Consider Plan To Increase Acreage Flue Cured Leaf

PROPOSAL IS PRESENTED TO FARM OFFICE

Advisory Committee Of Tobacco Growers Recommends 1935 Production Equal To 85 Per Cent of Base Acreage; Growers Would Receive One-Half Rental Pay Under Plan

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—(AP)—The Farm Administration had under consideration today a proposal to increase the 1933 production of flue-cured tobacco to equal world consumption.

The advisory committee of flue-cured growers after meeting here with J. B. Hutson, tobacco chief recommended 1935 production equal to 85 per cent of the base acreage optional.

It is estimated that this would increase next year's production to 440,000,000 pounds, an estimated consumption of 1935. The year's production which sold for the highest price in years, was approximately 632,000,000 pounds. The committee, headed by Claude T. Hall, of Woodside, N. C., chairman, also made a number of other recommendations.

It asked the growers whose acreage exceeds 85 per cent, but is not over 99 per cent, receive one-half rental pay.

SEEK TO CARRY CHEER TO POOR

State Theatre and Salvation Army Co-Operating in Toy And Food Matinee

With the Salvation Army and other organizations of the city taking steps to carry Christmas cheer to the homes of the poor during Christmas, T. Y. Walker, manager of the State Theatre, announced today that the annual toy and food matinee given by the theater each Christmas season would be presented in the morning of Saturday, December 22.

Children attending the show will be required to bring a toy or some article of food. Through this method the theater hopes to raise a considerable amount of toys and food to be distributed among the poor of the community.

Mr. Walker said the toys and food would be turned over to the Salvation Army for distribution. He expressed the hope the public would co-operate in making the affair the greatest in years so that the homes of the indigent may be made as bright as possible.

Along with its other efforts the Salvation Army announced today a list of families for the public to give to during the Christmas season. The movement has been entitled the "Alias Santa Claus Club," and persons desiring may pick some family from the list to provide Christmas cheer for.

The Army is also sponsoring a campaign for mending broken toys and the work is being done by the local firemen. Boy Scouts will canvass the city this week to obtain as many as possible for the firemen to mend and get in shape for Old Saint Nick to distribute among the poor during Christmas.

Other organizations are also preparing to make the holidays bright for those unable to provide for themselves, and indications point to one of the most complete observances from this standpoint in recent years.

FARMERS TO GO TO POLLS HERE FRIDAY

Tobacco and Cotton Growers to Vote on Tax Provisions of Control Legislation

Cotton and tobacco growers in this part of the country were marking time today preparing to go to the polls tomorrow to determine the fate of the cotton and tobacco production contracts.

A series of group meetings to inform growers of the provisions to be voted on were held in various parts of the county during the week ending today.

E. F. Arnold, director of the local farm department, who has been preparing for the referendum, said today the meetings in both places were largely attended and farmers exhibited much interest in explanations made by the farm director.

The list of poll holders to have charge of the balloting in the various precincts of the county was made public by the farm department yesterday afternoon and farmers will know where to go and with whom to cast their ballots.

Mr. Arnold said much interest was centered around the referendum in this immediate section by reason of the important part which the two government production control acts have played in the price situation the past year. Indications were that a large vote would be cast throughout the county.

The only thing demanding attention in the balloting tomorrow is whether or not growers desire the tax on non-signers continued as during the past year. This tax provided for a 25 to 33 1-3 per cent tax on on-tobacco signers and threw a similar protection around cotton growers.

Had it not been for this tax, the markets would have been flooded with both tobacco and cotton and prices probably would have been low in spite of efforts of the federal movement to lift prices to a higher level of financial depression of the last several years.

Protection of the signers of the contracts is considered one of the most important features of the movement to lift prices to a higher level and if the tax is taken off it is believed the heart would be taken out of both measures.

Mr. Arnold today urged growers in all sections of the county to go to the polls in large numbers and express their sentiment in what is one of the most important pieces of legislation they have had an opportunity to vote upon.

Utah has five mountain peaks, each more than 10,000 feet above sea level.

SAFETY DRIVE TO BE PUT ON IN PITT SOON

Committee Here Working Out Plans For Making Public 'Traffic Conscious'

Plans were rapidly assuming form today for the highway safety campaign to be launched here within the next few days, it was made known this morning by Mayor R. C. Flanagan, who is in charge of the movement.

Mayor Flanagan said the program was being worked out rapidly at this time, and that he planned to make it public within the next several days, probably the first of next week.

An effort to reduce the annual toll of life on the highways of this part of the State through the inauguration of a campaign of "persuasion," was proposed before the Board of Aldermen by Judge F. M. Wooten last week, and Mayor Flanagan and Chief of Police George Clark were named members of a committee to advise on the plan.

Judge Wooten, addressing the monthly meeting of the board declared the loss of life from automobile accidents was "appalling," not only in this community, but other parts of the State, and urged the board to take direct steps to get other communities to join in the campaign to drive carefully and sensibly and thereby reduce the loss of life.

In making the public traffic conscious, Mayor Flanagan said his committee was working out plans for the use of banners across highways entering the city, and that other counties would be asked to take similar steps. The contest will be of a competitive nature and the area showing the best traffic record will be accorded recognition in keeping with the significance of the honor.

The public will be asked to co-operate with the city in every way possible and help put down the great number of wrecks which send hundreds to the hospitals and graveyards annually in this community alone.

Due publicity will be given the campaign, the Mayor said, and everybody will be asked to take a direct part.

