SIX ITALIAN OFFICERS SLAIN BY ETHIOPIANS

Italian Note Protests Invoking of Sanctions

SITUATION VERY GRAVE

Note Declares Sanctions Justify Inevitable Counter Measures By Italy

Addis Ababa, Nov. 12.—(AP)—(Exchange Telegraph) the Ethiopian government today said its forces had won a battle at Anba, Ogaden province killing six Italian officers, driving off the surviving Italians in confusion and capturing four tanks and two armored cars.

Rome, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Italy today implicitly threatened her withdrawal from the league of nations by a note protesting against the invocation of sanctions.

Italy, the document informed sanctionist nations had not wished until now to associate herself from the Geneva institution despite Italy's opposition to the procedure followed to her damage because she wished to prevent a conflict such as that now being considered from leading to more vast complications.

"Therefore Italy," the communique added is "calling attention to the responsibility in the sanctionist measures and the gravity of their consequences."

The note stated that the sanctions were adopted without Italian participation in the deliberations and without any information as to their nature being communicated to her.

Italy warned all nations participating in sanctions against her that such action constitute a "true act of hostility which amply justifies inevitable Italian counter measures."

The warning was set forth in a lengthy protest, identical copies of which were sent to the countries adhering to the Geneva proposals for action against it for its campaign of conquest in Ethiopia.

Center Marking of All N.C. Highways Needed for Safety

Lines at Present Only on Curves and Hills, but Highway Patrol Head Favors Extensions

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Nov. 12.—One of the safety measures needed in the state as much as anything else is the painting of a center line on all hard-surfaced highways, in the opinion of Captain Charles D. Farmer, commander of the State Highway Patrol. At the present time center lines are painted only on curves and hills. But Captain Farmer believes the center line should be made continuous on all of the hard-surfaced highways.

"One of the most dangerous hazards on the roads today are the middle-of-the-road drivers who some way seem to feel that they are safer if they drive in the middle of the road," Captain Farmer said. "But if the highways had center lines, it would enable us to compel these drivers to stay to the right of the line and remain in their proper traffic lane. The center line also has a beneficial psychological effect on these drivers, experience shows. For many of them do not realize they are driving in the center of the highway until they are reminded of this fact by the center line on the curves and hills."

"Another argument in favor of the center line on all roads is that without this line it is difficult for a patrolman or officer to prove whether a driver was on his side of the road or not in case of an accident. But if the center line is there, it is possible to make accurate measurements of tire tracks and thus determine accurately if a driver was on the proper side of the line if he is involved in an accident."

About a year ago the State Highway and Public Works Commission put down a center line on the highway from Raleigh to Fayetteville, as an experimental project to determine if this would reduce accidents. Since that time there has been fewer accidents on this road than on any similar stretch of road in this vicinity, Captain Farmer pointed out.

Ninety per cent of the traffic grown in the United States is grown in the San Juan Valley in Southern Santa Clara county in California.

EX-SUITOR HELD IN GIRL'S DEATH

Aubrey Hampton (center), former suitor of the slain Corinna Loring, is shown being booked at Washington police headquarters following his arrest on a fugitive warrant sworn out by Maryland authorities. On his left is Station Clerk R. M. Alexander and on his right is Detective Sergeant William Liverman of the Washington homicide squad who made the arrest. Richard Tear, who was to have married the Washington stenographer, also was held for questioning. (Associated Press Photo)

County Earns $20,664.76 From Pitt Liquor Stores

Sales Since The First Store Opened Total $84,011.41

ONLY ONE STORE HAS LOST MONEY

Greenville Unit Sold $44,116.30 Worth of Liquor for Net Profit of $11,563.61

Figures released today by the Pitt County Alcoholic Control Board revealed that liquor stores in the county have netted a clear profit of $20,664.76 since the first stores were opened July 27.

Sales during the period totaled $84,011.41, showing the profit to the county to be 24.6 per cent of the gross amount taken in.

The cost of merchandise amounted to $54,023.30, or 64.30 per cent of net sales. Operating expenses covering administrative expense, selling cost, freight, rents, etc., totaled $9,799.36, or 11.67 per cent of net sales.

The Greenville store sold more than any of the other six stores in the county, a total of $44,116.30 worth of liquor having been sold here in the period. A net profit of $11,563.61, or 26.21 per cent was realized from sales in the city. The percentage of profit in Greenville, however, was not quite as much as the percentage in Farmville where a net profit of 26.35 per cent was realized. In Farmville a profit of $5,967.86 was realized on sales of $22,651.81.

The store located at Grimesland was the only one of the seven stores in the county which showed a loss during the period. A loss of $22.68 was shown for the store. The percentage loss for sales being only 8.62 per cent.

Profits in the other six stores ranged from 26.35 per cent in Farmville to 12.73 per cent in Grifton.

Ayden had sales of $10,258.37, for a profit of $2,601.89, or 25.41 per cent; Fountain, sales of $3,693.65, net profits of $921.19, or 24.93 per cent; Bethel, $2,445.26, net profits of $49.78, or 2.03 per cent; Grifton, sales of $670.82, net profits of $92.11, or 13.58 per cent; and Grimesland, sales of $263.01, net loss of $22.68, or 8.62 per cent.

