ITALY LOOKS SOUTH AFTER BIG VICTORY

Soldiers Plant Fascist Standard In Makale

NEXT ADVANCE ON AMBAALEI

Makale Position Probably Be Consolidated Before Further Advances, However

(By Associated Press)

The Italians made two important conquests in Ethiopia today, capturing Gorraheh on the southern front and Makale on the north.

In still another military movement, they drove "deep" into the region leading to Lake Tana in which Great Britain is interested because it feeds the river Nile.

Mussolini has often disavowed having any ambition toward Lake Tana. The advance of his troops in that area, however, may indicate a change in his views and a determination to make his conquest of Ethiopia complete.

In capturing Corraheh, a strategic center, the southern Italian army has removed another stone from its march toward Harar, the walled city of Ethiopia.

Makale, like Aduwa, Aksum and Adigrat, before it, fell without resistance.

Makale, Ethiopia, Nov. 8.—Italy's eager soldiers planted the Fascist standard in the center of this city today then looked to the south for a new objective.

Officers indicated the next advance probably would be to Ambaalei, 49 miles closer to Addis Ababa, and the heart of the Ethiopian empire.

The troops of Italy feel they must occupy Ambaalei, not only for its strategic mountain position, but for sentimental reasons as well.

For that is the southernmost point reached in the disastrous Italian invasion of 1895-96.

Before another advance is undertaken, however, there probably will ensue an interval in which the Makale position will be consolidated and the lines of conquest perfected.

Officers seem to believe that resistance by Ethiopians is much more likely to develop at Ambaalei than at any other point thus far encountered.

The city is situated in a wind-swept mountain pass, 1000 feet above the plains and provides the defender with ever natural advantage.

Seek To Link Three Men With Apex Bank Robbery

Sheriff Whitehurst Thanked by Inmate

Unless Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst wants more "visitors" he had better refrain from being so nice to them while they are in jail.

Today he received a card from Joe A. DuBoise of Morehead City saying: "I haven't forgotten my visit to Greenville and I never will forget your kindness and hospitality."

DuBoise was incarcerated in the Pitt county jail some time ago after he suffered a spell he is subject to as a result of having been shell-shocked in the World War. No charge was preferred against the man, but he was merely placed in a cell for protection.

One of Trio Arrested By Corporal Jackson

HOLDING THREE ON SUSPICION

Large Quantity Of Firearms Found In Car of Two Taken By Wilson Officers

By SIDNEY L. GRIFFIN (Reflector Staff Writer)

Reliable word was received today that T. N. Norris, one of three men arrested yesterday in this vicinity, was wanted in Tahlequah, Okla., on a charge of murder.

Farmville, Nov. 8.—Efforts were underway today to definitely link three men arrested on suspicion yesterday with a bank robbery in Apex, Wake county, last week.

One of the trio was arrested by Corporal L. L. Jackson of the State Highway Patrol, here yesterday after witnesses said the man, who gave his name as Joseph I. LaBelle, recently of Detroit, loitered in the bank lobby after he had changed a 20-dollar bill. LaBelle a few minutes before had changed a similar bill in a nearby cafe.

LaBelle, in explaining to officers and newspapermen why he had cashed two large bills in such a short time, said that he was a gambler and wanted some change in case he was able to get in a card game. He said that he was in this territory looking for two boys who he said "crooked" him out of $2,000 in a card game in Nashville, Tenn., recently.

The other two men arrested, were seen parked in an automobile near the bank and Corp. Jackson said he was told they were heard to say as he passed in his car something about they had better get out of town. They then left, local officers giving chase, but unable to catch them.

Officers in nearby towns were informed and a few hours later the two, who gave their names as T. N. Norris of Tahlequah, Okla., and Marshall Richard of California, were captured by officers in Wilson.

In their car police found a large supply of guns and ammunition. There were two Colt pistols of .45 calibre, a long-range Springfield rifle, a sawed-off Remington shotgun, a Winchester long-range rifle, a Browning automatic shotgun, a rapid-firing Vargus, shotgun shells, bullets of various calibre, a quantity of dum-dum bullets and a blackjack.

The two were caught by Detective C. P. Houtt, Officer P. R. Harris and State patrolman C. D. Cavanaugh. The pair at first claimed they were magazine salesmen and one of them said he would show the officers he was telling the truth. He reached into the back seat of the car, but the highway patrolman stopped him and looked in the rear seat himself. The officer then discovered the large supply of guns and ammunition.

Efforts last night to identify the three were unavailable but Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst and other Pitt county officers, after conferring with Apex officers by telephone said the descriptions of the men held at least partially fitted the description in the Apex robbery.

LaBelle, in jail at Farmville, denied any connection with the two held at Wilson. He admitted, however, having ridden in the car, but said he was picked up in Farmville. He claimed he hitch-hiked into the town. Officers were strong in their belief, however, the three were connected and openly expressed the opinion the trio were planning to rob the bank. LaBelle acting as a "snorter."

Whitehurst and Norris from the Wilson jail, said that a third man was with them and said they were supposed to meet him at the theatre in Wilson at a set time. They blamed "the dirty rat" with turn-blames (Continued on Page Seven)

AKSUM PRIESTS YIELD TO ITALY

Coptic priests in Ethiopia's holy city of Aksum were quick to surrender and pay homage when Italian forces seized the town. As a token of their peacefulness, a holy man (top) presented a Coptic cross to Gen. Nina Villasta, Italian commander, and the latter kissed it. ## HOLDING ACT IS HELD VOID

Federal Law Appears Headed For Supreme Court

Baltimore, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Tagged by a Federal district court judge with the label of unconstitutionality, the beleaguered Federal utilities holding company act today appeared headed for the United States Supreme Court, and another major test of New Deal legislation.

In a decision holding the measure invalid on four main grounds, Judge William C. Coleman flayed the 1935 congress for "flagrantly exceeding its lawful power" by its enactment. The act itself he said was "Grossly arbitrary, unreasonable and capricious."

He instructed the American States Public Service Company, therefore, to treat the act as "invalid and of no use and no effect."

Trustees of the company had contended in its complaint provisions of the law would make their reorganization plan impossible of completion. They asked for instruction and sought an opinion as to its constitutionality.

The raids were carried out by members of Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst's office and district federal men in Belvoir township.

