FRANCE CONTINUES TO BOOST MILITARY DEFENSE

Reserve Troops Ordered Out For Special Training

PREPARE FOR PLEBISCITE IN SAAR REGION

Military Preparations Pushed Forward in Spite of Germany's Assurance of no Warlike Intentions; Chancellor Hitler's Aide Confers With French Foreign Minister

Paris, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Despite assurances from Berlin that Germany does not hold warlike intentions France continued today a program of bolstering her military defenses.

A special period of training for reserve soldiers was announced. Some have been called for duty in January when the Saar basin territory plebiscite will be held.

Jacobin Von Ribbentrop, personal representative of Chancellor Hitler in the foreign ministry, talked yesterday with Pierre Laval, the French foreign minister, and attempted to allay fears here of German rearmament.

Insisting that Germany's intentions were misunderstood, the Hitler aide said she simply seeks equality with rights with other nations and not with hostile designs.

The interview was granted at the request of the German ambassador, Von Ribbentrop's movements here for the past two days has been kept a secret.

GRADY GIVEN WELCOME HERE

New Pastor of Presbyterian Church Welcomed at Service At Methodist Church

A service of welcome for Rev. Robert C. Grady, new pastor of the Presbyterian Church, was held at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church last night.

Ministers representing the various churches of the city spoke brief words of welcome to the new minister who began work here the first of the month, and assured him of the co-operation of the citizenship in the great work he has undertaken.

The service was attended by a crowd that packed the main auditorium and overflowed into the Sunday school rooms. A delightful musical program was rendered by the Methodist choir.

Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of the Methodist Church, presided over the service, sponsored by the Greenville Ministerial Association and called on the following ministers for brief remarks:

Rev. J. A. McIver, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church; Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church; Rev. R. F. Pittman, pastor of the Free Will Baptist Church; Rev. Worth Wicker, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, and Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church.

After being assured of the spirit of co-operation throughout the community, Mr. Grady said he had been favorably impressed with Greenville, and expressed appreciation of the fine spirit of co-operation which he had found evident on all sides, not only in his own congregation, but among other denominations. He said he was sure he would find his work here very pleasant.

Lawrence W. Rogers admits he got quite a scare when he uncovered a "hand" while digging in his garden at Windham Center, Maine. Carefully turning it over with his hoe, he found it was just a potato.

Late News Flashes

Bond Reduced. Louisville, Ky., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Bond for Mrs. Frances Roby was reduced by half to $25,000 and her trial on a charge of kidnapping Mrs. Alice Stoll for $50,000 ransom put off until February 11 by Judge Charles I. Dawson in federal district court here today.

Kentucky Market Opens. Lexington, Ky., Dec. 3.—(AP)—The 1934 burley tobacco market opened at an estimated average of $18 a hundred today, $4.20 higher than last year's loose leaf market opening day average of $13.80.

The gain was observed in the lower grades. The best grades brought no more than last year. No baskets in today's sales sold for less than five cents a pound. There were no offerings of the very common leaf such as brought 1 and 2 cents last year. The highest price in today's early sales was 34c pound.

SEEK NEGRO FOR SHOOTING

Officers After Rufus Williams For Shooting up Home of Willie Jenkins

A nickel which police said was owed on a pint of whiskey allegedly caused Rufus Williams, colored, to go on a rampage Saturday night and shoot up the home of Willie Jenkins.

Jenkins escaped unhurt and police today were looking for Williams on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, carrying a concealed weapon and one or two other charges.

Officers said Jenkins bought a pint of whiskey from Williams a few days ago and paid all but a nickel. Saturday night Williams went back to collect the nickel, an argument ensued, and Williams allegedly pulled his gun and began firing.

Jenkins beat a hasty retreat but Williams fired several times, a bed receiving most of the damage. Williams then walked out, got in his car and escaped. He was believed to be somewhere in the Bellvoir community where he lives.

