

RESIGNATION OF WALLACE IS ASKED IN GA.

W. D. Anderson, Speaking to Cotton Manufacturers, Denounces Cotton Tax

Augusta, Ga., April 25.—(AP)—A bitter denunciation of the cotton processing tax coupled with a demand for the resignation of Secretary Wallace was heard today at the opening of the American Cotton Manufacturers Association convention.

W. D. Anderson, president of the organization composed of southern cotton growers, charged in a prepared address that Wallace is "plainly lacking in business judgment, in ordinary business experience and commonsense."

The Macon, Ga., manufacturer declared the processing tax levied against mills and paid to farmers for reducing planting has "seriously affected the textile industry."

DESPONDENT OVER HEALTH, MAN IS SUICIDE

Walter Whitehurst, of Stokes Community, Shoots Top of His Head Off

Because of despondency over ill health, Walter Whitehurst, 31, well-known farmer of the Stokes community, committed suicide at his home last night about 9:30 o'clock.

Using a shotgun, Whitehurst discharged a load into his forehead, blowing off the top of his head.

His wife, in another room, hearing the report of the gun, called to her brothers who found Whitehurst's body lying on the floor.

County Coroner A. A. Elwanger viewed the body shortly after the tragedy had been reported here and declared an investigation unnecessary as it was a plain case of suicide.

Funeral services were conducted from the late home this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Rev. J. W. Berry, Pentecostal Holiness minister, and burial was made in the family cemetery near the home-place.

Whitehurst was a brother-in-law to Mrs. C. L. Whitehurst, of the same community, who committed suicide about three weeks ago by jumping into a well.

He was engaged in farming and had lived in that section of the county virtually all his life.

Surviving are his wife, who before marriage, was Miss Rosa Ippock, of Craven County; four children, Mrs. Linwood Heath, Leonard, Vivian and Jessie Whitehurst, all of the home-place; four brothers, C. L. W. C. Arthur, and Henry Whitehurst; three sisters, Mrs. Ray Simmons, Mrs. Willie Beacham, and Mrs. Jathier Dail, all of the Stokes section.

PURCHASE OF SILVER WILL BE CONTINUED

House Passes Liquor Bill

Raleigh, April 25.—(AP)—The House this afternoon passed on final reading the substitute Day bill to create a liquor store system if 51 counties vote wet in a referendum June 8.

The Treasury head said that last night's action in boosting the Federal price of domestic mined metal to 77.57 per cent an ounce as well as previous action elevating the price, was simply carrying out a mandate of Congress.

Morgenthau was referring to the silver purchase act of last summer which required that the bullion base should be in the proportions of 75 per cent gold and 25 per cent silver.

He pointed out there was no time limit set for building up the stock to the required level.

COLLEGE BACK AT WORK HERE

Classes Resumed this Morning After Week Off For Observance Of Easter

East Carolina Teachers college resumed work this morning after celebration of the Easter holidays.

The college closed last Thursday and hundreds of students and faculty members went to their homes in various sections of the country to spend the brief vacation.

Buses arrived in the city last night from all directions, bringing the students back for resumption of work, and everything moved off smoothly this morning when classes got down to business.

The high school which closed last Friday afternoon, is scheduled to resume work next Monday morning. The holidays were marked by the music club going to Greensboro to take part in the annual statewide music contest.

The party was accompanied by Miss Ona Shindler, director of public school music, and J. A. McDougle, director of the department of instrumental music, in addition to several members of the faculty.

BRITON TAKES SOUND CRACK AT HITLERISM

Accuses Germany of "Destroying European Confidence for Continued Peace"

London, April 25.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in one of the strongest indictments against Hitlerite Germany ever made by a member of the British government accused that nation today of "destroying European confidence in the outlook for continued peace."

The prime minister in an article written for the "News Letter," national labor organ, charged the Reich with "besetting the road to peace with terror."

The article said that there are Nazis in high authority who are not even giving lip service to the cause of European stability.

"Germany has acted in such a way as to destroy the feeling of mutual confidence of Europe," MacDonald wrote. It asks other nations to accept a verbal pledge of peaceful intentions which it is felt would not accept from its neighbors.

"Other nations cannot be pacified by such assurances and can show ample justification for their refusal."

HADDOCK CASE GOES TO JURY

Haddock's X Roads Man Charged With Manslaughter in Frank Spain's Death

The manslaughter case against Charlie Haddock of the Haddock's Cross Roads community, was given to the jury during mid-afternoon.

