Santa Claus Asks For All Old Toys Of Local Children

Boy Scouts to Gather up Toys Saturday Morning; to be Reconditioned by Firemen. An urgent plea was made today by friends of Santa Claus to the children of the city and their parents to gather all old discarded toys of the Boy Scouts can gather them up Saturday morning and start them on their way to unfortunate children.

Even though a toy is broken, part of it is missing and although it does not look to be of any use at all, the toys will be repaired and made to look almost like new by the firemen. Then they will be turned over to the Salvation Army, which organization will see to it that they are given to children who otherwise would receive little, if anything, on Christmas morning.

The same plan was carried out last year and met with success, adding Christmas cheer to hundreds of little boys and girls whose holiday was made much brighter by the gifts.

The firemen will establish a toy workshop and old dolls and other articles will be made into practically new ones. If part of the article is missing; send it on as probably that particular part will be found on another similar article and the two can be made into one good toy.

DENY DEMAND OF JAPANESE NAVAL PARITY

American Delegation Among Those Refusing Request

NORMAN DAVIS DEFINES POINTS

Chairman of American Representatives Says Objections Are Three-Fold.

London, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Japan's demand for equality in naval strength was rejected at the international naval conference today by the four other great naval powers and the British dominions.

American, British and Italian delegates flatly rejected the Japanese proposal and had the support of the British dominions while France expressed opposition on grounds of procedure. It was understood the British took the lead in opposing Japan's demands.

French and Italy opposition to Japanese equality was understood to have resulted from the Japanese statement that they considered a common upper limit of naval tonnage should be confined to the United States, Britain, and Japan, because there were no varying interests among those three.

A spokesman for the American delegates asserted the speech of Norman H. Davis, chairman of the United States delegation in opposition to Japan's proposals revolved around three main points:

1. Adoption of the plan would cause an enormous increase in consideration rather than a decrease. 2. The proposal did not take into account the different naval needs of the powers. 3. It would upset the equilibrium established by Washington and London naval treaties and the United States felt no change had occurred in the international situation, which was sufficient to warrant such a naval change.

LEAF SEASON ENDS FRIDAY

Curtain to be Brought Down with Average of $21. The 1935 Greenville tobacco market will close tomorrow afternoon after a season generally conceded to have been a successful one.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG News Behind The News

CUTS: President Roosevelt meant business when he suggested that interest rates on urban and rural mortgages were too high. His next major move may be to force them down from a 6 to a 4 per cent level through use of government funds in many fields.

Some FHA itself would go into the business of lending funds direct to the home-owner at 4 1-2 or 5 per cent. Existing law permits such an alternative through borrowing from the RFC.

DEATH CLAIMS RAIL MAGNATE

M. J. Van Swerigen Dies After Several Month's Illness. Cleveland, Dec. 12.—(AP)—M. J. Van Swerigen, who with his brother, O. P. Rose from obscure poverty to build a great rail empire, died in a hospital here today after several months illness.

Physicians said the immediate cause of death was an inflammation of the muscular portions of the wall of the heart.

Funeral services will be held at the Van Swerigen residence Saturday afternoon.

The brothers, always inseparable, started life near Wooster, Ohio, as newsboys, coming to Cleveland when in their teens. They secured employment as office boys here.

Seeing possibilities in growing Cleveland for real estate development they entered the business, only to fail.

Undaunted, they learned 2,000 acres of land was on the market, borrowed money for the purchase of option and built one of the most exclusive suburbs, Shaker Heights.

In 1916 he learned that the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railway was for sale. They borrowed $2,000,000 from Cleveland banks and purchased it. From what was known as a "streak of rust" they turned into a paying proposition.

Through holding companies they claim more than 21,000 miles of Railroad with a total value of nearly $3,000,000,000.

Franco-British Proposal Blocks Efforts of League Impose Embargo on Oil

TWO NEGROES ASSAULT MAN

Filling Station Operator Knocked in Head with Gun. Ed Harris, filling station operator at Bell's Forks on the New Bern highway, was struck over the head with the barrel of a shotgun last night by one of two negroes who attempted to rob him, Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst reported today.

Harris had gone to a pump at the rear of the station to get some water when two negroes accosted him. One of them had a shotgun and ordered him to "stick 'em up." Harris failed to comply with the demand, however, and the negro struck him over the head with the gun. The injury was not considered serious.

