COURT CLOSES FALL SESSION HERE FRIDAY

Stiff Sentences Meted Out To Liquor Violators

LOUIS ROSS GETS 2 TO 3 YEAR TERM

Around 60 Cases Disposed Of During Week Of Criminal Term Of Court

The October term of Pitt County Superior court was adjourned late yesterday afternoon after having disposed of about 60 cases during the week.

The next criminal term is scheduled in January.

At the closing session Joe and Guy Sutton, Thurman Turner and Leon Turner, charged jointly with the illegal sales of liquor and also with operating a public nuisance, tendered a plea of guilty and were given six months on the roads each, judgment to be suspended upon payment of the costs of court. The judgment also prohibited the defendants from operating, leasing or in any manner having connections with a filling station and Sunset cabins, about five miles from the city. They were ordered to move the cabins from the present location within 15 days and if any of the terms of the judgment should be violated within two years, sentence would be imposed.

The four were arrested about three weeks ago by Sheriff Sam A. Whitehurst and his deputies in a series of raids which netted about a score of defendants.

Louis Ross, charged with shooting a woman and then himself was adjudged guilty and given from two to three years at State's prison. He was charged with assault with intent to kill.

Boston Stephenson was given from two to three years upon conviction of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Henry Crawford was freed of a charge of manslaughter, the jury having found a verdict of not guilty. The charge followed the death of a girl, allegedly a magazine saleswoman, he was taking a ride when the car wrecked. The girl died later in the local hospital.

South Carolina Road Workers Receive Wages

Funds Reportedly From Impounded Auto Tag Revenue; Negotiations Started to End Deadlock

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 2.—(AP)—State highway employees were paid, reportedly from impounded auto tag revenue, today after a three-day delay while counsel for 13 ousted Commissioners arranged residential service of a court order on Gov. Olin Johnston's military-guarded manager.

Public access to several portions of the state highway office was denied during the payroll process, in which employees were said to have received checks or money-orders signed by Joe Calus, executive of the Johnston road regime.

The orders were then taken from the highway offices on the second floor of the five-story state building in the basement where they were honored with funds from an estimated $100,000 in auto tag receipts. The payroll was approximately $70,000.

Resorting to legal strategy, counsel for 13 ousted state highway commissioners arranged service of a supreme court order against Gov. Johnston's militia-made road board.

The order ruling the new board to show cause November 11 why it should not be enjoined from acting was served late yesterday at the home of one board member, and upon another personally when he left the Capital on private business without military guard.

Under cover negotiations meanwhile continued for a compromise to end the road deadlock in which the Governor's board held control of the highway offices but not the bulk of appropriations of $3,500,000 in highway funds which were frozen by court injunction.

Lobar Pneumonia Closes Schools In Duplin County

Rose Hill, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Rose Hill schools were suspended indefinitely Thursday because of three deaths among pupils from an extremely virulent type of pneumonia.

The date for reopening has been set of Monday, November 11.

The disease was identified as lobar pneumonia.

Drys Lose Liquor Fight In Supreme Court Ruling

Appeals Dismissed Because of Wrong Procedure

FRANKLIN MAY VOTE ON ISSUE

Justice Clarkson Dissents From Opinion Written By Judge Michael Schenck

Raleigh, Nov. 2.—(AP)—North Carolina dry after losing a fight to halt liquor sales in 16 of the state 100 counties by injunction today had left open to them another method—indictment and prosecution.

The State Supreme court yesterday dismissed appeals of the dries and asserted they had gone about obtaining their objectives in the wrong way. The court consequently, did not rule on the constitutionality of the local option liquor laws.

By a three-to-one decision the court held the injunction in Vance, New Hanover, Franklin and Warren counties had been brought prematurely. The proper course, the court held, was through prosecution under the liquor laws.

Justice Clarkson dissented.

The majority opinion by Justice Michael Schenck was written on the dismissal of the appeal of Vance county dries from Judge W. A. Devin's refusal to enjoin the county from holding a liquor referendum.

In Franklin county, the only one in which a referendum was enjoined by the dries, plans went ahead for the long-delayed vote. The election is expected to be called by the county commissioners at their meeting Monday.

Italy To Demand Neutrality Move

Paris, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Naval circles today confirmed the report that Italy will demand neutralization of the Strait of Gibraltar at the London Naval Conference December 2.

