THE WEATHER

Cloudy tonight and not so cold, followed by rain in the west late tonight or Frday.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

"TRUTH IN PREFERENCE TO FICTION"

NEWS FOR THE READE
RESULTS FOR THE ADVERTISER

VOL. 97 NO. 51 Leased Wire GREENVILLE, N. C., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 7, 1935 Associated Press Price: Five Cen

EXPERT SAYS NAIL HOLES DID NOT SHOW ON KIDNAP LADDER

LEGISLATURE MAKING GOOD SHOWING NOW

More Progress Made On Major Legislation Than Any Other Session in Years

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 7.—This session of the General Assembly is really making much more rapid progress on its major legislation than any other in the past six or eight years, despite the fact that not a single State-wide bill has yet been enacted into law, those who have been following its progress from day to day are convinced. For while a good many people are criticising the Assembly for not having enacted any major legislation as yet, they forget that all important bills must first be sent to the various committees for study and revision before being taken up on the floor of either House and that several weeks is frequently necessary for the committee to complete consideration of one bill.

Take the revenue bill, for example, which must provide the revenue for the operation of the State government for the next two years and which levies taxes on almost every resident of the State in one form or another. The committee is required by law to hear any one who desires to be heard—and almost every one taxes by it wants a hearing. So while the Assembly has been in session four weeks now, the finance committees have just completed their hearings on the revenue bill. They will now require several days—in the past it has been several weeks—to re-write the bill and get it ready for introduction. At that, the revenue bill is now scheduled to reach the House at leaht forty days earlier than the 1933 bill did.

Even more time is required for the consideration of the appropriation bill than for the revenue bill, since it usually has to have more hearings than the revenue bill. Despite the fact that the chairman of the appropriations committees have been doing everything on it until February 8. After these hearings are concluded the committees have their most difficult work to perform, which is to consider all the request made for appropriations and then decide how much shall be allotted.

Since the revenue bill is expected

(Continued on Page Four)

EIGHT KILLED ON HIGHWAYS

Forty-Seven Also Injured in Series of Accidents in This Patrol Division

Eight persons were killed and 47 injured in a total of fifty-five accidents investigated by the divisional highway patrol during January, it was disclosed today in the monthly report of Lester Jones, patrol lieutenant.

Twenty-two persons were killed and 96 injured during December, the largest number for any single month in the history of the patrol.

One of those killed during the past month was a woman walking along the Cox Mill highway. The driver of the death car was tried at a previous session of Superior Court and sentenced to State's Prison.

The operation of cars by drunken drivers continues to show an increase in this division, thirty persons having been taken into custody during the period. The majority of them had their drivers license revoked and were required to pay heavy fines or go to the roads.

Drunken driving has been on a steay increase in all sections of the State the last several months and highway patrolmen along with other law-enforcement officers are doing everything in their power to halt it. In spite of their efforts, however, flagrant violations continue to greet the officers on all sides and more drastic efforts will probably be taken to improve the situation.

The patrol reported a total of 447 arrests witht 429 of the defendants being found guilty and eighteen not guilty. They received total sentences of 56 months.

The total amount of revenue collected by the patrol was given as $31,135.43—$2,137.10 being fines.

The report also revealed that 2,-709 vehicles were inspected during the month with 211 equipment tickets being issued and 1,315 lights corrected.

In addition to its other various activities, the patrol also issued warnings in 1,313 separate cases, extened 269 courtesies, recovered two cars, stored twenty vehicles, weighed 57 vehicles and found 31 of them overloaded. One hundred and fifty complaints were investigated and 119 warrants issued.

Plumber Supports Hauptmann's Story

Gustave Miller (above), a Bronx plumber, testified in the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, accused Lindbergh baby slayer, that an attic floor board which the state says was used in the kidnap ladder, was not missing from the Hauptmann home as late as August, 1934. He also supported Bruno's story of a leaky closet which caused the ransom notes to get wet. (Associated Press Photo)

POLICE FIRE ON PICKETS IN COAL FIELD

Slight Disorder Marks Strike of Anthracite Miners in Pennsylvania Area

POLICE FIRE

Wilkehbarre, Pa., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Police fired on pickets today for the first time in the strike of anthracite miners of the Pennsylvania colleries of the Glen Alden Coal Company in Luserne County, which began Monday.

The shots were fired from a police cruiher car and were directed at an autcmobile in which authorities said four pickets were being pursued by patrolmen. They were attempting to flee.

The pickets refused to obey the police order to stop the car and six shots were fired at them. Bullets pierced a rear tire and brought the car to a stop.

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

Inclusion of $1,500,000 for relief purposes in the highway appropriation of $26,000,000 annually met with questioning and announced opposition when highway chairman Capus Waynick made his appearance before the joint appropriations committee. It was the only proposal to draw open criticism.

Several committee members wanted to know how and by whom the money was to be spent. One member announced his opposition if it was to be "spent for pick and shovel fellows from the relief rolls." There were nods here and there in the committee room.

Chairman Waynick told the committee that Harry Hopkins, federal relief administrator, had made it "rather plain" that North Carolina will have to vontribute to relief funds if the state is to participate in the expenditures of federal funds for relief purposes. "I can't tell you exactly how the money is to be spent," said Waynick, "for I do not know, nor does anyone else. The Governor has explained to Mr. Hopkins that North Carolina ranks second only to New York contributions to the federal treasury and that while New York gets $1.14 in return for every dollar she pays, North Carolina receives only 43 cents. I presume that the Governor will have more to say about the expenditure of the $1,500,000 than anyone else."

The committee quietly received the proposal to increase the high-

(Continued on page Three.)

POLICE NAB MAN WANTED FOR MURDER

Clearence Freshette Confesses He Killed His Employer While On Trip West

Sacramento, Calif., Feb. 7.—(AP)—A transcontinental journey of death came to light here today when Captain Joseph Blake, of the State highway patrol, announced he had obtained a confesson from Clearence Freshette, 25, of Kalamazoo, Mich. that he shot and killed Robert Brown, his employer, whose body was found in a motor car.

Captain Blake, head of the State Highway Patrol, who was stationed on the Nevada - California border where Freshette was arrested last night, said the suspected killer confessed he killed Blake on January 2 while in Kalamazoo.

He said Freshette told him the body had been in a trunk on the motor car since that time while he drove West.

The police captain declared Freshette said he killed Brown because he discovered the man with "his girl."

Early last night Detective Sergeant Ralph Towers of Scramento received a telegram from Charles Strubble of Kalamazoo asking him to start search for Freshette.

The sheriff said he suspected the man of killing Brown and leaving the victim in the car. The sheriff reported that a short time before Brown's father, Roy, had received a telegram signed Robert Brown in which the sender asked that $10 be telegraphed to him in care of a Sacramento hotel. The Eastern officer suspected that Freshette was using Brown's name.

Wreck Injuries Prove Fatal To Black Creek Man

Wilson, N. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Sam Mills, of Black Creek, died early today of fractured skull and internal injuries suffered in a collision of hih truck and an automobile driven bp J. C. Camper at a street intersection in Wilson last night.

N. L. Mixon, of Washington, and Harry Morgan, of Durham and Washington, companions of Mills, escaped injury. Morgan fled from the scene of the accident and has not been found. Camper was not hurt.

Police said they found a pint of liquor in the truck.

FLU FAILS TO HALT SCHOOLS

Institutions Operating Throughout County With Pretty Fair Attendance

Although the "flu" has been epidemic in virtually all parts of the county during the last month or so, it has not forced the closing of any county schools, it was made known today from the Department of Education.

Not only have the schools been able to operate but attendance has been affected on in a minor way, the department made known today.

Much of the "flu" seems to be among people beyond the school age, and hundreds of cases have been reported throughout the county since the Christmas holidays.

Greenville probably has suffered more acutely from the illness than any other part of the county, as scores of cases have been reported here during the six-week epidemic period. Approximately two hundred children were out on account of various kinds of illness when schools resumed work after celebration of Christmas but this condition has improved considerably the last several weeks. However, quite a number of students have dropped out from day to day and five or six members of the faculty were affected the past two weeks.

Of course, the county attendance figure has been reduced to some extent from day to day because of the "flu" but it is nothing like what would be expected with the sickness gaining such wide scope on all fronts.

Although there have been several deaths from pneumonia in widely separate areas of the county, none directly attributable to the "flu" has been recorded here.

School officials were highly gratified over attendance figures of the past two months in the face of so much illness and looked forward to one of the most successful sessions in years.

FRANCE EASY AFTER RIOT

Over Thousand Communists Held in Jail After Disorders in Paris

Paris, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Safely past the anniversay of "Bloody Tuesday," with a potential riot averted through arrest of 1,200 Communists, Paris breathed a sigh of relief today.

Citizens were burying their dead or bandaging their own wounds as they prepared to forget the sad day of last year for another 12 months.

The Communists, the only group that attempted to revive the tragic incident of a year ago, found hundreds of comrades locked in cells while authorities declined to indict or prosecute.

A check of the day's casualties revealed that one civilian and five policemen were nursing slight injuries compared with nineteen killed and more than 800 injured in last year's battle.

ALDERMEN TO MEET TONIGHT

Election of New Alderman and Committee Reports to be Highlights

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen will will be held at the city hall tonight at 8 o'clock, but only a few important matters were scheduled for consideration.

Probably one of the most important matters to come before the board tonight is the filling of the vacency created by Alderman Norman Warren, who tendered his resignation in a letter to the board at a previous meeting because of ill health. The board decided at the time to leave the vacancy open until tonight when the new member will be elected.

Several reports from various committees were due to receive consideration tonight but whether they had been completed was a matter of conjecture today.

The aldermen at the January meeting received a glowing report on the financial condition of the city and collection of taxes. Tonight, however, they will be told by City Clerk J. O. Duval, that tax collections during the past month were approximately $3,000 less than the previous month. Of course, the drop in finances affects the city's treas-

(Continued on Page Four)

Mrs. Holland Laid To Rest In Belvoir Today

Funeral services for Mrs. D. J. Holland, 71, who died at her home in Belvoir township yesterday morning, were conducted from the late home this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The final rites were in charge of Elder S. B. Denny, pastor of the Wilson Primitive Baptist church and burial was made in the family burial ground.

A large crowd of friends from the surrounding countryside attended the funeral and a mass of flowers told in a mute way of the love and esteem of the community.

Mrs. Holland was one o fthe oldest citizens of the Belvoir section where she had lived all of her life.

She was the wife of a former member of the Board of County commissioners and retired farmer who is still active in the development of the civic life of his community.