Suitor Is Named State Head Of Federal Housing

Both Senators Bailey and Reynolds Said Assured to Appointment of Rocky Mount Man

Washington, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Appointment of Joseph L. Suiter of Rocky Mount, as North Carolina director of the Federal Housing Administration was formally announced today by Stewart McDonald, FHA administrator.

At the same time McDonald announced appointment of W. H. Stradlin, Jr., of Winston-Salem, as assistant director.

Suiter, acting director, said T. B. Sumner of Asheville, resigned, "was the choice of Senator Bailey, Stradlin, nominee of Senator Reynolds for director, was opposed by Bailey.

"Both the senators agreed to the appointment we have made," W. D. Flauders, regional FHA director said.

HAUPTMANN MAKES APPEAL TO HIGH COURT

A 32-Page Petition Filed By Attorney Rosecrans

COURT ASKED TO HEAR EVIDENCE

Petition Says Jury 'Unduly Influenced' and Complains of Lindy's Presence

Washington, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann appealed to the supreme court today to save him from the electric chair for the murder and kidnaping of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

A 32-page petition filed by Ebert Rosecrans, counsel for Hauptmann, asked a new trial on the grounds that the stolid German carpenter had been convicted after a trial which resembled a "circus."

The petition also contended Hauptmann's constitutional rights have been violated in the sensational trial at Flemington, N. J. Supreme court attaches said the nine justices probably would announce on December 23 whether they would review his conviction.

If a review were granted, attaches said, arguments most likely would be heard in Flemington in March and a final decision could be expected in a few weeks thereafter.

The petition contended the jury was "unduly influenced" by the daily presence of Colonel Lindbergh at the trial, by the "inflammatory" summation of state counsel and by "hysterical mob spirit."

These points previously had been raised in an unsuccessful appeal to New Jersey's highest tribunal, the court of errors and appeals.

The supreme court also was asked to permit the taking of additional testimony, a request denied by the New Jersey court.

HEAVY SALES ON LEAF MART

Million Pound Days Continue On Greenville Market

Million pound days continued on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday when 1,041,083 pounds of tobacco were sold for $214,482.49 an average price of $20.60 per hundred pounds. Yesterday's sales brought the season's total sales to $5,524,694 pounds for $118,890,511.77 an average price of $21.26 per hundred.

With eleven more selling days before the market closes for the Thanksgiving holidays and with the market scheduled to run thereafter until the Christmas holidays indicate that the early estimates of a 60 million pounds season will be surpassed. Already the market has sold about four and a half millions more than was sold on the market for the entire season last year. Despite a low start because of much storm damaged tobacco in this county the present season average price is above government parity figures and observers believed that the final average would be between 21 and 22 cents a pound.

State WPA Offices Approve Pitt Plan Control of Malaria

Total of 41 Projects Approved Today to Cost $296,198.97 and to Hire 2,267 Persons

Raleigh, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The state Works Progress Administration today approved approval of 44 projects to cost $296,198.97, and provide immediate jobs for 2,267 persons.

Included was allocation of $130,000 for improvement of the Lind's Field airport at Friendship, in Guilford county, on which 271 persons would be worked.

Other projects approved by location, type, persons to be worked and cost, included: Duplin, landscape cemetery and improve streets at Rose Hill, 34 persons, $5,880.

Wilson, library assistance, 17 persons, $2,784.81.

Pitt, malaria control and community sanitation, 29 persons, $3,979.42.

Duplin, community sanitation, 37 persons, $3,732.85.

Greene, community sanitation, 18 persons, $1,868.42.

Carolina Highway Chief Challenged

Appointed head of the South Carolina highway board during Gov. Olin D. COUNTY COURT IS UNDERWAY

Defendants Fined for Driving While Intoxicated

Two defendants charged with driving drunk were fined $50 and costs each, had their licenses revoked for a stated period and given suspended road sentences in County court today.

W. A. Thomas, one of the two, had his license revoked six months and was given a 60-day suspended road sentence.

Mange Gorham, the other tried at the early session today, was given a six months suspended sentence and had his driver's license revoked for 12 months.

Rodgers Owens was adjudged guilty on a charge of driving drunk, but was fined $25 and had his license revoked upon conviction of driving reckless.

John Henry Barnes was given a six months sentence to run concurrently with a sentence imposed in Mayor's court. Barnes was up in County court for larceny.

R. G. Mayo of Bethel Dies After Operation

R. G. Mayo, 25, popular and well-known young Bethel man, died this morning at 8:55 o'clock at Rocky Mount sanatorium following an appendectomy operation.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mayo, he was born and reared in Bethel. He was a graduate of Duke University, where he was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. He was a member of the Bethel Baptist church.

Funeral services will be held at the Bethel Baptist church Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, with the pastor, Rev. Leslie Newman, assisted by Rev. J. O. Long, pastor of the Bethel Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Bethel cemetery.

Serving as active pallbearers will be Harold Staton, Joe Whitehurst and Walter Edwards Beverly of Bethel, and Jake Hadley, Frank Patrick and Fred Forbes, Jr., of Greenville.

Two Men Burned To Death In Greenhill Dairy Blaze Near Here This Morning

JAPAN FEARS ARMED FORCE

Anti-Japanese Incidents in China May Lead To Pressure

Tokyo, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Japanese authorities gave indication today that at least some sections of the government envisioned a possibility of armed pressure on China as a result of anti-Japanese incidents in Shanghai.