Six Forest Fire Towers To Be Added In This State

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Nov. 2.—Six additional forest fire lookout towers, which will bring the primary detection system in North Carolina almost half way to completion, are scheduled for erection during the current Emergency Conservation Work period.

W. C. McCormick, assistant state forester in charge of forest fire control for the Department of Conservation and Development, announced today.

The six towers are being purchased from ECW funds but will become a part of the state's primary detection system numbering approximately 125 structures when completed, Mr. McCormick said. To date 55 towers have been completed and are in service during periods of high fire hazards. The new lookouts will bring the total to 61.

Locations selected for the proposed observation posts are as follows: On the Brunswick-Columbia county line on U. S. Highway 76; East-central Beaufort county, near Yatesville; Southeast Bladen county on Bladen-Sampson line; lower Jones county, near Comfort; near junction of Johnston-Hartnett-Sampson county line, and in a site not yet definitely selected in Duplin county.

Since these towers are a definite part of the forest fire control, Mr. McCormick pointed out that they are being planned only for counties providing for organizations for this purpose in cooperation with the Department of Conservation and Development and the U. S. Forest Service.

Western North Carolina is already well equipped with forest fire towers in cooperating counties and none of the recent allotment has been planned for that section, the assistant State forester explained. Most of the counties which have provided for forest fire control since the beginning of the new fiscal year are in the Eastern part of the state. All of the new towers for lookouts will be connected by telephone with wardens scattered throughout the various counties.

HURRICANE RAGING OFF N. C. COAST

Endangers Shipping Off Coast Of Carolina Today

DISTURBANCE OFF HATTERAS

Weather Bureau Says "Fresh to Strong Northerly Winds Would Sweep Coast Today"

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 2.—(AP)—A small storm of hurricane proportion over a wide area endangered shipping off the coast of the Carolinas today.

Picking up intensity rapidly during the last 12 hours the disturbance was charted by the U. S. Weather Bureau as moving southwestward.

The weather official bureau here warned of "dangerous conditions" of the Carolinas and said "Fresh to strong northerly winds" would sweep the coast.

At 10:30 a. m. the disturbance was believed to be centered about 150 miles south of Cape Hatteras.

MAYOR RITES SUNDAY P. M.

Large Crowd Expected At Flanagan Services

One of the largest crowds ever to attend a funeral in this section is expected to pay final tribute tomorrow to Mayor Roy C. Flanagan, who died early Friday morning of a heart attack.

The funeral will be held from the home at three o'clock. Rev. Worth Wicker, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, and Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of Eighth Street Church of Christ, will officiate. Burial will be in the Episcopal cemetery.

Out-of-town relatives and friends had begun to arrive today for the services.

On June 15, 1905, Mr. Flanagan was married to Miss Helen Perkins, who survives him. To the union were born five children, all of whom survive the late mayor. They are: Mrs. Walter L. Harrington and Miss Helen Perkins Flanagan of this city; Roy C. Flanagan, Jr. of East Greenwich, Rhode Island; Edward Stuart and Travis Hooker Flanagan of Greenville.

Other survivors include a brother, Col. Edward G. Flanagan; three sisters, Mrs. Sophia Sheahan, Mrs. James F. Davenport and Mrs. Dot Patrick, all of this city, and two grandchildren, R. C. Flanagan, III, and little Miss Jean Harrington. A large number of nieces and nephews also survive.

Mr. Flanagan was widely connected with the civic, fraternal and governmental affairs of the city and state. At the time of his death he was honorary vice president of the League of Municipalities.

He was elected mayor of Greenville in 1931 and since that time has been re-elected to that office two additional terms without opposition.

Active pallbearers will be John G. Clark, George A. Clark, Mack Churchhill, Laurie Coward, B. E. Sugg, G. V. Smith, Martin Swartz and J. H. Rose.

Serving as honorary pallbearers will be members of the fire department, board of aldermen, police force, water and light commission and other city departments, as well as a large number of friends both living in and outside the city.

If North Carolinians consumed the same per capita amount of sea food as other states in the union it would require two times the present production to supply the demand.

More than 70 per cent of these casualties were suffered in the campaigns of 1931, 1932 and 1933, when Mukden, Hsinking, Taisihar, Chinchow, Harbin and finally Jehol fell successfully before Japanese columns.

However, losses in the never-ending campaign against Manchurian bandits have continued steadily at the rate of about 40 dead a month.