Haddock is charged with the death of Frank Spain, Grimesland young man, who was fatally injured on the Greenville-Washington highway last January 24 when the car in which he was riding was struck by Haddock's machine. Spain died several days later.

The case was begun yesterday after the noon recess, the prosecution completed its testimony during the late afternoon and the defense began presentation of evidence. The defense continued presenting evidence this morning when court resumed work, but argument was started before the noon hour.

Spain, student at East Carolina Teachers College, was returning home in a car with a friend, when their machine was struck by Haddock, who was traveling in the direction of Greenville. Haddock received a severe cut on the head and remained in the hospital here several days for treatment.

Haddock was taken into custody and held on a charge of reckless and careless driving, but the charge was later changed to murder. The grand jury returned a bill of indictment last week.

This will be her first appearance on a brief speaking tour in North Carolina. She will appear at Duke University, Durham the following evening. Miss Perkins is scheduled to talk on the subject, "Economic Problems of Today."

It was announced several days ago that Miss Perkins had decided to accept an invitation to come here in view of the cancellation of an engagement elsewhere.

Because of the important part which she has taken in labor questions recently, the coming of Miss Perkins to Greenville has been received with interest. She is expected to take up some of the issues confronting the nation at this time.

TEXAS JUDGE AND HIS WIFE SLAIN BY SON

Howard Pierson, 20 Admits Killing Parents on Lonely Road Late Yesterday

Austin, Texas, April 25.—(AP)—Howard Pierson, 20, clean-cut and handsome, said today he killed his father and mother. Associate Justice William A. Pierson, of the Texas Supreme Court, and Mrs. Pierson, "for a reason."

After Deputy Sheriffs Sam Rogers and Paul Blair announced he had confessed, Pierson told newspapermen he shot his parents to death late yesterday on a country road about fifteen miles from Austin where he had lured them on the pretext of viewing a scenic drive.

First he shot his mother and then his father. Then he sent a bullet through the head of each to "make sure" they were dead.

Next he shot himself in the left arm, concealed his father's watch and purse, his own purse, the .38 calibre revolver, a pasteboard box containing eight discharged cartridges in bushes several miles away and returned to Austin with the story that two robbers had perpetrated the crime.

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

As it passed the Day liquor control bill on second reading the House went through a series of parliamentary loop-the-loops. Spectators in the galleries were frankly puzzled and many of them did not know what was happening.

The bill was passed, 49 to 11, without a record vote.

After Representative Barnes, Abernathy, Fenner, Bryant and Blount of Beaufort had spoken for the bill and Representatives Jonas, Jones, Sentelle, Thorne, Douglas, Ervin and Carr had spoken against the measure, Representative Jones (of Swain) demanded that the "ayes" and "noes" be recorded.

When Representative McEachern, of Hoke, who was acting as Speaker, ruled that an insufficient number of Representatives had arisen to secure a roll-call vote, Representative Ervin, ultra-dry Mecklenburg legislator, attempted to invoke House Rule 32 "Under that rule," said Mr. Ervin, "one-fifth of the members present are required. There were that many on their feet."

"By legislative custom," said the acting Speaker, "24 is necessary because there are 20 members. The chair can hardly be expected to count those present every time the question comes up."

"Then I demand that the members present be counted," said Mr. Ervin, who was red-faced with frustration by that time. However, it was pointed out that the chair had ruled and that a two-thirds majority is required to overrule the chair.

Mr. Ervin was asked if he wanted to try to over-rule the chair, he said "no" at that time. The bill was passed on a rising vote.

DANIELS WILL BE ASKED FOR MEXICAN VIEW

House Foreign Affairs Committee Would Learn Church-State Conditions

Washington, D. C., April 25.—(AP) The reaction to Church-State troubles in Mexico took a new turn today when Representative Fish, Republican of New York, predicted that the House Foreign Affairs Committee would ask Josephus Daniels, American Ambassador to Mexico, to give his view on conditions below the Rio Grande.

Ambassador Daniels is now in this country. Charging religious persecution, several representatives have sought action in Congress.

Senator Beard, of Idaho, has introduced a resolution that the Senate protest and condemn the campaign of the Mexican government against the profession and practice of religious belief by our nationals now domiciled in Mexico, and that a Senate Committee conduct the hearings.