Sheriff Whitehurst said the two negroes then started to rob the man, but he gave an alarm and the two fled. No trace of them had been found this morning. Harris said he did not know them, but could possibly identify them.

Committee Charged With Sanctions Is Meeting, Geneva

PEACE MOVE IS GIVEN SETBACK. (By Associated Press)

British Seek To Allay Situation in Egypt Tangent to War In East Africa. A tide of rebellion surged against the Franco-British proposal for peace between Italy and Ethiopia in east Africa today as British diplomats sought to allay another crisis tangent to the war.

With London consent King Suvad of Egypt signed a royal decree restoring constitutional government to his nation. The relation between efforts to settle the war and pouring oil on the troubled waters of the Egyptian political situation was pictured in league of nation circles as due to Britain's worry over anti-British demonstrations in Egypt which complimented the Mediterranean imbroglio.

French sources today raised the possibility the sanctions against Italy might be abandoned if Emperor Haile Selassie rejects the Franco-British peace plan. Officials indicated France and Great Britain would seek to persuade the monarch to accept negotiations on the lines presented.

But British diplomacy, given a surprise turn at Paris in the rapid drafting of the proposal to end the Italian-Ethiopian conflict, apparently was headed for stormy weather at Geneva. Many states represented on the league sanctions committee of 18, called to consider additional penalties against Italy for having been the "aggressor" in the African war, took a firm stand against major concessions to Italy at the price of an impairment of Ethiopia sovereignty or weakening of the league covenant.

Ethiopia, itself, formally rejected the proposal today when Emperor Haile Selassie at his first headquarters in Dessay—said a Havas news agency dispatch—said: "We cannot submit to force which we never provoked because that would be retarding violence. Some delegates saw in the Great Britain program the beginning of a move to establish openly a definite dominion of great powers, definite dominion in the form of a four-power pact, with Germany to join France, Great Britain and Italy.

From Rome came word that tension between Italy and Great Britain had been lessened considerably, on the word of informed fascists, by the drafting of the Paris peace formula. If, they said, the league dropped consideration of an oil embargo, Mussolini would discuss the peace proposals, even if he did not meet his demands entirely.

POWER LINES COST STATED

Erection of Rural Electric Lines $650 A Mile

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Dec. 12.—The cost of building rural electric lines in North Carolina should not exceed $650 a mile for labor, poles and wire, and probably not more than $400 a mile, the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington has advised J. L. Hore, Jr., of Rocky Mount, a member of the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority. This is the first time the REA in Washington has given any indication maximum and minimum cost bits in connection with rural electrification, according to Chairman Dudley Bagley of the state authority.

These figures were quoted in a recent letter from W. E. Herring, special assistant to Administrator Morris L. Cooke of the REA, to Mr. Hore. He further estimated that the cost of installing transformers, meters and other equipment necessary to connect with the rural electric lines should not cost more than $110 per customer, and hence not more than $330 a mile on lines averaging three customers per mile.

"Thus the entire cost, including transformers, meters and so forth, of building rural electric lines averaging three customers a mile should not exceed $1,000 per mile," Herring said.

These figures are in line with estimates made by the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority, according to Bagley, and for the first time show that the state authority and the Federal Rural Electrification Administration are in virtual agreement as to the maximum and minimum cost of building rural electric lines.

In order to be in a position to borrow from the Federal REA for the purpose of building rural electric lines, cities and towns with municipal plants will have to show that the proposed lines will pay sufficiently to liquidate the loans regardless of the credit standing of these cities and towns with the banks and bond buyers, Herring indicated. This is understood to mean that every proposed rural electric line must be a good business risk and to have enough customers to make it pay before the REA will finance it, according to Bagley.

GOV. SWEET MAKES TALK

Executive Speaks in Raleigh on Social Security

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Dec. 12.—It is not a question of whether economic security is more alluring than freedom, it is a matter of whether there will be any freedom left in America without economic security, former Gov. William E. Sweet, of Colorado, observed before a public luncheon gathering at the Sir Walter Hotel here today.

Communist feelings and extreme social theories, he said, are due to one thing—poverty.

"If we would save our American liberties, we should see to it that necessity and poverty are abolished from the land," Gov. Sweet declared. Governor Sweet's appearance here was sponsored by the Resettlement Administration, in which he holds the post of special assistant to Administrator R. G. Tugwell, with the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce cooperating. He was heard by a large gathering of public officials, civic and business leaders and regional executives of the Resettlement Administration. His subject was: "Resettlement, a Project in Human Conservation."

