HAUPTMANN ENDS LENGTHY STAY ON WITNESS STAND

STEPS DOWN TO WATCH WIFE AS SHE TESTIFIES

Before Leaving The Witness Chair, Alleged Kidnap of Lindbergh Baby Testifies Letters From Fisch Mysteriously Disappeared After His Arrest; Unable To Show He Had Any Record of Transactions With Dead Furrier

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Sheriff John H. Curtiss today said "There is nothing to rumors that authorities had been investigating attempted tampering with a member of the jury trying Bruno Richard Hauptmann."

The jury is under heavy guard and is shut off from outsiders in the hotel where it is quartered.

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Two witnesses—one his wife—today supported Bruno Richard Hauptmann's alibi for the night baby Charles Lindbergh, Jr. was kidnaped and slain.

Elvaert Calstrom, center of Swedish extraction, who said he remembered because it was his birthday, testified he saw Hauptmann in the Bronx at 8:30 p. m., March 1, 1932.

Mrs. Hauptmann testified her husband had called for her at her place of employment that evening and went home with her around 10 p. m. The Lindbergh baby was stolen more than 60 miles away, between 7 and 10 p. m., on March 1, 1932.

Mrs. Hauptmann tremulously offered an alibi to Hauptmann's story for every important date connected with the case.

The state taking her over for cross-examination immediately attacked her credibility and asserted she had never used the shelf in her bedroom closet and therefore had never seen the shoe box in which the dead Isador Fisch gave him the $14,600 Lindbergh ransom money found in his possession. She admitted she did use the shelf.

She said Hauptmann spent the evening of November 26, 1933 at home. A theatre cashier had testified he proffered a Lindbergh ransom note in payment for a ticket on that night. The date was prior to the time Fisch is alleged to have given him the shoe box with the money.

Mrs. Hauptmann succeeded her husband on the stand. On her direct testimony she said she could not reach the top shelf of the broom closet, and for that reason never used it.

Attorney General David Wilentz made her admit she kept a tin box with soap coupons on that shelf and that she often took the box down, also that she kept rags and certain pins on the shelf. She insisted that she never saw the shoe box.

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 30.—(Copy right by The Associated Press.) Bruno Richard Hauptmann ended three and a half days of testimony in his trial for the murder of the Lindbergh baby and stepped down from the stand today to watch his wife, Anna, take his place in the witness chair. Before he left the stand today he left the witness chair.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Today the people of the nation are wishing their leader, President Roosevelt, a happy birthday. The occasion is being celebrated at some 5,000 birthday balls from coast to coast.

Four Million May Dance At Roosevelt's Party

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Four million persons—from coast to coast in the United States, in the Philippines, Canal Zone and Alaska—are expected to join in celebrating President Roosevelt's 53rd birthday tonight, with the view of raising money to fight infantile paralysis.

In magnitude, the party may be even greater than a similar one held last year, Colonel Henry L. Doherty, national chairman, predicts. More than 5,000 communities are expected to take part, he says.

Entertainment will vary from barn dances to cross-road festivals and formal balls, with attention centering in Washington where the President will deliver a radio address between 11:30 and 12:30 p. m., and in New York, where the national committee will assemble.

While proceeds of the 1934 party—a total of $1,000,000—went to the Warm Springs Foundation, this year, following a suggestion from Mr. Roosevelt, none of the proceeds will go to that organization. Seventy cents of every dollar will go toward rehabilitating infantile paralysis victims in their own communities while the rest will go to the President's Birthday Ball Commission for infantile paralysis research.

Although $1,000,000 was raised last year, national officials expressed the opinion that such a sum was but a drop in the bucket for a planned nationwide campaign against the disease. Keith Morran, a trustee of the Warm Springs Foundation, said "approximately $60,000,000 annually would be necessary to furnish care for the paralysis victims."

He bases this figure on a recent estimate that there are 200,000 persons suffering from the disease in America and that it would cost $300 a year to care for each properly.

While many communities are contemplating public gatherings, various organizations are planning their own parties. William Green, president, and Matthew Wolf, of the American Federation of Labor, began early to organize their chapters on a national scale to take part in the celebration. The National Grange farmer's groups with 800,000 members, also was one of the first organizations to signify its intention of joining in.

Three towns in Alaska, Anchorage, Fairbanks and Cordova, sent early notice of plans to participate, and Hopedale, Barbo and San Juan have announced plans to take part. Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, and Colonel Doherty will head a list of notables to attend the celebration in New York.

BRILLIANCE TO MARK BALL HERE TONIGHT

Tremendous Crowd Expected to Attend Dance Given in Honor of President

Pitt County people will put on their best "bib and tucker" tonight and attend the Roosevelt Ball to be given in the Campus building of East Carolina Teachers College at 9 o'clock.

Preparations for the annual attraction were completed by the various committees yesterday, and the great auditorium will be a thing of beauty and splendor when the dance gets under way tonight.

Attendance much larger than last year is anticipated on the basis of ticket sale reports received from various sections of the county. Both dancers and spectators probably will outnumber the first dance given in honor of the President of the United States, and they will be treated to a delightful program.

In addition to the ball, a colorful floor show will be presented during the evening. Music will be provided by Hod Williams' famous broadcasting orchestra of Charlotte.

The highlight of the ball will be the radio address to be delivered by President Roosevelt at 11:30 o'clock, along with a message from the general ball chairman, Mr. Roosevelt will express his appreciation of the fine spirit of co-operation shown by towns and cities in all parts of the country which last year turned out in large numbers to help him raise as much money as possible for his hobby—the relief of those suffering from infantile paralysis.

Last year the entire proceeds from the dance went to the President. This year 70 per cent of the fund will remain here for the relief of infantile paralysis, and the remaining 30 per cent will be turned over to the President for a similar cause.

Nothing has been left undone to make the ball more brilliant than that last year. In fact, the committee hopes it will be among the best in the State, by the alone from the standpoint of brilliance, but from money raised.

Advance ticket sales for the ball have been described as favorable for the last several days, and the rush for tickets, both by dancers and spectators, is expected to be pronounced late today.

Everybody appreciating the great cause in which the ball is being held—the cause of suffering humanity—has been urged to attend and do his part by the movement.

It has been estimated that approximately four million persons will be participating in the celebration in New York.

Rush For Birth Certificates In Legion Contest

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 30.—Aces of high school boys participating in the annual American Legion Junior League baseball series in North Carolina and throughout the nation had to be definitely established and all participants had to be able to produce birth certificates to assure that they were within the age limit prescribed in the rules.

"For several weeks prior to the national contest, which has been held in Gastonia for the past two years, this office was actually swamped with requests for certificates of birth of high school boys who wanted to compete in these contests," said Dr. John H. Hamilton, director of the Division of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health.