Wright Memorial Service Is Set For Sunday Afternoon

The time for the memorial services for the late Dr. Robert Herring Wright, which will be held on next Sunday afternoon in the Campus building of the college, was placed at three o'clock in the afternoon so there would be no conflict with any church services. The people of the community could attend, and those from a distance would have time to reach here.

While Dr. Wright was an active member of several organizations, he was a public citizen first of all, with many contacts, so the divisions will not be sharply marked on Sunday afternoon by having the organizations formerly attend in a body.

Instead of having a number of speeches and tributes, there will be only one, and that by Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University.

Autryville Child Dies From Burns

Fayetteville, N. C., Dec. 13.—Ruby Matthews, five years old, died in the Highsmith Hospital here today from burns she suffered yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Matthews, at Autryville. The little girl was standing before a fireplace when her dress became ignited. Her mother and 14 other sisters were painfully burned in extinguishing her blazing clothing.

Held Without Bail For Injury to Woman

Lumberton, Dec. 13.—Bill Johnson and Cecil Bracey, Rowland men with prominent family connections, are held in jail here without privilege of bond, pending the outcome of the condition of Johnson's wife, who, it is alleged, was thrown by these men from an auto in which they were riding near Rowland, sustaining a fracture of the base of the skull, lacerated face and suffering greatly from shock when she was brought here to Baker Sanatorium by these men. Mrs. Johnson is in a critical condition. It is charged that Bracey was driving Johnson's car at the time she was thrown out.

STOLE CAR TO GO TO BALL GAME; IS MONTHS

Greensboro, N. C., Dec. 13.—Gilbert Ball, 18, of Dobson, Surry County, who pleaded guilty to stealing a car here October 17 to use for a trip to a football game at Chapel Hill, was today given eighteen months in prison on sentence of Judge T. J. Shaw in Superior Court. He was arrested in Chapel Hill when a patrolman noted a license tag was missing from the machine.

School Floor Collapses, Several Persons Injured

Liverpool, Dec. 13.—A quick-thinking janitor was credited today with having averted a major disaster when a collapsing floor dropped nearly 500 persons into a terrified mass fourteen feet to the floor below.

The floor collapsed at St. Clement's school, while school children and parents were enjoying a meal celebrating the Christmas season. Approximately 150 were injured and 25 of them mostly women and children, were taken to hospitals.

Only the presence of mind of the school janitor named Doughty, said officials, prevented a major disaster when the screaming assemblage was plunged down into the darkness. Doughty ran to the basement and cut off the gas, eliminating the danger of fire and explosion.

Rescuers told stories of narrow escapes. A little fellow of eight days helpless, one foot caught beneath a beam, suffering great pain, but only murmuring: "Only hurry please!"

Roosevelt Names Two New Ministers

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today appointed Antonio C. Gonzalez, of New York, as Minister to Ecuador, and George Sumnerlin, of Louisiana, as Minister to Panama.

Gonzales has been Minister to Panama and Sumnerlin Minister to Venezuela.

PREPARE FOR ST NICK HERE

City All Dressed in Gala Attire Awaiting The Arrival Of Santa Next Monday

With thousands of vari-colored electric lights blinking their messages of the coming of Christmas and store fronts blazing with similar decorations, Greenville today was looking forward to the appearance of Old Saint Nick next Monday with keen anticipation.

The cherry old gentleman, with ice in his beard after his long trip from the north, is due to arrive in Greenville December 17, and along with him will come his sleigh and uncounted gifts to be distributed to the hundreds of people expected to gather along the streets to give him a proper welcome.

Santa Claus came to Greenville last year and rode down the main business streets with hundreds of children and grown-ups trailing behind him, seeking to get one of the many presents which he distributed along the route.

He is coming this year, if plans of the Chamber of Commerce carry, will be on a greater scale than in recent years, the merry old gentleman should be greatly pleased with the fine reception which the city is planning for him.

Streets in the main business districts have been appropriately decorated for the Yuletide, and hundreds of store windows contain gifts for every member of the family. Windows displays this year probably will be the most extensive ever by reason of the fact that merchants have brought together the finest collection of Christmas goods in years.

To take care of the Christmas rush stores will begin staying open on the night of December 17—next Monday—and will be open each night until Santa sneaks from house to house, filling the stockings of all good little boys and girls of the city.

With the business district literally blazing with multi-colored lights, home owners have been called upon to join the movement to beautify the city during the holiday season, making it truly expressive of the occasion—always the most important of the year certainly from the standpoint of the thousands of children who look forward to the coming of Santa Claus with greater anticipation than any other event.

Old Gentleman Will Bring Fireworks To Be Discharged On Dickinson Avenue

Word has just been received from Santa Claus that when he arrives in Greenville next Monday night, December 17, at 7:30 p. m., he will have a large and beautiful display of fireworks to be discharged for the small children.

Permission has been secured from the owner of the lot on Dickinson Avenue this side of the Greenville Banking and Trust Company, where the fire-works will be set off. Leon Keaton, executive Scout Master, has promised to furnish a large number of Boys' Scouts in uniform to assist Santa Claus. The Scouts will be on duty while Santa Claus discharges the fireworks in order to see that no children will be allowed to get too close to the fireworks.

After Santa Claus has made his visit to the store given the children some toys, candy and nuts, he will go to the lot on Dickinson Avenue and have the fireworks display.