Officially the Japanese deny that by his expenditure of blood they have added the Empire of Manchoukuo to the Japanese realm. Manchoukuo, they insist, has merely been freed from the Chinese yoke and given independence.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

Washington By RAY TUCKER WISDOM. Confidential aides are making a careful check of the curves in President Roosevelt's day to day popularity. Their current conclusion is that "the boss" gains strength when he and Congress stop talking and acting.

Mr. Roosevelt's recent cruise proved for him the truth of the old song that "absence makes the heart grow fonder." While he was out of the country his stock rose 3 per cent according to one poll. Industry and business improved. Though it isn't generally known, the President deliberately kept off the front page. On his 5,000-mile cruise he saw the three press association reporters only half a dozen times, and simply inquired after their health. He gave out no big news—only fish stories.

Mr. Roosevelt has taken the lesson to heart. He will be absent from Washington intermittently — and from the front page — until December 1. He has ordered his aides and Cabinet members to stop talking. He's beginning to think that his announcement of a "breathing spell" was a grand idea.

REPRISALS. Although planned as a simple "homecoming" President Roosevelt's appearance in Atlanta late in November will be a large-scale political maneuver. Its purpose is to crush incipient rebellion in the South headed by re-suspended Governor Thomas of the President's adopted state. (Continued on Page Two).

Date Set For Starting World Seige Of Italy By League Of Nations

November 18 Officially Designated By 52 Countries

DATE ALSO SET ON OTHER BANS

United States Representatives Occupies a Seat In Meeting for Non-Members

Geneva, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Italian spokesmen informed the Associated Press today that Italy has made a definite concession for a possible settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian war.

The concessions, it was said, were contained in a statement handed to Premier Laval of France outlining its conception of how the war could be settled.

Geneva, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The general committee of the league of nations made up of 52 countries today formally designated November 18 as the date for the beginning of a world-wide seige of Italy.

Separate proposals fixing this date for financial sanction as well as for a boycott against Italian goods and an embargo against shipping "key products" to Italy were voted by the big meeting without opposition.

The key products cover all goods which the assembled experts believe could be converted by Italy for use in her war against Ethiopia.

The public session of the representatives of 52 nations opened at 4:18 p. m. in a tense, crowded chamber.

Premier Pierre Laval of France appeared tired and dejected as he took his seat.

Hugh R. Wilson of the United States, sat among the observers in the non-member seats.

Dr. Augusto Vasconcelos of Portugal, president of the committee, announced the body's object was "to restore just and honorable peace."

The members at once adopted a resolution inviting all governments to take steps to put final sanctions against Italy for her war in East Africa into operation before November 18.

Sir Samuel Hoare, the British Foreign Secretary, told his colleagues there was "nothing mysterious sinister" about the Franco-British conferences in recent days.

He said that up to the present time there has been "nothing more than an exchange of suggestions to definite outcome—and therefore nothing to report."

"No one can prophesy whether we shall succeed," he said, "but one thing I can promise—we shall continue to act within the framework of the league."

The action seen as a "Master stroke" by Mussolini to force Britain to declare her "intention" in the Mediterranean is expected by naval experts to "throw a bombshell into the conference."

Although it was accepted as a "foregone conclusion" in diplomatic circles that Britain will be forced to refuse such a demand, it was said it will nevertheless be "extremely embarrassing for London" for the Italians making the demand will surely point to the pacific declaration of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's government as proof that Britain no longer needs a fortified rock to control the Mediterranean.

Washington, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The Works Progress Administration announced today that the drive to end the dole had transferred 1,431,185 persons from relief rolls to jobs by October 28.

This was 1,956,815 short of the goal of 3,500,000 which President Roosevelt originally had hoped to reach by November 1.

A compilation of official figures from all the states showed that between October 9 and October 26, jobs were given to 121,713 persons.

Of the 1,500,000 total employed under the Works Program 522,704 were in the civilian construction corps, 788,452 on WPA projects and 172,629 on other federal projects.

Since October 26, however, officials said the works program had reached its peak and probably by mid-November most of the 1,500,000 individuals would be on pay rollers. The date for ending the dole has been moved up to December 1.

TRIBAL WARS HURT ITALY

Guerrilla Tactics Force Italians To Retreat

Addis Ababa, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The Ethiopian government stated officially today that Ethiopian guerrilla tactics were forcing an Italian retreat northwest of Mussa Ali, on the border of Eritrea, the Italaq colony.

