SENATOR BRONSON CUTTING KILLED IN AIR CRASH

Three Others Die As Huge Airliner Is Forced Down

Late News Flashes

Railroad Retirement Act Declared Invalid Washington, May 6.—(AP)—The entire railroad retirement act affecting more than a million employes today was held unconstitutional by the Supreme court. The decision was ready by Justice Roberts. It upheld a lower court ruling which declared the act invalid. The decision was five to four. Chief Justice Hughes wrote the dissenting opinion in which Justice Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo joined. The court ruling was directed especially at a section of the act which made it apply to all employes of interstate carriers including employes not directly engaged in interstate commerce. Justice Roberts in delivering the opinion stated the invalid features of the act could not be separated and it was necessary to declare the whole act invalid. He said the law in addition was not a regulation of interstate commerce and was invalid also for that reason. The opinion also specifically mentioned sections of the law under which retirement annuities were to be computed in part by including time spent in the service by the present employe prior to the enactment of the state and by which former employes withdrew from the service in one year from its (Continued On Page Four)

NINE OTHERS ARE REPORTED IN HOSPITALS

Pilot, Co-Pilot and Unidentified Woman Perish as Transcontinental Plane Gives Out of Gas and Is Forced to Land on Farm Near Atlanta, Mo.; Senator Cutting Identified by Papers in Pocket

Atlanta, Mo., May 6.—(AP)—United States Senator Bronson M. Cutting, of New Mexico, and at least three other persons were killed before dawn today in the crash of a twin-motored transport plane of the Transcontinental Western Air. The others killed were: Harvey Bolton, pilot, of Kansas City; Kenneth Gresson, co-pilot, of Kansas City; An unidentified woman. The injured: Richard Wallace, prominent motion picture director, Hollywood; Paul Wing, Hollywood, father of the film actress, Toby Wing; Mr. and Mrs. William Kaplan, Hollywood, a film company; C. P. Drew, Hollywood; Henry Sharp, Hollywood; Mrs. Dora Metzler and baby, bound from Los Angeles to Newark; Mrs. E. L. Mesker, of Kansas City, wife of a Kansas City PWA pilot. There were nine persons admitted to the Samaritan Hospital at Macon, fifteen miles from the scene of the crash near here. Senator Cutting, who occupied seat No. 11 on the ship well back in the cabin, was identified through papers found on his body. There was $567 in cash in his billfold which contained also a picture of his mother and a check to a telephone company signed Olivia M. Cutting. The unidentified dead woman was described at the undertaking establishment as a middle-aged with light hair and wearing a gray traveling suit. Pilot Bolton was 28 years old and had been flying since 1927. He had 2,000 hours in the air up to January 1, 1935. Gresson, the co-pilot, had been with the PWA since last November. He was 25 years old and married, but no children. Eastbound from Albuquerque, N. M., the big Douglas low-winged monoplane found the Kansas City airport wrapped in fog and smoke. After circling vainly for more than 21 minutes, Bolton was ordered to try to reach the Department of Commerce emergency landing fields at Kirksville, Mo. The fuel gauge out just fifteen minutes short of this goal which was comparatively clear and would have provided safe landing. The plane fell on the farm of Charles Bledsoe sometime between 3:30 and 4 a. m. Rough terrain weather conditions and mud from recent rains made the country unsafe for an emergency landing and also hindered efforts of rescue squads from the neighborhood and nearby towns. Reads were sick and ambulances summoned by Bledsoe from Atlanta and Macon, Mo., had difficulty in reaching the scene. The fact that the ship did not catch fire on falling was considered definite proof by company officials it had run out of fuel and this was at least a contributing cause for the accident. Grass For Arid Area Norman, Okla.—(AP)—A project to make 2,843 acres of sub-marginal land more profitable is being undertaken by farmers of Cleveland County. It will be converted into pasture and native pastures, improved by planting adaptable grasses and clovers, according to County Agent L. H. Stunnett.

BRITAIN PAYS FINE TRIBUTE TO MONARCH

King George Cheered Today as he Celebrates His 25 Years on The Throne

London, May 6.—(AP)—As millions of loyal subjects throughout the British Empire celebrated his silver jubilee in mingled carnival solemnity King George knelt in prayer of thanksgiving for completion of 25 years on the throne. Both the king and queen were plainly thrilled by the nation's fervent outpouring as they entered St. Paul's Cathedral to worship amid scenes of medieval pagentry. Outside the cathedral cheering thousands, many of whom had stood all night for the opportunity to pay tribute to their sovereign, joined the rush to the royal reception from Buckingham Palace to St. Paul's. A single outward march marred the triumphant march. Midway a Communist banner was unfurled at Lugate circus when the king was being driven past the post. The temper of the crowd became threatening as the banner was let loose. Scores of young men and women muttered their displeasure of this disrespect. The municipal election was on today, but only mediocre interest was being manifested by voters in all wards except the Second and Fourth where contest existed. At 2 o'clock the total vote cast was slightly above the three hundred mark with the figure expected to be boosted to an extent by night-fall, although no large ballot is anticipated. The contest actually existed between Vernon Parrish, incumbent of the Second Ward, and C. B. Rowlett, who is seeking the seat which Parrish was elected to fill about three months ago. In the Fourth J. H. Boyd, incumbent, was being opposed by A. C. Tadlock. A. E. Hobgood, H. H. Duncan, L. B. Fleming and Dr. M. B. Massey, aldermen from the other wards, were sailing along nicely without competition. The same was true of Mayor R. C. Flanagan, who was the first to open the campaign with his announcement about two weeks ago. Voting was being conducted at the courthouse and pollholders, five of them, were finding work as easy as any other time in years, there on one or two occasions when there was no contest at all. All of the aldermen are to be elected for terms of two years with exception of Dr. Massey, who if for a year, and who is also filling an unexpired term. Two aldermen, Mrs. J. L. Hassell and Joseph M. Taft, do not come up for election this time.

