ITALY DEMANDS AN APOLOGY FROM ETHIOPIA

Rigid Precautions Taken To Prevent Clash In Saar Area

RESENTMENT BITTER OVER STREET TILT

British Police Officer And English Nobleman Beaten in Saar After Automobile Wreck; Great Britain Asks Complete Report on Incident; Cabinet to Get Details

Saarbrücken, Sarr Territory, Dec. 17. (AP)—Rigid precautions to prevent clashes between the international troops and Saarlanders were adopted today after bitter resentment was aroused by an Anglo-noble street fight. A resident of the Saar was wounded by a British police officer yesterday and in the resulting clash the officer and an English nobleman were beaten.

The incident created alarm with the Saar already tense over the January 13 plebiscite which will decide its future. It came as the League of Nations moved an international army into the territory to preserve order during the vote.

When news of the shooting and subsequent beatings filtered through the Saar the German front Nazi organization called special meetings of protest. Quick investigation was ordered by the League governing commission which announced suspension of Captain James Justice, officer involved, until completion of the inquiry.

The trouble began early Sunday when Justice's car, bearing also the Earl of Aylesford and Fraucln Braun, a German girl, swerved on a sidewalk of a narrow street and injured a woman. Justice, a member of the international police force in the Saar, apologized to the woman whose injuries were slight.

FIREMEN GET BIG TOY LOAD

Scouts Collect Truck Load of Gifts For Poor in Canvass Here Saturday

The Boy Scout canvass for broken toys for the poor here Saturday proved highly successful, it was made known this morning.

Members of the fire department who are to repair the toys and then turn them over to the Salvation Army for distribution among the poor, stated the Scouts collected practically a truckload of toys.

It was understood the canvass would continue this week in the hope of assembling as many toys as possible for the children of the poor. The firemen were busy in the toy workshop over the fire house today repairing and repainting the toys so they will be ready for use by the time Santa Claus makes his annual rounds Christmas Eve night.

Eight firemen are on duty in the toy shop at night and a similar number in the day. The firemen said this morning they were being assisted by a number of men who gathered in the toy shop at night to do their bit toward carrying cheer to the children of the poor.

Persons who did not give in the canvass Saturday have been urged to call the fire department if they desire to give to the cause. The firemen said they would be glad to send for any contributions.

The truckload of toys turned over by the Scouts was the first consignment received by the firemen, although word was given out a week ago that the toy shop was in shape for beginning work. The firemen plan to put in extra hours at work benches in an effort to take care of everything sent to them for repair.

The Salvation Army has already made arrangements for distributing the gifts, and scores of children who would know no Christmas without their aid, will be made inexpressibly happy and caused to believe Santa Claus still lives.

DR. WRIGHT IS HONORED AT SERVICE HERE

Late President of Teachers College Lauded in Address By Dr. Frank Graham

Yesterday, in the calm of a quiet Sunday afternoon, that seemed symbolic of the character of the man, a large crowd of people from the community, members of the college staff, representatives from the board of trustees, the thousand students, alumnae from a distance, friends and relatives from far and near, gathered for the memorial services in honor of Robert Herring Wright and felt that Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University, as spokesman gave sympathetic interpretation of the life and work of the builder for Eastern Carolina and the youths of the state.

As the favorite hymn of Dr. Wright, "Sun of My Soul," was sung by the college students at the opening of the services, probably all in the audience felt the presence of the man, and Dr. Frank Graham voiced the thought of those who knew him when he said the spirit of the song was that of the man; "In a real sense he was the Sun of the College and there is no darkness because he is here."

He saw the story of the twenty-five years of the history of the institution he built as a story of Eastern Carolina on the march and the story of Dr. Wright as that of (Continued on page Two.)

FAIL TO PAY TAXES, HELD

Operators of Eating Places Arrested for Failure to Pay Sales Taxes

Grant Bell and Sylvester Wilson, who operate eating places on Alameda Avenue, were arrested Saturday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by J. C. Herring, deputy commissioner of Pitt County for the Revenue Department of the State. They were both charged with violating Section 422 of the Revenue Act, failing to make sales tax returns.

At the time the sales tax was put into effect every merchant was registered by the State, and it is impossible for any merchant to operate a business and not make sales tax returns promptly without the State officials knowing it.

If the payment is not made within thirty days after demand by the Commissioner, there shall be added 100 per cent as damages together with interest at the rate of 1 per cent per month on the amount of tax due from and after the time such tax became payable. If the tax is paid within 30 days' notice by the Commissioner, there shall be added 10 per cent as damages and interest at the rate of 1 per cent from the time such tax was due and payable until paid.

Withholding these taxes and not reporting same results in depriving the State of its revenue and is a serious violation of the law.

Mr. Herring stated that the penalties and punishments prescribed will be rigidly enforced in all cases of violation as a matter of justice to the State, citizens who have paid this tax, and in fairness to other merchants who have collected and paid this tax.

TWO HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. W. W. Stallings And Daughter Injured at Penny Hill River Bridge

The Highway Patrol reported three or four wrecks in Pitt county over the week-end, but none of them were of a serious nature.

Mrs. W. W. Stallings and little daughter of Macdiesfield, were painfully out about the face when their car was struck by another machine driven by John Newton, colored, on the Penny Hill River bridge approach yesterday afternoon.

The Stallings were leaving the bridge on the Falkland side when the car driven by Newton struck their machine as he attempted to drive on the bridge. Investigating officers said Newton's brakes were bad and he was unable to stop in time to prevent hitting the other machine.

The fronts of both machines were slightly damaged. Mrs. Stallings and the child were carried to Falkland for medical aid.

The other wrecks occurred in widely separated areas of the county and the reports of patrolmen showed that nobody was injured. The casualties were the lightest for any single week-end in some time. Several other minor wrecks investigated by city and town officials were reported in other parts of the county.

News Behind The News.

Washington
By GEORGE DURNO

1931: There has been much ado in Washington the last few days about legislation to take profit out of war and write a permanent universal draft clause into the statute books.