Santa Claus also notified that on his visit to Greenville he will visit a number of homes and talk with the children for just a few minutes and find out what they want him to bring them for Christmas. Those who would like Santa Claus to visit their homes should address a letter to him marked Santa Claus Greenville, N. C., and drop the letter in the postoffice. Write him what you would like for him to bring you and tell him in your letter the name of the store that has the article and toys where Santa Claus can get them. Don't put it off, write him right away. Just address the letter Santa Claus, just address the letter.

McGowan To Run Leaf Warehouse In Ga. Next Year

C. H. McGowan, L. W. Edwards, and G. A. Justice have just returned from Metter and Savannah, Ga., in the interest of the Georgia tobacco market.

Mr. McGowan will operate a warehouse in Georgia next season. He is operator of the Farmer's Warehouse in this city and is well-known among farmers here and in Georgia.

W. J. HARDEE IS KILLED IN AUTO MISHAP

Clay Wilson Probably Fatally Injured In Wreck At Granger's Station

W. J. Hardee, 37, was killed instantly and Clay Wilson probably fatally injured when the automobile in which they were riding went out of control on a curve at Granger's Station, on the Greenville-Kinston highway, last night at 11:30 o'clock, and turned over, pinning both occupants beneath the machine. Both are from Greenville.

Hardee's head and chest were badly crushed, and opinion was expressed that he died instantly. Wilson, suffering from a fractured skull was rushed to a Kinston hospital for medical treatment. His condition today was described as critical, and only slight hope was held out for his recovery.

The two men had been killing hogs on one of Mr. Hardee's farms in this county and were traveling in the direction of Kinston when the accident occurred with Hardee at the wheel. The curve, approaching a railroad crossing, is one of the most dangerous in this part of the county. Numbers of people have been killed or seriously hurt there in recent years.

Mr. Hardee was a prominent farmer operator of Greenville and Mr. Wilson, about 50, is also a farmer, being connected with the operation of the Meekin-Tucker home-place, several miles from Greenville.

Funeral services for Mr. Hardee will be conducted from his late home, 300 Third Street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, pastor of the deceased. Burial will be made in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Hardee was a native of Greene County, the son of the late W. J. Hardee and Mrs. Francis Ringgold Hardee, who were among the old and prominent residents of that section.

He was married to Miss Lillie Patrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Patrick, of Greene County, December 16, 1904. They moved to Greenville shortly after marriage where Mr. Hardee engaged in the wholesale grocery business. About seven years ago he retired and confined his attention to the operation of considerable farm lands in Pitt and Greene Counties.

He was well-known among a wide circle of friends who received news of his accidental death with sorrow.

Surviving are his wife and seven daughters: Mrs. Jack Spain, Miss Doris Hardee and Mrs. W. S. Bost, of Greenville; Mrs. Joe Dixon, of Washington, D. C.; Misses Margaret, Jane and Ann Hardee, of Greenville, and a sister, Mrs. M. T. Frizzelle, of Ayden.

Board Of Trustees Of College Meet

With Clyde A. Erwin, now at the head of the State system of public schools, as chairman, and Dr. Leon R. Meadows as president of the college, the meeting of the board of trustees of East Carolina Teachers College today presented a dramatic situation, showing how sudden and unexpected changes in events change relationships between people.

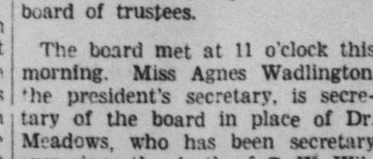

Five years ago, Clyde Erwin came to Greenville as a member of the faculty of the Summer School of East Carolina Teachers College of which Dr. Meadows was director. Today at the same time both of them took their new places with the board of trustees.

The board met at 11 o'clock this morning. Miss Agnes Wadlington, the president's secretary, is secretary of the board in place of Dr. Meadows, who has been secretary ever since the death of C. W. Wilson, who was secretary from the time it was organized until his death.

DRIVE CAREFULLY TODAY

KEEP ARMS INSIDE CAR

In one State alone five drivers lost their left arms in motor vehicle accidents in recent months. Many drivers fail to allow sufficient clearing to traffic coming from the opposite direction. The serious consequences of having an arm torn off can be avoided by driving with arms and elbows inside the car, except when giving hand signals.

Cuban Police Raid Newspaper Plant, Abduct 9 Editors

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 13.—(AP)—As the sorrowful task of probing the ruins of fire-swept Hotel Kerns went forward today, State police listed 26 known dead with 23 bodies recovered, 16 of them identified.

Eleven bodies, of which the consuming flames left little more than skeletons, had been taken from the ice-sheeted debris of what once was one of the State capital's popular meeting places. All were beyond identification except for a few effects such as rings or other trinkets found with some of them.

Four Children Burned To Death—Bedford, Va., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Hazel, 19, and three younger daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Nichols were burned to death early today when fire destroyed their farm home near here.

Names of the three other children were not available this morning. Other members of the family were more or less seriously injured and all who escaped suffered from shock and exposure.

Information of the tragedy came to relatives of the family here this morning, and they were unable to identify the others burned by names.

There are eleven children in the family, but two were absent. Nichols, the farmer, was burned.

DESERT KILLER IS CONVICTED

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Arthur C. Wilson was convicted of murder for the desert slaying of Mrs. Irene DeBolt, Cleveland, Ohio, widow, today by a jury which fixed his penalty at life imprisonment.