Surviving are the husband and six children, all of whom live in this immediate section.

'BABY BONDS' TO GO ON SALE MARCH FIRST

President Roosevelt To Buy First of the United States Treasury Issue

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—A tentative price range of $75 to $78 for a ten-year bond maturing at $100 had been set by the Treasury today for the first issue of "baby bonds" on March 1.

In making the announcement, Under Secretary Coolidge said that the price of $75 would pield 2.90 per cent interest on a ten-year maturity while the higher price would net a return of 2 1-2 per cent.

Coolidge held the view the bond would not be eligible as collateral at commercial banks as they did not enjoy transfer privilege. He said that they would be made negotiable at commercial banks as well as Federal Reserve Banks and all local agencies of the government.

The amount of the first baby bonds issued was not dihclosed at the Treasury. President Roosevelt will buy the first bond.

SEEK AID OF CCC IN ARMY

General MacArthur Would Recruit 100,000 Men For Regular Army

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—An elisted reserve force of more than 100,000 partially trained young men recruited from CCC camps is proposed in a bill now being drafter by General Douglass McArthur, army

MacArthur's bill as suggested before the House Military Committee would provide for enlistment of camp graduates for two months' intensive military training, and after that they would revert to inactive status.

There is no available reserve of men to fill the ranks of the regular army in case of an emergency, MacArthur told the House Committee.

CUMBERLAND OFFICERS DESTROY SEVEN STILLS

Fayetteville, N. C., Feb. 7.—Seven stills destroyed and three convictions is the result so far of a campaign by Cumberland County officers against illicit liquor manufacturers. A white man and two negroes were taken at a copper distillery and the three convicted in Recorder's Court yesterday afternoon. David Strickland the white man, who recently was given a suspended sentence on the same charge, received a six months' road sentence for manufacturing. He appealed to the Superior Court. The negroes, Jow Whitted and Frank Evans, were fined $10 and judgment otherwise suspended.

Rural Policeman E. W. Jackson aud Derb Carter and Constable W. J. Underwood conducted the raids.

The only infield job in doubt in the line-up of the Baltimore Orioles is third base, where Eddie Mayo Johnstown recruit, and Johnny Kroner, 1934 utility star, are to fight it out.

LINK FISCH WITH RANSOM

Benjamin Heier, unemployed waiter, is shown at left after testifying in Bruno Richard Hauptmann's defense that he saw a man resembling the late Isador Fisch jump from a wall of St. Raymond's cemetery the night "Jafsie" Condon had his ransom rendezvous there. Mrs. Bertha Hoff (center) also linked Fisch with the Lindbergh ransom money by identifying him as the man who brought a pasteboard box to her home in November, 1933. Hauptmann claims Fisch left him the money in a similar box. At right is Joseph Tartell, who was to defend Hauptmann, but who was withdrawn as a witness. (Associated Press Photo)

Chain Filling Stations To Get Hearing On Taxes

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Feb. 7.—The major oil companies operating filling stations in North Carolina will be heard by the joint finance committee of the legislature. They will tell the committee why they should not be taxed under the chain store tax act.

A subcommittee of the finance group has been studying ways and means to tax the major oil companies who operate chain filling stations without discriminating against them is now ready to report. It has been learned that the subcommittee will recommend a plan which will bring to the state almost $1,000,000 in new revenue from these companies. Filling stations are now exempt from the chain store tax because, under the existing act, chain filling stations would be taxed out of proportion to the volume of business done by them. Revenue Commissioner Maxwell has expressed the opinion that chain filling stations in North Carolina do about 5 per cent of the total chain store business, but would if taxed under the provision applicable to other chain stores, pay more than 80 per cent of the total chain store tax.

To circumvent such a condition the finance committee will re-write the chain store tax section of the revenue bill. Proposed changes would mean that chain stores would be taxed with a reference to the total number of stores in a particular chain, whether or not all the stores are in the state, and that floor space would enter as a factor in calculating the tax to be paid by any chain store. The floor space plan would require a smaller tax from chain filling stations than from other chain stores. Such a plan would remove the "inequitable" argument against inclusion of chain filling stations in the act.

Representative Barker of Durham, who is staunchly advocating that the chain filling stations be taxed under the chain store tax law has hinted that Sam Brockwell, independent gasoline dealer of Durham, will have some interesting things to tell the finance committee. Brockwell says Representative Barker, is a former representative of some major oil companies and will tell committee members why those oil companies should be taxed for the operation or lease of filling stations.

Representatives of the big oil companies will also be on hand to advance arguments against the tax.

It is already apparent that the revenue bill when completed will include chain filling stations under the chain store tax. A survey of

(Continued on Page Four)

Tentative Revised Chain Store Tax

Reflector Bureau,
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Feb. 7.—The new schedule for taxing chain stores in the revenue bill, as prepared by a special subcommittee of the joint finance committees was presented to the joint body Wednesday afternoon. All the figures are based on stores whose enclosed floor space does not exceed 500 square feet. The new schedule is as follows:

First store, exempt from tax; next 4 stores, $50 each; next 5 to 8 stores, $60 each; next 9 to 12 stores, $70 each; next 13 to 16 stores $80 each; next 17 to 20 stores, $90 each; all over 20 stores, $100 each.

Further provisions were made for taxing chain stores whose floor space exceeds 500 square feet. For the first additional 500 square feet, $50 is added to the tax schedule above; for the second 500 square feet, $25 more is added and for all floor space in excess of these amounts, $20 for each additional 1,000 square feet is added.

These taxes would apply to all chain stores, including chain filling stations. Most of the filling stations will fall in the 500 square feet classification.

All taxes levied under this proposed new sectionwould be in addition to the regular privilege and license taxes already levied.

Late News Flashes

Cash Issue Before Congress

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Cash—$4,880,000,000 of it—today was the nub of the administration's congressional trouble.

This lump sum relief fund already heavily penciled by hair splitby the Senate Appropriations Committee, still was listed in the woods of possible amendments ranging from an outright gold measure to more drastic limits on President's power in spending.

The Appropriations Committee today amended the measure, but requiring labor on all public projects to be paid "not less than the prevailing wage" of private industry in that locality.

In the Legislature

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Extension of the jurisdiction of sheriffs and deputies beyond the limits of their home counties in cases in which felonies are involved was approved by the Senate as the House listened to a proposal to enlarge

(Continued on Page Four)

DR. HUDSON TELLS OF HIS EXAMINATIO

Court Told That On One Nail Hole W Found in Ladd When it Was E amined Month A ter Kidnapin About Five Hundr Fingerprints Fou On Ladder; Sta Troops Found On a Few

Flemington, N. J., Feb. 7.—(A Bruno Richard Hauptmann's fense today pursued a hint of fr ed evidence with an expert insi in the face of photographs and rnment reports that three nor nating nail holes in the Lindb kidnap ladder were not in the der when he examined it.

This witness was Dr. E. M. H son, a New York physician and ateur fingreprint man. He chan his testimony that the the "fram rails 16—a part of the kidnap der which the state charges c from Hauptmann's attic and t there had only one square nail when he saw it on March 13, 13 days after the Lindbergh was kidnaped and slain.

The rails in evidence have nail holes which state experts police said jibed with holes in of Hauptmann's attic.

Out of court after Hudson's timony counsel for the state that photographs of the nail were made before he examined ladder.

A state trooper said he not the nail holes on the night of kidnaping. The defense also to weaken the identity of Ha mann as the man seen lurking the Lindbergh home before crime by calling William Whitted to say the reputation of his rela Millard Whitted, whose sense veracity was dead.

The two men do not spell names the same way, Whitted testified for the state.

William Diehl another residen the Sourland hills, followed. Whitted's reputation for veracity said: "Tain't any good." Ge Lenz also said "not good," as Whitted's veracity.

The state in cross-examinatio the three Sourland men brou out that Whitehead had been jail, that Lenz had had trouble Whitted over a lumber bill, that Diehl had signed a statem to the effect that he had not puted Whitted's reputation for racity. Diehl explained he c

(Continued on Page Four)

SCOUTS WILL STAGE HI

All Boys of The C Invited to Take P In Feature of Sil Jubilee

All the boys in Greenville betw the ages of 12 and 15 years are vited as guests of the Green Boy Scouts Anniversay Week The hike will start from the behind the High School Satur afternoon at 2 p. m. and last u 6 p. m.

Wm. H. Taft, chairman of Scout District Camping Commit announces that all the plans—pl games, contests, stories, songs, ev and leaders—have been compl Big fun awaits the boys.

As well as the Scouts enjo the hike themselves, it was dec that other boys of Greenville w enjoy this opportunity for ad ture. Non-Scouts would enjoy a l of Scouting and things Scouts and get an experience that w be new and informing.

The goal of the hike is to be venture and fun—real fund Scout's wholesome way. It will al pleasure for Scouts and non-Sc together.

Boys who come for the hike come dressed for hiking—and a nickel's worth of weiners and —or an amount appropriate to t appetites.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

Washirgton
By IRA BENNETT

INTERFERENCE. Authorities in the War and Justice departments look with curiosity upon the excesses of Huey Long, Boss of Louisiana. It is not expected that Long will deliberately invited federal interference with his course, but his audacity knows no bounds and it is surmised in some quarters that he may provoke a clash with Washington in the hope of making political capital with state's rights fanatics.

It would be a losing game.

The chances are strong that civil disturbances in Louisiana would bring about federal action. Long and his enemies cannot indulge in state wide combat without running afoul of federal activities, such as transportation of interstate commerce and the mails. In fact Uncle Sam would brush aside both fighting factions and keep federal operations going.

FORCE. With purely state quarrels the United States is not concerned. Long can call the legislature and revise the state constitution without interference from Washington—unless he should attempt to do away with a republican form of government. If vicience in Louisiana should become rampant to such an extent as to upset republican government the United States could and would step in to suppass disorder, notwithstanding the provision which contemplates that such interference shall not take place unless the legislature or the governor

(Continued on page two)

The Daily Reflector

Every Afternoon Except Sunday
Established 1882

DAVID J. WHICHARD, Jr
Owner and Publisher

TELEPHONE 50

Entered at the Post Office at Greenville N. C. as second class mail matter.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
(Payable in Advance)

One year	$5.00
Six months	$2.50
Three months	$125
One month	.50

Subscription will be discontinued at expiration of time paid

MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herin. All right of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES

Thos. F. Clark Co., Inc., New York, Chicago, Indianapolis, Philadelphia, Kansas City.