Since President Roosevelt took hold of the idea with a firm hand, members of the Senate committee investigating the munitions industry have complained the White House was trying to stymie their inquiry and steal their glory.

Both sides could save time and made by the War Policies Commission by going back to a report issued in 1931, and an Industrial Mobilization Plan based on that report which was approved in February, 1933.

Former President Hoover appointed this Commission. On it were rank members of his cabinet and the following legislators: Senators Swanson of Va., Vandenberg of Mich., Robinson of Ark., and Reed of Pa.; Rep. McSwain of S. C., Collins of Miss., Hadley of Washington and Holliday of Ill.

Among the most important witnesses appearing before the Commission were Bernard M. Baruch and General Hugh Johnson, in their capacity as members of the old War Industries Board.

NEGRO JAILED FOR DISORDER IN BANK HERE

James Hopkins Hits At Banker After Cursing Teller Over a Check

After using profane language and starting a fight in Greenville Banking and Trust Company this morning, James Hopkins, 20-year old negro, was being held in jail here today on a charge of disorderly conduct and driving a car while under the influence of whiskey.

He is scheduled to face hearing in police court Wednesday morning, his father having declined to make any effort to bail him out of jail prior to preliminary hearing.

The negro was said to have made a pass at Cashier Herbert Waldrop knocking the banker's glasses off, but doing no further damage.

Walking into the bank, Hopkins allegedly presented a check on the State Bank and Trust Company for payment. The teller told him the check was drawn on the wrong bank and asked him to make out a new check if he had money on deposit there.

The negro was said to have used considerable profanity, declaring he didn't intend to make out a new check. Elijah Mills, who was standing in the lobby, called attention of the negro to the fact there were ladies in the bank.

Hopkins allegedly cursed again, stating he didn't give a d— if ladies were in the building.

Mr. Waldrop then asked Mr. Mills to hold him up the negro out of the bank. Other bank employees came to the front to help, and as Waldrop drew near, the negro hit at him knocking his glasses to the floor.

A policeman was called as the negro was being rushed to the outside. Hopkins was reported to have given the policeman considerable trouble, but quieted down when the officer brought a blackjack into play over his head two or three times.

It was later discovered the negro had driven a car up town and parked in near the bank. This caused an additional charge of driving drunk to be brought against him.

SEEK HIGHER WOMEN'S PAY

Department of Labor Worker Wants Higher Pay in the Tobacco Industry Code

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—(AP)—Picturing a large percentage of tobacco workers on relief while cigarette factories are earning millions, Miss Mary Anderson, director of the women's bureau of the Department of Labor, today called for greater safeguards for women workers in the proposed cigarette code.

She declared the suggested 25 per cent an hour minimum for her stemmers, mostly women, was too low in view of a short week, and that such a rate of pay would fail to provide enough for subsistence.

"Some provisions should be on the code to guarantee the workers at least a wage of 40 hours a week in event the work falls below 30 hours a week," she said.

Mrs. Anderson asserted that the 40 hours a week originally proposed by the industry was too long to achieve the NRA objective of spreading employment. The NRA recently suggested 36 hours a week for the industry.

ADD NEW CASES TO ALIAS CLUB

Salvation Army Seeks Public Help For Destitute People During Holidays

Additional cases of destitute people were added to the Salvation Army's "Alias Santa Claus Club" this morning, considerably swelling the total announced by the organization last week.

Commenting on the success of the club, Captain Stratford said only one of the cases announced last week had been taken. Mrs. Vandye informed the organization she would provide for case No. 2, which seeks to aid an unemployed father with four children who will know nothing of the benevolence of St. Nick without public aid. The man has made an unsuccessful attempt to find employment for sometime.

Captain Stratford urged persons to note the cases appearing in the columns of this paper from time to time and help the organization carry cheer to the poor during the holidays.

The captain said considerable suffering had been discovered by his workers in various parts of the city, and every effort will be made to carry cheer to such homes during Christmas. This cannot be done, however, without help of liberal-hearted people, he said, as he urged the public to adopt the "alias" cases and provide for them during the holidays.

Additional cases today follow:
Case No. 6
Two more old folks that have seen many a Christmas Day go by. Won't some one help to make this the happiest one they have ever had?

Case No. 7

How would you like to prepare Christmas for seven children when you didn't know where the next mouthful was coming from? Such is the case of this little family—Geneva 13, Gary 2, Eugene 9, Evelyn 8, Susie 5, Beulah 4, and Bernice 2. Mother and father still believe there is a Santa.

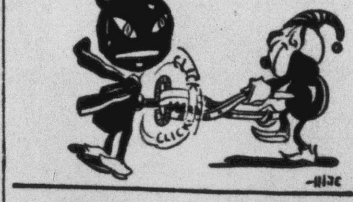

Case No. 8

This little family has been struggling along for over two years. Father has worked whenever possible. Big sister Joyce 14 tells little June 12, Catherine 10, Marie 5, and Johnnie 3, that Santa is coming for sure. Don't disappoint these little folks.

FOUR KILLED ON HIGHWAYS OF THIS STATE

Fifth Victim Meets Death by Electrocutation Over Week-End Five Dead in S. C.

(The Associated Press)
Four persons were killed in highway accidents in North Carolina over the week-end and another was accidentally electrocuted.

Carroll Downey, of Holly, N. Y., was killed as his automobile collided with a truck near Charlotte. The other persons were injured in the crash. Police were searching for a negro said to have driven the truck.

Alex Wade was hit by an automobile near Beaufort and died some hours later.

Cranford McLamb, 23-year-old farmer, and a bridegroom of two weeks was killed when his car overturned near Clinton.

Mrs. Mack Buchanan, 34-year-old Spruce Pine, N. C. woman, was fatally injured when an automobile struck her as she was walking along the highway near her home.

At Hendersonville Conrad Henry Mencken, 15, was accidentally electrocuted when he touched a line while climbing a tree to arrange a fireworks display.

Five highway fatalities were reported in South Carolina over the week-end.

