NEW COLD WAVE PREDICTED FOR UNITED STATES

FEDERAL INVESTIGATORS START INQUIRY INTO MOHAWK DISASTER

46 PERSONS DEAD AS THE PROBE BEGINS

Relatives Complete Identification of 34 Known Dead; 12 Persons Still Missing; Washington Officials Hasten to New York to Question Survivors; Morehead City Man Among Those Dead

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Federal investigators steeped in the knowledge of the sea and ships opened with unusual alacrity today a deep-reaching investigation into the Mohawk disaster in which 46 persons lost their lives.

As relatives completed identification of the 34 known dead, twelve persons still were missing, Washington officials hastened here to question survivors of the collision between the chartered Ward liner and the Norwegian freighter Talsman.

The officials were informed eleven of the Mohawk's passengers and crew rescued before she sank. Fifteen passengers and thirty members of the crew were frozen to death in the frigid waters on the Jersey coast.

Thirty-nine frozen bodies were recovered by coast guardmen and were brought here last night to the Bellevue Hospital morgue.

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Otto A. Reams, of Morehead City, N. C., today was listed officially as among the dead in the Mohawk disaster. He was third assistant engineer of the vessel.

FORMER NAVY HEAD IS DEAD

Admiral Robert Coontz Dies After Heart Attack at Bremerton, Wash.

Bremerton, Wash., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Admiral Robert Coontz, 70, retired former commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, died here this morning after suffering a heart attack.

It was the fourth of a series of attacks the Admiral had suffered in recent months.

The Admiral had been under treatment for more than two months at the Pudget Sound Navy Yards Hospital here.

BEGGING RACKET DIVIDING UP CITY FOUND IN VIENNA

Vienna.—(AP)—Vienna has become one of the worst places in the world for beggars with men, women and children, half-naked and barefooted, kneeling on the cold pavement in supplication to pedestrians.

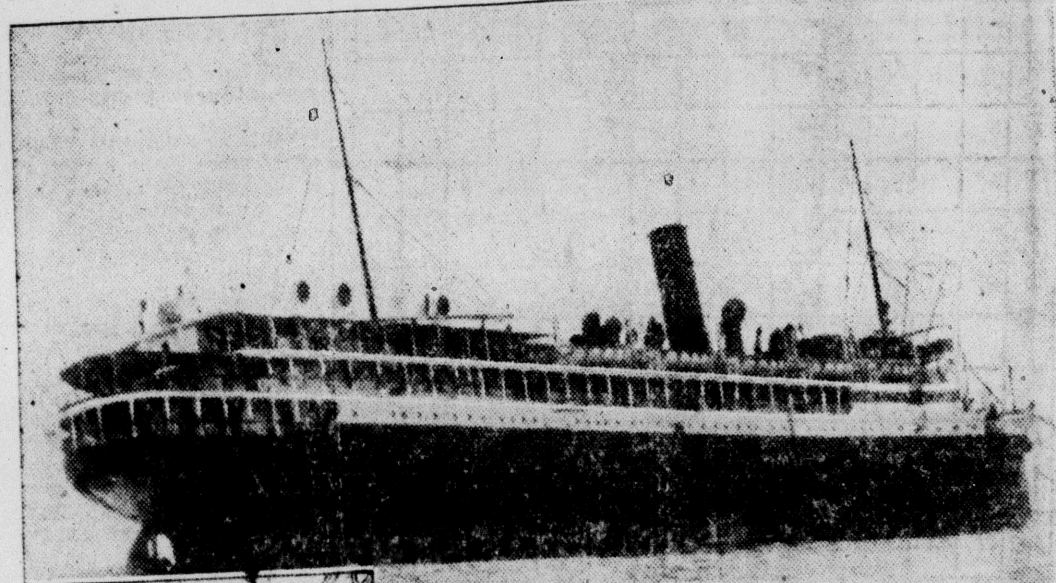

The beggars show more originality and enterprise than mendicants in other countries. In order to excite pity and coax the reluctant penny from passersby, many of them rent babies by the day at so much per head.

The police recently discovered an organization of "master beggars" who controlled the business in Vienna, and who rented out different areas in the capital to more humble mendicants, at so much per week.

MITTEN SLEEVES WORN BY COMTESSE

Paris.—(AP)—The Comtesse de Chambure attended a smart gathering recently wearing a long slender gown of black velvet with light mitten sleeves, topped by a three-quarter length cape of the same material. Her jewelry were diamond bracelets, diamond clips in the corners of the décolleté and one ring set with an immense pearl.

TWO DEAD, 44 MISSING IN SHIP COLLISION

Two seamen were known to have perished and 44 people were unaccounted for after the collision of the chartered Ward liner Mohawk and the freighter Talsman in rough seas off the New Jersey coast. The Mohawk, which sank rapidly after the crash, is shown above. After heroic work, numerous rescue vessels accounted for all on board save the two seamen, who were crushed to death by the collision, and 14 passengers and 30 members of the crew. The accident occurred five miles off Sea Girt, N. J., which is indicated by arrow on the map. (Associated Press Photo)

Driver's License Bill May Pass As Drawn

Raleigh, Jan. 26.—The stringent driver's license bill, formulated by a special sub-committee of the committee on roads, will likely be passed in its original form. That is the opinion of most observers here after watching closely legislative sentiment and taking into consideration the state-wide demand for a halt in the mounting death rate on the highways of North Carolina. The bill, as conceived by the sub-committee and formally drawn by Charles Whedbee, legislative advisor to the Governor and former member of the Highway Commission, will doubtless be accepted by the roads committee. Passage by the House and Senate is virtually conceded to be almost a matter of routine.

Significant is the fact that the department which will administer the law is designated by a blank. This probably means that the Highway Department, which is now under the Revenue Department, will be transferred to the Highway Department, because enforcement of the act is vested with the patrol. This means also that the patrol will be increased. The present setup, which keeps only about 50 men actually on the roads, will be unable to enforce the law. The patrol is expected to number about 200 men as a result of legislation to be enacted along that line.