Police circulated an order for newspapers and news agencies not to publish anything on naval or air forces "which might be sent to China," except official communications.

Vernacular newspapers dispatches from Shanghai reported an increased tense situation.

The foreign office insisted, however, that no military action for the present was contemplated.

A foreign office spokesman said today the number and frequency of incidents in Shanghai might compel the government to deliver a stern warning to the Nationalist capital of Nanking.

He said the Japanese government hoped the series of incidents—the slaying of a Japanese marine, a raid on a Japanese-owned shop and alleged attacks on Japanese women—might be settled quickly through local Shanghai negotiations.

Bids Are Opened By S.C. Road Board Despite Confusion

Governor Johnston's military-made Road Administration Opens Bids For Road and Bridge Work

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Still in control after a scathing court session yesterday, Gov. Olin D. Johnston's highway administration received bids today for $193,000 in federal aid construction in its second letting, despite a suspension of federal allotments for new work.

Three officers and 16 national guardsmen continued on duty and Johnston's highway manager was escorted on every move.

Joe Callus of Spartanburg, executive manager, halted in a highway officer corridor with its customary retinue of troops in enough to announce "everything is running smooth and efficiently."

He said the department of engineering was receiving bids for road and bridge work in Sumter, Chesterfield, Greenwood, Union, York and Chester counties and would determine the low bidders as usual.

Tentative contracts for work let November 5 were held up after the Federal Road Bureau authority at Washington announced they would approve no more new obligations until the supreme court ruled on the status of the government's military-made road regime.

It was indicated today that the court would not render its decision on the constitutionality of the coup October 23 for a week or more and it was not expected before December in some quarters.

Wheat and Oats In List Major Crops of North Carolina

With Tobacco and Cotton Acts in Effect Farmers are Turning to Growing Small Grain

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Nov. 12.—Wheat and oats are rapidly becoming major farm crops in North Carolina as more and more farmers are turning to small grains, especially since the cotton and tobacco acreage control programs have gone into effect, according to Frank Parker, statistician and chief of the state's federal crop reporting service of the State Department of Agriculture.

The yield of the 1935 wheat crop, amounting to 5,094,000 bushels from 443,000 acres, was the largest yield since 1920 when the yield was 5,428,000 bushels from 517,000 acres and when wheat was selling for $2.10 a bushel. This year's crop is bringing about $1.19 a bushel, so that the value of the 1935 crop, if all of it should be sold at present prices, would amount to $6,061,360.

In 1934 the wheat crop amounted to 4,340,000 bushels and had a cash value of $4,948,000. The 1936-1939 wheat control program is expected to attract still farmers and thus increase the yield, Parker believes.

RESCUE BEGINS FOR 54 PERSONS ON FREIGHTER

Nanila, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The United States Destroyer Peary wireless today that "Three crewmen on the Silver Hazel were picked from a life-raft at 5:15 p. m."

The message indicated the rescue of 54 persons on the wrecked freighter San Bernardino Strait had begun.

Since Sunday the five passengers and 49 crewmembers of the Silver Hazel had clung to a rock and to forepart of the vessel which was broke into against it.

With a typhoon advancing toward the Luzon island coast several vessels had tried vainly to take off the marooned persons. High winds and waves 300 miles southeast of Manila beat off the rescuers.

The rescue, sailors who are Hindu, said the castaways had been without food or water for two days.

Major General Frank Parker, Philippine commander, agreed to dispatch two bomber planes at daylight tomorrow to attempt rescue.

The destroyed Bulmer dashing to Manila, is due at the same time and will aid the destroyer and other vessels in renewed rescue efforts.

SEEK ANSWER WHEN DRUNK

Highway Patrol Head Wants To Determine When Driver Drunk

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Nov. 12.—When is a driver too drunk to drive an automobile? How many drinks are required to intoxicate a person to the extent that he or she should not attempt to drive a car?

These questions are causing Captain Charles D. Farmer, head of the State Highway Patrol some concern these days and he is reading and studying everything he can on the subject. Yet he is not worrying much about some of the highly technical articles he has been reading.

"The test I am going by and the one I have ordered the patrolmen to follow, is that when a driver is unable to hold his car in the road and begins wobbling about on it, he is too drunk to drive and should be arrested, regardless of whether he has only one drink or a dozen."

He said to arrest drivers who maintain they had only had a bottle of beer—but in one case I recall, this driver was as drunk on one bottle of beer as some I have seen who had drunk a pint or more of liquor. For alcohol affects different persons differently. There are some persons—but very few—who can take half a dozen drinks in the course of an evening and still drive carefully and safely. There are others who if they drink a bottle or two of beer or take a highball or two become utterly incapable of driving a car. The result is that we are going to arrest all those who do not drive carefully and properly for drunken driving, regardless of whether they have had one drink or a dozen."

"The time when these drunken drivers are the most dangerous is when they are behind their steering wheels before the officers stop them, not after they have sobered up," Captain Farmer said.

Federal Housing Man Here On Wednesday

Aubrey G. McCabe, Field Representative of the Federal Housing Administration, will be in the Chamber of Commerce offices, second floor of post office building, Wednesday, Nov. 13, for the purpose of interviewing and completing applications for anyone interested in any phase of the Federal Housing Administration plan.

Search For Fliers by Royal Air Force Virtually Hopeless

No Trace of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and Co-Pilot Pethybridge Found by Searchers

Rangoon, Burma, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Crews of the planes seeking Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and his co-pilot, Tom Pethybridge, lost on an England-Australia flight, reported that the search was "virtually hopeless."