SKATING ZONES AS SAFETY MEASURE

It was suggested at the last meeting of the Rotary Club that the club request the city to arrange at certain times to rope off certain zones in the city to provide places for the children to skate with a minimum of danger and prevent skating about the streets all over the city. Certainly the suggestion is a good one and should be carried out by the city. Of course the children are going to skate and unless some place is provided for it they are going to continue to use the streets all over the city and as a result some child is going to be killed by an automobile. There are in every section of the city blocks that could be roped off at certain hours each afternoon without any serious inconvenience to traffic ond the roping off of these zones to provide a place for the children would certainly mean greater safety for them without depriving them of the fun and beneficial exercising they get out of skating.

ARE WE TRYING TO GET RID OF THEM?

While on the subject of gambling houses in this community there comes to us a report that at one spot near Greenville not only is a gambling house being operated but that quarters for immoral purposes are available and can be rented for one dollar per night or a portion thereof. The report is to the effect that the gambling game runs at any and all times when a sufficient number of players are available and that the joint is drawing clients even from some of the adjoining counties. Just a short time ago, the story goes, an argument at the joint resulted in one person being hit over the head with a piece of two by four timber and knocked oct of the door on top of another person, rendering the latter unconscious. One of the persons was reported so badly injured that he required hospital treatment, but so far as is known no arrests in the affair have been made and the gambling joint still operates at will.

If these things are going on in our community, and it is the general belief that they are, we do not see why the officers cannot put a stop to them. Of course it might take some effort on the part of the officers but it has been our opinion that if they really go after these things they can break them up.

Montana Rides Again

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS

SYNOPSIS: Montana and Rubriz have entered the fort of Durova and regained for the church the emerald crown of Our Lady, stolen in the first place by the governor. Montana found the way with the help of Rosita; now Rosita has betrayed him to the governor. He and Rubriz are trying to escape from the aroused fort—and the chances are very slim.

Chapter 24

AT THE POSTERN

MONTANA reached the stairs that slanted steeply down through the wall. Someone came running up toward him, almost crashed into him. The soldier jumped back against the wall. "Pardon, senor!" he gasped.

Montana went silently past. He was down the second flight of stairs. He was at the entrance to the guardroom. There had been three men in the place when he and Rubriz made their entrance, terrible hours before. There were almost a dozen present now, and there was a captain among them!

From the deeps of his throat the Kid summoned a guttural roar: "Attention!" and strode in on the wings of that word.

They came to rigid attention, all of them, their eyes foolishly staring, their arms foolishly stiff at their sides. So the Kid crossed to the door.

"Open!" he thundered.

"But, Excellency—" said the captain.

There was a corporal who heard the word "excellency" and sprang like a frightened rabbit to do the first bidding. He worked feverishly, wrenching back the three bolts. He thrust them so fast and hard that they clanged loudly. The heavy door yawned a little.

"Excellency—" said the captain.

"Silence!" roared El Keed.

"Silence be damned!" exclaimed the captain. "What are you and who are you?"

He came striding, with a jingle of spurs, and the Kid leaped through the widening lip of the door.

The night struck at him like a wet black hand. He heard, from behind him, a scream of rage and astonishment like the shriek of a woman.

Hard to the left he turned, shedding the encumbering cloak as he ran. Behind him, the arm of light was widening, reaching into the rain of the night. And the guard was pouring out, each man shooting at the brilliant phantom nothingness of the light and the rain.

Then they had sight of Montana to their left, already dim with night and distance, and running straight down the slope towards those willows which stood by the bank of the river. They paused even now to fire a few shots, in hope of good fortune and also to catch the ear of the rest of the fort. Then they burst into pursuit of a fugitive who was already invisible.

One cry came out of the throat of the Kid as he neared the willows. And when he came through them he found the gigantic form of the friar. The Kid leaped on the red mare.

"Take the black and the mule," he commanded. "I have half of the crown. The soldiers are after me. We must ford the river. Rubriz will never come this way tonight!"

They pushed straight out from the trees into the water. The rain, sent out of a kind heaven, the same wind and rain that had tortured Montana on the ledge beneath the window, now stormed down in an impenetrable veil. He could hear gunshots from behind, but he could see nothing. The water rose to his knees. It shoaled. He came out on the farther shore, with Brother Pascual beside him.

AS Montana had guessed, it was not on the strength of his hands that Rubriz was depending when he determined to leave the governor's room by the open way.

When he came to the fallen door, he picked it up and placed the burden of it over his shoulder and the back of his neck. He had barely put the thing in position when many men stormed in from the hall with panting General Ignacio Estrada at their head.

He caught Rubriz by the shoulder. His grip slipped on the great rubbery muscles that shod the bones of Rubriz.

"What's this? What's happening here?" cried Estrada.

"I carry away the door to be repaired," said Rubriz. "I know nothing but orders. I am a poor servant, senor."

"All half-wits. All fools. Nothing but blind men around me tonight," shouted Estrada.

He strode on into his room. The others followed, and with the bugles blowing the call to arms, Rubriz went on down the stairs.

The governor, entering his bedroom, looked wildly around him. But nothing was wrong. The door of the closet that contained the precious safe was closed. All was apparently well.

"Your eyes! Your eyes!" he shouted to the men around him. "If you have eyes, tell me what they see!"

"There is rather an odd odor in the air," said one of the officers.

"The damned moldy smell always blows up with a storm out of this old rat-trap!" declared the general.

"There is this black burn on the carpet," said another officer.

"Burn on the carpet? What burn, you fool?" bellowed the general.

Then he saw it, and followed the irregular course of the little black spots to the point where they disappeared under the door of the closet. At that, a suspicion too terrible to pass up into words overwhelmed him. He passed a hand across his shaggy hair.

It seemed to him that a ghost, not Ignacio Estrada, had been rejoicing himself not long before with the pretty face of a girl. Compared with such a loss as might befall him, what were all the women of the world?

He tore open the closet door. Inside, the thick, strange smell which had been noticeable in the bedroom was much more pronounced. And the door of the safe hung open on one hinge—the drawers had been jerked out, half the contents scattered, half taken!

He had a good hold on the edge of the door or he would have staggered. He might even have fallen to his knees under the weight of this calamity. Instead, he merely rolled back his head and started upwards.

"Father in heaven, what have I done to you?" muttered Estrada.

HE turned slowly on the others. "Get out into every corner of the building!" he exclaimed. "Burrow into the cracks of the stones. Because El Keed is here among us My God! how can a man walk invisible? I am robbed! Do you hear? And El Keed —"

A loud and sustained rattling of guns began at this moment. The general ran to the open window and leaned out.

"It's from the postern! If the thief has escaped by the way he came, I'll skin the guards and eat them with my own teeth!"

"No, Excellency. He could not have gone that way. I myself posted ten men and Captain —"

"Damn the men—damn the captains! Names are no good. Numbers are nothing. Brains are what rule the world. Scatter! Use your feet if you can't use your wits!"

* * * * *

The door was heavy, but Rubriz could have carried it like a feather if he had not known that it was better to assume the swinging, slow pace of the true laborer. So he went patiently down the stairs, and through the lower gallery, and finally into the great open courtyard, where he was shocked by a noise of firing just outside the fort and a clamoring of voices made high and thin by excitement.

He dropped the door to the ground, but noticing that some soldiers were watching him, he hastily put it on his back once more and went on.

Had they captured Montana?

Well, at least the curse of the alarm bell was still in his ear, beating on his brain with the impulse to flee as fast as he could. He kept to his steady gait right across the inside parade-ground. He was right at the gate before he was halted.

"Who goes there?"

"Luis Lapaz."

"What's that?"

"The door of the room of General Estrada."

"What are you doing with the door of the commander?" asked the lieutenant. He began to laugh as he asked the question.

"I am carrying it," said Rubriz, simply.

"I can see you are, donkey. But why are you carrying it?"

"I am taking it away," said Rubriz.

"Be patient," said another young officer. "You can see that the man is not right, up here."

"Well, these fools! Luis Lapaz?"

"Yes, señor."

"Where is your pass?"

"I lost it, my señor."

"Come, come! Simpleton or no simpleton, that won't do here! Where did you lose it?"

(Copyright, 1934, Harper & Brothers)

Tomorrow, recognition brings added danger to Rubriz.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Continued from Page One)

shall apply for help.

Several cases are in the federal courts in Louisiana involving injunctions against invasion of constitutional rights. If Long should presume to defy and violate federal court orders he would be called to account immediaately by force if necessary. Many precedents are found for enforcement of court orders by civil and military forces.

MILITIA: Interference by Long's cohorts with election of members of Congress and Senators might easily bring about legislation by Congress providing for supervision of elections. Congress can prescribe the time, place and manner of holding such elections.

Control of the National Guard of Louisiana is vested in the state authorities. The militia of each state is organized and disciplined under national law, but except in time of war the national government does not exercise authority over it.

MACE: Bumptious governors occasionally have tested out the extent to which they might defy the national government. They soon discovered that it was wise to desist On the other hand, the government has avoided interference in state quarrels, however, turbulent so long as federal laws, agencies and activities were not disturbed.

With all of Long's novel and extravagant outbursts it has been noted that he knows how to avoid fatal encounters with superior power. He goes far with the state's political machinery, with a showing of popular support behind him. This is very different from an encounter with federal power. Long is not ignorant. He knows the law. His power is confined to Louisiana and to state affairs. He knows that if he should attack federal authority he would suffere a knockout blow by the iron mace of federal power.

If Long should deliberately provoke a clash with the federal government for political reasons, to stir up insurrection and revolution, he would learn still more.

STABILIZED: Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's manipulation of our $2,000,000,000 currency stabilization fund is one of the deepest, darkest secrets in all of Washington. This is the fund used to keep the dollar on an even keel in international exchage.

Reports and rumors will persist, however. They are passed along only as such. It is whispered among those who profess mysteriously to somehow be in the know that we have about a $200,000,000 profit to our credit.

If this is true it would be at the expense of England. The dope is, though, that this will even up in the course of time and both sides will have come out about square. The dollar and the pound seem to be unofficially stabilized within a variation of five cents.

DIVORCE: Marriner Eccles, the western banker who changed his economic philosophy during the height of the depression and became an ardent supporter of New Deal financial policies, is expected to be confirmed by the Senate as Governor of the Federal Reserve Board. Not however until Senator Carter Glass of Va., father of the Federal Reserve Act, has taken him for what the boys might sprightly call a short buggy ride.