Fish, ranking Republican of the Foreign Affairs Committee, said he "expected to invite Ambassador Daniels to appear and get his views on the Mexican situation, economic, social and otherwise as well as religious." He said it was highly desirable that he tell Congress of the conditions.

New York, April 25.—(AP)—Josephus Daniels, ambassador to Mexico, said today that he had not heard of any invitation to inform Congressional or Senate committees of conditions in Mexico.

He declined to comment on several expressions of conditions in his views on Mexico.

He said that he is leaving for Raleigh, N. C., tonight, and that he will spend six weeks in the United States.

NEGRO GUILTY BEATING WIFE

Judgment, However, Is Reserved in The Case Against Claude Clemmons

Claude Clemmons, Stokes community negro, who has been in the criminal court spotlight here for the last year and a half, was found guilty of assault on his wife in the two week term of Superior court here yesterday, but sentence was not pronounced.

The negro was charged with beating the woman and causing her to flee to the home of a sister, which Clemmons later was charged with firing, resulting in the death of three negro children. He was found guilty of murder in connection with the case and sentenced to a long term in prison but an appeal to Supreme court caused the case to be set back for a new trial. The case is still pending but it was problematical whether it would be reached at this term of court.

Ab Baker charged with driving drunk and in a reckless and careless manner, was found guilty of reckless driving and sentenced to 90 days on the roads. Baker ran into another car driven by J. P. Moss, of Greenville, causing minor injury to one of Moss' children. The case originated three or four months ago.

Herbert Hardee and wife, Katie Hardee, who were found guilty of selling whiskey in Tuesday's session, with sentence being reserved, were sentenced yesterday. Hardee was given four months on the roads and his wife was liberated with a six months' suspended jail sentence hanging over her head.

Edward Harris Wins Award For Writing Play

Edward Peyton Harris, former Greenville young man, who is a writer with Bamberger & Company, Newark, N. J., won the second award in the Little Theater Tournament sponsored by the concern recently. The award carried a silver cut and check for $100.

The play, "Murder at Eighty Miles Per Hour," written by Harris, was presented by the Lyndhurst Little Theater Guild and was directed by William Gould. The scene of the play was laid in Whitaker, N. C., and was enjoyed by Greenville people who listened in on the radio at the time of its presentation.

Another play, "Bankrupt," written by Harris and Mrs. Ralph T. Rossi won third place. It carried a silver cup and check for $50. Harris is the son of Mrs. Bell Harris, of Greenville.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG News Behind The News.

Washington By GEORGE DURNO INTERSTATE: Aside from the direction of public works, Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes has one other major love. He wants to cement himself in as federal director of the oil industry.

As matters are now shaping up, "Honest Harold"—as he hates to be called—is on a fair way to seeing his plan of federal oil control tossed out the window.

Texas, which produces 42 per cent of the country's oil and could produce 90 per cent, has been whacking decisively at Ickes' efforts to get a bill through Congress which would ratify federal regulation of crude petroleum output. As a result, those who follow legislative process closely in Washington are predicting that the so-called Thomas bill, sponsored and dictated by Ickes, won't get much past first base, if that far. It is a question of state's rights and constitutionalism—and the Texans have drawn words from the mouths of President Roosevelt and Chief Justice Hughes to demonstrate that Washington has no right to tell the oil-producing states how that industry may function—that is, beyond normal control of interstate commerce based on state law.

BACKSTAGE: Ickes heard rumors that the Thomas bill was in danger. He also learned that Governor Jim Allred, Attorney General Bill McCraw and State Railroad Chairman Earnest Thomson were on their way up from Texas to tell Congress why the federal government had no right exercising supreme control over such a purely intra-state matter. GREAT RICHES
By Mabel Howe Farnham

SYNOPSIS: When James Stimson, who has been a wealthy man, loses his fortune, he is left with only a few dollars. He is then taken care of by his wife, Jane, who is a very kind and generous woman. She helps him to get back on his feet and eventually they are able to start a new life together.

Chapter 45
DEPARTURE

JANE took James' ten thousand and departed for the Near East. At least a part of the money went into vocational schools for Serbs.

Later Jane quarreled with the Red Cross commissioner for the Balkans, and retired to Paris. She remained there long enough to get her divorce. Jane's letters were a mixture of pride and self-pity—self pity that she, of all persons, should be a divorced woman, and pride in boasting of her many prominent and titled friends.

Jane, it came out, actually lived at the home of a countess, one of the haut noblesse who practically never condescended to know Americans, and Jane was now hand in glove with the countess' intimates, Jennie Dodson, by direct questions, cruelly dragged it out of Mrs. Northrup that Jane stayed with the countess as a paying guest.

