Five Hundred Workers At Goldsboro Plant Walk Out

CUT IN WAGES, MORE HOURS, CAUSES STRIKE

Atlas Plywood Company Announces Abandonment of NRA Code, With Longer Hours and Less Pay; Home Office at Boston Denies Pay Cut; Says it is Local Condition Applying to Goldsboro Alone

Goldsboro, N. C., May 1.—(AP)—Approximately 500 employees of the Atlas Plywood Company went on strike here today following receipt of orders from the home office at Boston abandoning the NRA Code cutting wages and increasing hours.

The strike came spontaneously when employees who are understood not to be unionized were faced by posted notices at opening time today announcing a cut in wages from 23 to 18 cents an hour and an increase in the weekly hours of work from 40 to 56.

Informed that Boston officials maintained that any wage and hour revisions were purely matters local to Goldsboro and had not been ordered by the general office, E. T. Sanborn, plant manager, said only: "The new wages and hours were orders from headquarters."

The first walkout came at the company's Empire plant where approximately 300 persons are employed. A scattering of workers who insisted on reporting to their posts in the plant was reported by a barrage of brickbats. Hastily summoned police cordons were required to restore order. None was injured.

Strikers from the main plant then went to the utility plant nearby where they were joined by about half of the 150 employees there and began picketing which was partly broken up by police.

Ames Fields, negro, was arrested when he defied police orders to leave the property, but no formal charge was brought against him.

First reports said the utility plant was forced to close, but it was operating a short time later with a few shift. Guards were stationed at both plants.

Boston, May 1.—(AP)—An executive of the home office of the Atlas Plywood Company denied today that the company had repudiated the NRA and said any wage cuts or hour revisions that had been made in the Goldsboro, N. C., plant was a local matter.

The home office official who declined to permit his name to be used, said: "We have not repudiated the NRA. Our company still subscribes to the NRA and is in good standing under the lumber code. I have not been informed of the difficulties in Goldsboro, but I know of no general order from the home office which sets forth that wages should be cut and hours increased. Any adjustment in the North Carolina plant would be accomplished locally to compete with competitors."

The official said he had authority to speak for the company.

Owners of this issue have been requested to turn such bonds in at their banks in exchange for other bonds. It is expected the offer will close any day now and owners were urged to turn their bonds in immediately.

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—The superstition still persists in these parts that $2 bills bring bad luck—unless a corner is torn from each bill as it is received.

Henry Myer, a railroad cashier, recently tried to get 40 new $2 bills at a bank. The bank couldn't supply him. Neither could any other bank here. He went to the branch of the Federal Reserve bank. It didn't have any new ones, but it did have 1,000 that had not been used much. The clerk obligingly said he would look through the stack and pick out the 40 cleanest ones.

Late News Flashes

Senate Passes Conference Report Raleigh, N. C., May 1.—(AP)—The Senate this afternoon passed the revenue bill conference report on second reading.

The vote was 28 to 15, not counting pairs.

Senator Hill, of Durham, champion of exemptions of staple foods for sales tax, said the bill would be introduced next week to supplement the revenue bill and provide for food exemptions. It was understood the exemptions may be made if additional revenue from other sources, such as liquor, might be found.

A liquor bill is pending in the Senate for consideration tomorrow, but 23 of the 50 members are reported to have signed a round table robin pledging themselves to vote against it.

Meanwhile the House debates the biennial school machinery act after refusing to concur in the Senate amendments to the biennial appropriations measure.

The senate made a few major changes in the money spending bill before yesterday but the house refused to accept them.

Representatives considered the school machinery act section by section. The house amended the act so as to provide that the school commission shall continue to name its own secretary. A provision put in the bill in committee would have made the state superintendent of public instruction be secretary to the commission. The senate refused to concur in hour changes to the bill to raise the number of highway patrolmen from 67 to 121 and created a safety division and referees will be named later. The senate also refused to accept changes in the Corey measure to prohibit dumping refuse within 300 yards of the public highways.

The senate passed a bill to boost the pay of a number of state officials. Including were acts two: pay the commissioners of agriculture, labor and insurance and adjutant general $4,500 a year instead of $3,825; pay the utilities commissioner $6,000 instead of $4,500; and pay the parole commissioner $4,500 instead of $3,200. Only the parole commissioner pay bill completed legislative passage as the other members were either originated in the senate or the house measures were amended.