Before a courtroom crowded with women, the jury of twelve men which began its deliberation at 5:55 p. m. (Mountain Standard Time) yesterday, brought in a written verdict.

Mrs. DeBolt was found slain west of Van Horn, Texas, November 8, 1933, her body stripped of clothing and $1,600 in currency stolen. Her automobile was also missing.

The prosecution said Wilson, her companion on an automobile trip westward from Cleveland, had beaten and strangled her to death for her money.

Reflecting Sports

By Wm. WATSON MORGAN

Betting on the Tournament of Roses game is getting away to a good start. Last night Bing Crosby made a bet with a group of students at Carolina. The week before Bing fell on Alabama. This group of Carolina students signed a wager supporting Alabama. If Alabama wins, Bing is to send said students a modern, well-equipped ping-pong table, and if Stanford wins, each student is to write Mr. Woodbury expressing appreciation of Bing's program.

In the first eight games this season Alabama made a total of 124 first downs. This is an average of 15.5 per game. Their opponents made a sum total of 53, which is an average of 6.6 per game. This is a record for the Big Ten title in 1933 by losing to Michigan and Ohio State by a single point. Illinois beat both of them this year by a single point.

United States was the 37th nation to accept Germany's invitation to the 1936 Olympiad. 55 invitations were dispatched. There seems to be no end of these Deans, another will be in baseball next year—he is Jack Dean, very close relative of Dizzy and Daffy—he is a pitcher and will be tried out by San Antonio.

Banzai, Banzai Babe! Babe, the Ambassador Babe is doing more to create a good feeling between America and Japan than anyone else, and heading that we see from time to time in our sports headlines. Many of us are wondering just what the future holds for the Babe. Ruppert is willing to release Ruth so that he may become a manager, but he is not willing for him to sign with some other team just as a player. Ruth has done more for baseball than other one player. We are all hoping that he does get a chance to manage some major league team.

The Sporting News states that Babe Ruth need not hurry up his spiked shoes next season if he can not play or manage in organized ball for Ray Doan, manager of the House of David Club, has offered the big slugger $35,000 to join the "beard team"—and when the offer was tendered, he was told that he wouldn't have to wear whiskers, either. He declares his offer is made in good faith, and that he would like to have the Babe with him if Ruth fails to find a place in organized ball next year.

Lou Gehrig has at last realized his fondest dreams. Before the 1934 season started, Lou said he had three ambitions—to lead the American League in batting, to keep his consecutive games—played in record intact, and to pace the field in long distance hitting; he could have wished for more things, for he succeeded in piling up more than just three records. ### High Cage Schedule To Open Dec. 18

By Wm. WATSON MORGAN

The large group of basketball hopefuls that are going through their paces each afternoon in the High School gym are beginning to remind one of possible basketball players. At first, it wasn't safe to wager that it was basketball that they were playing.

A starting line-up of Swartz and Petree at forward, Ed. Wells at center, and Joe Hatem and Bill Carril at guard are going to have a tough time remaining in their starting position if the team of Wilkerson and George Lautares at forward, DuBose Simpson, center, and Dees, John Wells and L. G. Hamilton keep up the pace that they have been setting for the last few days.

There is gold in them "thar hills" might be applied to the real ability, or rather to the possible future greatness of some three or four candidates out for them. When George Lautares decides that he wants to drive and move over the court with a little more determination, he is going to develop into one of the best forwards that this town has ever developed. George's ever movement on the court shows that he is material for an outstanding player. DuBose Simpson is another player that really locks the part of one that some day should make a great record on the court.

Coach Henry Woods has a bunch of boys that know very little basketball, but it is a group that will develop into a first-rate team if and when it gets plenty of practice in the fundamentals of the game.

Literature Department.

The Literature Department of the Woman's Club held its regular meeting with Mrs. E. B. Allsbrook, chairman, Tuesday, Mrs. Charles Horne, chairman, presided.

A fine attendance of members responded to roll call with interesting current events. One new member, Mrs. Martin Swartz, and several guests were cordially welcomed.

The home was attractive with here and there a brilliant suggestion of the approaching Christmas season.

After the usual routine business had been disposed of, Miss Eunice McGee, of the Training School of the college, in her usual witty manner, presented a sketch of Joseph Stalin, the uncrowned Czar of Russia.

In rapid scenes, she vividly pictured Stalin's drab, then colorful career, told of his effective assault on Hitler and how, as an ardent disciple of Lenin, he maintains his policy of a small, loyal, and highly disciplined group within the party ranks.

With the presentation of this finely-etched portrait of the man who is absolute ruler of so large a section of mankind, Miss McGee brought to a climax a most fascinating study of Soviet Russia and ended by giving us a glimpse of the future in forecasting better times for Russia.

At the conclusion of this pleasing program the hostess, Mrs. Allsbrook, assisted by Mrs. J. C. Wyatt, served delectable refreshments to which a festive note had been added in the use of luscious fruit cake and green candies.—Reported.

CLAIM COUNTY WAS TREADED UNJUSTLY

Laurens, N. C., Dec. 13.—Figures just released here by A. H. Ames, Scotland County special agent of the Bureau of Census, indicating that Scotland has gained more than 30 per cent above the county's total allowance under the Bankhead Cotton Control Act, was the signal for a general rumbling of protest that the county has not been treated fairly in the matter of land.

It is further pointed out that about 10 per cent of the crop raised near the State line is carried over into South Carolina for ginning—another loss of credit.