ONE KILLED AS TRAIN WRECKS

Seven Persons Also Injured as Crack Train Plunges Through Switch

Forrester, Fla., Dec. 3.—(AP)—One man believed killed and seven persons were injured, one seriously here today, when the crack express train, the "Southland," running from Florida to the Mid-West, was wrecked by what the train conductor said was a split switch.

All members of the train crew and passengers were accounted for except E. W. Brimer, of Jacksonville, Fla., the fireman, who was believed to have been buried in the wreckage of the Atlantic Coast Line fast train.

R. R. Morris, of St. Petersburg, the train conductor, said the lock on the switch on a siding in this small settlement near the Florida-Georgia line had been broken open and then tampered with. He said the train left the rails at 12:07 today as it was speeding for Atlanta, Cincinnati and Detroit.

Bartlettville, Okla., Dec. 3.—Wiley Post took off at 8:10 (C. S. T.) today on his second attempt within two days to break the world altitude record. With flying conditions perfect, the air clear and cold, Post made a fast take-off in his plane, the Winnie May, and in a short time was out of sight.

PETITION FOR DAVIS PARDON TURNED DOWN

Governor Ehringhaus Declines to Free Banker Serving Term in Prison

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus today refused to grant a parole or pardon to Wallace Davis, former Asheville banker now serving a sentence in State's Prison for violation of the State's banking laws. Parole Commissioner Edwin Gill merely announced "the governor has declined the petition of Wallace Davis."

Mr. Gill then added: "I wish to commend the prison demeanor of this man. He has in every way co-operated with prison authorities and is building up a fine record. However, I don't feel he has served sufficient time to merit a parole now."

Davis was convicted of violation of the banking laws as result of the failure of the Central Bank and Trust Company of Asheville of which he was president.

In this case he was sentenced along with Colonel Luke Lea, former U. S. Senator from Tennessee, who is also in prison here, and Luke Jr., who was paroled several months ago due to the condition of his health.

Davis was convicted in another case growing out of the failure of the bank.

WILEY POST DEFERS STRATOSPHERE TRIP

Bartlettville, Okla., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Wiley Post, Oklahoma aviator, who twice flew around the world, postponed his projected stratosphere flight today after 40 minutes in the air.

Post reported he attained an altitude of 12,000 to 15,000 feet, as he tried to find openings in the broken clouds that covered this region. Failing to find a clear spot in which to attempt an ascent to 50,000 feet and a new altitude record, he decided to return to the airport rather than take a chance.

The flier took off at 8:27 a. m. A brisk southeast breeze whipped the scattered clouds, still tinted by the sunrise.

Post carried only 80 gallons of gasoline, expecting to complete the flight in three hours.

PUBLIC NUISANCE

One of the worst of motoring nuisances is the abuse of automobile horns. Too many motorists make a practice of sitting in their cars at the curb, repeatedly blowing the horn to let a friend in an adjoining house or apartment know that they are there waiting. This is an unmitigated nuisance, disturbing to everyone within hearing and unjustified on any ground.

MRS. GRICE AND BROTHER SAY 'NOT GUILTY'

Alleged Slayers Arraigned in Superior Court at Goldsboro This Morning

Goldsboro, N. C., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruby Grice and her brother, Donald Sasser, pleaded not guilty today when arraigned in Superior Court on charge of conspiring to kill her husband who was shot to death from ambush in October of last year.

Solicitor Clawson Williams moved for consolidation of the two cases for trial, but the motion was denied by Judge R. Hunt who ruled that since separate indictments were returned against each, the cases could not be consolidated.

The solicitor then asked that the grand jury be resubmitted to consider joint indictments which would permit consolidation of the cases. Judge Parker granted the motion and ordered the grand jury resubmitted to meet at 2 o'clock.

W. H. MAY IS KILLED BY CAR

Winterville Community Farmer Laid to Rest Sunday Afternoon at 3:30 o'Clock

Funeral services for W. H. (Bill) May, 65, who was killed when struck by an automobile on the Greenville-Winterville highway Saturday night about 8:45 o'clock, were conducted from his late home a few miles from Winterville Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Rev. W. H. Brunson, of Ayden. Burial was made in the family burying ground.