Vote to Continue NRA Washington, D. C., May 1.—(AP)—The Senate Finance Committee today disregarded the administration's recommendation for a two-year extension of the NRA and voted to continue the present law with three changes until April 1 of next year.

As another step in the long controversy over the Blue Eagle administration, the committee voted 15 to 10 to report out a resolution extending the present law with provisions against price-fixing and limiting costs to interstate business.

A third provision would give President Roosevelt a brief period to review the present code in order to make them conform to the two changes in the law.

That action was taken without a formal record vote in a two-hour executive session marked by virtual unanimity of opinion.

Chairman Harrison in announcing the action refused to say whether it was satisfactory to President Roosevelt.

The chief executive recommended to congress a two year extension of NRA but in conference with congressional leaders yesterday was reported to have agreed to a resolution merely extending the recovery.

NEW FEATURE FOR COLLEGE SUMMER TERM

Carefully Planned Extensive Tour Announced at Teachers College Today

A new feature of the Summer School of East Carolina Teachers College just announced is a carefully planned extensive tour, under the guidance of regular members of the faculty, which will carry credits for a full term in three subjects, English, history, and geography at practically the same cost as for one term in college.

President Meadows explained the plan to the students at the assembly hour yesterday. Before this announcement had been placed on the bulletin board with the request that the students interested would sign.

The announcement met with such enthusiastic response that there are already a number signed up for the course.

The Summer School this summer will be the largest East Carolina Teachers College has had for a number of years, according to present prospect. Applications are coming in at a rapid rate. Yesterday morning when Dr. Meadows called for the hands of those who were planning to register in the summer school, advising them to make arrangements early, it looked as if a third of those present held up their hands.

He announced the entertainment program for the summer, which contains a number of interesting attractions.

POOL OPENING DATE DELAYED

Absence of Member Causes Delay in Meeting of Pool Committee

The scheduled meeting of the swimming pool committee late yesterday afternoon was not held because of the absence of one of the members. It was made known today, but there was every indication the matter of opening date for the pool would be decided upon between now and the end of the week.

In fact, it is probable the committee will be ready to render a report at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen at the city hall tomorrow night.

The committee was instructed at a previous session of the board to decide on the opening date for the pool in addition to working out a schedule of rates for season swimmers. It has been so cold during the intervening time that the committee delayed action, but the coming of warmer weather has brought about a demand for action and this is expected to come before the week is over.

Chief of Police George Clark who has had charge of improvements at the pool, attempted to call the (Continued on Page Four.)

BOYD SEEKS RE-ELECTION

Alderman From 4th Ward Announces His Candidacy Today For Old Post

J. H. Boyd, Jr., announced today his candidacy for re-election to the Board of Aldermen from the Fourth Ward in the municipal primary to be held on Monday, May 6.

A. E. Hobgood also announced his candidacy for re-election as alderman from the Fifth Ward. Mr. Hobgood has served the administration faithfully during the last several years, and enters the election without contest.

Mr. Boyd, who has served four two year terms on the board, said if re-elected he would continue to render the highest type of service to the municipality and stick by the economy program adopted by the board a number of years ago.

Appointed in 1927 to fill an unexpired term, Mr. Boyd has served continuously since that time. He has been in the thick of every battle for improvement of the community and is considered one of the main orators on the board.

Mr. Boyd has been prominent in the business, political and religious life of the community over a period of many years, and announcement of his candidacy for re-election was received with interest to day by his constituents.

Mr. Boyd is opposed by A. C. Tadlock, who announced the first of the week he would seek the post in the Fourth Ward.

With exception of the Second Ward, the Fourth is the only ward in which contest exists. Vernon Parrish is opposed by C. B. Rowlett in the Second, but the remaining members of the board are sailing along without competition, unless something develops before the closing of candidates' registration book five days prior to election.

Mayor R. C. Flanagan, who announced several days ago he would seek re-election also is without opposition. Registration books for voters will close Saturday and persons who have moved to another ward will be required to register if they vote. (Continued on Page Two)

DRUNK DRIVER GIVEN YEAR ON COUNTY ROADS

Several Other Charges of Similar Nature Handled in County Court

Sitting for the first time in two weeks because of the term of criminal court which came to a close the latter part of last week, County Court yesterday disposed of fifteen odd cases liberally interspersed with charges of driving drunk.

