Senator Scores Effort Made To Boost The Crop

TEN MILLION BALES SAID TO BE SUFFICIENT

Co-author of Cotton Production Control Act Tells Georgia Farmers Demand Comes From Theorists in Washington; Says Farmers Nowhere Are Seeking An Increased Crop

Moultrie, Ga., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The 1935 cotton crop of the United States should not exceed ten million bales, Senator John H. Bankhead, Democrat, of Alabama, said today in criticizing reports from Washington that the Department of Agriculture was contemplating allowing an acreage increase of 15 to 20 per cent next year.

"If such action is taken it can be for only one purpose and that is to increase the size of the crop and thereby reduce the price of cotton," said the co-author of the Bankhead cotton production control act, which limited the 1934 crop to approximately 10,000,000 bales.

Speaking at the dedication of an airport here, Senator Bankhead said he had heard no demands from farmers anywhere for an increase in acreage of this year and that "the demand seemed to come from exporters and from theorists and professional economists at Washington."

Resolutions of Regret At Death of Dr. J. M. Parrott Passed by Society

Resolutions expressing regret at the death of Dr. James M. Parrott, of Kinston, State Health Officer, were adopted by the Pitt County Medical Society in regular monthly meeting at the Woman's club here last night.

Dr. Parrott, well known in this city, died in Raleigh Wednesday night after two weeks of serious illness from a recurrence of heart trouble which he suffered last summer.

Copies of the resolutions were ordered sent to the family. In addition to this matter, the physicians heard from Dr. Paul Fitzgerald that the Fifth District Dental Society would meet here next Monday. The gathering will bring to the city some of the most important members of the profession.

Dr. T. G. Basnight, of Stokes, read a paper on the subject, "Thy Security." Interesting case reports were made by Dr. John Winstead, Dr. N. E. Ward and Dr. W. H. McDowell.

The doctors were informed that the meeting next month would be confined to the annual entertainment of their wives and sweethearts. As usual the program will be one of the most elaborate of the year and every member will be asked to bring his wife, or, if he hasn't one, his sweetheart.

J. M. Barrett and Dr. W. M. B. Brown were hosts and a delightful supper was served by ladies of the club.

Late News Flashes

Seek Tobacco Tax Cuts Washington, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Reductions in the processing tax on tobacco used in the manufacture of chewing tobacco was proposed today at a hearing before AAA officials.

Spokesmen for the industry contended the present rate of 6 1/10 on burley, 4 6/10 on flue-cured, 2 1/10 on fire-cured and 3 3/10 on dark air-cured were too much and necessitated the production of smaller plugs to keep prices down. The hearing was the first scheduled for today, and others are expected to follow.

Cigarette manufacturers who use flue-cured tobacco have given notice they intend to seek a reduction in processing taxes on that type.

A hearing was to be held this afternoon on the processing tax for cigarette leaf, tobacco used in the manufacture of scrap chewing and smoking tobacco.

SLOW RETURNS FROM ELECTION

Slowness of Two Voting Places to Report Halts Work of Election Board

Official returns from the Pitt county election here Tuesday will not be available before tomorrow it was made known today by F. C. Harding, chairman of the board of elections.

Although members of the board of elections gathered here yesterday morning to canvass the returns from the 19 precincts of the county, they were unable to complete their work by reason of the fact that returns had not been received from Farmville and one of the three precincts in Chicod township, which recently had its polling places increased from one to three.

The board, Mr. Harding said, completed the canvass of the vote from seventeen of the precincts and was ready to check up on returns from Farmville and Chicod the minute they reach the city.

Mr. Harding made several attempts to contact poll holders in the two communities yesterday but was unable to do so because they could not be located at the time. He said, however, every effort will be made to obtain the vote today and that complete returns in all probability would be ready by tomorrow.

The vote, even for an off-year election, was the lightest here in many years, and only minor time was required by the board members to complete work on the 17 precincts reported.

Five Republicans, running for election to the County Board of Commissioners, as well as those on the State ticket, didn't have a look-in in the balloting in all parts of the county, scattered reports received here Wednesday indicated.

Washington By GEORGE DURNO Devaluation: The monetary problem—particularly silver—is about to be trotted out into the limelight again.

Foreign diplomats here either know or suspect very strongly that President Roosevelt is contemplating another currency move that will have world-wide significance. In recent days spokesmen for certain European embassies have been pouring cocktails and at the same time what has the earmarks of being inspired "background" for the Washington correspondents.

Now that our election is out of the way the figure FDR is in a position to again lower the monetary backdrop behind his recovery act with-

TIGHTENING OF LEAF CONTROL PLAN SOUGHT

Mass Meeting at Farmville Asks Government For Continuance Crop Control

Farmville, Nov. 8.—More than 4,000 farmers, business and professional men of Eastern North Carolina, assembled in mass meeting here today, sounded thunderous approval of the tobacco control plan in terms of suggestion to the administration that it move as speedily as possible not only to insure continuance of the plan, but to strengthen its provisions.

Heading counsel of Governor Ehringhaus and Congressman Lindsay Warren, who recounted the economic miracles that in a year has transformed the tobacco belt from a region of despair to one of the most prosperous areas in the nation, that the need of the moment was continued pulling in the same harness, and the greatest danger lay in dissension in the ranks, the meeting adopted the following resolution:

"We tobacco farmers of North Carolina, meeting in a season of the deepest gratitude, express our most profound thanks for the efforts and cooperation of our great government in lifting the price of the commodity which for so many years we raised without adequate compensation, reaffirm our faith in that government and its leaders and ask consideration for matters in connection with the future of the acreage control plan.

"Be it resolved that in our opinion the Federal Government should start at the earliest practical and possible moment a sign-up campaign for continuance of acreage control, that the penalty under the Kerr-Smith Act should be increased to 50 per cent, and that no great increase in production should be given for next year."

The resolution, drawn by a committee composed of Jonathan Daniels, editor of The News & Observer; Thomas Membrum, Kinston; Dr. J. Y. Joyner, LaGrange; E. J. Harper, Snow Hill, and L. V. Morrill, Jr., was substituted for one adopted at a meeting of a committee of growers and warehousemen here on November 1 and submitted to the meeting for ratification.

The original resolution contained demands upon the AAA that it begin a sign-up campaign immediately to extend the control plan for three years; that the penalty for non-signers under the Kerr-Smith Act be increased to 50 per cent and that no increase in production be permitted.

The resolution, offered by Mr. Mewborn followed the talks of the Governor and Congressman, drew objections and Dr. M. T. Frizzell, of Ayden, presiding, heeded the suggestion that it be submitted to a committee named by the chairman.