The speaker said he was not interested just now in whether or not people are persuaded to vote the "central ticket." "What I want," he declared, "is for people to be socially-minded and then, if it follows that they vote for a socially-minded administration, well and good."

Gov. Sweet stressed the "importance of social planning," and quoted President Roosevelt as saying "such planning is essential to the prosperity and happiness of the American people."

"Millions of persons are stranded on lands that cannot be farmed profitably," Gov. Sweet declared. "They could be cleared as economic refugees. They are the waste product of a cruelly inefficient social system. It realizes that the farmers never will get off of relief entirely. These are submarginal farmers just as there are submarginal lands. But the problem of the states and federal government, and the purpose of the resettlement program, is not merely to take care of the farmer at the top—33 other farm relief attempts have been designed—but also to take care of the farmer at the bottom."

The zoning of lands for various uses, after the manner of zoning streets for building, in cities, was indicated by Gov. Sweet.

"Is this resignation?" he asked. "Well, we have not taken time to examine our present living conditions closely enough, perhaps, but if we will do so we find that we are regimented now and will continue to be more and more with further development, and progress."

"There is nothing that so retards a man's mind as poverty. The working man looks beyond his own border when his nation leaves him behind. If we can replace poverty with economic security, both in the cities and the country, we need never fear, but we shall retain our democratic institutions and our American traditions. It is only by eradicating poverty that we can hope to keep America safe for democracy."

DUKE ALUMNI HEAR HOLTON

Summer School Director Addresses Annual Session

Declaring that a man is as big as the biggest thing he is a part of, Dr. Holland Holton, director of Duke University Summer schools, last night told more than 50 alumni of the college and guests each person who ever has attended the college is a distinct part of it.

The occasion was the regular annual dinner-meeting of the Pitt county Duke Alumni association. This year's meetings throughout the country also celebrated the 25th anniversary of Dr. William F. Few as head of the institution.

D. H. Conley, retiring president of the association, had charge of the affairs and conducted the program, introducing Dr. Holton and other speakers.

At a brief business session at the close of the meeting, the association adopted the report of the nominating committee, headed by Dr. J. M. Barrett.

Dr. Mark T. Frizzelle was named president for the ensuing year. Other officers elected were: David House, vice president; Vester Mill Hollis, secretary; treasurer, and Mrs. R. L. Coleman, Alumnae representative.

Dr. Holton briefly reviewed the growth of Duke university during the past years and recalled personal incidents, and some related to him by other graduates, which happened at the university in years past. In reminiscing he told of the days when the college football players had to use improvised shower baths and of the first swimming pool, which remained open only a few weeks each year. The incidents were related showing the comparison then and the institution as it is at present.

Emphasizing that each Duke graduate is a part of the institution, Dr. Holton said that criticism was always preferable to indifference. He said each person should take an attitude of "belonging," and recited instances where this feeling was inadvertently shown.

Following Dr. Holton's talk, Mr. Conley introduced Judge Dink James, of the Pitt county alumni association, of the University of North Carolina, who made a few remarks emphasizing the feeling he and other Carolina men had for the "friendly rival."

F. C. Hardig, dean of the Pitt bar and also a Carolina graduate, was introduced. Mr. Hardig said he wondered if "the colleges of our country cannot become our armies and navies in the future and guarantee the safety of the country our forefathers have built."

He asked if each Duke and Carolina was not as strong as fortresses, and added "if so let it become the defenders of our nation." He said he hoped to find the colleges in the future real guarantees of the safety of the country with centers of force and power to insure the country and dictate policies located at the institution.

Professor Koch at College

The spirit of Christmas prevailed at the College campus yesterday and last night. Dr. Koch's reading of Dickens' Christmas Carol in the afternoon drew a large audience of both College girls and the townspeople.

The End of The Century Club could not have made a happier choice of a Christmas gift to the community than this artistic and inspiring entertainment. The five hostesses who were responsible for bringing Dr. Koch to Greenville, were: Mrs. E. B. Ficklen, Mrs. R. M. Garrett, Mrs. J. S. Ficklen, Mrs. Charles O'H. Laughinghouse, and Mrs. J. L. Little.

The entire setting was in the Christmas spirit, with snow-like, spangled trees in the lobby and on the stage, and carols sung behind the scenes before the reading and between the staves or scenes, of the "Christmas Carol," and the windows darkened. Dr. Koch sat at a candle-light table in the front center of the stage, framed in by two tall Christmas trees.