With a docket of around thirty cases court continued sitting today with indications that work would be completed around noon or during early afternoon.

Six or seven charges of driving drunk were disposed of yesterday with the defendants being fined $50 and cost each and their driver's licenses revoked from 90 days to one year. One was sent to the roads for a year. Suspended sentences were left hanging over the defendants in the majority of cases as the court made a pronounced effort to reduce this phase of traffic violation.

Drunken drivers have held the spotlight of the court for several months in spite of the fact that a campaign was launched here nearly a year ago in an effort to improve traffic conditions and reduce the annual toll of life from automobile accidents.

Roscoe Garris, colored, charged with driving drunk, was sentenced to twelve months on the roads. Others facing charges of driving drunk follow:

L. R. Gladson, $50 and cost and license revoked six months. William Smith, colored, $50 and cost, license revoked 90 days. Lindsay Stallings, $50 and cost and license revoked six months. Bryant Dixon, $50 and cost and license revoked for eight months. Leslie Lilly, $50 and cost and license revoked for six months.

A. E. Askew, facing a charge of reckless driving, was fined $25 and cost and had his license revoked for 12 months, the revocation of license being reduced to 60 days on condition that terms of the judgment are carried out and due restitution is made for damaged property.

Ben Williams, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was sentenced to sixty days on the roads.

Preston Ellis, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was fined $25 and cost.

Heber Ross, indecent exposure, was sentenced to sixty days on the roads.

Alfred Williams, colored, charged with transporting whiskey for the purpose of sale, was fined $25 and cost. Lizzie Cox and Robert Atkinson, held in the same case, were adjudged not guilty.

Dewitt Andrews, colored, larceny, was required to pay cost of action and pay for two bushels of corn he stole.

Floyd Willis, colored, charged with selling whiskey, was sentenced to 90 days on the roads, but filed notice of appeal to Superior court under bond of $50.

SEEK BOUNTY FOR COTTON

Manufacturers Will Propose $35 a Bale On Export Cotton at Washington

Greenville, S. C., May 1.—(AP)—Seeking alleviation of the cotton processing tax. Southern textile interests will propose to the government tomorrow that it establish a bounty of $35 a bale to be paid manufacturers on exported cotton goods that was announced here today.

Samuel C. Lampert, New York exporter of the plan, said here today the proposal had met with a warm reception at the recent Augusta, Ga., meeting of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association and that it would probably form the focal point for discussions in Washington tomorrow between representatives of that body and the committee President Roosevelt has named to investigate conditions of the industry.

Although the proposal has many principles in common with the export debenture plan which has been discussed at various times for many years, it was indicated the source of the county payments would be left open for discussion.

Committeemen appointed by T. H. Webb of Concord, N. C., new president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association were en route to Washington today from all parts of the South for the conference.

VETERAN MAIL MAN RETIRES

Jesse Brown Completes Nearly 31 Years And is Retired on Pension

J. W. (Jess) Brown made his last run over his rural mail route yesterday and was retired from service with pension after serving nearly 31 years in the postoffice department.

He was succeeded today by James L. (Bully) Anderson, who retired as a rural mail carrier something like 19 years ago, and who since that time has been engaged in the tobacco and other forms of industry in this community.

After making his final run over Route 4 yesterday, Mr. Brown said he felt like a fish out of water and planned to go into some field of business in a short time. He said he would not be able to decide what he would do until the next few days.

Mr. Brown started service with the Postoffice department September 2, 1901, as rural carrier on Route 4 and served in that capacity until February 28, 1904. He was then made assistant substitute postal clerk under the chief clerk at Richmond and served in this capacity for eight months.

He was reappointed rural mail carrier on Route 6 May 1, 1905, and was transferred to the postoffice February 14, 1910. He resigned January 31, 1920, and was reappointed rural carrier on Route 4 June 1, 1922. He has served continuously on that route until his retirement yesterday.

Because of his long service with the postal department here, Mr. Brown was probably one of the best known men in the local service, and scores of persons along his route yesterday expressed regret at his retirement.

Other demonstrations planned for the Pacific Coast were to be held at Seattle by the unemployed citizens, and later in Spokane by the Workers' International Union of the World and Socialists.

Other parades were set for San Francisco's Market Street.