Adopted without dissent, the revised resolution will be transmitted to the AAA as an expression of the greatest tobacco-growing section of the world.

Counsel of harmony came from the Governor and Congressman Warren to oil under-surface dissension bred as the result of the meeting at State College last month when some growers were not satisfied with developments.

Sentiment of representative growers indicated an overwhelming feeling that the psychological moment is at hand for a sign-up to consolidate the gains and insure continuance of benefits resulting from the control plan promulgated out having to worry about knocking out any of the voters' ensemble. Viewing the situation with a domestic eye it would appear the White House's next move will be another step toward establishing that metallic currency base of one-fourth silver and three-fourths gold which Congress ordered.

Devaluation of silver in the same manner gold was treated would enable our Treasury to acquire the necessary silver stocks at a considerable saving in the purchase price. Mr. Roosevelt's specific recommendation that Congress authorize an ultimate 3-to-1 ratio with gold was a chess move. The 90-day period during which the Treasury was to

RIVALRY SEEN IN DEMOCRATIC RANKS TODAY

Race For Leading Party Posts Among Northern and Southern Democrats.

Washington, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The first signs of internal rivalry in the Democratic party since Tuesday's election raised it to its highest pinnacle today as certain Democrats north of the Mason-Dixon line opened a determined campaign to capture the speakership of the House, for which the South is also contending.

Declaring the South has been in the saddle in the House for four years because it held the majority leadership and the chairmanship of all the major committees, these Democrats seek more power.

They emphasized that Northern Democrats now have more seats than the South.

Representative Martin Kennedy Tammany Democrat, who disclosed the drive, said he believed New York is entitled to the Speakership. This development topped a list of others as Tuesday's slashing triumph for President Roosevelt's party opened almost limitless possibilities.

James A. Farley, Democratic chairman, predicted Pres. Roosevelt would be re-elected in 1936 by a "verdict practically unanimous." The Republican party, he said, is "positively through."

The American Liberty League, quiet before the election, jumped into the picture when its president, Jouett Shouse, said at Lexington it would launch a drive for a million members. Denying enthusiastically that the League was organized in definite opposition to the present administration, he said it would "oppose any attempt at perversion" of American principles "no matter from what source such attempts may come."

Mrs. Darden Dies In Green County

Friends in this city regretted to learn of the death yesterday of Mrs. Olivia Darden, of Greene county, mother of William A. Darden, Jr., and County Auditor John H. Coward, of this city. She was the daughter of the late R. A. L. and Sarah Hooker Carr. She was born Feb. 29, 1860, and leaves the following children: Robert C. Coward, John H. Coward, William A. Darden, Jr., and Fred C. Darden. The burial service will be held from her late home at 3:30 o'clock on Friday.

Mrs. Darden was twice married the first time to John H. Coward and the second time to William A. Darden.

LEAF SALES NEARING FIFTY MILLION MARK

Sales Halted Here for Five Minutes Today Out of Respect For C. L. Gary

With four hundred thousand pounds of tobacco offered for sale on the Greenville tobacco market today, season's sales passed the 49,000,000 mark.

Out of respect for C. L. Gary, prominent tobaccoist of Lexington, Ky., sales were halted for five minutes today. Mr. Gary, who was well known by Greenville tobacco men, died at his home in Kentucky Wednesday. He had been prominent in the tobacco industry for a number of years and news of his death was received with sorrow by members of the trade here.

The official report of sales made public this morning by K. W. Cobb supervisor of sales, showed the market yesterday sold 232,458 lbs. of leaf for $67,911.61, at an average of $29.21 per hundred. The report also indicated that the market for the week sold 1,951,162 pounds of tobacco for $599,200.49, at an average of $30.70 per hundred pounds.

C. L. Gary Dies In Lexington, Ky.; Well Known Here

C. L. Gary, known to his many friends as "Charlie," died early Wednesday morning at his home at Lexington, Ky.

Mr. Gary was 46 years old, and had spent twenty-five years in the tobacco business with the American Tobacco Company, and later the American Suppliers, Inc. In 1919 and 1920 he was buyer on the Greenville tobacco market, where he made a great many friends.

For a number of years Mr. Gary has been manager of the Lexington, Ky., division of the American Suppliers, Inc., and supervising buyer on some of the Eastern Carolina markets.

Mr. Gary is survived by his wife, one daughter and one son. The funeral was held from his home in Lexington today at 9:30 a. m., and the interment made in Rising Sun, Ind.

All tobacco sales on the Greenville market paused five minutes at 9:30 this morning in tribute to Mr. Gary.

DISCIPLES' CONVENTION ENDS TONIGHT

Final Session to be Devoted to Christian Youth With Banquet At 6 o'Clock

The Convention of the Disciples of Christ of North Carolina, which has been in progress at the Eighth Street Christian church since Wednesday afternoon, is scheduled to come to a close tonight with a service devoted to youth. Rev. John Barclay, of Wilson, will deliver the principal address and the devotional services will be conducted by Rev. Leland Cook, of Kinston.

Following the devotional service this morning, the Conference heard an address by L. B. Scarborough on "Rural Church Grouping" and another by A. R. Liverett, of Indianapolis, Ind. This afternoon, a youth's banquet will be the highlight of the Convention.

Between five and six hundred members of the denomination from all sections of North Carolina are in attendance.

Dr. Abram E. Cory, of Indianapolis, director of the denomination's international pension fund announced yesterday that the pension plan is working well, with about 2,000 preachers and the same number of churches participating to make the protective plan safe and effective.

At the Atlantic Christian College banquet, President H. S. Hilley announced plans for erecting new buildings at the college for the crowded student body at Wilson.

Mrs. H. H. Settle, of Greenville, reported the best year in the organized women's missionary work of the State with a large proportionate increase in number of new organizations during the year, and a gain in giving from all of such organizations in the State. The convention voted unanimously for unified promotion of the missionary, benevolent and educational gifts of Disciples in the State.

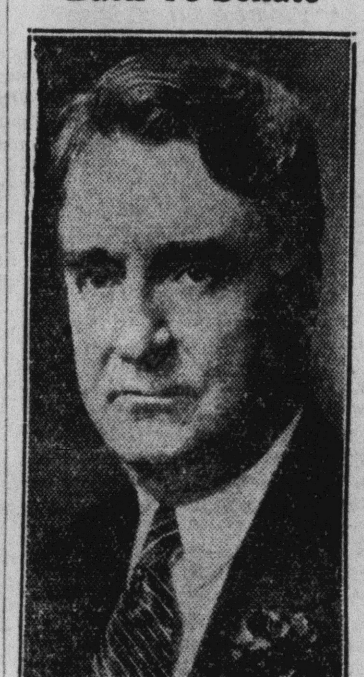

Miss Sue Hook, of Atlanta, Ga. made a report for the Disciples Orphans' Home in Atlanta, which serves for the southeastern states. She reported for the orphans that come from North Carolina, and submitted plans for adequate maintenance of the orphanage and enlargement of equipment.