Why, after storming the holy of social holies, Jane did not remain in Paris, New Concord never found out. At any rate in 1922 Jane took an apartment in New York and sent for some of her silver and linens; she now scorned the furniture and bric-a-brac with which she had started housekeeping.

Once settled in New York Jane threw herself heart and soul into the feminine half of the organization to defeat prohibition. In a surprisingly short time Mrs. Northrup was able to tell that Jane had become Mrs. Sabin's right hand man.

It is perhaps superfluous to point out that New Concord was and is still enormously impressed by Jane's success. When she came home in 1923 for a brief and flitting visit, exquisitely gowned and coiffed and maintained and massaged, with the poise and manners of a duchess, New Concord fairly fell over itself in entertaining and feting her.

New Concord does not think much of New Yorkers. They would be fonder though not prouder of Jane today if she were a shade less "New Yorky" in her manners, in her accent. Indeed, her girlhood friends pick at "Mrs. Northrup-Stimson" a good deal behind her back.

But they no longer laugh at her. One does not laugh at a Kansas girl who calls Mrs. Vanderbilt and Miss Morgan by their first names.

Miss Julia Pratt remains incorrigibly catty. She says there's nothing to prevent her from calling Queen Mary of England or Queen Marie of Roumania by their first names . . . provided they don't catch her doing it.

THE next four or five years are hardly worthy of record. James plugged along somehow, rebuilt his abandoned law practice to a dull if respectable level and endured life rather than enjoyed it. Year by year he became more and more silent.

The truth was that James was out of tune with the nineteen twenties. The materialism, the feverish gambling and chase after wealth, hurt and offended him. His old ambitions died one by one, and with them his old enthusiasms. He was content to be a failure; a semi-failure.

When he heard now and then of Jane's successive triumphs, he smiled wryly. He had done Jane one favor anyway—by walking out on her. Jane ought to be grateful to him for her dying day for that.

Leslie Harris was now back in New Concord. About the time Jane got her divorce Mrs. Harris was taken ill and Leslie threw up her position in Kansas City and came home to nurse her. Mrs. Harris was never again very strong so Leslie stayed on at home.

Occasionally James met Leslie at some evening party or on the street and the meeting always left a pleasant little afterglow. But it never occurred to him to go to see her and Leslie never especially invited him. James sometimes wondered why Leslie had not married. That he had had anything to do with it never crossed his mind.

The years had passed over Leslie lightly and gently. Her hair was almost as golden as ever, her cheeks almost as pink, her eyes as darkly blue. Leslie gave dancing lessons to young children. It was a pleasant thing to see Leslie give a lesson.

Tomorrow a second courtship begins—on horseback.

BETTER CONSTRUCTION A SAFEGUARD AGAINST FIRES

One good lesson that we should learn from the disastrous fire here night before last is just how dangerous frame construction is in thickly built up districts of the city. Of course the buildings in which the fire started, like many others in this city were built a long time ago but certainly when such buildings are destroyed they should be replaced with fire resistive materials. The use of fire resistive materials not only means a safer town from a fire standpoint but mean savings in dollars from the standpoint of insurance rates.

It is our opinion our city should be very strict regarding construction in the fire district or other areas wherein frame construction is a menace to life and property.

JUDGE'S ACTION MEETS WITH APPROVAL

The action of Judge Barnhill in ordering the confiscation of the money involved in the Warner trial here this week meets with general approval according to the expressions of opinion along the streets. Of course it delights no one to see Mr. Hooker have to give up the money he received in return for that stolen from his safe deposit box but it seems to be the pretty general opinion that justice has been thwarted by the covering up of a crime of no little magnitude and since this is the case it is proper that no one else should be permitted to profit as a result of this covering up. It also seems to be the opinion that the seizure of the money might in the long run cause somebody to talk.

Ikkes, so the story goes, assembled a quick White House conference which included Senator Elmer Thomas of Okla., Rep. Wesley Disney of Okla., and Rep. William P. Cole, Jr., of Md., the latter being chairman of a House sub-committee which recently reported the government had no constitutional authority to tell a state how much oil it might produce. No one was present from Texas or California, the two largest oil states. Word was quoted from this session that Mr. Roosevelt favored federal oil regulation legislation.