D. C. Barrow, Jr., white, and Rufus Williams were taken at one of the stills and a negro by the name of Suggs at another. A white man at the distillery with Suggs made his escape.

One of the stills was in operation when the officers came upon them. The men surrounded the stills and rushed the attendants.

The three men captured were brought here and lodged in jail. Meanwhile officers continued to search for the fourth man.

Movement Seen to Remove Sandy Graham From Race

Forces Behind Move Not Coming Out In Open

LITTLE RESULTS ARE EXPECTED

Divergent Opinions as To Whether Move Will Aid or Hinder Candidate

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Nov. 8.—Some queer political maneuvering is going behind the scenes in connection with the gubernatorial campaign, which evidently has as its objective the elimination of Lieut. Gov. A. H. (Sandy) Graham from the race.

Just where this maneuvering is coming from or who is behind it, no one here seems to know and efforts to trace exports of these efforts to squeeze Sandy out of the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor have so far proved futile. Yet it is generally agreed in political circles here that an effort is undoubtedly being made to get Graham to withdraw from the forthcoming contest.

While some of Graham's supporters feel that talk of this rumored effort to force him out of the campaign may materially injure his chances of winning the nomination by building up a defeatist psychology and thus cause many of those who have been supporting him to become convinced that he cannot be nominated even if he does stay in the campaign, others believe all this talk will eventually help rather than injure his chances.

They maintain that in the end those who have started these rumors evidently with the purpose of discrediting Graham and his campaign, will suffer more than anyone else, when the reaction sets in. They also are convinced that these rumors are going to cause Sandy's friends and supporters to get out and work harder for him than ever before.

It is pointed out that opponents of the late Governor T. W. Tillet tried to remove him from the race for Governor and even tried to prevent his name going on the ticket by claiming that he had never formally announced as Governor. But his name went on the ticket just the same and he won the nomination. Accordingly the Graham supporters maintain that the chief reason his opponents are trying to force him out of the race by seeking to create the impression that he can't win the nomination anyway, is because they really fear him more than anyone else. But these efforts to frighten him and his supporters are not going to succeed, they maintain.

One of the reasons for the large amount of talk going the rounds concerning the possible withdrawal of Graham as a candidate is undoubtedly due to the unusual progress which most observers agree Dr. Ralph W. McDonald has been making and the belief among many of those opposed to McDonald that the opposition is going to have to center on one candidate in order to defeat him. And at the present time most of the opinion heard here recently seems to be to the effect that Graham rather than Clyde R. Hoy should withdraw. For the prevailing belief in most circles here at present is that Hoy is showing considerably more strength than McDonald and could easily defeat McDonald if Sandy should get out of the race.

The Graham supporters, however, maintain that if any one is to get out so that there will be only one leading candidate against McDonald, Hoy rather than Graham should withdraw.

They point out that Graham was the liberal candidate and Hoy the conservative one until McDonald got into the race as an ultra-liberal. They agree that the more extreme

KERR-SMITH TOBACCO CASE IS DISMISSED

Judge Hayes Refuses to Grant Injunction in Suit

RULES COURT HASN'T RIGHT

Plaintiffs Must Pay Taxes Then Bring Suit Jurist Decides In Winston-Salem

Winston-Salem, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Federal Judge Johnson J. Hayes today dismissed cases sponsored by the North Carolina Tobacco-Cotton Non-Tax Association and aimed against the constitutionality of the Kerr-Smith tobacco control act.

Judge Hayes ruled the court in equity has no right to issue an injunction as long as complainants were protected in the right to sue for refunds.

The plaintiffs were seeking an injunction against collection of taxes paid on excess tobacco rates.

It now becomes necessary for the plaintiff to pay the taxes, then to file suit for refund. It was said this course already has been started.

The plaintiffs also appealed.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

Washington By RAY TUCKER

VULNERABLE: Military experts shake their heads as they trace the Italian army's snake-like crawling through Ethiopia. Privately they predict Duce's troops will not reach Addis Ababa before the rainy season sets in again next March, halting all operations for seven months.

War students take all claims of Italian gains with a generous helping of salt. They dismiss General Graziani's air raids in the south as a sideshow — "Roman candles." Their eyes are fixed on the three northern columns. The invaders made only thirty miles the first month. Now they face 400 miles of rocky, mountainous and jagged terrain. Lengthening lines will offer ideal targets for Ethiopians now retreating with tantalizing deliberateness. Experts don't anticipate a real battle till the Italians have been allowed to penetrate about 200 miles.

Great Britain's attitude places Mussolini in a jam not generally understood. Liberally he doesn't know which way to turn. If he pushes ahead, and then is forced to relinquish a vast territory, the heart-breaking retreat may undermine loyalty of soldiers and people. But if he decides to bluff it through against a united Europe, the deeper he plunges the more vulnerable he becomes to sanctions and blockades.

Though he can't afford a delay, he halts for a month on the Adowa-Adigrat line because he hoped for

HIGH COURAGE

By Jeanne Bowman

SYNOPSIS:—Anne Farworth is now Nikki Nielsen, a member of the fishing colony at Union Town, instead of one of the leading anglers. She has always thought she was going to be a nurse, but she has changed her mind. She has become a fisherman. She has become a fisherman. She has become a fisherman.

Chapter 30
FARLEY MAKES TROUBLE
Anne, puffed the growing unrest at first, for John had warned everyone that she was to be kept from knowing the truth of things if possible, for her own safety.

At first she was concerned only with delight in her growing knowledge and increasing strength. Her slim body was rounding, her skin becoming a dusky gold, cheeks and lips flushed with scarlet. The mop of curls, cut short so they could be pushed under her cap, were the color of sage honey.

And then, as she found bed of an evening less attractive, she began to notice a change in Lissa. She would come in worn out in spirit as well as in body.

"Lissa," said Anne one Sunday, "won't you tell me what's wrong?" "I don't know," the woman admitted, "of course we have more work with this run, but it's something else, something in the air. Things aren't harmonious like they were when Mr. Luke was alive."

"What things, Lissa?" "Oh, I don't know, Tom Farley's relatives, the place is running over with them and they all want to boss. If I hadn't worked there seventeen years I'd try to find another job."

Tom Farley. At the mention of that name, Anne retreated to her corner overlooking the Pacific, while memories of the past rushed over her. Lee hadn't told Judge Kellogg of the outcome of his investigation, though she'd heard nothing much from the fishermen. She sensed trouble, rather than knew of it. Farley was unquestionably working with Rob Crocker, and the two wouldn't give up easily.