In the youth session, Miss Georgia Brewer, of New Bern, presided, and speeches of Rev. James T. Lawson, of Pafftown, and Mrs. Katherine Stone, of Winston-Salem, emphasized the North Carolina Disciples Youth Conference held annually near Hendersonville, which has grown to be the most largely attended among the 60 such conferences of the American Disciples.

Dr. H. O. Pritchard, secretary of the National Education Board brought the educational address. He spoke of the passing of the American frontier and other radical changes in life, which have come about in this generation creating educational and social problems. He spoke of the concentration of American wealth in the hands of the few, creating great problems of democracy. He said too the progress of science has made theological problems and struggles between church and state are not over. The function of education is to adapt the student for

MRS. SUMRELL TAKES LIFE AT HOME IN AYDEN

Wife of Prominent Ayden Physician Dies After Taking Dose of Poison.

Mrs. G. H. Sumrell, wife of a prominent Ayden physician, died from taking a dose of poison while being rushed to the hospital here last night. She was about 36 years of age.

Coroner A. A. Ellwanger viewed the body shortly after the tragedy occurred and declared an investigation was unnecessary as it was a plain case of suicide.

Although funeral arrangements had not been completed this afternoon, it was said final rites probably would take place in Ayden tomorrow afternoon with burial being made in the cemetery there.

Mrs. Sumrell was believed to have taken poison, the nature of which was not determined, about 7 o'clock. She was said to have been found in a semi-conscious condition by her husband and was rushed immediately to the hospital in Greenville, but died on the outskirts of Ayden about 10 o'clock.

She is survived by her husband and two sons, Guy and Douglass Sumrell, all of Ayden.

Unemployed Get $88,894.095 New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—William Hodson, commissioner of public welfare, reports that 189,636 persons were given emergency employment in New York City from September 1, 1933 to September 1, 1934. They were paid $88,894,095.

No mourning was worn by Noel Playfair's relatives or friends at the cremation of the playwright at Golders Green, England.

TWO INJURED IN BLAZE AT NEWPORT NEWS

Chesapeake and Ohio Grain Elevator Destroyed by Flames Starting With Internal Blast; Firemen And Grief Stricken Relatives Await Ruins to Cool to Start Search For Bodies

Newport News, Va., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Still smoldering ruins remained to be searched today for the remains of four persons believed to have lost their lives in the $2,000,000 fire which last night destroyed the giant Chesapeake & Ohio grain elevator here.

Starting with a dull internal blast somewhere near the top of the building just before closing time yesterday, the blaze spread with such rapidity that only four of its eight occupants were able to escape, and two of them suffered injuries.

Somewhere in the smouldering remains of the 175-foot high building, and in the ashes of the 300,000 bushels of grain it contained, firemen and grief-stricken relatives believed it all that remains of George Martin of Hampton Roads, and George Thompson, Charles Sheldon and Jacob Felix, all of Newport News.

Fire Chief James H. Donnelly said early this morning that it might be 24 hours more before the ruins would be cool enough to examine and that he doubted if there would be any trace found of the missing men at that time.

PROBE NOTE IN 'SNATCH' CASE

Communication Received by Thomas Robinson, Sr., Under Scrutiny Today

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Department of Justice, it has been learned authoritatively, today was investigating a note received here by Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., on the theory that it may have been written by his fugitive son, the alleged kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Still.

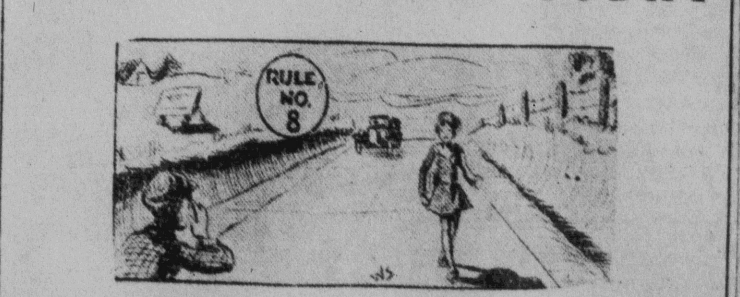

The note was received by Robinson last week, and the Tennessean said it had been turned over by him to District Attorney General J. Carlton Loser, who gave it to the Department of Justice. Federal agents were known to be hoping the note might give some clue as to the whereabouts of Thomas H. Robinson, Jr.

Robinson, Sr. received it within a few days after he had been dismissed from the custody of federal officers by the United States commissioner here. The commissioner refused to hold Robinson for removal to Louisville to face charges in connection with the kidnaping.

The Tennessean quoted part of the note, which was unsigned, as saying, "Congratulations, I have been traveling but am here now." The envelope was postmarked Chicago.

FIREMEN TO MEND TOYS

Local Firefighters Co-Operating With Salvation Army Christmas Plans

Firemen are not just mechanical men, like a robot, that jump out of bed in the middle of the night to quench a fire and then lay around until another call is given. Firemen are always doing something to fill in the minutes between emergency calls of one kind or another.

Firemen have hearts like every other citizen of our community that ache at the thought of others suffering. Firemen also have little boys and girls of their own for whom they would give their lives if necessary. In short, a fireman understands humanity's needs and helps to alleviate pain whenever possible.

What is more painful than to see a little boy or girl at Christmas time cold, hungry, and without a toy? The firemen realize that there are others that will be looking after the clothing and feeding of these little bodies, and they themselves are going to see that the little boy or girl goes without a toy this Christmas.

They are cooperating with the Salvation Army on this appeal, as they have so many times before and again send out the request that if anybody in the city has a toy, new, used, worn-out, broken, or if any firms in the city have shop-worn or toys not suitable to be sold, that they call up or bring the toys to the Firemen's Hall or the Salvation Army. These toys will be repaired, painted, and put in good condition by the Firemen ready for Christmas. Act now if you can help with this appeal.

JONES TELLS OF FIRST AID

Red Cross First Aid Chairman Tells of Accident Prevention Activities

"Training the public in first aid measures is one of the important tasks of the American Red Cross," said Lieut. Lester Jones, chairman of the First Aid committee of the Pitt County Red Cross Chapter today. The roll call membership enrollment opens on Armistice Day Sunday, November 11, and from its proceeds this and other services of the Red Cross are supported.

"Two results have been noted time and again in the groups to which Red Cross training has been given," he continued. "First, there is a marked decrease in the number of accidents, as a result of the accident-consciousness the training has developed; and second, there is a lessening of grave consequences such as death or permanent crippling in many cases where proper first aid measures were used by those near the scene of the accident."