Two royal air force flying boats arrived here from Singapore straits settlements, where the Australian pilot were due last Friday after a fruitless search over a wide area of the coast and over the Bay of Bengal.

Officials announced, nevertheless, that the hunt would continue.

Floyd Garrett, 22, and L. C. Boykins, Die In Fire

THIRD MAN FLEES FROM BUILDING

Sleeping Quarters Over Machinery Room Is Completely Destroyed

Floyd Garrett, 22, and L. C. Boykins, 17, were burned to death early this morning when fire destroyed the machinery department of the Greenhill Dairy on Falkland road.

The young men had sleeping quarters over the machinery room. They worked about the dairy but were not drivers. A third man in the sleeping quarters, W. C. (Cliff) Fork, a driver, made his escape by jumping from a porch. York said the boys were up when he made his escape and that he yelled to them to follow him. He said he thought they were following him. Chief George Gardner of the Greenville fire department said the boys must have become excited and suffocated before they were able to reach any means of getting out of the burning building.

W. U. McBroom, owner and operator of the dairy, also declared he could not understand why the boys did not flee from the burning building unless they became too excited to find a means of escape. He said that he entered the building and called to the boys. He declared that at the time he entered, the fire had not reached the sleeping quarters, but that it was filled with smoke. He added he did not see the boys, but it was possible that they could have gone near them, but failed to see them because of the dense smoke. He said he received no answer to his calls and presumed then that they must have already fled from the quarters.

McBroom said he was unable to determine the exact cause of the fire. He listed faulty wiring or an explosion of the boiler as possible causes. He estimated the loss at around $1,500, and said he had insurance on the entire dairy totaling $1,500. The barn housing the cows was not damaged however.

Chief Gardner said his force arrived at the fire about midnight or a little earlier and that the blaze had gained so much headway it was impossible to save the machinery room and efforts were centered on the dairy barn. He said the fire department was hampered by the lack of water. The firemen used a bucket brigade in combating the conflagration. The truck carried a tank of 120 gallons of water and this was the chief source of water. A weak supply of water was used to refill the truck tank.

The bodies of Garrett and Boykins were turned beyond recognition almost. The limbs of each were burned from their bodies. The two were found near the window from which York made his escape, indicating they were about to get out of the building when they were overcome by smoke and heat.

Boykins' home was near the dairy, but he had been spending the nights on the place. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mamie Boykins; one sister, Miss Fannie Boykins; and one brother, Charlie Boykins.

Garrett lived between Hillsboro and Durham. He is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters.

Funeral services for Boykins were scheduled to be held this afternoon at 4:30 from the graveside in Greenwood cemetery. Rev. J. R. Potts, Presbyterian minister, will officiate.

Garrett's body was taken to Durham county for services at Herman county's Church this afternoon.

News Behind The News

Washington By RAY TUCKER

ARTILLERY: Although almost everybody has missed it, President Roosevelt has set the stage for dramatization of his farm program and political conquest of the West in 1936. He has accepted an invitation to address the American Farm Federation Bureau on the same day—December 9—that the supreme court listens to arguments against the processing tax in the Hoosac Mills case.

The White House is secretive about its plans but here's how the act will be staged: Mr. Roosevelt will be recounting AAA's benefits to farmers on the day that conservative lawyers for New England textile will be charging that the processing tax is unconstitutional and the road toward bankruptcy. Receiver for the Hoosac firm is William M. Butler, who was GOP National Chairman under Calvin Coolidge. Mr. Roosevelt will not miss this chance to pit the New Deal against the Old Deal.

The President may also appear before the federation as a paid member of the farmer's union. As a Hyde Park agriculturist he has been asked to join the Cook County Farm Federation of Illinois. The fee is $2.

A FINE BAND

Those who attended the Armistice Day exercises at the college yesterday were high in their praise of the progress being made by the local High School Band. The band composed of around 25 members including several of the high school girls, performed exceedingly well and added much to the program. At the football game in Washington in the afternoon, the band attired in its new green and white uniforms, added color to the gathering and enjoyment for those attending the game.

Greenville's high school band is certainly a credit to the community and the organization should have all possible encouragement from our citizens.

A HARD ONE TO LOSE

While we are on the subject of the high school organizations we do not feel that we should overlook the fact that the team lost to Washington yesterday afternoon by a score of 14 to 13, the boys should not be downhearted. They put on a fine game and because a fluke cost them the victory is no reason for them to feel too badly about it. Like the band, the team is a credit to the school and the community.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Cordell Hull bumps up against practical political difficulties for the first time. And Premier Mackenzie King's stay at the White House, though a diplomatic gesture, hasn't helped matters much.

Treaties already negotiated with European nations have not encroached on sacred political ground. They have expanded markets for American farm produce and lowered tariff barriers which protected industrial Republican states, especially Pennsylvania. They have been drawn in accord with Mr. Hull's economic and political ideas. But Canada seeks a market for goods which compete with those of western states supposedly friendly to Mr. Roosevelt. The Dominion would like to sell us more lumber, more hay, more grain, more agricultural products. In return, they will buy from us more industrial manufacturers — automobiles, machinery, steel fabrications — now produced in Canada by branch factories owned by Americans. Insiders doubt if any worthwhile comprehensive arrangement will be fixed up before November of 1936.

