PLAN PROBE OF BUTLER STORY ON 'FASCISM'

Congressional Committee to Investigate Alleged Plot to Seize Government

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—General Smedley Butler's reported story of a Fascist plot to make him dictator of the United States was labeled today by Gerald MacGuire, a bond salesman as "publicity stock" devoid of truth.

Nevertheless, the Congressional Committee on un-American activities, continued its investigation of the former marine corps chief's purported charge that he had been approached by a Wall Street banker to head an army of 500,000 former soldiers and others to march on Washington and seize control of the Federal government.

Chairman John W. MacCormick one of the committee, promised a thorough investigation, saying: "We are going to get at the bottom of this matter, and we are going to call witnesses and records that will bring out the truth—whatever that may be."

Chairman MacCormick and Representative Samuel Dickstein, chairman, heard General Butler for more than two hours yesterday and said that Butler had repeated some of the statements attributed to him in newspaper stories in which details of the plot were given. Both members said General Butler made it clear he had flatly rejected all proposals made by the Fascist group.

GRADY CALLED TOP PULPIT HERE

Wilmington Minister Accepts Pastorate of Local Presbyterian Church

Rev. Robert C. Grady of Wilmington, has accepted the pastorate of the local Presbyterian Church and will take over his duties the first Sunday in December.

The announcement was made today by members of the pulpit committee named several months ago to obtain a successor to Rev. W. S. Harden, who died the latter part of the last year after serving the congregation for ten years.

Mr. Grady, who has preached here two or three times the last several weeks, was extended the call following a congregational meeting November 10. A letter of acceptance was received from the minister this week, members of the pulpit committee said today.

Mr. Grady, about 27 years old, is a graduate of Davidson College and Princeton Seminary. He was licensed as a minister at a recent meeting of the Wilmington Presbytery.

The committee said the minister would arrive in Greenville next week to prepare to take over his duties the first Sunday in December. Although young, Mr. Grady is considered an eloquent speaker, and members of the congregation said they were highly pleased with the sermons he preached here.

For five months last summer Rev. J. A. Potts, of Vanceboro, an evangelist, did supply work for the congregation. He gave up his work here several weeks ago to return to the evangelistic field.

AUTO DRIVER JAILED HERE

Matthew Sheppard Knocks Down Light Pole When he Loses Control of His Car

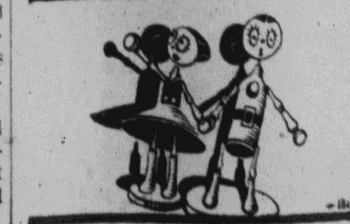

When Matthew Sheppard's automobile went out of control on Twelfth Street last night, it crashed into an electric light pole, knocking it down and throwing that section of the city in darkness for a while.

Sheppard, charged with reckless driving, was given preliminary hearing in police court this morning and bound over to the next sitting of County Court.

Police declared the negro was attempting to drive too fast and lost control when attempting to turn a corner.

When the pole fell, power lines became disconnected and that section of the city was thrown into darkness for awhile. Employees of the power companies rushed to the scene of the wreck immediately and restored service.

THREE BABIES' BODIES FOUND IN NEW YORK

Police Disclose Finding Bodies in Trunk Stored in Warehouse Since 1932

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Discovery of the bodies of three infants in a trunk which has been checked in a Brooklyn warehouse on July 15, 1933, was disclosed today in the line-up at police headquarters.

The discovery led to the arrest of a woman who identified herself as Ruby Clarke, 36, of Rocky Road, Upper Nyack, N. Y. Questioned in the lineup she said the trunk belonged to her, but denied she had known what it contained. Since the summer of 1932 the trunk had gathered dust in the warehouse located at 29 Lexington Avenue, Brooklyn.

Upon learning of Miss Clarke's present address, police communicated with her parents in Upper Nyack and learned she was on a hunting trip near Lake George, N. Y.

Detectives got in touch with her and she came to Brooklyn last night.

The condition of the bodies prevented immediate determination of the age or sex. Miss Clarke was composed during the questioning by Inspector Joseph Donovan. Toward the end of the questioning she seemed on the very collapse.

WIFE SLAYER JAILED HERE

Ed Howard, Colored, Of Bethel, Held For Shooting Wife to Death Monday

Ed. Howard, 30-year-old negro of Bethel, was held in the county jail here today on a charge of murder growing out of the shooting of his wife last Monday night.

The woman died yesterday from a bullet wound in her hip which she said was inflicted by her husband as she was walking along the street.

Howard, employee of a Bethel filling station, was taken into custody shortly after the shooting upon information furnished by the woman.

She was said to have told officers she was walking along the street near her home when she heard the report of a revolver and then felt the pain in her hip. Although it was comparatively dark in that section of the town, she told police she recognized her husband walking along the street only a short distance away.

Howard denied he did the shooting. He was standing at the filling station drinking a soft drink when police took him into custody.

SUES FOR $25,000 CHARGING ALIENATION

Elizabeth City, Nov. 21.—John L. Winslow, of the Hertford highway, who has been in court here upon several occasions recently charged with non-support of his wife and family, has entered suit in Pasquotank Superior Court for $25,000 damages for alienation of affections naming his father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Tuttle, as joint defendants.

Late News Flashes

Supreme Court Denies Appeal. Raleigh, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The State Supreme Court today denied the appeal of Bascom G. Green and his son, Lester Green, from death sentences imposed on them in Alexander county in February for the killing of T. C. Barnes, a bank official, as they sought to rob the bank in which he was employed.

Chief Justice W. P. Stacy wrote the opinion, finding "no error" in the trial of the two Greens. The decision brought to a total of four the men whose conviction for the killing of Barnes were sustained by the Supreme Court.

Mike Stanoff has already been electrocuted for his part in the crime, and R. E. Ball, son-in-law of Bascom Green, is on death row at state's prison, living under reprieve pending final disposition of the cases of the Greens.

NEGRO HELD ON WRECK CHARGE

John Diggins Bound Over to County Court In Hit and Run Case Here Today

John Diggins, colored, charged with hit-and-run driving, was given a hearing in Mayor's Court this morning and bound over to the next sitting of County Court.

The negro was taken into custody by police Monday after he allegedly ran his car into another machine driven by John Mazingo on West Fifth Street Sunday, injuring Mazingo's child.

Suffering from cuts and bruises, the child was rushed to the local hospital for medical aid, but her injuries were not described as serious.

Police said Diggins, driving in the center of the road, forced Mazingo off the pavement and then crashed into him. Both cars were badly damaged in the crash.

Diggins, with four other negroes riding with him, allegedly jumped from their car and fled without stopping to offer assistance to Mazingo.

Diggins was arrested at his home in Falkland Monday and immediately returned to Greenville and placed in jail to await trial.

ROTES HEAR TWO SPEAKERS

Rev. A. W. Fleischmann and F. C. Harding Make Brief Talks to Clubmen

It did not take a stay in San Francisco to convince Gus Fleischmann of his love for Greenville, but it did further impress him with the superiority of Greenville's mode of living, he said last night at the Rotary Club at their regular weekly meeting. He said he could not speak to the people he passed on the city's streets for they would have thought him strange had he done so. He prefers Greenville with its streets lined.

Fordy Harding told of his jaunt to Canada and recommended such a trip by car as being highly enjoyable and not too expensive. He kept a careful account of his expenses and can tell you just how reasonable it was. In Pennsylvania among the farmer folk Fordy found a warm genial hospitality which made him think of our own Southern brand.

The Rotary Club had as guests Monday night Dr. Ernest Branch, C. B. Jewett, Howard McDougal and Luther Sleek. The attendance prize was won by Fordy Harding. The program committee has been directed to plan for Ladies' Night.

There is to be no meeting of the club on December 24, which is a Monday and would be a meeting night. Herbert ReBarker, president of the club, presided.

Cotton Ginning Shows Decline

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Cotton of this year's crop ginned prior to November 14 was reported today by the Census Bureau to have totaled 8,632,991, running bales exclusive of linters, counting 163,500 round bales as half bales and including 9,021 bales of American-Egyptian.

Last year that date ginnings totaled 11,284,200 running bales, including 478,587 round bales and 4,912 bales of American Egyptian, and two years ago ginnings totaled 10,533,684 running bales, including 474,442 round bales and 5,073 bales of American-Egyptian.

Indicated crop this year had been set by the Department of Agriculture as being 9,634,000 bales of 500-pound weight. To November 14 North Carolina had ginned 504,339 bales as compared with 624,484 for the same period last year.