"First aid as interpreted by the Red Cross is the practical application of the age-old habit of neighborliness in time of distress. Accidental injuries have always been incurred by active people, and doubtless they will always happen. Yet, even with modern civilization developing new hazards, the rate of accidents is not commensurate with increasing danger, because of the modern demand that proper safeguards be provided for all machinery and that carelessness be prevented on the part of human beings who use the machines.

"All of us who drive or ride in automobiles should also be concerned over the great hazards on North Carolina highways. Over a thousand men, women, and children are killed on our highways every year—a terrific toll, a number equal to the inhabitants of many a small town. And this doesn't take into account the maimed, the many injured for life, and the suffering and great waste entailed by these accidents.

"The Red Cross is giving much attention to this grave problem. Highway stations are being established so that quick and efficient aid can be given to the injured; members of highway patrons, fire departments and rescue squads have completed the required Red Cross courses in First Aid and they, so frequently the first on the scene after an accident, are able to do what should be done before medical help arrives, giving the injured a much better chance for recovery. The state highway police and members of rescue squads thus prevent needless suffering and danger after accidents have occurred, and they also serve as a check on the recklessness which might result in even more numerous casualties. The daily practical value of Red Cross First Aid appeals to practical-minded men everywhere and a total of 130,972 persons were trained and certified in Red Cross First Aid and Life Saving Courses last year.

AN ALL YEAR 'ROUND MARKET IN BRIGHT LEAF TOBACCO SECTION OF EASTERN NORTH CAROLINA

Climatic and Soil Conditions Make Possible Continuous Agricultural Production . . .

Farmers of Eastern Carolina have been paid approximately $100,000,000 for the Tobacco Crop alone this season. They also raise cotton, hogs and produce of great variety to give them practically an uninterrupted selling season in this Garden Spot of the Atlantic Seaboard.

Nowhere Has Prosperity's Return Been So Pronounced As In the Bright Leaf Belt . . .

Not only are the 500,000 or more potential buyers of this favored section now in financial position to buy, but the contractual extension of controlled acreage and production of crops for 1935 assures another full year of prosperity.

Eastern North Carolina Has Never Offered A Better Opportunity To National Advertisers Than Now . . . . .

The national and general advertiser has never before had such an inviting opportunity to cultivate this section as is presented to him because of returning buying power.

Six Afternoon Daily Newspapers In This Rich Agricultural Empire Afford Unexcelled Coverage . . . . .

The circulations of every one of the undersigned papers have shown unprecedented increases during the past year. This great reading clientele is concentrated where Selling Results are obtainable.

Mrs. Williams Bridge Hostess. The home of Mrs. E. B. Ferguson was the scene of a pretty affair yesterday afternoon when Mrs. A. H. Williams was hostess at bridge.

Bridge was played at eight tables, and at the conclusion of the game a delectable salad course was served.

A crystal swan was given to Mrs. Frank Park for high score and a double deck of bridge cards to Mrs. E. J. Garrett for low score. Mrs. Garrett was also given lovely chrysanthemums for high cut.

The home throughout was beautifully decorated in yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Hodges Entertains. Complimenting her sister, Mrs. George Sharpe of Burlington, and Miss Rose Hadley, bride-elect of November 24th, Mrs. H. L. Hodges was hostess at a lovely bridge party yesterday afternoon.

Yellow chrysanthemums used throughout the home made a most effective background for the four attractively appointed bridge tables.

At the conclusion of the game Mrs. A. D. Frank was presented a piece of china for high score, and Mrs. J. C. Waldrop a sport handkerchief for low score. Mrs. Sharpe was remembered with wall plaques and Miss Hadley with a chop plate in her selected pattern of china.

The hostess served a delicious salad course.

Mrs. Shuff At Home. Mrs. C. W. Shuff was gracious hostess at an informal tea yesterday afternoon at five o'clock, honoring her house guest, Mrs. Errett Straley of Winston-Salem, who is here attending the nineteenth convention of the Disciples of Christ.

Profusions of yellow chrysanthemums were used in the attractive home.

Mrs. Hogan Gaskins, Mrs. Berry Bostic and Miss Phyllis Shuff assisted in serving.

A delightful musical program was given by Mrs. Straley, Mrs. Dink James, and Miss Agnes Fullilove, accompanied by Mrs. G. V. Smith.

Mrs. Straley has a lovely lyric soprano voice and captivated all who had the pleasure of hearing her. For five years she was soloist in the Home Moravian Church and is now soloist in the Christian Church in Winston-Salem.

Mrs. James, Mrs. Smith and Miss Fullilove, as usual charmed the guests.

This was one of the most delightful affairs of the week.

In Charlotte. R. E. Ricks is attending the Truck Owners Convention in Charlotte this week.

Plans For National Book Week. Plans for Book Week observance are almost completed. Three excellent programs for different groups of children will be given in the assembly room of Sheppard Memorial Library. Watch The Reflector for a detailed program. New books will be in display.

On N. C. E. Program. Two members of the college faculty are on the program of the North Central District meeting of the N. C. E., which is being held in Raleigh today and tomorrow.

Miss Lucy Nulton, critic teacher in the Training School, will talk to the primary teachers this afternoon on the subject of work books in reading.

Miss Katherine Holtzclaw will speak to the Home Economics section on the subject "The New Era in Home Economics."

Presbyterian Congregational Meeting. A special song and prayer service has been arranged for the eleven o'clock hour at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning.

A congregational meeting will be held immediately following the service to consider the calling of a pastor.

Every member of the church is urged to be present.

Mrs. Batchelor Club Hostess. On yesterday afternoon, at her home on East Ninth street, Mrs. Edward Batchelor delightfully entertained members of her bridge club, and last evening she was hostess to the Seashore Club.

Lovely fall flowers in shades of yellow were attractively placed in the rooms where bridge was played.

At the afternoon party, Mrs. J. J. White was awarded embroidered towels for high club score and Mrs. John Hodges ash trays for high visitor's score. Mrs. Winnie T. Barnes of Raleigh, was presented a relish dish and Mrs. W. M. Scales who was married the past summer, a fruit bowl.

The hostess was assisted by her sons, Ed. Jr., and Billy Mac Batchelor, in serving tempting refreshments.

At the evening party, William Wright was winner of a cigarette case for high score for men, and Mrs. Carl Adams a pair of vases for high ladies' score.

Prizes for slams was won by Mrs. N. S. Beard and William Wright.

The hostess served a sweet course with salted nuts.

Guests of the club were Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. White, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Beard and Dr. and Mrs. Carl Adams.