TO TALK DRIVE FOR FINANCES OF BALL CLUB

Plans for a campaign to raise funds for Greenville baseball club of the Coast Plain League will be discussed at a meeting of the board of directors of the local club in the directors' room of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. It was made known today by officials of the organization. In addition to discussion of the final drive, new players recently employed by the club will be passed upon. It was reported that the roster has just about been completed and the opening of the season will see Greenville with a fast playing outfit in the field without having to wait later on to build up the club. Practice will begin a week prior to the opening of the season, June 4. President Guy Smith said today, although a few of the players will not be able to report for duty until opening day and some later. Ty Wagner and Reynolds May of Duke University, last season members of the club, will not be able to reach the city until June 7, because of the fact they graduate this year and must remain at the University to receive their diploma. However, belief was expressed that utility men would be able to fill positions of the late arrivals with Greenville being able to get away to a good start. The nature of the financial drive was not explained, but it was understood that everybody would be given an opportunity to contribute to the success of the club, which has captured the flag the past two seasons.

CITY ELECTION ON HERE TODAY

Only Minor Interest Being Manifested in Election of Mayor And Six Aldermen

PUBLIC POOL TO OPEN HERE NEXT FRIDAY

Coupon Ticket Books To be Sold This Year Instead of Season Tickets

The municipal swimming pool will be thrown open to the public Friday, May 10. It was decided at a meeting of the swimming pool committee at the city hall Saturday afternoon. The selection of a manager and life guards was left open until another meeting of the committee to be held between now and the opening date. Miss Zell Foley was employed as cashier and ticket seller with Mrs. W. W. Phelps being selected to assist. Miss Foley and to look after the wading pool. The committee decided to issue coupon tickets instead of adopting the season ticket plan with books of 25 being available to both children and grownups. Twenty-five five cent tickets will be issued to children from 12 years down for $1.00. The rate for persons from 12 years of age up will be 10 cents or 25 tickets for $2.25. The opening hour Friday was not decided upon but this will be worked out at the forthcoming meeting along with the daily schedule. It was reported that there were two or three applications on hand for the position as manager as well as guards, but the committee decided to leave the filing of these positions open for further consideration. The swimming pool has been put in excellent condition for the opening and barring unfavorable weather hundreds are expected to be on hand and take advantage of the many features offered by the recreational center. A public park has been provided by the city adjoining the pool property and a playground also has been completed to take care of the hundreds of children of the city during the summer. The park has been beautified with hundreds of trees and shrubs by the Garden Department of the Woman's club, and adequate seating and lighting facilities are to be furnished by the city.

TO TAKE POLL OF WORKERS IN AUTO STRIKE

Work of 33,000 Men Involved in Vote to Be Taken The Present Week

Toledo, O., May 6.—(AP)—Work for more than 33,000 men hinges today on a poll to be conducted this week among workers of the Toledo Chevrolet plant. The factory here employs 2,300 men, manufacturers of transmissions for Chevrolet cars. It ceased production April 23 following a strike of union workers. The shutdown forced other plants to suspend operation. Following a request from the union, Edward McGrady, assistant United States Secretary of Labor who has been investigating the strike here, announced he would conduct a poll which would determine the company's proposed terms of settlement would be accepted. At the same time in Muncie, Ind., officials of the General Motors Corporation announce a Muncie plant will be opened Tuesday to manufacture transmissions. Union officials met the announcement with a reply that if the plant re-opens the strike will be extended. In Flint, Mich., a member of the American Federation of Labor local and the Buick Motor Company voted to delay any strike action until after the poll has been conducted in Toledo. McGrady said the poll might be made as early as Tuesday if ballots be produced by them and other details ironed out.

CIVIL COURT BEGINS TODAY

Judge Clayton Moore Of Williamston Presiding Over One Week Term

A one week term of civil court convened in this city this morning with Judge Clayton Moore, of Williamston presiding. The calendar completed the first of last week contains something like thirty cases, the majority of which are expected to be completed by the end of the week. After a lapse of one week a two week term of court for the trial of civil cases will convene here with sixty or more cases to be given consideration. The many civil cases which have been hanging fire here for sometime are expected to be virtually cleared up during the two week sitting with many receiving actual hearing and others going the compromise route. Several terms of court have been here since the first of the year with Judge M. V. Barnhill on the bench. Numbers of both civil and criminal cases were completed including several important murder actions which had been hanging fire for a year or so.