Late News Flashes

To Pass On Railroad Act.
Washington, Dec. 17.—(AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to pass on a decision by a lower court holding the railroad retirement act as unconstitutional.

The administration plans to submit new legislation at the forthcoming session of Congress intended to meet the objections to the present act.

In signing the measure last June 30 President Roosevelt said it was crudely drawn and would require many changes and amendments at the next session of Congress. The legislation affecting more than 1,000,000 employes, provides retirement with pay at the age of 65. It would compel both the workers and employers to contribute to a retirement fund.

The Alton and other roads challenged the constitutionality of the act in the District of Columbia high (Continued on Page Six)

INDEMNITIES ALSO SOUGHT BY ITALIANS

Il Duce Declares Ethiopia And Not Italy Responsible for Border Clash in Which 150 Men Were Killed; Message Answer to Ethiopian Protest to the League Last Week

Rome, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini took an aggressive stride in Italy's quarrel with Ethiopia today by demanding an apology and indemnities. In a heated report to the League of Nations Il Duce charged that Ethiopian forces and not Italian native troops in Samoliland were responsible for the border clash in which 150 men were killed. The Premier who holds the portfolio on Foreign Affairs among several others in seven paragraphs wired to Geneva issued the first person singular throughout.

His message was an answer to Ethiopia protests to League of Nations which calls attention to the gravity of the situation.

Mussolini said the African government claim that Italy was responsible for bloodshed was false.

Ethiopian troops, he asserted, were guilty of "certain unprovoked aggression against Italy's native garrison" and hurled insults at the Italians.

TWO BOYS HELD FOR ROBBERY

Fourteen-Year-Old Youths Turned Over To Juvenile Court For Disposition

Two fourteen-year-old white boys were turned over to Juvenile Court authorities this morning on two charges of robbery following preliminary hearing in police court.

They are Milton Stafford and Jim Baker, both of Greenville. Police nabbed them last night as they allegedly were attempting to rob a fireworks store on Dickinson Avenue operated by Horne and Clark.

Chief of Police George Clark said this morning Baker was caught inside the building and Stafford was chased to his home and placed under arrest.

The officer said the youths are also charged with having entered Ayscue's store several days ago and stealing a considerable quantity of fireworks.

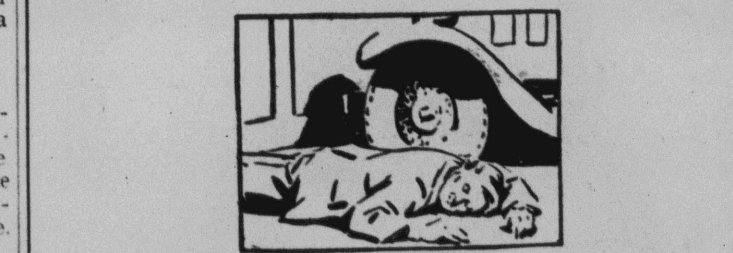

Because of the age of the youths, they were transferred to Juvenile Court where they probably will be sent to some reformatory, although Judge Frank Harrington had not ruled in the case today.

Bank Prepares For Burglars

Raeform, Dec. 17.—The Bank of Raeform had installed new burglar-proof fixtures, armorplate, and bullet-proof glass, with turnstiles for receiving and paying out money. There are portholes where occupants of the bank may fire on would-be robbers, giving the attackers no chance to return the fire.

There is bullet-proof screening overhead, so the cash and the bankers are absolutely safe from even an air attack and any contemplated robbery of this bank had as well be postponed indefinitely.

NINE COUPLES WED IN PITT

Rush to Altar Continues in All Parts of County With Peak Set for Christmas

The pilgrimage to the altar which has been under way here for some time probably will reach its peak the latter part of this week or the first of next, and Christmas probably will witness more blushing brides than any other similar period in history.

Records in the office of Registrar of Deeds J. C. Gaskins revealed this morning that nine couples obtained licenses to wed over the weekend, and while the total is not quite as large as the past week, it was large enough to indicate there will be plenty doing around the latter part of the week and the day before Old Saint Nick plans to come around.

Heretofore colored people have been leading the push to the altar, but this week whites forged into the front with an advantage of one license. It was the first time in some time that the colored race has been bested in the marriage business, but the advantage will not hold long, as the next several days are expected to see them outnumber the other race two to one.

One of the white couples obtaining license here Saturday will not be married until sometime this week and requested the names be kept out of print until the nuptials actually come off.

Register of Deeds J. C. Gaskins cleared his desk this morning in preparation for the rush expected the latter part of the week, and is ready to issue licenses in double-quick time and to help along the scores desiring to join the double-harness fraternity.

Those obtaining licenses to wed over the week-end were:

Thomas Smith to Miss Lillian Gurganus, both of Greenville.

Jasper Letchworth to Miss Alma Riddle, both of Winterville.

Dorsey Baker to Miss Alma Weston, Falkland Township.

J. M. Smith to Miss Sallie Carraway, Beaver Dam Township.

Colored
Charlie Moore to Rena Person, Carolina Township.

John Hughes to Sue Vinson, Carolina Township.

Arthur Vines to Bessie Speight, Wilson.

Simon Barrett to Mary Sue Patrick, Winterville.

Claus will go to a vacant lot on Dickinson Avenue and sponsor a brilliant fireworks display. He will then make preparations for remaining in the city during the holidays.

The coming of St. Nick will find stores stocked with one of the finest selections of goods in years, and shoppers should have no trouble in providing the things needed to make their shopping list complete.

Streets have been decorated with vari-colored lights—hundreds of them—and similar decorations in store windows will help carry the spirit of the season to the people visiting the business district during the evening.

With the business district properly decorated, homes in various parts of the city have begun putting on their Christmas dress. This week is expected to see this form of decoration reach its peak and when St. Nicholas begins making his rounds Christmas Eve he will be greeted by the most extensive decorations of this kind in years.