She went to work the next morning in thoughtful mood. A grey day, a silver grey day, she decided, as they started out on a sea as smooth and shining as an aluminum tray. She watched the world turn from grey to blue as a gentle rain blew up. This would be good for her garden and she wanted it a blaze of colors when John returned.

When John returned, her days revolved about that thought. On the drift, after supper was over, she let the little galley cleaned, she sat outside thinking of him.

Some day they would sit there, bobbing like blots on the water, watching other boats, catching the first glimpse of the Cape light.

And then her reverie was interrupted. George had jumped to his feet and was looking towards Astoria. "Look at that fool," he shouted to Orvi, pointing to a small cruiser ducking in front of a big freighter, tooting derisively. "He must be drunk."

The boat careened, seemed to sight the "Nikki" idling on her drift, and darted towards them. George jumped to the roof of the cabin and began waving and shouting. Orvi turned on the searchlight and directed it towards the buoy lights.

BUT on the cruiser came. Anne looked at George, he was standing still now, like a statue. Orvi, too, seemed numb; only the men in the nearby gillnetters were sounding sirens, cutting whistles.

"The boat cut in between two buoy lights. Stopped." "On purpose, he did it!" cried Orvi, suddenly articulate, as the buoy lights were drenched.

And now to the din was added the sound of cursing aboard the boat. "He's tangled his propeller in our nets," Orvi wailed, and then he broke into Planish and Anne, understanding, longed to join him.

SYNOPSIS:—As Nikki Nielsen, Anne Farworth is living among the fishermen of Union Town, trying to learn something about Lee's past, to find out what is going on between the fishermen and the Farworths. Anne is a member of the fishing colony at Union Town, instead of one of the leading anglers. She has always thought she was going to be a nurse, but she has changed her mind. She has become a fisherman.

Chapter 31
STORM SIGNAL
"IETS forget Tom Farley," she begged, "let's laugh at him. I'll buy a new net, and next winter after you've mended your old one we'll try to sell it."

Relieved, and with Anne's check for a new net in their hands, the boys went back to the house, and Anne turned to Tecla.

"There's a letter in your room, Nikki," she said. "There were two, enclosed in one envelope from Judge Kellogg's office. Anne opened the one in his hand writing first.

Dear Anne, by the time you receive this I'll be on my way to the first vacation I've had in ten years. Jennie's doctor decided there was nothing wrong with her but nerves and advised a sea trip, so we're heading south to San Francisco.

Dear Anne, by the time you receive this I'll be on my way to the first vacation I've had in ten years. Jennie's doctor decided there was nothing wrong with her but nerves and advised a sea trip, so we're heading south to San Francisco.

clean from where we'll embark on the first of the month for a South American cruise. I'm glad you're getting along so well. That snap-shot you sent was evidence enough; never saw you look finer.

Well, be a good girl and take care of yourself. I'll see you around the holidays. Can't you plan to stop up to Portland and have Thomas bring dinner with us? John says he has made your home with us, and hoping this finds you cheerful.

Anne laid the letter down, a queer sinking feeling taking possession of her. Another mainstay gone. One that she needed.

The second letter came from Jack Hill, with an enclosure. Anne read Hill's brief note saying the enclosed had arrived after Kellogg's departure, and he felt she was interested.

I beg to tell you that I have carried out the secret investigation suggested. I have found nothing to support your charges. I believe they were instigated by enemies of the two young men, and ask you to inform those parties that further interference by act or instigation will be handled by law.

"Uncle Lee didn't write that," Anne murmured, "it isn't like him. He'd ramble, and explain his explanation. That sounds like Rob."

WELL, she sighed, it was useless to hope for correction in that quarter. She walked out into the other room. There was someone at the door. Lissa opened it and Molly Noonan entered, red hair gleaming, blue eyes dancing.

"Nikki, they've had a badogram at the Union. The 'Star of Lapsland' sails in the morning for home."

URGE HUNTERS TO BE CAREFUL

Sportsmen Warned Of Shooting Near CCC Camps

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Nov. 8.—Look where you shoot while afield hunting, especially in the vicinity of Civilian Conservation Corps camps, J. D. Clark, State Game and Inland Fisheries Commissioner of North Carolina, admonishes.

Another class of camps particularly beneficial to wildlife is the group of 22 operated under the direction of the Soil Service. One of the features of these operations consists in the planting of trees and shrubs for the control of erosion and also for the dual purpose of furnishing food.

With thousands of these emergency conservation workers in the field, Mr. Clark declared that serious accidents may result if hunters are not cautious with their shots. He requests that every hunter familiarize himself with the location of camps and field work before taking the field.

The state game commissioner passes on a request from Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work, that hunters refrain from firing within the range of any work project in North Carolina.

"Your splendid response for the past two years to my request to help reduce the hazards of men in Emergency Conservation work engaged in work projects in your state, prompts me again to solicit your aid," wrote Mr. Fechner. "With approach of the hunting season, this suggestion has special pertinency."

"I request that all hunters refrain from hunting within rifle range of any work project in your state and that, so far as may be appropriate and consistent with your power, you authorize such regulations as may be necessary."

Mr. Clark pointed out that virtually every phase of work engaged in by the CCC camps is beneficial to wildlife, either directly or indirectly. Particularly is the task of forest fire control helpful to wildlife in that fire not only destroys the breeding places and sources of food of game but that it often maims and destroys a considerable amount of wildlife, he pointed out.

U. N. C. Alumni Directors Convene This Saturday

Chapel Hill, Nov. 8.—Directors of the General Alumni Association of the University of North Carolina will meet in Chapel Hill Saturday, November 9, for the annual Fall session.

J. Raper Erwin, Jr., of Durham, vice-president, will preside in the absence of President Howard E. Rossiter, of Winston-Salem. Dr. Rossiter is recuperating at Cliff Springs, N. Y., from the effects of an accident he suffered in England last summer.

Mr. King said there will be no charge for this service, and that if only take a few minutes for a car to be tested for lack of pep, hard starting, or any other minor things that cause the car to run badly or use an excessive amount of gasoline. The test will be free, with recommendations made as to how to eliminate the trouble.

Mr. Brand is visiting the larger cities in the South, having been in Richmond, Norfolk, Newport News and Portsmouth the past few weeks.