LEAF MONEY TOTAL MOUNTS

Greenville Tobacco Market Drawing Near Sixteen Million Dollar Mark

The total amount of money paid out on the local tobacco market pushed toward the sixteen million dollar mark today with indications the figure would be reached in the near future.

The official report of K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales, this morning placed the total amount of money released by the market this year as $15,896,742.79. This sum was paid for 50,305,930 pounds of tobacco and the general market average was $31.60 per hundred pounds.

Sales yesterday were light, the report showing that 128,662 pounds of leaf was sold yesterday for $31,020, at an average of $24.11 per hundred pounds.

Prices were described as holding up fine considering the common grades of tobacco offered at this time. The offerings of the last several days consisted mainly of common and damaged tobacco, and this condition is expected to prevail the remainder of the season in view of the fact that the bulk of the crop along with the best grades has already been sold.

Farmers were urged by the supervisor to prepare their tobacco for marketing as rapidly as possible and obtain some of the good prices being paid for the lower grades.

LIGHTS OFF SHORT TIME

Section of City Without Lights For Hour Last Night After Car Wreck

A small area in the southern part of the city was without lights for two minutes to an hour last night when a negro ran his automobile into an electric light pole on Twelfth Street, knocking it down and scattering wires on the ground.

Martin Swartz, superintendent of the Water and Light Commission, said today the damage caused by the wreck was cleared up by a crew of workmen this morning after temporary repairs were made last night.

Matthew Sheppard, driver of the car which caused all the trouble, was taken into custody and held on a charge of reckless and careless driving.

Only a small area from Eighth Street to beyond Twelfth Street was involved in the disruption of service, Mr. Swartz said, and this was only for a brief space of time.

Although there have been slight disruptions of service here the last few years, the city has not been without service for any length of time in many years. Mr. Swartz said heavy wind storms occasionally caused minor trouble in some localities, but that this was usually cleared up in a short time.

PITT IS FOCAL SURVEY POINT

Federal and State Governments Conducting Important Work in Territory

Pitt County has been selected for every major survey of the Federal and State governments during the last several months, it was made known today. Several surveys have already been completed and two or three are under way.

Only two or three counties in 32 States of the South have been selected for these surveys, and the fact that Pitt County was picked as one of them is a matter of pride to those familiar with the situation.

Because of its size and population, Pitt County is considered one of the most representative counties in this section of the country, and it was for this reason the surveys were centered here.

K. T. Futrell, director of the government relief agency here, said today a house-to-house canvass was being made throughout the county with a view to determining the relief of the people. The survey is being made by the Federal government, and fifty persons are being employed in compiling the information.

Another survey is also in the offing at this time, that centering about activities of the local Juvenile Court. Court records for the last four years will be checked to determine how many young people have been handled by the court, the nature of their crimes and to what institutions they were confined.

Other surveys are being planned by both the State and Federal governments, Mr. Futrell said, and will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

Funeral services will be conducted from the late home at 3 o'clock today by Rev. L. R. Ennis, pastor of the Farmville Baptist Church. Burial will be in the Farmville cemetery.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG News Behind The News.

Washington By GEORGE DURNO Technique: President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving trip to Warm Springs couldn't have been more beautiful if timed than this year. The annual turkey dinner at the Georgia resort is almost a religious pilgrimage. Otherwise, those who wish him not-so-well politically might be able to say he was hibernating deliberately in the face of a delicate administrative situation.

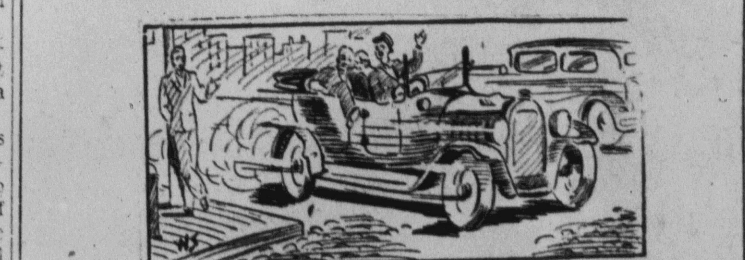

An undercover fracas has been on in Washington for some weeks over future New Deal recovery policies. All of the administration big-shots continue to tunch with each other, smile and laugh in high good humor, and call everybody by their first names.

But each and every one of the really important officials is anxious about their place in the sun. Many of them have personal ideas as to how best the country can be raised out of the slough—and naturally are pulling all possible wires to have those particular ideas adopted.

Secretary of Interior Ickes spent about three days aboard the Presidential special as it toured south through the Tennessee Valley last week. Ickes holds out for a gigantic public works program continued over the next few years at the rate of about $5,000,000,000 annually as the only sure-fire solution.

The day after Thanksgiving Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins will leave for Warm Springs to confer with FDR and travel back with him to Washington. Hopkins likewise thinks the national pump must be primed with a great gushing of federal money but he differs as to technique. Last winter, Hopkins put 4,000,000 men to work to (Continued on page Two.)

You're zooming along the country highway at 60—the pavement stretches ahead, wide and free of travel. Safe enough you think. Suddenly you glimpse a sign—BOY AND GIRLVILLE 1 MILE. Soon another sign—SLOW DOWN, PROTECT OUR CHILDREN. Now the first few scattered houses. You slow down—to about 45 or 50—it seems slow. And that's the trouble. Twenty-five miles an hour, a safe speed through towns, seems so absurdly slow after 60 in the country.

COLLECTIONS SHOW BIG GAIN PAST MONTH

Internal Revenue as a Whole Falls off in Spite of $3,000,000 Gain in Liquor Taxes; Tobacco Taxes Also Show Over Two Million Dollar Gain

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—(AP)—October's liquor drinkers paid the government $3,000,000 more in taxes than in September, but internal revenue as a whole dropped off.

Most of the decline from $379,000 in September to $369,000 in October was in income tax collections. Fourth quarter payments in September boosted this item to $171,750,000, but in the next month it dropped back to $159,188,000.

Figures of the Internal Revenue Department showed today that during the first third of this fiscal year the Treasury collected $1,014,576,000 as compared with $777,407,000 in the same months of 1933. Farm processing and income taxes provided most of the increase with liquor revenue adding its share.

Miscellaneous internal revenue payments dropped to $135,793,000 in October compared to $168,268,000 in September. A large part of this difference provided for a capital stock tax, a blanket 30-day extension granted tax-payers on this date last July brought a September bulge of $449,999,000, which dropped to $4-772,000 in October.

Tobacco taxes advanced from $36,253,000 to $39,022,000.

NOTED BISHOP TO SPEAK HERE

Edwin Holt Hughes To Speak at Campus Building at College Sunday Morning

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, one of the most distinguished ministers of America, will speak at the Campus building of East Carolina Teachers College next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Bishop Hughes is the senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church and lives at Washington, D. C. For a generation he has been recognized as one of the most noted ministers of the country, and is always in great demand as a baccalaureate and convocation speaker in the great universities of the land. He is the author of several books that have been widely read.

Although a man of profound scholarship and wide and varied experience in many fields, he has the happy faculty of being able to bring his public deliverance down to the level of the common man. He is what may be truly called a great popular preacher. The American public has for a long time rated him along with Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, Dr. S. Parks Cadman, and others, as one of the truly great ministers of his day.

"It is a piece of rare good fortune for the citizens of Greenville and the students of Eastern Carolina Teachers College," said Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church today, "that we are able to get Bishop Hughes for a service in the city on the morning of that day. It is hope that both the citizens of the community and the students of the college, will avail themselves of this rare opportunity to hear one of our truly great American ministers."

The pastors and members of all the churches of the city and community are most cordially invited to participate and enjoy this service and head the message of Bishop Hughes.

U. N. C. GETS IN SHAPE FOR CAVALIERS

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 21.—Carolina's annual classic with Virginia at Charlottesville Thanksgiving will find the Tar Heels packing a veteran team which lists seven of the eleven men who started and 17 of the 26 men who played in last year's meeting of the old rivals.

There is little danger that the Tar Heels for all their fine record will be the victims of over-confidence. The veterans remember too well how Virginia halter every thrust for three quarters last year and extended them the limit to win 14-0. And the seniors have an even more vivid recollection of the 14-7 upset to Cavaliers handed them in 1932.

The veterans on the club include Captain George Barclay, a leading candidate for an All-American guard berth, who intercepted a pass and ran 35 yards for one touchdown, and George Moore, who hit the line for the other score in last year's game.