"In most cases we were able to furnish the certificates, since we started registering birth in North Carolina generally in 1914 and when we did not find the certificate, it was at least an indication that the boy in question was above twenty years of age."

"But this was not true since there have been many instances during the past twenty years in which the births of children were not registered," said Dr. Hamilton.

Such cases of omission cause much trouble and it is in an effort to prevent such trouble in the future that the State Board of Health under authority from the U. S. Bureau of Census and with the aid of the N. C. Emergency Administration is conducting now a "Register Your Birth" campaign. Cards will be sent every family in the State early in February, and those to whom babies have been born in the past year are asked to fill in cards and drop them in a mail box, to assure that their babies are properly registered.

MUCH RELIEF WORK GOING ON IN COUNTY

Nearly Three Hundred Persons Employed on Emergency Relief Tasks

It was announced today from the local office of the Emergency Relief Administration that 288 workers were on the job in Pitt County today with indications the number would be increased considerably in the next month or so.

Mrs. Fred Purser, chief case worker here, said this morning the administration was putting on workers at the rate of about twelve a day and the outlook for carrying on work throughout the country was very bright.

About fifty laborers are employed in relieving the flooded condition of Swift Creek which was left uncompleted when the PWA suspended activities early last year. The project was started about two weeks ago and is expected to require three or four months in completing.

The condition of the stream has caused considerable protest to be sent to relief forces, and it was at last called to the attention of members of Congress as citizens in that section of the county attempted to open the stream left clogged with logs and rubbish, causing it to overflow hundreds of acres of valuable farm land.

Numbers of laborers are employed on school and drainage projects in various sections of the county, Mrs. Purser said. Among the projects is the building of an extension to the negro school on Fifth Street here. A wing was added to the building last year through relief funds, and the new addition is expected to greatly relieve the congestion which has existed in the colored system.

Mrs. Purser said rate of pay for common labor had been reduced from 30 to 25 cents by the committee charged with passing on the question.

In addition to the scores of men who have been put back on the emergency relief pay-roll, fifty women are being employed in sewing-rooms in Greenville, Farmville and Ayden.

Other projects will be started from time to time as additional labor is authorized, and the year is expected to see numbers of school and drainage jobs completed in addition to work in other fields of activity.

Sec. Wallace Gives Facts Before Senate Agricultural Committee Today

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace told the Senate Agricultural Committee today that restrictions of cotton acreage in the country must continue until the foreign demand for the American product is increased. While saying that cotton exports had declined drastically, particularly during the last five months, the Secretary added that the movement of other agricultural products, except tobacco had been reduced even more than cotton.

During the five months from July to November the volume of exports of agricultural products amounted to 66 per cent of the yearly average, while the volume of all agricultural products was 52 per cent and the volume of cotton exports 62 per cent.

"On a value basis, the commodity positions are much the same," Secretary Wallace said.

Chairman Smith, of South Carolina, of the committee expressed belief definite recommendations would be made to Congress for remedial legislation and allow free trade in commerce between American and foreign nations.

"The volume of exports of agricultural products amounted to 66 per cent of the yearly average, while the volume of all agricultural products was 52 per cent and the volume of cotton exports 62 per cent."

FIND MAN DEAD NEAR HIS AUTO

Milton Grimsley, of Greene County, Dies While Trying to Extricate Stuck Car

Milton Grimsley, 43, member of a well-known Greene county family, was found dead near his automobile on a woods road near his farm, five miles from Hookerton early this morning, according to information reaching the city today. Death was believed to have resulted from exhaustion and exposure as he attempted to extricate his automobile which was stuck in the road.

Grimsley, a bachelor, boarded, and when he failed to appear for breakfast this morning, someone was sent to his room to awake him. When his absence was discovered a search was started.

Grimsley's body was found lying back of the automobile. He was rushed to a doctor's office but died on the way.

Grimsley was reported to have left home early last night and nothing was seen of him until the searching party found his body lying in the deserted road leading to his farm.

Late News Flashes

In the Legislature
Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Two proposals to have the State-owned counties in paying indebtedness incurred for roads and including an increase of the gasoline tax by one cent per gallon to carry out one year, highlights in the General Assembly today as each division held long sessions, but disposed of little major business.

Attention was centered on the anti-sales tax hearing this afternoon when the State Merchants Association opposed retention of the 3 per cent levy and on the hearing of two bills to allow county commissioners to name tax collectors and to abolish some county offices.

The House motion of Representative Ervin, of Mecklenburg, and Bryan, of Durham, rescinded its action of yesterday in tabling the Jonas bill to allow judges to impose sentences of life imprisonment in capital and felony convictions where juries recommended such sentences and returned the measure to its calendar for later consideration.

Senator Browning, of Swain, gave the Senate a bill to increase the State sales tax and use the money to pay county road debts.

While in the House five representatives offered measures to set up a special annual fund of $1,000,000 to be allocated to the counties for their use in paying principal and interest on their bonds.

TEXAS SCHOOLBOY CLEARS

NICE PROFIT ON COTTON

San Angelo, Texas.—(AP)—Older and more experienced farmers might be pardoned for envying the record made last season by Emmett Lehr, seventeen-year-old San Angelo school boy.

Young Lehr, whose parents are dead, rented 100 acres of land from the estate of his father. Forty acres he rented to the government, and on the remaining 60 produced 2½ bales of cotton.

His records showed total receipts of nearly $2,000 and total expenses, including rent, of just under $850. He owns his own tractor and equipment, purchased from 1933 crop receipts.

Liquor Proves Factor In Driver's License Bill

Reflecting Bureau
Sir Walter Hotel
Raleigh, Jan. 30.—Liquor threatened for a time to wreck the state-wide drivers' license bill when it was presented to the joint senate and house committees on roads Tuesday afternoon by the subcommittee that had prepared the committee bill. Vigorous objection was raised to the section of the bill which would have made the mere finding of a bottle of liquor in an automobile grounds for the revocation of the driver's license for a year even if the driver had not been drinking or was not driving recklessly.

The section was finally amended to permit the transportation of an unlimited amount of liquor in an automobile without any penalty so long as the driver could prove none of it was for re-sale and provided the driver was not drinking, drunk or driving recklessly. The other provisions of the bill were approved with almost no changes and the bill reported favorably.

Senator U. L. Spence of Moore county, chairman of the senate roads committee, took the lead in urging the revision of the section pertaining to the transportation of liquor.

"I see no harm in a man going to Norfolk or some other place where liquor is legally sold, buying some and bringing it back into North Carolina in his car, provided it is not to be re-sold or if he does not drink any of it while he is driving," Senator Spence said. Other members of the committee were evidently of the same opinion, since the section was quickly amended.