HOUSING MEET HERE TONIGHT

Ladies Invited to Attend Meeting at Court House to Discuss Federal Plans

The Better Housing Committee will hold a meeting tonight at the courthouse at 8 o'clock to explain the insured mortgage phase of the National Housing Act. Gavill Wood and J. M. Bolick, field representatives of the State office, are here at the request of R. L. Powell to aid the committee in disseminating information to the public.

Anyone who is interested in constructing a new house or refinancing the mortgage on their present house is cordially invited to attend. All questions will be answered at an open forum which will be held after the meeting.

Ladies are especially invited to attend this meeting. Several ladies have stated that they are going to accompany their husbands, as they are particularly anxious to learn the details about security a loan.

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

On the House calendar by virtue of a favorable report from the Committee on Banks and Banking is a bill which will, if passed, require finance companies such as these handling installment paper for purchases of automobiles to itemize all charges. Included in the itemization would be interest charges, investigating fees, loss reserve, dealer rebates and insurance charges.

Offered just one month ago today by Representatives Lumpkin, Franklin, and O'Berry, of Wayne, the bill has been reported favorably and appears before the Lower House for action today. It is believed that the bill will pass the House.

The measure would place installment paper dealers (finance companies) under the supervision of the State Banking Department. At present there is no governmental supervision over such organizations. While the bill is frankly named at those companies handling installment paper on automobile purchases it would include all such dealers, such as those (Continued on Page Two)

BRITISH DOWN ON GERMAN PLAN TO ARM

Prime Minister MacDonald Says His Recent Article Supported by Government

London, May 1.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald declared in the House of Commons today that an article he wrote last week lambasting Germany reflected the opinion of the British government.

The article was printed in the official newspaper of the labor party and especially denounced Germany for its re-arming in the air. MacDonald said he personally considered its publication was in the public interest.

MacDonald's statement came shortly after Sir Bolton Eyles Mousell, first lord of the admiralty, had told the House that Germany would have its first submarine since the World War ready for action within six months. In explanation of his article which was received with unfriendly comment in Germany, the Prime Minister said:

"The government views on the effect of Germany's recent action as regards military planes, both as to methods of action, had been expressed at Stresa and Geneva and discussed in the Commons in speciality both by the Foreign Minister and myself.

The article is substantially in line with those statements and does represent the view of the government.

HITLER MAKES PEACE APPEAL

Reichfuhrer Calls on Germans to Seek Peace With All The World

Berlin, May 1.—(AP)—Reichfuhrer Hitler told more than a million persons gathered at his levee in Temple Airfield that Germany desires only peace with other nations.

"Just as we restored peace within Germany," he said, "we want peace abroad, because only then can our domestic works be a success."

It was a cold, stormy day. The listening multitudes were lashed by a thunderstorm, but Hitler, bare-headed, stood high above them on a rostrum and pleaded for closer union of the nations.

His voice was husky, but easy to understand as he spoke with solemnity through microphones which carried his voice to every section of the Reich.

"Many other nations understand," said Hitler, "that the Germany of today is not the Germany of yesterday. Therefore, fellow-citizens, I ask you to bind faster the hands of the community. Do not forget you are members of one people ordained by God."

The Reichfuhrer proclaimed the German people had "now become a new people."

POLICE COURT IS POSTPONED

Two Cases Scheduled For Hearing Today Continued Until Saturday Morning

The regular Wednesday morning session of police court was postponed until Saturday today because of the lack of cases awaiting consideration.

Chief of Police George Clark said there were only two cases on docket this morning and that they decided to continue them until the latter part of the week when the docket probably will be heavier.

Arrests have been at a minimum in Greenville for the last three weeks. This also applies to other parts of the county. It is an old saying that when criminal court sits crime is at a minimum, and this was certainly true the past two weeks when court was in session here.

No arrests of any importance have been made by county officers during the period, although County Court had a fairly heavy docket when it began deliberations yesterday morning. These cases came from all sections of the county.

COMPETITION: Political strategists think they detect a deliberate turn to the right by the administration in recent weeks. They look for a further swing in that direction from now on. In legislative terms this probably means that features in the NRA, banking and holding company bills held objectionable by prospective victims will be skillfully removed on Capitol Hill.