SEVERAL HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. W. R. Copeland Of Williamston Probably Fatally Injured Last Night

Several persons were injured, one probably fatally, in an automobile collision last night near Ballard's Cross Roads, on the Greenville-Farmville Highway. Mrs. W. R. Copeland, of Williamston, was in an unconscious condition at the local hospital today suffering from what was described as internal injuries which she sustained when the car driven by her husband collided with another machine driven by Bennett Taft, colored, of this county. Taft ran and had not been apprehended this morning. Copeland lost several teeth and sustained several severe cuts on the head. Two other occupants of the car, Miss Sarah Cook and Mrs. Ruth Ward, also of Williamston received painful cuts. Miss Ward also received a broken ankle. Washington Taft, a brother of Bennett, and four colored women received minor cuts and bruises but were not seriously enough hurt to receive hospital attention. The car occupied by the negroes was headed toward Farmville and was attempting to pass another machine when it collided with the Copeland car which was coming toward Greenville. Both cars were badly damaged by the impact. The Williamston party was picked up by passing motorists and rushed to the local hospital for medical attention. Although Mrs. Copeland was said to be holding her own, little hope was held for her recovery. Both sheriff's officers and members of the highway patrol investigated the accident and were seeking Bennett Taft on a charge of reckless and careless driving. Twigs from 10,000 elm trees suspected of being infected with Dutch elm disease have been inspected during the last year.

Farmville Seeks Nine Month School

On April 29th house bill 1295, "to permit Farmville School District in Pitt County N. C. to hold an election upon the question of levying an additional tax for additional school facilities in said district" was introduced and sent to Calendar Committee. The bill would provide that, upon petition by 25 per cent of the district voters, the County Commissioners shall call an election on the question of levying not exceeding 15 cents on the $100 to be used, in the discretion of the school committee, to supplement the eight months terms, conduct a nine month, or for other school purposes. The tax would be collected by the County Tax Collector or Sheriff. Other provisions as to the ballot to be used, the conduct of the election, etc.

NEW MILK LAW EFFECTIVE IN PITT COUNTY

Enforcement of Ordinance to be Under Direction of Inspector Stowe

The Pitt County Board of Health, April 23rd adopted the State Standard Milk Ordinance, which is the ordinance recommended by the U. S. Public Service, this ordinance to be effective county-wide, beginning May 1st, 1935. On April 24th all dairies in Pitt County known to the Health Department were advised of the passage of this ordinance, and they will be given a reasonable length of time in which to meet its requirements. Among other things, the ordinance requires that all people who produce and deliver milk for sale must have a permit from the health officer, and such milk must be labelled as its grade. Doctor Ennett says the enforcement of this ordinance will be under the immediate direction of Mr. J. P. Stowe, Pitt County Sanitary Inspector, working under the health department, but this enforcement will not in any way interfere with such towns as are already enforcing the Standard Milk Ordinance requirements. It will simply be a matter of the county inspector co-operating with the inspectors of these municipalities. The Health Officer states that while milk is our most valuable article of food, there are certain milk-borne diseases and for this reason it is necessary that every possible safeguard be thrown around the production and delivery of milk. Doctor Ennett says it is very unfortunate that so many people look upon milk as a food for babies and children only, when in truth, all adults also need the health-giving properties of milk. He says that from the investigations he has made as to the amount of milk consumed in Pitt County he is amazed to find that milk plays so small a part in the daily ration of the people in general. He urges that more farmers have their own cows and that the housewives in the towns and villages give milk a larger place in their dietary budget. Doctor Ennett says there is absolutely no substitute for milk as a food and that money spent for milk is money wisely spent.

LIGHT DOCKET IN CITY COURT

Lloyd Barnes Bound Over to County Court On Charge of Driving Drunk

Lloyd Barnes was given preliminary hearing on a charge of driving drunk in police court this morning and was bound over to the next sitting of County Court under bond of $100. James Jones, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon Mary Williams, also colored, was adjudged not guilty. In the absence of Mayor R. C. Flanagan, who has not sufficiently improved to permit him to hold court, Mayor Pro Tem H. H. Duncan presided. Police described violators very quiet over the week-end, and this accounted for the light docket this morning.

STATE MASONS MEET TUESDAY

Two Day Program to Be Held at Monroe; Large Attendance Expected

Raleigh, N. C., May 6.—Masons of the State will converge upon Monroe tomorrow as the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons and the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters meet for a convocation. A two-day program lasting through Tuesday and Wednesday, has been arranged. Masonic leaders have said that many prominent Masons from near-by States will attend the meet. State Senator Ray Shute, of Monroe, is head of the Grand Council and Watson N. Sherrod, of Enfield, heads the Grand Royal Arch Chapter. William R. Smith, of Raleigh, is Grand Secretary-Recorder of both bodies. It is expected that Ralph L. Chandler, of Southern Pines, will be named Grand High Priest and that Kennin W. Parham, of Raleigh, will be made Master of the Grand Council during the Monroe convention. The following program has been arranged: Tuesday, 2 p. m., conferring order of high priesthood; 4 p. m., meeting of district deputy grand high priests; 6 p. m., banquet; 8 p. m., opening of the grand chapter Royal Arch Masons of North Carolina. Wednesday, 9 a. m., exemplification of Royal Arch degree by Winston-Salem Chapter, No. 24; 10:30 a. m., reconvening of grand chapter; 2 p. m., conferring of three illustrious master's degree; 4 p. m., opening of grand council of N. C.; 6 p. m., reconvening of Grand Chapter.