The bill provides that every driver of an automobile must obtain a state drivers license and that the law shall go into effect November 1, 1935, since it is believed that it will not be possible to issue licenses to more than 600,000 automobile drivers and get a sufficiently large highway patrol organized and trained to enforce the new law before that date.

JOE EASTMAN ASKS SOLONS FOR CHANGE

In Recommendations To Congress, Federal Coordinator Seeks Government Regulation on Land, Sea and in the Air; New Agency of 16 Would Replace Present I. C. C.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—A vast plan to extend Federal regulations to important forms of transportation on land, sea and in the air was recommended to Congress today by Joseph Eastman, Federal co-ordinator of transportation.

A super-agency in the form of a recreated Interstate Commerce Commission would rule the far-flung network of carriers.

Setting his goal as co-ordinated efficiency in controlling transportation, Eastman urged that instead of the present I. C. C. of eleven men, the new agency have a membership of sixteen, divided into five units:

A railroad division five, the heads of the four subsidiary divisions of three.

A control board composed of the chairman of the commission and the heads of the four subsidiary divisions under it.

The office of the co-ordinator of transportation would be continued and would be filled by an I. C. C. member designated by the President. His function would be to plan improvements in the nation's existing transportation system.

Under a law proposed by Eastman, the co-ordinator would compel unification of facilities. If orders for co-ordination of facilities were disobeyed, fines as high as $20,000 would be imposed.

All transportation would be reformed from now on would be given men displaced by the control service.

Eastman rejected the Prince plan of regional railroad control by his own favored plan for government ownership on the ground of difficulty of accomplishment and the large national debt. He urged the amendment of the bankruptcy act to favor railroads and for immediate operation. Eight of the present members of the I. C. C. in another report to Congress asserted that re-organization of the commission is unneeded and undesirable.

BLOCKING: While the House was having a Roman holiday at the expense of "Honest Harold" Ickes the other day, the Senate more quietly was taking an equally effective cut at Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau.

The background runs deep behind the Senate Banking Committee's refusal to give the Secretary of the Treasury and the Director of the Budget final authority over Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds.

Led by the venerable and caustic Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, there is a group in the upper house which is determined Morgenthau's aspirations to greater control of the nation's financial structure must be blocked.

CONTROL: Some time back President Roosevelt appointed a special committee to coordinate the functions of the government's lending agencies. On it are Morgenthau and the heads of all these emergency organizations.

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

Australian whangodoodles, perleths, horse-broken ant-eaters and what have you, would be exempted from personal property tax up to the value of the customary $300 under the terms of a bill introduced in the legislature by Senator Brown of Swain county.

The bill provides that "any other personal property" be added to the list of beds, clothing and whatnots new exempt. Just what it is that Senator Browning owns that he doesn't want taxed could not be learned today but a peek into his Bryson City home might reveal it.

A sure-fire way to insure that a law will not be broken is to simply repeal the fractured law. Amputation of the law against catching shad in the Atlantic ocean along Brunswick county's strip of coast is aimed at in a bill introduced by Senator Prink of the same county. His bill would repeal the law against catching shad in the ocean and would substitute therefor a law against taking of the said shad within five miles of the Cape Fear river bar. It seems that fisherfolk pay no heed to the present law, so

WILLY LIQUOR BILL READY FOR SOLONS

Measure Would Return $3,000,000 Annually to Counties For Relief Work

Reflector Bureau
Sir Walter Hotel
Raleigh, Jan. 30.—The liquor control bill which has been prepared by Senator John Sprunt Hill of Durham and which may be introduced by the latter part of this week, does not repeal the Turlington Act, or disturb the present state prohibition law. The bill does provide, however, that state liquor stores, under strict state regulations and control may be set up in any counties, cities or towns that do not object to them but that any county, city or town may exclude such a liquor store by voting on the question in a special election.

In this manner any county, city or town that desires to continue under the present state prohibition law will be permitted to do so while those that want one or more of the liquor stores may also have them.

The bill will not become law and go into effect until passed by the general assembly and approved by the people of the state in a special election to be held within 60 days after the passage of the bill by the legislature.

It is estimated that between $4,500,000 and $5,500,000 a year revenue should result from the enactment of the bill, which provides that $3,000,000 a year of this revenue shall be distributed to the counties, cities and towns of the state in proportion to population, to be used by them for public welfare work, relief, unemployment insurance and old age pensions. It also provides that $250,000 annually shall be set aside from the revenue for the enforcement of existing prohibition laws in the counties, cities and towns that prefer to remain under these laws.

The bill levies a 10 per cent tax on all liquor sold, in addition to providing that all the profit from the sale of liquor through the state-operated liquor stores shall accrue to the state. The revenue from the tax will go into the general fund, where it can be used to help augment the state revenue for the support of the schools and all other state institutions, while the first $3,000,000 of the profits from the operation of the liquor stores would be returned to the counties, cities and towns in proportion to their population. If the profits from the stores exceed $3,000,000 a year, all in excess of this amount would go into the general fund. As a result of the 10 per cent tax provision, it is estimated that between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 a year would flow into the general fund in addition to the $3,000,000 a year that would be distributed to the counties, cities and towns.

Responsibility for the establishment of the state owned and controlled liquor stores would be placed in the hands of a Liquor Control Authority composed of three persons to be appointed by the Governor and approved by a two-thirds vote of the senate. Any proposed location for a state liquor store would have to be advertised for 15 days in advance of the proposed opening of the store. If as many as 50 persons in the locality proposed objected to the location of the store on the grounds that it was too near a church, school or residential neighborhood, a hearing would have to be held before the Superior Court Judge in that district and this judge would have full authority to decide whether or not the store would be opened or located in some other location. The provision is designed to prevent the location of any liquor store in neighborhoods where they may not be desired.

If a store is opened and the people then desire they do not want it, an election may be held after a petition is signed by the required number of persons. If a majority vote against keeping the store, it will be closed.

The bill further provides that alcoholic beverages may be purchased only in officially sealed packages and that the maximum amount that may be purchased by any person is one quart a day. Each person who buys a package must sign his name and give his address. No one under 21 years of age would be permitted to buy any liquor and the employees of all the state liquor stores will be empowered to refuse to make sales to any one in their discretion, also to make arrests for any violation of the law committed in their presence. The bill would prohibit the opening of any package of liquor in or near any liquor store. The sponsors of the bill believe it would do more to bring about real temperance and reduce bootlegging than any other plan.

Each person who buys a package must sign his name and give his address. No one under 21 years of age would be permitted to buy any liquor and the employees of all the state liquor stores will be empowered to refuse to make sales to any one in their discretion, also to make arrests for any violation of the law committed in their presence. The bill would prohibit the opening of any package of liquor in or near any liquor store. The sponsors of the bill believe it would do more to bring about real temperance and reduce bootlegging than any other plan.