The Y. W. C. A. of the College had charge of the decorations. The chorus that sang the carols was composed of the Glee Club and the Y. W. C. A. choir under the direction of Miss Kuykendall.

Dr. Koch and the hostesses were invited to be the guests of the College at the formal dinner. Dr. Koch could not accept because he had to leave immediately for Rocky Mount, where he again read the Carol last night.

The dinner last night was the Christmas dinner. The Ephemer class had charge of the arrangements. The table was beautifully decorated with holly sprays and red candles. A living Christmas tree, a beautiful holly in front of the dining hall, lighted with colored lights, was the surprise given the students by Mr. West, the electrician. A group of girls and boys, who were in the secret, gathered under the tree and sang carols as the others came out from the dinner.

Half the students and many of the faculty and the guests attended the last performance of the Senior Play. A holiday atmosphere pervaded that also.

Excellent Performance.

The final performance last night of "Easy Pickens," the senior play at the college, was excellent, and those in the audience who have followed senior plays for years say it ranks among the very successful plays produced by the graduating classes.

Miss Helen Dorich has again proved herself an able director. While the actors naturally get the credit for the success of the production as they are the ones before the footlights, there are others working behind the scenes who have a share in making it a success.

The committees that were responsible for this work are as follows: Production Committee, Helen Lassiter, Julia Johnson, Hyatt Forrest, Edna Knight and Bruce Simmons; Costume Committee, Elizabeth Wilson, Jamie Outland, Virginia Fryar, Elizabeth Hines and Ellen Jenkins; Make-Up Committee, Esther Mae Dennis and Julia Johnson; Publicity and Program Committee: Mae MacFarland, Edna Copeland, Edna Darden, Helen Taylor, Ruth Hofns and Annie Kornegay.

The assistant director was Miss Mary Beale Parker. The president of the senior class, Miss Ethel Vick, proved herself an able leader. The marshals also were chosen from the senior class. They were: Margaret Martin, Hattie Pearl Mallard, Anne Kornegay, Joy Deloich, Jean Tate, Elizabeth Peoples, Jewel Cole, Clara Mack Martin and Elizabeth Wilson.

The faculty advisors of the class are Miss Lucille Charlton and R. C. Deal.

Wins In Tennis Tournament.

Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 12.—Witnessed by a large and enthusiastic gallery was the deck tennis tournament held Saturday afternoon at the Sun and Surf Club. Mrs. Aubrey E. Shackell was the winner in the straight sets. The players, selected from a group, which has been in daily attendance at the patio courts, were coached for two weeks prior to Saturday's matches by Col. Ralph K. Strassman, winner of many cruise tournaments. Players in addition to Mrs. Shackell were Mrs. Edith F. Brown, Mrs. Strassman, and the Misses Beth Smith, Katherine Brainard, Mary and Joan Burdett, and Antoinette Grulich. Herbert F. Halverson served as referee.

Following the tournament Colonel Strassman and Jack A. Mitchell played an exhibition match, the former winning 3-2.

Entertains Club. Ayden, Dec. 12.—Wednesday afternoon Mrs. John Coward entertained the music department of the Woman's Club at her home on Second street.

Christmas greens of holly and pine, a silver tree with blue light on a reflector, and red lighted tapers were used for decorations. This with the Christmas program, which was arranged by Mrs. H. T. West and Mrs. A. C. D. Noe, filled the group with a real Christmas spirit.

The following program was given: "Silent Night" was sung as a chorus by all members of the department. Mrs. W. W. Salsbury gave a sketch of "Christmas Customs in Many Lands." Mrs. Sam Pierce and Mrs. J. B. Eure accompanied by Miss Virginia Bell Cooper at the piano, gave "The Story in Hymns" with Mrs. Pierce singing the carols and Mrs. Eure reading appropriate Bible selections.

Our unusual and artistic Christmas wreaths are certain to merit your approval and bring you added joy. GREENVILLE FLORAL COMPANY. (Adv.) 12-91

At the brief business session, which was held prior to the program, and presided over by the chairman, Miss Virginia Bell Cooper, final plans were made for the Christmas program which will be given by the Ayden Choral Club on Sunday evening, December 22, in one of the local churches. Mr. Bullock, the club director for this unit, will be present to direct the singing and will furnish some vocal selections himself. The town and community are invited to join the club in this celebration of the Saviour's birth.