Contrary to the Governor's recommendation, the bill will require private car operators to pay one dollar for a license, the license to be good for an indefinite period at no additional cost. Chauffeurs and drivers of cabs "for hire" will be required to pay a two-dollar fee an-

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

County chairman of political parties would be barred from running for public office if Senator Allbrook, of Halifax, has his way about it. In fact, he has introduced a bill to that effect in the Legislature. By reason of their position, county chairmen have a voice in the naming of registrars and other precinct officials, and, according to Senator Allbrook and others not so outspoken about it, therefore stand a more than fair chance of election when they are candidates in a primary. The Allbrook measure is a local one, applicable only to Halifax County. It isn't thought, however, that many attempts to jump on the "band wagon" will be made by other legislators when and if the bill reaches the floor of the Assembly. It has been pointed out that many of them don't care to cross legislative swords with their county chairmen. Local politics are—well, local politics, and so who can say more?

The motors on all those reduced automobile-license-tax bills will be too cold to get them very far, if the opinion of experienced legislative observers is worth anything. The strength of so bill was parked on the lot of the senate roads committee by Senator Browning, of Swain county.

The Browning bill would reduce

News Behind The News.

Washington By GEORGE BURNO
1936 If you are after a government job don't fool around with your Senator or Congressman.

See your Democratic State Chairman. Henceforth, if Boss Distributor Jim Farley has his way, state committees are going to have the say in naming the fortunate who enter the Who's Who of Federal Patronage.

Big Jim, as National Chairman, has notified Democrats in both House and Senate he would like to see the New York system adopted in every State, explaining that the business of clearing everything through the State Committee has worked admirably there and would help national headquarters immensely in doling out the plums to the proper people.

Farley, of course, is out to build up an airtight organization for 1936—and it may well be he is looking as far ahead as 1940.

Whether his Democratic comrades in Congress are going to acquiesce is something else again.

No new legislation was introduced. The Senate did not consider any measures, but the House passed a handful of local bills. Regular session will be resumed Monday night.

NEGRO KILLER SENT TO PRISON

Thurman Spain Given 10 to 15 Years For The Slaying of Charlie Stanley

Thurman Spain, 24-year-old negro of the Belvoir community, pleaded guilty to second degree murder in yesterday's session of criminal court and was sentenced to from 10 to 15 years in State's prison. The negro was alleged to have shot and killed another colored man by the name of Charlie Stanley, as Stanley was keeping company with Spain's wife. Spain was ordered held without bond for action by the grand jury. A murder indictment was returned by the grand jury during the first of the week.

Several other defendants found their way either to prison or the roads after court disposed of the Herman Evans murder case yesterday afternoon. The cases involved charges of larceny and the handling of whiskey.

Several defendants charged with robbery and receiving stolen goods in connection with the robbery of Taft's Furniture Store here sometime ago, found their way to the roads.

They were: Johnnie Allen, 18 months on the roads; Preston Hawkins, six months on the roads;

B. A. Chadwick, fined $100; Alex Dupree, fined $50; Tom McKinney, colored, of the Farmville community, charged with possession of whiskey for the purpose of sale, was sentenced to eight months at county home.

COMMISSION DISTRICTS ARE OPPOSED HERE

Tax Relief Association Protests Creation of Five Districts in Pitt

The Pitt County Tax Relief Association today filed a vigorous protest with Pitt County members of the General Assembly against the proposal to subdivide the county into five commissioner districts so that each section of the county would be represented on the board.

The move for the subdivisions was started at the Democratic convention here last June when a committee was named to prepare appropriate resolutions to be presented to the county members of the Legislature. The committee met several days ago, prepared the resolutions, and filed them with the legislators.

Under provisions of the proposed legislation would put out a candidate for the board of commissioners and each candidate would be voted upon by the entire county. The commissioners in the past have been elected from the county at large.

The Relief Association bases its protest on the fact that the proposed change "was not an issue in the last campaign and that the people have had no opportunity to express themselves on the matter."

"If," said the protest, "the proponents are prompted by desire to have each section of the county represented, as stated, they should advocate one commissioner from each township."

The protest, filed by Judge F. M. Woten, attorney for the association, follows:

"Hon. A. B. Corey, State Senator, Raleigh, N. C.; Hon. M. O. Blount, House of Representatives, Raleigh, N. C.; Hon. J. H. Hill Paylor, House of Representatives, Raleigh, N. C.

"Dear Sirs: The executive committee of Pitt County Tax Relief Association has directed the following protests against subdividing Pitt County into five commissioner districts be filed with you. The reasons are:

"(1) Pitt County has for 175 years functioned as an unit through its Board of County Commissioners elected from the County at large. That it is one of the best counties in the State from every view point. That it is not in default, yet advocates of the change cite a county in default, Wake as an example to be followed by Pitt.

"(2) Since this association has become active in political matters in Pitt County, taxes have been reduced 33-1-3 per cent. Prior to this association's activities no effort was made to change the fundamental organization of the board of county commissioners. Since such activities, this proposed subdivision

GANG LEADER SEIZED TODAY

Claude Maddox, Named as Participant in St. Valentine's Day Massacre

Chicago, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Claude Maddox, recently reported in a confession by Bryon Bolton as one of the six men involved in the St. Valentine's Day massacre of 1929, was seized early today by squads from the detective bureau at his home in suburban Berwyn.

He was taken to central police station for questioning by chief of detectives, John Sullivan. Bolton held in St. Paul on a charge of complicity in the $200,000 kidnaping of Edward Bremer, was reported earlier this week to have confessed that he acted as the "trigger man" in the massacre which wiped out seven members of the George "Bugs" Moran gang in a North Side garage.

HAUPTMANN WILL FORTIFY HIS DEFENSE

Kidnap and Murder Defendant Expects Terrific Assault From State Monday

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann fortified his defense today while the prosecution raked up new ammunition for its savage attack to his denial that he kidnaped and killed the Lindbergh baby.

Court was in recess but it was only an armed truce as the defendant studied his stock trading records to account for his affluence after the $50,000 ransom was paid and as his lawyers went to inspect his home in the Bronx and as State's attorneys studied weak points in his defense.