Nineteen Negro Berry Pickers Hurt In Wreck

Fayetteville, N. C., May 6.—(AP)—Nineteen negro berry pickers ranging in age from nine to 64 years, were injured early this morning when their truck turned over on a bridge on the outskirts of Fayetteville. But only one, Irene Williams, 29 of Dunn, was hurt badly enough to be kept in the local hospital where all were treated. She suffered a broken collarbone. Two others sustained cuts, bruises and sprains. More than fifty negroes were in the truck which crashed into the side of the bridge and then overturned to avoid colliding with a milk truck. A careless and reckless driving warrant was issued for Marion Butler, young white man driving the truck containing the berry pickers. The truck was owned by Haigh Owen of Seventy-one Township.

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

Raleigh, May 6.—Car owners may have to pay during the next two years exactly the same prices they are now paying for their license plates. If they do they can thank the proponents of drastic price reduction. Thus far the joint house-senate conference committee has been totally unable to reach any agreement on the license plate reduction bill as passed by the senate and drastically amended in the lower house. Advocates of greatly reduced license tags and those house members who want to reduce the cost of truck tags are responsible for the deadlock. As passed by the senate registration. POPE RESENTS BAD HANDLING OF CATHOLICS

Sends Strong Protest To Germany For Action Against 2,000 Pilgrims to Rome

Vatican City, May 6.—(AP)—Pope Pius today voiced protest against Nazi German treatment of 2,000 young Catholics who returned to their Fatherland after an Easter pilgrimage to Rome. The pontiff's protest came in the course of an address to 130 other German pilgrims. He expressed the hope they would receive better treatment than their young predecessors. The official Osservatore Romano last week printed reports from Germany that the 2,000 German Catholics returning to their native land were treated as political suspects and subjected to close questioning stripped of their mementos of Rome and held for time in concentration camps. Voting was being conducted at the courthouse and pollholders, five of them, were finding work as easy as any other time in years, there on one or two occasions when there was no contest at all. All of the aldermen are to be elected for terms of two years with exception of Dr. Massey, who if for a year, and who is also filling an unexpired term. Two aldermen, Mrs. J. L. Hassell and Joseph M. Taft, do not come up for election this time.

Mills' Infant Died Last Night; Burial Today

Floyd Ray Mill's 14-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mills, died at the home in Swift Creek from a complication of diseases. Funeral services were conducted from the late home this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Elder W. H. Laughinghouse, and burial was made in the Laughinghouse graveyard. Surviving are the parents and one sister, Lena.

PRESCRIBES REST FOR FRENCH PREMIER

Paris, May 6.—(AP)—Physicians ordered a "complete rest today for Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin, who fractured his left arm in an automobile collision yesterday. A bulletin issued at a private hospital where the Premier is attended by his brother, Dr. Charles Flandin, described his general condition as "very good," but he probably will miss a cabinet meeting Tuesday. Flandin arrived in Paris by special train from Auzere, where the accident occurred.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

Washington By RAY TUCKER MANEUVER: Whenever a Morgenthau and a Mellon clash, even though through the medium of counsel speaking not so subtly before a semi-judicial body like the Board of Tax Appeals, suspicious people are certain to cry "politics." They are in full political cry now. Everybody born before the New Deal realizes that the government is desperately anxious to win its suit for additional taxes against the man who directed Republican financial policies for a decade. It would make an excellent talking point. So the political factors must overshadow the legal in the mind. The government's tactics strengthen that impression. Its original attempt to indict the former Secretary of the Treasury, its move to submit apparently privileged correspondence and Secretary Morgenthau's demand that the case be tried on the basis of "common business honesty," appear to be extra-legal moves. Meanwhile, with the skillful Frank Hogan picturing his client as a modern Maecenas, Mr. Mellon is outmaneuvering the New Dealers. Hogan, who successfully defended Doherty, is doing a swell job of rehabilitation. STRADDLE: There is an even more fascinating legal aspect to this famous case. Until the Roosevelt reformers revamped the law after the disclosure that many Morgan partners had paid no taxes, sales such as Mr. Mellon made possessed the shadow of legality. They complied with the statutory forms and ceremonies. But the Board of Tax Appeals is split wide open on this question. A strongly dissenting group maintains that compliance with the forms and ceremonies is sufficient to legalize deliberate tax avoidance. Another group insists that there is a "higher law"—that there must be compliance with the spirit as well as the letter. (Continued on Page Two)

ENEMY'S KISS by Evelyn M. Winch

SYNOPSIS: Alison Rede has come to a lonely house in Sussex in response to a telegram ostensibly from her father. But her father does not meet her; instead she is frightened by a horrible hairless man, and saved by another and every reasonable man. But neither can explain why Alison's father should neither have met her nor have let her know why. Although the man behind Alison's mind is the fact that her father is about to re-

Chapter Seven
MYSTERY DEEPENS

Alison abandoned the argument. She said defiantly, "I'm going to Warley now, to telephone."