Mrs. Coward and her daughter, Frances, served delicious chicken salad, olives, cheese and pimento sandwiches, salted peanuts and hot coffee to Mesdames Joe Whitaker, Sam Pierce, W. W. Salsbury, H. T. West, J. B. Eure, A. C. D. Noe, Allen Johnson and Miss Virginia Bell Cooper.

You may be getting tired of being reminded of it but time for your Christmas shopping is getting indeed short. There are just ten more shopping days before Christmas. Get busy now in order to avoid a last minute rush and disappointment in finding the store stocks

FOR A HAPPIER CHRISTMAS

With Christmas less than two weeks off, no doubt you are now making plans for an enjoyable holiday and let us urge you in making your plans not to overlook the matter of bringing happiness
to some family or person
who will probably have no Christmas enjoyment unless it is furnished by someone on the outside. There are in this community many needy persons and families who will have no Christmas unless they receive help and we urge our people to look about them now, find some family that needs help for Christmas and then include them in your Christmas
plans. Bringing joy and happiness to some unfortunate family this Christmas will make your own Christmas a happier and more enjoyable
one. Don't overlook this important part of the Christ-

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

judicial attack. They have framed substitutes for immediate consideration by Congress.
Secretary Wallace announces that he has eight alternatives to the AAA in its present form. Most of these depend upon vast use and extension of the taxing power, and so do substitutes for other challenged measures. In a quiet way Mr.
Wallace warns the court that it may be held responsible for higher taxes. What he didn't give out was that the levies will bear down
most severely on the very people who have promoted the legal onslaught on all these ventures.

DIFFICULT: Judicial destruction of vital reforms would precipitate a sensational rebellion in another quarter. FDR knows it.
Returning members of Congress
have set their faces against two New Deal tenets—further experimentation and spending. They want to get back to old-fashioned government. "Bob" Buchanan of Texas speaks for the majority as well as himself when he demands that costs be cut even at the expense of the Social Security establishment. Congressmen want to pass the appropriation bills and go home to prepare for the 1936 election.
It is doubtful if they would respond to White House demands for new laws to replace those thrown out by the court. They may patch up another AAA but they will not insist if other legislation is held unconstitutional. They will stand by the court. In that event the administration will face a crisis for which it doesn't know how to prepare. Mr. Roosevelt might fight the court but he can't take on both court and Congress. There are too many Democrats in the latter body.

NEVER MIND THE LADY

by David Garth

SYNOPSIS: Terry Willett and Allaire West have met for a few hours during the night. The outcome of the adventure is that a man is shot, and Terry takes the rap. But Allaire does not know the man who shot him; the impression Allaire has is that the man who shot him was a woman. Terry has gone back to his job, and Terry takes a lashing from the native police under the impression Allaire has written away without a word. Now Terry is hurrying back to his construction camp, where he is to be in charge of the 1000 feet and rapacious natives.

Chapter 15
DEFEAT
Terry rolled and rest up a few days. That was useless and Terry Corigan knew it. He went on usually—"There's been shootin' in the streets in Propion-aire."

Willett said nothing.
"If the post is mined—"
"Then I'll get out at Dos Rios and cut around Propionaire." Willett spoke with a snap and bite to his words. "Get a gang from one of those villages on the lower Palva and get ported over the river."
Corigan hesitated.
"I'm not trying to make it hard,
son, but those villages are tied up with the fever."
"I don't give a damn how hard it is," said Willett grimly. "I'll get through. Don't worry about that."
And Corigan abruptly knew that Terry Willett would get through. He had bet his last dollar on the tall redhead.

They rolled up near the small, drab banana steamer. The dock was littered with signs of the recent landing, straw, broad green leaves, burlap, blackened stems, and squashed
orange fruit.
Willett stuck out his hand.
"So long, Bucky."
"So long, fella. Maybe we'll be together on a job some place—be swell,
wouldn't it?"
"Sure," said Willett. "So long."
Corigan watched him walk quickly through the fine grey mesh of rain.
Then he leaned back in his seat,
stuck his feet against the partition and eyed his enquiring driver with an anti-Spig glare.
"Redmonie Bar, you punk."