The portion of the alleged retreat was specified as the Abdal desert, just northwest of the mountain named after Moses, which is called Mussa Ali, and where the Italians are establishing an aviation base.

The Italians were reported by the Government to be most active on the northeast front with no news from Makale or from the south.

The Fascist advance was said to be toward the Immemi Plains, with the Danakil tribesmen hanging on their flanks and harassing the forward movement with night-time sniping.

In retaliation Italian airplanes were reported to be flying over the Danakil region daily, bombing and machine gunning the territory below.

The Ethiopians successes in the Abdal desert were attributed to the Assaimera tribe which reported it was making daily attacks at dawn inflicting considerable casualties on the Italian transport colony.

Field instructions are already completed in Washington and the farm agent went over them while in Washington. He said he expected rules and regulations governing the sign-up to be forwarded to the various districts shortly.

There are about 400 commercial potato growers in Pitt county. This number does not include farmers who grow potatoes for home consumption. However, anyone selling as much as five bushels of the spuds are eligible for the sign-up.

The largest shipping point in this county is at Bethel and in addition to the Pitt-grower potatoes sent from there, a large part of the crop in Edgecombe and artin county are shipped from the point. During the height of the shipping season as many as 40 car loads are shipped daily from the point.

HIGH COURAGE
 by Jeanne Bowman

SYNOPSIS: Anne Farnsworth has suddenly found herself allied with the Farnsworth fishermen against the present management of the Farnsworth Fisheries. The Currier is in the hands of Anne's relatives, and these relatives are allied against her. By an unexpected change in Luke Farnsworth's will, Anne has been elected out of the large estate he left. What will Anne do? Anne has found she is not even Luke's daughter. She is living among the Finns, who dislike her former fiance, Rob Crocker, very much.

"Men do queer things, Nikki." "And that's why Rob spoke as he did when I told him about Luke's will. He grew angry at Dad, said he knew why he had changed and he'd show him."

"Try to forget this, Nikki," John advised, seeing her eyes fill. "I wouldn't have worried you if I hadn't thought we might avert an open fight. You stay on in your new house with Lisa. I wouldn't put anything past Farley, and as long as he doesn't know where you are, he can't harm you."

"Harm me?" queried Anne, in surprise, "but why should he do me any physical harm? What's what you mean, isn't it?"

"I don't know why he should, Nikki, and none of us will know until we have heard the final reading of Luke's will, and he knows you won't interfere with his wife's share. . . you see the fewer the kin, the larger the share."

"But, John, I can't sit quietly at home taking care of myself if I could be doing something to avert this trouble."

"I don't know what you could do," he assured her, "that we're not trying to do. If we can prove collusion between the trap owners and Crocker, with intent to defraud the government, then we can prosecute, but it's hard work doing that. The commission accepted our report, investigated and declared everything had been conducted legally. I appreciate that. They can do nothing without proof and I don't know how we'll get it."

"Maybe I could help."

"Nikki," there was alarm in John's voice, "don't try, please don't try. Can't you trust me? Won't you promise to take care of yourself while I'm away?"

"I . . . why . . ." Anne's cheeks were flooded with color. John's quick cry had sprung from his heart. It was personal, and yet, Anne reasoned, he might feel that way about any defenseless woman.

"I'll promise not to do anything without first giving it long thought," she compromised, then spoke quickly. "What is that?"

"That's the boat song from the Kalevala, the national epic of the Finnish people," explained John. "Sing it in English," Anne asked. And John, looking toward the setting sun, sang:

And the boat with red he painted,
 And adorned the prow with gliding,
 And with silver, overlaid it—
 Anne, listening, forgot her girlhood, forgot Luke and Lucinda, forgot everything excepting this man who stood before her unaware of her admiration. It seemed in this moment, that the spirit of the man who sang and her own spirit were fused with that of the country of which he sang—

And upon the sea he steered it,
 Over the blue and plashing billows—
 The sun slipped into the Pacific like a golden disk, turning the horizon clouds to rose and amber. Twilight moved in from the sea and the new boat paused in its rhythmic chugging until the net was cast, the top line floating in a rounded L. Buoy lights were set twinkling and everywhere Anne looked it seemed as if fishermen had loosed a horde of fireflies to float sparkling on the waves.