"He is vulnerable—very vulnerable," said Attorney General David Wilentz. "It seems the attorney general is trying to get me excited," said the defendant.

"All I can say is that he will try a lot harder. I am on to that because I have been told how the prosecution lawyers act. I just won't work. It is no use."

Although Hauptmann appeared shaken when he left the stand yesterday he voiced satisfaction with the impression he made on the eight men and four women who hold his life in their hands.

States attorney expressed confidence that the search, lengthy cross examination it mapped for Monday would leave Hauptmann a discredited witness, his alibi riddled.

Throughout the defendant's direct examination the prosecution lawyers and the various experts carefully noted each weak point. It is with these notes that Wilentz will work Monday.

Hauptmann was spending the week-end recess preparing for the clash in which he can expect no quarters.

The lean Hauptmann turned accented again. He studied his financial records because the state will try to show the jury that the Lindbergh record of finances showed Hauptmann's stock manipulations.

Cross and redirect examination appeared certain to keep him on the stand all day.

Late News Flashes

Grand Jury To Probe PWA.—Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Prompted by information supplied by Secretary Ickes, a special grand jury today was summoned to meet February 6 to investigate charges of graft in the PWA.

U. S. Attorney Lewis Garnett who issued the call, said the inquiry would analyze specifically one project of four million dollars in Texas. It will be the first special grand jury here since the Fall-Delany oil cases.

Ickes who as PWA head has been much criticized on capital hill and would say only that "a long and careful study of the Texas project" a full report for such action as they deem proper to take."

Other PWA officials declined to disclose the projects on which the graft is alleged to have occurred but admitted Lewis Glavis, Ickes' investigator, has been in Texas three or four times within the last six weeks and had probed the case before the report was given to Garnett.

BELOW ZERO TEMPERATURE IS PREDICTED

Toll of Death Continues to Mount in Mississippi Delta Where Flood Waters Here; Eastern Counties of New York Still Busy Digging Out From Blizzard; Pennsylvania Also Affected

(By The Associated Press) Winter apparently was getting ready for another blow at the nation just recovering from a wintry assault which left two hundred dead. A brief period of respite, eased as temperatures declined throughout the Northern States and in the Canadian plains Friday night and much colder weather that may reach 10 below zero in the northeast for the week-end.

Hardest hit by the week's vagaries, the South counted 18,000 homeless in floods in the north Mississippi delta region, 21 dead in Mississippi, five in Tennessee, and one in Arkansas.

Relief workers feared the total might rise. Rain along the Pacific Coast turned to snow flurries in the North Plain States.

Eastern counties of New York and Pennsylvania still were digging out from a 40-hour blizzard that began Tuesday, and today faced more snowfalls and colder weather. Sunday, a condition that the Weather Bureau said would be general in the East.

PROCTOR SENT TO THE ROADS

Mattie Moore, Proctor's Paramour, Held For Attempt to Shoot Him

H. H. "Scrap" Proctor was sentenced to sixty days on the county roads for being drunk and disorderly in the regular session of police court here this morning.

He was given thirty days on one charge and a similar sentence in the second.

Mattie Moore, described by police as Proctor's paramour, was bound over to county court under bond of $200 on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and carrying a concealed weapon, after she allegedly took a shot at Proctor shortly before his arrest. She was said to have caught Proctor in the company of another woman and opened fire without doing any damage to her lover.

She was unable to give bail and was remanded to jail to await trial in county court next Tuesday morning.

Lindsay Woolard, colored, was bound over to county court on a charge of illegal possession of liquor for the purpose of sale. He was unable to raise bond of $100 and was remanded to jail to await trial.

Several other minor cases were disposed of in the hour and a half session of the court, which was presided over by Mayor R. C. Fanagan. Each of the defendants in the principal cases were transferred from the city jail to the county bastille after receiving hearing before the mayor.

Committees Completing Plans for Roosevelt Ball Here Night Of January 30

Plans were nearing completion here today for the Roosevelt Ball to be given in the Campus building of East Carolina Teachers College on the night of January 30, it was reported today by members of the committee on arrangements.

The ball will be one of the most brilliant ever given in this community, the committee reported, and will be more elaborate than that last year.

The object of the dance is to raise funds for sufferers from infantile paralysis. It received quite a boost from proceeds of last year's dance. In addition to splendid music to be provided by a broadcasting orchestra of Charlotte, President Roosevelt will deliver a brief talk over the radio expressing appreciation to the various communities of the nation for assisting him to carry relief to suffering humanity.

Ticket sales are reported favorably from the various communities of the county, and the chairman are confident their respective communities will send large crowds to the ball. Numbers of tickets has been sold at premiums as citizens attempt to express their appreciation of the movement in behalf of humanity. It was believed attendance on the basis of these reports would be much larger than last year.

Members of the committee are eager to make the ball as successful as possible, and everybody is urged to be on hand to help realize the ambition.

Lawrence, but some of the Pennsylvania House delegation don't think so much of the idea. They have visions of not being able to pick their own postmasters and such many more.

The boys are grumbling that of course the system works well in New York because Parley happens to be the whole works there and can tell himself whom to appoint.

Democratic Governors also are suspicious of the move. They want to get into the picture a bit more clearly than they are now.

Big Jim denies all ulterior motives. He says he just wants things fixed so national headquarters can tell at a glance how each county in each state is faring in the matter of jobs—too much or too little.

SCRAMBLE: Proponents of Senator Copeland's revised food and drug bill are apprehensive that the medicine people and food packers once again are going to prevent any legislation at all.

Those demanding "a bill with teeth" charge that the affected interests are deliberately muddling the situation by having four or five other bills introduced, each with different provisions and much milder than, say, Prof. Rex Tugwell would desire. The grocers have one in, the proprietary medicine people have one, and so on.

Meanwhile opponents of the Copeland bill are stirring up jealousy between the Department of Agriculture, which controls the Food and Drug Administration, and the Federal Trade Commission. Ewin Davis, new chairman of the Trade Commission, is of the opinion that the Food and Drug Administration is seeking control of advertising which belongs with his agency.

SAAR: Uncle Sam has a $3,000,000 interest in the return of the Saar to Germany about which he may have to speak a piece in protest.

