

HULL SCORES OPPONENTS OF TRADE PACTS

Secretary Raps Business Interests For Resistance to Roosevelt Program

Washington, May 2.—(AP)—Amid signs of hostility between President Roosevelt and the Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Hull went before the business men's convention today to attack what he declared as disastrous resistance to the Roosevelt program of lowering tariff in negotiating trade treaties.

The cabinet official in a speech prepared for delivery today criticized those business interests which had brought pressure to bear in fear that they were to be deprived of even a small part of the artificial advantage given them by an over-inflated government.

Signs interpreted as indicating a sharp break between the President and the organization of businessmen were seen by Washington observers as the convention went into its final day.

President Roosevelt, reported angry over sharp assaults which convention speakers have launched against New Deal measures and plans omitted to send a message to the chamber's annual dinner last night.

For years the chamber has been accustomed to hear a speech or message from the chief executive.

There was no official pronouncement from the White House to the chamber as to the omission.

Authoritative sources said the customary invitation to appear or send a greetings had been extended to the President.

There was a tendency to regard the present situation as one of the most significant developments in the government's business relations since the American Bankers Association convention last year. The relations of the bankers convention was an apparent rapprochement widely heralded at the meeting's peace pact.

COLLECTIONS OF TAXES OFF

City Figures Reflect Slight Decrease Compared With Previous Month

Tax collections in the city of Greenville during the past month were slightly less than the previous month, it was made known today by J. O. Duval, City Clerk.

The figure for April was $4,853 as compared with $5,765 for March, the report of the clerk indicated.

Mr. Duval said approximately 67 per cent of the 1934 levy had been collected up to the last day of the month, and expressed hope the end of the present month would find the figure much nearer the hundred per cent mark.

Last October was the peak month for tax collections, records showing that $20,000 was taken in by the city during the period, the highest figure for any single month in years.

Mr. Duval urged persons who have not paid their taxes to do so at their earliest convenience, and in that way help the city to meet its obligations a hundred per cent at the end of the fiscal year.

Because of splendid collections the past several months, the administration was able to take care of all its obligations the first half of the year and had a comfortable nest egg left on hand for eventualities.

LIMPING FREIGHT CARS

NUMBER SOME 277,000

New York.—(AP)—A total of 277,541 freight cars on Class 1 railroads are "limping."

That is, they need repairs, according to the Association of American Railroads. And of this total, 213,926 need heavy repairs.

The railroads console themselves however, with the thought that this is a decrease of 7,805 cars from the number in need of such repairs on February 1.

Their figures show nevertheless that 14.9 per cent of the number of cars on line are still limping, and that 22.5 per cent of the number of locomotives on the puff a little hard on steep grades.

HOUSING MEET DRAWS CROWD

Explanation of Federal Program Heard By Crowd at Court House

A representative group of citizens interested in building a home turned out for the meeting last night at the Court House to hear Harrell Wood and J. H. Waldrop explain title two of the Federal Housing Act.

Mr. W. H. Wood also spoke briefly of the plan which he represents by stating that the bank was ready to make loans when the applications are properly filled out and approved by the State Federal Housing office.

There was approximately 120 present at the meeting. A number of contractors and building supply men were in the audience to hear the plan discussed in detail.

Those interested in making a loan can secure Mortgageor's Application for loan at the Second floor of the U. S. Postoffice in Greenville, R. L. Powell, chairman of Better Housing Program, will be glad to assist anyone in filling out an application between the hours of 9:00 a. m. until 5:00 p. m.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

Washington

By IRA BENNETT

YES: President Roosevelt said very little in his radio talk that was not already anticipated by keenest observers among business men. They had already checked off the four billion spending account and hit upon the identity of most of the men upon whom President Roosevelt relies to do the job.

What interests industry most: Just now is the scope of the new NRA. Will it give power to FDR to impose codes of fair competition? Will industry be compelled to concede more advantages to organized labor? Will the new act persist in trying to regulate business that is purely within a state?

The answer seems to be "Yes" to each question.

Goldsboro, N. C., May 2.—(AP)—Several hundred employees of the Atlas Plywood Company here forced a complete shutdown of operations today as they tightened slack lines in a fight against an order reducing hourly wage rates and increasing the length of the work-week.

Efforts to re-open the main plant where the strike was one hundred per cent effective yesterday proved futile. Strikers called on the small remaining force to quit work.

About half of the 150 workers of the utility plant, the smaller, was called out yesterday with more than 300 of the Empire, the main plant.

Peace officers advised utility plant officials who had bolstered the force with some green hands to close to avoid possible trouble when the strikers began their march in the plant.

Plan: officials estimated that approximately 90 per cent of the employees, exclusive of overseers who are not affected by the strike, are negroes.

CIVIL COURT OPENS MONDAY

Two Terms of Civil Court Are Scheduled For The County During The Month

Three weeks of civil Superior court are scheduled for this county during the present month, it was made known today by J. F. Harrington, clerk of court.

A one week term will convene next Monday morning with Judge Clayton Moore, of Williamston on the bench. The two week term will convene May 20.

The calendar for the one week term, completed the first of the week, contains around twenty actions of more or less interest to the people of the community and the majority are expected to be completed. Quite a dent is expected to be made in the calendar during the two terms and numbers of actions which have been hanging fire for sometime probably will go the compromise route.

