; Crosby & Troy, East Fourth street, $3,800; Dixie Warehouse, $28,000; Drs. Pace & Crisp, Student street, $3,300; B. S. Warren, East Fifth street, $5,000; Garris-Evans Lumber Co., $1,000; E. F. Duke Johnson street, $4,000; Annie D Robertson, Lewis street, $2,900; L. B. Garris, Harding street, $3,000; W. I. Wooten, Cotanch street, $3,500; W. L. Best, Cotanch street, $3,000; M. L. Wright, East Fourth street, $4,500; Blount Fertilizer Co., $3,000; New Pitt Theatre, $50,000; R. E. Harris Co., Penn street, $1,500; Mrs. Mary Jones, East Fourth street, $1,200; Guy V. Smith, Pitt street, $2,000; B. T. Cannon, Paris avenue, $5,000; L. S. Spence, Florist.

DOUMERGUE CABINET OVERTHROWN IN FRANCE

Edouard Daladier. Tonight there was reflection of those days of February in the streets of Paris. Large numbers of demonstrators were placed around the Chamber of Deputies. Other police by the hundreds were mobilized in other sections of the city. Stringent limitation was placed on sales of arms.

Rumors spread over the capital of preparations for demonstrations by Communists and Socialists as well as by Rightists and Fascists, the latter alleged to be ready to demonstrate in favor of Doumergue. However it was accepted as a fact that Heriot would be the next premier, forming a cabinet nearly identical with that which has gone down. Heriot had been opposed to many of Doumergue's policies and in the last few weeks this position had created several crises.

Indications were that the only change in the body of the present ministry would be the naming of Andre Tardieu, another minister without portfolio, as minister of justice and vice-premier.

Paris, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Premier Gaston Doumergue kept his cabinet together today at a vital forenoon session today, but six of his ministers, members of the radical-socialist party, faced a demand for their resignation from a party group this afternoon.

Former Premier Edouard Herriot, a minister without portfolio, and radical-socialist leader, with his colleagues decided to continue in office and to appear in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon as a part of the government. A group hostile to Doumergue including former Premier Edouard Daladier, planned to seek a vote ordering the radical-socialist ministers to withdraw.

beaten in election day disorders in this vicinity today.

The disorders supposedly were prompted by an attempt of Negroes to vote. Race feeling had flared up elsewhere in southeast Missouri in recent weeks.

Harris Ferrell, 33, a white man and an unidentified Negro, were slain, and Ferrell's father, John Ferrell, and Clarence Posey, identified as a well-to-do white farmer, were critically wounded.

The Ferrells and Posey were reported fired on as they were bringing the Negroes to town to vote.

Posey was taken to a hospital at Blytheville, Ark., and the elder Ferrell was taken to another hospital.

Local officers said the Ferrells were nearing Holland school with two Negroes in their car when a car containing several men pulled up and commenced firing. Harris Ferrell slumped over dead and the father was critically wounded.

Election Trouble in New Mexico

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 6.—(AP)—New Mexico's ballot was cast underneath the shadow of bayonets today as voters selected two Senators Congressmen, and state and county officers.

Gov. A. W. Hockehull, at his home at Clovis, denied that he had ordered the National Guardsmen mobilized, but said later he had told General Osborne C. Wood adjutant general, to take a few observers to Las Vegas if Wood felt it necessary.

Actually armed and uniformed National Guardsmen were on duty in Las Vegas, San Miguel county, and Las Lunas, in Valencia county. A detachment was enroute to El Rito in Rio Arriba county and guardsmen were on duty at the plaza in Santa Fe.

Holds Up TVA Deal

Judge E. F. Langford (above) in circuit court at Nashville, Tenn., ordered sale of the electric properties in Knoxville to the Tennessee Valley Authority held up pending a review of the state utility commission's sanction of the sale. HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood, Cal.—While Hollywood is showing renewed interest in color films, there is one picture in production that goes to the opposite extreme.

The sets of "Caprice Espagnole" reveals a scarcity of color that is startling in its effect, and—as might be surmised—here will be found that inventive fellow, Josef von Sternberg, and his star, Marlene Dietrich.

Predominantly gray are all the sets of this feature, with only an occasional splash of color. Von Sternberg, a cameraman before he became a director, is again the cameraman, as well as director, as he puts Miss Dietrich through acting paces that show new animation for her new role of the blonde Spanish beauty.

For More Lifelike Effects Von Sternberg, noted as a "painter" with his camera, is making "Caprice Espagnole" as a glorification, in a sense, of the very limitations of the "black-and-white" screen.

Since the camera, unless it be a color camera, can record only in terms of black and white, the director believes that the use of much color on sets gives false values which must be modified through lighting. Hence he is trying to achieve more life-like and artistic effects through the planner use of tones of gray.

When glimpsed, they were working on a picturesque setting, the light-gray exterior of an apartment in a Spanish city, with broad light-gray steps leading from the foreground to the door. At balconied windows hung vines von Sternberg had sprayed with a "half-white" paint, but the occasional plant was left in its natural state.

A peasant, picturesquely clad in shabby flowing cape, urged his flock of geese up the stairs, to be met by another pushing his flock of goats down. By the doorway, Marlene and Lionel Atwill, brilliant in his uniform, said their pieces.

Von Sternberg, riding the camera crane, swung from the long shot, catching the geese and the goats, up to the close-up of Dietrich and Atwill.

White and Gray Geese

The effect of this set, with its one-way lighting casting only "natural" shadows, and its predominantly gray tones, relieved sparsely by a bright awning, a flower, or Marlene's red and blue costume, is most unusual. The idea is carried out even in the geese, which are white and gray geese.

Von Sternberg, who probably spends as much time lighting his sets as he does photographing them, seems to be enjoying himself and his idea. There is often a grin of satisfaction on his face as he rides the crane.

England's commercial airplanes are said to be the slowest in Europe.

of the needy and home hygiene instructors have taught girls and women the care of sick in the home. Red Cross volunteer activities in sewing, in training for relief workers, in hospital hostess and recreation service, in motor corps and canteen work, have done much to supplement the federal relief program throughout the United States.

"In our chapter during the past year we have conducted First Aid courses under the direction of Lieut. Jones of the Highway Patrol and Miss Evelyn Hart, both authorized Red Cross instructors. Life saving instruction and swimming classes have been given at the Farmville pool and will be a part of the Greenville chapter program next summer. Home Hygiene and care of the sick courses have been given and anti pellagra campaign is now being sponsored, the Red Cross providing powdered yeast free to victims of this disease. Home service has been rendered the ex-soldiers of the county by the Home Service Secretary and a well organized Junior Red Cross functions in most of the schools. In addition to these services the chapter stands ready at a moment's notice to handle any disaster that might strike the county.

"The federal government, cooperating with state governments, has undertaken to see that nobody in the United States is without shelter or clothing during the depression. There is still much left for private welfare organizations to do. Last year, and the years that preceded it, showed that the Red Cross met the challenge of need in the depression as gallantly as it did the demands for service during the World War. Red Cross chapters stayed on the first job until the war ended, and they will stay on now. I am sure, until the depression is finally ended.

"Red Cross services to the public must be continued at their present high peak, he concluded. "The organization must stand ready at all times to answer calls for relief in catastrophes, great and small; it must be ready for any sort of gov-