Although President Roosevelt cannot hope to win back all the conservatives he has lost his advisers think a judicious course will give him the balance of ballots in a three-cornered presidential contest. All Democratic plans take into account the certain entry of a ticket representing the viewpoint of the "every man a king" believers.

ENEMYS KISS by Evelyn M. Winch

Chapter Three
EXPLANATION
 ALISON hesitated. There was a ring of authority in the man's voice. In his old tweed coat, baggy flannels, with no hat, he had not looked like a burglar, but still—She tried to push his arm away but it held her the more firmly.
 "Come on now!"
 She yielded.
 "I—I was upstairs in the bath room, and—and something tried to come in."
 "Something? What do you mean?" incredulously.
 "I don't know. A dreadful-looking sort of man. Horrible, like a ghost. I was frightened and—"
 "Are you alone here, then?" He sounded more astonished.
 "Yes."
 The instant she had said it, she realized that it would have been better to pretend that there were servants in the house, sleeping. But now it was too late. He gave a faint whistle.
 "This is your house?"
 "I don't know," she admitted. "I suppose so."
 "You don't know?" On the whole, his astonishment was justified. She heard him grope for the switch heard it click uselessly. The lantern glimmered again as he asked, "Where's the main switch?"
 "I don't know. I've never been in the place before." He was looking at her with such disbelief that she went on quickly. "I came here to meet my father. You see, I had a wire from him to come here and wait until he came. And now he hasn't come—" her voice trailed off lamely. "and I don't know what's happened." That ended in a slight gulp.
 "There! Don't!" He had let her go now, was patting her arm comfortingly.
 "I'm not!" said Alison. A manifest lie.

BY way of answer, he extracted a large, and clean silk handkerchief and handed it to her. She took it gratefully. Her own was in the bathroom in her bag. It was a minute or two before she reappeared from the handkerchief, shakily and with shiny nose, to meet two perplexed blue eyes. When he frowned like that, he looked much older and stern.
 "Look here, what house is this?"
 "The Croft House, Warley, isn't it?" Alison looked up with surprise. Was that the solution, she wondered? Had she got into the wrong house by mistake?
 But he nodded.
 "That's what I understood," he agreed. "Does it belong to your father?"
 "I don't quite know. That's the queer part of it. I'd never heard of it before. But I know he was going to take a country house and his wife said the Croft House, Warley, all right. And the man at Warley in the garage seemed to know it." Alison explained confusedly. "I expect that father's just moving in—you see, he's getting married again."
 "I see." The young man said that doubtfully, surveying Alison with puzzled eyes which took in her pretty face, well-cut tweed suit, good shoes and daintily-kept hands.
 After a moment he added, "I was out there in the road, taking a stroll before I turned in, and I saw someone get in through this window. It struck me as not exactly—orthodox—so I followed. And the next thing I knew was you shoving your hand into my face."
 He spoke so frankly, that she had to believe him; she smoothed back her thick chestnut curls, thinking, "He's nice."
 The young man remarked briskly, "Look here, you wait down here. I'll have a look round for your bathroom friend."
 "No!" She could not help grabbing at his arm, though she dropped it at once, ashamed. "I—I'd rather come with you."
 He looked down at her trembling mouth and eyes big with fear and nodded.
 "All right. Keep behind me, that's all. Have you a candle?"
 "No, I couldn't find any."

chinery for a long time, but there are some who think they may soon be needed to carry troops somewhere. Other nations, especially Japan, are building up their merchant marine because of their value as naval auxiliaries. Our commercial attaches in the Orient emphasize the asset which Japan's new fleet of Diesel-driven vessels would be in time of war. Already they have driven American and British vessels out of the silk-carrying business.
 This country's naval auxiliaries now fall far below par, and more commercial ships will be a basic necessity when the proposed navy-building program is completed.

Legislative Rambling
 handling notes for electric refrigerators, radios and so on.
 The bill would not regulate or limit the charges imposed by finance companies, but would simply compel such companies to itemize assessments. Proponents of the bill declare that the companies engaged in handling installment paper will not tell what rates or levies they impose on installment purposers. Representatives Lumpkin and O'Berry declare that four companies handle practically all the paper on sales of cars, which is the bulk of the installment business, and that they have a virtual monopoly. "The purchaser," said Mr. Lumpkin, "has a right to know what he is paying for. Under present conditions he does not know, nor will the finance companies tell him." Representatives Lumpkin and O'Berry, in a statement issued by them, challenge individuals to learn what charges the amounts of those charges are which are included in installment paper.