The calendar for the one week term follows:

Monday, May 6, 1935
Whitehurst Andrews Co. vs. Pitt Co. Dr. Dist. No. 2, Lucky Dunn vs. State Grand Ld. of Masons, Herber Hardee vs. Standard Fert. Company, Home Furniture Co. vs. Dr. W. H. Drewery, Fred Jones and wife vs. A. C. L. railroad Co., Julius Brown vs. A. C. L. railroad Co.

Tuesday, May 7, 1935
B. J. Wooten vs. Dr. J. E. Nobles, Rosa H. Brown vs. Claud L. Brown, Jesse E. Bullock vs. J. C. Wynne, Jr., Luby Cannon vs. J. D. McLawhorn.

Wednesday, May 8, 1935
Joanna Mills vs. Henrietta Pugh, Noah L. Edwards vs. C. A. Flynn, R. F. Mulwain vs. Jesse Cox.

Thursday, May 9, 1935
Isabelle Barrow and Husband vs. Ida White, Franklin E. Dail et al vs. N. Y. Life Insurance Co., Mrs. Lael Sellars vs. D. M. Sellars, Mary L. Homy et al vs. King Solomon Lodge et al.

PEACE SOUGHT IN WALKOUTS IN AUTO FIELD

Government Heads to Meet Federation of Labor Forces in Conference Today

Detroit, Mich., May 2.—(AP)—Twenty thousand workers in the automobile industry, forced into idleness by a series of strikes and shutdown in General Motor's subsidiary plants waited for the outcome today of a scheduled peace conference between the Government and the American Federation of Labor.

Edward McGrady, first assistant secretary of labor, and one of the administration's chief trouble-shooters, admitting that the situation was "serious," expected to meet Francis J. Dillon, American Federation of Labor organizer, today to get the Federation's proposal for peace with the General Motor's management.

It was the second time in fourteen months that the Federal government intervened to head off the threat of a strike that might paralyze the giant motor car industry, pace-setter in the recovery of heavy industry. President Roosevelt intervened in March, 1934, and succeeded in halting a strike there.

Atlanta, Ga., May 2.—(AP)—A strike call effective at 12 p. m. tomorrow unless differences are patched up before that hour today, bore the approval of members of the Atlanta local of the United Auto Workers Union.

The workers at a mass meeting here last night gave a committee authority to make the actual call.

RUM HANDLER SENT TO ROADS

George Garris, of Falkland Township, Given 12 Months in Whiskey Case

After sitting for a day and a half County court completed its docket of thirty-odd cases yesterday afternoon and adjourned until Tuesday week because of the one week term of civil Superior court to convene here next Monday morning.

The docket Tuesday was featured by the hearing of several charges of driving drunk, violations of the state prohibition law and petty larceny cases.

Only eight or ten cases remained to be heard yesterday and work was completed around noon.

George Garris, of Falkland community, charged with possession of whiskey for the purpose of sale, was sentenced to 12 months on the roads. He was arrested by county officers several days ago with 122 gallons of contraband whiskey in his possession. The haul was one of the largest reported in the county in sometime.

Will Newborn, colored, charged with possession of whiskey for sale, was permitted to pay cost, but left the court room with a 90 day suspended road sentence hanging over his head.

Mitchell Aklin, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was sentenced to 12 months on the roads. He was allegedly to have severely cut another member of his race.

A jail sentence of 90 days was suspended in the case of Rosa Lee Russell, colored, charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

It was the first sitting of the court in two weeks by reason of the two week term of Superior court which closed here last week, and the docket therefore was considerably heavier than the usual weekly ones. Judge Dink James presided.

Sixteen Children Perish In 'Quake' In Turkish Province

Istanbul, May 2.—(AP)—Sixteen children were dead and 20 persons missing today after a violent earthquake in the Kars district near Soviet Armenia.

The first reports indicated that fifty persons were seriously injured. Heavy damage was reported throughout the mountainous district. Relief agencies hastened to the aid of stricken inhabitants at once.

The Kars is a village province of Turkey situated in mountainous terrain adjacent to the Arax range, a branch of the Ajari Mountains. The peaks of the range attain an altitude of 9,000 feet. Its centers of population are far above the sea level.

MIDWIVES GET CHECK UP HERE

Health Department Conducting Tests During Today and Tomorrow

Doctor Ennett, the health officer, and the nurses of the health department are examining and instructing the midwives of Pitt County today and tomorrow at the County Health Department.

There are 39 midwives in Pitt County. Half of them will be examined today and the other half tomorrow.

The maternity and infant mortality rate in Pitt County is very high, and the State and local health departments are doing everything possible to reduce this high mortality.

Since a large number of mothers are still served by the midwife, it is believed that one of the chief ways of saving more mothers and babies ins to raise the standard of midwife service.

A physical examination is given to the midwife in order to see that she does not carry disease from her own person to the mother and infant. She is given by the health officer and the nurse an examination on the principals and practices of midwifery, and the nurse instructs her and check up on her equipment. The State law requires that all midwives have an approved obstetrical bag equipped as follows:

2 medium wash basins (not tin), nail brush, nail file, liquid soap, lysol, boric acid, olive oil, or clean grease that has no salt, teaspoon, 1-4 lb. absorbent cotton, cord tape, cord dressings, blunt scissors, silver nitrate eye drops (from State Board of Health—free) 2 pad covers, 2 towels, white cap or head cloth, white cover-all apron, (all wrapped in clean covers), birth certificates, stillborn certificate, mother report cards and baby report cards.