CONTROL: Then the Texans got to town in their testimony before the Senate Mines Committee they quoted Charles Evans Hughes as telling the Federal Oil Conservation Board back in 1926 that "Congress has no constitutional authority to control the mere production of petroleum on lands (other than Indian lands) within the territory of a state." They dug up a letter Mr. Roosevelt wrote the oil governors back in 1933 which indicated a White House belief that regulation of production was the sole authority and jurisdiction of the interested states.

Gov. Allied and his aids asked that Congress confine itself to ratifying a compact the oil-producing states are now making to regulate themselves. Actually, the compact has no binding force but the legislature of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico already have accepted it, with California's approval on the way.

It looks as though Secretary Ikkes was about to be deprived of his watchdogging over "hot oil." The oil spokesmen sue or in any event that "hot oil"—or oil produced in violation of government quotas—amounts to only about 1-10 of 1 per cent of the country's daily consumption.

Bear in mind that Vice President Garrar, Senators Connally and Sheppard and Rep. Rayburn, all legislative powers who ride high on the administration bandwagon, come from Texas.

BITTER: Roosevelt hopes to spend the $4,880,000,000 work-relief money in fourteen months—but July 1, 1936. He will not succeed unless he gets better teamwork among the believers. The states want Roosevelt to do it all—and Ikkes and Hopkins make sure that the exchange between the states and Washington shall be written in gall and vitriol. To spend the four billion would require an average outlay of $2,888,000 a day.

Every state getting less than some other state is fertile ground for a grouch. The big job ahead of FDR is to force the states to come through with their end of relief cash.

Jim Farley is not so keen to wind up the spending on July 1 next year—the campaign doesn't close till election day.

CHECK: Senator Hugo Black, of Miss., has a bill in the legislative hopper which would require all Washington lobbyists to register, identify their connections—and state periodically with which members of Congress they had talked and about what.

Irrepressible Huey says he will offer an amendment to the Black bill requiring all Senators to reveal the names of lobbyists with whom they have been consorting.

However there is slight chance that the Black bill will ever see the light of day. Congress got indignant about lobbying back in 1913 when the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill was up, and more recently when the Smoot-Hawley tariff measure was under consideration—but nothing ever came of it. Woodrow Wilson complained about a "large and insidious lobby." Republican Senator Comings of Iowa got all hot up in his time as did Democratic Senator Thad Caraway of Arkansas and others. The Roosevelt administration is annoyed at the moment—but it would take the Supreme Court and half a dozen Congresses to define a "lobbyist."

WINNINGS: This may or may be an omen. A group of Senate reporters were perusing the Maryland racing entries the other day with a view of increasing a few of their hard-earned dollars on ponies. One news man played a straight "hunch" parlay on two horses named "Gold Standard" and "Deflate." Both won, paying, respectively $4.70 and $34.10.

the bill for the third and final time preceding voting when Republican Jonas, of Lincoln, objected after Representative Day had moved for suspension of the rules so that the bill might be passed. When Mr. Day tried to withdraw his request for suspension of the rules, Mr. Jonas objected again. A two-thirds majority is required to suspend the rules and Mr. Jonas knew Mr. Day did not have it. Mr. Day succeeded in recalling his motion over Mr. Jonas' protest, however, the House permitting him to withdraw it by a rousing chorus of "ayes." Only a majority vote was required to permit him to withdraw the motion.

The bill appears for its third reading today. Both weeks and days are busy trying to secure a majority. It is conceded that the House will pass the bill today.

Carolina is officially dry. That attitude is considered as an open-door invitation to Dry Forces in North Carolina, an organization headed by Cale K. Burgess, have intimated that United Drys will accept the invitation if a Democratic Legislature modifies in any particular the State's stringent dry laws. Republican House members recently voted "no" on the 5 per cent beer bill after Representative Jonas had praised from the House floor, those who drink wet but vote dry.

Representative Jonas is also the father of the bill which would allow $75,000 annually, provide for the appointment of sixty men, to "enforce the Turlington Act."

When Representative Jonas was a member of Congress from the Tenth North Carolina District he opposed repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, said he would resign his seat if his district voted for repeal. His district voted against repeal, but unseated Republican Jonas, seating in his stead Major Bulwinkle, of Gastonia.