Responsibility for the establishment of the state owned and controlled liquor stores would be placed in the hands of a Liquor Control Authority composed of three persons to be appointed by the Governor and approved by a two-thirds vote of the senate. Any proposed location for a state liquor store would have to be advertised for 15 days in advance of the proposed opening of the store. If as many as 50 persons in the locality proposed objected to the location of the store on the grounds that it was too near a church, school or residential neighborhood, a hearing would have to be held before the Superior Court Judge in that district and this judge would have full authority to decide whether or not the store would be opened or located in some other location. The provision is designed to prevent the location of any liquor store in neighborhoods where they may not be desired.

If a store is opened and the people then desire they do not want it, an election may be held after a petition is signed by the required number of persons. If a majority vote against keeping the store, it will be closed.

The bill further provides that alcoholic beverages may be purchased only in officially sealed packages and that the maximum amount that may be purchased by any person is one quart a day. Each person who buys a package must sign his name and give his address. The Apology

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WHEN the old man awoke he said to his wife:

"This adhesive tape on my head pulls, and the hair Willy Nilly gave me is getting all out of position."

He looked at himself in the mirror of the bureau and he was indeed a sorry looking sight. Suddenly the sunlight shone upon a strand of hair.

"My wig!" cried the old man happily. "Here's my wig! I must have pushed it to one side of the bureau by mistake. You can see that it's not surprising I missed it when it was almost out of sight."

"But I must go over and offer an apology to Willy Nilly for suspecting his crow. Not that I like that crow," continued the old man irritably. "He's a bad fellow. But a crow can think up so many things to do to annoy one that if I apologize he won't be after me."

"I wouldn't want to have him harm my spring planting for example."

"Yes, you'd better go right over to Willy Nilly's," said the man's wife.

"The old man put on his wig, but it didn't fit right with all the loose hair Willy Nilly had given him, and which he had fastened on with adhesive tape, but he went right along. After a short time he arrived at Willy Nilly's door. He knocked gently but Willy Nilly heard the knock instantly. Even though Mrs. Quacko Duck had done her best to make Willy Nilly rest he had not slept well.

"I've come to apologize," said the old man as Willy Nilly opened the door.

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

COME in, come right in," said Willy Nilly pleasantly.

"I did your crow an injustice and I am man enough to apologize."

"Splendid!" exclaimed Willy Nilly. "I certainly admire you for doing so. But it's quite early. Have you had breakfast?"

"Not yet, but I'll have it as soon as I get back."

"Oh, do breakfast with me," said Willy Nilly. "I'll make coffee at once and I have some very nice jam for our toast. Maybe some crisp bacon would interest you, too?"

The old man felt very hungry after his walk in the cold, early morning air, and accepted Willy Nilly's invitation at once.

As Willy Nilly made the breakfast the old man explained how he had found the wig and how he evidently had put it too far back, and too much to the side of the bureau when he had been getting ready for bed.

After a most delicious breakfast the old man said:

"I wonder if you'll help me take off the adhesive tape and the loose hair so I can wear my wig?"

"By all means," agreed Willy Nilly. He was so thankful that Christopher had nothing to do with this—or had he? Was it possible that Christopher had stolen the wig and returned it so quickly?

Willy Nilly never believed in accusing any one no matter how much one looked to be guilty, for often he knew it could turn out so differently. Yet in this case he still was uncertain of Christopher.

"I'll fix your head at once," said Willy Nilly. But as he began to pull the adhesive the old man started to cry out.

CHAIN STORES TO PAY BIGGER TAX IN STATE

The Larger the Firm The More it Will be Required to Put Out in N. C.

Reflector Bureau
Sir Walter Hotel
Raleigh, Jan. 30.—The bigger they are the harder they must contribute to the state's tax coffers" is evidently the premise upon which the joint finance committee will write the chain-store tax section of the revenue bill.

A special subcommittee was appointed to study that section, both as to chain stores and filling stations. The latter are now exempt from the tax because, said Revenue Commissioner Maxwell, statistics presented to his department two years ago showed that while chain filling stations did but about 4.5 per cent of the total chain store volume of business within the state that they would have been required under the present statute to have paid more than 80 per cent of that particular tax.

It was apparent that the committee will recommend that chain stores be taxed on a graduated basis at present, but that the yardstick will not be solely the number of stores operated in the state, but will depend to a very great extent upon a particular chain whether all units are in North Carolina or not. The establishment of such a basis for taxing in a proportionately greater tax payment by nationwide chains than by home-owned chains or those who operate principally within the state.

Commissioner Maxwell pointed out to the committee that almost any chain store tax program laid down by the legislature would be constitutional. He based his statement on the recent West Virginia decision by the United States supreme court upholding the chain store tax in that state. The West Virginia law levies a higher tax on nationwide chains than on local, or smaller chains.

Several members, including Representative Baker, of Durham, indicated their belief that filling stations should, by some rule applicable only to them, come under the chain store tax section.

A representative from the D. Pender grocery chain appeared before the committee. He approved the West Virginia plan, but wanted included in the North Carolina law "some provision which would tax chain stores on a basis of floor space used. In this he was opposed by Wilford Dowell, president of the N. C. Merchant's Association, who said such a tax would impose a hardship on North Carolina-owned dry goods stores. The committee took no action on that angle.

SPOTS LEAVE QUICKLY WITH THESE METHODS

If cloth is stained by coffee place the stained part over a dish and pour boiling water through it. Rub with glycerine, and then wash in soft water without soap or soap substance.

If colored candle wax has dropped on the table cloth place a piece of white blotting paper on which is sprinkled pure white powder, on either side of the stain. Then iron with a medium warm iron and, later, shake out the powder.

If there are fruit stains on the table cloth or on the children's clothes, use boiling water and salts of leech. Pour this mixture over the stain, using a bowl under it so that a good deal of boiling water can be poured.

SENATE GETS BILL TO BOOST ROAD PATROL

Measure Before Legislature Would Transfer Control to Hyway Department

Sir Walter Hotel, Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 30.—The North Carolina Senate received its first definite proposal to increase the State Highway Patrol when Senator Griffin, of Franklin, introduced a bill which would place a patrolman in each of the State's 100 counties. The bill would transfer control of the patrol to the Highway Department, relieve patrolmen from all duties except road patrol, and would allot to the Department of Agriculture the duty of gasoline inspection, now being done by patrolmen.

A captain would be in command, as at present and he would be as-isted by ten lieutenants who, it is assumed, would supervise and coordinate the work of the patrol by districts.

The Griffin bill is a follow-up to the driver's license bill which was formulated by a special subcommittee and written by Charles Whedbee, legislative adviser to the Governor, last week, and which will doubtless be passed by the Legislature virtually as written.