UTILITY! It was expressed in every detail of the camp on the banks of that tropic river—futility, despair, and a malevolent frustration. There was no life—no sound except the humming of insects in that fever-ridden spot.
All was beaten and groveling—hedged in by a fringe of tangled vegetation and matted creepers that looked hollow and unreal—with a cursed muddy river licking the slimy bases of the pontoons that supported a would-be conqueror.
The clearing was scarcely larger than a child's playground—it was but a spot plucked from the jungle and slowly returning to its own-decaying, torpid, and heated in its pathetic civilization like the head of a vulture close to the sun.
The main hut that spoke Authority was square and flat-ceilinged with two-by-fours lining the walls; the window was jaggedly screened—insects mocked it as the river mocked
the dredger.
A work table was littered with crumpled blueprints and sheaves
of foolscap filled with sprawling calculations—two unmade coats with the mosquito netting in jumbled confusion over the disordered sheets—
and sickness and madness everywhere.
There was one thing that defied
the squalor and defeat of the place
—that was the tall bearded man who slouched wearily over a table. His eyes were very bright, too bright,
and the fine straight nose breathed jerkily, thin nostrils dilating like a racing thoroughbred's.

But, without a hint of Mayfair clung to him; a square appearance of the shoulders, the breeding in his face, the shape of the hand that troubled with a pen—perhaps.
He was writing, not faring to lose the chance of what might be a last lucid moment.
This is left for you should I not be able to last. I know you'll get here and whatever you find—hold up.
The usual last request nonsense—take me back to the States; Carteret, Virginia, is where I began—I'd like to return there. This unfaded word of sentiment will probably surprise you, but I know you'll respect this last wish—
For a moment a brief attempt at a smile appeared on his face. As if he cared where he was buried. But it was good enough as an excuse to get Terry out of the country should be
by any chance have had other ideas.
His eyes returned to his message,
the last vestige of humor gone, and he had to rest his head on his free hand as the pen resumed its shaky
progress.
—and take it easy for awhile.
Don't go rushing off to some Pluto's playground right away or I'll lose everything you try to build
—there are other things in life—
give them a chance and they'll find you—Cheerio,
Dad."

TACTICS: Several smart Republican managers were that. Spellbinders Hoover, Knox, Fish, Fletcher and Dickinson would suddenly develop a severe case of throat trouble.
"Every time they open their lips,"
says a canny western Senator often mentioned as a presidential prospect (not Senator Borah), "they spoil our chances. There's Knox discussing the bonus when the question may be settled through full payment long before the convention. There's Hoover opening old political scars and realligning March 3, 1933. There's Fletcher trying to openly to Big Business." President Roosevelt will be the only issue in 1936 according to this view. He will reflect or defeat himself by his acts. All the GOP can do is to wait around and take advantage of slips. The platform should promise such platitudes as sobriety of management, balancing of the budget, protection of the American farmer and worker. The voters will do the rest.

BONUS: You may not have noticed it but the political docters are applying no ether to ballyhoosers for the inflationary Patman bonus bill.
This plan to pay the veterans with greenbacks seemingly makes headway.
But that's part of the game. Veterans' lobbyists and influential Democrats want the Patman measure to occupy the stage for the opening act. When the proper cue is given they will shut it into the wings. Then they will line up behind a bill paying the ex-soldiers in bonds which they may cash immediately or hold until maturity.
The idea is to use the Patman measure as a blind. It is supposed to draw the Economy Leaguers' heaviest fire. The expectation is that the budget-balancers may be so happy at sidetracking the Tex-an's scheme that they will be glad to accept the milder proposal. And the administration can take credit for having staved off this particular kind of inflation. That's the bonus play for the next session.

New York
By JAMES McMULLIN
MIDDLE: Well-posted New Yorkers get word that Henry I.
Harriman—former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce—is being seriously considered for one of the vacancies on the Securities Exchange Commission.
This would be a neat stroke in several ways. Mr. Harriman qualifies as a utility man himself because of his association with New England States Power—one of the very few large holding groups to register. Therefore his appointment could be interpreted as added proof that the administration means to play fair with big business. The question could be pointedly raised that they shouldn't be afraid to register, with one of their own among their rulers. Public relations are currently a bigger factor than law in the tussle between the President and the power boys.
Mr. Harriman is far from an extreme right-winger, though he is certainly no radical. The utilities could have no assurance that he would always see things their way.
He would be about as close to a true middle-of-the-road selection as Mr. Roosevelt could find.