Mrs. James Entertains. Among the many attractive affairs honoring Mrs. W. M. Scales who was married the past summer, and Miss Rose Hadley, who on November 24th will marry James Howard Moyer, was Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. J. B. James charmingly entertained at a bridge tea.

The entire lower floor of the home was beautifully decorated, in the music room lavender chrysanthemums, pink roses and lilies were used; in the living room rust chrysanthemums, and in the sun room and dining room lavender and pink chrysanthemums. Nine tables were arranged for the game in this colorful setting.

At the end of the game prizes were awarded. Mrs. W. J. Bundy was winner of a milk glass flower bowl for high score, and Miss Mabel Glenn Best had trees for low score. Mrs. Scales was presented a hors-d'oeuvre tray and Miss Hadley a lamp. Mrs. Harry Armstead, of Kingston, and her guest, Mrs. E. A. Kenney of Greenville, Tenn., Mrs. Samuels of Kentucky, and Mrs. George Sharpe of Burlington, were remembered with lovely gifts.

At five o'clock guests were invited into the dining room where Mrs. S. T. White and Mrs. F. J. Forbes, seated at the table, poured tea.

The table was covered with an imported lace cloth and centered with a low bowl of yellow and lavender chrysanthemums and yellow roses. The room was lighted by numerous orchid candles arranged on the table and buffet.

Name Omitted. The name of little Miss Mary Elizabeth Austin was accidentally omitted in the Reflector report from the list of little girls receiving cards at the door at the Home Economics tea given at the college last week.

Attend Funeral in Warsaw. Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ragsdale, Mrs. Nellie Cook and W. M. Moore went to Warsaw yesterday to attend funeral services for Joseph Bland, who died suddenly Wednesday afternoon.

Attention, Methodist Stewards. All members of the Board of Stewards of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church are requested to meet at the church tonight at 7:30.

New Club At College. A Primary Club, composed of the four-year students at East Carolina Teachers College who are majoring in primary education, is the latest addition to the list of clubs on the campus.

The group eligible for membership had a delightful party at the "Y" hut on last Monday evening, when they formed a permanent organization to meet once a month.

The officers are: Misses Frances Watson, president; Sue Elizabeth Smith, vice-president; Margaret Peele, secretary; Myra Westbrooke, treasurer; Mae McFarland, Teccan representative, and Bess Hinson, Tecco Echo reporter.

After a picnic supper was served and business dispatched, the social was turned into a costume party, with each one representing some well known character in a Mother Goose jingle or a nursery tale. Miss Dora Coates as "Little Bo-Peep" won the prize for giving the best impersonation.

LEAVES Sometimes alone, sometimes in groups. The lovely leaves float down. Each one to me a memory brings. As it falls to the ground. The gold ones are the little deeds I did to help someone. A cooling drink—a bite to eat. Or maybe shade from sun.

The red ones are courageous deeds. When all my hopes were high. And sometimes when despair was here I tried to smile—not sigh. Then there's a host of brown ones That stand for "marking time." With the same tasks day by day, And life seemed far from sublime.

Yet high up in the trees, I spy Green leaves, slowly swaying; I guess they stand for all those days Spent in idle playing. And now my resolution is: I strive henceforth to chase All the green ones down, and hang Gold and red in their place.

Christ's Mission Sermon Subject At Tent Revival Here

Evangelist R. L. Erickson used an extract from the fourth chapter and the 14th through the 16th verses of Luke as his topic for discussion last night at the tent tabernacle, corner Third and Cotanche streets, which was "The Mission of Christ."

Jesus said, quoted Mr. Erickson, that His mission in the earth was to befriend the blind, the bruised and the broken, as he had no lofty opinion of man, neither has he any of man's vanity. Christ began at the lowest strata of human society of life, not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. He comes to all who are in need, as He is no respecter of persons. If you are broken down spiritually on the highway of life, Jesus will bring the wrecker to your rescue and bring you in, make all needed repairs, which will fix you up. Sinner, will you let him fix you up?

Put your trust in the Christ, he can save and heal you from all sin. God resists the proud, but gives grace to the humble. Have you a need just now? Humble yourself and God will answer your prayer. God is listening to the cry of the poor and needy, and if you have a need right now, call upon Him, and He will fix you up. Are you hunting God with all your heart, through prayer, that He might bring sight to the blind, joy to the sad, heal the sick and the broken-hearted, encouragement to the downcast and despondent, release the poor and captive from their burden of sin? When this experience comes to the life of the Christians of Greenville, this will be the greatest revival this section has ever had to the glory of God, and the salvation of the

NEGRO HOLDUP MAN SENT TO COUNTY ROADS

Percy Smith Convicted of Robbery of Mrs. L. H. Smith Here Yesterday

Percy Smith, colored, charged with larceny in connection with the highway robbery of Mrs. L. H. Smith here about five weeks ago, was sentenced to from 12 to 18 months on the roads by Judge Dink James in County Court here yesterday.

The negro, who also told police his name was John Gorham, faces action in Superior court on an alleged charge of robbing Miss Doris Ross, telephone operator, of $85 here last Saturday night. He was run down and captured by two passers by shortly after snatching Miss Ross' purse.

Mrs. Smith was knocked down and robbed as she was crossing Columbia avenue. She was unable to identify her assailant but said she snatched her pocketbook containing $3.

The negro was questioned in connection with the Smith robbery when taken into custody but denied he had anything to do with it. Chief of Police George Clark put the negro into an automobile and told him he was going to take him to the scene of the robbery to see if his footprints did not check with those of the robber. After riding aimlessly about the city for a few minutes, the negro informed the officer he was going in the wrong direction and directed him to where the robbery took place.

The evidence was sufficient to bring about conviction when Smith pleaded not guilty at the outset of his trial in court yesterday.

Walking up behind Miss Ross and her sister in front of the Catholic convent on Fourth street last Saturday night, Smith allegedly snatched the pocketbook and fled down the street. Two men driving in automobiles heard the young woman scream, jumped from their cars and overhauled the negro after a spirited chase.

The money was recovered and Smith was taken to the police station where the robbery of five weeks before was looked on to him. He was said by police to have admitted the Ross holdup.

Dies At Paris. Paris, Nov. 9.—(AP)—James Mark Baldwin, American psychologist and author, died of pneumonia yesterday at the American Hospital after an illness of two days. He was 73 years old, and was a native of Columbia, S. C.

The money was recovered and Smith was taken to the police station where the robbery of five weeks before was looked on to him. He was said by police to have admitted the Ross holdup.

Dies At Paris. Paris, Nov. 9.—(AP)—James Mark Baldwin, American psychologist and author, died of pneumonia yesterday at the American Hospital after an illness of two days. He was 73 years old, and was a native of Columbia, S. C.