Doctor Ennett believes that it is not enough that the midwife only be instructed, but that the expectation, not only about the care of herself, but also as to what she has a right to expect of the midwife in the way of cleanliness and general care of herself and baby. When the expectant mother demands better service, she will get better service.

The health officer urges that the expectant mother write to the State Health Department, Raleigh, or to the local health department, Greenville, for free literature on maternal and infant care. In addition to giving much valuable information, these bulletins will tell the mother what she has a right to expect from the midwife.

The health officer expresses the hope that the time will come when all expectant mothers have the services of a well-qualified physician and that the midwife occupy the place as nurse. He says that the desirable situation, however, must wait upon better health education, as to the dangers surrounding birth and upon improved economic conditions.

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

The smaller school systems with a total enrollment of 1,000 pupils or more but which at present are not constituted as city administrative units, won a decided victory which will help them and especially the teachers in these smaller units, when the House adopted an amendment by Representative Ralph W. McDonald, of Forsyth. This amendment, attached to Section 5 of the school machinery act, provides that any city or town school system containing 1,000 or more pupils, not already constituted as a city administrative unit, shall be henceforth considered as one and have all the rights and privileges of all other administrative units.

The meaning of this amendment is that henceforth all city or town school systems shall the right to select their own teachers, through their superintendents and local boards. In the past these smaller units had virtually no say-so in the selection of their teachers, since the teachers and principals were selected by the county superintendent and the county board of education. But under this amendment, each one of these new units may have its own superintendent and its own board of education, who in turn will select of his State a much greater honor than to be its representative in Congress. He was also confident that if he entered the race he would be nominated and elected.

It is now evident that he pushed aside all of his own personal feelings and ambitions out of deference to President Roosevelt, wholly maintained that he needed his help in Congress more than the people of North Carolina needed him as Governor and that it was his duty to remain in Congress. It is understood that in the course of his conversation with the President at the White House Monday afternoon, the President urged him not to give up the fight in the middle of the battle but to stick with the administration at least through another term.

There was nothing else for Congressman Doughton to do but to accede to the request of the President and decline to run for Governor since if he had declined to do what the President asked and run for governor anyway, this fact would probably have considered the post of Governor

TWO MEN AND WOMAN SLAIN IN ARKANSAS

Escaped Convicts Held Responsible for Series of Slayings Near Sheridan

Sheridan, Ark., May 2.—(AP)—Two men, Sheriff Paul Clark said he believed, were Sam Day and Rube McKean, escaped convicts, killed two men and a woman and probably fatally wounded one other at a dance at Sikeston, east of here.

Describing the slayers as cold-blooded desperadoes, Sheriff Clark said posse in Sikeston are expecting a fight to the finish if the two gunmen are encountered.

The officers also sought five others unreported since they were fired on by the two men as they fled from the scene of the slayings.

Late News Flashes

Senate Kills Liqueur Bill

Raleigh, May 2.—(AP)—The senate this afternoon 27 to 22 defeated the amended Day substitute bill proposing to establish a state liquor system in North Carolina if the voters in 15 counties holding local option elections asked for stores.

The announced vote included a switch by Senator Hill of Durham from aye to no so he would be in a position to ask for reconsideration of the second reading defeat of the bill.

The maneuver failed as the legislative clincher was applied 24 to 23 to the vote and the liquor question was killed for this session.

Albrook of Halifax failed in a motion to adjourn the senate before the vote on the clincher. Horton of Chatham made the motion for the clincher.

Before the bill was defeated an amendment was defeated 25 to 24 which was offered by Hill of Durham to provide that only the counties desiring to do so shall vote on the question of establishment of state liquor store system and a wet majority would be necessary in only 15 to call for the system.

The roll call which defeated the bill follows:
For: Allbrook, Bagley, Bailey, Burrus, Clark, Coburn, Corey, Dunn, Gibbs of Warren, Gravy, Griffin of Franklin, Hurley, Morgan, Newman, Pope, Robertson, Shute Stacey Spence Summersill, Townsend, Total 22.

Against: Bell, Blanton, Browning, Carson, Folger, Gibbs, Gattis, Grady, Griffin, Hill, Horton Johnson, Johnson, Duplin, Lee, Mason, Mitchell, Nixon, Ramsey, Smith Steel Swerine, Teague, Warren, Watkins, Weathers, White Williams, Total 27.

The house worked on a varied list. The representatives sent to the senate eight bills backed by the administration.

ALDERMEN TO MEET TONIGHT

Several Matters of Importance to be Considered in Monthly Session

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held at the City Hall tonight at 8 o'clock with several matters of importance to the community scheduled for consideration.

Although reports of committees probably will constitute the main part of the business, the setting of a date for the opening of the municipal swimming pool probably will be taken up. The committee was named for the purpose at a former meeting of the board, but the weather has been so unfavorable since the time that no action was taken.

However, the committee is expected to make recommendations to the board tonight following a brief meeting probably during the afternoon.