"Come and get it," sounded Miina's voice from the cabin, breaking the enchanted spell of the evening.

They crowded into the little galley, to balance bowls of steaming hot stew on uncertain knees, to spread biscuit with berry jam and to drink heavy cups full of coffee. Then, still talking and laughing, they went back on deck.

Anne, wrapped now in John's great coat, sat in calm contentment, listening to the slap of waves on the boat's sides, the muted voices of the men and, occasionally, a shout of laughter or song from a nearby boat.

This was peace, and with it an undercurrent of pleasurable excitement.

She looked out to where a liner moved across the bar, her stately sides punctuated with round yellow lights from her portholes.

Poor Luke—he hadn't even had the solace of his belief in her. And he was right. She would have married Rob, unknowing, unsuspecting his real nature. Luke, without time to plan, had had to turn to the one person he could trust, that Lee Farnsworth.

Suddenly Anne stood up. Lee Farnsworth! Perhaps there was a way out of this trouble after all, and she could go back to her new home and rest in peace, her work accomplished.

OUT: New York state bankers are keeping their fingers crossed and hoping the voters do right by them next Tuesday. A proposal is up for popular referendum to repeal double liability for state bank stockholders. The banks have refrained from any attempt to campaign for it for fear the public would jump to the conclusion that if they wanted it there must be something wrong with it.

But state banking authorities endorse abolition of this ninety-year-old law. They feel that federal deposit insurance protects the public far more effectively—so much so that double liability has become an anachronism. Moreover the latter is never invoked until a bank has closed its doors and then it's usually futile to try to collect assets. Painful experience demonstrates that the law is as useful in practice as a disarmament conference after war is declared.

National bank stockholders will be relieved of double liability by Act of Congress on July 1, 1937—which would leave state-chartered institutions at a disadvantage unless the law is abandoned. A number of other states have taken similar action. New York financial men think it's perfectly reasonable for them to want out too. If only the voters agree!

POLITICAL: Informed financial sources learn that Washington—while keeping a watchful eye on inflationary trends—favors letting them ride for some distance yet. (The Federal Reserve Open Market Committee—while theoretically independent of Washington influence under the existing law—has mirrored administration sentiment pretty exactly since '33). Rising commodity prices will make votes in the farm belt and rising prices of bonds—if they don't go out of bounds—will help recovery sentiment all around.

Circles high in the administration are said to feel that it will eventually be necessary to apply the brakes—but probably not before election day 1936.

New Yorkers contend that this will be a break for FDR if true. They characterize the whole question of controlling inflation as political rather than economic. The machinery is at hand to do it—if those in command can bring themselves to use it.

ADJUSTMENT: Astute insiders figure that in one way restoration of business confidence may aggravate a major problem. The more confidence the more money spent for installation of labor-saving equipment—and hence the more unemployment.

A lot of machinery that would normally be rated as obsolete is still going strong. Just as cars which used to average a life of 25-30,000 miles are now covering 50,000 and more, factory appliances are still in service far beyond their usual span. Recent replacements in some plants have enabled employers to cut payrolls below pre-NRA figures and they can anticipate liquidation of the cost of the new machinery within a few years out of savings in labor charges. This doesn't happen in heavily unionized industries—as union rules check reductions in working forces. But it does open a road to more economical operation in lines where the unions are not all-powerful. Even under depression conditions, 74 men in the general manufacturing field produced as much in 1934 as 100 men in 1929. This tendency will naturally be accentuated with the return of new machinery.

Keen observers see the only ultimate answer in a major readjustment which will not only shorten the work week but the span of work life at both ends. Then the age group from 25 to 55 would carry the burden of the older and the younger. This would also involve stimulation of consumption by age and youth—since the middle group could produce at least twice as much as its own capacity to consume. The distribution problem could logically be a primary concern of government.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Brewer announce the birth of a daughter, Anne Louise, on Thursday, October 31st, 1935, Pitt General Hospital.

Guests of Dr. and Mrs. Best.
Dr. and Mrs. John T. Campbell of Washington, were dinner guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Best last evening.

Junior Woman's Club.
The regular meeting of the Junior Woman's Club was held in the club house on November 1st, with Miss Mary Harding and Mrs. C. C. Hilton as hostesses.

Marvin K. Blount spoke to the club on the Social Security Bill now pending. During the business session the club voted to assist in the local Red Cross Roll call under the leadership of Mrs. Hilton. The club also voted to sponsor another bridge tournament and to sponsor Book Week by having a story telling hour at the library each afternoon.