As chairman of the sub-committee investigating Eccles' qualifications, the unreconstructed Virginian is taking his good, sweet time. He says he wants to go into the Governor's possible interest in a holding company which took over 34 banks after the 1933 bank holiday. Eccles divorced himself from this enterprise when he went on the Federal Reserve Board, in acordance with law, but Glass will inquire into any possible interest Eccles' brother may still be nursing.

Bankers generally are reported to be satisfied with Eccles' appointment. They would have preferred one of their own right-wing brethren but they are thankful the choice veered no further to the left financially.

REGULATION: FDR points out clearly that too much haste would be poor speed in aviation regulation. His reference to the development of "interrelated planning" may embody a hint of the difficulty to be smoothed out between interstate and intra-state regulation. At any rate it is impracticable for the government to undertake complete assimilation of all transportation agencies until further studies have been made.

In this as in other matters the question of delegation of authority bobs up. Judicial questions arise, which under the old order would be dealt with by the courts. Much judicial authority has been delegated to administrative bodies. The accustomed to exercising those powers. It's easy to propose "regulation" but not so easy to do it.

Sundown Stories

The Injured Wing

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

IT WAS Mrs. Quacko Duck who helped Top Notch fix Christopher's eye. They rubbed around the eye to bring back the circulation and color and they put some of Mrs. Quacko's best salve where it was nipped.

Willy Nilly felt quite miserable. He was afraid that Christopher would lose his eye. Why had he been so severe with Christopher?

"I think it's feeling better now. I'm sure it will be all right," cawed Christopher. He was indeed, at times, a mischievous crow, but no one could ever call Christopher Columbus Crow a coward.

Bravely through the pain he kept repeating that he felt better.

"I will be just as ever, even if I do have to lose an eye," said Christopher, and he began walking around to show how well he felt.

But Christopher was not used to seeing out of one eye, and Mrs. Quacko Duck had bandaged up the frost bitten one so he couldn't have seen had it been all right.

Rip and Top Notch, Mr. and Mrs. Quacko and the other ducks and Willy Nilly all felt a great wave of admiration for their splendid crow, when suddenly there was a bang and Christopher toppled over, and a rocking chair did too.

"What's the matter? Did you faint?" cried Willy Nilly. He took Christopher in his arms, and as he pressed Christopher to him a small moaning cry escaped from Christopher.

"I'm awkward, that's all. I bumped into that rocking chair. But you see I'm strong. I knocked it over!" Christopher was certainly game.

Tomorrow—"Christopher Sees"

New York

By JAMES McMULLIN

TACTICS: Informed New Yorkers say that Frenchmen are chuckling in their beards at the breakdown of our trade and debt negotiatons with Soviet Russia John Bull has no reason to be displeased either. Our withdrawal opens up rich trade fields for their benefit—and they aren't bothered by little things like the settlement of czarist debts. Recently both France and England have grabbed off Soviet contracts which were supposed to come our way.

Well-posted sources are convinced that France had more to do with boosting up our Russian negotiations than the world will ever know. She had two execelent reasons for doing so. One was the obvious trade advantage she would derive. The other was to keep intact what might be called the European Brotherhood of Uncle Sam's Defaulting Debtors. It would be a terrible blow to the French if any important nation should make an effort to settle its obligations.

France's backstage tactics have been subtle but they can be traced. For instance—despite her plentiful financial troubles at home—she recently arranged a sizable credit to the Soviets for goods boght in France.

ABANDONED: This question of credit has been the chief obstacle to our efforts to reach an agreement with Russia. The Soviets would have been willing to acknowledge most of the obligations we claimed and to pay them off in the form of higher prices for the goods they bought—PROVIDED we would lend them about twice as much as they owed.

The Russians wanted credit so badly they might have compromised if France hadnt stepped in to the breach. Naturally her assistance was gratefully received—especially as there were no debt settlement strings attached. That stiffened Russian resistance to our idgas and there's reason to believe that France strongly encouraged her to don the high hat.

The collapse is taken as final by New York authorities. Reports are current that plans to build up an impressive embassy staff at Moscow will be abandoned.

ORIENT: Japan is gradually marshalling the Asiatic world under her leadership. That's the meaning of her current prssure on China to form a definite alliance. The Chinese wont resist for long.

Insders predict that before the year is over Japan will be recognized tacitly as China's boss and reorganizer except by a minority of irreconcilables. Financial New York mostly approve. Anything which stabilizes and modernizes China will strengthen the large Far Eastern investments of powerful banking interes'ts.

But Britain has reason to view with alarm. The English are due to be delicately squeezed out of their dominant financial position in China and growth of the pan-Asiatic idea meas Indian trouble in carload lots.

BOUNCE: Those who should know comment that there's a lot more junk in the Consolidated Gas rate base than the item of defunct autos carried at $102,000 recently brought to light at a legislative hearing. They add that Mr. Carlisle is due for some unpleasant surprises if he's as unaware of other overvalued scrap-heaps as he was of that tidbit.

Several of the Con Gas plants are said to be carred at a figure much closer to their original cost than their present worth. The word is that new appraisals will be demanded before any Con Gas proposition is acceptable to state or city authorities.

A number of Con Gas executives are likely to be bounced on their ears also. Those who are shown to have been over-zealous in protecting their company's income at the public expense will not be allowed to stand in the way of Mr. Carlisle's hopes for better public relatons.

Legislative Ramblings

(Continued From Page One)

way patrol to 115 men and 6 officers, an "impartial" inclusion in the request for $500,000 for maintenance of highways lying within the corporate limits of towns and cities, and a plea for immediate release of $3,000,000 to be used on secondary roads.

Senator John Sprunt Hill wanted to know if the $10,000,000 asked for highway maintenance was a "guess or arrived at from actual surveys and studies." Commissioner Waynick said "surveys."

A return to local taxation for school purposes, such taxes to be levied without a vote of the people, is advocated by numerous school teachers and supervisors. Although no such plan was advanced at the public hearing accorded the educational forces by the joint appropriations committee, it was advanced in hotel rooms and other meeting places immediately after the public hearing. The hotel room meetings were held by school people from the various counties and their legislative representatives attended and listened to the proposal.

The plan was advanced "as a last resort if we fail to get the $22,000,000 asked for by the state superintendent of schools," and was, in some cases, presented as "a local proposition." When several legislators told them frankly that such bills could not possibly get the approval of the general assembly they switched to state-wide adoption of the plan. Under the machinery act of 1931 any supplementing of school funds by counties or towns must first be approved in an election by a majority of the registered voters.

The hopelessness of enacting into law a plan to permit county commissioners, in their discretion, to supplement the state school allotments without an election was expressed by several legislators. "I am heartily in sympathy with the teachers and the schools," said Rep. Ervin of Mecklenburg, "but such a bill even if it could be passed, would strike at the very heart of the 8-months state supported school because it would result in what we were told would be carefully avoided: local taxes for school purposes. Such a bill would bring terrific opposition."

A similar view was expressed by Senator Bell, who added: "The enactment, or even introduction, of such a bill would be tacit admission by the legislature that the people would not approve an increase if they were allowed the privilege of voting on it. Nor do I believe that an increase would be voted by the people unless it is quite apparent that the legislature deals in a picayunish manner with the schools."

The Extra Bolls Are The Profit

YOU have got to produce a certain amount of cotton to pay for the labor, fertilizer and other incidental expenses. If you produce only the number of bolls necessary to pay these expenses, you will have no profit left. It is from the extra bolls on each stalk that your profit comes. Therefore, it is only natural that what you are looking for is a fertilizer that will put these extra bolls on every stalk.

For fifty years Royster has done nothing but study plant foods for various crops—cotton in particular. It has been our life work to produce an early-maturing, heavy-producing cotton plant, and we feel that our efforts have met with success. It stands to reason that one who has spent a life-time at one job must succeed.

Be sure you get the extra bolls that mean profit. See your Royster agent and let him know how many tons of Royster Field Tested Cotton Fertilizer you will need.

Royster
FIELD TESTED FERTILIZERS

F. S. ROYSTER GUANO COMPANY, NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

50 YEARS

Greenville Fertilizer Company

Office: Dickinson Avenue, Greenville, N. C.

is local distributor for

ROYSTER'S Field Tested Fertilizers

N. O. Warren, President

Social and Personal

Bob Greene went to Charlotte yesterday.

Mrs. V. E. Staton, Mrs. Gayle Hamon and Joe Staton went to Wilson yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Person, Mrs. W. B. Tilghman and Miss Abiah Person have returned from Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Caswell and little daughter, Arlene Joyner, of Detroit, Michigan, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Flanagan.

Mrs. J. L. Fleming has returned from Florida.

James Moye and J. W. Overton of the Greenville Banking & Trust Co., are spending several days in Belhaven.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church will serve a turkey supper at the church at 6:30 tonight, for 50 cents. Chicken salad plate for 35c.—(Adv.)

Miss Forbes Ill.

Friends of Miss Mary Forbes will be sorry to learn that she is ill with influenza.

Called To Everetts.

Mrs. C. B. Clark is in Everetts where she was called on account of the illness of her mother.

Mr. Warren Very Ill.

Friends of Mr. Ollen Warren will be sorry to learn that he is critically ill at his home on West Fourth street. Mrs. Harry Smith of Weldon, and Mrs. George Sharpe of Burlington, arrived yesterday to be with their father.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church will serve a turkey supper at the church at 6:30 tonight, for 50 cents. Chicken salad plate for 35c.—(Adv.)

Valentine Party Postponed.

The O. E. S. Valentine party has been postponed until Tuesday night at eight o'clock.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church will serve a turkey supper at the church at 6:30 tonight, for 50 cents. Chicken salad plate for 35c.—(Adv.)

Musical Program At College.

A program of chamber music by the violin ensemble of the college will be presented in the Austin auditorium on next Sunday afternoon, Feb. 10, at 4:45 o'clock. Miss Louise Nagle, pianist, of Baltimore, the new member of the piano faculty, will assist. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Neal Club Hostess.

Yesterday afternoon at her home on East Fifth street, Mrs. R. S. Neal was hostess at a delightful meeting of her bridge club.

At the conclusion of the game scores were counted and Miss Jesse Moye was awarded a pair of vases for high score.

The hostess served tempting refreshments.

Tables for the game were placed in a setting of early spring flowers.

Garden Club To Meet.

The Garden Club will meet Friday afternoon at 3:30 in the Sallie Southall Cotten room at the Woman's Club. L. R. Casey of Goldsboro, will talk on "Roses." The public is cordially invited.

Birth Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Carroll of Winterville, announce the birth of a son, on Thursday, February 7th, 1935, Pitt Community Hospital.