In addition to fixing the date for the pool opening, the committee will also recommend to the board season ticket rates for swimmers who use the pool from day to day throughout the summer months.

Roosevelt Asked Doughton Not To Run For Governor

By J. C. BASKERVILL
Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, N. C., May 2.—Congressman Robert L. Doughton had intended to announce as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor last Monday afternoon had his written announcement already typewritten ready to issue to the press and had definitely decided to make the race, it was learned here today from a source close to the Congressman. The reason he did not issue his announcement and decided not to run for Governor was because President Roosevelt personally asked him to stay in Congress for another term and thus continue at the head of the powerful Ways and Means Committee in the House, of which Doughton is chairman.

There is no doubt either here or in Washington that Congressman Doughton wanted to run for Governor and wanted to be governor as the final climax to his long career of public service. It is also agreed that he considered the post of Governor

AIR PROGRAM TO BE BOOSTED IMMEDIATELY

Ramsay MacDonald To Lay Program For Greater Defense Before House of Commons; New Effort to Be Made to Win Reich's Co-operation In a General Security System

London, May 2.—(AP)—The British government today accepted Germany's challenge to an armament race. At the same time it was reported to have decided on a new effort to win the Reich's co-operation in a general security system based on disarmament.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was expected to lay this program before the House of Commons today with an announcement that the British air program will be accelerated and expanded.

The enlarged aerial defense plan which would redeem the pledge made in 1934 by Stanley Baldwin to keep the British air force ahead of that of any other nearby power was said by an authoritative source to contemplate the expenditure this year of $25,000,000 more than the $105,000,000 already provided for 1935.

Sir John Simon, foreign secretary planned to join the prime minister in presenting the government's program to the House of Commons. The occasion selected was the opening of debate on foreign affairs.

Political circles evinced great interest in the prospect that MacDonald would disclose what new steps Britain might take for European security in the face of Hitler's rearmament plan.

They awaited with eagerness the expected announcement of whether the government would protest formally to Berlin regarding submarine construction.

TWO ALDERMEN FACE CONTEST

Battle in Second and Fourth Wards Assured For Municipal Election Monday

The registration book for candidates to take part in the municipal election to be held here Monday closed yesterday with contest assured in two wards.

Registration books for voters will be open during the remainder of the week. They will be found at the City Hall Friday and Saturday, and voters who did not vote in the last election and who have moved into other ward since the time will be required to register if they desire to vote.

The election is being held for the purpose of electing a mayor and six members of the board. Mayor E. C. Flanagan, who set the political pot steaming several days ago by announcing his candidacy for re-election, is unopposed.

All six members of the board are seeking re-election with two other members not coming up for election this year.

Only J. H. Boyd, Jr., in the Fourth Ward, and Vernon Parrish, in the Second Ward, have a fight on their hands. Boyd is opposed by A. C. Tadlock and Parrish by C. B. Rowlett.

Other members to be voted on are A. E. Hobgood, Fifth Ward; R. H. Duncan, Third Ward; L. B. Fleming, First Ward, and Dr. M. B. Massey, Fourth Ward.

Each are to be elected for terms of two years with exception of Dr. M. B. Massey, whose term is for one year. Both Dr. Massey and Parrish were elected several months ago to fill unexpired terms.

Interest in the ballot is confined only to the two wards in which contests exist, and each of these districts is being combed with a fine-tooth comb by the contestants in an effort to rally as many of the constituents as possible to the polls.

ENEMYS KISS by Evelyn M. Winch

SYNOPSIS: Alison Rede has come to England from Switzerland in response to a telegram from her father asking her to meet him at a house in the country. But he is not there, and the house is dark and deserted. While waiting up by the light of her pocket torch she is frightened by a ghostly intruder, she runs downstairs, and is stopped by a rather personable young man. She and the young man are searching for the house.

"There! If your friend's down there he'll have to exit by the walls. Where now?"

"Would it be an awful bother to look upstairs? I mean, before you go?" she asked shyly. "I'm not generally such a fool but—"

"It'd be no bother at all. But I'm not going till your father comes." She did not even try to conceal her relief.

"That's awfully good of you."

"Not a bit!" He said it warmly. So warmly that it embarrassed them both, and he was quick to add, "What about some light on the situation?"

"Let's turn them all on," agreed Alison.

EFFECTIVE: Now that the anti-lynching bill is getting out of the way it's dawning upon administration leaders that this bill ate up valuable time—and was meant to do so. One or two other bills are now being pushed forward as obstacles to too hasty action in vital bills like NRA and AAA.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas sometimes has a hard time explaining to President Roosevelt just why administration bills are slowed up. FDR knows that underground opposition from Jeffersonian Democrats is queering his program, but it's another thing to bring this opposition out in the open and give it a tanning before the public gaze. Roosevelt doesn't want the country to get the idea that Democrats are fighting among themselves.

Republicans are doing what they can to block FDR, but they can't do much. Democrats can do more and they are doing it.

AMERICANS: In some north-western states the settlers are up against a big Indian population that needs schools. The Indian kids go to white schools—and the Indians are multiplying not diminishing. The white people are taxed and the Indians are not.

Now the work-relief act will allow construction of Indian schools in a big way. Commissioner Collier has been promised a slice of the four billion. His blue-prints have been ready for a year.