This year's game will mark the introduction of Carolina's new coach, Carl Snively, to the classic rivalry, which dates back to 1892 and which is the oldest continuous and the most colorful of the South's Turkey Day rivalries.

The Carolina eleven in its first year under the new coach has piled up the finest record of any Tar Heel team since 1929. Defeated only by Tennessee and tied only by N. C. State, the Tar Heels have upset such powers as Georgia, Tech and Duke and have already captured their State championship.

The stars, in addition to Captain Barclay, include Charlie Shaffer and Don Jackson, two galloping half-backs; Jim Hutchins, driving full-back; Jim Tatum and Tom Evins, speedy tackles; Eddie Kahn, rugged guard, the pass-snagging end who scored the touchdowns that beat Duke and Kentucky. Shaffer has been held out of the line-up with injuries for the past three weeks, but is expected to be in shape again to run his final game Thanksgiving, John Trimpety, big tackle, with a sprained ankle, is the only other casualty. Marvin Ray and Lex Moser are being groomed to take his place. Arrangements have been completed to run a special train to Virginia, and all indications are that a small army of students, alumni and other supporters will follow the Big Blue team to its annual Thanksgiving clash.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

One of the most interesting analyses I have had in a long time comes from the typewriter of a man unusually well-informed about the collegiate football situation, especially as it applies to the business of getting the right type of talent into the right places, for the obvious purpose of getting winning results.

After referring to some of the disadvantages and difficulties experienced by a college nowadays in competing for star schoolboy football talent, without sustained alumni cooperation or special inducements, this observer writes:

"It is our observation that 75 per cent of all football stars in prep schools and high schools come from second generation emigrant families. These boys are being kept in high school longer than usual by reason of the lifting of minimum school age. Many of these boys get the educational bee and want a college education. They go to those institutions which offer them the most inducements.

Let's bring 'em in. The other 25 per cent of football stars come from wealthy homes. These boys come to college either to play football or to get an education. If they are interested in football they choose an outstanding football institution where they will acquire additional prestige in playing. Otherwise they come to the colleges for which they have some sentimental attachment.

"From this brief analysis you will see that we get what is left after the cream is skimmed off. You can't win football games on skimmed milk. Colleges such as — must either be satisfied with the present situation or take pride in their high white rating or else compete for football players.

Pay Or You Leave
There is no doubt this subject has called for keen discussion in more than one athletic chancellor's office. East and West, North and South. Colleges and universities which took the revelations of the famous Carnegie Report seriously, subsequently taking measures to eliminate or minimize the so-called "evils" of proselyting and recruiting, have found themselves out-stripped by rivals with a more business-like attitude toward football.

The depression, with its consequent sharp falling off in gate receipts, compelling most of the bigger colleges to scrap many of their notions about athletic "purity," compete in the open market for football talent and bend their energies toward more attractive schedule making—all for the purpose of saving their athletic treasures from going bankrupt.

Conditions have improved and the situation involves a brighter outlook again, from the viewpoint of gate receipts, but the competition is keen and the cash customers are discriminating. There being no lack of proof that a winning team pays bigger dividends than a loser, there is only one answer to the problem facing those who still stand at the football cross-roads. They must either join the scramble or indulge in less expensive pastimes.

Female falcons are bigger stronger and can kill larger prey than the males.

Reflecting Sports

By Wm. WATSON MORGAN

Carolina is proud of its victory over Duke, and the Blue Devils and their supporters are sorry to have lost, but there is one thing that the two should be thankful for, and that is the wonderful spirit and clean play shown by both teams. It is likely to be many a day before fans will see a game so free of dirty playing. The only penalty called for rough play was against Duke for "piling on," and that looked to be the result of hard playing rather than intentional dirty work. The gesture of many of the players, and particularly that of Captain Barclay, when he followed Ed, West to the side lines to compliment him on his great playing supports the contention of many that there is a more friendly relation now existing between the two schools.

Barclay continues to get the praise and most of the faculty, but brother, this big boy Jim Tatum is certainly an improved player. He is fast, aggressive and a deadly tackler. Possibly Barclay playing next to him has been an inspiration. It is true that Barclay gets into more plays and spills more of the interference, but George certainly is being ably supported by Big Jim.

It was a pleasure to watch Wentz play that end position. Many times it looked like running into a brick wall and bouncing off when the Carolina tack would try to take him out of the play.

Thousands wondered at the elastic arm of Dizzy Dean throughout the pennant drive this past summer. Football fans throughout North Carolina are now wondering what Lath Morris is using for vocal cords. How he can yell so loud and long is a mystery. Saturday he seemed to be going stronger at the end of the game than at the beginning. His whoops seem to be gaining in popularity. Practically all of the fans on the south side and many on the north side of the stands seemed to thoroughly enjoy his vocal selections. Many of the Blue Devil followers point out that Wade has demonstrated that our Carolina and Southern boys can be developed into just as good football players as those from the coal fields of Pennsylvania with cognoments that very few people are able to pronounce. In Duke's starting line-up Saturday, four of the players were from North Carolina, four from Virginia, two from Oklahoma—the Dunlap brothers are the sons of a Methodist minister and were originally from North Carolina before moving to Oklahoma. In the Tar Heel starting line-up, five are from North Carolina, three from Pennsylvania, and one South Carolina, one from Florida, and one from Massachusetts.

Carolina will have three players from this starting line-up that will have played their allotted time by the end of this season. They are: Barclay, Kahn and Tatum, and what a three they are! Shaffer did not play, but will be another that cannot play next year.

Duke will lose Wentz, the Dunlapps, possibly Cornelius and Terrall. One year Cornelius was crippled and it is said that he has another year to play if he decides to return to school.

What about an All-State team? Here goes one:

- First Team
- Wentz, Duke—End.
- Tatum, Carolina—Tackle.
- Barclay, Carolina—Guard.
- Sabol, N. C. State—Center.
- J. Dunlap, Duke—Guard.
- Isaacs, N. C. State—Tackle.
- Redding, N. C. State—End.
- Mackorell, Davidson—Quarter.
- Jackson, Carolina—Half.
- Cornelius, Duke—Half.
- Alexander, Duke—Full.

- Second Team
 - Buck, Carolina—End.
 - P. Swann, Wake Forest—Tackle.
 - Kahn, Carolina—Guard.
 - Daniel, Carolina—Center.
 - Stanko, N. C. State—Guard.
 - Durner, Duke—Tackle.
 - Morgan, Davidson—End.
 - Kitchin, Wake Forest—Quarter.
 - Parker, Duke—Half.
 - Shaffer, Carolina—Half.
 - Hutchins, Carolina—Full.
- These are three outstanding centers in the State. It is difficult to pick between Sabol, Daniel and Dunlap. Sabol is a rugged, 60-minute man, so should get the call over the other two. I gave Daniel the call over Dunlap after watching the two play Saturday. Some fans would place Rex at full because of the record that he made previous to this year. He played very inferior ball this season; the game against Carolina is the only creditable game that he has played all season.

New Farm Census Seek Drought, Depression Data

By CARL C. CRANMER
Washington—(AP)—Changes produced by the drought and the depression, as well as by many trends in the habits and customs of living, are expected to be revealed by the mid-decennial agricultural census that begins on January 1.

Because of these changes the census is regarded by many government departments and recovery agencies as the most important census since 1940.

The data collected are expected to be of great value in charting the future course of acreage adjustment, subsistence homesteads, submarginal land buying and utilization, rural rehabilitation, farm credit, farm housing, soil erosion and reforestation. The census also may have a bearing upon such problems as unemployment and industrial decentralization.

True Picture Sought
Officials no longer have accurate information, only estimates, as to the actual farm population because of the shift in recent years of city workers to rural areas and because of the tendency of young people to stay on the farm.

The movement of cattle from drought areas to the slaughter house and to other sections of the country will be revealed. The true picture of drought damage is expected to be disclosed in figures showing the acreage of land idle in 1934 as a result of crop failure or destruction.

Changes brought about by the campaigns for reduction of such basic crop as cotton, tobacco, wheat, corn and hogs will be recorded. A clue will be given to the changing problem of the share cropper in the South as a result of these campaigns. Increased production of fruits and vegetables may reveal a dietary change from wheat and meat in the habits of Americans.