Shoppers have been urged to shop as rapidly as convenient between now and next week and in that way relieve some of the terrific rush usually occurring the day before Christmas. Considerable shopping has already been done, to be sure, but thousands yet remain to select their gifts and by pushing their shopping this week they should be able to secure the cream of the stock.

Santa Claus will begin his parade tonight at 7:30 o'clock. He will leave the courthouse square promptly at that time and cover the entire business district before shooting fireworks on Dickinson Avenue.

a leader already tested before coming here.

He went back to Sampson county where Dr. Wright was born in the days of reconstruction, when North Carolina was fashioning men for our time. "His boyhood was cast in the South of poverty and reconstruction for the struggle to come."

He stressed the remarkable influence of the masterful mother, whose name was a power and whose personality was communicated to her students. In that home the Bible, democracy as a reality, genuineness and thoroughness in work, were laying the foundations of character.

His life on the farm and as teacher in the country school, he said were also helping to shape the man. Never pretentious, quiet, steady, reflective, Robert Wright made his mark at the University, where he was a campus leader. He was chosen by the student body to be their speaker at the inauguration of E. A. Alderman as president. He was president of the historical society, of the Shakespeare club, of the philosophical club, an officer in the Y. W. C. A., and captain of the football team.

His classmates, team mates, and fellow students, still remember him vividly. The tribute from a team mate was that he always played the game, always had a word for the scrub, and his spirit rose above the teap to sportsmanship.

Dr. Graham reviewed the successful years Dr. Wright spent in Baltimore, and stressed the great significance to this state and to education of the decision he made to need the call to return to his native state when many friends felt the doors were wide open to him in Baltimore and his prospects for the future lay there.

His great work pioneering in the field of teachers training began when he came here. By drawing the contrast between the beginnings that October day twenty-five years ago, and the college he left that April day in 1934, Dr. Graham gave some idea of the greatness of the work he did in building a great class A Teachers' College from a small Teachers Training School.

"How much is crowded into that quarter of a century between 1909 and 1934! What hard work; what failures; what dreams; what frustrations! And yet glorious fulfillment packed in that quarter of a century in the life of this college." It is the opinion of leading school men here that Dr. Wright knew more about teacher training than any other educational leader in this part of the United States.

What his coming meant to the civic life of the city, and to the churches, not only his own but that of every denomination and what it meant to Eastern Carolina could not be estimated. Dr. Graham expressed the regret that Dr. Wright did not live quite long enough to see his dream come true for a port as an outlet.

Dr. Graham summed up the gradual reaching-out of the influence of this great Educational Statesman, calling attention to the steps in his career as teacher, president of the National Association of Teachers' College, delegate at large from this to the International Education Association and delegate from this to the International Education Association.

In his final words these two state ments will stand out in the minds of the audience "East Carolina Teachers College stands a monument to Robert Herring Wright through which he will live on for the youth and for the commonwealth through all the generations of youth that are to come. . . He was not only a great man as the world measures greatness, but he was also a good man." Dr. Meadows in his introduction of Dr. Graham said, "We have met for the purpose of paying our respects to the one whose lengthened shadow is this college in which we have assembled, a great and good man who worked long and faithfully and well for his beloved state. We have with us one who not only knew President Wright well, but one who is today a leader of educational forces in our state and our commonwealth—Dr. Frank P. Graham of the Greater University."

Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, opened the services with prayer, and Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of the Memorial Baptist church, pronounced the benediction.

The singing by the Glee Club of "Peace, I Leave With You" formed a fitting close to the memorial occasion.

Dagmar's Adventures in Santa Claus Land

BY SIGRID ARNE

Every minute seemed an hour as the dolls waited . . .

SYNOPSIS: Two dolls from Santa's toyshop, Dagmar and the tin soldier, are awaiting for an earth-worm to save them from an underground prison where they were thrown by the mole king. They are hunting clues to the blight which is ruining Santa's holly trees.

CHAPTER VII The Dolls Are Saved

Every minute seemed an hour as the dolls waited for the earth-worm to return and get them out of that room which was slowly cracking in pieces.

"The ceiling racked right over them. But no more earth fell. Suddenly there was the earth-worm coming out of his little hole in the floor again. Dagmar, the doll, and the tin soldier breathed a big sigh of relief."

"Nothing to worry about," said the worm. "I have all of my friends digging a passage for you. We're almost through."

"How can we ever thank you?" said Dagmar.

"Why, you can come home with us for a day," said the earth-worm. "We can plan some way to get that magic pebble back. And maybe we can think of some way to save the holly trees from the moles."

"You think of everything," said Dagmar with a smile, and the earth-worm bowed gravely at the compliment.

As they finished talking quite a big hole opened in the floor and several earth-worms wiggled about their feet. They were all grinning triumphantly.

"We're finished," they announced. "Then let's hurry away," said Dagmar. So they all slipped into the hole in the ground and felt their way along a low tunnel. They walked and stumbled on in the dark.

Finally they saw daylight ahead of them, and soon they were standing on top of the snow-covered ground. In the distance they saw the toyshop.

"I have brought you to the surface," said the earth-worm, "so you can see there is a way out prepared for you. Now let us turn back to my home in the ground."

"How thoughtful," said Dagmar. "You lead and we'll follow. I guess

Willy Nilly Decides

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
"Well, well," exclaimed the little gnome-like man, Willy Nilly, as Rip, the dog, came up to him where he was chopping down trees for Santa Claus in the woods. "Have you come to help me?"

Then Willy Nilly noticed that Rip's tail was between his legs in a R-7 manner which showed something was wrong, and that his eyes were very sad.

"What's the matter, Rip?" "I've been very naughty," growled Rip in a forlorn, weak tone of dog voice.

"What have you done?" asked Willy Nilly, his voice sounding sharp because of the alarm he felt.

"I went into Santa's work shop and I began to play with some balls I found there, and I broke—I broke—" Rip could not keep back the tears any longer. He went up close to Willy Nilly and put his head against the little man's knee. Between sobs he said:

"I broke a set of china dishes, knocked off a doll's head, broke a mirror on a doll's bureau and the right leg of a little tin sailor, and jumped right into a lot of paper dolls."