During the social period the hostesses served drinks and sandwiches and patties, after which the club adjourned.—Reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Scarborough Hosts.
On Friday evening at their home on the corner of Johnston and Eastern streets, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Willis Scarborough delightfully entertained at six tables of bridge.

The home was beautifully decorated with fall flowers, emphasizing the Halloween effect. Following a delectable ice course, prizes were awarded the following: Mrs. Milo Smith, Mrs. Harrod; E. G. Lynch, Milo Smith and W. A. Forbes.

Guests were Dr. and Mrs. Needham Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cockrell, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Goodall, Mr. and Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Alice Choyre, Mrs. R. E. Corbett, Jr., Mrs. John Warner, Mrs. Bunnings, Miss Mattie Evans, Miss Imogene Rich, Calvin Gorman, Gordon White, Dr. J. M. Barrett, B. W. Bynum.

Character Actress at College.
In the group of character sketches "The Nurse's Day Out," "The Hotel Porch," "Being Presented" and "Time Square" are the four new character sketches, in addition to the six "Wives of Henry VIII" that Cornelia Otis Skinner will present at East Carolina Teachers College on the evening of November 13.

In these modern sketches she not only impersonates all characters, but makes the audience feel the presence and personality of all the other people in the scenes, see the place and sense the situation. The whole plot is unfolded as if it were a play and a play that is taken from actual, present-day life.

Methodist Missionary Circles.
The Circles of the Woman's Missionary Society of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church will meet Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the following homes:
No. 2, Mrs. W. H. Taft, Chairman with Mrs. Brantley Willis.
No. 3, Mrs. George H. Clapp, Chairman with Mrs. L. B. McCormick.

Farmville H. D. Club Play.
The Farmville H. D. Club Women assisted by the 4-H girls of Fountain gave a play at the home of Mrs. J. R. Lewis Wednesday night. The front porch had been converted into a stage. Club families and neighbors enjoyed the program. Mr. Spikes from Ballard's Cross Roads furnished guitar music while the club women held a short business session. The Home Demonstration club will have an oyster supper in November.

Pierce Club Reports In.
The Pierce club reports have already been received in this office. This shows what can be done when we are really interested in getting up our reports. A gavel is to be presented to the club getting in the highest percentage of reports according to the 1935 enrollment on Achievement Day.

Achievement Day.
November 15 will be Achievement Day this year. A good program has been arranged. Don't miss it!

Fifteen Ways to Kill Your Club.
The following is copied from the Federated Club Notes in the Farmville Enterprise last week:
DON'T attend meetings, but if you do, arrive late.
BE SURE to leave before the meeting is closed.
NEVER have anything to say at the meetings; wait until you get outside.
WHEN at the meetings, vote to do everything, then go home and do nothing.
THE NEXT DAY, find fault with the officers and members.
TAKE no part in the organization's affairs.
BE SURE to sit in the back, so you can talk things over with another member who wishes to listen.
GET ALL club will give you, but don't give the club anything.
NEVER ask anyone to join the club.
TALK cooperation, but don't cooperate.
AT EVERY opportunity, threaten to resign, and try to get others to resign.
IF ASKED to help, always say you haven't time.
NEVER read anything pertaining to club work, especially the Federated News, you may become too enlightened.
NEVER accept an office, as it is easier to criticize than to do things.

Hot Rolls.
This is Mrs. E. E. Moore's recipe for hot rolls:
1 Cake Yeast, 1 pint water, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons lard, 2 teaspoons salt, 6 cups flour.
Boil water. To half of the water add sugar, salt, lard. Put yeast in the other portion when cooled to luke warm temperature. When all is luke warm mix together. Add the flour and make into dough. Place in greased pan and let rise to twice its size. Punch down. Let rise again. Make into rolls. Place in greased pan and let rise again. Bake in hot oven.

Club Schedule Next Week.
Winterville 4-H—Tuesday 2 p. m.
Stokes 4-H (Jr.)—Wednesday 10:35 a. m.
Stokes 4-H (Sr.)—Wednesday 11:05 a. m.
Bethel 4-H—Wednesday 12:30 p. m.
Red Oak H. D. Club—Wednesday all day at the club building.
Bell Arthur 4-H—Thursday 11:00 a. m.
Belvoir H. D. Club—Friday 3:00 p. m.
Red Banks H. D. Club—Friday 2:30 p. m. at the home of Misses Mary and Helen Brooks.