Souls For Sale In Pompeii

In the barbaric days of Rome in the year one, a paramount industry was the traffic in human lives as will be shown in "Last Days of Pompeii" coming to the Pitt Saturday and Monday. The rich Romans needed dancing girls for their festivals and servants to care for their lavish needs. Another need that these slaves filled was that of arena fodder. The Roman idea of fun was to see human lives blotted out in vicious conflicts in their giant amphitheatres. The wholesale slaughter demanded by pagan carnivals put a terrific strain on the slaves market and brought high prices to dealers in human souls.

Austrian Hangman Destitute

Vienna (AP)—Franz Cauffer, sued for back alimony by his former wife, testified he was an executioner by trade but couldn't afford to pay the sums alleged due because the bottom had fallen out of his business. It was otherwise in 1934, he said, when Austria was hanging hebeles.

In Times Square

In "Times Square" one of Cornelia Otis Skinner's original modern sketches, she impersonates eight different women: an Italian gum seller, a chorus girl, a society woman on her way to the theatre, an office girl, a Southern girl in New York, a wife with an ailing husband, a tough girl with a sailor, and a dope fiend, and once again the Italian gum seller.

This is one of the four modern dramatic character sketches Miss Skinner has on her program to be given at the college on next Wednesday night, Nov. 13. "The Nurse's Day Out," "The Hotel Porch," and "Being Presented" are the titles of the other original character sketches she will give, and the titles themselves suggest the situation. As a rule Miss Skinner likes to see her audiences before she decides which of her original modern character sketches she will give, but this time she sent the above to be printed on her program.

The big one-actress play that is a succession of scenes is "The Wives of Henry the VIII." She presents each of the six wives at some crisis in her life: Catherine of Aragon, Anne Boleyn, Jane Seymour, Anne of Cleves, Kathryn Howard and Katherine Parr.

Tickets will be placed on sale at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon and will be on sale at the place advertised each afternoon through Wednesday, from 2 to 5:30 o'clock.

Persian Missionary To Be The Speaker At Evening Service

Rev. Yonan H. Shahbaz, missionary of the Persian Baptist Mission Committee, to Persia, will be the speaker at the Sunday evening service, 7:30 o'clock, at Memorial Baptist Church.

The Persian Baptist Mission Committee, of which Mr. Shahbaz is the representative, was organized by the late Robert Stuart MacArthur, D. D., LL. D., in 1900. Dr. MacArthur had long known and loved this missionary, having received him into the membership of Calvary Baptist Church by baptism in 1892, and after completing his studies at Colgate University, Mr. Shahbaz was ordained at Calvary Church, and set apart with his wife, for mission work in Persia. Mr. Shahbaz has retained the great confidence of his American friends throughout the years.

For seventeen years he labored as the missionary of this committee to the Persians. During those years he established three churches, and gathered two other congregations which were about to be organized into churches. Over five hundred converts were baptized in the mission. Besides the churches, there were twelve out stations, eight Bible schools, and six day schools. This great work was sadly interrupted by the World War.

And now—quite providentially—the Persian Christians who were first converted and later provided with food, by their beloved leader and friend, have again turned to him and are imploring him to return to them as their spiritual shepherd. Now that the conditions are becoming more favorable for missionary work among the Persians, he feels that he must respond to their urgent call and return to reestablish the work.

Mr. Shahbaz is fully endorsed in his work by prominent ministers of both the North and South, and he is thus presented to Greenville with the assurance that his message will bring real spiritual blessing.

World Weed Use Expected To Gain During Next Year

Cotton Consumption Is Not Quite So Favorable, Department of Agriculture Reports

Raleigh, Nov. 8.—World consumption of American tobacco is expected to increase next year, but the outlook for cotton is not quite so favorable.

Under present conditions, American tobacco seems to be in a better position than cotton to meet foreign competition, according to figures supplied Dean I. O. Schaub of State College, by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

With a continuation of production control, he said, the tobacco price outlook for 1935 appears good. Consumption in this country is increasing steadily. Exports have declined, but an effort is being made to recover foreign trade.

During the past year, the world consumption of American cotton dropped 2,200,000 bales. Most of the loss was in foreign countries, where more use is being made of cottons grown outside the United States. In this country, consumption dropped about six per cent.

The supply of American cotton for the 1935-36 season will probably be slightly larger than last year and about the same as the 1923-24 average, Dean Schaub said.

Production increased this year, but a smaller amount of cotton was carried over from the 1934-35 season. The carry-over from this season may be somewhat larger.

Last year, the dean continued, 93

Farmers Are Urged To Turn Attention To Fixing Up Farms

Raleigh, Nov. 8.—During the winter months, when the rush of cultivating and harvesting crops is over, farmers should turn their attention to making improvements about the farmstead.

There are many things to be looked after, says Dr. H. B. Mann, fertility agronomist at State College, and no good farmer can afford to neglect them.

Often there are fences that need to be repaired or replaced. Ditches should be cleaned out, and gutters or washes should be fixed to check further erosion.

Slack days in winter afford a good opportunity to make needed repairs or alterations to the house, barn, and smaller outbuildings. A little money and work spent on painting is always a good investment, Dr. Mann said.

Plans should be made for next year's crop. If certain fields have not been producing satisfactorily, steps should be taken to improve them before planting more cash crops on them.

County farm agents, vocational agricultural teachers, and State College extension specialists are always glad to help with these problems, Dr. Mann pointed out.

In November is a good time to apply lime. Lime applied during this month has time to react with the soil before the next crop is planted. But before lime is applied, the soil should be tested to ascertain how much it needs.

The corn plant has more than 1,000 possible industrial uses.

Republican Elected Philadelphia Mayor

Chosen mayor of Philadelphia, S. David Wilson is shown receiving congratulations by telephone on leading the Republicans to victory. He defeated John B. Kelly, Democrat, by 47,000 votes. The race, expected to indicate sentiment toward the 1936 presidential election, attracted nation-wide attention. (Associated Press Photo)

ed up the price of the metal. Financial experts say the Chinese are quite correct in blaming our policy for their troubles.

The threat of international complications is more apparent than real. The Japanese would be no end annoyed if the British should give the opportunity to link China directly to sterling and extend their influence by advancing credits. But the British will do nothing so crude. They have plenty of trouble already without getting Japan on their backs. Insiders predict they will dip into some way to add China to the sterling bloc via the yen and thus have the Japanese in a cleft stick in their monetary net without offending them. London is good at subtleties of that sort.