Mrs. Smith was knocked down and robbed as she was crossing Columbia avenue. She was unable to identify her assailant but said she snatched her pocketbook containing $3.

The negro was questioned in connection with the Smith robbery when taken into custody but denied he had anything to do with it. Chief of Police George Clark put the negro into an automobile and told him he was going to take him to the scene of the robbery to see if his footprints did not check with those of the robber. After riding aimlessly about the city for a few minutes, the negro informed the officer he was going in the wrong direction and directed him to where the robbery took place.

The evidence was sufficient to bring about conviction when Smith pleaded not guilty at the outset of his trial in court yesterday.

Walking up behind Miss Ross and her sister in front of the Catholic convent on Fourth street last Saturday night, Smith allegedly snatched the pocketbook and fled down the street. Two men driving in automobiles heard the young woman scream, jumped from their cars and overhauled the negro after a spirited chase.

High schools throughout the country are being called upon by leading educators to play a major role in solving the automobile accident problem. Their is the task, it is said, to put a more careful and competent generation of motor car drivers on the streets and highways by giving instructions in safe driving a credited part of the regular scholastic curriculum.

As a contribution to this use, and to give the schools finite tools with which to work, the Education Division of the National Safety Council in New York City has prepared a textbook on the subject called: "Good Driving—A Manual for the High Schools." The book was prepared under the direction of a secondary school committee consisting of such men as Dr. Thomas Gosling, director of the Junior Red Cross; Francis L. Bacon, principal of the Evanston, Township High School; of E. K. Fretwell of Columbia, and Prof. Robbins B. Beckel of Yale.

In brief, the manual attempts to describe what an automobile is and how to operate it. It is illustrated with arts and photographs and contains a list of reference material for those who wish to develop special topics. Six units of instruction are outlined: Automobile in modern times, the automobile, the driver, the operation of an automobile on the highway, accidents, and accident prevention.

The importance of this work is emphasized by the fact that in some states there is no law to prevent a child from stepping from the tittle of his kiddie car to the seat of a high powered automobile. In no state is there any legal provision requiring pre-license instruction. Last year automobiles led nearly 30,000 persons. The opportunity for high schools to perform an invaluable service to humanity could hardly be greater.

up all domestic silver expired an opportunity on election day. FDR always advises reporters to look up his written statements on questions of vital importance and not speculate beyond the words. Here is what the President said, in part when he asked press last May for authority to nationalize silver: "Because of the great world supply of silver and its use in varying degrees by the world's population, concerted action by all nations, or

 by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: For the second time, Lon Casad's stupidity has prevented his wife Marian from getting the evidence which will free Lon from the machinations of McSwain, the crooked contractor for whom Lon works, and perhaps keep the young man out of prison. Not only that, but apparently Lon has spent the evening with Silver Hamilton, McSwain's daughter and Marian's worst rival.

Chapter 43
STRAIGHT TALK

Lon had asked her to understand if he did things that seemed queer at the moment, Marian remembered. Well this certainly seemed queer, but why wasn't she accorded the same trust?

"Too bad you couldn't join us at dinner," Silver said. "We had a grand time, didn't we Lony?"

"Umph," grunted Lon.

"Indian for yes," Silver chuckled. "We went over to San Francisco drove around by the Peninsula, then came back across the ferry."

Marian felt she must say something. She couldn't let Silver see how deeply wounded she felt.

"One of these little see America first trips," she suggested. And added silently, then Lon hasn't been home, he must have telephoned the house and May told him where to find me. What was all that rubbish!

"Good night, Marian," Silver answered, then, "say, by the way, where is Hamlin stopping?"

Marian looked at her, and laughed.

"Silver," she chided, "haven't you had enough experience with men to know you should concentrate on one at a time," and she scurried off into the darkness.

As she mounted the hill her anger mounted with her until by the time she reached the house, she wished she had turned on the two of them, and told them what she thought of them. Trust Lon? She'd trust no man with Silver.

And Hamlin, that was the second time Lon's jealousy had frustrated her attempt to help him through the man he seemed to hate.

She dispatched May and Waki, let Hero run to the hill top and back, then took him indoors and sat down to wait for Lon. And as she waited her anger burned down to grey ashes of despair.

Silver had seen her talking to Hamlin. Would she realize the significance of that conference? Knowing that no one but Hamlin knew what had happened that night in Reno, would she with her alertness to her own danger, know what was in the air?

"Why did I tell Lon not to hurry?"

"I thought you said you'd trust me," said Lon.

he had talked about a business conference with McSwain? Mentally she tabulated the time it would have taken for such a trip, with dinner included.

"There's nothing clandestine about us, is there Mr. Casad?" continued Silver.

"There's no reason for anything clandestine," Lon barked.

Marian felt her scalp tingle, fore-runner of anger, and she mustn't allow her anger to control her.

"Think I'll suggest to Max that we try that," she said, and was rewarded by feeling the car swerve dangerously as Lon jerked the wheel.

"Oh, don't take Max seriously," Silver countered, "he falls for every girl he sees. I had him on my hands for a while."

"And of course you couldn't afford to waste your time on a man without money," Marian flashed back. "Too bad you didn't realize he was to make a fortune on 'Silver Slave' Hollywood paid him an amazing price for his picture rights."

"Oh really?" Silver forgot her pique in her interest in Hamlin's finances. "How much?"

Marian conquered a desire to say, "The last time you asked that question, it was about Lon." Instead she said as though she had lost all interest in everything, "I don't remember that he named the actual amount; I read about it."

AS they neared Lonian Lodge, Marian leaned across Silver and spoke to her husband.

"Mind dropping me here?" she asked. "I'm sure the Wakis want to get home."

Lon turned into the driveway. "Don't bother about coming up, I can walk from here," she said.

The car stopped with a savage grinding of brakes. Marian stepped out and looked back.

"Night, Silver," she said, and to Lon, "don't hurry home on my account."

at least a group of nations, is necessary if a permanent measure of value, including both gold and silver, is eventually to be made a world standard. To arrive at that point, we must seek every possible word agreement, although it may turn out that this nation will ultimately have to take such independent action on this phase of the matter as its interest requires.

... The ebb and flow of values in almost all parts of the world have created many points of pressure for readjustments of internal and international standards.

England and the United States both would like to stabilize. There has been much under-cover jockeying back and forth because each nation would like to get the advantage. London has stood pat so far, possibly figuring on old professional cold squeeze out when it might regard as even a fighting amateur.

Mr. Roosevelt told Congress in May he already had begun to confer with "some of our neighbors" in regard to the use of both silver and gold. The other day a State Department spokesman told newspaper men no silver conversations were new.