Mr. May died instantly when he was hit by an automobile driven by Ashley Stocks, Winterville young man, who was traveling in the direction of Winterville when the accident occurred.

Highway patrolmen said Mr. May walked into the side of Stock's car as he attempted to cross the highway near his home. The front door handle caught Mr. May in the mouth ripping it open, and the back door handle struck him in the back of the head, producing a fractured skull. Investigating officers described death as instantaneous.

Coroner A. A. Ellwanger held an inquest at the scene of the wreck and the jury exonerated Stocks, declaring the accident was unavoidable.

Mr. May was the son of the late William Henry and Amanda Little May. He was an extensive land owner, and had resided at the home place on the Winterville road all of his life.

Surviving is a brother, Richard S. May, and one sister, Miss Sude May.

Local College Men To Attend Atlanta Meet

President L. R. Meadows and Dr. H. J. McGinnis, and R. C. Deal left this morning for Atlanta to attend the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools which will be in session most of the week.

This is one of the most important educational group meetings of the year, the one in which standards and problems to all Southern colleges are considered later and taken up with the organizations from other sections, when national policies are fixed.

Many historians have neglected to chronicle the fact that a young Irishman named John Findlay was the companion of Daniel Boone in the exploration of Kentucky, says Dr. Archibald Henderson, a recent biographer of Boone.

NEW COUNTY OFFICERS GO INTO OFFICE

New Board of Commissioners Goes to Work After Installation Ceremonies

Pitt county officers who were given an official okay in the last election were formally inducted into office at the court house shortly after noon today.

The induction ceremonies were attended by a fairly good crowd of court house employees and citizens. Oath was administered by J. Frank Harrington, Clerk of Superior Court.

Those sworn in were J. C. Gaskins, register of deeds; Sam Whitehurst, sheriff; A. T. Moore, treasurer; J. Frank Harrington, clerk of court. All were re-elected. John Manning, deputy register of deeds, and E. F. Tucker, deputy clerk of court, also took oath.

A new board of county commissioners was also given the oath. They were B. M. Lewis, Walter Cherry, G. S. Porter, J. N. Williams and R. T. Cox. Williams and Cox are members of the old board. The two board members who were not returned to office were R. H. McLawhorn, chairman, and W. J. Smith.

Prior to the installation ceremonies the old board of commissioners was in session to prepare for turning over the affairs of government to the new board at the noon hour.

Following the induction ceremonies which took place about 2 o'clock the new board went into session for what is always the most important meeting of the year.

Of paramount importance was the naming of a new chairman, auditor, tax collector, superintendent of the county home and discussion of several other matters in connection with starting the new government off with a bang.

It was indicated the board would be in session until late in the afternoon with the probability of another session tomorrow before all work was completed.

STRONGER U. S. NAVY IS SEEN

Advocates of Greater Naval Power Look To Congress To Provide Money

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Advocates of a stronger Navy saw good prospects today that Congress would produce the money to add 6,500 more men. They pinned their hopes on what they called strong pro-Navy sentiment in the Roosevelt administration and on Capitol Hill. Officials estimate the increase which would lift the average of enlisted strength to 88,000 in the next fiscal year would cost about $6,500,000. They figure on the basis of $1,000 per man a year for pay, transportation and subsistence.

Four Insane Men Break Out Of State Hospital

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 3.—(AP)—A search was extended over Raleigh and its environs today for inmates of the criminal insane ward of the State Hospital while officials were at a loss to explain the cunning of the prisoners in effecting a complete getaway.

The men made their break for freedom last night, sawing the bars of a second story window and climbing down on a rope made of blankets, escaping the eyes of five guards who were on duty at the time. Dr. J. W. Ashby, hospital superintendent, said he was at a loss to know how they obtained files to saw the bars. Two of the men, Joe Stafford and Homer Brown, was convicted murderers. Their death sentences had been commuted to life imprisonment. Stafford, 23, killed his wife in Wayne County, while Brown was sent up from Haywood County. Both had escaped from the institution before and were captured a short time later.