"Oh, oh," said Willy Nilly. "I'll have to hurry back and see what can be done about all that. I might be able to mend some of those toys and where I can't mend them I'll make some new ones. I can make some pottery dishes."

"What—are—you—going—to—do—to—me?" asked Rip.

"I've just decided that, too," answered Willy Nilly, as he started off with Rip trudging behind him. What was Rip's punishment to be?

There will be a regular meeting of Greenville Lodge No. 284 A. F. & A. M., tonight at 7:30. Annual election.
Wm. J. Bundy, Master.

Choral Club and Junior Choir.
All Choral Club members are expected to be present at the rehearsal tonight at 7:30 in Austin Auditorium for Christmas Festival. The Junior Choir is also expected to come.

Christmas At the College.
Christmas trees and dormitory celebrations after the regular movie on Saturday night gave the college girls a chance to enjoy the Christmas spirit before the grind of examinations today and tomorrow and the bustle and stir of packing and getting off for the holidays.

The girls gathered around the trees in each dormitory and Christmas carols were sung and then the gifts were given out. Each girl drew a name and a gift was placed on the tree for her.

Miss Dell Cannon Entertains.
Miss Dell Cannon delightfully entertained a few of her friends Friday evening at her home on Paris Avenue, honoring Jean West of Statesville.

As the guests arrived they were met at the door by Miss Dell Cannon and Jean West and ushered into the dining room. The dining table was artistically arranged with a lace table cover and centered with a bowl of punch. Presiding over the punch and the register were Miss Evelyn Jackson and Mrs. A. R. Cannon. After several progressions of bridge and dancing were enjoyed, the hostess assisted by Mrs. B. T. Cannon and Mrs. A. R. Cannon, served a tempting salad course.

Those attending were: Misses Frances Smith, Nannie Rowlett, Ruby Stocks, Jewel Cozart, Novella Cannon, Marjorie Whitehurst, Victoria Jackson, Lou Nichols Joyner, Nita Turnage, Elizabeth Vainright, Charlotte Tyson, Dorothy Tyson, Marguerite Rice, Ethel Whitehurst, Lina Collie, and Mrs. Bernice Allen; Messrs. Ted Langston, William Woulard, Charles T. Jackson, Bruce Cozart, Tommy Cox, Herman Evans, Ernest Lee Clark, Jack Whitehurst, Adrian Savage, Lennie Edwards. Out of town guests were: Jean and Roscoe West and Floyd Clarke of Statesville; Harrell Pittman and Charlie Knox of Tarboro.

Smith-Rogers.
Lawrenceville, Va., Dec. 17.—Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Willie Lee Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Rogers, of Freeman, Va., to Orlow L. Smith of Pierre, South Dakota. The wedding will take place in mid-winter.

Miss Rogers is a member of the Lawrenceville high school faculty. She was graduated from Averett College and William and Mary College.

Mr. Smith is a graduate of Yankton College, Yankton, South Dakota, and is at present a member of the Treasury Department of South Dakota.

Y. W. C. A. Christmas Services.
The annual symbolic White Gift service of the Y. W. C. A. of East Carolina Teachers College was held last night in the Austin Auditorium. The gifts which were presented to the Christ Child were those of character, which represented spiritual virtues rather than material gifts which were represented by gold, frankincense and myrr in olden times.

This is one of the traditional services of the association and almost the entire student body was present.

Cotillion Club Dance.
Announcement was made today by the Greenville Cotillion Club that Hal Thurston and his orchestra would play for the dance here on Friday, December 28th.

Hal and his boys will come to Greenville direct from a tour of southern colleges which included Davidson College, Duke University, University of North Carolina, Wake Forest College, Hampden-Sidney, Mercer University, N. C. State, and winding up at the University of Richmond, where they play for the Junior-Senior prom.

Thurston is one of the youngest professional orchestra leaders in the country, and his style has created a sensation wherever he has appeared this year. Hal says: "Orchestras today sell styles in music the same as women's shops sell fashions in clothes. Naturally, we are enthusiastic about our own style, which has color enough to challenge the younger dancing set, and our sweet tunes appeal to the more mature and all ages."

Dress Rehearsal For Festival.
There will be a special performance of the Christmas Festival, in the nature of a dress rehearsal, this evening at 7:30 in Austin Auditorium for the students and members of the faculty who will not be here at the regular performance.

Members of the Junior Choral Club and those who want to be in the Festival may do so if they come this evening to the auditorium immediately after the Christmas parade. The adult members of the club will be there. This will be the first time that all the portions of the Festival have been put together.

The admission for the regular performance of the Festival on Friday, Dec. 21, will be given free to the people of Greenville.

Letters To Santa Claus.

Winterville, N. C., Dec. 15.
Dear Santa Claus:
I am a little girl just 5 years old. I am not old enough to go to school but I want to go so bad. Santa, I want you if you please, bring me a large doll, necklace, a bracelet and a ring and some candy and fruit, and that is all I will ask you to bring me. My name is Hilda Craft. And my little brother wants you to bring him a pop gun, and a little auto. And bring him some candy, and fruit. His name is Ralph Craft, age 3 years.
And I also have a brother 8 years old. He wants you to bring him a air rifle. His name is Brady Craft. I thank you ever so much.

Winterville, N. C., Dec. 13.

Dear Old Santa:
I am writing you to tell you what I want this time. I want a doll with curly hair, cradle, bracelet and lots of fruit and candies. Do hope you can bring me everything I have asked you for.
With love,
—Lula Jane McLawhorn.

Winterville, N. C., Dec. 13.

Dear Santa Claus:
It is almost time for you to come to see us again. I want to tell you what I would like to have. I want a pretty doll, pull car, bracelet and lots of good things to eat.

With love,
—Helen Joyce McLawhorn

Town of Kinston To Bury Booster

Kinston, N. C., Dec. 17.—Bennie Smith, showman and town-booster who died here last week, will be buried this week, officials indicated, today. The Rockefeller Center in New York will not get his body, though Smith thought it would go to that institution.