Americans hold bonds of Saar municipalities to about that amount. The State Department is now waiting to see whether Her Hitler will decide upon the moratorium Germany declared last year.

If he does well make a strong protest, but similar noises haven't done much good in the past.

VALIDITY: The fate of the new NRA—and the present NRA, too—hangs upon the Supreme Court. It will pass upon the case of William E. Belcher, lumberman charged with violating the lumber code provisions as to wages and hours. Judge Croub of Alabama held NRA unconstitutional on several grounds and dismissed the indictment against Belcher.

The business members of the NRA board think the law should be re-enacted without change, subject to Supreme Court decisions that may come down meanwhile. They say it's too soon to shape up a permanent law.

Everything indicates that NRA authorities will mark time while the high court is considering the Belcher case, upon which hangs the validity of the codes and the power of Congress to make violation of them a crime.

New York PRIVATE: Relaxation of registration requirements won't stop stop corporations from ducking the Securities Act by selling their obligations direct to small groups of investing institutions. The style set by the Standard Oil Companies of New Jersey and New York has too many attractive features. It avoids all question of liability and is much cheaper for companies whose credit rating makes their bonds an interesting investment. Insurance companies and banks are glad to participate because it gives them first shot at the cream of the crop.

The Wretched Wig

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Q. Crow now went to his nest. He would get the wig and take it back while the man was asleep, just as he had taken it from there in the first place.

He would put it somewhere in the room so that the old man would think that he had mislaid it. In that way he, Christopher, would not be blamed, and he would have played a prank on the man who had been so mean to him and who had wished all crows to be destroyed, including Christopher.

But as Christopher flew into his nest the hair of the wig caught in Christopher's feet.

"Oh, dear, I was working to quickly," said Christopher to himself.

"I had no such trouble when I picked it off his head and carried it here in my beak. True, one hair did tickle my throat, so that I wanted to cough, but I managed all right."

Christopher tried to disentangle himself from the wig but he only became more entangled than ever.

"This will never do," Christopher thought. "If I tear it he'll be quite certain that I took it."

Slowly now Christopher tried to free his feet from the wig, but without luck.

Nor did Christopher dare move very much for fear he would completely ruin it.

Hours were passing now and Christopher's feet were more entangled than ever. Would morning come before Christopher could finish this job? "I'm a miserable crow," he thought forlornly.

Monday—Just In Time

staring investment bankers and deprives the public of Grade A investments. The Securities and Exchange Commission doesn't like it at all but seems powerless unless the law is changed. It has no jurisdiction over private transactions. However, insiders predict an effective attack from the rear if the SEC can enlist the cooperation of state banking and insurance authorities to bust up the game.

Such authorities might be persuaded to feel that institutions under their wing had put too many eggs in one basket. The investors have to take large blocks of a single security. In that case the state might order a resale to diversify investments—and resale would be impossible without restriction. There's the further angle that state supervision like their charges to keep liquid—and unregistered securities certainly can't be called that.

A little teamwork along these lines could make this private-sale inspiration look a lot less brilliant.

WORRY: The New York banks are terribly, terribly hurt. Ever since deposit insurance became law they've been clamoring for fixed premiums so they'd know the exact amount of their obligation. Now the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has obliged—by designating one-eighth of 1 per cent of total deposits as a suitable figure.

This wasn't the big fellows' idea at all. They have a small proportion of insured deposits to total deposits in one case it amounts to only 2 per cent—and this system hooks them for the small banks.

In some instances they would be paying more than ten times the premium now in effect.

So the agitation starts all over—this time for premiums based on insurance deposits. It won't get to first base—because it would transfer an unbearable load to the little fellows. The eventual solution will probably be a compromise—but mean while the financial Titans have something new to fret about.

EFFECTS: Deferred action by the Supreme Court in the gold cases has given New York a chance for calm appraisal of what an adverse ruling would mean. The informed are in general agreement that the effects would be disturbing but not devastating. Any damage that might be done would be psychological and temporary. There would be genuine cause for alarm if the government's monetary policy were actually at stake—but it isn't.

The power of Congress after the value of the dollar is not in question. It's purely a matter of whether private and public contracts can be abrogated. Even if the Court says no it would easily be possible to rush through legislation which would restore the status quo—and it's a safe bet that the government is fully prepared for such a contingency.

Authorities say there's no reason why stocks (except mining stocks) should be much affected in any case. They've been selling right along on an earnings basis and have never discounted devaluation. The same is largely true of commodities except for metals.

It's true there are some bearish rumors in circulation. They have all the earmarks of being inspired in order to influence the market. Investors suggest it might be ortho Joe Kennedy's hile to track them down.

Montana Romance

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS

SYNOPSIS: The Montana Kid has come into Mexico, disguised as a Mexican, to help Miguel Santos and his brother Pascual fight the emerald crown of Our Lady from the Governor of Durango, who stole it from the church. Roberto is at a friend's house in Durango, and Montana is at an inn, trying to bring Roberto to help him. Roberto runs away after she shows her much money, but Montana tells Miguel Santos, her father, that she will return.

Chapter 14 THE STRING

SANTOS got up and stumped from the room. "Shall I sleep here?" asked Montana.

"If you dare," answered Miguel Santos. "And I'll send out a man to take care of your horse."

When he got to the door he paused and said: "Jose, I believe that you are coming to steal the emeralds. I believe you want them for the bishop and not for your own pocket. I believe that you took that gold all away from a gringo gambler. I believe that you are a very brave and clever man. And yet still you are a great liar!"

After that, he went out, followed by the bow which Montana had risen to give to his host.

Now that he was perfectly alone, the Kid drew out of his pocket a small ball of very thin, hard twine. From the lower hinge of the open door he tied it across to the bottom of a chair. After that, he sat down at the table, with his back turned squarely to the door, and took up a scrap of paper on which he wrote:

"Rosita, why are you angry? Your good wishes I could never buy; but time and trouble and a little danger should be paid for. I suppose that you will send me one now, big and proved and strong, to see whether he or I ought to be wearing this suit of yellow leather with all the silver spangles scattered over it."