HANG- OVER NO. 4— OVER WORK

"That is a laugh, these days of short hours and little work" say some. But over work is common even now. As one weakens, toxic conditions begin. Nature tries to throw off this waste but without the proper strength is unable to do so. 7-Up with its quick burning inverted sugar gives power to the muscles. The cleansing, purifying effect of CO2 loosens the toxic waste, the water slices away. Workers need 7-Up, but be sure it is 7-Up. 7-Up sold wherever Bottled Drinks are sold. The causes of the present war clouds now hovering over Europe and how they may affect us were explained.

Following the program the guests were invited into the dining room where Easter place cards, lily of the valley, tulips and a profusion of spring flowers made a beautiful setting for the delicious three-course luncheon which was served.

System Flaws

By TOM O'NEIL

Playing duplicate at the Knickerbocker Whist Club with George W. Bynon, chief of staff for Ely Culbertson, I developed curiosity over one hand which only one pair of the dozens competing bid to grand slam. One could hardly fail to take every trick if he tried to lose some.

Most pairs bid six no trump. Some stopped at four. So what is the matter with bidding systems, if anything, when they don't provide for the greatest profit from a planola. Maybe nothing, of which more anon.

Anyhow I got curious because I had witnessed a grand slam hand played in the final round of the United States Bridge Association's tournament on which nobody bid enough. Here was the Knickerbocker hand:

DEALER

S—A K 2

H—A J 3

D—A K Q 5

C—A J 7

S—Q 10 4

H—K Q 8

D—K Q 8

D—J 9 6 2

C—K Q 9

Bynyn, the dealer, started the bidding with two diamonds. I responded three no trump and he went to six no trump. I passed.

George and I had a little discussion in which it was suggested that I could have bid seven no trump over his six if I had stopped to figure out the total honor trick count of the hands as indicated by the bidding. I feared there might be an ace off the hand somewhere and thought it was really up to the big hand to say seven.

Many players who open the big hand with three no trump and jump to seven when partner said four no trump.

Oswald Jacoby said his "aces" bid three no trump on a balanced hand that has a point count of 16 1-2 to 18 and all suits stopped. Under his count, an ace is 3, a king 2, a queen 1 and a jack 1-2.

The dealer's hand in this instance would count up 18. The responding hand, with a count of 7 1-2, would know there was a slam in the hand, since the total count of the deck is 26 and would bid six no trump. The dealer would then bid seven, knowing that at the worst there would be a finesse for all the tricks.

A Mississippi Squeeze

There are good bridge players in Mississippi. For years, even before contract was devised, a famous whist hand in which the dealer held a king-jack-nine in one suit and aces, kings and queens in two suits and ace-king-queen-jack in the fourth, has been known as the "Mississippi heart hand." A grand slam was made against the dealer. His king-jack-nine suit was led through and each adversary was void of two suits.

Speaking of Mississippi bridge of the present, whether or not the heart hand had anything to do with that State, Drew Shankle sends me from Columbus, Miss., a hand showing that A. B. Downs of that city is thoroughly familiar with the squeeze. Here was the hand:

In order to make seven spades against the opening of the king of clubs, South had to bring about an end position that required East to unguard hearts. After drawing trumps, South played the ace and kings of diamonds, and the king of hearts, then ran all the spades.

East's last three cards were the queen-ten of hearts and the queen of diamonds. South's last three were the five of diamonds to threat that compelled East to keep a diamond a spade and the heart seven. North's last three were the jack of clubs and the ace-jack of hearts.

Clean Out

Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Ellis was placed under $1,000 bond on a hit-and-run charge. He told police that the reason he left the scene of the accident without offering aid to the injured man was because he had been too scared to stay around.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 25.—(AP)—The stock market gave a boom-time demonstration today under the leadership of buoyant silver issues.

With the Treasury boosting the silver price 77.57 cents an ounce, a fifteen-year peak, and the world silver rate jumped almost as much there was a rush for mining shares at the start. Other stocks were not slow in joining the upturn and numerous new highs for the year were recorded.

Profit-taking later calmed the list with resultant moderate reactions. The trading pace was the fastest of the past several months.

Grains dropped at Chicago following the re-opening of the pits after yesterday's suspension. Bonds improved and foreign exchanges were somewhat mixed.

Meanwhile the senate did little work at the morning session except to refuse to revive the Weather's bill to repeal the absentee ballot law and recess to hold an afternoon session at which the 1935-37 biennial appropriations bill was a special order.

Conferees working on the biennial revenue bill were "putting in the finishing touches" on their report, and it was also probable this would reach the senate during the afternoon. The conferees were understood to have agreed to eliminate food exemptions from the three per cent general sales tax.