"I think not."

"Who's going to stop me?" She had a small round chin and she stuck it out firmly.

"I am, your under orders." He said it good humoredly, his eyes twinkling, but there was a faint, steely inflection in his voice. "And you're going to Warley, aren't you? You've just had a shock. You're not fit to travel. It's raining here. It's raining at this time of night. You're going to lie down here while I go into Warley."

"I'd really rather go with you!" The thought of renewing her visit in the house shook Alison completely.

"You won't be alone." He strode across to the window and flung it open, leaning out, gave a shrill whistle. Something large and white flashed up from the wet darkness outside and, bending, he pulled up over the sill a very large, wet, white bulldog.

"Oh!" Alison stared at the dog which was leaning excitedly up on its master and spattering drops across the kitchen from its thick legs and tail. A dog superbly ugly with a tan patch over one eye.

"Down, down, there! Meet Gaffe. We call him that because his man nose are so bad." He forced the dog down and made it lift one paw. But Alison was not looking at the dog. She had gone white.

"Was he out there—all the time?"

"Yes, I left him on guard. Why?"

"Don't you see? You said that—the thing I saw got out of my pantry window—"

"Yes?"

"If that's true, why didn't Gaffe get him?"

He pulled up a large wet bulldog.

"That's certainly a point."

There was no laughter now. They were both serious as they stood facing one another.

"But we've searched the house!"

"I know."

"But the doors were all locked inside, and the windows."

"That's just it."

"You—you don't think Gaffe would have missed him?" she asked it almost hopefully; the notion of that grey face hiding now in some dark corner, waiting, was too horrible.

"No, I don't." Gaffe's master was decisive. "But I don't believe in ghosts either."

"Then you mean?"

"There's some other way in and out, that's all..."

"I'm not going to stay here alone!"

"No, you can't do that," he agreed at once. "But you can't walk six miles either, in this storm. He shut the window slowly, frowning. "Do many people know you're here?"

"No. No one. Except my father."

He nodded. "You don't know anyone round about?"

"No, you see— Breathlessly Alison plunged into her story. He listened until she had quite finished, watching her with a rather intent gaze.

"I see," he said at last. "Then you haven't a notion why your father asked you to come?"

"I simply can't imagine!"

"It's—odd."

"Isn't it?"

"You don't think it's even the sort of house he'd be likely to take?"

"No, I don't!"

He pondered a minute.

When he spoke again, the question startled Alison.

"What does your father do? I mean for a living?"

"Father? Nothing, I mean, he's got enough money and he's retired. He simply travels a bit and lives in London."

"I see. And you've just finished school?"

"Yes..."

He said slowly "I don't understand it. There's something fishy about it somewhere, isn't there? But I'm not going to leave you here, and apart from getting a chill, we can't turn up at a hotel in Warley together round two o'clock in the morning without luggage, can we?"

"I suppose not."

"Then there's only one thing to be done." He was brisk now. "There's a perfectly good bedroom upstairs and you're going to use it. Now don't look at me like that! You'll be quite safe. You're going to lock the door inside and take Gaffe with you. I don't care what you saw, if Gaffe once gets his teeth into it that'll be that. I'll wait down here and explain to your father when he comes."

"But—" she began.

"Not but." He was smiling.

"I really rather go with you!" The thought of renewing her visit in the house shook Alison completely.

been a loser in most of the important trials, but for one reason or another had a political cast, regardless of the official desire to prosecute them as impersonal, legal affairs. Despite able preparation and distinguished counsel, it has been defeated in its attacks upon pre-New Deal figures in the fields of finance, utilities and bootlegging.

It has lost because it does not reckon with intangible psychological factors. It could not convict Charles E. Mitchell because this dynamo banker typified the spirit of his jurors in the day of their profits and grandeur. It could not convict Samuel Insull because its kidnapping of him in Greece won public sympathy for the defendant. It lost its case against "Dutch" Schultz, the most notorious beer baron of prohibition days, because it permitted high-powered New York lawyers to try their stuff on an up-state jury, and five jurymen resented their tactics.

They are going to try Mr. Insull and "Dutch" Schultz again. But they repeat these mistakes if they can help it.

PROGRAM: Most of this excitement about the attempt to Canada through publication of the War Department's desire for air bases on the boundary line is stage play. But it's good stage play in this time of talk of war and rumors of war.

What people seem to miss is the fact that our war plans would not have been revealed before a Congressional committee if it had been known that the disclosure was to have been made public. Apparently it is all right to make the plans but it is a major diplomatic blunder for them to become known. Therefore the Secretary of War and the President had to offer public apologies.

Take it all with plenty of salt! Canada knows that the United States, like every other nation, has fashioned a theoretical war program for use against even the most friendly countries. Canada had to protest to placate public opinion at home. And Mr. Roosevelt, though he is building up the largest army and navy in our history, had to spank Militarist McSwain to live up to his reputation as a good neighbor.

STUBBORN: Rex Tugwell, heading the Rural Resettlement Division of the $4,000,000,000 adventure, may be able to lay dust. But he can't place people and shove them around the country side. He will have to change human nature first.