"Besides, if he wants an extra reward after drawing the blood or the brains out of me, he can pick up the five hundred dollars from the table and the floor. By his size and his strength, I shall know how much you value me. I sit here, therefore, and pray that he may be very big. No matter how much he may frighten me, therefore—he will also make me smile."

Something fainter than the sound of a heartbeat stirred on the stairs outside the house.

The pencil of the Kid ran on swiftly. "But if he changes his mind about taking me away, how long will it be before you come yourself through the open door, Rosita?"

He had written to that point when he heard the noise of a caught breath, like a grunt of effort, and he whirled from the table with a gun in his hand in time to see a huge fellow with a convulsed face sprawling forward in midair, a knife shining in his outstretched hand.

The chair was groaning forward along the floor. He must have leaped from the doorway to get at the stranger and drive the knife home between the shoulder blades.

AS he struck, face down, flatlings on the floor, the barrel of Montana's gun rang loudly on his skull. The big man pulled up his legs and straightened them again slowly, with a shudder. Then he lay still.

Montana turned him on his back. He was no common man. Murder must have paid him very well in times past, and he had put on a superior smile in the twist of his long mustache. In the close fit and the pull of his jacket, and the cotton silk of the sash which he wore around his waist.

There was only a dash too much of the brute in his face. Otherwise he was a good-looking fellow. And he was big enough to have stepped on a horse as another man might step on a pony.

He had a good, new revolver as well as the knife. Montana took the weapons. Also he took a pin used at the throat of the man's shirt, because it was garished with two big rubies. By this time the Mexican had begun to stir. In half a second he aroused from complete oblivion to cat-quick life, and leaped to his feet.

"Sit down, friend," said the Kid. "Rosita will want to see what you've done."

"Witchcraft!" said the stranger, with one hand on his bumped head and the other at his throat.

"Not witchcraft. Only a piece of string," said Montana. "There it is, string," said the stranger, only now to find that cities should only pay 7-8 per cent of PWA money pay far—ever, if a thousand other Mayors chide in. There may be some reduction—but not below what the Treasury has to pay.

The President is too dangerous. It's like the idea of cancelling the interest on bonus loans. Once you do that it invites other debtors, such as farmers—to ask why the heck they should pay interest. It would take a regiment of super-geniuses to straighten out the ensuing arguments.

SCHOOL TEACHERS who have taught in the schools of the state for 30 years or more, who are 60 years old and no longer able to engage in their profession, would be entitled to draw a pension of $25 a month from the state under the terms of a bill introduced in the house Friday by Representative C.

METALS: World gold output in 1934 is estimated at 26,400,000 ounces—the largest on record. Silver production was about 181,000,000 ounces, against a peak of 262,000,000 in 1929. The United States contributed 3,675,000 ounces of the gold and 31,394,000 ounces of the silver.

He was admitted to the North Carolina State Bar in August, 1933, and is now connected with the legal department of the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, S. C. He is a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Spell will be at home, 1815 Senate St., Columbia, S. C.

Immanuel Baptist Circles To Meet. The circles of the Woman's Missionary Society of Immanuel Baptist Church will meet in the church Monday afternoon at 3:30. Every member is urged to attend.

Spain "Holding His Own." Frank Spain, 17-year-old Grimesland young man, injured in an automobile collision near Greenville the middle of the week, was reported as "holding his own" at the local hospital today. He continued unconscious. He is suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries.

John Simpson, riding in the car which collided with the one of which Spain was an occupant, also sustained a fractured skull and broken leg, but is expected to recover.

American Legion Auxiliary To Meet. The American Legion Auxiliary will meet at 3:30 Monday afternoon with Mrs. H. C. Sugg on East Fifth street. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. J. L. Horne, Mrs. Hubert Joyner, Mrs. J. H. Rose and Mrs. Frank Bendall.

Mrs. Norfleet McDowell, vice-president of the fifth area, will be present and speak to the members. A large attendance is urged. Members are requested to bring old hose, silk or knit underthings, wool or silk rags, as these are being collected and sent to Oteen. Patients who are able to do this work will dye and knit them into rugs, knitting bags and other articles. Their supply is very low at this time and the Auxiliary is urged to collect a shipment to be sent at an early date.

Literature Department Meets. The Literature Department of the Woman's Club met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. H. Pitts at her home on Fifth street, Mrs. Charles Horne, chairman, presiding.

The program opened as usual with interesting current events.

It was definitely decided that this department of the club would sponsor a Fine Arts Festival to be held perhaps in April, free to the public. The object of this festival would be to bring together in one or two days all the artistic work produced in the community. It was suggested that an exhibit of paintings might be brought here from other places in addition to exhibits of the best work from the city schools, local needlework and fancy work in the Garden Club might provide an artistic arrangement of flowers. A contest in poems, short stories and one-act plays was also suggested. The Little Theatre Guild and the Choral Club would be asked to cooperate.

Mrs. W. A. Ryan read a most delightful and entertaining paper on Mahatma Gandhi and told us how he had earned his title "Mahatma" which in India, a land of many peoples, consider him to be a saint or prophet. This son of a sutured Hindu parent has an uncanny genius for unifying great masses of people. While there have been glaring inconsistencies in Gandhi's life, the sincerity of his purpose and the vastness of what he has tried to do for India are generally recognized.

Mrs. Ryan, in her most interesting and informative paper, limited herself to two phases of the Hindu mystic's life and ably elaborated upon them: his ardent desire for national independence, which made him India's hero and his recognition of "untouchables" in common life which weakened his political force in India. In closing, Mrs. Ryan left us with the moot question of whether or not Gandhi too is a spent force among his countrymen.

Following the program, Mrs. Pitts assisted by Misses Lucile Turner, Lucile Charlton, Ruth Falson and Mrs. O. G. Guiley, served a delicious frozen salad course with hot tea.

Salvage Company Begins Liquidating Sale Here Today. The "Change of Business Sale" got under way at the Greenville Salvage Company this morning, and hundreds of people swarmed the building throughout the day seeking to take advantage of the many bargains offered.

Curtis Perkins, owner and operator of the Salvage Company announced that he would liquidate his tremendous stock of goods immediately. This is done, he said, so that he may enter upon an entirely different business career.