BOY TRIES TO EMULATE EXAMPLE OF DILLINGER

Jonesboro, N. C., Dec. 13.—Apparently in an attempt to emulate the late John Dillinger, a Chatham youth, Talbot Woody, who has been arrested by Officer Chappell, charged with stealing $9.80 from Bill Collins' place Sunday night, pulled a toy pistol revolver and ordered Officer Chappell to "stick 'em up, big boy, stick 'em up."

That the boy is alive today is due to the quick perception of the officer and that he waited until there was sufficient light for the officer to see what the boy had for a weapon. It is certain that had not the officer been quick to recognize the harmlessness of it, he would have used his own gun which he had drawn.

Gift For Mother.

Thousands of mothers throughout the nation will wake up Christmas morning to find Santa, in the persons of husband, sons and daughters, has left her a lifetime Frigidaire—a gift that will increase the efficiency of her household, lower her refrigeration expense and actually enable her to make money from her food budget by cutting down wastage and permitting her to buy in quantities at bargain prices.

For Frigidaire as a Christmas gift is sweeping the country, according to Mr. Smith, dealer here, who has a complete display of household models at his showroom at 413 Evans Street.

"A Christmas Frigidaire is not like an easy chair—something the whole family considers common property," he said. "A Frigidaire really is a gift for mother. She gets the real benefit. It brightens up and modernizes one entire corner of her kitchen. It permits her to have more varied menus."

JOE BAKER PRODUCES SNAKE-SHAPED POTATO

All kinds of freak vegetables have been brought to this office this season but it was left for Joe Baker, Greenville, Route 3, to bring in a sweet potato shaped like a snake. The potato is curled like a rattle getting ready to strike and has created much interest among those who make it a point to watch the curious farm products displayed in the Reflector window from time to time.

Vernon Parrish Claims Another Championship

Vernon Parrish, local broker, who has the prestige of growing the largest watermelons of anybody in this part of the country, now claims the honor of the champion apple producer.

He brought several enormously large apples of the Delicious type to The Daily Reflector office this morning, declaring, "The boys had shaken off most of his large apples in spite of all he could do."

The apples unquestionably are the largest ever displayed here, and Vernon easily forges to the front as the champion in the apple field as well as in the watermelon kingdom.

Delay Inquest In Death of Aged Man

New Bern, N. C., Dec. 13.—Inquest into the death last night of Jeff D. Gwaltney, 80, of the Honolulu section of Graven County, is being delayed by Coroner G. M. Henderson and his jury, pending developments in the search by county officers for the two negroes who are alleged to have robbed and attacked Mr. Gwaltney late Saturday at his filling station.

The jurors viewed the body today and permitted burial, but are continuing investigation of the death which they decided came from the skull fracture and other injuries inflicted by the assailants.

Tourists Badly Hurt In Accident

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 13.—Roger W. Haddock, 64, of New Bern, N. Y., and Harold Thomas, 39, of West, Texas, were seriously injured yesterday afternoon at Frying Pan when a machine in which they were riding swerved from the highway and crashed into a filling station as the driver was attempting to make a wreck with another car.

The extent of injuries sustained by the two was undetermined at night, but hospital attendants said both were dangerously hurt.

The wreck occurred at Gravelly Station at the intersection of Highway N. 21 and a road leading to Frying Pan.

Deputy Sheriff Tom Rogers, who investigated the accident, said the car in which Haddock and Thomas were riding was headed north on the highway and a meeting with a Preston Fire Co. of Virginia was crossing the highway.

Attempts to avoid collision failed, however, the New York car swerved and struck the back of the front of Goss' Station, doing considerable damage.

Garner Man Dies At Wheel of Car

Raleigh, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Death, believed to have been caused by a heart attack, early yesterday morning, claimed C. C. Champion, well known Garner man, a few hours after he had rushed his young daughter to Rex Hospital here for an operation and as he was preparing to return home in his car.

Mr. Champion died at the steering wheel of his machine, shortly after he had exerted himself in attempting to crank the car. Two policemen, L. L. Collins and P. N. Vandergift, volunteered to aid him in getting the motor started and Mr. Champion was about to put the car in gear to move away from the hospital when he died suddenly at 4:20 a. m.

Lola Mae, his 14-year-old daughter, who was brought to the hospital for an emergency appendicitis operation, was reported as resting well.

Worker Killed In Auto Crash

Rocky Mount, Dec. 13.—The first fatal auto accident within the city in the past two years occurred here Tuesday night when Tom Wyatt, 28-year-old negro construction worker, was killed by a car driven by David Whitehurst, negro youth.

Whitehurst took the injured man to a hospital but he was beyond assistance. He said Wyatt was under the influence of whiskey and staggered in front of the car.

Police said Whitehurst was driving at a moderate speed and they considered the accident unavoidable on his part.

One Killed, Two Hurt in Accident

Goldboro, Dec. 13.—C. W. Massey, about 45, of Princeton, Route 3, was fatally injured; James Corbett, 57, of Grantham's, Wayne county, was critically injured and Mrs. Massey seriously injured in an automobile accident near Calypso last night at 6:30.

They were rushed to the Goldboro Hospital.

Hyde Man's Body Found in a Ditch

Washington, N. C., Dec. 13.—C. L. Gibson, aged 53, farmer was found dead, his body lying across a ditch a short distance from his home around 7 o'clock yesterday morning. A bullet wound is said to have been found in his head.

His body was found by Postmaster J. E. Swindell, of Lake Landing, as he was on his way to work.