These movements to shift population have failed so far. The squatters who were chased out of the Smokey Mountains are returning to their shacks and battling COC evictors. Dakotas protest bitterly against proposals to move them to greener lands. It is freely predicted that Middle West emigrants to Alaska will be returning by the next ship. Even Secretary Ickes bets on that, although he was overruled in secret conference.

"Home, Sweet Home" is still a more popular tune than "Happy Days Are Here Again."

New York
By JAMES McMULLIN

SPLIT: The strand of the Toledo strike to Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants in Cincinnati and Cleveland is chiefly significant as a further revolt of direct actionists in labor ranks against Bill Green's pacifist policy. Local leaders are taking the play away from Federation heads. Green is in an unhappy spot if the walkout flops he'll get the blame for not backing it more vigorously. If it wins it will be used against him as proof that forceful methods get better results than diplomacy. I termed New York our best predictor. It will take a miracle of legislative triumph to save his throne much longer.

Changes of a general nature in the industry remain slim. The Federation union and a majority of workers in every factory so far effected—and there are a few other auto plants where that is true.

If Father Coughlin is to win labor recruits for his National Union they are likely to come first from the motor workers. These are the most dissatisfied with the present Federation setup and the most willing to listen to an alternative. New York hears that backstage negotiations are in progress that may lead to a dramatic split within the Federation.

ANSWER: Silver revaluation is being discussed in high quarters as a possible cure for several administrative headaches. At the present official value of $1.29 an ounce the Treasury owns $1,450,000,000 worth of the metal. That means the government's silver holdings would have to be virtually doubled to $2,866,000,000 in order to bring silver reserves up to the 1 to 3 ratio to gold prescribed by Congress. This figure could only be reached by further huge pur-quick-boys. The silverites in Congress couldn't kick—the government would be carrying out their mandate. At the same time final fulfillment would be delayed long enough to be sure they vote as agreed on New Deal measures.

Proponents of revaluation challenge the opposition to produce a more complete answer to a riddle that's growing troublesome. New York understands they are getting an attentive hearing where it counts.

COURAGE: The American taxpayers' League is conducting a quiet recruiting campaign among top-flight financiers and business executives. The League is shooting for total abolition of income and inheritance taxes—no less—and would substitute a general sales tax plus rigid government economy. In one of its bulletins it states: "Income and inheritance taxes... paralyze the creative genius of the country" and "at best transfer property from those who know how to produce and accumulate wealth to governments that can only spend it."

The League dwells heavily on the woes of those in the highest income brackets. It figures that they pay—if they live in New York—a 70 per cent tax and that inheritance levies take 64 per cent of what's left. It also points out that a very wealthy person gets a better net return from a 3 per cent tax-exempt bond than from a taxable investment that yields 15 per cent—hence has no incentive to invest in industry.

But even Wall Street conservatives are leery of identifying themselves with a cause which they are sure is destined to extreme unpopularity. The officers and executive committee of the League are substantial citizens—but not one of them could be described as nationally prominent. Many New Yorkers agree that "preservation of property rights and limitation of governmental responsibility are necessary to the preservation of the Republic"—but remark that the League shows more courage than judgment in its approach to the problem.

basis has already been beaten in a New York court.

not reduced. The senate bill would save the owners of small cars about $2.50 each, based on the usual small car tag cost of $13.75.

As amended by the house the per hundredweight levy would be further reduced to 40 cents, the minimum cost fixed at $7. In addition the house voted to reduce the license costs for trucks. The truck reduction alone would cost the state $1,100,000 in loss of revenue. The house reduction in private car licenses would cost $1,500,000 in lost revenue, making the total loss of revenue to the state $2,600,000. As passed by the senate the bill would result in a revenue loss of only $1,000,000.

Today there is a strong likelihood that the general assembly may adjourn sine die this week without reducing the cost of car tags by so much as a nickel. If it does the responsibility can safely be placed on the door step of the lower house members who are adamant in their stand for drastic reductions. In fact, many house members waged their campaigns for election with a flat $5 tag levy as their No. 1 plank. Especially was that true in western North Carolina.

It is the advocates of drastic reduction who have delayed final approval of the bill. It is apparent to observers here that they cannot succeed in securing great reductions and that if they really want to do well to agree to the senate figures. Otherwise they will lose their fight entirely.

The Page prohibition enforcement bill, already passed by the house, to provide a force of more than 200 state prohibition enforcement agents with at least two in each county, is now in the senate calendar committee and will probably stay there if the committee has its way. But when the senate meets again tonight, a motion will prob-

MISPLACED: Some people still figure there's hope of collecting on gold clause differentials. A New York firm advertises that it's willing to pay $26.25 for interest coupons due May 1 on Bethlehem Steel 5 per cent bonds of 1942—normally with $25. This is the issue for which payment can theoretically be demanded in gold—although a suit to collect on that well-believes their confidence is very much misplaced.

HANG-OVER NO. 6-- UNDER DRINKING

A man can go without eating 30 days or more. Three days is the limit if he goes without water. To lose 5 per cent body water brings hang-overs, makes one irritable and grouchy. To lose 20 per cent is fatal. So drink more and more water. The CO2 in 7-UP helps purify the body linings and the copious water slices away the waste. The distress after eating will vanish. You need plenty of good pure water like you have in 7-UP.