Whites and Indians in need of relief will be employed on these schools and their accessories, including roads.

BARGAIN: Consolidated Gas doesn't appear to be nearly as hard pressed as it was a couple of months ago. The threat of a competing municipal power plant has pretty well faded out. Legislative committees have quit riddling it and federal pressure has relaxed as a sequel to an understanding on rates to federal agencies in New York City. Yet now it suddenly retreats on all fronts—abandoning application for a rate increase, lowering gas rates in the city, applying for a cheaper electric schedule in Westchester and indicating that it seriously intends to give New York electric consumers a break.

How come this abrupt form reversal? Insiders say it's because the company is playing for big stakes. With federal regulation in the offing—even if much milder than the Wheeler-Rayburn bill—its gas to look as if virtue will pay good dividends. Presumably those who practice voluntary virtue will be given more gracious consideration by the regulating authorities than those on whom reform is forced.

This might be quite important to a group, which hopes not only to survive but to expand by the inexpensive acquisition of neighboring properties from concerns which may overlook the precaution of getting in right with teacher. Moreover the little matter of rate base—estimated as about 40 per cent too high by the New York Power Commission—can't be mentioned by Con Gas in connection with its proposed concessions. Shrewd observers remark that even drastic rate cuts would be a cheap price to pay to get the present base accepted without further argument.

SELECTIVE: There are curious angles to the recent stock market rise. 25 stocks of outstanding companies account for about 80 per cent of the advance. A majority of listed

This is a great help to Mexico's budget and should also bring relief to its other taxpayers when the metal price goes a bit higher. Small wonder that Mexicans think our silver policy is simply swell.

JOINT: Informed New Yorkers agree with Goldwater Dorr—head of the Cotton Textile Institute—when he says that textile over-production could be ended by scrapping antiquated factory equipment.

Experts insist the New England mills are up against it chiefly because their machinery is prehistoric. The Japanese competition they dread so keenly is thoroughly modernized. The worst of it is that the New Englanders can't bring their factories up to date because they have nothing to use for money.

Many other industries besides textiles are operating under the handicap of obsolescence. A number of business leaders are trying to attract Washington's attention to this problem. Most companies which need to modernize can't command the necessary credit. Key officials are being told that joint action by the government and industry to finance factory renovation would be one of the most valuable contributions to recovery they could make.

the teachers and principals instead of the county superintendent and county board of education.

In addition to this provision, each one of these towns which may now become administrative units, will have the right to hold supplementary school elections and to vote to supplement the amount received by the State either for a ninth month, to increase teachers' salaries or for other purposes.

"The effect of this amendment is to place the smaller city and town school systems which were not separate administrative school units prior to the enactment of the 1933 school machinery act, on the same basis with the ones that were," Dr. McDonald said. "It will mean that the smaller units of from 1,000 pupils up may not only have their own superintendents and school boards, but that they may also hold special elections and vote to supplement State funds with local taxes either to increase the salaries of teachers or add to the school term."

Although it finally killed the bill to tighten up the marriage laws and again require a strict physical examination for those intending to marry and passed the Alspaugh bill to liberalize the anti-slot machine bill passed earlier in the session so as to permit the operation of the so-called "pin games" operated with coins, the Senate made little progress towards reducing its extensive calendar Tuesday, so that today a larger number of bills than ever faced its action.

Much of the Senate's time was taken up in parliamentary wrangling over the adoption of the conference report on the revenue bill and it finally adopted the bill on second reading by a vote of 28 to 15. The revenue bill is expected to pass its third and final reading in the Senate today by about the same vote since it is conceded that those favoring its final adoption, despite the fact that it calls for a sales tax without any exemptions, are decidedly in the majority.

A heavy calendar also faces the House today, since it spent the entire day yesterday working on the school machinery bill, which it finally amended and passed on second reading by a vote of 83 to 2. This bill will come up for action on third reading today, but it is not expected to consume much time. As a result, it is expected that the House will today be able to reach many of the other important bills on its calendar.

While numerous amendments were offered to the school machinery act, the House refused to adopt only a few of these. It posted the amendment by Speaker Johnson and Chairman Harris of the Education Committee, striking out the portion of Section 2 which would have made the State Superintendent of Public Instruction also the executive secretary of the State School Commission, so that the set-up of the School Commission is left, as it present with the commission having the power to elect its own executive secretary. The House refused to adopt any of the amendments changing the method of electing school teachers, leaving their selection in the hands of the local school committees, after having been recommended by the county superintendents.

The inauguration of the Federal Housing campaign here should mean much to the community. The plan makes possible a lot of remodeling and new construction work that would not only relieve a lot of unemployment but would prove a stimulant to the building materials industry. It is to be hoped that our people will get behind this movement and reap the great benefits that it offers.

The legislature expects to adjourn next week. Now if Congress will hurry and follow suit then maybe we'll know what to expect, at least until Congress returns to Washington again, and business generally will get a breathing spell from the uncertainty that has enveloped it for some time.