Senator Griffin's bill by calling for a total force of 100 men, is at variance with the opinions of most legislators. Sentiment, as polled by this bureau, indicates that most members favor a patrol of 200 men. That also is Captain Charlie Farmer's opinion as to the number required for an efficient patrol. The Highway Department is asking for an additional appropriation for the patrol of almost $100,000. Such a sum indicates that the department means to employ a force of about 150.

That the patrol will be increased is a foregone conclusion among observers here. Passage of the driver's license bill makes almost mandatory a substantial increase because it vests administration of the act with the patrol. Adequate enforcement would be impossible without an increased patrol.

The Franklin measure will, in one respect, have the support of legislators. That is the proposal to transfer the patrol from the Revenue Department to the Highway Department, a step apparently approved by a majority.

Chiang Struggles To Unify "Private" Armies of China

Kuling, China.—(AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek, generalissimo of China, is pushing to the test here a theory that if the country's "private" armies can be unified the teeming nation can be made cohesive.

Starting at the bottom, he is trying to win the confidence and support of the officers in China's fighting military forces, and make them loyal to the national government.

In a picturesque setting at the foot of the Lu Mountains near this city, more than 5,000 officers assemble each year at the invitation of Chiang to receive instruction in tactics and to hear speeches on national unity.

They come from every corner of the land and some of them serve under war lords who are only lukewarm, at best, toward the National government. All are of the ranks of major or above.

Fired with a determination to weld China's 600,000 soldiers into a single-purpose organization, Chiang has devoted much personal attention to the camp.

Minstrel Show At College.
The end-men are doing so well in the rehearsals for the minstrel show to be given Friday night of next week, Feb. 9, by the Varsity Club of the college, that a great show is already assured. The pirate costumes of the eight end-men in the center of the stage will add a spectacular touch to the scene. These men are Jack Humphrey, Theo Eason, Jimmie Johnson, Runt Bostic, George Willard, John Davis, John Clark and W. O. Jolly.
With R. C. Deal as interlocutor, a line-up of special clever features, a chorus, and a band, 58 in the whole cast, all guided and directed by the experienced hand of Miss Loraine Hunter, this promises to be one of the greatest minstrel shows ever put on at the college.

To Honor Dr. and Mrs. Meadows.
A formal dinner in honor of Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Meadows will be given by the members of the faculty and administrative staff of East Carolina Teachers College tomorrow evening at six-thirty o'clock. The only guests will be the wives, husbands, and mothers of the members of the faculty and staff.
It is peculiarly fitting that the first official social affairs honoring the new president of the college should be tendered by his colleagues an intimate affair by the group of which he has been a member for nearly twenty-five years.

Bridge Party.
Grimesland, Jan. 30.—Miss Laura Smithwick graciously entertained at three tables of bridge Thursday evening, January 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mayhue Godley.

After several progressions high score prize for the ladies, a lovely handkerchief, was awarded Miss Ruth Blanchard; high score prize for the men, a desk set, was awarded H. R. Phillips; consolation prize, an attractive calendar, was given to Miss Catherine Flaughter.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Godley, served refreshments consisting of sandwiches and drinks. Those enjoying Miss Smithwick's hospitality were: Misses Alana Marks, Ruth Blanchard, Beatrice Cherry, Ethel Little, Roxy Worthington, Catherine Flaughter; Messrs. W. M. Jenkins, Jim Seigler, H. R. Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Mayhue Godley.

Round Table Club Meets.
The Round Table Club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. C. T. Munford.

The usual business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. J. H. Rose.
Continuing the study of the year, "Women Through the Century," Mrs. J. E. Lewis very ably presented the decade of 1833-1893. She described the true place of women in the home at that period; the cause of temperance guided by Frances E. Willard; the beginning of the new Metropolitan where Adeline Patti first sang; the founding of the Martha Berry schools by her for the underprivileged children. During this same period, Carrie Chapman Catt pleaded the cause of peace; also the genius of Jane Adams began to show in this decade rendering service through social settlement work.

Education took advanced strides pioneered by Caroline A. Yale, Grace Abbott, Charlotte Conant and Julia Tutwiler.

Following this excellent paper Mrs. Munford, assisted by Misses Alice Hicks Smith and Mary Thomas Smith, served a delicious salad and sweet course.

Guests included and welcomed for the afternoon were Mrs. Hugh Smith and Mrs. F. S. Corbett.

Ballard's X Road

Mr. Williams filled his regular appointment here Sunday afternoon. Despite the intense cold there were many present to enjoy the service.

Married, on Tuesday, the twenty-second of January, Miss Brownie Tyson to Mr. Forbes Allen. Our congratulations and best wishes attend them.

Mr. Robert Anderson and Mr. John R. Baker of Spring Hope, were visiting Mr. I. U. Joyner one day last week.

Mr. Glenn Tyson of Beaufort county, was calling on relatives here Friday.

Mrs. I. U. Joyner and daughter, Miss Verna, were guests of Mrs. H. C. Cobb of Farmville Sunday.

Mrs. J. T. Pilgreen of near Bethel is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Brock, who is quite ill. Mr. and Mrs. Brock have two little girls, that are also quite sick. We wish for them a speedy recovery.
Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Joyner were visiting Mrs. Joyner's father, Mr. Cullen Tripp, near Bruce, Sunday.
Miss Myrtle Flanagan of the Farmville section, was a week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. Elbert Tyson.
Miss Mary E. Joyner and Mr. J.

M. Galloway were visiting Mr. Galloway's sister, Mrs. Bailey of Walsenburg, Sunday.

Have you noticed the entrancing beauty of the elm trees as they put forth their little brown flower buds? Look for them, outlined against a blue sky.

Have you heard the glad song of the frogs at the twilight hour? Listen for them, the first harbingers of Spring.

MEAT PRICES DU ET O RISE

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—For the near future, and possibly for the entire year, housewives can expect a rise in meat prices, the consumers' guide says. The guide is a publication issued by the consumers' council of AAA.

Meat prices, in their rise, will be doing an "about face." Between September and December they showed a more important drop than other foods. They were dropping from the high level established in the late summer when it became evident the drought damage would be severe. These high levels could not be maintained.

The drop was hastened by the fact that farmers were forced to send their steers, hogs and lambs to market sooner due to low supplies of feed. As a result, meat has been abundant on the markets.

Dairy Products Up Too
But the situation will not last, the guide says. Livestock economists foresee materially lower supplies for early February. Higher prices are expected as a result.

Dairy products and eggs also are expected to reflect the high price of feed.

Recent trends in the wholesale butter market have been upward. This indicates consumers' prices may rise further. However, the guide expects to see butter importer from New Zealand if the price at New York goes any higher.

Egg prices usually drop at this time of year, but they may not drop as much this year as usual. This is because the number of laying birds has been reduced, and perhaps also because the feed ration has been cut rather drastically in many poultry-producing areas.

While egg prices will drop some from now until spring, hen prices can be expected to rise.