The practical effect of China's action here will be nil. The treasury can still get all the silver it wants—and more. However, observers doubt that Secretary Morgenthau will shed tears if the reversal of Chinese properties about the Far East should help to discredit their program at home.

A more beautiful city as a memorial to our late Mayor Roy C. Flanagan as suggested at last night's session of the Board of Aldermen would certainly be a most fitting memorial and we sincerely hope that the program will be one that will continue from year to year. During his administration Mr. Flanagan not only used his efforts in behalf of a better city in which to live but likewise urged a more beautiful city and often talked of plans for a program of obtaining such a goal. In view of his desires along this line our city could not pay his memory a more fitting tribute than to carry out this unfulfilled dream of his.

Monday is Armistice Day and it is to be hoped that all business houses that can do so will close for the exercises at the college at least. In order that their employees, especially ex-service men, might have the opportunity to take part in the day's activities. Armistice Day means much to the ex-service men, for it marks the day on which the carnage on the battlefields of the world war ended, and certainly those who took part in the conflict should have this annual opportunity to take part in celebrating the end of the world war. There are some business houses that probably cannot close for Armistice Day but at least they might arrange for the ex-service men to have the time off.

The Board of Aldermen did well to place a ban on fortune tellers operating in this city. Last year's experience here when several local citizens sustained heavy losses at the hands of alleged fortune tellers certainly warrants an ordinance here keeping such schemes from being perpetrated on our people.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Continued from Page One—a way out—and back. It was due to diplomatic as much as military considerations.

GUERRILLA: American military observers attached to the belligerents expect to pick up valuable information. The fact that a completely modernized army is clashing with poorly equipped tribesmen explains why the United States asked for orchestra seats at a conflict for the first time since the early days of the World War.

On the Italian side our staff wants to study logistics rather than tactics. Logistics is the science by which a nation builds roads, guards them, forwards supplies and then repeats the trick after the next advance. Second in importance is the means by which Italy's medical service fights off disease in a tropical fever-ridden country. Another reason not even whispered about, to discover how Mussolini maintains the morale of his men under such adverse conditions—if he does. The first question army observers want answered is—has Il Duce kept from his soldiers news of mobilization of world opinion against his venture? Several divisions from northern Italy are reported as communist-minded.

Not since the conquest of the Philippines—except for the brief foray into Mexico in 1914—have our strategists had a chance to observe guerrilla warfare. The Ethiopians are acknowledged to excel at this form of hit-and-run fighting. We want to know how they do it—and how to combat such tactics. Nobody explains our curiosity on the subject.

CLUES: Treasury agents dub the late "Dutch" Schultz the most accommodating gangster in criminal history. Slain on October 22, the erstwhile beer baron and entered all profit-and-loss items on his ledgers to midnight of October 22. His neat, conscientious accounts would shame many a reputable business man. He recorded to the penny the sums dished out for lawyers, accountants, body guards, "outside" payroll, flowers, funerals, whisky (for personal use), state and federal income tax, New York City sales tax, to "fix" income tax. He listed money paid out to winners in his "numbers" racket as "hits." He set down his profits as "cash won." Funds handed over for police or political protection were described as "ice."

His books have a special value to Uncle Sam's sleuths. Schultz had a deserved reputation as an enterprising, ingenious racketeer. Go home and underworld lords had blocked him from resuming control of his old games, and so he was engaged in exploring new territory for his deceptions at the time he was shot. If the federales can decipher his books and run down the clues, they may discover the direction tomorrow's racketeers will take.

MUZZLES: Presidential medicine men are in a stew over the kind of poison to feed hostile critics and candidates between now and next November. The experts' class accounts for several concoctions, acutely acknowledged to leave a bad taste.

The two hotspots—Harold Ickes and Harry Hopkins—have been growing because publicist M. E. handles issues and personalities so seriously. They insist on kidding and ridiculing the opposition. Ickes' example is Ickes' retort that Ickes Johnson suffers from "mental middle sores" and Hopkins' "thin dime" denunciation of All London's luggering.

Hopkins' flarup roused Michigan where the skin is tendered. It came while the official press agent was preparing a calculated analysis of the Kansas Governor's financial record. Now, Michigan wonders if the quick reiteration of the "thin dime" crack will take the edge off his effort. Mr. Roosevelt, who is supposed to have told a friend that he "killed the American Liberty League with a watercrack" will be asked to muddle his physicians. M. E. will be asked to buy the muddle if the President will agree to apply it.

New York
By JAMES McMULLIN
BRAKES: New York shares find evidence in three recent developments that Washington is more concerned about a potential boom and crash than it cares to let on. One is the abrupt change in the inner attitude of the Securities Exchange Commission since the announcement that Mike Meehan was to be called on the carpet. Where formerly its investigations of suspicious stock movements were largely a matter of going through the motions, it is now digging for dirt in earnest.

Second, the Treasury and the Federal Reserve board are getting agitated about the excess reserves of member banks—which crossed the $2,000,000,000 mark last week—for the first time. They haven't yet decided what to do about them but at least they are taking a new attitude that something ought to be done.

Third is Secretary Wallace's concern about the rising trend in the price of farm land—largely induced by city slicker interest in rural plots as a hedge against inflation. The Secretary fears that farmers—rural and city dwelling—will get an exaggerated idea of the value of land and over-reach themselves to buy more as they did pre-'29—which was one of the main reasons the depression hit them so hard. These three items together indicate a sudden awareness that the economic machine needs brakes as well as an accelerator.

FLEXIBLE: Financial insiders understand that the Securities Exchange Commission—as a result of its recent burst of investigating activity—has the goods on several other large stock market operators besides Mike Meehan.

But they don't necessarily imply a series of public sensations. Word is that the Commission—or its chief in the White House—feels that the market rise should be toned down now or allowed to ride a while in power. Vigorous enforcement of anti-speculative provisions in the law would certainly dampen bullish enthusiasm—the trouble is it might put the fire out entirely, and that wouldn't be so good either.

Ken chatters remark that in this case—a case—for evidence already precedes the value of flexibility. By making crack-ups of market professionals a matter of policy rather than law it is able to exert an important influence on market movements in whatever direction.