The Rosebud Beauty Shoppe wishes to announce that Mrs. E. G. Wilkerson (Miss Agnes Gaskins) has accepted her former position with us, and will be associated with the shoppe from now on. Agnes extends a cordial invitation to all of her old friends and patrons. Phone 379.—(Adv.) 7-6t

Seven States In Glee Club.

Seven states and Canada will be represented in the University Glee Club when they appear in the Campus buildnig of the college on next Monday evening. The one from the farthest north is from Halifax, Nova Scotia, from the extreme south, Florida, and the most western point Illinois. Those tying for place second to North Carolina in numbers are New York and New Jersey.

A new system of discovering the best musical talent has been worked out by Professor H. Grady Miller. Only those enrolled in regular classes in voice work are accepted as dates picked, all of whom are given club. James Dees of this city, is with the glee club this season.

From a large number of candidates picked, all of whim are given the same training, the smaller group forming the varsity glee club is picked. Competition is keen, especially for the baritone and base sections, and much talent has been uncovered this year in both tenor sections. If any one in the group selected to go on a tour has to drop out for any reason, a substitute is ready and eager to step in.

The eastern tour will open with the concert here.

W. M. B. BROWN, M. D.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Examination For Glasses
319-325 National Bank Bldg.
Office Hours: 9-12:30; 2-4
Wednesday 9-1

Social Calendar

THURSDAY

7:30 p. m.—The "B" Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Episcopal Church will meet in the Parish house.

8:00 p. m. — The Dramatic Club will meet in Sheppard Memorial Library.

8:00 p. m.—The Nurses' Council will meet with Mrs. Jake Dixon. Mrs. Alton Clapp will be assisting hostess.

FRIDAY

3:30 p. m.—The Junior Woman's Club will meet in the Woman's Club building. Mrs. Francis Bowen and Mrs. Durward Tucker, hostesses.

3:30 p. m.—The Garden Club will meet in the Cotten room in the Woman's Club building.

7:00 p. m.—The C. J. Ellen Class of the Memorial Baptist Church will have supper in the church.

8:00 p. m.—The T. E. L. Class of Immanuel Baptist Church will meet with Mrs. W. G. Rush.

Holy Communion.

There will be celebration of Holy Communion in St. Paul's Episcopal Church Friday morning at ten o'clock.

Mrs. Ward Improving.

Friends of Mrs. W. T. Ward will be glad to learn that she is improving.

Birthday Party.

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Whichard delightfully entertained at a surprise bridge party honoring their sister, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, the occasion being her birthday.

Their attractive home on Library street was beautifully decorated with potted plants and narcissi with the Valentine effect predominating, the color scheme of red and white being carried out in each event of the evening.

Several progressions of bridge were enjoyed. Miss Josephine Robertson and Edward W. Hearne were awarded handsome double deck bridge sets for high score and a handkerchief was presented Mrs. Walter H. Jenkins, and cigarettes to Johnson Dees for low score.

While refreshments were being served the hostess presented the honoree with a tray ladened with gifts.

Round Table Club Meeting.

Mrs. G. V. Smith entertained members of the Round Table Club Tuesday afternoon at the Woman's Club.

Joining the club members for the meeting were Mrs. E. W. Harvey, Mrs. C. C. Hilton, Miss Meade and Miss Nagle.

Mrs. J. E. Winslow was program leader for the meeting. Her paper continued the club's study of "Women Through the Century," and she gave unusually interesting sketches of Jane Addams and Emily Dickinson. Jane Addams, a philanthropist and social settlement worker, opened Hull House in Chicago in 1889. She has written and lectured extensively on social and political reform.

Emily Dickinson was a recluse all her life. She wrote much but published little.

The nostesses, assisted by Mrs. Hilton, Miss Meade and Miss Nagle, served delectable refreshments following the meeting.—Reported.

Little Theatre Guild.

The Little Theatre Guild will hold its regular weekly meeting this evening at Sheppard Memorial Library. The business meeting will be followed by a discussion and talk on "Fundamentals of Staging a Production."

Membership in the Guild is open to anyone interested in the various aspects of the theatre. Plans are being made for the next public performance to take place the end of March.

Two standard 15-watt electric lamps into the top and bottom of a new stove give heat enough to cook an entire meal in three hours, insulated walls retaining the heat.

ANNOUNCEMENT
DR. Wm. A. KEFFER
Chiropractor
Second Floor State Bank Bldg.
Greenville, N. C.
Office Hours: 9 to 12:30 daily
Closed on Saturdays

WE GUARANTEE
JEWELRY REPAIRING
WATCH REPAIRING—
Engraving—Reasonable Price
LAUTARES'

W. L. BEST, Opt. D.
Complete Eye Examination
FITTING OF GLASSES

Chorus Feature In Minstrel.

A chorus of twenty-four voices is a feature of the minstrel sponsored by the "Pirates" which is to be given in the Austin building tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The twelve boys and twelve girls will be dressed in rich colonial costumes and will be banked on each side of the pavilion.

Both the latest song hits and old songs will be enjoyed. The program varies from "Memories" to "Pop Goes Your Heart." Others will be "Among My Souvenirs," "I Love You Truly," "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," "Home On the Range," and "Gypsy Love Song."

A skit presented by the cast this morning was enthusiastically received by the students.

Masonic Notice.

Greenville Lodge No. 284 A. F. & A. M., will hold a special communication on Friday at 7:30 p. m. There will be work in the Entered Apprentice Degree.

—N. R. Joyner, W. M.

Winterville P. T. A. Meets.

Winterville, Feb. 6.—The Parent-Teacher Association met Tuesday night, February 5th, at 7:30 in the school auditorium.

The meeting was opened with prayer led by E. C. Hines. The minutes of the January meeting were read by the secretary.

After a short business session, a program was given by the primary grades.

The prize cake was won by a member of the faculty, Miss Alethia Canady.

NEW BOOKS

By JOHN SELBY

Perhaps it is only a newspaper man's fancy that the first volume of "The History of the Times" (Macmillan) should rank as the book of the week. Whatever its rank, it is certainly an oddity.

It is the first of three volumes which will tell te story of the London Times, an institution for a century and a half. Nobody is listed as author or as editor; the writing has been done by annoymous members of the Times' staff, some of whom are not now connected with the paper. Even the printing was done in the Times' plant, and is a handsome book.

The Times was founded in 1785 by the first John Walaer. About 1800 Walter abdicated in favor of his son, John Walter, II. Nearly twenty years later Thomas Barnes took charge as editor—and did more to establish his profession among the honorable callings than any other. Barnes was in absolute control of the Times for ten years prior to his death in 1841.

At the beginning the Times was subsidized in various ways, as was usual in those days. Long before Barnes' death it was wholly and fearsomely independent, and Barnes was called the most important man in England.

Thumbnail Reviews

"Sinbad the Soldier," by Percevial Christopher Wren (Houghton Mifflin). Mr. Wren is still in the desert.

"The Hangover Murders," by Adam Hobhouse (Knopf): sudden death among the hard-boiled, hard-drinking, polo-playing set; acceptable characterization, much spade-calling—and liquor, liquor, liquor.

"This Wanderer," by Louis Golding (Farrar and Rinehart): twenty-two pieces by the author of "Magnolia Street"; gay, wistful, sad, whimsical, charming and you'll remember most of them.

Gay Traveler

"Bright Mexico," by Larry Barretto (Farrar and Rinehart): the rightest and easiest-to-read book on Mexico this department has seen in many a moon; Mr. Barretto does not pretend to know it all, which is a relief.

"East River," by Borden Chase (Crowell): part of the time the reader is with Jumbo and Shocker working in compressed air under the East River; part of the time he is hanging around Lee, the cabaret singer, and Amy, who runs a bar.

"Personal Mistory," by Vincent Sheehan (Doubleday, Doran): a young man in his early thirties writes his autobiography; he's been a lot of places, and he's honest with himself and his readers too.

College Ramblers Defeat Chowan By Score 38-17

The Ramblers defeated Chowan here last night by a score of 37-17 and thus added another victory to their record.

The score at the end of the first quarter was only 5-0 in favor of the Ramblers, but the Ramblers went back to bring it up to 17-2 at the end of the first half. The final quarter began with the Ramblers still leading with 28-5 and the final whistle caught the score at 38-7. The guarding of the Ramblers was very good. Chowan caged only one field goal during the game.

Askew and Bunn tied for scoring honors with 13 points each, while Wilson came in for 8 points. Mitchell for Chowan, scored the entire seven points for her team.

E. C. T. C.	G	F	T
Sinclair, lf	0	0	0
Askew, rf	6	1	13
Fulton, c	0	0	0
Bunn, rf	4	5	13
Charlton, lf	0	0	0
Parker, rf	1	0	2
Wilson, cf	4	0	8
Roberts, c	0	0	0
Coley, lf	1	0	2
Tyson, rf	0	0	0
Briley, cg	0	0	0
Overton, rg	0	0	0
Martin, lg	0	0	0
Hearne, lg	0	0	0
Batts, cg	0	0	0
Barbee, rg	0	0	0
Smithson, rg	0	0	0
Robeson, cg	0	0	0
Mozingo, rg	0	0	0
Total	16	6	38
Chowan	G	F	T
Jilcot, rf	0	0	0
Matchell, lf	1	5	7
Holman, c	0	0	0
Matthews, rg	0	0	0
Piland, lg	0	0	0
Haggard, cg	0	0	0
Edwards, lf	0	0	0
Jones, rg	0	0	0
Porter, c	0	0	0
Holloman, rf	0	0	0
Fleetwood, lg	0	0	0
Temple, cg	0	0	0
Payne, rf	0	0	0
Total	1	5	7

PARIS STYLES SMUGGLED INTO IRISH FREE STATE

Cork—(AP)—Among other things the latest Paris styles are being smuggled into the Irish Free State to avoid payment of duties.

The Free State navy, consisting of one 40-year-old vessel equipped with a three-pound gun, can do little to cope with smugglers along the 1,200 miles of Irish Free State coast.

Since the government placed taxes on almost everything, from rubber heels to lipstick, as a help to home industry, a prosperous "rum row" dealing in staple commodities has grown outside the three-mile limit.

Lose Fat
Safely and Quickly

Kruschen Salts—a perfect combination of the six mineral salts your body should possess to function properly, purify your blood of harmful acids, and aid the kidneys and bowls to throw off waste material—the continual formation of which is probably the cause of your fat.