The other two inmates who escaped were O. L. Partee, sentenced in Lenoir County to ten years for larceny, breaking and entering, and N. H. Canady, Jr., of Oxford, a non-criminal case.

NEGRO SHOOTS SWEETHEART

Officers Seek Oscar Haskins for Probable Fatal Wounding Of Hattie Hanrahan

Officers today were seeking Oscar Haskins, 50, colored, for the probable fatal shooting of Hattie Hanrahan, his 40-year-old sweetheart, on First Street last night.

The woman, suffering from gunshot wounds in the stomach, was rushed to the local hospital for medical aid but it was said her condition was so serious little hope was entertained for her recovery.

Chief of Police George Clark said this morning that the woman went to "Haskins" house to protest over his going with another woman. The conversation was carried on with the woman standing in front of the closed door on the front porch and Haskins on the inside of the house.

Suddenly, Haskins fired a shotgun charge through the door, the entire load taking effect in the lower part of the woman's stomach. Haskins escaped but police said today they probably would take him into custody late this afternoon.

LUMBERTON BOY AND INDIAN KILLED IN MOTOR MISHAPS

Lumberton, Dec. 3.—The same coroner's jury will investigate two fatal accidents that occurred in Robeson county Saturday.

Coroner D. W. Biggs today summoned a jury to investigate the death of James Hybert Flowers, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Flowers of Lumberton, who was fatally injured near town when he was struck by an auto driven by Ernest Wilkins of the Smith's section, and the death of Jim Thompson, Back Swamp Indian, instantly killed when the machine he was driving collided with an unlighted wagon driven by Lonzo McRae, Back Swamp negro, on the highway near Lumberton Saturday night. Juries viewed the bodies yesterday and will complete the hearing today.

AGED MAN ROBBED BY DAYLIGHT BANDITS

Albemarle, Dec. 3.—George Lisk, 80-year-old white man of this city was the victim of a bold daylight robbery by two negroes on the outskirts of the city at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mr. Lisk was passing through a clump of woods when the negroes appeared, drew guns on him and compelled him to surrender his purse containing a considerable sum of money.

The fact remains that for the first time President Roosevelt personally got dragged into an intra-administrative fight. Heretofore the heroes of the hour got soaked publicly without so much as a mention that they had been appointed by the President and were personally accountable to him for their actions. The Ickes-Moffett "harmony" statement inferentially accused 50 or more Washington reporters of not understanding.

LEGISLATURE ALSO ASKED TO MAKE PROBE

Reduction Control Program Outlined At Meeting of Potato Committee at Washington, N. C., Today; Penalty Provision Sought For Non-Cooperatives

Washington, N. C., Dec. 3.—(AP)—A potato program demanding acreage control and requesting Congress and the legislature of North Carolina to make separate investigations into activities of those engaged in growing and marketing early Irish potatoes was adopted here today by the Eastern North Carolina Potato Growing committee.

The meeting preceded a potato growers hearing on an amendment to the proposed marketing agreement.

Following up demands from county potato committees the Eastern North Carolina Potato committee adopted a program setting forth that:

"The main objective of this program is for acreage production and control with a penalty provision effective on the non-cooperator."

The majority of growers do not favor rental or benefit payments as an inducement for signing.

Potato growers prefer a simple acreage reduction plan which would permit shipping of all potatoes produced on allotted acres and request that a preliminary acreage reduction agreement be drawn up and that a signing of growers be started immediately.

In dealing with acreage control the potato growers committee set forth that this would require congressional action:

"If potatoes are made a basic commodity we want a penalty provision properly written into the law in order to get protection from the non-cooperating grower," the program sets forth.

LEAF MART TO CLOSE FRIDAY

Work Resumed Today on Local Market After Observing Thanksgiving

With only a small amount of scrap tobacco on sale, the Greenville tobacco market resumed work this morning after observing the Thanksgiving holidays. The market suspended operation last Wednesday.