7-Up sold wherever Bottled Drinks are sold. Order a case today from your grocer.

Next is Hang-Over No. 7—Mental Lassitude.

"WHAT! only 15 cents a day for a Kelvinator?"

That's all...on the METER-ATOR plan at the Carolina Sales Corp. Cor. Cotanche & 3rd.

Yes—and there is NO DOWN PAYMENT

No wonder the METER-ATOR Plan has been such a big success—it was sure to be because this plan makes it possible for every family to own a Kelvinator without increasing the household budget.

Only 15 Cents A Day
No down payment and only 15 cents a day—why, you can easily save this much every day with a Kelvinator and before you know it, the Kelvinator will have paid for itself.

Out of Sight
You can place the METER-ATOR any place near the refrigerator—out of the way and out of sight. No extra charge for the meter. And it is removed when the Kelvinator is paid for.

Come in and see the 18 new models. They are beautiful. And you will find exactly what you want for as low as only 15 cents a day.

HERE'S ALL THERE IS TO THE PLAN
No down payment—select model you want—we install it—you deposit as low as 15 cents a day, depending on model you select—money is collected once a month—and after Kelvinator is paid for, the METER-ATOR is removed.

Liberal allowance on your present Refrigerator.

Mrs. Ragsdale Entertains
On Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5:30 o'clock Mrs. H. S. Ragsdale, as usual the gracious hostess, entertained at a lovely tea in honor of her sister, Mrs. Harvey Tripp, who was married in the early spring.

The house throughout was beautifully decorated in profusions of roses, iris, peonies, lilies and various colorful spring flowers.

At the front door to welcome the guests were Mrs. J. Key Brown and Mrs. W. T. Lipscomb.

Mrs. David J. Whitchard, Jr., and Mrs. David M. Clark introduced the guests to the receiving line. In the receiving line which stood in the library were Mrs. Ragsdale, Mrs. Tripp, Mrs. Paul Royer, Norfolk, Va., Mrs. L. E. Tyndall, Mrs. J. H. Boyd, Jr., Mrs. J. C. Galloway and Mrs. Swanson Graves, of Washington.

At the drawing room door and directing to the dining room were Mrs. John Adams, Jr., Mrs. W. L. Whedbee and Mrs. W. W. Lee. The dining room was especially pretty.

The buffet and mantel were banked with flowers and lighted by tall white candles in crystal holders. The table was covered with a cloth of madeira linen, a large crystal bowl of yellow and white roses and daisies, surrounded with pansies, placed on a reflector made a lovely center piece.

Seated at either end of the table Mrs. C. M. Jones and Mrs. G. J. Woodward served cream from large crystal platters. Misses Mary Elizabeth Ferguson, Francis Harvey and Ernestine Hobgood served salted pecans and decorated cakes.

Mrs. L. H. Bowling and Mrs. Edward Batchelor invited guests to the punch table, placed in the living room where they were served by Mrs. E. W. Harvey, Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, Mrs. A. E. Hobgood and Mrs. S. L. Bridgers.

The punch table was decorated with sprays of Paul Scarlet roses. In the sun room which was attractive with white peonies, Miss Bonnie Windham, Miss Francis Purvis and Miss Louis Galphin received. They directed to the register where Mrs. Harvey Clayton registered the several hundred callers.

Good-byes were said by Mrs. W. L. Whitchard and Mrs. James S. Ficklen.

The average daily vehicle density per mile of State highways in California is 1,572 cars.

Mother's Day
Mother's Day is a pretty idea which has taken root in many parts of our country and seems destined to grow. It was Miss Anna Jarvis of 2031 North 12th St., Philadelphia, who suggested, a few years ago, that the second Sunday in May be so designated, and that a white carnation be worn in honor of Mother. Its observance on Sunday detracts not at all from business, religious observance, or pleasure. Let not the day pass without some kindly act or word for Mother or in her memory.

Dr. Knight Here Thursday
The appearance of Dr. Edgar Knight here Thursday night as the speaker at an Education Day program arranged by the A. A. U. W. is of especial interest to many people in Greenville.

Dr. Knight, one summer a member of the East Carolina Teachers College faculty, is well known personally here. Also what he has to say will be of particular value not only to educators but to all members of the community who are interested in educating the children of North Carolina. He is an Eastern North Carolina man himself, who understands conditions in this section of the state.

District Get-Together Meeting
On Wednesday morning, May 8, the get-together meeting of the Third District which comprises the parishes of Ayden, Farmville, Greenville, Grifton and Winterville, will be held in the Parish House of St. Paul's Church, Greenville.

It is to be hoped that every woman of St. Paul's Parish will be present to welcome our guests and share with them the inspiration and helpfulness to be derived from a friendly informal discussion of the many phases of auxiliary work in which all of us should be deeply and vitally interested. The meeting will convene at 10 o'clock.

Y. W. C. A. Install Officers
A beautiful and impressive service by the side of the College lake was held at the twilight hour yesterday when the new college Y. W. C. A. Cabinet members were installed.