City charters could be changed only by a vote of the people under the terms of a bill offered by Senator Ray Shute, of Union County, which calls for a constitutional amendment to be submitted to the electorate in 1936. "If passed by the Legislature and approved by the voters next year," said Senator Shute, "it would insure to the residents of a city or town the right to vote on any optional forms of municipal government which the general assembly might set up, such as mayor and board of aldermen, commission form, or council-manager form. The form thus adopted could not be changed by legislative enactment without again submitting the question to a vote of the people affected.

 Another section of the bill would require that all cities and towns be governed by "general law" insofar as incorporation and organization are concerned. Thus the measure would outlaw the practice of amendment the great number of town and city charters by the process of putting through the legislature "purely local" bills. Senator Shute does not subscribe to the practice of permitting cities and towns to have a mass of local laws applicable only to the city or town named in the bills which flood legislative hoppers each session of the Legislature. "Enactment of this measure," said Senator Shute, "will speed progress of the Legislature because it would not have to consume so much time considering local bills."

The bill is sponsored by the North Carolina League of Municipalities being approved at its legislative conference in Raleigh last January 23. The bill is expected to meet with opposition from those who oppose making general the laws pertaining to city and town charters. Others will doubtless oppose passage of the bill this session solely on the ground that four constitutional amendments will be submitted to the voters next year. Tried and proven is the statement that when a greater number of amendments are offered at one time it usually results in the defeat of all amendments.

WELL DESERVED PRAISE
 Sometimes it takes the expression of opinion by an outsider to make us realize just how great are the assets we have right here at home and in view of the tendency on the part of a large number of citizens who crowd about the scene of a fire and criticize the work of the firemen we desire to present here a letter of congratulation received by our fire department for the good work done on the occasion of the fire here last week that destroyed the Winslow property and damaged the Center Brick Warehouse and the Imperial Tobacco Company.
 It happened on the night of the fire that the district manager of one of the fire insurance companies was spending the night in Greenville and took the opportunity to visit the scene and watch the firemen in action.
 As a result of his report to the head office, here is a letter from J. F. Glass, state manager, for Crum and Foster, that has been received by Chief George Gardner:

Dear Chief:
 I want to congratulate you and your men on the fine work that you did on the recent fire there which destroyed the Winslow Store and damaged the Center Brick Warehouse. This is the first case that I recall where a tobacco sales warehouse fire was stopped without a total loss and it shows good work and that it was well directed.
 As you know from experience, tobacco sales warehouses are difficult losses to handle on account of the large areas.
 I am sure you will know this letter is not written with a selfish view in that you saved us money in stopping the warehouse fire as while we pay the owners dollars, fires destroy asset values of a community which cannot be replaced. Too, there is always involved or losses of this kind the danger of human lives being lost which all of us should think of first. Had you failed to stop the warehouse fire when you did there is a good chance the entire block might have gone.
 With best wishes, I am
 Very sincerely yours,
 J. F. GLASS, Mgr.

 York is doing them no good. Its bias and bitterness make them no friend at either end of Pennsylvania Avenue. Cabinet members and Roosevelt legislators receive copies regularly, although it is supposed to circulate only among "brethren." It makes the bill's proponents mad and more determined to force it through Congress.
 If the diplomats of the utility cause are crowded back by their bill necked associates the recent period of optimism will be replaced—and properly—by gloom as thick as your leg.

TACT: The bankers are exhibiting restraint—and more finesse—in their fight on the measure to revise the Federal Reserve System. They are speaking softly and collectively as few enemies as possible.
 They concede that the measure has some good features, and they offer frank criticism of those which, in their opinion, exposes the system to political control. They abandoned high pressure methods after Carter Glass—once their enemy but now their friend—charged them with setting up "night schools" to instruct witnesses on how they should testify.