With the closing date for the season set for December 7—next Friday—tobaccoists were turning their attention to cleaning up the last offerings of farmers to be presented here this week. In view of the fact that the major part of the crop has been disposed of only a small amount of leaf was expected to be sold this week.

Farmers who have not already sold all of their crop were urged to do so immediately.

In announcing the closing date of the market early last week, C. W. Howard, president of the Tobacco Board of Trade, expressed appreciation of the fine spirit of cooperation shown by growers this season.

Mr. Howard said they felt confident the rest of the crop would be sold by the closing date, and asked that growers get busy and market the remainder of their offerings as quickly as possible.

I did not kill Osborne
 By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Nicholas Trench is telling his friend Jerry Mordant, the strange circumstances that have united Nicholas and Molly Osborne in an effort to recover the valuable formula stolen from her by John Osborne. Nicholas just has been acquitted of the murder of Osborne; now he has been threatened by a pair of murderous Russians who believe he has the formula. Nicholas tells Jerry that the two were nearly sentenced him, to be hanged.

Chapter 16
MOLLY'S STORY
 "I SHOULD have been distinctly annoyed," said Jerry. "I hate losing pals, especially when I'm out of England." He snuffed some villainous looking black twist into the bowl of his pipe and ramed it down with his thumb. "Anyhow," he added, "I gather that it's all over now, and that I've just dropped in for the tail end of the banquet."
 "Don't be in such a hurry," I said. "What you've heard so far is only the overture."
 He raised an inquiring eyebrow. "Oh!" he remarked hopefully, "so there's more to come, is there?"
 "Plenty!" In as few words as possible I went on to describe my interview with Seymour, and then amidst a profound silence I continued my story till I reached the unpleasant point when Mr. Stillman had stepped forward with the coil of rope.

get back this paper of hers, Molly has already offered to present you with a new baby Austin."
 "I didn't do anything of the kind!" She darted an indignant glance at me. "I said . . ."
 "Never mind Nick," broke in Jerry. "He always exaggerates. Besides, mercenary as I am, I don't want any bribing. I've been yearning to have a cut at the sleuth business ever since I was a small boy and now that the chance has come . . ." He rubbed his hands together gleefully. "Trench, O'Brien and Mordant—Private Inquiry Agents—Murder a Specialty—Telegraphic address, Eureka, London."
 "Well, that's very comforting," I said. "You'll make a magnificent 'tee—especially if there's going to be any more of the rough stuff." I shuddered. "Now let's be dead serious for a minute. We're told you all the facts and I'd like to hear your opinion about them. Coming on to it with a fresh mind, as you have, you may be able to see some point that Molly and I have missed."

"We're on the right track!" exclaimed Jerry.

"The swine meant business all right, Jerry," I said. "one could see it in his face. Don't know how it would have struck most people, but personally I much prefer being shot to being tortured. I was just getting ready to give him a plug in the jaw and take the consequences, when a beautiful voice up in my bedroom suddenly began to telephone to the police."
 I stopped and turned to Molly. "This is where you come in, partner," I added.
 "But look here!" Jerry straightened himself and eyed me suspiciously. "Are you trying to pull my leg or is all this Drury Lane stuff an absolute fact?"
 "It's the plain, unvarnished, strike-me-dead truth," I protested. "You wait till you hear our young friend here. She'll spin you a yarn that will make you sit up and whistle."
 "THUS encouraged Molly set to work. In her soft Southern accent, with its faint hint of an Irish brogue, she recounted once again the strange and dramatic chain of events which had brought her to Queen's Studios. She told it all very simply, but watching Jerry's expression as the tale progressed, it was easy enough to see that he was already completely fascinated. He made no attempt to interrupt or question her until she had reached the end, and even then he sat for a moment of two puffing at his pipe—his eyes riveted on her face.
 "By Jove, you've got some pluck!" he said slowly. "Do you mind if I shake hands with you?"
 He got up, and having performed the ceremony with becoming gravity, re-seated himself in his chair. Molly smiled. "I hate being thanked," she observed. "It was father's invention and I want him to have the full credit of it."
 "How does it appeal to you, Jerry?" I inquired. "Would you like to throw up your idle, pleasure-hunting life for a few weeks and join us in a spot of detective work? You won't find us ungrateful. If we slip off before they found out his address."