JUSTIFICATION: Henry Wallace plans to sneak over a fast one on the Republicans when he advocates changes in the Constitution before the Academy of Social and Political Sciences at Philadelphia next Thursday. Mr. Wallace accepted the invitation and prepared his speech only after long consultation with President Roosevelt. In advocating constitutional changes to keep pace with social and economic shifts the Cabinet philosopher will quote from a document which few but Herbert Hoover read closely. He will cite the report of Hoover's Committee on Social Trends as justification of the New Deal demand that the original charter be revised to meet new conditions. Mr. Hoover named this committee and gave his benediction to their findings. Prof. Wesley C. Mitchell, who chaired the committee, will preside at the Philadelphia meeting. That coincidence gave Mr. Wallace his big idea. The opposing speaker will be ex-Gov. "Joe" Ely of Massachusetts, a conservative Al Smith Democrat. Political fur will fly when Wallace sets forth Mr. Roosevelt's current ideas on the "home-and-buggy" constitution.

CHAMPION: After an absence of almost two months from Washington, Mr. Roosevelt's friends are a subtly changed man. He is no longer the exuberant, wise-cracking Chief Executive he used to be. He takes more time to decide major questions, he weighs his words, he asserts and assimilates more carefully.

He seems to feel no lack of confidence in future economic and political developments, but he wouldn't show it if he did. He exhibits the same differences which all Chief Executives betray when it dawns on them that reelection is less than a year off. He is more wary. This presidential caution will explain many moves still in the making. He is feeling his way toward the ballot-box, getting his political legs again.

But it would be a mistake to conclude that he will cater to the conservatives for long. Mr. Roosevelt has returned to Washington in a gambling mood. His restraint is personal rather than political. If necessary, he is ready to proclaim himself in 1936 as the champion of the farmers and workers against the "exploiters"—as Rex Tugwell hinted in his recent speech on the coast.

ATTACK? Soft-spoken, diplomatic Morris Cooke may have to crack down on certain public utility companies. The Rural Electrification has received word that they are spiking his program to give heat and light to farmers.

Mr. Cooke understands that some companies are stringing the countryside with transmission poles. In most instances they erect the poles in sections where the REA is negotiating for construction of government-financed lines—plans which can't be kept secret. By moving in first, the private interests set up dummy barriers across projects of way which Mr. Cooke may need for his lines. They make it difficult and expensive for him. Their payments to farmers for clearance rights also tend to build up sentiment against the government project.

Administrator Cooke is withholding his denunciation for a while. He regards the private utilities' scheme as childish and open to public ridicule. The more poise they put up while he is getting under way, the more shame-faced they may feel when he opens up on them. And he will, if necessary.

New York By JAMES McMULLIN

QUAKING: The refusal of Judge Martin T. Manton of the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals to rule favorably on the plea of J. Edward Jones—oil royalty king—for what amounted to exemption from the jurisdiction of the Securities Exchange Commission was an important triumph for the latter and a blow to Wall Street right-wingers. The die-hards—while harboring no great affection for Jones—did cherish the hope that his action would undermine the Commission's legal authority and thus serve their purposes without involving them in any way.

This development has a significant bearing on the Meehan case. If Mike insists on challenging the Commission by refusing to heed its summons for a hearing he now runs a real risk of being adjudged in contempt. That might land him in the hoosegow—which would be highly humiliating.

Some half a dozen other big-time operators are reliably reported to be quaking in their boots for fear their turn is coming next.

"MEDDLING" Charges are circulating freely in New York that Jim Landis and his conferees have turned their backs on Joe Kennedy's safe-and-sane policies and are about to plunge into a spree of "headline hunting" that will drive everyone to cover and disrupt the market. The double-cross is heatedly alleged since Landis publicly announced, only a few weeks ago, that he contemplated no departure from the principles established by his predecessor. The real situation is that the Commission—which is conceded by impartial observers to be unusually fair and scrupulous for a government agency—was caught up in the sudden wave of administration apprehension about a runaway market and was also goaded into action by stinging criticisms of lax enforcement. Those who should know continue to be confident that there will be no interference with legitimate trading. Some of the boys are certainly hard to please. Until the Meehan business broke they were razing the daylight out of the Commission for allowing all sorts of market phengaling to go on under its nose. Now that it shows signs of clamping down on manipulators they are squawking about "government meddling."

REVERSAL: New York bankers are keeping a wary eye on the Federal Reserve. They agree in principle that something should be done to cut down mountainous excess reserves but are a trifle uneasy about the precise formula to be employed.

The suggestion of Benjamin Anderson—Chase Bank economist—that the Federal Reserve Banks should start selling government securities inspires no enthusiasm. The banks are fearful that such sales would drive the government bond market down and impair the value of their own extensive investments in federal obligations. Federal Reserve authorities recognize the force of this objection and are unlikely to take a chance on upsetting the psychological apple cart. However, they may try a milder variant of the same idea—reducing Federal Reserve holdings of short term government bonds by quietly falling to renew investments in maturing issues and taking a cash payoff instead. This wouldn't attract much attention and would have virtually no effect on the market—so the banks wouldn't mind it—but on the other hand it would probably make very little impression on excess reserves either.