The sale is being conducted by C. H. Schaut, well known sales expert, who has had the store closed the last three days making arrangements for the sale.

After conducting a salvage sale of good saved from a fire which wrecked his clothing store several years ago, Mr. Perkins decided to enter the salvage store field. Since that time he has purchased large stocks of goods from bankrupt firms and offered for sale to his customers at low prices. He has made a fine record in this field, but his desire to enter the new field causes him to take this step to liquidate his stock in the sale starting this morning and continuing until the stock has been sold out.

This makes two contests. But any group desiring to enter one contest only may do so. Costumes will be made and worn. Boys may be invited to help if needed. This contest will be held in Greenville the night of April 12.

Germans Build U-Boats Overriding Peace Treaty. Paris—AP—Charges that Germany is rebuilding her once dreaded submarine fleet have caused a stir in French government circles.

Because of the devastating damage to allied shipping and the accompanying great loss of life wrought by the "U-boats" in the World War, the peace treaty specifically denied Germany the right to launch even a single submarine.

Now French naval experts say that three classes of submarines are finished or under construction. They assert that forty of them will fly the swastika by spring.

Although France has more than seventy underwater craft, the German traditional skill in designing submarines is considered here as balancing France's numerical advantage.

The whole German sea strength is being restored, Paris has heard and the French, jittery over reports of the Reich's re-arming on land and in the air, are made even more nervous by contemplation of a new German fleet.

Roger Farjon, senate reporter for the navy budget, first helped focus public attention on the subject when he told the senate that Hitler's government had laid the keel of a battleship which would be larger than the limit set by the Versailles pact.

French Cruisers Outclassed. The German 10,000-ton "pocket battleships," of which three are in commission with a fourth soon to be laid down, caused France to build her battleship Dunkerque, of much heavier tonnage. Now the newest German light cruisers are said to outclass comparable ships in the French fleet.

The "Nurnberg" sixth light cruiser allowed Germany by the treaty, has just been launched at Kiel. French experts admit she can steam five knots faster than the "Jeanne de Vienne," and her sister ships in the French squadrons.

The "Nurnberg" however, is only 600 tons as prescribed by the treaty, while the French are 7,729. The resultant fuel saving for the German ships, it is pointed out, give it a great advantage. Both classes carry nine 6-inch guns.

See Threat To Commerce. The new German light cruisers are viewed as potentially powerful commerce raiders. The "Nurnberg" has a cruising radius of more than 7,000 miles at 14.5 knots. Her machinery is partly geared turbines and partly Diesel engines.

Besides the "Nurnberg's" sister ships, "Emden," "Koenigsberg," "Karlsruhe," "Kohn" and "Leipzig," Germany, under the treaty, may build two more as reserves.

Other comparisons mention twelve powerful destroyers in the German service and state that the whole fleet personnel numbers 4,300 officers and 24,000 men, although the maximum set at Versailles embraced 1,500 officers and 15,000 men.

The French naval establishment counts 4,000 officers and 55,000 men. While this virtually doubles the reported German strength, the French believe that most of Hitler's sailors like enlisted men in the regular army, are trained to become officers at a moment's notice.

But for the moment the submarine question is causing the most shivers to course French spines, largely because of the detailed figures which accompany the reports from this country's naval experts.

The first submarine class of which the French say Germany has completed fourteen, are said to be of 1,800 tons each, with speeds of 20 knots on the surface and twelve submerged. They carry eight torpedo tubes and two deck guns of large caliber.

One Class Carries Planes. The second class is reported made up of 4,500-ton craft. The three of this class in service are said to make 24 knots on the surface and 15 under water. Ten torpedo tubes and four deck guns are listed as equipment.

The third class subs, say French experts, are planned to carry six ten small hydroplanes in their holds, six redy for instant launching and ten dismantled. The planes would be launched by catapult. Although none of this class is in service, the French experts say one will begin its trials early in February.

The airplane-carrying submarines are reported to have cruising radius sufficient to enable them to remain at sea a month. Their planes could be used for bombing enemy coasts.

act does not protect the consumer against misbranded or even adulterated foods and drugs because it does not cover the drastic changes these industries have undergone since 1906.

Senator Copeland's bill would require labels which tell definitely what's inside.

One of the principal features of that two committees would be set up—one on public health, the other on food standards—to prescribe rules and regulations.

These committees would include representatives of the industries as well as "five members designated by the President with a view to their distinguished scientific standing and interest in public health and without regard to their political affiliation."

Would Ban "Cure-Alls" Various other features include the indiscriminate marketing of drugs which should not be administered except under careful supervision, definite bans on advertising of specific "cure-alls" (one of the main objections to Copeland's previous bill) as well as the removal of various restrictions upon the sale of fresh fruits and vegetables in packages.

Stiffer penalties for violations even to the point of operation of factories under Federal permit where public health can not otherwise be protected also is provided.

In as much as the Copeland bill recognizes vast changes since enactment of the original pure food and drugs act, a stiff fight is in prospect.

It promises to rank in importance with the major questions to come before Congress this session.

Glass is a liquid in a state of suspended animation. Only three ingredients, lime, soda and sand, can be used to produce it; they are mixed in proper proportions, then melted and cooled.

Permoction, a drug developed in Germany and in use for some time in New York, is said to make childbirth almost painless.

By HERBERT PLUMMER. Washington, D. C.—Work relief, social security and the bonus will hold the spotlight in Washington for weeks to come yet, but another major piece of legislation is slated for an important place of its own later on.

The Senate's only M.D.—Doctor Copeland of New York—on the second day of the present session of Congress introduced a bill destined to provoke perhaps as lively a battle in Capitol Hill as any which will be seen.

It is the proposed new food and drugs law.

Such a storm of objections was raised in the last Congress to a similar bill sponsored by Senator Copeland that it finally was permitted to die. The doctor is back, however, with a new bill which he believes stands a better chance.