 "All very sound as far as it goes," I admitted. "The snag is that it doesn't in any way account for the murder."
 "Of course it doesn't," admitted Jerry cheerfully. "Murder always takes a lot of explaining. I've no doubt that if these two toughs of yours had run across Osborne they'd have bumped him off without turning a hair, but as things are I'm inclined to think that they were just a little bit too late. Somebody else stepped in and did the job in front of them."
 "Looks that way anyhow," I said. "You can't sell an invention without talking about it, and Osborne may have given the show away to half a dozen different people. It's my belief that somebody had already made him an offer. After all, he'd been over here quite a time, and . . ."
 "Besides, there's the money," interrupted Jerry. "Where do you suppose he got that five hundred pounds from? According to Miss O'Brien's story he'd precious little of his own when he left New Orleans. He must either have sold the thing outright, or else he'd signed up a contract and been touching for a bit on account."
 I looked at him in admiration. "Well done, Sherlock," I said. "That's a point that had never occurred to me. Now I wonder . . ."
 "Show him the letter," suggested Molly. "Let him read it for himself."
 I produced Sir William Avon's communication from my pocket. "This arrived last night by special messenger," I said. "He must have sent it off directly after the verdict."
 Jerry took the sheet of paper and ran his eye over its contents. Then he whistled softly. "We're on the right track—that's a certainty! Avon's a tremendous swell in his own line. He must be mixed up with the business in some way."

direct. Supplemental comments were more pointed. Behind the thin veil of that ancient ghost, "the White House Spokesman," these observations were duly reported.
 In less than an hour the diminutive French Ambassador was at the State Department literally tearing his hair. If such a rebuke was permitted to stand his long diplomatic career was at an end. He was sorry. Please straighten it out.
 C. Bascom Slemm, at that time Mr. Coolidge's secretary, cyonocated a one-paragraph statement which still stands as a modern-day by-play on words. One gathered that the President had been badly misquoted.
 By common assent the reportorial profession took exception and stuck by its guns. But those were days of high prosperity. Mr. Coolidge relapsed into his much-touted mantle of silence and the incident was soon forgotten by nearly every-one but the gentleman from Massachusetts.
 He had learned a lesson he never forgot. Those close to him knew that the experience added definitely to Mr. Coolidge's tendency to think twice before he spoke once on any public matter.

College News.
 Students and members of the faculty were on the job this morning at the first period and the last lap of work before the Christmas holidays begin at East Carolina Teachers College. Only forty-five remained during the holidays. The others were scattered far and wide.
 The members of the faculty spent the time in various ways and in digner places. Among those who went away to go hunting were Dr. ReBarker, Dr. McGinnis, Mr. Pickelsimer. Mr. Deal spent the holidays in Elizabethtown.
 Miss Jessie Mack spent the holidays in Washington, D. C.
 Miss Dora Coates attended a family reunion at her home in Smithfield.
 Some of the women in the faculty took short automobile trips for a day's outing.

 Mrs. J. H. Gorrell, whose husband is head of the Modern Language department of Wake Forest College, has been visiting her sister-in-law, Miss Lois V. Gorrell, at Ragsdale Hall. She left yesterday for her home.
Features Frigidaire.
 The ideal, long lasting Christmas gift is a Christmas Frigidaire, according to Smith Electric Co., dealer here for Frigidaire electric refrigerators.
 "Thousands of persons are selecting Frigidaires as permanent, lifetime gifts," Mr. Smith said, "giving to mother and the entire family something that will be remembered and in daily use for years."
 "An electric refrigerator is more than just a remembrance—a postcard is that much. A Frigidaire in a home does something few other presents can—pays for itself in the savings it makes possible by lowering of food wastage and by permitting quantity buying at bargain prices."
 "In order that a Frigidaire installed as a Christmas gift may be distinctive from Frigidaires purchased at other seasons, we are affixing silver medallions on which it is stated, 'Christmas greetings to Mother' or to the recipient by name.