So local observers reason the time may be about due for that "independent action" of which the President spoke.

Drop: Spokesmen for Canada and the U. S. are discussing reciprocity. Premier Bennett wants to explore possibilities. Canadians say the imperial preference agreement doesn't block reciprocity in some important lines. The chief difficulty is in finding Canadian commodities that can be admitted without competition with American agriculture. The negotiators hope some arrangement can be made for admitting fish. But when it comes to milk, lumber and cattle there's trouble.

Trade between Canada and the U. S. is one-sixth of what it was in 1921. Meanwhile Canada has added 25 per cent to its population.

Caution: Kingfish Huey Long isn't the only one finding bad news in that Supreme Court decision which held he must submit to General Samuel T. Ansell's $500,000 libel suit.

Washington lobbyists, and they are legion, can see where a crimp is going to be put in their future method of operation.

All because the Supreme Court upheld the contention of lower court that a members of Congress is immune from libel prosecution for anything he may say on the floor but loses his immunity when those utterances are distributed in printed form other than the Congressional Record.

It has been an old Spanish custom, and no trick at all, for representatives of special interests here to get some member of Congress to make a speech whaling the daylight out of a given adversary. This speech is reprinted at the lobbyist's expense and mailed out in batches—under the Congressman's frank. Uncle Sam furnishes the postage and the envelope.

Now the promoters will have to be careful what kind of fire and brimstone they get their Congressional friends to read into the Congressional Record. If reprints go through the mail and the charges don't happen to be true—as is frequently the case—somebody is apt to get sued.

Postmaster General Farley should get a break. He had to boost his estimate for carrying deadhead mail from $13,000,000 to $15,000,000.

Silence: There was quite a "night before - Christmas" atmosphere around Washington the day before election. Nobody wanted to scare Santa Claus.

Secretaries Morgenthau and Ickes, Relief Administrator Hopkins and other high officials cancelled their usual press conferences. Nobody was available to answer any embarrassing questions.

Notes: NRA chiefs say they will mark time while the new law is being planned. Supreme Court decisions may affect the whole setup. Labor in automobile and steel industries is preparing for a cold showdown. German engineers are deep in experiments with wave beams that disturb all magnetic fields which they touch. This is not the old magneto-dynamo destructive yarn. People motoring in Germany continually report that cars stop for no apparent reason then just as suddenly start up again.

New York
 By JAMES McMULLIN
 Stormy: Labor's apparently passive acceptance of the extension of the automobile code for three months without an opportunity to air its grievances worries conservative leaders more than the belligerent explosion they had expected. Labor acts too much as if it had a flock of geese up its sleeve to suit their peace of mind.

What they fear most is that the motor industry is about to pay for its favored position up to now—in terms of the merit clause and authorized bargaining by minority employe groups—by being forced to serve as a subject for experiments with an annual wage. Insiders understand that Sidney Hillman, labor member of the new NRA Administrative Board—has sold the President this idea.

New Yorkers with excellent Washington contacts hear that the annual wage project is certain to be tested and mention three factors which make the auto business the logical goat. One is its relative prosperity. Its vitality is supposed to insure it more definitely than other industries against fatal reactions to experimental surgery in the labor field. Steel, for instance, is much too sickly already to risk subjecting it to such a drastic operation.

Another element is the comparatively small number of motor manufacturers—which makes federal supervision simpler. The third is the theory that seasonal fluctuations in auto production are largely due to artificial tradition and can be smoothed out without too much trouble by spacing the introduction of new models throughout the year.

Motor magnates aren't talking much but they're grimly determined not to become clinical specimens for labor's benefit. Whoever conducts the President's proposed survey will be treated to an awful of convincing reasons why an annual wage should be ruinous. The argument will be stressed that saddling the industry with irreducible wage costs far above those now in effect would be sure to eliminate all the independent producers and thereby add heavily to unemployment problems.

Meanwhile you can expect the auto makers to be hard-boiled rather than conciliatory towards labor during their three months of grace. Wage cuts are likely—also reductions of personnel wherever feasible. The industry privately feels the administration has gone over to the enemy and will retaliate by reverting to individualism as far as it dares. Our forecast for stormy labor weather soon holds good.

Scaps: Big-time financial circles were as shocked as a child who has just learned there is no Santa Claus when John Hartford let them down by re-opening his A & P stores in Cleveland. They had been so sure he would mold his ground.

The informed will tell you he didn't concede as much as he seemed. He gets federal backing for his opposition to the closed shop—which was a prize worth winning. His agreement not to interfere with employees who wish to join unions is taken with lots of salt. But he has told none of his mournful friends what the loss of trade throughout the nation came to in that week of the Cleveland experiment.

Hartford was important to Wall Streeters chiefly as a symbol and in that capacity he has failed them. There's no end of head-shaking at the prospects for wholesale labor uprisings encouraged by a triumph over one of America's arch-individualists. Reports are current that labor is quietly preparing an assault on Henry Ford's hitherto impregnable citadel. The scalps of Ford and Hartford—even though the victories were more apparent than real—would lift labor's morale to a virtually unbeatable pitch.

Teamwork: Despite all the storm warnings New York sharps see a real chance for long range betterment of capital-labor relations in current textile developments. Francis J. Borman's offer of union cooperation with employees to broaden textile markets is taken seriously.

A keen observer comments: "I hope George Sloan has sense enough not to high-tail the offer. Teamwork of the sort that Gorman suggests would help enormously to cure industry of the under-consumption which penalizes its productive capacity. The utilities know how effectively employes can boost sales. The move would benefit workers and employers alike and would stabilize their relationship by making them actual partners instead of opponents. Once the idea catches on in a major industry it's bound to spread like wildfire."

Clever Christopher

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER. Willy Nilly had no time to attend to his ears now. He was too worried about Quick-Dick who had been stoben by the gipsies. They probably would treat the horse well, as their own horse seemed happy and content, but Quick-Dick was gapped to be in Willy Nilly's charge.

Now Christopher wanted Willy Nilly's best scissors and he was going to look for the horse. What in the world did Christopher want of scissors? Did he mean to trade the scissors for the horse? The scissors were very fine and gipsies were strange and unlike other people in what they wanted and what they would take.

Willy Nilly stuck a cork at the sharp end of the scissors so they would not hurt Christopher while he was flying, and off went the crow in the direction in which the gipsies had started on their journey.

Christopher wanted to stop and pull the scissors from beneath his wing so he could see them gleam in the sunlight, but he knew he had no time to waste. The gipsies might get so far away that he couldn't find them. How he hated to give back the scissors!

Christopher flew and flew and flew the place from which the flames were coming. Yes, the gipsies had camped once more. And now he was close enough so he could see Quick-Dick, the horse.