Each member of the old cabinet bore a lighted candle which she passed to her successor as a symbol of the work that she wished to have continued. The picture of the girls in white bearing candles reflected in the lake made a lovely scene.

The following girls took part in the service: Miss Ida Kay Hair, taking the place of Miss Margaret Martin as secretary; Miss Margaret Norman, that of Miss Hattie Pearl Mallard, as treasurer; Miss Ellen Jenkins in the place of Miss Frances Newsom, as Student Government representative; Miss Catherine Wallace, following Miss Polly Melvin as Religious Education chairman; Miss Esther Mae Dennis, taking the place of Miss Catherine Wallace as Morning Watch Chairman; Miss Margaret Martin, that of Miss Margaret Norman as Social Committee Chairman; Miss Juanita Davis who succeeds Miss Jean Thomas as chairman of Social Service; Miss Ruth Wise, in the place of Miss Mae McFarland as Publicity Chairman; Miss Polly Melvin, taking the place of Miss Edith Marslander as Music Chairman; Miss Marilyn Henderson, that of Miss Mary Francis Holland as chairman of the World Fellowship; and Miss Lottie Moore, who succeeds Miss Ruth Henderson as Y. W. C. A. reporter.

First Church of Christ, Scientist
"Everlasting Punishment" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 5, 1935.

The Golden Text was from Proverbs 16:6. "By mercy and truth iniquity is purged; and by the fear of the Lord men depart from evil."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Come, my people, enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doors about thee: hide thyself as it were for a little moment, until the indignation be overpast. For behold the Lord cometh out of His place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity." (Isaiah 26:20, 21).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "It would be contrary to our highest ideas of God to suppose Him capable of first arranging law and causation so as to bring about certain evil results, and then punishing the helpless victims of His volition for doing what they could not avoid doing. Good is not, cannot be, the author of experimental sins." (Page 230).

Brilliant Dance at College
One of the most brilliant social events in the history of the College was the formal dance in the Campus Building Saturday night, the first formal dance given by the students in which all the students and faculty have had the privilege of participating, and to which outside guests have been invited.

There were hundreds of couples on the floor. In addition to the local young men, there were a number from most of the leading colleges of the state and from many places throughout the state. New Bern, Kinston, Rocky Mount, Weldon, Goldsboro, and many other places in eastern Carolina were well represented, and there were some from a distance.

The Campus building auditorium was a scene of loveliness, beautifully and artistically decorated in college colors. The hall was softened by a dome effect of three shades of purple, with lavender at the top, shading off to deep purple on the sides, with the eighteen columns wrapped in bands of the three shades and gold. A large cluster of golden balloons were suspended from the center of the dome. The curtain on the stage was also of the shades in lavender and purple. The bandstand, placed on one side, was carpeted with purple and had a back-drop on which musical designs in gold were placed. Punch stands with iris and green vines were in opposite corners. In the lobby were also large bunches of irises and the gilded stair-railings were entwined with festoons of wistaria.

Music was furnished by the WRVA orchestra from Richmond, Bert Repine's Hi-Plane Flyers.

The patrons and patronesses were President and Mrs. Meadows, the deans, faculty members of the social committee and Supt. and Mrs. Rose. The chaperons were the men of the faculty and their wives and some of the women of the faculty. The hosts and hostesses were from the officers of the student-government associations.

The dance was in charge of the Social Committee, of which Miss Lucy LeRoy is chairman. There are three faculty members and student representatives from every class and organization in college on the committee.

NEGRO BADLY BURNED AS CAR CATCHES FIRE
Wilson N. C., May 6.—An automobile caught fire on the Rocky Mount-Wilson highway about 4 o'clock this afternoon, causing Connie Bullock, negro, of Stantonburg, to be so badly burned that it is doubtful whether he will live through the day.

The fiery car could not be out where it was, so B. A. Petri brought the car to the Wilson fire house with his wrecker so that Wilson's firemen might put it out.

The fire was caused by a tin can that the negro was using in the engine in place of a carburetor, over turning, and the gasoline in it catching on fire. Bullock is in a local hospital.

EDWIN DINWIDDIE, DRY LEADER, DEAD
Washington, D. C., May 6.—(AP)—Edward C. Dinwiddie, superintendent of the National Temperance Bureau died today at his home here. He was born in Springfield, O., in 1867.

Dinwiddie was prominent in the activities of the Anti-Saloon League during the latter part of the last century and carried the temperance fight through to the enactment of the Eighteenth Amendment.

He is survived by his widow and two children, Horace M. Dinwiddie of Irvington, N. J., and Mrs. Samuel R. Painter, of Washington. Burial will be at Springfield.

PRESIDENT RETURNS FROM RIVER CRUISE
Washington, D. C., May 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt returned to the White House last night shortly after 6 o'clock from an overnight cruise on the Potomac River aboard the government yacht, Seyoua.

The Presidential party motored directly to the White House after debarking at the Navy Yard.

Mr. Roosevelt was accompanied by E. Flynn, New York secretary of State and Bronx Democratic leader, and Mrs. Flynn; Miss Marguerite Le Hand, a secretary; and Raymond Moley, magazine editor and intimate friend.