Fewer Questions Asked

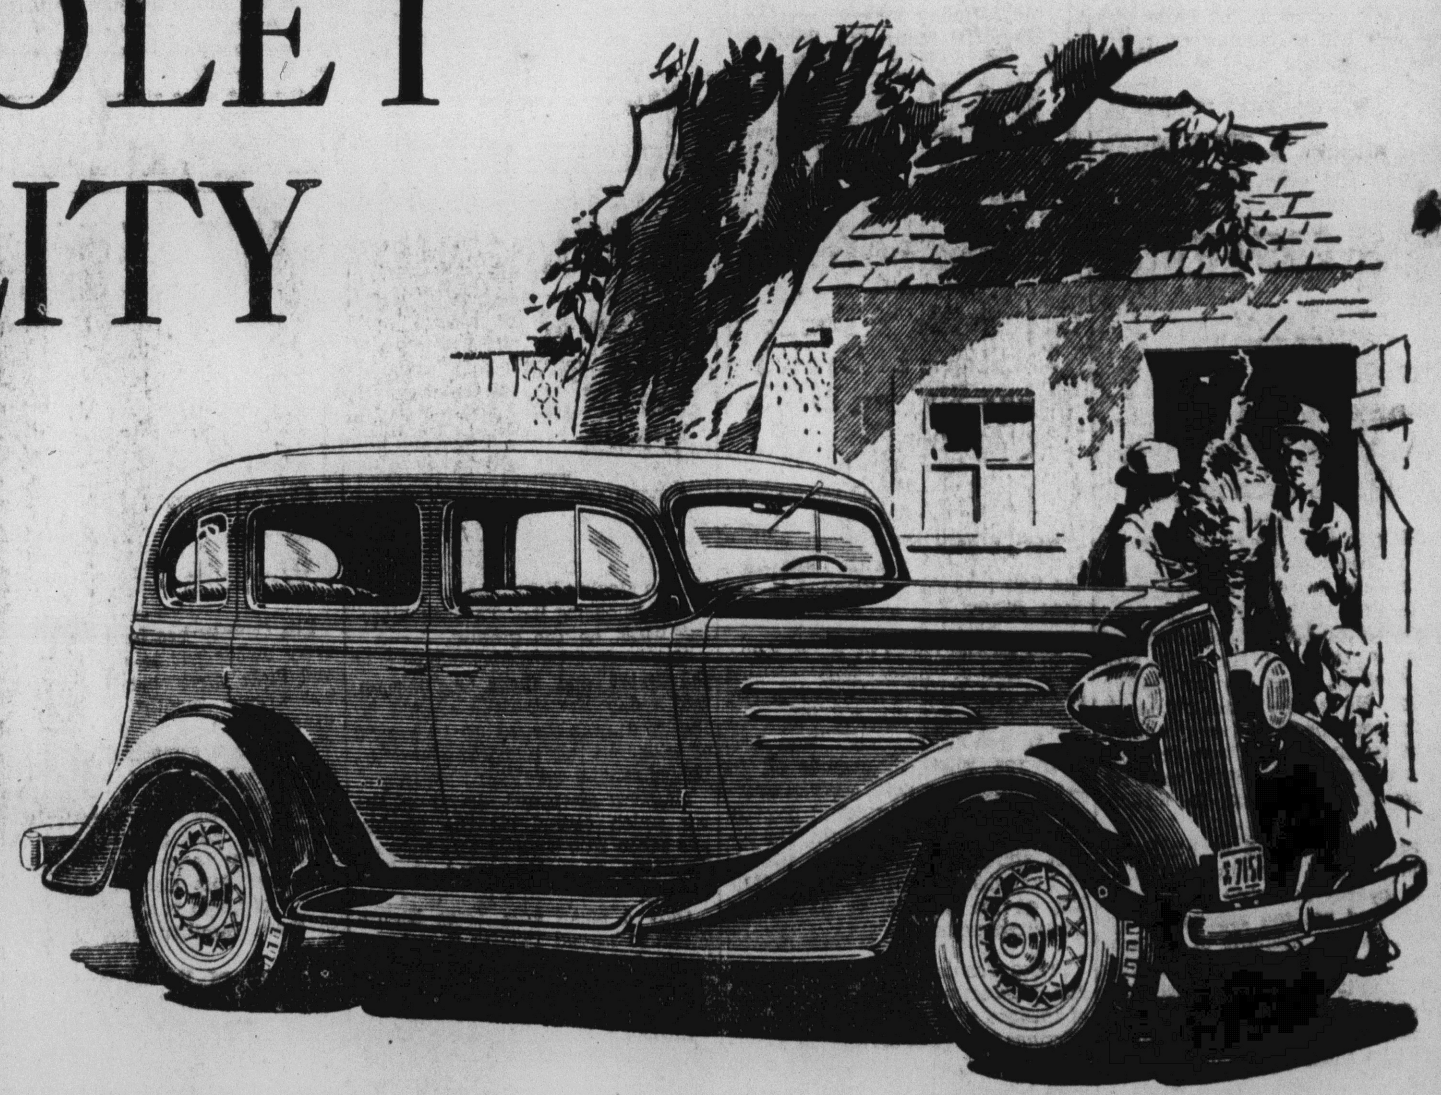

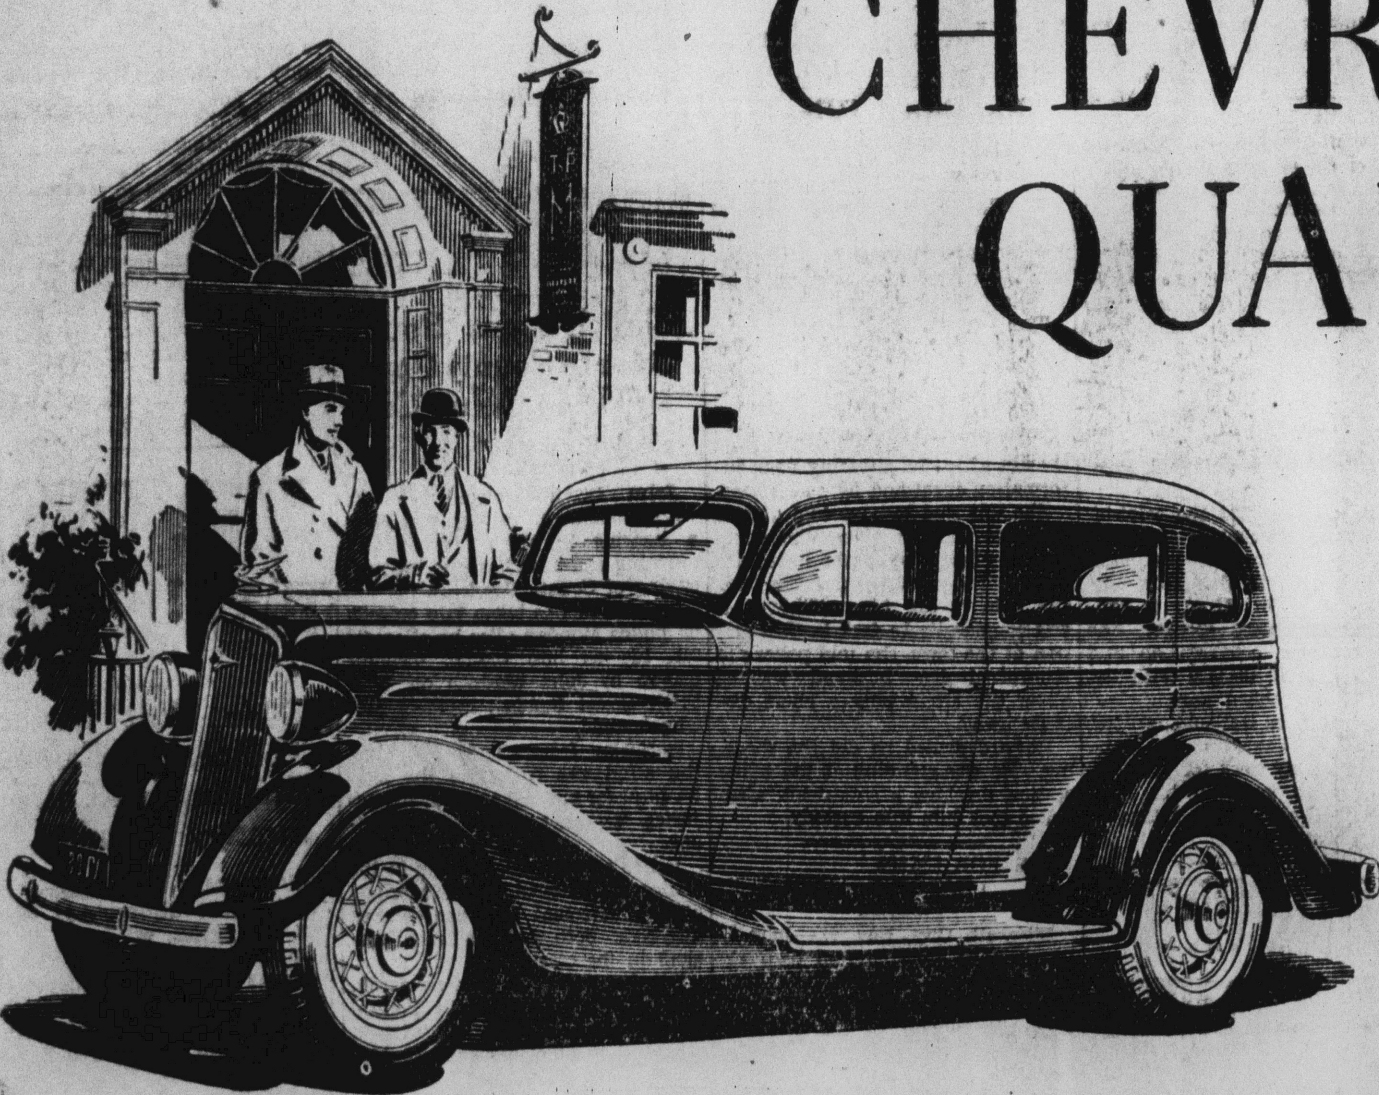

Despite the variety of information desired, however, Uncle Sam plans to ask fewer questions and get the information quicker. Only one hundred questions will be asked by enumerators, compared with 233 in the farm census of 1930. The shorter census is expected to be completed in thirty days, and the shorter schedule may make possible compilations for use this following crop year.

Among the new questions asked will be the extent to which farmers rely upon employment outside the farm, amount of hired help, production and number of orange and grapefruit trees, and number of sows expected to farrow before June 1.

Other information sought will include acreage of farm land owned and rented, crop land harvested and planted, crop land harvested, crop failure by acres, idle land, plowable grazing land, woodland, irrigated land; farm value and amount of mortgage debt; number of farm houses, number of persons on the farm and number; not on a farm five years ago; acreage and production of corn, sorghums, peanuts, soybeans, cowpeas, field beans, legumes, hay, small grains, cotton, sugar cane and sugar beets, sweet potatoes and yams, tobacco, potatoes, vegetables, fruits and nuts; number of horses, mules, hogs, milk, cows and cattle, sheep, goats, chickens and turkeys; milk produced, butter churned, and eggs produced.

Miss Hadley Honored. A lovely affair of the week honoring Miss Rose Hadley, who will be married Saturday evening, was yesterday when Mrs. Rosamond Nicholson was gracious hostess at luncheon and bridge.

The entire lower floor of the home was beautifully decorated in profusions of yellow chrysanthemums.

On arrival of the guests at one o'clock a delectable two-course luncheon was served by the hostess who was assisted by Mrs. W. L. Kington, Mrs. F. J. Forbes and Mrs. W. E. Hooker.

Following the luncheon, bridge was played in the library, drawing room and sun room. In the awarding of prizes after the game, Mrs. James Wooten was given a novelty powder box for slams and Miss Henrie Long a similar prize for high score.

Mrs. Nicholson's gift to Miss Hadley was a silver pitcher. She was also presented a silver dish from Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Flanagan, and a gift of lingerie from little Miss Rosamond Hooker Nicholson.

Mrs. W. M. Seales who was married the past summer, was remembered with a cake plate, Miss Janice McGowan, bride-elect of December, with a sandwich plate, and Mrs. W. E. Padgett of Greensboro, and Miss Elsie Barnes of Wilson, with dainty handkerchiefs.

Dall-Whichard. Mrs. Clarence Brown Whichard announces the marriage of her daughter Stella Ward to Mr. John Theodor Dall on Wednesday, November 14th. One thousand nine hundred and thirty-four Emporia, Va.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dall left for a wedding trip through Virginia to Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Dall is a very attractive young woman and a member of one of the city's oldest families. She is the daughter of Mrs. Clarence Brown Whichard and the late Clarence Brown Whichard of this city.

Mr. Dall is with the Brown and White Co., Incorporated.

At present they are making their home with Mrs. Dall's mother.

Barbre-McGowan. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hugh McGowan request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Janice Elizabeth, to Mr. William Davis Barbre, on Wednesday afternoon, the fifth of December, Nineteen hundred and thirty-four, at four o'clock, Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, Greenville, North Carolina.

End of the Century Club. Mrs. M. K. Fort was hostess to the End of the Century Club Tuesday afternoon at her home on Holly street.

Every member of the club was present at this meeting, and the following guests: Miss Mamie E. Jenkins, Mrs. Ed Batchelor, Mrs. K. E. Pace, Mrs. R. Taylor, Mrs. Nannie F. Jeter and Miss Sallie Joyner Davis. The president, Mrs. J. B. Spilman, presided over the business session, and received reports from committees.

The program was in charge of Mrs. R. M. Garrett, whose subject was "Pulitzer Prize Winners." Mrs. Garrett introduced Miss Jenkins of the college faculty, and turned the subject over to her.