Financial experts believe the Federal Reserve's most useful weapon in combating inflationary tendencies will turn out to be its newly authorized and never used power to increase member bank reserve requirements. That would cut down excess reserves with the smoothness and finality of a guillotine—but it would represent too abrupt a reversal of policy to be tried just yet.

PAT: New York learns that a pretty tug-of-war is developing behind the scenes between the federal government and the state of Maine. The Passamaquoddy power project has again become a bone of fevered contention.

The government wants Maine to set up a state power authority which would—among other things—take over responsibility for payment of interest on the Passamaquoddy investment. Maine authorities can't see that idea with a telescope. They were delighted to get the dough and the jobs but they see no point whatever to assuming an obligation that might turn out to be a millstone. Governor Brann refuses to call a special session of the legislature or consider it. Washington threatens to retaliate by withholding further funds—which would be tantamount to killing off one of the New Deal's biggest dreams.

The Mainites figure they hold trump. They are well aware how extremely anxious the New Dealers are to capture the state at next September's election for the moral effect on November voting. They can't believe the administration will deliberately wreck its own chances by knocking Passamaquoddy on the head. So they will stand pat and wait to see what happens.

"THIS IS MY OWN PRIVATE BLEND. I have probably made whiskies for your father, your grandfather and maybe even for your great grandfather. But I have never made better whiskey... SIT DOWN, MY FRIEND, AND TRY IT"

JULIUS KESSLER has made and sold more whiskey than any living man including some of America's most famous brands.

Yes, I'm of the old school... I probably made whiskey for your father, your grandfather and perhaps for your great grandfather. There are few of us left now of my age who are back in harness. But here I am, past 80 years old offering you a finer whiskey than you've ever tasted priced at about a dollar a pint. It's my own Private Blend... I'm proud to have it bear my name. Try it, my friend, and discover its goodness. I think you'll say, "This is the product of a pastmaster... a distiller of the old school." Go to your nearest dealer and ask for Kessler's Private Blend. I promise you it is all I claim for it... a really good whiskey at a low price.

in some crucial scene. The first is Catherine of Aragon, the Spanish wife and the mother of the future "Bloody Mary." After the king had lived with her happily for years, he sought a divorce from her, was refused, but had the marriage annulled. The scene is at Hampton Court in 1532 after Catherine has become suspicious, resentful, and hard, and just before he marries Anne Boleyn. After four years he has Anne sent to the block. She is presented in the room in London Tower on May 18, 1536, while she is awaiting the executioner. He soon marries Jane Seymour, the passive daughter of a country nobleman, who was the mother of the King's only son who later became Edward VI. Four days after his birth, in October, 1537, the queen was forced to attend the sumptuous christening ceremony. This proved so exhausting that she died a few days later. The scene is in the Garden at Hampton in 1537. Anne of Cleves, the Dutch wife, known as "Flaunders' Mare," whom Henry was forced to marry for political reasons and divorced immediately, is shown just after her arrival at Rochester in 1540, when the King tries to run away from her and without even seeing her. Katherine Howard, a girl of nineteen, who was later beheaded, is shown during a Royal progress in 1542. Katherine Parr, twice a widow before she became queen, by her tactful management of the old, weakened monarch, outlived the King, and married again four months after his death. She is shown in a scene at Whitehall on January 26, 1547.

The music for the play was arranged by Lowell Patten and will be played by Ed Stallings and his ensemble.

GIBBON, 'INFIDEL' WRITER.

OWNED RARE 1497 BIBLE. New York—(AP)—A rare Latin version of the Bible, printed in 1497 and once owned by Edward Gibbon, author of "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," has been imported from England by Edwin Rumball-Petre, who deals exclusively in old Bibles.

It contains Gibbon's bookplate and crest, and some of the pages have been annotated. The book, a small folio, is of particular interest, Rumball-Petre says, because Gibbon was reputed to be an infidel.

CAUSE OF WAR IS OUTLINED

Fody Harding Tells Rotary Club of Italo-Ethiopian War

By WYATT BROWN

The day of world empires will never return so long as man can find God be it formalistic or naturalistic approach, declared Honorable Fody Harding last night at the Rotary Club in expounding his philosophical approach to the cause of war between Italy and Ethiopia. The ideas of Mussolini by constant reading in Caesar's "Gallic Wars," inspired the Italian dictator to dream of world empire for Italy toward conquest of South America, he said.

"Under the Caesars Rome dominated all the world of that day considered of any value to man. When the Roman empire disappeared, the Caesars' ideas were inculeated into the dominant religion of that day, the Roman Catholic Church," he declared, but preambing his remarks by insisting he spoke not politically or religiously but drew from the political and religious history of men in arriving at his ideas, but with no malice intended for any sect or party.

Being perpetuated in Caesar's writing and the Catholic leaders' minds, Italy today can but be considered as rising from the ashes of the Roman empire. The Roman Catholic Church has been trying to bring all the races of men together under one ruling principle—its faith—since the idea of world empire was gotten from the Caesars' but it has not worked out for men varying in the way they come to religion and accept it after they find it.

Mussolini finds his men ready to suffer, fight, and die for Italy, and six weeks ago scoffed at the Russian five and ten year plans, saying the Italians care nothing for such little schemes, suggesting the world will see Italy the premier nation of the world by the coming of the 21st century. Mr. Harding, recounted Judging from history, seizure of Ethiopia is but the first step in the creation of a world empire. If South America is the next objective, Italy will find independence of spirit equal to that of North America, the speaker declared.