Smith's hobby was singing the praises of Kinston, town of his adoption, as he followed circuses and carnivals over the country for more than twenty years. He happened to be here on a visit when he suffered a stroke and died. Occasionally he had money, but he died virtually penniless.

Officials have waited for relatives in the North to claim the elderly side show barker's body. But it appeared today that it would be buried at public expense. Officials have promised he will be buried "decently," and not in a pauper's grave.

United States Weather Bureau records for sixty-five years show the average winter snowfall in Norfolk, Va., is eight and a half inches.

SEEKS TO CUT FIRE LOSS HERE

Chief Urges Care In Use of Fireworks In City During The Holidays

With the ban being lifted on the shooting of fireworks in the city limits, George Gardner, chief of the local fire department, today called on the citizenship to be careful in exploding firecrackers and help cut the annual fire loss of the community.

Chief Gardner explained the loss so far this year is about half that of 1933, and with proper precaution during the holidays, he expressed hope the figure would remain unchanged.

The city aldermen at a previous session changed a former ruling forbidding the shooting of fireworks in the city by permitting their use in back yards. Dispensers of fireworks, who were selling their wares on the outskirts of the city, were permitted to come into town by paying the usual tax.

Public property is always threatened by the use of fireworks in the city, the fire chief warned this morning as he urged the public to be extremely careful in handling the explosives and to see that they do not set fire to anything.

It was explained that the city's fire loss at this time stands at half that of the previous year, and if the figure can be maintained, Chief Gardner was hopeful of providing the State with the lowest record for a city of this size.

Gardner said the warning was not issued in an effort to "cramp the style" of those who use fireworks in profusion during the holidays, but simply as an attempt to prevent the damage of property and possible loss of life.

President Andrew Johnson was a tailor for seven years before he learned the alphabet.

To Make Survey Of N. C. Jobless

Chapel Hill, Dec. 17.—Employing six research workers and a statistician, Dr. Harry D. Wolf of the University School of Commerce has begun, as executive chairman of the State Unemployed Insurance Commission, the task of assembling reports on a survey of the jobless in this State that he has been directing since last August.

When the data is complete, it will be presented, together with a bill providing a system of unemployment insurance, to the forthcoming General Assembly.

The bill to be presented is expected to specify preindical payments by both employers and employees into a general fund to be used to aid the workers in time of unemployment.

Such a bill was introduced at the 1933 session of the Legislature by Senator W. O. Burgin of Lexington, but it was deferred when Governor Ehringhaus appointed the commission on which Dr. Wolf is now serving.

Dr. Wolf will remain in Chapel Hill until the completion of the report. He outlined the forthcoming legislation in an address to the North Carolina Club recently.

I did not kill Osborne

SYNOPSIS: Molly O'Brien, Nicholas Trenek and Jerry Moradant are on the trail of a formula worth millions which has been stolen from Molly. They plan to search a deserted Essex factory. Meanwhile, Molly is at a hotel and Nick has visited his solicitor. When he returns to Jerry's flat a page boy he has befriended at Molly's hotel arrives with the information that she has suddenly been "taken ill" and removed. The boy has followed the car, and is telling Nick about the place to which she has been taken. Nick suspects foul play from the unscrupulous Peter Orloff, who also wants the formula.

Chapter 28 FAST WORK THE car was there in front of the second one, Jimmy continued, "and as I look round I see the doctor liftin' out the young lady. There was another bloke come down the steps to 'elp 'im—a whoppin' great feller 'e was too—bigger'n you, sir. They carries 'er inside between 'em, and shuts the door."

"They carries her inside," explained Jimmy.

"Well done, Jimmy!" I broke in. "You've got more sense and guts than ten ordinary boys." He flushed with pleasure. "Don't know how long it was I was waitin' there, sir. Seemed a bit of a time like, and then, just as it started rainin', out comes the doctor again and drives off in 'is car. The windows was all down and there didn't seem to be no one else about, so I thinks to meself—now's the time to 'ave a look round."

"Wharf Lane, sir—that's wot the street's called, and it turns outter Bishop's Terrace. There's a bridge over the canal just before you comes to it, and the water runs along at the back behind the builder's yard and the two 'ouses."

"DONE right!" I echoed. "By Heaven, Jimmy, I should think you had!" I took two or three paces up and down the hall—my mind working with feverish rapidity. Astonishing as the boy's story might be, his explanation was all too hideously plain. No matter how the drugging and kidnapping had been arranged, Molly was unquestionably in Orloff's hands. The house to which he had taken her was probably some obscure den belonging to himself.

Butler has been offered a contract to do a long-term broadcast series over station WCAU in Philadelphia with no restrictions on his subject matter—except for that profanity, of course.

Don't forget that Butler's latest claim to the front pages was a charge he had been offered Wall Street money to lead a fascist army on Washington. He will have opportunity to tell about that publicity this week before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Crossed: First casualty of the winter sports in Washington seems to be Secretary of War Dern. Dern was the man who started the idea General Douglas MacArthur should have a second term as Chief of Staff.

Th's columnist most certainly was not in the room but Army circles vow that some days later Dern and MacArthur had another meeting. As the General was leaving the Secretary said, in effect "I saw the President and everything is all set."

Regular: If any of you took this column's word that Rayburn-MacCormack ticket to be speaker and leader of the House was a good bet, please hedge it. Then come down to Washington and watch the campaign managers of Texas Sam Rayburn muttering to themselves. They had what they believed to be the best word possible that the Administration was going to take an indirect, but persuasive, hand in the fight. Vice President Garner came on from Texas and saw the President there after the Rayburn boom collapsed.

New York BY JAMES McMULLIN Licked: Chalk up one more conservative surrender to the New Deal. The Federal Reserve System as a whole has been eating out of the Treasury's hand for many months—but the government's efforts to push credit expansion have been hampered a bit by the attitude of certain bank executives and directors who have privately but stubbornly insisted on asserting their independence. Now this die-hard faction has hauled down its flag.

battle these to the final trench. Believing in preparedness, business leaders are wiggling all their private wires to tie down the administration in advance against such horrid treason. So far all they've gotten for their strenuous campaigning is polite but non-committal attention.