Vegetable Prices Lower
In most of the other major foods

the prices are expected to remain comparatively level, even in the classifications where the present price is a low one.

Fruit and vegetable prices are lower this year than last.

Reasonable prices in certain food crops are due to the large supplies on hand. The potato crop is 5.4 per cent above the five-year average from 1927 to 1933; sweet potatoes, 8 per cent up; pears, 5.1 per cent up; oranges, 25.7 per cent up; grapefruit, 35.2 per cent up.

Livestock experts say dairy cattle will produce more milk in winter if given fresh warm water at frequent intervals.

DISTINCTIVE CLOTHES FOR WOMEN

Tips 'n' Tricks CONTRA

By TOM O'NEIL Free Bids.

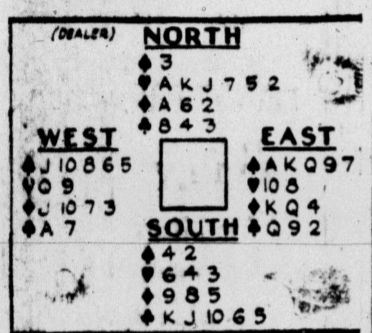

If you open the bidding and are immediately overcalled by the adversary at your left, what your partner says now is quite significant.

If he passes, either he has little strength or it waiting to see whether you can rebid. But if he bids, you have the right to assume that he has a fit with the suit you called or that the suit he bids is of independent strength.

The logic of the situation is that an adversary already has given you opportunity to bid again; partner does not need to do so. He is entitled to keep golden silence on hands with which he would be warranted in keeping the bidding open if the adversary at your left had passed.

If partner has a void or singleton of your suit it would be quite dangerous for him to insert a free bid after an overcall unless his hand was otherwise quite strong, especially in the suit he named.

On the other hand, if you rebid and the course of the adversaries calls indicates some action must be taken to save game or rubber, partner is quite justified in making a secondary bid, provided he is in some measure prepared for another rebid by you.

North bid a heart and East said a spade. South passed as the club suit was quite anaemic and there was nothing else in the hand of merit except the spade doubleton. The heart support for partner was less than normal. Any bid now would indicate to North strength that was not in the South hand.

West raised East's spade bid to two and North bid three hearts. East said three spades. South now bid four clubs, reasoning as follows:

"I have no defense against spades. Already I have told partner, by my pass on the first round of bidding, that my hand surely is not strong. Possibly the enemy has game in spades and my partner may wish to go to five hearts if he has a fit with my clubs."

"If the enemy does not go to four hearts, my partner can go to four hearts, since there should be a play, since he opened the bidding and rebid the hearts."

Over South's four clubs West bid four spades and North went to five hearts, which East doubled. The contract was made after a spade opening and club ten forced West's ace and South's clubs afforded a parking place for North's two losing diamonds.

A diamond opening by East would have defeated the contract, since the adversaries would make a second diamond trick with in with the club ace. East and West would have had trouble with four spades, but North could not tell that.

American Factors Influence Maden Voyage Normandie

By ROBERT B. PARKER St. Nazaire, France.—(AP)—When the giant liner "Normandie" first salutes Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty on her maiden voyage in June, a grand nephew of the monument's sculptor will be in command.

Rene Paganet, boxer, painter, musician, inventor, and ranking commander of the French Line's fleet, will be in charge of the 79,000-ton vessel, whose tending here he has supervised almost from the moment the first began to take shape.

American fittings chosen American materials play a big part in the big liner's equipment. Motors manufactured by an American company are being placed all throughout her enormous bulk. The searchlights are American-made. All conditioning apparatus and electric refrigerators from the United States have been purchased.

Details of the liner's construction are being carefully guarded. Except for a few figures, given in an effort to prove the "Normandie" is bigger than her British rival "Queen Marie," data on her construction is being withheld. Only a few weeks before she pushes her 79,000-ton ton into the sea for the maiden voyage to New York, now planned for June 3, will views of her interior be available.

The length of the ship, says the French Line, is 1030 feet, 12 feet longer than the "Queen Mary." She will carry more than 3,000 passengers and a crew of 1,900. Her 160,000 horsepower is counted on to drive her through the waves at 33 knots, expected to send her from New York to New York in four days flat or less.

Butcher, bountiful in crew. Her crew will include such widely diversified members as three doctors, nine butchers, and 20 bellboys. There will be nine hairdressers, seven printers, 16 musicians, and 187 cooks. Literally enough food, linen and other supplies will be carried for an

Glitter, Color Enliven Spring Fashions As Evening Wear Is Given Vivid Hues

A belt of nasturtium red brilliant glass fabric with a cluster of vivid nasturtium caught at one side adds a noteworthy touch to this early spring evening gown of nasturtium yellow tulle. Notice the high front décolleté. Design by Schiaparelli.

By RITA FERRIS (Associated Press Fashion Editor) Paris.—(AP)—Color and glitter enliven the new evening clothes which Paris has designed for early spring wear. Though both vivid hues and sparkle appear in accents rather than in the body of the gown, there is many a bright and novel touch to spell "1935."

Pleated belts on evening frocks, huge chrysanthemums dripping from waistlines, turquoise buttons and glass fabric tunics are among the effects which make the style "scout, stop, look and listen."

Molynux adds a natural pleskin belt and gloves—all things—to a black velvet evening frock and great, vivid long-petalled chrysanthemums to the waistlines of crepe evening gowns. Many of them are worn with little jackets dripping with gold or tortoiseshell paillettes.

Turquoise clips and buttons are Leleone's favorite accent for white satin or black velvet evening gowns. Most of them are made of tiny turquoise beads, clustered in gold or silver, one of the most striking effects being achieved by a row of turquoise buttons on a black gown.

Lanvin puts big crystal or rhinestone clips in the corners of square army. Each of the 3,500 passengers, for example will have the exclusive right to forty-three napkins, two chickens, ten pounds of ice, a carafe and four knives, as well as similar quantities of other necessities.

Although he has been at sea since early youth, Captain Paganet has found time to accomplish as much as three or four men ordinarily do in a lifetime. The violin he plays was fashioned by his hands. So was the piano, from the pedals to the ivory keys.

Son-In-Law Of Mussolini Wins His Wings

Rome.—(AP)—To be up to date in the Mussolini family it is necessary to catch your wings and Count Galeazzo Ciano, the duke's son-in-law has just filled that requirement.

The 41-year-old undersecretary for the press and propaganda passed the tests for only a slight period of training. His instructors said he showed exceptional ability.

He now is a licensed pilot, as are Mussini, the duke's 17-year-old son Vittorio and his 22-year-old son-in-law, Vittorio Mussolini. Another son of the premier, Bruno, is slated for a license.

The premier learned to pilot a plane before the 1922 march on Rome. He was partially injured once, when his machine crashed on North Italy.