Gibson left his home Tuesday night around 8 o'clock, telling his wife he was going off to get a drink of flour. He did not return. He is said to have gone to the home of Theodore Spencer, a negro, who lives a short distance from his home.

There has been put on from Washington without publicity heretofore obscure executive positions that were shut out from a lot of lucrative business.

Only the NRA bosses can say who inspired revival of the old order and they won't tell. There are skeptics in the Capital City who suspect some smart code authority secretary of having nudged Washington into action.

The more code adherents, the more money paid in to support any given code authority.

Precedent: One reason General Douglas MacArthur is unlikely to be reappointed chief of staff of the army for an unprecedented second term is that the White House has decided otherwise.

Back in 1922 Major General James G. Harbord—now retired—was deputy chief of staff. War Department officials wanted him carried over for another hitch because of the law requiring service with troops after prescribed service at GHQ.

The House Military Affairs Committee turned thumbs down. Harbord retired from the Army to become a big business executive.

Legislative sharks say that Mr. Roosevelt could not appoint MacArthur for another four-year term as top officer of the Army even if he wanted to.

Medicine: Big shots in the public utilities business have decided President Roosevelt's "yardstick" in the Tennessee Valley has turned into a blackjack.

Daily publicists are busy hammering home the argument that if the government goes into the power business on a big scale the next step will inevitably be to take over such other "social necessities" as food, clothing, fuel, rentals and the like.

Warnings are being broadcast about impending "socialization."

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Nicholas French has been to call on Sir William Avon, and each has told the other what he knows of the mysterious disappearance of a formula worth millions, which has been stolen from Molly O'Brien.

Chapter 24 EAVESDROPPER

JERRY sat up and stared at me approvingly. "You've done very well, Nick. I don't often pay you compliments, but..."

"Wait a moment," I interjected. "You haven't heard the most important part yet."

As briefly as I could I went on to describe our encounter with Mr. Peter Orloff and my staggering discovery with regard to his identity.

"You may think I'm quite mad," I finished, "but I never felt more certain of anything in my life. I'd recognize the brute's voice anywhere. He's Stella's right enough — you can take my word for it — and now perhaps you'll suggest what we're going to do about it."

It was Molly who was the first to speak. "I know what I'm going to do," she said. "I'm going straight to the Cathedral and I'm going to light a candle to Saint Anthony. I prayed to him specially last night, and you see he's beginning to help us already."

"And a jolly useful bit of work, too," Jerry turned to me. "Why didn't you tell Avon?"

"I really don't know," I admitted. "Partly, I think, because it all happened so suddenly, and partly because he seemed to be under the impression that we were a couple of well-meaning nuts. I don't like being despised — even by a millionaire."

"It gives us a freer hand, anyhow," Jerry observed with a considerable relish. "We know something about the blighter that no one else does except Dmitri." He paused. "I wonder whether he has any idea that you spotted him?"

"I don't think so," I said. "I'm not even sure that he noticed me. I slipped into the car directly I heard his voice."

"It's a pity we're not certain. If he did, and if what Avon told you about him is right, things look like being a bit hectic. These Russian lads don't stick at much. They've pots of money and a devilish big organization, and I think he thought there was the smallest chance of our giving him away to the police rather than fancy that Mr. Peter Orloff might be inclined to turn nasty."

"He wouldn't have far to turn," I observed.

"It's Molly I'm thinking about. As far as you and I..."

"Look here!" Molly straightened herself indignantly. "You've just got to drop that nonsense or the whole thing's off. I'm not standing for any of the sweet sheltered girl's business. We're all in this together, and if there's going to be trouble I'm ready to take my share of it."

"You mustn't be angry with him," I said. "It's natural for a baronet to be a bit old-fashioned."

"Sorry!" Jerry made her an apologetic bow. "Your fault, you know, for being so beautiful. If anyone went and stuck a knife into you it would sour the whole of my future life."

MOLLY laughed. "I should be annoyed, too." She leaned across to the writing-table and helped herself to a cigarette. "What's your idea?" she demanded. "I can see you've got some scheme or you wouldn't be worrying about me."

"It's more than a scheme," returned Jerry. "It's an absolute brain wave. We want to find out all we possibly can about Osborne, and as Nick says, the first chap we've got to see is this farmer at Hambridge. Now you can bet your boots that Orloff doesn't mean to let us out of his sight. He'll have someone shadowing us all the time, and if we try to go down there by road or train we shall simply be giving away the whole show."

"That's true enough," I admitted. "Still..."

"Half a second!" He shot out a long arm and caught me by the sleeve. "Why shouldn't we go round in the Seagull? She's lying down at Leigh, and it's only a question of running over her gear and shoving a few stores on board. I could have her ready for sea inside twenty-four hours."

I slapped my knee with a resounding bang. "By Jove, you've hit it!" I exclaimed.

"What's the Seagull?" inquired Molly.

FDR laughs heartily at such implications—but continues mixing bitter medicine for the power interests.

Some. He's on his way now. It's understood to be signed, sealed and ready for delivery.

The exact terms are a carefully guarded secret but insiders predict they will include a $200,000,000 credit to the Soviets—accompanied by the stipulation that it is to be spent exclusively for American goods and chiefly for the products of heavy industry.

Those who have followed negotiations remark on the irony of holding up the announcement to honor Mr. Bullitt. They say he had very little to do with it. Not that he didn't try hard—but he and Litvinov were never able to agree on the terms of the understanding which the Soviet Foreign Minister was supposed to have reached with FDR.