Some of our neighboring towns are beginning a campaign of traffic law enforcement with the result that many persons are being hauled up before the courts and are having to pay fines. Such a campaign in Greenville at this time, we believe, would make a lot of these motorists who now use our streets for speedways or drive through stop corners, take their feet off the gas and stop, look and listen. If you don't believe that very few of our people pay little or no attention to stop corners just stand near one of these corners for a few minutes and see how many cars pass through without first coming to a complete stop. We believe you will find that those who obey the city traffic ordinances in this respect are in the minority.

which he intimated that the new NRA should be confined to purely interstate business the new bill attempts to invade interstate business. This is proposed on the ground that some such businesses affect interstate commerce—and the decision is to be left to the new NRA.

With these three great dangers hanging over them the spokesmen of big business are urging Senators to stall along on the new bill until the Supreme Court has passed upon the present act. An adverse decision would practically compel Congress to revise the new bill.

If the bill should reach the floor the debate could be carried on indefinitely by opponents of the provisions which are claimed to permit monopoly and restraint of trade. To these critics should be added political antagonists of President Roosevelt, who stand ready to block anything he wants to the extent of their power.

WEANER: World War veterans are on the anxious seat. They see signs that they are to be sold down the river. The turn taken by the Senate finance committee causes veterans to believe that Senator Harrison has an understanding with President Roosevelt by which a bill unsatisfactory to veterans, but great fear is that the President frowning look, as she hung back. "What's the matter?"

"Supposing—he's behind us and locks the door?"

The young man took a step back and dragged the cellar key out of the lock. "There!"

He swung the lantern, letting its beams fall on a ladder with long stone shelves, a very modern heating stove and a recess which had once been a looking oven.

Very old the cellars ran the whole length of the house; a chain of small, black, windowless rooms cut off from one another by close, wooden gratings and full of black, alarming corners, empty but for the peeling plaster and a smell of mice.

At the farthest end a coal cellar to the right held a foot of coal dust; a storeroom, on the left, contained shelves with half a dozen rotting apples; a narrower central room ended in a dark, deep recess under the front stairs.

Here two broken deck chairs, a shallow heap of straw, a small packing case up-ended and a great roll of new linoleum three, unbecomingly shadows.

BUT though they swung the light there was no sign of either man or ghost.

"Ah!" The young man stooped suddenly.

"What?" Alison asked breathless.

"Main switch, lighting. Half a second—"

"Oh!"

The cry burst from her before she could stop it. He jumped back so swiftly that before the sound was out, he was beside her, ready.

Bang!

The roll of linoleum had been rocking, now it fell straight back with a tremendous crash into the recess under the stairs, sending a chain of echoes through cellars behind. At the same instant, from the peeling linoleum, a large gray rat darted with a flash of pink webbed feet and naked tail, plumb between Alison's feet and into the dark coal cellar, where it vanished.

Her companion laughed cheerfully. "For a moment I thought you had him, didn't you? But I think we'll leave the lights on, just for luck."

There were three switches and he giving them some cash will be put through.

A significant feature of the newly revised bill is that it authorizes the President to pay veterans out of the work-relief fund. That sounds good, but veterans insist that the cash they would get is not as much as that they are entitled to and that if they accepted it they would be stopped from claiming the balance.

The House proved its bonus position. It was ready to fight Roosevelt on the issue. Veterans now say they will ask the House to knock the stuffing out of the Harrison bill if it should pass the Senate. Their greatest fear is that the President will send for House members and wear them away from the Patman bill.

CASH: Another way of meeting the threat of the Harrison bill is to substitute the Vinson bill, which the House turned down in favor of the Patman bill. Senate friends of veterans are planning to force the Vinson substitute to a vote. This bill proposes to pay veterans full cash claims, passing to the government the bulk of finding the money.

Passage of the Vinson bill by the Senate might induce the House to accept it, especially if a provision is inserted authorizing the President

A. A. U. W. Entertains Seniors
Most of the girls of the Greenville High school senior class were present yesterday afternoon at the College Day program in the high school auditorium arranged in their honor by the local branch of the American Association of University Women.

The president of the organization, Miss Mamie E. Jenkins, welcomed the guests, saying that it seemed fitting that the high school seniors—just ready to enter college—and the university women—sometime out from college undergraduate life—should be brought together by those now in college, the speakers on the afternoon's program.

She referred to the fact that College Day is an annual A. A. U. W. occasion in which the group already graduated seeks to establish a contact with girls on the eve of entering college.

Miss Jenkins then presented Miss Evelyn Hart, chairman of the A. A. U. W. College Day committee, as a Greenville high school graduate and one well fitted to introduce the program of the afternoon, and turned the program over to her.

It began with music by a high school trio composed of Misses Mildred Clark, Helen Foley, and Evaline Sawyer, and a solo by Mildred Clark.

Representative College students then presented campus activities, Miss Florence Sinclair, who has been active in athletics throughout her college course, spoke of the need for play and the various types of athletics to be enjoyed on the college campus.

George Willard told of the serious clubs of East Carolina Teachers College which students may join according to their individual fields of interest. He illustrated by the Science club, of which he is an active member.

Miss Frances Watson, talking as the Y. W. C. A. representative, spoke of the need for an expression of religious life and of the state and national contacts afforded by the Y. W.

The fact that playmaking is both very enjoyable and very valuable was brought out by Miss Elizabeth Smith, who then introduced Miss Elizabeth Overton in an attractive song-dance number from one of the plays presented at the college.

After the program, dancing and refreshments were enjoyed.