Miss Jenkins reviewed the poetry Pulitzer prize winners for the thirteen years it has been given, showing that the list included the greatest names in modern American poetry in the earlier years, when we were in the midst of a poetry renaissance. She also gave a criticism of Robert Hillier, who received the 1934 award for his collected poems, and reviewed the book, reading selections to illustrate the points.

Miss Jenkins is so well informed along all literary lines, it is always a treat to have her at our club meetings, and hear her on any subject. This program was particularly interesting as we have so many "lovers of poetry" in our club.

At the close of the program, the hostess, assisted by Miss Mary Greene, served a delicious salad course.

The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. L. Hassell on November 27. —Reporter.

Dr. Meadows Speak At College. Three topics Dr. L. R. Meadows notices are receiving most attention at the educational meetings in the state are these: A new education is coming for the new day, calling for a complete change in the curriculum to meet the needs of the new day; the time is fast approaching for the elimination of the two-year course for teachers; and the time has come for the raising of teachers' salaries.

Dr. Meadows presented these three topics to the students of East Carolina Teachers College at the assembly period yesterday, as matters of vital importance to them as prospective teachers, who will be affected by these changes.

He presented the salary question first, saying these seemed to be a general feeling that salaries would be raised next year. The question of federal aid is being considered.

The gradual increase in the size of the classes in the four-year courses and the decrease in those of the two-year course in this college, as well as in all other teachers' colleges, is evidence of the fact that, by degrees, the demand for the latter is passing out. This is largely due to the demands from the superintendents and schools for better trained teachers, and to the difficulty of the two-year graduate has in getting placed. He predicts that the dropping of the two-year course will take place in 1938.

The various meetings of citizens for the purpose of criticism of the old curriculum and suggestions for the new, and the appointment of committees for formulating new courses of study, give proof that not only educators, but all thinking people are eager to be ready to meet the demands of the new era.

Writing Christmas Festival. Numbers of the Little Theatre Guild are busily engaged in writing their own Christmas Festival to be presented at the High School auditorium Friday evening December 21st. The Choral Club is joining with the Guild in giving this performance to the people of Greenville. There will be no admission charge.

The town and college library are being ransacked for Christmas material pertaining to the early days in North Carolina. The festival is arranged in four parts and the writing of each part is in charge of one member of the group and her committee. Miss Jane Hall is writing dialogue for a Christmas celebration of the gay 90's assisted by Miss Verda Wilson and Jack Boyd. Miss Sammon with the cooperation of Mrs. Olifton, Mrs. Corbett and Mrs. Hilton, is working on a scene depicting Carolina of 1840. Mrs. Perkins and her co-workers, Miss Wadlington and Brodie Ginn, are searching into the past of this state in order to recreate the coming of the festive spirit to a pioneer family during the middle 18th century. The modern sequence is being written by Miss Jane Hadley with the help of Miss Alma Lee and Mrs. J. B. Cummings.

Mrs. Rose will have charge of arraying the finals. The Choral accompaniment which will be an integral part of the entire program

A unique method of smuggling dope was uncovered in China when a Chinaman, buying provisions for a wedding feast, was refused purchase of an especially large fish in the markets. He reported to police, who watched the dealer refuse to sell the fish to all except a man with a basket full. On investigation, the fish was found to contain many tins of opium.