 Final action on the measure should be more effective, and the betting is on the bankers.
BUTTONHOLDERS: Senator Black's bill for registration of lobbyists has been hailed as a death blow to the "third House of Congress"—provided it passes—but some of the Capital's better known wranglers are laughing up their sleeves at it. They would like nothing better. If it worked out as they scheme they say that they would register, and then cite their compliance as evidence of the purity of their activities.
 W. if they really fear—although nobody in Congress has advanced the idea—is a law requiring them to submit to periodical Congressional praisal all correspondence dealing with their attempts to influence legislative or governmental action.
 The practice of returning all letters—abolishing all files—might then spread from certain of the holding companies to the gentlemen who buttonhole legislators.
ASSETS: Senator Copeland's proposal to extend our merchant marine at a time when world trade is steadily declining has been called a silly idea. But it is far from that if you know the real reason for it. The ships he would build may not carry cotton or wheat or ma-

Tea For Miss Johnson

On yesterday afternoon at her home on Colanah street, Mrs. W. H. Woolard was gracious hostess at an informal tea complimenting Miss Evelyn Johnson of Emory, Mississippi, house guest of Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Ryan.

Mrs. Woolard, Miss Johnson and Mrs. Ryan received the guests in an artistic setting of lovely spring flowers.

Miss Mary Woolard assisted the hostess in serving delicious tea sandwiches, stuffed dates and mints.

Mrs. Lee Club Hostess

Mrs. W. W. Lee was a charming hostess to members of her bridge club and a few other guests yesterday afternoon at her home on Greene street.

Pink roses and rock roses emphasizing a pink and white color note, made an effective background for the bridge tables. At the conclusion of the games Mrs. J. B. Cummings was presented a piece of pottery for high score.

The hostess served tempting refreshments.

In addition to club members Mrs. Lee had as guests, Mrs. J. B. Cummings, Mrs. E. J. Garrett, Mrs. Billy Brewer, Mrs. L. E. Tyndall and Miss Elizabeth Skinner.

Invitation to Science Open House

To the people of Greenville and vicinity is extended by the Science Club a cordial invitation to the Open House at the Science Building of East Carolina Teachers College on Thursday evening, May 2, between the hours of seven and ten.

Mrs. Grimm Honored

Mrs. B. F. Bullard was a charming hostess Tuesday afternoon at contract bridge in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. F. H. Grimm, of Fayetteville.

Mrs. L. P. Whitescarver made high score and was awarded a lovely vase in crystal. Mrs. Richard Gorman received next high, a box of powder. Mrs. John Karnsak was presented powder for consolation. The floating prize went to Mrs. J. A. Watson.

Mrs. Grimm was remembered with a dish in pyrex.

The hostess assisted by her mother-in-law, Mrs. T. R. Bullard served delicious refreshments.

Making up the tables were Mrs. Needham Ward, Miss Ada James, Mrs. Whit Harris, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. John Karnsak, Mrs. J. S. Willard, Mrs. J. A. Watson, Mrs. John Winstead, Mrs. K. B. Pace, Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, Mrs. Royce Hunsucker, Mrs. F. H. Grimm, Mrs. Bill Minshew, Mrs. L. P. Whitescarver, Mrs. Lee Hannah and Mrs. Richard Gorman.

Round Table Meeting

The Round Table met on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Carl Adams, who was a charming hostess entertaining for her mother, Mrs. Lewis, who was out of the city. Spring flowers in profusion added much to the already lovely home. Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. J. A. McVey, Mrs. E. L. Henderson and Mrs. Luther West.

Anniversary reminiscences were discussed with members looking forward with pleasure to the continuation of the most delightful association sure to follow the past twenty-five years.

Continuing the study of "Women Through the Century," Mrs. H. L. Carr gave a fascinating history of two of the most outstanding women during the period 1913-1923. These women, Dr. Alice Hamilton, a leading scientist and Judge Florence Allen, one of the most able lawyers and judges of our day have attained a prominence and have been able to contribute lasting benefits to the people seldom equaled by women up to this time.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Re-Barker and Mrs. E. L. Henderson, served a delectable sweet course.

ner Davis, chairman of the inauguration committee, presented to them the plans for the inauguration of President Meadows and for commencement.

The annual alumnae dinner will be held on Saturday of commencement as usual, but the business meeting will be held at three-thirty in the afternoon and there will be no morning meeting and no program, as the inauguration exercises will be held in the morning. There will be a tea in the afternoon for the honor classes. The plans to be presented at the business meeting were carefully worked out. A nominating committee was appointed as this is the year for election of officers.

Science Club Open House
The Science Club will hold open house for the public in the Science Building of East Carolina Teachers College from 7 to 10 o'clock tomorrow evening.