The program was in charge of a special college day committee with Miss Evelyn Hart, a member of the Education committee as its chairman, and the other members from the Branch, Misses Annie C. Newell, Dora Coates and Mrs. Ficklen. Arthur arranged the program, Miss Mary York had charge of the refreshments.

Mrs. J. E. Winslow and Mrs. R. J. Slay attended to the decorations.

ROOSEVELT ASKS DOUGHTON NOT TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR

ably have defeated him in the State," most of the political commentators here are saying. "But now that he has acceded to the President's request and sacrificed his own desires and his ambition to become governor, he will be thought of even more than ever by all North Carolinians as a man who placed his duty to his President and his country ahead of everything else."

The prevailing belief in political circles here now is that since the President intervened and asked Doughton to stay on in Congress, that he will now occupy a more powerful position than ever in Washington.

It has been learned that two weeks ago last Saturday a conference was held in the Washington office of former Governor O. Max Gardner, attended by Clyde R. Hoyer, Congressman Doughton and several of the members of the North Carolina delegation in Congress, at which the proposed candidacies of both Doughton and Hoyer were frankly discussed. At this conference, according to reliable reports received here, friends of Hoyer attempted to persuade Doughton not to remain in Congress and to let Hoyer become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

But Congressman Doughton remained adamant, it is understood, and it is known that he was determined to run for governor and made the counter suggestion that instead of running for governor in 1936, Hoyer wait and become a candidate for the Senate against Robert R. Reynolds in 1938. It is further understood that the suggestion was made that Hoyer consider who he could defeat more easily, Doughton for governor or Reynolds for the Senate. When the conference broke up Doughton was apparently more determined than ever to run for governor and Hoyer apparently less determined to do so.

Cardui for Certain Pains

"Several years ago, I suffered quite a lot at Menstruation times," writes Mrs. Oscar Branan, of Vicksburg, Miss. "I took Cardui and I believe it stopped all this trouble. Last year I felt the need of Cardui again, for just fine and can go ahead with my menstruation period. I went back to Cardui. Now I do not suffer. I feel just fine and can go ahead with my work as at other times. I feel that any time I spend money for Cardui I am getting value received."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefits them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. (Adv.)

SOLONS MAKE BID FOR VOTES

Members of Legislature Attempt to Attract Votes by Speeches

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, By C. A. PAUL

Raleigh, N. C., May 2.—As the biennial revenue bill passed its second reading in the Senate, three Senators made speeches which were interpreted, if not calculated, to garner the votes of the masses in the event that three should become candidates for State offices next year.

Senator John Sprunt Hill, of Durham, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for Governor in 1936, voted for the revenue bill after voting "present" on the first reading of the money bill. However, he explained his vote by saying that he, with a group of colleagues, would offer a supplemental bill to the revenue which would exempt staple foods (sugar, milk, lard and so on) from the 3 per cent sales tax.

Organization of the bloc which successfully exempted those items from the tax on four occasions until the bill was sent to a joint conference. Senator Hill has consistently occupied the position of being opposed to the taxation of the staple foods.

Although Senator Hill has vigorously denied the report that he would make the race for the governorship next year with his liquor control bill as plank No. 1 if the Legislature should reject it this session there would be nothing in the way if the Senate should pass the liquor bill today. Already the bill has received House approval. Senator Hill could easily announce for the governorship and make the race on his record as a liberal and an opponent of the tax on staple foods, as his No. 1 plank. By that step he would appeal to the masses and garner many liberal-dry and wet votes.

Senator Burrus virtually announced his candidacy for the governorship when he explained his vote against the revenue bill. Senator Burrus, of High Point, came to the Senate after defeating Capus Wayne, who is now chairman of the State Highway Commission via an appointment by Governor Ehringhaus. The Wasmick appointment came after the Burrus victory. The Burrus speech against passage of the revenue bill with the sales tax included could easily be converted into a campaign speech if the High Point physician elects to make the race for governorship on an anti-sales tax platform. The two leading, although not formally announced, candidates for the governorship are anti-sales taxers. They are Lieutenant-Governor Graham and Clyde Hoyer.

Senator Paul Grady, of Johnson, president pro tem of the Senate voted against the revenue bill. He made a ringing speech in which he declared his unwillingness to tax staple foods. During the time the Senate had the revenue bill under consideration Senator Grady occupied the chair as chairman of the committee of the whole. In that capacity he did not have to vote on any of the controversial tax sections, thus avoiding placing himself on record. Senator Grady is all but an avowed candidate for the lieutenant governorship. His opposition to the tax on staple foods will not lose any votes for him in the primaries next spring. It was freely said here that there was a reason for making him as chairman of the committee of the whole. It was, as stated, so the he would not have to be placed on record.

In a single day three prospective candidates thus placed themselves in a position to go before the people in an appeal for votes; if all three runs their speeches certainly cannot hurt their candidacies.

Another prospective candidate for State office—the lieutenant-governorship—is being boosted by some of his friends for elevation to the Superior Court bench. He is Senator Harris Newman, of New Hanover. Senate Finance chairman whose task it was to guide the revenue bills safely through troubled Senate waters. Conceded to be a candidate for the lieutenant-governorship in 1936, he is now being talked of as the logical successor to Superior Court Judge E. H. Crammer, of Wilmington.