Mr. Jones Honored. On Saturday night, Nov. 17, Mr. S. M. Jones was honored by a surprise birthday reception to celebrate his seventy-fifth birthday. Guests who were old and intimate friends of Mr. Jones, were invited for seven-thirty and were greeted at the door by Mrs. S. M. Jones and Mrs. J. P. Harris of Maysville.

A very pleasant evening was spent, at the conclusion of which the guests were invited into the dining room. This was beautifully decorated with flowers and candlelight. The table had as its centerpiece a large birthday cake with seventy-five lighted candles. Delicious refreshments were served by members of the family. Mr. Jones was the recipient of many useful gifts.

Out of town guests for the occasion were: Mrs. V. A. Ward, Mrs. Fanny Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberson of Robersonville; Mr. Willis Jones of Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Harris of Maysville; Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Faribow of Piquette Springs; Mrs. Jenny Spencer of Greensboro; Dr. and Mrs. P. E. Jones of Farmville; and Mrs. Berry Thigpen of New York City.

Organization To Be Perfected At High School Here. It was announced today that a meeting would be held in the library of the High School Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of perfecting an organization of parents and teachers.

The announcement of the meeting was made by Rev. J. A. McIver, chairman of the committee on arrangements named at a previous meeting at the High School.

Mr. McIver said the object of the organization would be to foster the interests of the High School and increase interest of the public in the splendid work which the institution is doing.

The public has been given a cordial invitation to attend and take part in the meeting, which will be featured by an interesting program, including the distribution of gifts.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold. Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

BLACK-DRAUGHT For CONSTIPATION. "I am 71 years old and have used Theford's Black-Draught about forty years," writes Mr. W. J. Vanover, of Rome, Ky. "We are never without it. I take it as a purgative when I am bilious, dizzy and have swimming in my head. Black-Draught relieves this, and helps me in many ways."... Keep a package of this old, reliable, purely vegetable laxative in your home, and take it for prompt relief at the first sign of constipation.

First Church of Christ, Scientist. "Mortals and Immortals," was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 18.

The golden text was from Romans 8-21: "The creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption. Behold I show you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed. In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump; for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality." (I Cor. 15:50-53)

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortal mind must part with error, must put off itself with its deeds, and immortal manhood, the Christ ideal, will appear. Faith should enlarge its borders and strengthen its base by resting upon Spirit instead of matter. When man gives up his belief in death, he will advance more rapidly towards God, Life, and Love. Belief in sickness and death is certainly as belief in sin, tends to shut out the true sense of life and health. When will mankind wake to this great fact: in science?"

Dr. Meadows presented these three topics to the students of East Carolina Teachers College at the assembly period yesterday, as matters of vital importance to them as prospective teachers, who will be affected by these changes.

He presented the salary question first, saying these seemed to be a general feeling that salaries would be raised next year. The question of federal aid is being considered.

The gradual increase in the size of the classes in the four-year courses and the decrease in those of the two-year course in this college, as well as in all other teachers' colleges, is evidence of the fact that, by degrees, the demand for the latter is passing out. This is largely due to the demands from the superintendents and schools for better trained teachers, and to the difficulty of the two-year graduate has in getting placed. He predicts that the dropping of the two-year course will take place in 1938.

The various meetings of citizens for the purpose of criticism of the old curriculum and suggestions for the new, and the appointment of committees for formulating new courses of study, give proof that not only educators, but all thinking people are eager to be ready to meet the demands of the new era.

Writing Christmas Festival. Numbers of the Little Theatre Guild are busily engaged in writing their own Christmas Festival to be presented at the High School auditorium Friday evening December 21st. The Choral Club is joining with the Guild in giving this performance to the people of Greenville. There will be no admission charge.

The town and college library are being ransacked for Christmas material pertaining to the early days in North Carolina. The festival is arranged in four parts and the writing of each part is in charge of one member of the group and her committee. Miss Jane Hall is writing dialogue for a Christmas celebration of the gay 90's assisted by Miss Verda Wilson and Jack Boyd. Miss Sammon with the cooperation of Mrs. Olifton, Mrs. Corbett and Mrs. Hilton, is working on a scene depicting Carolina of 1840. Mrs. Perkins and her co-workers, Miss Wadlington and Brodie Ginn, are searching into the past of this state in order to recreate the coming of the festive spirit to a pioneer family during the middle 18th century. The modern sequence is being written by Miss Jane Hadley with the help of Miss Alma Lee and Mrs. J. B. Cummings.

Mrs. Rose will have charge of arraying the finals. The Choral accompaniment which will be an integral part of the entire program

Organization To Be Perfected At High School Here. It was announced today that a meeting would be held in the library of the High School Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of perfecting an organization of parents and teachers.

The announcement of the meeting was made by Rev. J. A. McIver, chairman of the committee on arrangements named at a previous meeting at the High School.

Mr. McIver said the object of the organization would be to foster the interests of the High School and increase interest of the public in the splendid work which the institution is doing.

The public has been given a cordial invitation to attend and take part in the meeting, which will be featured by an interesting program, including the distribution of gifts.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold. Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

BLACK-DRAUGHT For CONSTIPATION. "I am 71 years old and have used Theford's Black-Draught about forty years," writes Mr. W. J. Vanover, of Rome, Ky. "We are never without it. I take it as a purgative when I am bilious, dizzy and have swimming in my head. Black-Draught relieves this, and helps me in many ways."... Keep a package of this old, reliable, purely vegetable laxative in your home, and take it for prompt relief at the first sign of constipation.

FIX CARS—NOT TICKETS

"With much fixing of automobiles and no fixing of tickets, there should be a material reduction in Chicago's motor vehicle death rate," said Mayor Kelly in opening a new "safety lane" in which automobiles are given tests to determine mechanical safety.

Chicago's experience with the lane bears that out. During the first week of its operation, 73 per cent of all cars passing through it failed to earn the safety "O. K." The bulk of them had defective brakes, many had wheels out of alignment, while lack of proper lights, mirrors, windshield wipers and horns caused the failure of the rest.

It was then complained that the tests were too stringent, and that only cars in first-class condition were able to pass. The tests were then modified to give automobiles in only fair shape a chance. Even when this was done, 40 per cent of the cars going through the tests failed to meet specifications. It is probable that the percentage of Chicago cars which are unsafe mechanically is higher than this, inasmuch as the owner of a machine whose condition is obviously bad would not subject his car to the tests.

Portland, Oregon, has recently carried on similar examinations, under direction of the state police. The experience has been about like that of Chicago, around half of the cars examined proving to be unsafe in one or more fundamentals.

The unsafe automobile is almost as great a hazard to the public as the reckless driver. Every city interested in reducing the horrible toll of street and highway fatalities should carry on automobile inspections—and then see to it that defects are corrected. In these days of high speeds and super-highways, there is no room for the car with brakes that won't hold, lights that won't illuminate, etc.

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Nicholas Trench, gifted young sculptor, just has been acquitted of the charge that he murdered his schoolfellow, Osborne. Somewhat shaken, he has retired to a tea room to read a letter from his cousin, Sir Seymour, and is annoyed by two persons discussing his case at the next table. He feels the general public will not agree with the verdict. Now he is going to see Sir Seymour.

Chapter Five SIR SEYMOUR

PAPER in hand, I edged my way to a vacant front seat on top of my bus. To judge by the amount of space allotted to me on the first page it was evident at a glance that I was the principal sensation of the hour. There was a three-quarter column description of the scene in court, with photographs of myself and Sir Charles Barrett, followed by a verbatim report of old Eddie's summing up, which occupied the best part of one of the centre sheets.

It was, without question, a masterpiece of detached reasoning, but having been already acquainted with his Lordship's views, I felt no particular temptation to repeat the experience. I turned instead to the last minute bulletins, where was blazoned the following announcement:—

TRENCH CASE VERDICT: NOT GUILTY

"You realize this business will affect your future."

I sat staring at it as the bus rolled along up Fleet Street. It was queer to think of all that those few words meant to me—the shattering bombshell which Fate, for some inscrutable reason, had seen fit to drop into my life.

Only six weeks ago the world had seemed a singularly agreeable place. I had been in the best of health and enjoying existence wholeheartedly. My work had already begun to attract an encouraging amount of attention, commissions were coming in with increasing frequency, while the design I had submitted for a new national memorial, which had been thrown open to competition, was, as I knew, being very favorably considered.