Think Sen. Bailey To Have Few Against Him For Post

Fountain Only Announced Opposition In Field

HE MAY RETIRE, SOME SUGGEST

Fear Of Defeat Said To Be Determining Factor In Keeping Many Out Of Race

Reflecter Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILL.

Raleigh, Nov. 2.—In spite of the many rumors to the effect that there will be one or more candidates in the field against Senator Josiah W. Bailey in addition to former Lieutenant Governor Richard T. Fountain of Rocky Mount, the belief in most political circles here is that Senator Bailey is already so firmly entrenched that when the primary comes around he will be without serious opposition.

A good many even doubt if Fountain will stay in the race, although he is still actively campaigning in his own behalf and against Bailey. Most observers are convinced, however, that even if Fountain does remain in the race through the primary that he cannot get more than the normal "anti" vote in any campaign—amounting usually to only about 30 per cent of the votes cast. So even if Fountain does remain one can be found who thinks he will at any time become a real threat to Bailey.

There are plenty of potential candidates who would like to run against the Senator, of course, if they thought they could win. There is Congressman Frank Hancock of the Fifth Congressional District, for instance, concerning whom rumors have been rife recently. Some of these have been to the effect that Hancock positively would become a candidate for the Senate against Senator Bailey and that he would announce in the very near future. But so far as can be noticed here, these reports have not stirred up any enthusiasm for Hancock in other sections as they are unable to note any great excitement over his potential candidacy even in his own district. An outside of his own district, where Hancock is only another name to most people, virtually no attention is being paid to the rumors of his impending candidacy. Accordingly, the prevailing opinion is not very likely to ever relief in political circles here is that become a candidate.

Then there is Willie Lee Lumpkin, of anti-sales tax fame, who with the erudite Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, now a candidate for Governor, led the fight on the sales tax in the last general assembly. For while the public generally has been led to believe that Lumpkin was on the point of announcing as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor almost any day for the past three months, many of the better informed are convinced that he has been thinking much more of becoming a candidate for the Senate against Bailey. Some of his supporters are still confident that he is going to run for the Senate. But while most observers believe Lumpkin would probably get more votes than either Fountain or Hancock, scarcely any think he has a chance to get enough to defeat Senator Bailey.

As a result, the prevailing belief in most circles here is that after Lumpkin gazes into the icy waters of the senatorial swimming pool and gets a look at the jagged rocks which the Senator has scattered about its bottom, that he will decide not to take the plunge.

Another who has been spoken of as a possible candidate against the Senator is Henry Stevens, Jr., of Warsaw, former national commander of the American Legion. But the prevailing opinion is that his reported activities in opposition to the cash payment of the bonus and in behalf of The Liberty League, generally regarded as one of the most militant anti-Roosevelt and New Deal organizations, has forever cooked his chances of being nominated, should he become a candidate. So Stevens is not expected to become a candidate.

The main reason for the epidemic of chill blains among the would-be candidates for the Senate against Bailey, of course, is the about-face which Bailey did in Washington about a year ago and the fact that by so doing he managed to "get right" with most of the Democrats here in the State. For a year ago there was tremendous dissatisfaction with Senator Bailey, especially among the 100 per cent Roosevelt supporters. But his record in this past session of Congress, and the fact that his position with regard to the NRA and several other alphabetical agencies has since been justified, it is now agreed that Senator Bailey for the most part is about as solid with the rank and file of Democrats in the State as a Senator could be.

G. O. P. RUMORS BEING HEARD

Most Recent Says Democratic Leaders Frightened

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Nov. 2.—The Republicans are already beginning to take part in the Democratic campaign for the nomination for Governor by circulating various rumors concerning political trades.

The most recent rumor to be heard there and emanating from Republican sources, is that the Democratic leaders are becoming so frightened by the progress which Dr. Ralph W. McDonald is making in his campaign for Governor that an effort is underway to get both McDonald and Lieutenant Governor A. H. Graham to withdraw from the race so that the party can concentrate on Clyde R. Hoey as its only candidate—or principal candidate.

As being told here in Raleigh, the trade reported to be in process of consummation is to get McDonald to withdraw by promising him the job of Commissioner of Revenue in the next administration and to get "Sandy" Graham out by promising him the Chairmanship of the State Highway and Public Works Commission.