RELIEF BILL DIVIDES DEMOCRATS

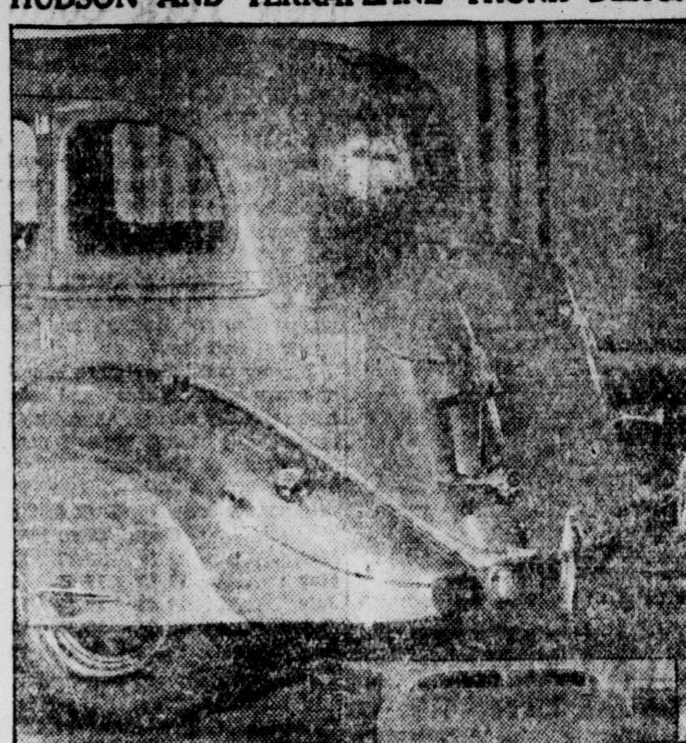

Among the ten democratic congressmen who revolted against party leadership in the triumphant house vote on President Roosevelt's $4,800,000,000 work-relief bill were Representatives Cox of Georgia (left) and Smith of Virginia (center). They are shown with Rep. Dies of Texas, who joined them in leading the revolt against party chiefs' drive to invoke the house "gag" rule in behalf of speedy passage for the measure. THEY WAIT AND HOPE—IN VAIN

Hoping against hope for some word from the sea that would indicate Captain Joseph E. Wood of the Mohawk might have survived the liner's collision with the freighter Talisman, his wife and daughter, Lillian, kept vigil in a New York hotel. But their hope seems to have been in vain, for Captain Wood, a resident of Jacksonville, Fla., was listed among the missing. (Associated Press Photo)

An entirely new type of trunk is being offered this year for Hudsons and Terraplanes. COUNTY COURT PUSHES WORK

Over Thirty Cases Disposed of in The Session Yesterday And Today

County court completed work shortly before the noon hour today after disposing of its docket of fifty-odd cases. Several actions were continued on account of the lack of witnesses.

Twenty or more cases were disposed of in the opening session yesterday—the first sitting in two weeks because of the two-week term of Superior Court which ended last Saturday, and the same number went the route today.

Charges of driving drunk, carelessly and recklessly, in addition to violation of liquor legislation and larceny occupied the court yesterday and other cases of the kind were heard today.

Joe Webb, one of four alleged gamblers caught in a police raid at the Pitt Drug Company, about two weeks ago, was fined $25, cost deducted, and the remaining cases were continued. Continuance was ordered until February 5 in the cases of Pinkie Whitehurst, J. H. Briley, and L. J. Katzer, as well as in that of W. H. Norris and Key Norris, owners and operators of the drug store, who are charged with maintaining a gambling house.

James Edwards and Louis Smith, colored, charged with larceny, were sentenced to six months each on the county roads. They were arrested to the theft of clothing from a man by the name of William Edwards.

Other cases heard yesterday were: Jesse Ayers, reckless driving, $25, cost deducted. Galvin Hyman, assault, judgment suspended. Alton Haddock, worthless check, ordered to pay cost and $101.43 to Harvey Oil Company.

Jarvis Taylor, driving drunk, four months on the roads and license revoked two years; revocation of license reduced to twelve months if he pays J. A. Mewborn damages of $104.

Roney Boykin, whiskey for sale, four months. Thomas Whichard, speeding, $20, cost deducted. J. B. Cutchin, driving on the wrong side of the road, $20; cost deducted.

J. B. Baker, abandonment; pay to court by Friday 10 o'clock the sum of $10 to be used for his children and also pay one-half of his gross income the following week for his children; ordered to report to the court on February 11 to show he has carried out provisions of the judgment.

Mattie Moore, assault with a deadly weapon, in jail four months; jail sentence suspended three years on condition that defendant fail to associate with Scrap Proctor and remain law-abiding. The charge grew out of her shooting at Proctor, said to be her sweetheart.

Jack Brannon, driving carelessly and recklessly, not guilty. Henry Rouse, Pete Wilson, Mary McQueen and Pearl May Ray, vagrancy; Rouse and Wilson 30 days on the roads and the two women 30 days at the County Home.

Arthur Tatum, reckless driving; not guilty. John Hines, abandonment; pay gross income to Susie Telfair and report back to court.

Nathan Powell, larceny; $25, or 90 days on the roads. Minnie Bell Johnson, assault with a deadly weapon; six months at the County Home.

Showing of Frigidaire Products. Smith Electric Company, dealer here for Frigidaire Corporation, subsidiary of General Motors, received an invitation from H. W. Newell, vice-president in charge of sales, to attend a confidential pre-showing of 1935 products and advertising and sales plans.

The showing will be held today in Richmond, Va., where Frigidaire's district headquarters are located. Jesse and Milo Smith were accompanied by the pre-showing by Marion Scarborough.

FIRST SNEAK BILL PASSED

Initial Measure of the Kind Makes Safe Voyage Through House

The first "sneak" bill of the session was passed by the House during an orgy of rushing bills through under suspension of rules Tuesday when it passed the bill by Representative C. W. Spruill of Bertie county.

When the bill was introduced, Representative Spruill explained that it was "a purely local bill" merely validating the sale of land for taxes in Bertie County. As a result, without even asking that the bill be read, it was passed without question.

But when the bill was read by newspaper men after it had already been passed by the House, it was found that it validated any and all acts of the Bertie County commissioners, regardless of what they were or might have been. Thus, if the county commissioners had seen fit to appropriate $500,000 of county funds to their own personal uses, this bill would have made such action entirely legal and lawful.

Nothing of this sort was involved, of course. But if bills of this sort can be passed, it does mean that county or city governing bodies may violate the law and exceed their authority under present laws and then get special laws passed to make their illegal acts legal.