Suddenly, and without the smallest warning, this incredible thing had happened. Arrested on a charge of murder, of which I was completely innocent, I had been dragged from the peaceful atmosphere of my Hampstead studio into the glaring notoriety of the Central Criminal Court.

My pleasant world had narrowed to the four walls of a prison cell. The work on which I was engaged had come to an abrupt stop.

MORE than half my small capital had vanished, my private affairs had been exposed to the gaping curiosity of every newspaper reader in England, and finally, after narrowly escaping the gallows, I had been turned out unceremoniously into a back street to make whatever use of my freedom society would be gracious enough to permit.

Was it any wonder that, in spite of the fate that had overtaken him, I cursed Osborne from the bottom of my heart? Why should he have landed me in this infernal mess?

We had been friendly enough after a fashion at Cambridge, but what right had he got to come thrusting his way back into my life, devastating and wrecking it for his own selfish ends?

I had been a fool of course to have anything to do with him. It had been clear enough from the first that he had got himself mixed up in some shady and probably criminal business, and if I had had a grain they differ.

Balance. The President is presiding as the great conciliator in this little difference of opinion, and the white cottage at Warm Springs is affording him a well-deserved heavy cogitation between now and Thanksgiving.

Recent developments in Washington—such as appointment of Mr. E. A. Tamm as Governor of the Federal Reserve Board—would indicate a leaning toward the Ickes school of thought.

On the other hand Hopkins produced results last winter when they

There's a reason why the Chamber of Commerce is getting so busy right now. It has a powerful rival in the National Association of Manufacturers—which is even more conservative. Its revenues have been cut heavily and it is confronted by the necessity of justifying its existence to its members.

Big Jim's office declined to dignify the resignation rumors with any official comment whatever. His lieutenants inferred broadly, however, that Vandenberg had nothing to offer that could force the vicious Democrats into any kind of a bargain.

There is this to be said of the reports Farley may be considering retirement from the cabinet: It is common gossip that the man who built up Mr. Roosevelt's political juggernaut would like to become Governor of New York in 1936. Why then, ask the skeptics, should he quit as Postmaster General—which title would afford an impressive stepping-stone to Albany—and go back to private business, with management of the Democratic National Committee as a side line? They argue this would expose him officially as a straight-out political boss without the saving mantle which goes with a cabinet post.

But—everyone knows the Postmaster Generalship and the Democratic Chairmanship now merge indefinitely in Farley. He is the action's big patronage boss. So long as he attends cabinet meetings regularly and thus gets at the President's ear he will never be able to satisfy disappointed job hunters and their sponsors that he really tried. It would be easier to soothe the unlucky ones as National Chairman only.

And a minimum to hard feelings in New York State would help in 1936. Don't forget furthermore that Farley already has achieved his goal as Postmaster General by producing a $120,000,000 book profit in the face of years of deficits.

New York By JAMES McMULLIN Spearhead: The U. S. Chamber of Commerce is going in for supporting the President in a big way. In the next few weeks you'll see plenty of evidence that the vinegar of criticism has been dissolved in the honey of collaboration. Representatives of big business will testify publicly that confidence has been restored and make it clear in other ways that they are ready to hop on the Roosevelt bandwagon.

But there's an important reservation beneath all this harmony. Labor's New Deal gains have industry seriously worried. Strong pressure will be applied to nullify them—in the name of recovery—and the Chamber of Commerce is slated to serve as spearhead of the attack. Legislation will be sought to give proportional representation in collective bargaining—as exemplified in the motor industry—the sanction of law and thus suppress the majority rule threat which gives organized labor a dangerous edge over company unions. If the whole of Section 7a can be thrown in the scrap heap so much the better—but even the most optimistic conservatives hardly dare hope for that.

The Chamber's activities in this direction will mostly be conducted offstage—but they won't be any the less vigorous on that account.

Many business leaders don't want to grant labor even the sop of proportional representation. They recognize that the point is simply a compromise with reality. They recognize there's no chance of getting back to the old individualism in labor relations at one jump and that progress toward that goal must be made step by step—if at all.

Issues: The Federation of Labor's two major objectives—the 30-hour week and majority rule in collective bargaining—will not be reached overnight. Informed New Yorkers say that Federation leaders realize this and the prospective delay doesn't hurt their feelings at all. For the first time in years they have live issues to fight for and the harder and longer the scrap the more certain they are of keeping their jobs.

Challenge: Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit's refusal to obey the National Labor Board's order to reinstate employees fired for union affiliations is the most flagrant defiance of that body yet.

Up to now Houde Engineering has been the most conspicuous munitier against Labor Board rulings. But Houde's case rests merely on its contention that it has not violated the collective bargaining provisions of the law. BMT goes much further by denying that the Labor Board has any legal authority on its own to base its order. There is reason to believe that BMT—which ties in to high financial sources—was urged to force the stiffest possible showdown on the Labor Board's powers. The fact that it operates wholly intra-state puts it in a stronger position for a court contest with a federal agency than a corporation with inter-state activities.

Insiders agree that the Board's prestige is permanently shot unless it can meet this challenge successfully. They understand that Francis Biddle—the new chairman—will go the limit to prove that his board amounts to more than eye-wash. His emphatic liberalism makes his appointment distasteful to conservatives and suspicious New Yorkers cite it as evidence that the President is only kidding business along with his resuming gestures in other directions.

Sundown Stories

Smart Willy Nilly

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER Top Notch was certainly being well shaken as the car drove over the bumps of Puddle Muddle. He felt sure, even though he could not see, that he was on home ground, but he feared that the farmer would go beyond the little self-ment.

But now the car was stopping again, and the farmer was speaking to Willy Nilly. "There is the oddest squeak in my car," the farmer said. "I notice it even when I'm not driving. I can't hear it now at all so maybe it isn't anything."

Top Notch was almost too weak to utter a sound, but he knew that the car was stopping in Puddle Muddle. With one last desperate effort he cried. "There's the squeak!" shouted the farmer.

"Open the rumble!" cried Willy Nilly. And now Top Notch felt Willy Nilly's kind hands, and he gave a weak little cackle. "He must have hopped in there when I had the back of the car open," the farmer said. "Poor rooster, he looks all played out."

Willy Nilly was grateful to the farmer for his sympathy, but he was very much worried about Top Notch. Never had he seen the rooster so weak, so helpless, so miserable.

The farmer and his wife left, and Willy Nilly began nursing Top Notch back to health. The Puddle Muddlers, who had seen that something was happening at Willy Nilly's, all appeared in a very short time. It was dreadful to see the proud, grand rooster so limp and wilted.

Tomorrow—"Top Notch Speaks"

the situation appears much more difficult to Congressional insiders. They don't know exactly to what extent Congressman-elect committed themselves on the point during the campaign. Those who will talk privately, however, are frank to say they foresee ample House strength to beat a veto. They seem to think also the Senate might go the same way.

Along Strategic Lines That has set going discussions of methods to meet the situation among the suggestions made is that good strategy frequently dictates joining a cause you can't beat and shaping it more to your liking, or at least to your liking.

It might be recalled that Mr. Roosevelt did just that to beat off a mandatory inflation drive in the last Congress. The Thomas amendment, which made him monetary policy dictator, changes mandatory inflation into permissive authority.

What sort of a compromise bonus payment plan, which would satisfy soldier vote pressure and also square with administration ideas about inflation in the budget could be worked out, is difficult to see.

There is always the fact that the same legion convention which vote to press the bonus issue elected officers who have been cautious in what they have had to say on the subject.

Legion 'P' Critics The right to determine priorities in presentation to congress of a variety of Legion legislative proposals is retained in that organization's executive hands.

There have been intimations that legion authorities might place cancellation of interest on outstanding bonus loans ahead of full payment, or that other of their various proposals might be given precedence.

There is also the fact of the amazing popular endorsement of Mr. Roosevelt himself, written into the November 6 ballots, to be reckoned with. This might make legion legislative managers hesitant of inviting a head-on collision with the White House.

It might be remembered, too, a new Congress is elected for two years. The urgent necessity of shaping their course in the light of their interpretation of the strength among their constituents of various organized projects, such as the bonus, may not be as strong on House members in 1935 in 1936—when a Presidential election is in the offing. That might temper or defer the demand for action on the legion bonus resolution.