Out: The New York banks have done a nifty job of getting out from under their German commitments. The total amount they still hold is down to a paltry $178,000,000—roughly one-fifth of the load they once carried. They feel pretty chip per about it too. The feat has been accomplished by some of the fanciest financial sleight-of-hand on record—featuring intricate swaps of different kinds of marks and goods. Sometimes these swaps involved trade transactions in half a dozen different countries.

Minnesota used only nine plays to run roughshod over its 1934 football opponents.

The Whole Story Johnny had been the guest of honor at a party the da before and his friend was regarding him enviously. "How was it?" "Have a good time?" he asked. "Did it?" was the emphatic answer. "I ain't hungry yet!"

DRIVER DRUNK. SENT TO JAIL

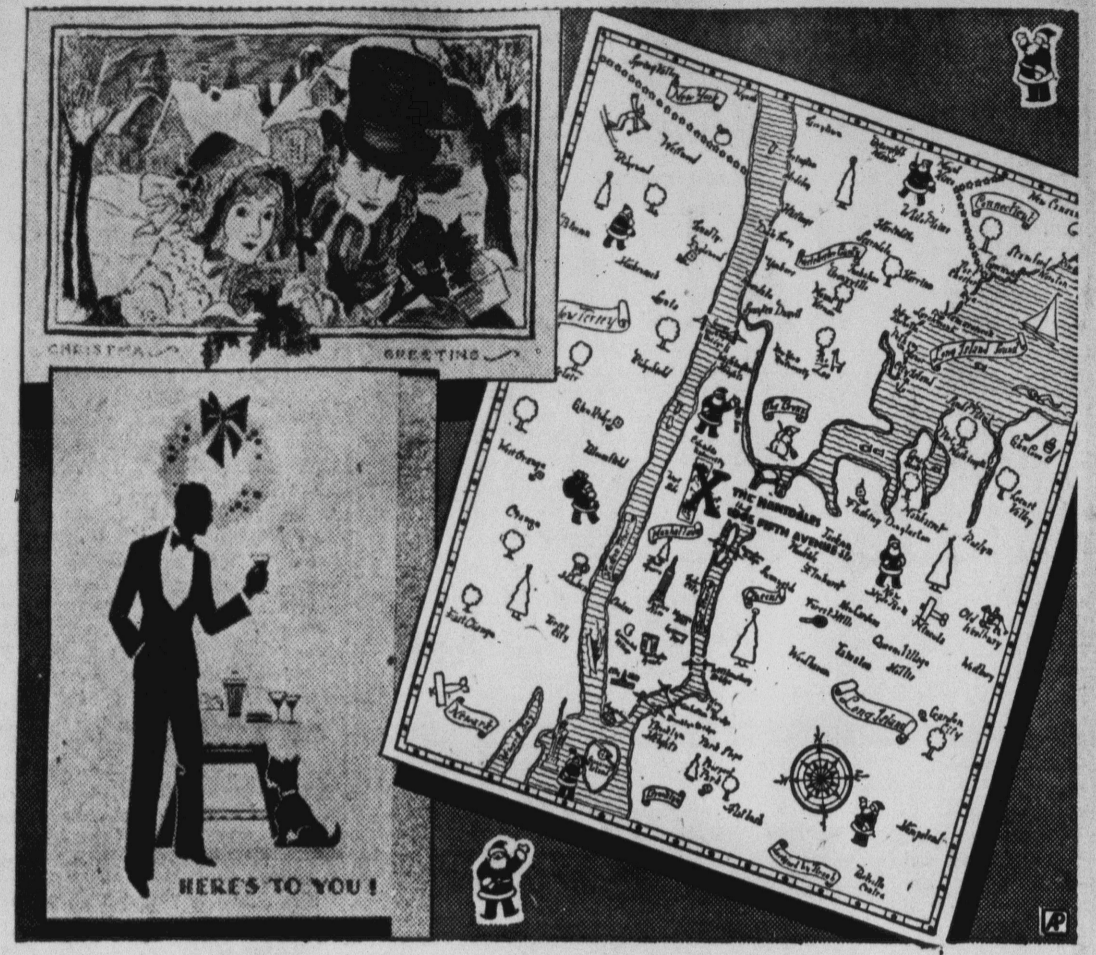

Lem Wilson, Colored, Faces County Court After Running Into Car Here

Lem Wilson, colored, charged with operating a car while drunk, and careless and reckless driving, was bound over to county court under $100 bond on preliminary hearing in police court here this morning. He was unable to provide bail and was remanded to jail.

Wilson allegedly drove his car into another machine owned by Frank Patrick, which was parked in front of the Dickinson Avenue branch of the Greenville Banking & Trust Co. Officers chased the negro a short distance and placed him under arrest.

Patrick's car was damaged only to a minor extent. Both city and county officers have declared war on drunken drivers here and the last several days has seen numbers bound over to county court on this charge. Reckless and careless drivers also are receiving considerable attention and like drunken drivers, numbers either have paid heavy fines and had their licenses revoked or found their way to the roads.

DEPRESSION AND REPEAL GET 'PLAY' IN LATEST CHRISTMAS CARD DESIGNS

New York—(AP)—Christmas cards are like styles—many of them change each year to keep up with the times. Thus say card salesmen, and this year they point to such notes in year-end greetings as the depression and repeal.

There are a good many such "timely" features as portrayed by those gentlemen who persevere in the summer to produce to big snow scenes and chery greetings of the winter.

But despite catchy new ideas, the old type cards, such as those showing the Yule log, Christmas carol singers or jolly stage coach scenes, remain ever popular. They are still sold by the thousands.