DISCREDIT: New York hopes the silverites are happy now that China has been forced off silver—after all that lovely talk about how it would help the Orient if we jettisoned it.

rection he sees fit. The SEC is said to be awaiting his pleasure in the matter.

REASON: The new margin rules for bank loans on security collateral tie in with our recent prediction that the banks will not be allowed to contribute to a topheavy climb and subsequent collapse by over-optimistic extension of speculative credit.

By making margin requirements for banks identical with those imposed by the Securities Exchange Commission on brokers all question of special advantage is barred. The credit machine can be managed as a unit to keep market advances within reason. At the same time the exemption of existing loans from the new regulations prevents any damage from forced liquidation.

SEPARATE: An inside analysis of what has happened to that famous $4,000,000,000 for work relief shows tiny potatoes to date. Up to the first of the month the puny sum of $60,000,000 had actually been spent on WPA projects. Only $13,000,000 of $200,000,000 appropriated for highways and only $5,000,000 of $200,000,000 for grade crossing elimination was actually allotted under contract.

However, the pace will step up from here on. $170,000,000 will be spent on WPA work for November—then $200,000,000 a month from December through February. The President has not okayed any relief program beyond that time—another indication that the system is to be changed. Informed sources understand that Harry Hopkins still stands well at the White House despite sharp criticism of his methods by advisers who are currently closest to the President.

Whatever happens to the relief problem you can count on one thing. Public works and relief will be completely disentangled from each other. PDR is said to be convinced by experience that public works are about as useful as a solution for reemployment as a theatre ticket to a man in jail.

Voters Of Greenville

Our Board of Aldermen has postponed election of a Mayor for a few days. Several persons have been suggested for the office, one of whom is H. H. Duncan, who is now acting as Mayor of our city and who for several years has been Mayor Pro-tem. We believe he has faithfully performed his duties. Now in all fairness don't you believe Duncan should be named Mayor for the remainder of this term that our city may in a measure compensate him for the time he has given the city with practically no pay? See your Alderman and ask him or her to support Duncan.

(This Space contributed by the Friends of Herman H. Duncan, who believe that our Alderman acted wisely when they chose him as Mayor Pro-Tem of the City of Greenville.)

Wolfpack To Meet VPI Tomorrow at Portsmouth Field

College Station, Raleigh, Nov. 8.—North Carolina State's Wolfpack will cross over into Virginia tonight for its Southern Conference game tomorrow with V. P. I. at Portsmouth. The game will start at 2:30 and will be played in Washington Street Park.

The Wolfpack will entrain tonight at 9:05 and will go from here to Norfolk where it will make its headquarters at the Monticello Hotel until time for the game at Portsmouth. Coach Hunk Anderson will take three full teams to Virginia.

Several new faces may appear in State's starting eleven tomorrow as Coach Anderson has several second stringers a chance on the first club this week. Pete Kuzma, big soph fullback, has been doing some fine blocking and running and may start in the backfield of Charlie Gadd, quarter; and Eddie Berlinki and Howard Barnes, halfbacks.

Gonnie Mac Berry, brilliant sophomore pass receiving end, may get the call at right end, and Mason Bugg, big 220 pound junior, stands a fine chance of starting at left tackle. The other line jobs will be occupied by the regulars: Mac Cara, left end; Vince Farrar, right tackle; Captain Barnes Worth and Alex Regdon, guards, and brilliant Steve Sabol, center.

Coach Anderson said today that it was doubtful if Cowboy Robinson would play Saturday. Robinson was injured in the Georgia and Manhattan games and played less than half a minute against Carolina last week. Jake Mahoney, sophomore fullback, and Jess Tatum, regular right end, also will miss the game. Mahoney, however, will make the trip.

V. P. I. defeated State, 7-6, at Portsmouth last fall and the Wolfpack is expecting another hard game. The back the Pack will seek to stop is Foots Dickerson who does nine tenths of his team's kicking, passing and running. V. P. I. defeated South Carolina, 27-0, last week and Dickerson scored all the points.

Carolina Battles VMI Saturday In Conference Game

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 8.—Carolina makes its third entrance into Southern Conference circles tomorrow when it battles the Keydets of V. M. I. here. The game starts at 2 o'clock.

Coach Carl Snavely will have the full Tar Heel strength to throw into the important Conference game in the attempt to clinch up Carolina's seventh consecutive victory and maintain its national rating. The complete first string is ready and will start the game.

Although Coach Snavely would have liked to have turned his full attention to the all-important Duke game next week, he has had to prepare heavily for the Keydets. Last week the Flying Squadron reached its height in toppling William and Mary 19-0 and killing the high hopes of the latter for a State title.

The Keydets are pointed for Carolina, according to reports from the Lexington camp. Coach Bill Rafferty has his men ready. Led by the scintillating sophomore, "Wild Bill" Rogerson, and his running mate, Way Clark, the Keydets are planning to release a flashy attack in their attempt to pull an upset over the Tar Heels.

Rogerson leads the fancy passing attack and will give the vaunted Tar Heel Aerial defense one of its biggest tests so far this season. Clark is the No. 1 man on the running invasion.

Don Jackson, triple threat who is being mentioned widely for All-America honors, will carry the brunt of the Carolina attack. His running passing and punting are invaluable to the Carolina offense and his defensive play has been superb. Jim Hutchens shapes the lead role on the running while Dick Buck is the No. 1 pass-snagger.

Duke Anxious To Wins Saturday But Will Have to Fight

Durham, N. C., Nov. 8.—Anxious to win the game so they may go into their annual classic with North Carolina undefeated in the Big Five as well as the Southern conference, Duke's Blue Devils are expected to offer one of their best games against Davidson's Wildcats Saturday.

Duke has not played a Big Five game since they met Wake Forest the middle of September. Since then they have won three Southern conference victories and a win over the Wildcats would set the stage for the crucial battle in both those loops when Carolina's great Tar Heels invade Duke stadium a week from Saturday.

The Blue Devils will probably need their best game Saturday

DEATH SAYS BENEDICTION FOR BILLY SUNDAY

No longer will Billy Sunday exhort his converts to "hit the sawdust trail"—as he did from one end of the country to the other for 39 years. The famous evangelist, who turned from professional baseball to the pulpit, died of a heart attack while visiting relatives in Chicago. At the right is a recent picture of him as he appeared at 72 years of age. At the left he is seen in a characteristic pulpit pose during his heyday. (Associated Press Photos)

Davidson is about the same size as the Wademen, probably a bit heavier in the line and they have had two full weeks to get ready for the game.