 "A size for every type of family and every gift budget, we have on display large and small Frigidaires, every one of which is a genuine product of General Motors."

NO BITTER FIGHT IN McNINCH CASE
 Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—(AP)—North Carolina's two Senators, although still as much politically opposed to Frank R. McNinch as ever, apparently will not stage a Senate fight serious enough to threaten confirmation of the Charlotte man as chairman of the Federal Reserve Commission.
 The odds are in favor of McNinch's confirmation with Senators Bailey and Reynolds silently objecting in the background when his name comes before the Senate.
 McNinch is considered too much in favor of President's Roosevelt, and for Bailey and Reynolds to fight him to the extent of demanding on "personally obnoxious" grounds that he not be confirmed might react against them.
 Bailey, who was here this week, declined to divulge what stand he will take when McNinch's name comes up, but he made it clear he was still violently opposed to the man who led the anti-Smith forces to victory in North Carolina in 1928.
 Reynolds, shortly after President Roosevelt gave McNinch a recess re-appointment last summer issued a statement indicating that if President Roosevelt effected McNinch he, Reynolds, in effect, would not stand in the way.

The home near the Country Club was artistically decorated in pink roses. In this setting four tables were placed for bridge, and at the conclusion of the game Miss Ruth Horne was awarded lingerie for high score, and Miss Marjorie Savage perfume for low score. Table prizes were attractive bridge novelties. Miss Garrett's gift to Miss McGowan was a cake knife in her selected pattern of silver. Mrs. R. M. Garrett presented her with lingerie.

Miss Margaret Bostic, Miss Mary Jenkins and Miss Jane Garrett assisted the hostess in serving a tempting salad plate with coffee, decorated mints and cakes.

The surprise of the afternoon came when the hostess presented Miss McGowan with a beautifully decorated package surmounted with a miniature bride and groom, containing lovely handkerchiefs, gifts from the guests.

Christian Church Board To Meet. The official board of the Eighth Street Christian Church will meet at the church tomorrow night (Tuesday) at 7:30. Since this is the last regular meeting of the current fiscal year it is particularly necessary that there be a full attendance.

Training School P. T. A. Tonight. The Parent-Teacher Association of the Training School will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Training School auditorium tonight at eight o'clock. Plans for the work for the current scholastic year have been made by the executive committee, subject to the approval of the members of the association. The plans will be submitted at the meeting tonight. During the year discussions will be conducted along lines dealing directly with school methods and policies in the effort to acquaint parents with the details of school work and to obtain their support in furthering the school's effort to make possible the largest possible returns to the pupil from his years spent in school. The first of these discussions will be held tonight, the subject matter being presented by the president and various representatives of the grade groups. Tonight's discussion will be of particular and peculiar interest to parents. Mr. Ryan is especially anxious to have the support of the father in his work as association president this year, and he is emphasizing the necessity for their support if the year's program is adequately to be carried on.

Attend National Teachers Council. Misses Turner and Jenkins of the English department of the college, M. V. Mulholland and Mrs. C. A. Bowen, English teachers in the Greenville high school, attended the meeting of the National Council of Teachers of English, at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D. C.

which met from Nov. 29 through December 1. They report a great series of meetings, luncheons and banquets. Royalty could not have been treated any better by Washington and the hotel than were the thousand teachers, as every courtesy was extended them.

The highlights of general interest in the meeting were perhaps the addresses by the secretary of agriculture, Wallace; by Dashiell, editor of Scribner's; Chenery, editor of Collier's; Atwood, contributing editor of the Saturday Evening Post, and the talks and poetry readings by Robert Frost, the great poet. The leading teachers of English throughout the nation were in attendance.

The keynotes seemed to be how to bring together the best in the new and the best in the old so as to make the young people read more intelligently and appreciate greatly the best, recognizing it wherever they see it, whether in a current magazine or an old, old book, and to give them the incentives for expressing themselves clearly whenever they have something to say.