"The passage of this bill by the House is one of the best arguments I know against suspending the rules for the passage of any bill, no matter whether it is a local bill or how unimportant it may seem," a member of the Senate said when he heard about it. "If that bill had gone to a committee for study and consideration, as it should have, it would never even have gotten to the floor. The Senate will kill it when it gets over there, however."

So far the House has been inclined to suspend the rules and pass bills out of "legislative courtesy" almost whenever a member asks it. But indications are that the House is going to get its fingers so badly burned before long by passing bills even reading them and without sending them to committees, that it will slow up eventually in his practice.

Jack Brannon, driving carelessly and recklessly, not guilty. Henry Rouse, Pete Wilson, Mary McQueen and Pearl May Ray, vagrancy; Rouse and Wilson 30 days on the roads and the two women 30 days at the County Home.

Arthur Tatum, reckless driving; not guilty. John Hines, abandonment; pay gross income to Susie Telfair and report back to court.

Nathan Powell, larceny; $25, or 90 days on the roads. Minnie Bell Johnson, assault with a deadly weapon; six months at the County Home.

Showing of Frigidaire Products. Smith Electric Company, dealer here for Frigidaire Corporation, subsidiary of General Motors, received an invitation from H. W. Newell, vice-president in charge of sales, to attend a confidential pre-showing of 1935 products and advertising and sales plans.

The showing will be held today in Richmond, Va., where Frigidaire's district headquarters are located. Jesse and Milo Smith were accompanied by the pre-showing by Marion Scarborough.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened four to five higher on trade buying and the handling of more offerings.

May sold up to 12.43 and October to 12.34 on the opening demand which was attributed to trade buying, making net gains of four to six points but this bulge met some liquidation and scattered selling and the market was off two or three points from the best at the end of the first half hour.

Trading continued quiet later but offerings were lighter and prices held generally steady. At midday the market was ruling around one or two points of the best.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Stocks acted a little better in today's market but showed little inclination to rise. Small fractional gains prevailed during the early afternoon, but grains was the dullesst in several months.

While mid-week reports of steel and electric power operators were favorable, a number of factors still kept traders on the side-lines, including the end one automobile code this week, the gold decision expected next week and the forthcoming ruling on floor traders. In commodities grains and cotton were a little higher. Bonds were mostly steady. Transfers were 450,000 shares.

stand, Hauptmann testified that letters from the dead Isador Fisch which he said were mysteriously missing after his arrest contained inquiries about fur and stock dealings between them.

Hauptmann, accused of kidnapping, murdering and collecting ransom for Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, has contended that Fisch was in active partnership with him not only in the fur business, but in stock market transactions as well. He was unable to show during the long and grueling cross-examination that he had any books or records of Fisch's part in stock purchases.

Soon after Edward J. Bailey, his chief counsel, began re-direct examination yesterday, he demanded that the State produce letters which Fisch wrote to Hauptmann before he died in Germany. The State brought in one postcard today.

"He was in this very letter asking me how were the stocks and in one letter I told him I got to sell his thousands of Elington Schild," Hauptmann said.

The importance of Fisch as a stock partner to Hauptmann chiefly was concerned with the circumstances of Hauptmann's assets involving more than $44,000 after the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom was paid. Hauptmann claimed that much of these assets represented cash from Fisch.

Reilly sought to counteract two damaging points of the State's case. He handed Hauptmann his notebook which had been put into evidence by the State and had him spell out the word "boat" found therein.

In cross-examination Attorney General David T. Wilentz had pointed to the same word spelled "board," just as the word was spelled in the Lindbergh ransom note which handwriting experts said was Hauptmann's.

Hauptmann denied he had used a plane in evidence against him since 1928. The markings of the plane were identified by a wood's expert as similar to those found on the kidnap ladder; also in evidence against Hauptmann.

He pointed out that there were two other planes in his tool box, and said they were better instruments preferred by him for carpentry work.

He denied implications of the State that there had been improper relations between him and Mrs. Greta Henkle, a comely matron with whom between him and Mrs. Greta Hauptmann was abroad.

interest on the bonds. The driver's license bill drafted by the roads committee was adopted by the Senate which means it passed one reading. It calls for the licensing of every operator of a motor vehicle with no charge for the license for experienced drivers who qualify by November 1. Senate approval of the Burrus bill to outlaw wait-katons and other human endurance contests after April 1 was sent to the House.

Reweld Senate Strength. Washington, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Administration leaders turned to re-weld senate strength today for big tasks to come today after the sunning up set which doomed world court adherence by a 7 vote margin. President Roosevelt's $4,800,000,000 work relief measure and his social security plan were uppermost in the minds of those charged with piloting the administration program.

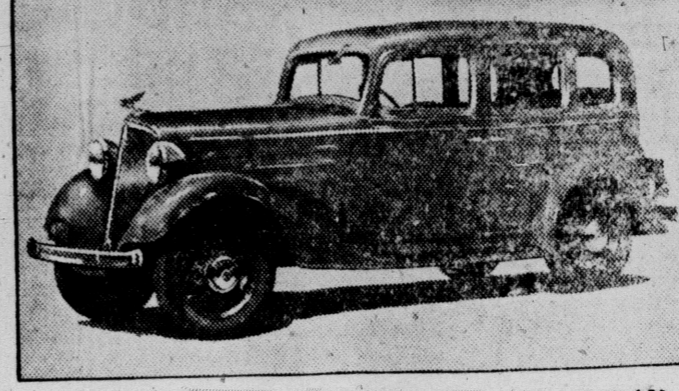

Tea Problem Simplified. It always is gratifying to the hostess to be able to prepare unusual sandwiches or light dishes with the afternoon tea following meetings of the bridge club.

For example, try this one with sliced pineapple. First of all dry the sliced pineapple on a towel and cut into squares. Wrap a piece of bacon around each square, holding firm with a toothpick. Then put them in the oven until the bacon is crisp, and place on toasted crackers, or small square pieces of toast. Serve hot.

Cream some sweet butter and mix in any kind of cheese you think your guests might like. Add some finely chopped olives and serve as sandwiches or on pieces of thin, crisp toast.

The selection, buying and preparation of the right kinds of Turkish tobaccos for making Chesterfield Cigarettes is a business in itself . . .

Handling Turkish tobacco in the Liggett & Myers modern factory at Smyrna, Turkey.

WE have buyers in all the tobacco markets of Turkey and Greece, including Xanthi, Cavalla, Smyrna and Samsoun.

And at Smyrna Chesterfield has built the most modern tobacco plant in the Near East.

Here the spicy, aromatic Turkish leaf is sorted and graded under the eyes of our own tobacco men.

Then it is put away to age in its own climate for two years or more to make it milder and better-tasting.

When you blend and cross-blend the right kinds of aromatic Turkish tobacco with mild ripe home-grown tobaccos as we do in Chesterfield you have . . .

the cigarette that's milder the cigarette that tastes better