Another thing that will make this game hard for the Blue Devils is that it will be Home-Coming day for the Wildcats and Duke has played them before on that date. The Blue Devils and Coach Wallace Wade have to greatest respect to Davidson due to past records. In 1931, they tied Coach Wade's first team, 0-0, and were knocking on the touchdown door as the game ended.

Grantland Rice May See Annual Duke-N.C. Clash

Durham, N. C., Nov. 8.—Grantland Rice, famous sports authority, may attend the annual classic between Duke and North Carolina in Duke stadium, November 16, according to word received here today.

W. W. (Monte) Wells, business associate of Rice, in writing to make reservations for the game said the noted sports writer was trying to arrange his affairs so he could make the trip to this section. Wells has attended numerous games in North Carolina for the past two years. He saw the Duke-Tennessee and Duke-Carolina games of 1933 and the Duke-Carolina game at Chapel Hill last year.

Wells, who among other duties edits football and baseball dope books for Rice, closely follows football in this section and has not missed selecting correctly all games

When Sluggishness Causes Distress After Meals Take BLACK-DRAUGHT

The good that Black-Draught does in the relief of constipation makes it one of the most popular laxatives of its kind. Thousands of men and women keep it in their homes for prompt use at the first sign of intestinal sluggishness.

"I take Black-Draught for constipation that causes a disagreeable feeling after meals, bloating, bad taste and excessive gas," writes Mrs. Eugene West of Dothan, Ala. "I can cleanse my system and regulate my bowels with Black-Draught and I do not have this trouble. I find Black-Draught splendid. I recommend it to others. My husband takes Black-Draught and it helps him."

Black-Draught is purely vegetable. Sold in 25-cent packages.

SPORT SLANTS

Frequently in recent years, one has noticed famous football names of a generation ago cropping up in the collegiate lineups and summaries with little "jr's" attached. The younger generation of Staggs, Heslons, Pages and other great names have done little to endanger the reputations of their famous daddies, but then perhaps too much was expected of them because of the names they bore.

Right now young Bill Spaulding is a member of the University of California at Los Angeles football squad which is coached by his father. The younger Spaulding is one of the most promising backs Coach Spaulding has in the ranks.

Navy Has A Junior At Annapolis, Midshipman Bill Ingram is carrying on the name his father made famous in Navy football. Old "Navy Bill" coached at Annapolis for years and then resigned to take up the coaching duties at the University of California, where he continued to teach football until late last fall when he decided to retire from the field. Tuss McLaughry, Brown coach can look forward to better days for he has two sons coming along, and reports hee it that the youngsters have the makings of real football players. Andy Kerr's son will soon be wearing the Colgate colors on the gridiron and doing what he can to put over his father's ball-passing tricks.

he has seen played here. He picked Duke over Tennessee in 1933, Duke over Carolina the same year, and North Carolina over Duke last year. This year, he again selects Carolina over Duke.

There is a peculiar situation at Notre Dame. Coach Elmer Layden knows that his kid brother Mike is a fine ball carrier, but does not use him as often as he would like for fear of being accused of showing favoritism. Elmer leans over backward trying not to show Mike any preference with the result that they both suffer. Mike, because he is not getting the opportunity he deserves, and Elmer, because he deprives himself of the full benefit of brother Mike's powerful plunging and blocking.

There have been plenty of brother acts on the gridiron, even several instances where brother opposed brother, but here is a unique situation involving brothers.

There is a peculiar situation at Notre Dame. Elmer leans over backward trying not to show Mike any preference with the result that they both suffer. There have been plenty of brother acts on the gridiron, even several instances where brother opposed brother, but here is a unique situation involving brothers.

British Labor Hopes To Win Election; Promises Nation Sweeping 'New Deal,'

(Second in a Series)
 By HAROLD P. BRAMAN
 LONDON (AP)—The labor party hopes for victory in the general election on November 14 and promises Britain, if it wins, a sweeping new deal that will put the plans of the present government and the proposals of David Lloyd George in the shade, a party spokesman said.

He added that party leaders feel that labor's stock has been booming and that of the government declining.

Things are too uncertain to chance a guess, he pointed out. He said the Iraq-Abyssinian situation and Lloyd George's re-entry into active politics were two factors which might help to swing the tide toward labor in a far more pronounced fashion than could have been expected a few months ago.

British New Deal Claimed.
 Labor regards itself as the original new deal party of Britain, claiming it began proposing modern methods of attacking economic ills immediately after the world war and that the government, Lloyd George and others are mere "copyists."

The laborites, however, the spokesman asserted, have no intention of doing anything unconstitutional and there definitely will be no socialist dictatorship, he declared.

Labor's new deal would involve great state employment schemes, including public works, housing and industrial expansion and socializa-

Roll Call Chairman Calls Attention To Important Meet
 Rev. W. A. Ryan Calls Upon All Workers in Red Cross Campaign to Attend Meeting Saturday

Rev. W. A. Ryan, chairman of the Red Cross Roll Call, today called attention of all workers to the importance of the meeting to be held in the Eighth Street Christian Church tomorrow, Saturday, night at 7:30 o'clock.

While this will be a short meeting, its importance cannot be over emphasized, Rev. W. A. Ryan said. All committee chairmen, group leaders and canvassers are asked to use every effort to attend. The city has been divided into blocks, one of each of which will be assigned to a worker. These assignments, together with the necessary supplies, will be given out tomorrow night. The assignments are short and can be covered in two hours or less, depending upon the number of pre-roll call subscriptions.

On Sunday morning there will be representatives in each of the Greenville churches. If those attending church at the morning hour will register at that time the actual canvassing will be materially reduced. Another aid in this matter will be for those who are downtown to drop into headquarters at Hill Horne's drug store, register row and save both themselves and the canvassers time and trouble next week.

In the past years, while Pitt County as a whole has made a fairly good showing in Red Cross enrollment, Greenville as one of the county units has not shown up so well. Instead of a little more than four hundred memberships last year, Greenville should have had fifteen hundred.