Improved Labels. The Copeland bill was drawn with an eye to meeting the objections of the Department of Agriculture to the original Pure Food and Drugs Act passed in 1916. It has been the Department's contention that this

GRAND JURORS FILE REPORT IN COURT HERE

Number of Recommendations Presented to Judge Barnhill in Criminal Court

The new six months grand jury which began work with the opening of criminal court last Monday, filed its report with Judge M. V. Barnhill in the concluding session today and was dismissed until the next term.

Number of recommendations of minor importance were made by the jury after visiting the various county officers, the County Home and prison camp.

Auditor John Coward came in for favorable comment following a report which he submitted to the jury on the financial condition of the county. The report revealed the fact that over 60 per cent of last year's taxes have been collected.

He also presented the jury with a list of uncollected fines and costs amounting to $5,061.54, and the jury recommended that some action be taken for their collection.

Deficits in the offices of Register of Deeds, Clerk of Court, and that of Sheriff Sam Whitehurst, were called to the attention of public officials. Deficits in the two first offices were above the $100 mark while that in the sheriff's office totaled $4,141.66.

In commenting on the deficit in operation of the sheriff's office, the jury said: "It is our understanding that fees are the only source, and it is not fair that notice be taken of facts."

The report in detail follows: To His honor M. V. Barnhill, Judge Presiding at the January Term of Superior Court:

We, the Grand Jury of this term of court, respectfully submit our actions and investigations in the following report:

We have acted upon all bills of indictments presented to us and have passed on same in accordance to the evidence, with the exception one one-third particular one could not be acted upon due to the fact that the one material witness could not be located.

We visited and inspected all the county offices, namely, Clerk of Court, Register of Deeds, Sheriff's Office, Board of Education, Treasurer's Tax Collector, Board of Health, Welfare Department, and the Auditor's. We found all records kept in an orderly, neat and business-like manner, and we wish to commend the officers in charge. However, there is one particular thing we wish to call the Board of Commissioners' attention to, and that is a new index system for the Vital Statistics Record of Births and Deaths. This suggestion was made by the Grand Jury preceding us, however, apparently there has been no effort made to install same.

We visited and inspected the County Jail in a body, and we wish to make the following suggestion and recommendation: Apparently the facilities for supplying hot water is inadequate, as all the prisoners complained of not being able to take a bath since their confinement. We suggest that this matter be looked after immediately, and also furnish the prisoners with plenty of soap, toilet paper and towels.

The sanitation of the jail, in our opinion is not up to standard. The toilets, bed linens and blankets were very dirty.

Three prisoners, namely, Galvin Hyman, colored; Henry Rouse, colored; and Charlie Spier, white, complained to us as not being able to get medical aid. All of the named prisoners should have the attention of a doctor immediately and we recommend the sheriff having them treated at once.

We wish to commend J. H. Coward, the County Auditor, for the splendid way in which he reported the financial condition of the county. We think the county is very fortunate in having a man of his ability. He reported of having collected approximately 60 per cent of 1934 taxes. Mr. Coward reported that there is an amount of $5,061.54 uncollected fines and costs imposed by the county and Superior Courts. In our opinion, these costs should be paid, and we recommend some action be taken at once. For the Court's information, we have obtained from Mr. Coward a list of the fines and cost and you will find it attached to the report.

We find from Mr. Coward's report that the fees from the Register of Deeds' office for the last six months ending December 20, 1934, totaled $4,007.84, disbursements for the same period $4,199.58, deficit $191.90.

For the same period the Clerk of Court's office show receipts $3,623.41, disbursements $3,174.31, deficit $150.90.

The sheriff's office covering the same period shows fees $448.08, disbursements $4,539.74, and deficit $4,141.66.

It is our understanding that fees are the only source of revenue coming into the operation of the sheriff's office, and it is not fair that notice be taken of this fact.

We visited and investigated the prison camp in a body and we found everything in an excellent condition, and we wish to commend Mr. Sellers, who is in charge.

We visited and investigated the County Home in a body and we found everything in order, as well as we expected, however, we would like to suggest that some effort be made to raise chickens. We were somewhat surprised to find that no chickens were being raised.

We would also recommend the Health Department and Welfare Department give the inmates the proper care and attention.

We wish to extend our appreciation to the Presiding Judge, M. V. Barnhill, the Solicitor and other officers of the court for the courtesies and co-operation at this term of court.

This report is respectfully submitted by the Grand Jury for the January, 1935, term of court.

Z. M. WHITEHURST, Foreman.

Pirates to Meet Ry. Mount Next

After taking a 39-50 loss from the Rocky Mount, Coach Mathis' Pirates will be fighting to even up the score when they play the "Y" team again Saturday night.

Although the E. C. T. C. forwards have improved greatly since the High Point game, their scoring punch is still weak. Stow and Davis recent additions to the team and Johnson will probably be expected to make up the Pirates offensive power on Friday night.

Coach Mathis has put his men through stiff drills during the past several days with emphasis placed on teamwork, and even though the Y. M. C. A. team functions almost perfectly the contest promises to be a close one.

POWER BODY CUTS RATES

Tidewater Makes Voluntary Reduction Which Will Save Consumers $40,000

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 26.—Electricity consumers who are customers of the Tide Water Power Company will save approximately $40,000 annually through voluntary reductions made by the company as a result of conferences instituted by the State Utilities Commission. The reduction will not affect and future reduction which may be made as the result of investigations.

The company serves 116 cities and small towns, the largest of which is Wilmington. Stranded as the fact that although the reduction, on the basis of towns served, is small that the company, while serving 600 miles of transmission lines, serves but 9,448 domestic consumers, including the seasonal consumers at various resorts in its territory.

The reduction in rates is greater in the region lying outside New Hanover County, although the rates because of scattered population, the bill above those of Wilmington and New Hanover start with $1.25 for the first 10 kilowatt hours, as against the old rate of $1.30, and run through a graduated scale, higher for the larger domestic users. One hundred kilowatt hours, for example, can now be bought for $5.88 a considerable saving over the old rate of $6.41.

In Wilmington and New Hanover the savings range from a saving of seven cents on a consuming basis of 50 kilowatt hours and compared with the outlying rate, a reduction on 100 hours to $5.88 from the old rate, 6.60.