BUGABOO: Financial sources in close touch with Washington learn that three men stand currently at the head of the list of probable nominees for the new Federal Reserve Board (of course in addition to Marriner Eccles.) They are Joseph A. Broderick—former New York State Superintendent of Banking, Herman Ophant—counsel for the Treasury Department, and John Henry Williams—economic ad-

EXEMPT: Add one more headache to the Securities Exchange Commission's burden of complicated grief. The Commission prides itself on its encouragement of necessary financing. Utility operating companies which are subsidiaries of unregistered holding companies have legitimate financing problems.

viser to the New York Federal Reserve Bank.
New York bankers admit that all three would be good men in the sense that they have practical experience and are versed in the principles of sound banking. Broderick did a good job as State Superintendent and Ophant has attracted favorable attention in his work for the Treasury. Yet their selection wouldn't be entirely reassuring to right wingers.

This uneasy attitude traces to frank doubt that such appointees
would have enough independence to tuck the administration if their judgment differed from its wishes. Political manipulation of the credit machinery is still a big bad bugaboo to New York's financial giants.
CAMPAIGNER: The GOP drive
for cash contributions will start with a bang around the first of the year. Eastern leaders decided they could use the services of a man with the pep of a high school cheer leader. A list was submitted and Malcolm Baldrige of Omaha, Nebraska was chosen for the job. He is now in New York and will soon
open offices in Radio City.

Baldrige temporarily closed his law office in Omaha to accept the honor. It is understood he will get a handsome retainer. He will remain in New York until the Repu-lican convention starts and will have full charge of the party's financial campaign covering the North Atlantic states.

But they add that the same definition would not have applied to 1929 either. Inventories in that year stood at an index of 150 compared with the 1929 normal of 100,
while the unemployed were estimated to number between three and four million. So the means of payment were not then increasing faster than goods could have been produced. "But if what we had in 1929
wasn't inflation, what in heck would you call it?"

SANTA and the IRON QUEEN

BY SIGRID ARNE

SYNOPSIS: Santa promises to make a silver dragon for the Iron Queen in whose kingdom he is held prisoner. A mag'ic bee has followed him and promises to help.

Chapter IV THE ELVES HELP SANTA

Santa was left in the great court of the Iron Queen's palace with the block of silver for which he had asked. The maue he was alone he whispered to the bee, "What shall I do? I can't make this dragon in one night."

The bee buzzed back, "Don't worry. Just climb a stool and open a window for me." Santa did, and the bee flew out like a golden streak. Santa sat down very dejectedly. The court was full of shadows, the doors were barred and Santa was hungry. He reached in his pocket and pulled out a peppermint stick.

Before he had finished the stick the bee was buzzing in again followed by the queen of fairies and a hundred elves from toyland.

"My goodness," she said as she lit on Santa's hand. "We were looking for you, and your bee saved us a great deal of time. B-r-r! It's cold in here. Let's hurry."

In a minute the elves began peeling fine sheets off the silver block, cutting and shaping the silver till it looked like hundreds of dragon scales. Soon Santa could see the body, tail and snorting head of a dragon take form. Before midnight the dragon was finished. His bright red eyes were two rubies which the queen of fairies took from her crown and placed in his head. When the dragon was finished she waved her hand and said, "Now, inside."

"Now, Santa," said the fairy queen, "when the Iron Queen comes in ask her to ride the dragon. Leave the rest to us. Get some sleep. Oh, first—"

She waved her hand and there stood a fine dinner table with a stack of steaming apple fritters and a pitcher of milk. Then she disappeared. Santa ate his dinner and curled up on a bench to sleep.

The Iron Queen and her court woke him the next morning. She willingly sat on the dragon's back, and as soon as she did a silver belt snapped up from the sides around her waist. Then the sides flew up like wings and the hidden elves flew right out the window carrying the dragon and the queen.

About 20 little fellows caught Santa by his boots, his sleeves and his belt and whizzed him too, out the window before the Queen's soldiers could move.

FAT GIRLS GET THE GO-BY—SLIM GIRLS WIN MEN

Less Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.
There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.
Now, physicians combat this condition by forcing this gland the substance it lacks—millions of pounds of excess fat has been melted out this way.
Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same scientific method used by doctors. So why not lose fat the easy way—without starvation diets or back-breaking, bending and rolling exercises? Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get Marmola today from druggists.

Pou, pou—the elves slipped inside the dragon's body, and when they were all in they pulled the sides down about them.