Chairman Ryan said: "We must not let our community lag behind. The people of Greenville are as interested in Red Cross and as liberal in their giving as any people anywhere. All that is needed is to reach them. The success of this work will be in direct ratio to the number of people who will do the actual work of calling. If we have a hundred workers we shall have a thousand members; if there are only twenty-five workers we shall have two hundred fifty members. Hence the urgent call for a full attendance at tomorrow night's meeting. Seven-thirty at the Eighth Street Christian church. Let's go!"

Armistice Plans For Nov. 11th Are Announced

Pitt County Post No. 39 of American Legion Making Plans for Big Celebration Here

Plans for an Armistice Day program to be held at East Carolina Teachers college auditorium next Monday under the auspices of the Pitt County Post No. 39 of the American Legion are nearing completion.

Senator Paul D. Grady of Smithfield, president pro-tem of the 1935 Legislature and a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, will be the principal speaker.

The members and all ex-service men, as well as members of the U. D. C., Gold Star Mothers, Legion Auxiliary and others are scheduled to gather in the auditorium promptly at 10:30 a. m. The program proper will get underway at 10:55, giving time to complete preliminaries in time for the 1-o'clock Silent Prayer, observing the exact time the Armistice was signed November 11, 1918.

A barbecue dinner at the college will bring the program to a climax. County officers will be closed during the entire day, while those of the city government will close at 11 o'clock for the day. The Board of Aldermen at its meeting last night decided on the 11 o'clock closing hour.

The board urged all business houses unable to close for the day to cease business activities during the period from 11 to one o'clock in order that their employees, especially ex-service men, have an opportunity to attend the program.

But they also maintain that a majority of the middle-of-the-road liberals are still sticking to Graham and will continue to stick.

But if Graham should withdraw or be forced out of the campaign, a majority of these moderate liberals would go over to the McDonald rather than to Hoey, according to many of Sandy's backers. Accordingly, those who want to center on a single candidate in order to defeat McDonald should get behind Graham rather than Hoey, they maintain.

The Hoey supporters, however, are equally sure that the Shelby orator will poll more votes than Graham and that he would make a much better run against McDonald than Graham would.

BALM TRIAL BE UP AGAIN

F. Brandon Smith Suit To Be Aired During December

Charlotte, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The second trial of $200,000 heart balm suit of F. Brandon Smith, Charlotte real estate dealer, against his former father-in-law, Joseph F. Cannon, Concord textile millionaire, today was set for a term of superior court, starting here December 2.

Smith charges Cannon with alienating the affections of his former wife, Anne Cannon Smith, and brought pressure on her to obtain a divorce from him in Hot Springs, Ark. At the first trial last May a jury awarded Smith $125,000 but Judge W. F. Harding, set aside the verdict as excessive.

The Cannon heiress married Smith after being divorced from Smith Reynolds, millionaire playboy who was killed after a gay party at Reynolds, the Reynolds mansion at Winston-Salem three years ago.

MEMORIAL TO LATE MAYOR DISCUSSED BY ALDERMEN

The board ordered an ordinance drawn prohibiting commercial or other advertising in this city by the placing of banners across the streets unless special permission is granted by the board.

A resolution was adopted permitting the sale of fireworks in this city from December 1, 1935 to January 1, 1936 and children of the city will be permitted to shoot fireworks during the Christmas holidays on their own premises.

Under an act of the last session of the General Assembly Greenville would receive $4,600 for maintenance and repairs of city streets designated as state highways. This fund has been tendered the city for repair of these streets but the board last night ordered a formal request made to the Highway and Public Works Commission to retain the fund and have the work done instead of the city having it done. It was pointed out that the city lacked certain equipment for carrying out the work as specified and that it would be more costly for the city to do the work than to have the state commission take care of it.

The fire committee of the aldermen headed by Joe M. Taft reported that attendance at all fires and fire drills had been excellent and the committee as well as the fire department was commended by the board for the good work being done here.

An ordinance that would prohibit palmists, phrenologists and other kinds of fortune tellers from carrying on their trades in this city was ordered drawn.

The street committee was ordered to go into the matter of checking up on the one hour parking zones in the city, revamp the zones as appeared necessary and the police department will then be ordered to strictly enforce them by the city within the prescribed zones.

The board ordered the city offices closed at 11 o'clock Monday and remain closed for the remainder of the day in observance of Armistice Day and Acting Mayor Duncan was instructed to urge all local business houses to observe closing hours at least from a few minutes before 11 o'clock A. M. until one P. M. to permit employees, especially ex-service men to take part in the Armistice Day program here.

A special committee was appointed to get all possible information regarding the traffic situation in this city together with the costs of necessary traffic lights and report at the next regular meeting of the board.

The matter of appointment of a mayor to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mayor Roy C. Flanagan was not brought up at last night's meeting having previously been set for hearing at a special meeting to be held on November 19th. The board last night formerly extended its condolences to the family of the late mayor and announced that formal resolutions would be presented the press within the near future.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Soaring utilities held virtually the entire play in today's market. The buying rush for the power issues followed yesterday's federal decision declaring unconstitutional the holding company law passed by the last congress.

A total of 1,310,000 shares changed hands in the first hour. The ticker tape was several minutes behind during the greater part of the hour.

Subsequently the tape slowed as profit taking appeared among recent industrial favorites and utilities shaded their best prices.

The late tone was firm. Transfers approximately 3,400,000 shares.

New York Cotton

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, four to seven, advance on higher Liverpool cables and foreign trade buying in anticipation of today's bureau report.

The open demand sent December up to 11.20 or within three points of the high touched shortly before the publication of the crop report on October 8. May sold at 11.07, making gains of about six to seven, but the demand was supplied by southern selling or hedging and the market reacted slightly after the call, with prices about three to four higher at end of first half hour.

The official crop figures were considered below expectation and their publication was followed by an advance. The market at midday was quiet but steady, within a point or two of the best, showing net advances of 19 to 20 points. Futures closed steady 15-17 higher. Spots steady middling 11.70.

FRANCE TRIES AAA PLAN TO BOOST WINE MARKET

Paris (AP)—France is following the example of the American agricultural program in reducing production of fine wines to maintain prices.

The limitation is on the volume of labeled wine which may be turned out for each acre of grapes. Champagne production, for example, has been limited to 440 gallons an acre. Wine over this quota may be sold, but not as champagne. Similar regulations are in effect in the Bordeaux region.

The quotas are set by agreement of producers and the agreements are made binding at law.