Mr. Harding called attention to the fact that he considered it significant as an indication of the attitude of the Pope of the Roman Catholic Church toward Italian World aspirations that the Pope kept silent in the press about the war until Great Britain threatened the progress of the Italian scheme; then the Pope issued an encyclical calling for peace in the world.

"Internationalism is too well entrenched in the minds of men to permit any subterfuge of a nation or its proponents to reach out and dominate all the nations of the world. So long as there are men of different races living on this earth who look up each in his own way but to the same source of freedom and liberty from God, there will be no one dominating nation," he said in conclusion.

Following this speech Dr. Winstead spent a few moments sharing with his fellow club members a few of his impressions from his recent flight to the West Coast and back. Wilbur Ormond of Ayden was a visiting Rotarian at last night's meeting and Mr. Harris of Vanceboro and Mr. Miller the latter of whom has come to Greenville to make a City Directory, were guests of the Club. Claude Gaskins won the attendance prize given by Johnny Overton. A committee of eight members volunteered to help Rev. W. A. Ryan with the Red Cross Roll Call in its 1935 enrollment efforts.

Dr. Carl Adams called attention to the fact that Cornelia Otis Skinner who gave her monologues on Broadway in New York City for an unusually long run is to be at East Carolina teachers College on Wednesday of this week.

GAUDY CLASSROOM HUES SPUR SCOTCH STUDENTS

Aberdeen—(AP)—Decorators have joined the staff of Aberdeen University to help students learn more easily.

Freshmen, in their efforts to master logic, will do their thinking in a classroom with green and blue walls. Those grappling with Greek will study in yellow surroundings.

Thus far the idea is limited to two colleges of the university. If it is found that bright walls make bright students every room will be done in gay shades.

SEE OPPONENT FOR C. A. ERWIN

Definitely Know Two School Men Considering Race

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Nov. 12—While indications are that Superintendent Guy B. Phillips of the Greensboro city schools will not become a candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction in opposition to State Superintendent Clyde A. Erwin in the primary next June due to the pressure brought to bear on Phillips by the North Carolina Education Association, textbook publishers and others who are supporting Erwin, the belief still prevails here that if Phillips does not run, some one else will. It is definitely known here that at least two well known school men in the state are already planning to announce against Erwin if Phillips does not.

Some two or three weeks ago there were indications that Phillips had just about made up his mind to seek the state superintendency from Erwin, who was appointed by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus to fill out the unexpired term of the late Dr. A. T. Allen. But because Phillips is the immediate past president of the North Carolina Education Association, whose officials are regarded as being solidly behind Erwin and responsive to the desires of the textbook publishers, he is not now expected to run.

It is agreed that many superintendents and a large number of teachers are definitely opposed to Erwin. But the domination of the Education Association over the teachers is regarded as being so great that many of them fear to oppose him openly. But if another candidate comes out against him, many of the teachers and superintendents will vote for this candidate according to reliable reports, just as many of them are supporting Dr. Ralph W. McDonald for Governor.

That Superintendent Erwin will be difficult to defeat, however, most observers here agree, since he admittedly has a tremendous advantage over any one who attempts to oppose him. Not only is Erwin conceded to have the support of the present administration and of the Education Association, but he also has a much larger salary than the average city or county superintendent. He also has an almost unlimited travelling expense account, enabling him to make numerous speeches at no expense to himself. So it is agreed that he will be a hard man to beat.

CHICAGO'S GUN-TOTERS MOSTLY OUT-OF-TOWNERS

Chicago—(AP)—It's the visiting gunman—not the native son—that gives Chicago police their greatest worry in warring against illegal firearms.

The detective bureau announces that approximately two-thirds of those arrested for illegal gun-carrying during the first 10 months of the current year came to Chicago from other cities and towns.

Arrests for the period totaled 785, of whom only 284 were born in Chicago. Police took 805 guns from those arrested and discovered that 20 were wanted for murder, 164 for robbery, 115 for assault, three for manslaughter, 23 for burglary, 15 for larceny, one for extortion, and six for statutory charges.

During the first ten months of 1934 police nabbed 957 gun toters and seized 1,101 weapons.

Mud-Slinging Is Started For Democratic Primary

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, Nov. 12.—There is mud slinging in the eyes of the voters who are trying to look into the political fish pond these days and get some idea of which direction the poor fish are going to go in the Democratic primary next June. For they can't see the fish for the mud, due to the vigorous churning it is getting from the various candidates and their supporters.

Most of the muddiness at the present time is being caused by the many reports, rumors and claims being circulated by the supporters of the various candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor and chiefly by the supporters of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald and the "ardid" young candidate himself, according to most observers here. For there is no doubt in the minds of many here that the genial former college professor from Winston-Salem is trying to follow in the footsteps of Senator Rush Holt of West Virginia and of Lieut. Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky by bucking the existing order and attacking the "old guard" in the state's politics. Holt won his seat in the Senate from West Virginia and "Happy" Chandler just won the election and will become Governor in Kentucky by running on platforms very similar to the one on which McDonald is now seeking the governorship in North Carolina. It is generally agreed that Chandler's opposition to the sales tax in Kentucky had as much to do with his winning the election as any other one thing, in spite of the opposition of Gov. Ruby Laffoon and the Democratic "machine" in Kentucky.