Race Horses Die In Toronto Fire; $60,000 Damage

Toronto, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Twenty-one race horses, including "Ladder" owned by Frank E. Selke, and "White Thorn" owned by Selke and Conn Smith, manager of the Toronto ice racing team, were killed today in a fire believed to have been of incendiary origin at Thorncliffe race track.

The fire broke out in two unoccupied stables and was extinguished with little damage. While firemen were at work a stable half a mile away was seen in flames. Neil McArthur, caretaker, said six fires were set in various parts of the track.

The 21 horses perished in the second fire discovered. Many rushed back into the flaming stables after being led to safety. Only one of the 21 was gotten safely away but it was so badly burned it had to be destroyed. The loss in stables and horses was estimated at $60,000.

Business Shows Pickup in U. S.

New York, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Business quickened its pace as it came to the home stretch of 1934 this week.

Retail trade was stimulated by favorable weather and reached the best levels in three or four years in many sections of the country, as the crest of the wave of Christmas buying approached.

Steel production continued its steady rise, reaching the best level since June. The weekly report of the movement of freight crossed the level of the corresponding period of 1933 for the first time in weeks. Electric power production reached another new high for nearly four years.

The spotty improvement in industrial operations of recent weeks seemed to be broadening, led by supplies, heating equipment, and building materials. Orders are gaining for shoes, and that industry is working out of its seasonal lull.

Plan Early Start School Program

Lenoir, Dec. 17.—Caldwell county's most ambitious school-building program in history may begin shortly after January 1 following approval by the Public Works Administration of five projects totalling around $180,000.

Included in the expansion of the present educational system are construction of a new 12-room elementary school building in Lenoir, a 12-room high school building at Granite Falls, remodeling of the Whitnell and Happy Valley schools, and additions to the colored high school here.

Tentative contracts for these projects were let several months ago, and in view of the fact that the money is now available, it is quite probable that work will begin within several weeks.

RIGID PRECAUTIONS TAKEN TO PREVENT CLASH IN SAAR AREA

(Continued from Page One) thirty members of a disciplinary force of the German front. The official version, said Justice, who was in civil clothes, believed he was in danger and fired a warning shot with his revolver. A man named Nuemeister was wounded in the stomach but not seriously.

The crowd set upon Justice and beat him badly. The Earl of Aylesford went to Justice's assistance and was thrown into the gutter, receiving a black eye. The fraulein said he had also struck on the head and beaten on the back.

A dominant new theme of this year's greetings is simplicity, salesmen have noted—and they peg it on the depression. There are not nearly so many calls for engraved cards, they say, even though these aren't any more expensive than some other types. Less formality, too. This year more persons are reported sending cards signed, for example, "John and Irene," instead of the formal "Mr. and Mrs."

Repeat struck a responsive note with the greeting card men. There are scenes of toasts to good health, and cheer—or maybe Santa Claus proclaiming "Here's How." Some card drafters, in fact, were inclined to let the wet theme be very wet.

Whether may—reading in connection with current war clouds had anything to do with it or not, the map idea popped onto the greetings counter.

"X marks," says the front of one card. In the fold is printed "A Merry Christmas," and on the inside is a map. You're supposed to put an "X" on the approximate spot where you live.

Dog Cards, Too The speed idea crept in in the form of Christmas cards made up like huge telegrams. To add a dash of interest, the telegram was in the form of a rebus, with the recipient supposed to figure out a part of the writing through wishbones, pictures of Santa Claus, and other seasonal sketches.

The airplane idea continued in evidence, at times replacing Santa's time-honored reindeer. More humor was a dominant note—another result of the depression, said sales people. Buyers wanted something to laugh over.

One ever-popular idea, salesmen say, is dog cards. Every person having a cherished canine seems to want a Christmas card with a dog's picture.

"five" allowance under the famous 5-5-3 ratio. Japan, however, has built or is building new ships almost to the last ton permitted her under the "three" ratio figures indicated.

Rob Alabama Bank Sylacauga, Ala., Dec. 17.—(AP)—Two bandits with their faces striped with adhesive plaster as a mask today help up the National Bank of Sylacauga and took approximately $16,000, but in their haste got only about half of a pile of currency lying on the counter.

The bank had just opened for business when these pair entered the rear door and the interior of the bank and with a sub-machine gun and sawed-off shotguns ordered everyone to lie face down on the floor.

Six customers joined five employees in stretching out on the floor, and as one of the pair menaced them with his gun, the other hurriedly snatched the pile of bills on the counter.

The paid then backed out of the building, dropping currency as they fled.

Holds Song Private Property. Washington, Dec. 17.—(AP)—That celebrated song dear to the heart of railroad men "The Wreck of Old 97" was held today by the Supreme Court to be the property of David Graves George of Detroit, the author.

Hence, the court held, he can recover from the Victor Talking Machine Company on profits it has made on the song.

The song recounted efforts of a Southern Railway engineer on a passenger and mail train to make the trip from Lynchburg to Danville on time and uphold the finest traditions of the service.

Traveling at the greatest speed his engine would make in those days—it was in 1903—the train plunged from a trestle near Danville and six or seven persons, most of them railroad employes, were killed. George who was employed at a railway pumping station at Franklin Junction, Va., visited the scene of the wreck the next day and was inspired to write the song commemorating it.

Sees Threat of Naval Race. Washington, Dec. 17.—(AP)—The threat of a costly naval race among the sea powers drew closer today as the capitol awaited Japan's formal notice that it would abrogate the Washington limitations treaty.

On Tuesday, or soon thereafter after Hori Saito, Japanese ambassador, is expected unless unforeseen developments occur, to deliver to the State Department the official words that Japan intends to abrogate the treaty on December 31, 1936.

Saito said that he had not yet been instructed to take this step. When he does and word of his call on Secretary of State Hull has been flashed to London the tri-nations talk that has been designed to smooth the way for the 1935 naval conference are expected to end automatically.

The London naval treaty automatically expires December 31, 1936, and Japan's abrogation of the Washington pact means that beginning January 1, 1937 there will be no international agreement limiting naval strength. American officials said the United States and Great Britain have not built up to the