The actual spade-work was done by Secretary Hull and Ambassador Troyanovsky under the watchful eye of the White House. Then Troyanovsky went to Moscow to sell the arrangement to the Soviet bosses. It's possible that the celebration may be postponed for his return also. At present he's in Japan on special business.

Experts say we will have to buy extensively from Russia if she is to acquire the exchange to repay the credit. Most of the Russian goods we would be likely to import are competitive with American products. You can safely expect heated protests when the industries affected catch on. Lebar will probably also have something to say. Comment runs that Secretary Bullitt and other members of the government involved had bet or be ready to duck a deluge of bricks.

Rails: Railroad circles are encouraged by the much more liberal attitude the RFC has adopted toward their problems. They feel that Jesse Jones is taking his unofficial job of saving them seriously.

Eye-teeth are no longer necessary as collateral before a road gets a loan. Credit can be had almost for the asking if the need can be proved worthy and urgent. Also it looks as if the plan would go through where by the RFC will exchange its own year 2-1 bonds for securities of the weaker roads at the current market. Under this plan the government would in effect underwrite the reorganizations of embarrassed railways and greatly ease their debt worries.

New York sharps believe this move would do the stricken carriers more good than the rate rise they've been yelling for. There's no guarantee that higher rates wouldn't ease the roads more in curtailed freight shipments than they'd gain in increased charges. Certainly they would tend to slow up recovery. On the other hand financial assistance of the sort described would be sure to benefit roads in difficulties and could not ham innocent bystanders. Of course it steers closer to direct government ownership but a lot of New Yorkers are getting accustomed to that idea.

Defiance: Showdown after showdown is piling up for the National Labor Board. The Goodrich and Firestone rubber companies are grimly in earnest about refusing to allow the Board to conduct elections among their employes for collective bargaining representatives. # Dagmar's Adventures in Santa Claus Land

BY SIGRID ARNE

SYNOPSIS: Santa is so discouraged because something unexplainable has ruined his holly Christmas wreaths, but Dagmar, his favorite girl, and a tin soldier follow two moles into the ground, thinking the moles know something about it.

CHAPTER IV

The Earth-Worm Helps

The winding stairs which the toys had taken in following the moles wound down, down and around and around into the earth. The dolls felt as if they had walked a mile straight down, but that was only because they were frightened. The air was stuffy, and once in a while they saw an earth-worm stick his head out of the walls of the stairs and look at them goggle-eyed.

"Well, they either went out or went in somewhere," said the wise tin soldier.

Sure enough, after a while the two dolls came to the bottom of the stairs, and there was a big, wooden door with black hinges, and a little window set high in it.

"Here," said the tin soldier, "I'll hold you up. You peek in and tell me what you see." He boosted Dagmar up to the window. She peeped and then she said, "O-o-o-o. It's the queerest big room, and dozens of moles are sitting around on little crooked chairs of tree roots that seem to come right out of the ground. There is one old, gray mole sitting on the highest chair, wearing spectacles and writing on a piece of paper with a quill pen. The two moles are standing in front of him and talking. All the rest are listening."

The tin soldier set Dagmar down and they looked at each other solemnly. They wanted to go in and hear what was being said. But they didn't know how to do it. They were afraid. Just then another earth-worm popped right up out of the floor at their feet and looked at them goggle-eyed.

"Where are you two going?" asked the worm.

"We want to go in there," said the dolls pointing to the door.

"That's dangerous," said the worm. "The moles might put you in prison."

Then the earth-worm looked very solemn. He lashed his tail around and dug in a pocket way down at the end of him, and pulled out a tiny, white pebble.

"This is more than a pebble," he said. "The Queen of Fairies gave it to me once when I helped her. I'll lend it to you. Rub it once, and it will make you invisible. Rub it twice and you will be visible again."

"Oh, thank you," said the dolls. "How can we return it to you?"

"Just tap on the ground five times, and I will hear you," said the worm. "Good luck." In a minute he had slid back into the earth floor, and was gone.

The two dolls took long, deep breaths. Then the tin soldier rubbed the pebble, and in a flash she could not see him. But they could hear each other. They laughed softly, pulled open the door to the moles big hall and slipped in unseen by the moles.

Tomorrow--In the Hall of the Mole King.

Hail the Champs

The Galway team of West Ireland won the world's championship in Gaelic football by beating the All-Norfolk Stars.

A boy remarked at the dinner table that his class at school was to have a clean-up contest.

"A clean-up contest!" exclaimed his mother. "And you come to the table with those hands?"

"I know, mother, but the contest doesn't start until next week."—Pacific Methodist Advocate.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, D. C.—Politicians here are wondering what effect the raging conflict within Republican ranks will have on the leadership of Representative Snell, of New York, in the House during the next Congress.

There are two reasons for the backstage gossip: First, in the face of the open demands that the party revamp its national leadership, the Republican floor leader of the House has aligned himself on the side of those who would preserve things as they are for the present.

Second, there was evidence of dissatisfaction among some House Republicans in the last Congress over Snell's type of leadership. The muttering was confined to the cloakrooms, however, and no move to oust him ever was made on the floor.

House Reaction Possible

House observers admit the possibility of the present division and discord in the party as a whole finding a reaction in the House. Undoubtedly there are Republican representatives who share the views of Senator Borah for a thorough House cleaning.