But don't worry just as long as you have Kruschen Salts. Take a half teaspoonful every morning before breakfast in a glass of hot water—little by little that ugly fat disappears, you'll feel better than ever before—years younger, more energy. You'll soon possess that enviable beauty, clear skin, sparkling eyes, superb figure which only perfect health can impart.

A quarter pound jar (lasts 4 weeks) at Pitt Drug Co., or any druggist in America. Money back if Kruschen doesn't convince you that it is the safest, quickest, easiest way to lose fat.—(Adv.)

TEN SPECIAL PRICED
Late Model Used Cars

Just as if you had bought them NEW 1 to 24 months ago.

Only 1 Demonstrator left, 1934 Master Coach, Black, Radio, Dual Horns and Bumper Guards $595.00

1934 Pick-up. Good enough for any job $425.00

1933 Studebaker Coupe. Only 24,600 miles $425.00

1932 Model B, Ford Roadster. New Worked Motor $250.00

1932 Chevrolet Coupe, Perfect $300.00

1934 Chevrolet Coupe, Black. Perfect $525.00

1934 Std. Plymouth Coach only 7,400 miles $450.00

1933 Ford 4 Door Sedan, Deluxe, New Motor $450.00

1933 BB Ford Truck, SW, New Tires, New Motor, Perfect $350.00

1933 Chevrolet Truck, long wheel base; 32-6x10 ply Tires. Closed Cab and Boyd. Only $450.00

Phone 34

BROWN & WHITE, INC.

Pirates To Play A. C. C. Bullddogs

The Pirates of East Carolina Teachers College will play the Bulldogs of A. C. C., here tonight at 7:00 o'clock in the college gymnasium.

During the past two weeks the locals have won three out of four games. They have showed much improvement since the beginning of the season and they are expected to win over their opponents.

The likely starters are Johnson, Ridenhour, guards; Ferebee and Stowe, forwards, and Davis, center.

HIT-AND-RUN MOTORIST KILLS HILLSBORO MAN

Burlington, N. C., Feb. 7.—J. W. Lynch, 65, of Hillsboro, was instantly killed by a hit-and-run driver who struck him down at 9:30 o'clock Monday night and then fled from the scene.

Observers of the tragedy said the automobile was a Chevrolet occupied by two men. Mr. Lynch was killed as he crossed the highway on his way home from a store which he operated. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Mamie Parker, formerly of this city.

Italy Speeds Up Air Lines.

Rome—(AP)—Following recent merger of the four leading air lines of Italy into one government supervised concern, plans were announced for replacing the present 125 miles an hour machines with ships having a cruising speed of 178 miles per hour. The service extends to Athens, Tirana, Vienna, Marseille, Barcelonia and North African ports.

The name Holland, so often used instead of Netherlands, actually applies to only two of the eleven provinces of the country.

ASTHMA WAS CHOKING HER!

Got Quick Relief —still fine after 17 YEARS

Dec. 8, 1916—"I had asthma for 17 years. I tried everything but grew so weak I could hardly walk. After taking Nacor, I could do my housework. That was 8 years ago. I am still feeling fine, with no signs of asthma."—Mrs. Mary Bean, R3, Nashua, Iowa. July 31, 1933—"I continue in good health and am still praising Nacor."—Mrs. Bean.

Don't let asthma or bronchial cough rob you of strength and happiness. For quick, safe, blessed relief, ask your druggist for a bottle of Nacor in capsule form—Nacor KAPS.

Nacor KAPS
For ASTHMA and Bronchial Cough
NACOR MEDICINE CO., INDIANAPOLIS, IND.
at PITT DRUG CO., Phone 75 and other good druggists.

Seek Record Of Births In N. C.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 6.—Complete records of births in North Carolina, are being sought in the "Register Your Baby" campaign now being conducted in the State by the U. S. Bureau of Census, the State Board of Health, and the State Emergency Relief Administration, are essential for a long list of important incidents.

Some of these reasons are not immediately apparent, but many of them are included in the following lists:

To prove legal age; for inheritance of property; for claims of widows and orphans; for settlement of insurance; for settlement of pensions; for right to serve on a jury; for entering military service; for entrance to school; for right to vote; for right to marry; for legal dependency; for responsibility of children; for employment in industry; for engaging in several athletic contests.

To prove American citizenship for passports; for exemption of military duty in foreign countries; for criminal courts in foreign countries; for immigration; for right to hold certain office; for right to admission to certain professions; for collecting compensation from the government, and many others.

ROBBERS AT CLINTON GET 40,000 CIGARETTES

Clinton, N. C., Feb. 7.—Robbers broke into the C. R. Rich & Co. wholesale store here last night, and escaped with 40,000 cigarettes. The front door was battered down. Two or three men were seen leaving the store in a green 1935 V-8 coach. The store has been robbed several times during the last few years.

JURY MAKES MISTAKE IN MURDER INDICTMENT

Wilson, N. C., Feb. 7.—A mix-up of names in a murder indictment delayed hearing of Landon Ruffin, colored, Wednesday. Ruffin is alleged to have killed Sudie Tune, colored, with a pistol during a quarrel in Gardner's several months ago. Wednesday in Superior Court here it was found by Solicitor Donnell Gilliam that the negro had been indicted for the murder of Lula Hartis instead, a mistake on the part of the grand jury that caused a mistrial and which will call for a reindictment of Ruffin on the murder charge by the next grand jury before he will be made to stand trial for his life.

Must Go To High School.

Clarksburg, W. Va.—(AP)—A high school education is very essential to one 15-year-old boy here. When he pleaded guilty to stealing an automobile, the judge said: "I sentence you to attend school every day until you finsih high school."

Cardui Built Up Her Strength

She had lost strength and fallen off weight, until her clothes would not fit, writes Mrs. A. S. Curtis, of Winston, Va. "I knew I must get something to build me up if I kept going," she says. "My aunt suggested that I try Cardui. I am glad that I did, for it built up my strength. I have taken it at intervals since then, whenever I felt the least run-down."

Cardui revives the appetite and improves nutrition in cases where such a medicine is needed. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefitted them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.—(Adv.)

Medicated!
Ingredients of Vicks VapoRub in Convenient Candy Form
VICKS COUGH DROP

SILVER LEAF
Tourist Camp
Modern Equipment
Two miles South of
WILSON, N. C.
All kinds soft drinks
and sandwiches
Everybody is cordially invited to stop at our camp.
Under the management
of
Miss Daisy Belle Dail

TOMORROW NIGHT
MINSTREL SHOW
"THE PIRATES"
Pirate and Colonial Costumes—55 in the Cast
EAST CAROLINA TEACHERS COLLEGE
Austin Auditorium
Admission 25c

GOING TO THE SHOW TONIGHT?

If so park your car with us and avoid the risk of possible loss by accident and theft on the streets. We are located on Evans Street, 1-2 block of downtown.

PITT PARKING LOT
Day 15c Regular Rates Night 25c
Special Rate This Week—15c All Hours

Final Clearance of All Fall and Winter Merchandise

One lot Ladies' Dresses. Special—
$1.00

One lot Ladies' Dresses, $5.00 value. Special—
$1.98

One lot Ladies' Dresses, in silk and woolens, values to $7.95. Special—$2.98

One lot Ladies' Dresses, in silk and woolens, values to $12.95. Special—$4.95

One lot Ladies' Coats, $6.95 values. Special—$2.98

All $9.95 and $16.95 Coats and Suits, reduced to—
1/2 PRICE

One lot Ladies' Felt Hats. Special—
15c

Good Grade 36-inch Outing, special—
10c yard

One lot new spring Sprints, fast color. Special—
15c yard

One lot Fast Color Cotton Crepes, 25c value. Special—
12c yard

36-inch Curtain Scrim, in plain and fancy patterns. Special—
9c yard

One lot Crepes and Satin, values to 98c. Special—
49c yard

One lot Children's Sweaters, values to 89c. Special—
49c each

One lot Boys' Fast Color Wash Suits, 79c value. Special—
49c each

One lot Boys' Wash Suits, nice selection of colors and sizes, $1.49 value. Special—98c each

THE PERKINS COMPANY
412 Evans Street

OPPOSE ADULT BUS DRIVERS

School Forces of the State Favor Retention of "Student" Truck Drivers

Reflector Bureau
Sir Walter Hotel

Raleigh, Feb. 7—Opposition to the proposal to replace student drivers with adults is being attacked by many school people here as keen interest is being shown in the school bus problem.

"Our student drivers," said Mecklenburg's county school superintendent Edmondson, "are carefully selected. In practically every instance they would want to drive the buses even thought they drew not a cent for their services. It's a distinction of which the boys are proud. Many of them are active in Hi-Y work and all are above the average intelligence for their age."

Another school man remarked that it was much better to have a 17 year-old driver with a mental age of 17 than to have an adult with a mental age of 10 or 12 years driving the buses. "That" he added, "would be the result if we should demand adult drivers, because we can't get adults of a very high mental caliber for 30 a month, but we can get student drvers of a high mentality for far less."

Many practical-minded school people pointed out that there is an added measure of safety in the fact that student drivers are directly under the immediate control of teachers and principals and that adult drivers would not be so readily amenable to teacher supervision.

Several teachers here for the hearing of the school forces before the joint appropriations committee said they preferred that additional funds appropriated for transportation, be spent for shatter-proof glass for school buses. They pooh-poohed the idea that buses should be of all-steel construction. One superintendent winked and commented that everyone familiar with the situation knows that only one company in the United States makes all-steel bus bodies and that any such legal requirement would give that company a monopoly. The present buses were designed by engneers of the state highway department and have become the model for many other states. It is the opinion of many competent engineers that they are as safe as if they were of all-steel construction.

It is alleged that the movement to replace student drivers with adults has its origin in political ambition. It is readily seen that such replacement could easily result in bus-driving jobs being awarded as political plums for loyal party workers.

The moral angle was injected by two school people interviewed by this bureau. "Why" they said, "adult bus drivers would be winking and carrying on with 16 and 17-year-old high school girls." They also disapproved of adult drivers on the ground of mental incompetency, pointing out that first rate brains could not be had for $30 or so a month. "We would not," they said, "want our children or our pupils to be intimately thrown with individuals who would of necessity be inferior mentally to the children."

Despite attempts by some legislators to require that school buses be driven by adults it is not likely that this legislature will pass such a law. The increase in appropriations necessary to carry out such a program is almost prohibitive at this time. Too, most legislators apparently favor doing something for classroom teachers first. All other phases of the school situation will in all probility be regarded as of secondary importance.

Curly Ogden, veteran pitcher, has been released by the Baltimore Orioles.