COURT PUSHES LAND ACTION

Work Continues Today in the Case of W. B. Briley Against W. F. Stokes

Civil court continued grinding away here today after disposing of several cases yesterday. Work was continued this morning on the case of W. B. Briley and wife vs. W. F. Stokes and wife, the suit growing out of the foreclosure of a mortgage on a piece of land with the plaintiffs attempting to regain possession of the property.

The case, which was started yesterday afternoon, was expected to occupy the remainder of the day's session, probably going to the jury late this afternoon.

Compromise was effected in the case of Rufus Walston vs. Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Rocky Mount, although terms of the agreement were not divulged.

Walston, colored, was suing for injuries which he allegedly sustained while working at the bottling company plant sometime ago.

Non-suit was also ordered in the case of Greenlee Cox, colored, vs. Dr. M. T. Prizzelle of Ayden.

Several cases have been disposed of during the two days court has been in session, and it was expected the calendar of forty-odd cases would be exhausted by adjournment probably Friday afternoon.

New York Cotton

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady one to four points decline on lower Liverpool cables and under December liquidation.

Business was moderately active at the first start. Prices steadied after the call with December selling up from 12.24 to 12.27 and March from 12.34 to 12.38, or back to about yesterday's quotations.

There was a fair business later in the morning and prices held within a narrow range to one point lower.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The stock market failed to be disturbed today by a selling flurry in rails.

After maintaining a fairly good tone in the first hour the list slid back a little and rails were sold in the second but buying quickly reappeared. Industrials and some of the recently depressed utilities were up a fraction to a point or more by the afternoon.

Stocks received a little support from the other markets. Corporation bonds were depressed in spots while U. S. government were steady.

In the commodities wheat, sugar and rubber were under a little pressure.

Transfers were 800,000 shares.

Late News Flashes

people will not tolerate us and will turn the government back into their hands."

The postmaster general spoke at the dedication of the enlarged Charlotte postoffice. He said the nation had demonstrated confidence in President Roosevelt's methods and policies and added he had no doubt Democratic majorities in Congress would live up to the party promise "to give unqualified support to the President in his program."

Farley also formerly announced he would ask congress to retain the three cent postage rate until there was greater increase in the volume of business. Otherwise, he said, extra taxation to raise approximately $75,000,000 annually must be raised to operate the department without a deficit.

"I believe the people will prefer to pay the extra penny on each letter than to place such a burden on the taxpayers," the postmaster general said.

Storm in Tennessee

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Scores of persons were marooned for a time in their homes, traffic was hampered, roofs were blown off and trees uprooted when a storm accompanied by record breaking rain swept over Memphis and surrounding territory early today.

The wind reached a maximum velocity of 34 miles an hour just before daybreak.

Methodist Conference Opens

Washington, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The North Carolina Methodist Episcopal church, south, convened here today for its 98th session with approximately 400 ministers and delegates in attendance.

Aside from the opening address by Bishop Paul B. Kern, presiding over the organization of the conference, the principal item of the program this morning was a memorial service for ministers who died since the last conference was held.

The delegates were welcomed by C. G. Morris, who traced the developments of the denomination from 1784 to the present time. Bishop Kern responded for the visitors.

Tips on CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL

Dummy the Master Hand

From Cecil Head, who since removing from Louisville, Ky., has acquired a reputation in New York clubs, come some pointers on the principle of making dummy the master hand.

The principle involves shortening the long trumps of the closed, or declarer's hand, by using them to ruff dummy's losers and then discarding losers of the closed hand on dummy's trumps.

In point is the following hand at which Head sat North and his partner was set on a little slam bid:

NORTH
♠ 4 2		♠ 10 9 7 3
♥ K 10 3		♥ 8 7 6 4
♦ K 7 5		♦ 9 6
♣ Q 8 6		♣ 10
WEST
♠ Q 3 5		♠ 10 9 7 3
♥ 7 6 4		♥ 8 7 6 4
♦ A J 10 8 3 2		♦ 9 6
♣ J 9 5 2		♣ 10
SOUTH
♠ A K		♠ 10 9 7 3
♥ A J 9 5 2		♥ 8 7 6 4
♦ 4		♦ 9 6
♣ A K 7 4 3		♣ 10

South bid two hearts, which, after West's pass, was raised to three hearts North. East passed and South bid four clubs. North passed and South bid four clubs. North offered four hearts and South took the contract to six.

The ace of diamonds was opened by West and a spade lead followed. From the declarer's point of view the hand seemed simple even if clubs should not break. He thought one low club could be discarded on the king of diamonds and another ruffed.

The lead of the ace of hearts showed West had none and that there were four to the eight-spot in the East hand. So the declarer's plan for ruffing one club in case the adverse clubs were bunched died aborning. He then led to the queen of clubs, East playing the ten, evidently a singleton. And so hopes of clubs breaking died.

After much thought the declarer shed one of South's clubs on the king of diamonds and played the ace of spades. Then he ran all the hearts, hoping that West would shed a club. The lady sitting West knew too much and held a club, which set the contract one.

Two kibitzers behind South in this rubber game at the Algonquin club remarked to South that it was a tough hand and there was no way to make it.

"The hand certainly can be made," countered Head. "Make North the baster hand. That is earmarked when West shows out on the lead of the ace of hearts and there are six trumps in sequence in the North and South hands higher than East's highest. The drop of the ten of clubs on the first club trick emphasizes the necessity of the dummy as the master."

"When South is in on the second trick with the ace of spades after losing the first trick to the ace of diamonds and the king of spades and then lead to the queen of clubs. Play the last spade from the North hand and trump it South. Lead a low trump to North. Play the king of diamonds, discarding a club south. Ruff the last diamond from the North hand with a heart. South North now has two hearts and South one. Lead a heart from South and cover it North. Play North's last heart, which will exhaust East. On the final hearts discard a club South. The last two tricks will be taken South with the ace and king of clubs."

A German scientist has invented shoes made of boards with a metal float which will permit the wearer to walk on the surface of water, according to a report to the Department of Commerce in Berlin.

VEIL 'DIMS' BRIGHTNESS OF SEQUINS

Paris.—(AP)—If sequins annoy with too much luster, their glory can be dimmed with a chiffon veil. Lelong applies this trick to an afternoon dress of dark blue crepe. Motifs of blue sequins under blue chiffon make a pattern for the dress, and in radiating stripes trim the small matching cape.

Obviously the small round capes are carrying over for spring. Lelong scarcely shows a day model without one, and the little evening cape is practically inevitable. Elbow or waist-length is the size of them.

Tweed For Sports

In sports wear, tweed mixtures, checks and chevrons flourish, with emphasis on browns, beige, grass green and navy. Fur trimmings are modest. For a black wool coat narrow bands of black astrakhan are used horizontally in tiered effect to make big patch-pockets, and similar band fashion a very small collar and restrained cuffs.

Interesting is the design of a beige coat, made with a big ripple collar falling to the waist, the collar edged with black astrakhan which turns into a belt and fastens in back. A black satin dress completes this ensemble. Very formal is a black coat having collar and yoke of white ermine. Fur capes include one in black breitschwanz lined with green, the tailored black wool dress worn with it having a green collar.

Black Velvet Favored

Black velvet hits the high spots for afternoon and evening. Velvet suits with peplums and rhinestone buttons or bowknots are chic. The peplum basque is an amusing item for evening, double-breasted, sometimes featuring revers and often stiff little puff sleeves.

Side by side with tightly swathed evening skirts, long-trained, are new fan-pleated models, just short of floor-length, in lace or tulle, pleated all around. The same radiating design is used for a changeable green taffeta model, in straight lines of quilted stitching running from waist to hem and repeated in the taffeta caps.

COMMITTS SUICIDE BY JUMPING IN RIVER

Elizabeth City, N. C., Nov. 21.—(AP)—C. H. Bundy, 48-year-old ERA worker, committed suicide by jumping into the Pasquotank River here last night. Eye-witnesses who saw him jump overboard offered an ear to the drowning man, but he refused to grasp it.

The body was recovered in 22 minutes. Efforts at resuscitation were unavailing.

Bundy was the father of eleven children.

CHILD HIT BY TRUCK AND FATALLY INJURED

Salisbury, N. C., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Hazel, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Overcash, who live on Highway 150, about five miles from here, died last night at a local hospital of injuries sustained yesterday afternoon when she was struck by a truck driven by C. L. Hipp, of this county, as she was running across the road in front of her home.

Investigation showed she darted from behind a truck in which she, with her parents, had been riding, and ran directly in the path of the approaching vehicle. No inquest will be held, officers holding Hipp blameless.