There were general meetings with excellent programs and speakers with wide reputation who talked on topics of interest to all present and at other times sectional meetings, with as many as seven groups meeting at one time in conference, getting reports on research work done by committees or individuals, and holding discussions. One morning the groups were divided according to the levels of work, from college work down through the elementary grades. Again, special aspects of the work were considered by different groups such as Speech and Oral English, Dramatics, the Radio, International Problems, or World Literature.

RUSH TO ALTAR STILL ON HERE

Seventeen Couples Apply For Licenses To Wed During Past Week-End

The uninterrupted march to the altar continued in Pitt County over the week-end and records in the office of Register of Deeds today revealed that seventeen couples took the marriage vow Saturday and Sunday after that number of licenses had been issued Saturday.

The same number of persons obtained licenses to marry over Thanksgiving and J. C. Gaskins, Register of Deeds, said indications pointed to the greatest issuance of licenses this year in the history of the county.

Six of the couples were white and the remainder colored. Colored people usually lead the race for wedding honors, but one day last week the record was predominantly white.

From now until Christmas, Mr. Gaskins said, he expected the greatest rush in years with the end of the year again giving Pitt a lead over the rest of the State in the number of licenses issued.

The following obtained licenses to marry Saturday:

- Ira Scott Wright to Miss Marie Baker, both of Greenville.
- W. H. Twiddy, of Edenton, to Miss Mattie Tripp of Pitt County.
- Henry Gray to Miss Thelma Godley, of Chioed.
- Ray Robinson to Miss Mary James Cox, of Greenville.
- Joe Riggs to Miss Louise Jones, of Grifton.
- D. C. Barrow to Miss Ruth Baker, Belvoir.

- Colored
- Fountain Williams to Sadie Gorman, Chioed.
  - Langford Moore to Louise Golet, Farmville.
  - Leroy Williams to Agnes Dickens, Farmville.
  - Willie Faircloth to Christine Joyner, Warrenton.
  - Snodde Ebron to Leno Bell Perkins, Greenville.
  - Judge Stanley to Sidney Joyner, Greenville.
  - Raymond Braddy to Esther Moore Lenoir.
  - Herbert Simmons to Eileen Willis, Greenville.
  - Leroy Brewington to Sudie Perkins, Greenville.
  - James Stator to Polly Reynolds, Chioed.

New York Cotton

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, too high to three points lower, with a fair trade for near months and liquidation in distant positions.

Trade continued quiet after the call; December wore off from 12.38 to 12.45, of about one to below Saturday's closing quotations, while later months showed losses of three points with March selling at 12.53 and new October at 12.18.

Prices rallied two or three points from the early lows. At midday December was around 12.48 and March at 12.56, or two points net higher to three points lower.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The stock market sidestepped today with such timidity it could not be definitely ascertained whether most leading issues were coming or going.

While moderate bullish sentiment still prevailed there was some profit-taking in evidence and a number of active operators appeared to have climbed on the fence to await further indications as to what way stocks were going to jump.

Trading during the early hours dropped back into the doldrums and price changes on the whole were extremely narrow.

Grains were firm at Chicago, corn reaching another new seasonal high. Early gains of around a cent a bushel were later halved by realizing. There was heavy turnover of U. S. Government Securities in the division following the treasury announcement of its December financing program, but most fluctuations were slight.

The dollar firmed against sterling while gold currencies were mixed. Transfers were 800,000 shares.

Mr. Roosevelt smiled heartily and told his too cabinet officers to "jump in." Serious business was put over until later in the afternoon and it looked like there would be plenty of serious talk then about the immediate future.

They ought to know—

MANY men of the South have been "in tobacco" for years—growing tobacco and curing it—buying it and selling it—until they know tobacco from A to Izzard.

Now folks who have been in tobacco all their lives, folks who grow it, know there is no substitute for mild ripe tobacco.

And down in the South where they grow tobacco and where they ought to know something about it—in most places Chesterfield is the largest-selling cigarette.

Harvesting tobacco and packing it in the barn for curing—and (below) a scene at a Southern tobacco auction.