Snell, it is suggested, would be their nearest and most logical target when the time comes for selection of a leader in the next Congress. While under ordinary circumstances he probably would continue as leader without question, existing conditions may make for a change in sentiment.

House Republicans have switched leaders before. Snell himself, at the beginning of the 72nd Congress following the death of Senator Longworth, forced John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, from the position of floor leader and took over the job himself. He has held it since.

This far Snell has ridiculed all reports that his leadership is threatened. Everyone admits it would be difficult to dislodge him. He is prepared to fight until the last.

Mentioned As Successor

Gossip as to his probable successor, were he to be retired as floor leader, centers around three men—each from the Mid-West.

The name of Earl E. Maves, of Michigan, is heard most frequently. The bald, robust Representative from Grand Rapids was found among the liberals many times in the last Congress. As second ranking Republican on the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee he went along with the administration on some of the more liberal legislation enacted during the session.

Clifford R. Hope, of Kansas, ranking Republican of the House Agricultural Committee, also is mentioned as a possibility. Elected for his fifth term, the youthful-appearing Kansan supported much of the administration's farm program.

Earl Michener, also of Michigan, is talked of, too. Although he didn't sit in the last Congress, he has a record of fourteen years' service in that body and before his defeat, in the Roosevelt landslide of 1932, was high in the councils of his party in the House.

Here's Quick Relief For Bad Coughs

Stops Hacking INSTANTLY

Why hack, hack, hack yourself to pieces? One dose of Bronchuline Emulsion gives unmistakable relief—no matter how your cough has hung on. A few doses may stop it entirely. Half a bottle certainly will, or you can have your money back. Good druggists guarantee.

BRONCHU-LINE EMULSION

Cruise Gad Alters Gibraltar Gibraltar—(AP)—England's growing craze for pleasure cruises, another habit contracted from America is transforming this town's main street. Shop after shop is being taken over by Hindus for the sale of curios. A few years ago there were six such places; today there are twenty-one.

Bread baked on Christmas never comes stale, according to an old superstition.

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes! Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are Nature's chief way of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass 3 pints a day thru the bladder which contains nearly 4 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this amount, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is the danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lameness, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs and so-called "kidney cures" which claim to fix you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS, the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

New York, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened fairly steady, one to six points lower, on disappointing Liverpool cables and commission house buying.

Offerings were absorbed by trade buying at declines and the market held steady at the end of the first half-hour. March contracts after selling at 12.54, worked up to 12.58, while October rallied from 12.16 to 12.20.

New York, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The market displayed a more confident tone today as business and trade news continued bright and hopes for a livelier springtime advance were renewed.

Dealings for the most part were of a highly selective character. A number of specialties moved into new high territory for the year, while the old-line leaders were generally content to improve their standing by small fractions.

Uncover Huge War Profits Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Huge profits ranging as high as 362 per cent to manufacturers of war materials during the World War were disclosed today to the Senate Munitions Committee.

This was developed shortly after President Roosevelt had suggested close co-operation between his group to formulate legislation to take the profits out of war and the Senate investigators.

This apparently lessened the irritation displayed by the committee members yesterday lessened the irritation displayed by the committee members yesterday because the President had gone ahead before they had completed their inquiry.

Investigators placed before the committee figures for the Internal Revenue Department showing profits for scores of companies ran from 20 per cent of invested capital to 262 per cent.

Alger C. Hiss, who conducted the inquiry, developed that many cases the profits made on cost plus contracts and that in some instances cash was advanced to the companies by the government to finance their production.

Hollywood, Calif.—The boy grows older, and now Gilbert Roland thinks he might come home from Europe if his agent ever called him again to play opposite Garbo.

Five or six years ago he couldn't be bothered. He was seeing bullfights in Spain when the message came that he was up for a lead opposite Garbo in "Inspiration," that the part was his if he would return at once.

Since then, Luis Antonio Damazo de Alfonso has felt the urge of ambition. He had a taste of real success in "The State vs. Elinor Norton" and on performance he got a contract.

Now he wants to get into a picture based on the Spanish foreign legion which he says does things in Africa as thrilling and dramatic as the exploits of the French Legion, often glorified in celluloid. For some reason the Spanish desert troops have been neglected, and Gilbert Roland wants things done about it.

Two Films in One "I could do it in English and Spanish at the same time," he told John Stone, the producer, "and will get two pictures instead of one. Stone is considering the idea. Roland, however, is not guilty of burning, humorless ambition. Asked if today, under the same circumstances, he would hop a boat for the Garbo set, he replied: "Oh, I don't know—a bullfight is a bullfight..."

His name often has been linked romantically with one bright star or another, but the more picturesque side of Roland's background is virtually neglected. His father, grandfather, and great-grandfather before him were bullfighters, and Luis Alonso, now lives in a little Spanish town, a cripple from wounds sustained in the bloody arena.

Doubled For Novarro Born in Juarez, Roland was turned aside from the career when, at 14, his family was on the wrong side of a revolution. From El Paso, he came to Hollywood and drifted into extra work. For four years he was part of the mob, making a good living. His "big break" came on location with Ramon Novarro for "The Midshipman." He was told he would have a part.

He didn't know that his role was double for Novarro in a fight on board a yacht which would end with his hurling overboard into the icy water. He found that out after the ducking. He turns his thwarted enthusiasm for bullfighting into his tennis game, and rates at the top of the film colony's net fans. He was born thirty December 11.