But North Carolina is not West Virginia or Kentucky and just because political upsets have taken place in those states is no reason to believe that McDonald and his cohorts will be able to capture the governorship of this state by winning the nomination next June, the older and more cautious observers here maintain. They point out that for years North Carolina has refused to be stampeded one way or the other by the various candidates and that it has continued to steer a straight and steady course noted more for its conservatism and soundness than for anything else. As a result, they believe that as the present campaign advances and as the time for the primary draws nearer, the water in the gubernatorial fish pond will become clearer and the issues more and more clearly defined.

"It is entirely early in the campaign to tell anything about either the present strength of the various candidates or the eventual outcome of the contest between them," one of these more careful and cautious observers said today. "About the only thing we can be sure of is that McDonald seems to have the support of the normal anti-vote which usually amounts to about 30 per cent of the votes cast in every election, that Lieut. Gov. Graham seems to have the support of the younger Democrats and the middle-of-the-road progressive element in the party and that Clyde Hoey represents the older, more conservative element. But no one yet has any idea just how many votes are represented in any of these three groups—and probably will not until in April or May. So all of this talk now as to who is in the lead is just a lot of conjecture, since no one has any real basis for his beliefs."

Many of the more experienced politicians here are inclined to agree with this view of the gubernatorial situation and refuse to be disturbed by the present reported heavy trend towards McDonald. They point out that while those who are always displeased and disgruntled with any administration always make a lot of noise, that is almost always the noise of a minority. They also maintain that this noisy minority is composed of individuals who are highly opinionated and uncooperative, with the result that they do not stick together and work together as well as the other groups. Many of these are also band-wagon jumpers and "gimme" boys who always want to be back of the winning candidate in the hope of being "taken care of" later on. So while they may be supporting one candidate now loud and lustily, they may be supporting another just as vociferously by June of next year. So when the situation is sifted down, most observers agree that it is still too early to tell much about the gubernatorial outlook.

Teachers To Meet William and Mary At Norfolk Sat'y

The E. C. T. C. football team leaves for Norfolk, Va., Thursday, where they will meet the Norfolk Division of William and Mary college.

Coach Mathis has been sending his boys through a stiff workout this week. The boys show plenty of spirit as they go about their work. The team is showing up good, and should be in excellent condition by Friday. The injured players have returned to practice, and the team should be at full strength for Friday's game.

The Teachers have won one game and lost two, and they are out to even the count by winning this game Friday. It will be a hard battle as the Virginians have a strong team, but the Teachers are hoping for the best.

Free Will Baptists Now Holding Revival

Rev. Henry Melvin of Durham, delivered his first message last night in a revival meeting in the Free Will Baptist Church.

After a brief introductory in which he stated that his chief concern was not doctrine but the salvation of souls, he assured all denominations that they could attend and feel perfectly at home. He chose as his subject Prayer, from 1 Thes. 5:17.

He emphasized the constant need of prayer and gave as three essentials, asking, seeking and knocking. Asking is the simplicity of prayer; seeking is the earnestness of prayer; knocking is the persistency of prayer.

He warned of the timid and the late knock. He appealed to his hearers not to be timid but bold in faith and take hold of the promise of God. He in a passionate way, asked his hearers not to wait too long to pray, as a loved one or a friend might be called away while the waiting was going on.

He enumerated five ways to pray—1 Early; 2 Earnestly; 3 Simply; 4 Often; 5 Expectantly.

In conclusion he urged his hearers to pay as though all depended

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A heavy buying wave swept over the market at the start of today's session, but it was of a brief duration so far as the general run of equities was concerned.

The ticker dropped behind floor transactions in the first half hour. Realizing on a broad scale soon succeeded the buying spurge and with the exception of rails, communications and specialties, early gains were either cancelled or were replaced with losses.

The market developed a heavy tone in most departments, after the brief upward flurry. Transfers were approximately 2,100,000 shares.

STOP CHILLS and Fever! Rid Your System of Malaria! Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any drug store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 1 1/2 times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

Camels never get on your Nerves

STEADY SMOKERS SAY

Recently returned from the Upper Surinam River, Dutch Guiana, Mrs. William LaVarre, girl explorer, says: "My husband and I are devoted to Camels—took them with us on our expedition. Smoking Camels steadily, I find, does not affect one's nerves."

Lt. Commander Frank Hawks, U. S. N. R., holder of 214 speed records, says: "I've been flying for 19 years and smoking Camels—most of them. Breaking speed records tests the pilot's nerves as well as his plane. Camels are so mild they never upset my nerves."

This is Margaret Ellen Nichols, expert newspaper woman. She says: "Newspaper work involves lots of strain. I smoke all I want, because Camels never bother my nerves. Camels have a mild, pleasant flavor—entirely different from any other cigarette."

WILLIE HOPPE, champion of champions, and most famous personality of the billiard world! Mr. Hoppe has learned that cigarette mildness is essential to one who prizes healthy nerves. He says: "Championship billiards call for healthy nerves. It was a happy day for me when I turned to Camels. I can smoke them all I wish and never have 'edgy' nerves. I have smoked Camels for a long time, and I want to compliment them on their mildness. It must take more expensive tobaccos to give that special Camel flavor I like." You, too, will find a new delight once you turn to Camels. They never get on your nerves...never tire your taste.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS! Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand. (Signed) R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO. Winston-Salem, N. C.