FAIL TO AGREE ON ROAD BILL

Measure Sent to Conference When Legislators Fail to Get Together

Raleigh, N. C., May 2.—The Highway Patrol and the Corey anti-garbage dumping bills were automatically consigned to a joint conference committee as the Senate refused to concur in amendments added by the Lower House. Both bills originated in the Senate.

The objection voiced against the patrol bill was that the House amendment would place the patrol under the supervision of the Motor Vehicle Bureau of the Revenue Department. The bill as passed by the Senate would double the personnel of the patrol by increasing its membership from 57 to 121 men, would increase authority of patrolmen and limit their duties. The measure would also set up a State-wide radio system of control for the patrol.

Sent to conference at the same time was the Corey bill which would prohibit the dumping of refuse or garbage with 300 yards of a paved road. As originally drawn the distance would have been fixed at 1-500 yards. Later still Senator Corey agreed upon by the bill. Previously several counties had been exempted by the Senate. Refusal of the Senate to concur was caused by the addition of several counties to the exempted list.

Previously sent to a conference committee was the Senate bill which would reduce registration costs to owners of private cars by lowering the per hundredweight levy from 55 to 45 cents and making the bill applicable to trucks. As passed by the Senate, the bill would result in a loss of revenue of about $1,000,000. The House amendments would increase the loss to about $2,600,000.

It is thought here that the Senate will have its way on all three bills, and particularly the patrol and license tag bills.

The conference reports should be made before the end of this week.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION DELAYED FIVE DECADES

Columbus, Ohio. (AP)—Her golden wedding anniversary out of this way, Mrs. Catherine Sheets at 73 is looking forward to graduating from high school.

She is numbered among members of the high school class due to recency of the efficient work done by the School authorities believe she will be the oldest woman ever to graduate from high school.

Next fall Mrs. Sheets, who is six times a grandmother, plans to enroll as a freshman at Ohio State University and when I graduate from college I want to teach mathematics.

"I guess I've been a school girl all my life," she says, "because I have always felt there was something I started that was never finished."

HOUSE TURNS DOWN ERWIN

Lower Division Refuses to Make Education Head Commission Secretary

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, N. C., May 2.—The House emphatically refused to approve the section of the school machinery act which would have made the State Superintendent of Public Instruction also the executive secretary of the State School Commission, in addition to being its vice-chairman, as was proposed in the act as reported out by the Joint Education Committee.

After a vigorous attack had been on this section by Speaker of the House, Robert Grady Johnson, who left the Speaker's chair to make a speech in opposition to this move and in support of the amendment submitted by him and Chairman Reg. L. Harris of the Education Committee to strike out the portion of Section 2 which would have made the State Superintendent of Public Instruction likewise executive secretary of the School Commission, the amendment was adopted by a roar of ayes. Not more than ten or twelve members of the House voted against the amendment.

By its vote in adopting the Johnson-Harris amendment, the House voted to refuse to place the School Commission and the spending of the school appropriation of $20,000,000 a year under the control of the State Superintendent, the State Department of Public Instruction and the North Carolina Education Association. Instead it voted to continue the School Commission as it has been from the outset, an entirely independent supervisory commission to oversee the expenditure of the State school funds and to exercise sound business sense and procedure in the administration of school finances.

In his speech favoring the adoption of his amendment and opposing the section that would have made the State Superintendent of Public Instruction the executive secretary of the School Commission, Speaker Johnson pointed out that the old State Board of Equalization, which later was changed into the State School Commission, was created by the General Assembly to bring about greater economy and efficiency in the operation and management of the schools because the school forces themselves and the State Department of Public Instruction either could not or would not do anything toward reducing school expenditures. He maintained that as a result of the efficient work done by the School Commission and its executive secretary, LeRoy Martin that the cost of operating the eight months' school term had been reduced from about $26,000,000 a year in 1928-1929 to $16,000,000 a year the past two years. But for the fact that teachers' salaries had to be drastically reduced, the schools are now just as efficient, and in many respects better now, than they were in 1928-1929. Speaker Johnson maintained.

Here's a Sterling Plan to Make Hundreds of Housewives Happy

Possibly you inherited your mother's silver and though for years you have longed to make your service complete, you have delayed on account of the extra die-charges made, until recently, for special-orders on matching items.

If so, here is good news! For up to July 31st we will take your order for any number of required items for virtually any maker's pattern, regardless of its age.

People who previously paid a premium when filling in patterns can rejoice, for today substantial savings are now possible. Acquire those solid forks, butter spreaders or cream soup spoons now and pay only the regular price. Bring in a sample of your pattern. It helps greatly in making exact duplicates.

DELIVERIES ON ALL ORDERS UP TO JULY 31st WILL BE MADE AFTER OCTOBER 1st.

Rip's Anger

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER. THE porcupine settled himself for a little rest and Rip went in search of his bone, but he could not find it anywhere.

He was disappointed that he had not found his bone, and he was annoyed at himself for being stupid like this. He had never known it to happen before.

WILSON FALLS BEFORE HEAVY BATS OF HIGH

The Greenville Highs won its 12th game of the season yesterday by defeating the Wilson Highs 14 to 11 in an eleven-inning game at Wilson.

The Greensies started the scoring in the first frame when they made four hits count for three runs in the first inning.