But Christopher kept very still. He was using his crow brains.

COUNTY COURT ENDS TWO DAY SITTING HERE

Forty Odd Cases Disposed of, Including Numbers of Drunken Driving Charges.

After sitting for two days, County Court cleared its docket of forty-odd cases yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock and adjourned until next Tuesday.

As on the day before, the majority of defendants appearing before the court yesterday were white, forming quite a contrast to previous sessions when Negroes outnumbered whites two to one.

Automobile drivers appearing on charges of driving drunk, again came in for special attention of the court and were taxed with fines of $50 and ordered not to drive again for periods of six months to two years. Driving drunk has been on a pronounced increase in this section the last few months and drastic action is being taken by officers and the court to put an end to such violations.

The following cases were disposed of:

Paul Griffin, assault with deadly weapon, taxed with cost and $13 for use of Garland Reddick, alleged to have been cut by the defendant.

Jasper Jones, drunk on streets; judgment suspended on payment of cost.

Julius Moss, larceny, six months on the roads.

Tom Gray, colored, assault with deadly weapon; judgment suspended on payment of cost.

William Harrison, convict, and Jesse Redmond, stealing potatoes; Redmond not guilty; Harrison six months on roads, sentence to run concurrently with former sentence.

Gladys Poe, of Kinston, reckless driving and assault; $75, cost deducted, and license revoked for two years. She filed notice of appeal to Superior court.

Heber and Katie Hardy, operators of filling station on Washington highway, whiskey for sale; $50, cost deducted, and six months on the roads. Sentence suspended if they abandon their filling station in ten days and move away from the place and not reenter it for three years. They filed notice of appeal to Superior court under bond of $300 each.

John Jones, driving carelessly and recklessly; judgment suspended.

Bryant Harris, colored, careless and reckless driving; $25 and cost and license revoked for six months.

Tavis Tingen, selling liquor; ordered sent to the Farm Colony near Kinston.

Lewo Stanley, driving drunk, $50 and cost and license revoked for six months.

Bill Harrington, colored, liquor for sale, $25, cost deducted.

TIGHTENING OF LEAF CONTROL PLAN SOUGHT

Last year and given legal teeth by the Kerr-Smith Act.

Warehousemen have offered the services of 1,500 employees to conduct the sign-up, and Governor Ehringhaus expressed the desire that the campaign be put on while this assistance is available.

Also apparent was the fear that somewhere in the background a cooperative marketing scheme might be lurking. Cooperative marketing of tobacco, with farmers of this State who still can wax furious at the very mention of the ill-fated Tri-State Cooperative of a decade ago, is a red flag. They want none of it. They intend to have none of it.

For this fear, the Governor had soothing counsel:

"If you'll cooperate in producing a crop, you won't need any cooperative marketing," declared the Governor, and the crowd applauded.

"Personally," continued the Governor, "I am in exact accord with all three suggestions (the provisions of the original resolution), but let's take no action here or at any time that might be construed as a slap in the face of the agricultural administration. . . I think Washington wants suggestions from us. I know they'll study any suggestion we present to them, but let's not in any resolutions offend these men. Let's keep friends with them and keep them fighting for us like they have been."

New York Cotton

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened fairly steady unchanged to two lower with southern Liverpool cables set by southern selling. The market was steady right after the call.

December advanced to 12.14 and May from 12.27 to 12.30 with the market quiet and about one to two higher at the end of the first half hour.

Prices worked up to 12.20 for December and 12.32 for May during the morning. The market was holding to gains of about 3 to 6 points around midday.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Moderate improvement was the rule in most of today's financial markets. Stocks although less active than in the preceding session, showed a steady to firm tone.

So-called specialties received the most attention. The news generally was fairly optimistic.

The major grains got up around a cent a bushel. Cotton was a little better than even as the trade discussed plans for further acreage cut next year.

Bonds held the modest gains of yesterday. The French franc and the gold currencies were mostly up against the dollar but sterling turned heavy.

The late tone was firm. Transfers were 850,000 shares.

Late News Flashes

Asks Investigation.
Washington, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Senator Borah today demanded an investigation by President Roosevelt and Congress of the administration of relief expenditures, asserting there was "shameless waste in doling out the fund."

The Idaho Republican independent did not say so specifically but inferred that relief money in many cases had gone for political purposes.

"There is one thing about this matter of expenditures for relief that should have the attention of Congress or the executive department," Borah declared on returning to Washington from the West.

"Everyone wants to see those who need relief get relief, but millions never reach those who need it. The amount expended before it gets to those in need is appalling. I have had brought to my attention instances in which the cost of administering funds was about half the fund to be administered.

"Now the load is heavy enough for the taxpayers at best, but this shameless waste, if not stopped, will have to have an end not only in the name of the hungry and needy but in the interest of decency."

Tanker Explodes

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The tanker Calicag outbound from Mobile with a cargo of gasoline and oil exploded in Mobile Bay, 17 miles from here, before noon today.

One member of the crew was reported killed and 12 injured. Many in a serious condition were brought to hospitals.

The tanker was proceeding down the bay when the blast occurred amidship and the cargo of gas and oil took fire. Seamen were thrown into the water with their clothing in flames.

Fishing boats went to the aid of the seamen, rescuing the 12 brought to hospitals here, including Capt. Fitzgerald of the vessel who had compound fractures of both legs.

Fire swept the vessel as the highly inflammable cargo was scattered about, and an hour later she was blazing furiously off beacon light 26.

Germans Would Annex Saar

Geneva, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Saar region territory governing commission reported to the League of Nations today the Nazi German front in the Saar has a secret police force of 100,000 working in the interest of the annexation of the Saar by Germany.

The commission declared it had seized documents to prove the German front and its secret police are terrorizing such members of the population that are suspected of opposing annexation of the ter-

LEMON GROWERS STICK TO IT

Despite a 1934 crop of only a peck from 20 trees, Fred Groff, believed to be Oklahoma's only lemon grower, plans to set out 700 trees from cuttings of the original 20.

ties are expected to take an interest in the arrest here of three young negroes accused of stealing tobacco from nearby tobacco packhouses and with subsequent sales on the floor of a local warehouse. County Farm Agent W. L. Adams has had his attention called to the case and because of the warehouse operations considers the matter should be taken up with the government. The negroes arrested are Jack McEachin, Arthur Curry and Dave Barnes. They were arrested Wednesday night after Detectives Hottel and Gay in charge of a party of officers had waited two hours for them at the barns of Jesse Aycock on the outskirts of town, catching McEachin, it is alleged, in the act of making off with 200 pounds of Aycock's tobacco. The arrest of the other two followed.