New York Cotton

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened fairly steady unchanged, three points lower with moderate foregn selling offset by trade buying.

The market after the call was quiet within a point o rtwo of yesterday's closing figures at the first half-hour.

May sold up to 12.38 with the general market quite and steadp at an advance of from one to five points at the midday.

(Courtesy E. A. Pierce & Co.)

	Open	Close	Prv. Cl.
Mar.	12.29	12.32	12.31
May	12.32	12.40	12.34
July	12.32	12.40	12.33
Oct.	12.26	12.28	12.28
Dec.	12.33	12.39	12.34

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Financial market skies brightened a bit today, although bullish tendencies were noticed to be at rest in all departments.

Trading in stocks was somewhat more active and speculative fodrces were elcouraged by a rally in rails.

Many observers have held the belief that equities will have to obtain the support of the buyers if they are ever able to get started on an upward climb.

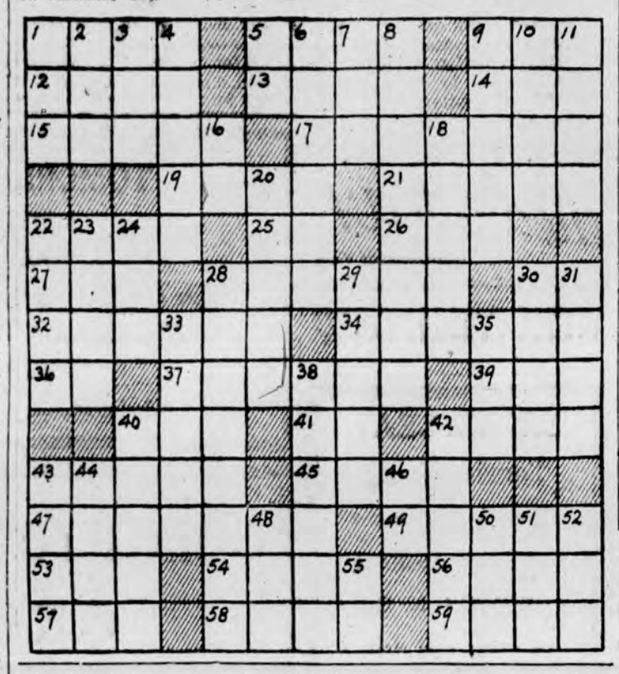
Some divisions were rather firm with grains showing the best tendencies. High grade corporation bonds were around closing levels from the previous tendencies.

High grade corporation bonds were around closing levels from the previous session and foreign exchanges

Daily Cross Word Puzzle

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

S	I	G	N		A	W	E		D	A	T	A
A	C	R	E		B	A	D		E	M	I	R
L	E	A	G	U	E	D		S	C	E	N	T
		N	A	S	T		S	W	A	N
S	T	A	T	E		S	W	I	N	D	L	E
H	E	R	E		P	L	A	N	T		O	N
A	N	Y		P	R	A	T	E		R	O	T
L	O		T	R	O	T	H		C	A	S	E
E	N	G	R	O	S	S		T	A	M	E	R
		R	A	V	E		S	O	R	E
A	P	A	C	E		S	T	R	I	K	E	S
R	I	C	E		B	A	A		N	I	L	E
M	E	E	D		E	G	G		G	N	A	T



ACROSS

1. Quiet
5. Be overfond of
9. Timber tree
12. Region
13. Begin
14. Sorrow
15. Existence
17. Place in position for use of service
19. That which is given for temporary use
21. Wearied
22. Victim
25. Myself
26. Recline
27. Air: comb. form
28. Kind of grape
29. Compass point
32. Stops
34. Instrumentality
36. Advertisement
37. African fly
39. Organ of hearing
40. Male sheep
41. Player at children's games
42. Golfer's warning cry
43. Large aquatic animal
45. Close
47. Venerated
49. Having flavor
53. Anger
54. Notion
56. Fastidious
57. Unit of weight
58. Gael
59. Was aware

DOWN

1. Public conveyance
2. Metric land measure
3. Hawaiian wreath
4. Noble, dignified, and resolute
5. Perform
6. Thinks
7. Number of the Commandments
8. Fodder stored in a silo
9. Not sleeping
10. Bottom of the foot
11. Contained
16. Depart
18. Blackneyed
20. Entertain
22. South American animal
23. Tall coarse grass stem
24. Period
28. Induced by hypnotism
29. Division of society
30. Mark of a wound
31. Circuit court
33. Not fresh
35. New: comb. form
38. Glittering metallic ornament
40. Black bird
42. Candid
43. Court order
44. Brave man
46. Lake
48. City in Holland
50. Fasten
51. Solid water
52. Condensed moisture
55. Near

Chicago Grain Market

(Courtesy Vernon Parrish)

	Open	Close	Prv. Cl.
WHEAT:
May	94 3-8	95 5-8	94 3-8
July	87 1-2	88 3-8	87 3-4
Sept.	86 1-4	86 7-8	86 3-4
CORN:
May	82 1-2	83 3-8	82 3-8
July	78 1-4	79	78 1-4
Sept.	75 1-2	76	75 3-8
OATS:
May	48 1-4	49 1-8	48 3-8
July	41 3-4	42 1-2	41 7-8
Sept.	40	40 5-8	40
RYE:
May	62 3-8	63 1-8	62 3-8
July	62 1-2	63 1-4	62 1-2

N. Y. Stock List

American Radiator 13 3-4.
American Tobacco 81.
Anaconda 10 1-4.
Atlantic Coast Line 21 3-8.
Atlantic Refining 23 3-4.
Auburn 23.
Bendix Aviation 14 5-8.
Bethlehem Steel 29 1-8.
Columbia Gas and Electric 6 5-8.
Commercial Solvent 20.
Continental Oil 7 3-8.
DuPont 93 3-4.
Electric Power Light 2 1-4.
General Electric 23.
General Motors 30 1-2.
Montgomery Ward 25 1-2.
Reynolds Tobacco 47 1-2.
Southern Railway 47 1-2.
Southern Railway 11 1-4.
Standard Oil 39 3-4.
U. S. Steel 35 3-4.

Late News Flashes

(Continued From Page One)

the power of guardian by enabling them t o operate estates for their wards.

In the Senate Representative Lumpkin, of Franklin, an anti-sales tax leader, announced his group would present a substitute tax program to eliminate the 3 per cent genehral sales tax" just as soon as we can get it ready."

The House passed an amendment and sent to the Senate the Rouse bill on guardians and also approved the Cherry measure amending the law on franchise corporations.

The Senate did not consider the driver's license bill as expected, as Chairman Smith of the roads committee had a severe cold.

Two bills to fixe the fees for applicants for bar examinations and to fix the pay for counsellors and examiners of the State Bar were passed by the Senate and sent to the House.

The House received a bill to permit the manufacture of malt geverages in North Carolina which are permitted in the United States. This would eliminate the 3.2 per cent alcoholic limit now imposed.

A kilowatt hour tax was proposed in the House by Rep. Carr of Duplin.

Bills passed by the Senate today included:

Webb of Lenoir, Summersill of Onslow to extend the jurisdiction of sheriffs.

Johnson of Duplin, relating to fees.

MAGNET SAVES DAKOTANS FLAT TIRES ON HIGHWAYS

Pierre, S. D.—(AP)—Enough nails tacks and small pieces of metal to fill two railroad cars were picked off highways and streets in South Dakota by a magnet operated by the state highway commission over a seven-month period.

Frank D. Kriebs, secretary of the commission, reported that from May 10 to December 1, 1934, the magnet scooped up 62,725 pounds of metal over 4,097 miles of state highways.

Although operation of the magnet cost $3,100.40, or 75.6 cents per mile, it was figured the saving to motorists in the form of fewer flat tires was worth the expenditure.

EXPERT SAYS NAIL HOLES DID NOT SHOW ON KIDNAP LADDER

(Continued from page one)

not read the statement he signed.

Mrs. Augusta Henkel, mother-in-law of Greta Henkel, who testified yesterday, said the dead Isador Fisch who is accused by the defense as receiver of the ransom money, borrowed $4,350 from her and never paid it back.

Karl Henkle, Gerta's husband, testified he had known Fisch since 1932 and also that he had never felt there was anything improper between Hauptmann and his wife.

It had been testified Hauptmann frequently drank coffee with Mrs. Henkle in her home mornings while his own wife was visiting in Germany.

Flemington, N. J., Feb. 7—(AP)—A defense expert for Bruno Richard Hauptmann today insisted that incriminating nail holes appearing in the Lindbergh kidnap ladder did not appear when he examined the ladder less than a month after the crime.

Dr. R. D. Hudson, who testified there was only one square nail hole in the rail of the ladder which the State charges came from Hauptmann's attic, declared that not even the government report on the ladder would cause him to change his statement on that point.

Police and State experts testified the four holes in the upright which is in evidence jibed with nail holes in the joists of the Hauptmann attic.

Attorney-General Wilentz showed him a photograph and asked:

"Assuming that this picture was taken in March, 1932, would you agree that possibly you were mistaken in your testimony?"

"Well under your premise, I would say yes."

Shortly afterward:

"If this rail had been examined by persons other than the State police of New Jersey in March, April and May, 1932, and reports were filed during those months showing these same nail holes, would that induce you to beljeve that possibly you were mistaken?"

"No, sir, it would not."

The ladder rail was considered one of the State's strongest links in the circumstances by which it seeks to send Hauptmann to the electric chair for the kidnapping and murder of Baby Charles Lindbergh, Jr.

The Attorney-General also attacked Hudson's statement that he had found about 500 fingerprints on the ladder with his silver nitrate developments. Police found only eight prints, and that after several hundred people had handled the ladder.

Wilentz insisted that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, father of the slain child, and two State troopers had handled the ladder without any gloves, and that Dr. Hudson had found no prints of these. The witness said he believed the troopers used gloves. He didn't know that Colonel Lindbergh handled the ladder.

PITT PARKING LOT THROWN OPEN HERE

Announcement was made today of the opening of the Pitt Parking Lot on Evans street near Five Points.

The lot is within a half block of the business and theatre district and offers distinctive service to the business man and theatre-goer.

Persons parking here are assured against loss as employes are always on hand to look after the interest of their patrons. Operators of the parking lot invite the public to visit their place while in the business district.

NEW TOURIST CAMP OPENS NEAR WILSON

The announcemet of the opening of the Silver Leaf Tourist Camp is two miles south of Wilson is made in an advertisement carried in the columns of this paper today. The camp will be operated by Miss Daisy Dail who invites the public to visit the camp and note its many conveniences.