All the Democrats who have heard of this rumor are amused at it pointing out that while the Republican party may deal in that type of politics, the Democratic party in North Carolina does not. Those who know both "Sandy" Graham and Dr. McDonald are also amused since they know that neither could be "bought off" by being offered a political appointment from the next administration. It is further pointed out that both Graham and McDonald would completely discredit themselves with their present followers if either should agree to accept any favor from an opponent.

It is also agreed that Mr. Hoey and his friends would be the last to agree to any such plan and that the whole purported maneuver has been conjured up from some one's imagination and probably designed to embarrass all three candidates more than anything else. But the open season for political sniping is here and more and more rumors of this sort are to be expected from now on, most observers agree.

Denmark Renews Ever-Full Masks In King's Cellar

Copenhagen Nov. 2.—(AP)—Three hundred bottles of Rhine wine from this year's harvest have been purchased by the Royal Danish Court, in keeping with a custom which has been followed for 340 consecutive years.

The new wine will be used, as in former years, to replace what is drawn and what evaporates from four large casks which were filled in 1595 by King Christian IV.

The four casks, which have never been empty, are in the cellar of "Rosenborg" castle. Each cask holds 1,500 bottles and every sixth week the wine keeper must descend into the cellar and empty six bottles of new wine into each cask.

Contrary to popular reputation, it is reported, the wine has acquired a taste resembling vinegar. For this reason, it is reported, King Christian has in late years ordered that sugar be served with the wine.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Mixed price movement ruled in today's brief stock market session, as profit takers decided to take home a little cash over the week-end. The alcoholists were resistant, but recent leaders melted about indecisively. The close was a bit uneven. Transfers approached 1,200,000 shares.

The economic picture had more bright spots than otherwise and the European situation was not more disturbing than usual. At the same time the pessimists felt that various stocks may be discounted the highest possible earnings over the next year or so.

Rev. W. A. Ryan to Head Roll Call in Pitt; Drive Nov. 10

John Lewis, Farmville Mayor, Named as Chairman for That District; Red Cross Work

Announcement was made today that Rev. William A. Ryan, pastor of Eighth Street Christian church, had been appointed chairman of the Red Cross Roll Call for the Pitt county chapter of the organization. The Roll Call will be held November 10-14, when efforts will be made to enroll as large a number as possible in the Red Cross.

John Lewis, mayor of Farmville, was named to head the Roll Call in the Farmville unit.

Japan's Cruisers Set Naval Pace In Battery Power

Armament is the Maximum Permitted by London Naval Treaty and Laws of Naval Design

By GLENN BABB Tokyo, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The Japanese navy has introduced a new, highly destructive type of fighting ship to the world.

The 8-500-ton cruisers, Mogami and Mikuma, first of the swift and heavily-gunned B-class cruisers in the building of which Japan and the United States are competing, have joined the empire's sea forces. These vessels, each carrying fifteen 6.1-inch rifles in five triple turrets, represent naval architects' efforts to obtain the last ounce of power, efficiency and destruction within London naval treaty limits.

Lesson in Sea Tragedy Their armament is the maximum permitted by both the treaty and the laws of naval design.

Naval experts of other nations have expressed doubt that such heavy armament could be used with safety on such small displacement. The Japanese too had doubts after one of their torpedo-boats, the Tomozuru, carrying three 5-inch guns on only 527 tons, capsized in a storm in March, 1934, with the loss of 100 officers and men.

There was then a thorough overhaul of the designs of cruisers and destroyers under construction. In the completed Mogami and her sisters the lesson of that tragedy has been heeded.

Year Ahead of America The addition of the Mogami and Mikuma to the fleet means Japan is more than a year ahead of the United States in ships of this classification. The American navy is building four cruisers of 10,000 tons each, also to be armed with fifteen 6-inch guns.

These are the Savannah, Nashville, Brooklyn and Philadelphia, but the first of them will not be completed until late in 1936. Before then the Mogami and Mikuma will be joined by two more of their class. In the Mogami class the Japanese builders unlike the Americans failed to take full advantage of the London treaty's limit on displacement of 10,000 tons.

These ships were kept to 8,500 tons each, because at that figure Japan could build six vessels within the 188,450 tonnage allowed her at London to this category. She could have built only five 10,000-ton ships.