The public will have the opportunity of seeing what is being done in every phase of science work in the College and in the public schools. There will be exhibits and demonstrations, with the members of the Science faculty in charge and science students acting as guides.

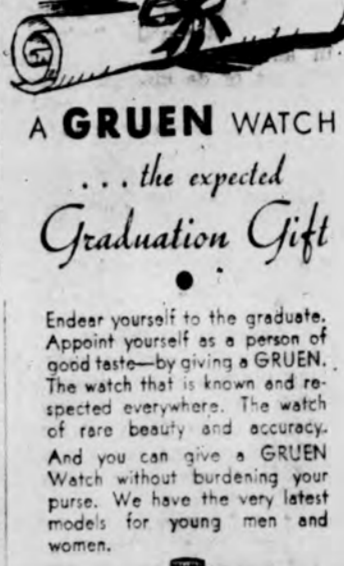

The exhibits, all of which show things actually made by the students themselves, and the demonstrations will be on the first and second floors of the Science building.

Nature study for the elementary grades, Biology, Botany, Bacteriology, and physiology will be shown on the first floor. Of special interest to visitors will be the mechanical man, through which blood may be seen circulating through the veins and arteries. This was modeled on the one shown at the Century of Progress. The human body as a menagerie showing human parasites will attract attention. Aquariums, vivariums and terrariums will be on exhibit. Many kinds of flowers will be shown. Most of the set exhibits are on this floor.

On the second floor will be demonstrations. There will be seen the telescope through which

A. C. C. To Play Double Header Here on Friday

The Bulldogs of Atlantic Christian College will meet the Pirates of East Carolina Teachers College here Friday in a double-header. This is the first time that these teams have met this season. Presbyterian Junior College had been previously scheduled to play here but they were unable to come.

Dawson, the ace of the Bulldogs is likely to pitch the first game. For the Pirates Rogerson will likely pitch the first game and Dunn or Stow the second. Rogerson, who is pitching his first year of college baseball, has won four games in as many starts. Avers will complete the battery for the locals.

After Friday there is only one more home game scheduled for the Pirates. On May 11 the Cadets of Oak Ridge will play here in the last home game of the season. It is very likely that Roger Taylor, Greenville boy, will pitch this game for Colonel Holt's team.

The games Friday will be played at the college field beginning at 2:30 o'clock. Come out and give the team your support.

New York Cotton

New York, May 1.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened quiet but steady unchanged to three higher on trade and commission house buying with offerings light. The market remained dull during most of the morning with fluctuations confined to a range of one to three points. By midday July had sold up to 1183 with the general market advancing at that hour to net lower to three higher.

Futures closed steady, one to five lower; spots steady.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 1.—(AP)—The stock market gave a fairly good hold on recovery today and pulled itself higher along with leading commodities. Advances in improved shares ranged from small fractions to a point and were well distributed over the list. Wheat and other grains improved modestly in Chicago and cotton futures displayed a steadier tone under outside buying. Firmness in United States government was the principal feature of the bond market and the dollar showed its heels to leading foreign currencies in exchange dealings. The late tone was steady. Sales were 800,000 shares.

Dunn Merchant Dead
Dunn, May 1.—(AP)—T. T. Massengill, 75, retired merchant and prominent citizen of Dunn, died here this morning of a heart attack following illness of several weeks. Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow from the Hood Memorial Christian church and burial will be in Greenwood cemetery. Massengill has been residing in Dunn for more than 40 years. Surviving are his widow, one daughter, Miss Bessie Massengill, member of the faculty of Erwin high school. Massengill came here shortly after the town was established in the twenties. For many years he was engaged in the mercantile business and was also interested in other enterprises. He had not been active for many years because of infirmities of age.

Mr. Clark said the pool was all set for the opening now and that he would be ready to throw it open to the public the minute the committee completes its work.

Majestic Range Demonstration Here This Week

Quinn-Miller & Company announced today special showing and demonstration of the new all-enamel Majestic range. The demonstration will take place all this week, and the public has been given a cordial invitation to attend the display. In addition, it was announced that a set of de luxe kitchenware solid copper, nickel-plated, would be given away with every purchase of a Majestic range. New beauty, fuel economy and ease in cooking are features embraced by the new Majestic, and housewives everywhere would do well to visit the store and view the demonstration.