53 Varieties of Dahlias.

Post, Texas.—(AP)—George Samson, amateur gardner here, has 53 named varieties of dahlias in his garden.

CHAIN FILLING STATIONS TO GET HEARING ON TAXES

(Continued From Page One)

committee opinion reveals overwhelming sentiment in that direction. Some legislators are quick to point out that gasoline prices have been maintained at a high price, without regard to tax differentials, in North Carolina. Others disapprove of the agitation by the big companies for a reduction in the state tax.

That many legislators have been swayed by the recent West Virginia decision by the U. S. Supreme Court in which that court held that chain stores may be taxed in almost any manner by state legislatures and that filling stations come under any such tax levies is quite evident to observers here.

Legislators, however, make it clear that they do not intend to impose a hardship on the smaller, independent and often home-owned filling station chains. Graduation of the tax and the proposed added factor of the total number of such stations owned are expected to extend relief to the small chain owner.

LEGISLATURE MAKING GOOD SHOWING NOW

(Continued From Page One)

to be reported to the House ahead of the appropriations bill, so that the latter cannot be taken up until the revenue bill has been disposed of in the House, the appropriations committees will still have several weeks to work on their bill. If the finance committees are not able to find as much money with which to provde for the appropriations as the members of the appropriations committee think is necessary, they will probably have to revise the appropriations bill so that it will come within the revenue limitation of the revenue bill.

The reason other legislation has been held back is the most of the important bills must go either to the finance or appropriations committees to be passed on before reaching the floor of the House or Senate and that these committees are now too busy considering the revenue and appropriations bills to pay any attention to anp other measures. So they are being held back to permit the committees to finish their work on these other bills.

In past sessionh this order has usually been reversed, with tte finance and appropriations committees considering all the other bills ahead of the revenue and appropriations bill. As a result, this has frequently meant that the appropriations budget has been swelled to several million more dollars than the revenue committees and the entire Legislature could find revenue for. This was what caused the six and five months session of 1931 and 1933, respectively, when the Assembly worked for weeks and weeks and month after month trying to trim appropriations and increahe revenue so that the two would finally balance.

But by going to work on the revenue and appropriations bills first and finding out right from the start how much revenue the State can raise, and then shape the appropriations bill to come within these revenue limits, many believe that for the first time the Assembly is really going about its work in a common sense, business-like manner.

ALDERMEN TO MEET TONIGHT

(Continued From Page One)

ury but there is yet a comfortable "nest egg" left in the treasury. In addition, all obligations of the city government have been met up until the end of the fiscal year and it is expected more than enough money will be on hand at that time to take care of all debts.

Mayor Flanagan, who is always full of recommendations looking to improvement of the city government probably will have something to bring to the attention of the board tonight, and before the session is over a number of important matters probably will be dealt with not considering the usual paying of bills and reading of reports from the various city departments.

WANTS

RATES: 1c per word (minimum 25c) per insertion, this size type. Larger type, double price. Persons not having regular account with this office must send or bring cash with copy. No want ads taken over telephone.

FRESH FISH DAILY—WE DRESS and deliver free. Telephone 85. Greenville Grocery Co. 6-2t

SELECT OYSTERS, 40c QUART—standard oysters, dry packed, 30c qt. Call Day Sea Food Co., phone 149. We deliver. 6-4t

EAT MORE FISH — SPECKLED Trout, 20c lb.; Gray Trout, 12 1-2c; Fresh Herring, 7 1-2c; Croakers, 7 1-2c; Drum, 12 1-2c lb. We catch our fish. Call Day Sea Food Co., phone 149. We deliver. 6-4t

FOR SALE—3 NICE MILCH COWS —John Askew, Greenville Greenville Grocery Co. 6-2t

PHONE 619, IT'S LAUNDRY OR dry cleaning. The Old Reliable—we know how. Rainbow Cleaners. 14-tf

FRESH LOAD OF OYSTERS JUST arrived at Boat Landing. Capt. W. D. Lewis. 6-2t

WE SPECIALIZE ON REPAIRING fine watches, clocks and jewelry. No job too difficult, 34 years of continuous service. Best Jewelry Co. 19-1 mo

JUST RECEIVED BIG SHIPMENT Disc Harrows, Oliver Plows, Tobacco Cloth, Horse Collars and Poultry Wire. Get our prices before you buy. Baker & Davis Hdwe Co. 15-1 mo.

WANTED TO BUY — SEVERAL hundred bushels soya beans. Warren Feed Co. 27-tf

WE MATCH PANTS TO ANY suit. Double the life of your coat and vest. Every pair hand tailored to your measure. Fit guaranteed, prices reasonable. See or write Wm. Size, Custom Tailor, Reflector Bldg., Greenville, N. C., P. O. Box 297. Jan. 29-1 mo.

BIG VALUES—NEW STOCK OF Seed Oats, 95c per bushel; 24 per cent Dairy Feed, $2.25; Laying Mash, $2.65. Best prices on farm tools and supplies. Pitt Supply Co., 921 Dicknson Ave. Jan 23-1 mo.

FOR SALE—9 HOGS — WEIGHT average about 200 pounds—must sell by Saturday. J. R. Stancill, Falkland highway, 3 miles West of Greenville. 5-3t

WANTED — FRESH COW, 3 1-2 gallons milk. A. D. McLawhorn, Winterville, N. C. 7-3t

GREENVILLE PLUMBING & Heating Co., will assist anyone in getting plumbing and heating on small monthly payment plan, from one to three years. First payment 30 days after work is completed. S. T. Hicks, phone 60. 5-6t

IF YOU ARE AMBITIOUS YOU can make good money with a Rawleigh Route. We help you get started. No capital or experience needed. Steady work for right man. Write Rawleigh's, Box NCB-87-2, Richmond, Va.

NICE FLORIDA INDIAN RIVER oranges, sweet and juicy, 20c doz., 40c pk. Telephone 85. We deliver. Greenville Grocery Co., 4 doors from 5 points. 6-3t

I AM PREPARED TO TAKE CARE of most any emergency that might come to any member of my family, but I know the money I pay into THE PITT MUTUAL BURIAL ASSOCIATION goes for a good cause and is used at a time when it is most appreciated. On second thought the $100.00 credit would amount to 20 per cent on a $500.00 funeral wouldn't it?

PLUMBING & HEATING — C. L. Russ, registered plumber and steam fitter. State License No. 245. Residence phone 886-WX; business phone 636. Shop, 312 Evans St., Greenville, N. C. 7-6t

FOR FRIDAY — ORANGE CUP Cakes. People's Bakery.

DRY CLEANING & PRESSING Phone 176 We Know How—We Satisfy Carolina Dry Cleaners Leon Smith, Prop.

SEE US ABOUT YOUR NEEDS IN Paint. We have a kind of paint for every purpose, inside or outside. J. A. Watson—Feeds, Seeds, Provisions. 9-tf

WANTED TO BUY CHICKENS—TURKEYS—BROILERS W. B. HERRING GROCERY CO. Dickinson Ave. Phone 359

THOS. R. STROUD—CASH GROCeries, Fancy and Heavy. Prices to compare with small salaries. Come and see. 703 Dickinson Ave. Feb 1-1 mo.

GENUINE BURT SEED OATS IN stock. See Garden Peas, Onion Sets and Cabbage Plants, too. J. A. Watson, Feed—Seed—Provisions.

CABBAGE PLANTS FOR SALE—Frost proof cabbage plants, 15 cents per hundred; 60 cents for five hundred; $1.00 per thousand; $7.50 for ten thousand lots. My plants are grown without fertilization, which gives you the hardiest plant than can be grown. L. C. Arthur, Greenville, N. C. Nov. 3-1 mo.

JUST ARRIVED— NEW GARDEN seed, seed oats, onion sets, etc. Good prices on flour, meat, lard. Greenville Dist. Co., L. L. Rives. 17-tf

Buy A Good Used Car And Save The Difference

'27—Olds Sedan $75.00
'29—Olds Coupe $150.00
'31—Essex Coach $125.00
'30—Chevrolet Coach .. $195.00
'30 Chevrolet Sedan .. $225.00

EASY TERMS
Pitt Oldsmobile Co.
415 GRAND AVE.
NEAR A. C. L. DEPOT

TODAY FRIDAY
A flaming Love that never dies!
Anna STEN Fredric MARCH WE LIVE AGAIN
A story to stir your heart!
Also
TODD-KELLY COMEDY "One Horse Farmer"
Color Classic
SQUND NEWS
PITT A NORTH CAROLINA THEATRE

BILL CODY in a thrilled packed drama of—

FRONTIER DAYS"
Chilling Thrills — Sizzling Action — Enthralling Romance—Dramatic suspense, in a story of love and adventure in the glamorous west.
Selected Units "FIDDLIN' FUN" Cartoon Serial "Red Rider"
FRIDAY SATURDAY
STATE
Mat. 15c Eve. 20c

Horses and Mules — For — SALE

We have just received the best carload that we have ever bought----4 to 6 years old. Weight from 1000 to 1200 pounds each. All broke and ready to work.

We also have a good many second hand mules.

Our prices and terms are right. We will save you money if you will see our stock

Moye & Morris
Stables in Rear of Centre Brick Warehouse

Oatmeal IS GOOD for starting baby chicks—but Quaker FUL-O-PEP Chick Starter is lots better—because it contains pure oatmeal plus cod liver meal, sardine oil, molasses, essential minerals, proteins and other chick-health ingredients. It's a balanced chick starting food that can work wonders growing healthy, well-feathered birds.

J. A. Watson

GRANT'S
Dependable Merchandise at Low Prices

SALE!
GRANT BUYS DIRECT FROM THE MILLS TO SAVE YOU MONEY!
MEN'S RAYON PLAITED HOSE 9c
Specially Priced! 3 pairs for 25c
MEN'S DRESRITE HOSE, 25c quality 20c pr.
SPECIAL! WOMEN'S PURE SILK HOSE
CHIFFON
PICOT TOPS, NEW COLORS
A wonderful hose for both appearance and satisfactory wear! 4-thread pure silk with French heel and cradle sole. 44c pr.
WOMEN'S 20c CHARDONIZE RAYON HOSE
Double sole, high spliced heel, picot top. Newest shades. 15c pr.
CHILDREN'S "GRANTCO" ANKLETS
15c pr.
Fine cotton and rayon, also mixtures. Solid colors, stripes or fancy cuffs.
W. T. GRANT CO.
421 Evans St. Greenville, N. C.