Beyond 90 kilowatt hours the rate for all domestic consumption drops to two and one-half cents. The minimum bill which the company will render in New Hanover County remains the same, $1.70, for the smaller towns it is reduced from $1.30 to $1.25, and for rural consumers remains at $2.50.

The only reduction in the commercial rate is that the charge in excess of 100 kilowatt hours has been reduced from five cents on all current in excess of that figure to four and one-half for the next 1,000 and three cents for any current used beyond that.

Reflecting Sports

By Wm. WATSON MORGAN

At the age of 42 Bill Tilden is still playing a top-notch game of tennis. He continues to win games over Lott, Vines and Stiefen. He is considered to be head and shoulders above any player that ever lived in variety and perfection of strokes.

Tilden, Dempsey and Babe Ruth have possibly had a greater following than any other performer in the sports world. Out of the three, Big Bill seems to be the only one that is still at the head of the parade.

The billiard players possibly remain at the top and retain their skill longer than devotees of any other sport. At 72 Alfredo De Oro is able to defeat most of the younger players.

Billiard equipment is generally considered quite expensive. Tables are supposed to cost from $250 up. They are durable and last many years, but the pure wool covers wear out in a year if used much. It is said that John Rinzler owned the most expensive table in the world, one made of walnut and valued at $3,500. A set of three ivory billiard balls, turned from elephant tusks, cost from $30 to $50. Cues turned from maple, range in price from one to five dollars. The best tips are made in France from the skin of unborn calves. Domestic calf skin tips are used but are much cheaper and not so durable. Some of the leading players of today are probably Weiker Cochran, Johnny Layton and Willie Hoppe.

In Berlin, five thousand Nazi athletes started training for the Olympics of 1936. They took the solemn oath: I renounce all the joys of life—no smoking, no beer, no night-life—for the time of training.

One wonders why the statement "all the joys" that may lead us to the argument of just what does the average person consider enjoyable living. It does seem that a well conditioned and strong body plus the fact that they are preparing themselves to represent their Fatherland should certainly be considered as the joys of life; or at least part of them.

Another good record was brought to an abrupt ending last night as Army broke Carolina's record after they had won eleven straight games this year. Again, someone might start to compare scores; Carolina lost to Army while Duke gave them a good racing earlier in the season. There will be a different story when these two teams hook up on Tar Heel soil.

Losing this game to Army no doubt was quite a blow to Coach Bo Shepard. Bo was an All-Eastern guard while attending school at West Point. One can just imagine how anxious he was to win that particular game. Usually this is the very time that the boys do their worst; if they have a bad game in their system it is more than likely to come out then.

Some of the sports writers have been patting Bo for some of his early season remarks. He told them that having lost two key men that it looked to him that he would not be as strong this year. Any coach that loses two men like Dave McCachren and Virgil Weathers; two players that were on the first and second All-Southern selection at one time during their playing days would naturally make a coach skeptical as to his ability of replacing them. Again that is, sports for you. Many managers or coaches have predicted a good team before the season started, but found that many of their stars had faded them. On the other hand substitutes often develop into much better players than are expected. This seems to be the case with Carolina this year.

LOCALS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL WITH KINSTON

Last night the Greenville sextet defeated the Kinston team 23-16, while the Greenville boys were losing 20-22.

For Greenville, Winifred Etheridge with 14 points, was the leader for the night. She was closely followed by Lucile Hill, also of Greenville, who scored nine points. Miss Bialock, for Kinston, with 11 points was high scorer for her team.

Margaret Rush, Phoebe Nesbit, Annie Bett Lee and others on the local team played a good floor game and will soon develop into very valuable players.

The boys' game developed into another close, hard fought battle. The Greensies showed some improvement in their passing and their defense on the whole was good, but they found it very hard to cover the Kinston center, Kilpatrick. He scored 14 points out of the 22 scored by the team. Recently Kinston played Williamston and this boy Kilpatrick scored 15 of the 17 points made by them. For Greenville, Captain Pierce scored 11 points to lead his team. Hatem, at guard, played a good defensive game and should develop into one of the leading guards of this section.

The game last night was exceptionally clean; very few fouls were called on either team.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 26.—Cotton futures opened steady, four to six points decline in response to lower Liverpool and Bombay cables.

Prices steadied up slightly after the call. Offerings increased and the market at the end of the first half-hour was about three to six points net lower.

Futures closed steady, two to four points lower.

Flood Damage Increase. Karks, Jan. 26.—(AP)—As the mid-South counted its flood dead at 27 today, the cold water river pushed its way of further destruction southward to raise the property damage to an estimated $5,000,000 or more.

With thousands of refugees in camp, relief workers estimated that 25,000 persons were suffering from the Mississippi's rampage and the lower reaches awaited in fearful anticipation.

Checked by the arrival of ten large flat boats manned by U. S. engineers, the refugees at Max expected the last of the marooned in this section would be brought to safety.

P. M. B. Self, Mix banker and wealthy property owner, estimated the flood damage in the State would run to between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000.

The estimate, he pointed out, is a mere guess, but he said the damage in Quant County, three-fourths of which is under water, would reach as high as $2,000,000.

He was the first witness before the body which seeks an answer to the question of why the ships collided and the liner Mohawk sank.

Given Guns To Kill Long.

Baton Rouge, Jan. 26.—(AP)—A man who identified himself as Sidney Songy, testified today at Senator Huey Long's murder plot inquiry that he had been given a gun, gas bombs and ammunition to kill the senator.

The inquiry opened under the protection of hundreds of national guards called out by Governor O. K. Allen's virtual martial law proclamation.

Senator Long charged with four possibly, one district attorney and Sheriff, one district judge had plotted the murder of certain officials.

Surrounded by guards' guns which flanked the courtroom and guarded the capitol in a feeling of high tension, Senator Long charged there was a conspiracy to waylay and kill him.

"At an appointed hour," Long said, "it was agreed that I would be leaving Thursday night for New Orleans."

"Thereupon the assemblage arranged the auto in which I was riding be blocked somewhere near the Dead Man's curve at which time cars would be rolled up and the gentlemen who we are told were at the meeting would begin the work of murdering me or others in the car."