"Now, Santa," said the fairy queen, "when the Iron Queen comes in ask her to ride the dragon. Leave the rest to us. Get some sleep. Oh, first—"

She waved her hand and there stood a fine dinner table with a stack of steaming apple fritters and a pitcher of milk. Then she disappeared. Santa ate his dinner and curled up on a bench to sleep.

"Built to Take It"

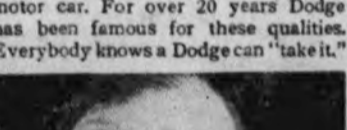

Says Frank Buck, Famous Explorer

"Treking" through the jungles has taught me that there is no substitute for ruggedness and dependability in a motor car. For over 20 years Dodge has been famous for these qualities. Everybody knows a Dodge can "take it."

Added to these attributes Dodge has been smashing all economy records—and as for the new 1935 Dodge... there are reports from new Dodge owners all over the country stating they are getting 18 to 24 miles to the gallon of gasoline—and saving up to 20% on oil.

TO TOP IT ALL—this big, new, Money-Saving Dodge has been acclaimed the "Beauty Winner" of 1935 by famous fashion authorities in all parts of the country. Yet Dodge now costs only a few dollars more than the lowest priced cars.

Graham Expected Favor State Or County Stores

Candidate Also Expected Be Anti-Administration

FRIENDS URGE FAVOR LIQUOR

Bone Dry Voters Described As Already Having Lined Up With Clyde Hoey

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Dec. 11 — Lieutenant-Governor A. H. Graham is expected to come out in the open as favoring either county or state liquor stores and central, depending upon what the counties prefer as indicated in county-wide elections, before many weeks pass by, according to those professing to be in keeping in close touch with the campaign plans of this candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Graham is also expected to be sufficiently critical of the present state administration as to displace the rumors now being put out by followers of the other two leading candidates that he is the "administration candidate" for the nomination, several of his supporters indicate.

It is no secret here that for many weeks now some of Graham's very strongest supporters both here and elsewhere have been urging him to take a definite, out-in-the-open position as favoring liquor stores and liquor control, and whatever form the counties prefer in county referenda and to bring about an open break with the present Ehringhaus administration in order to dispel the reports that have been in circulation for many weeks that he is the "administration candidate." As to whether or not he will follow these two recommendations, remains to be seen. But Graham's friends and supporters maintain that he has nothing to lose and a great deal to gain if he will make these two moves, and make them soon.

With regard to his liquor control stand, it is pointed out that he has virtually no chance of getting any of the bone-dry prohibitionist votes, since it is generally conceded that the bone-drys have already lined up back of Clyde R. Hoey of Shelby almost 100 percent. Reports reaching here are to the effect that whenever Cale K. Burgess, executive secretary of the United Dry Forces in the State, goes out to make his fund-raising speeches that he generally interpolates a few sentences praising Hoey and urging the "drys" to support him. Back during the 1935 general assembly, Burgess freely states that with all it has done and is not its as entirely acceptable to them for Governor and predicted his nomination. Accordingly, it is maintained that Graham cannot expect any votes from the drys, with the result that he must make his candidacy appeal to the "liberal drys" who favor liquor control, and also the out-and-out wets. He can do this by advocating a state liquor control law which will permit the people in the various counties to vote in county option elections, on whether they want state stores or county stores, or a system of state-controlled stores from which fifty percent of the revenue will be left in the counties, it is maintained.

A good many observers also believe that Graham will strengthen his position considerably if he will demonstrate to the public as soon as possible that he is not the "administration candidate" or "machine candidate," and that, if elected, his administration will not be a continuation of the present administration. Accordingly, some of Graham's supporters are advising him to either bring about an open break with the present administration or else make it very clear that he is not in full accord with the United Drys regarding Hoey candidate. For reports reaching here are to the effect that Dr. McDonald and his supporters are attempting to paint both Graham and Hoey as "administration candidates" who, if elected, would carry on virtually the same type of state government as has prevailed in the past, and that the Hoey forces, when Hoey is spoken of as the "administration candidate," immediately reply that Graham and not Hoey is the candidate who has been selected to become the "heir apparent." In other words, many of Graham's friends are convinced that the other two leading candidates are attempting to make "Sandy the goat" by trying to make him out to the public as the "crown prince" of the present administration.

In order to combat this double-barrelled, nut-cracker effort of his opponents to squeeze him out of the campaign by attempting to make him out as the "administration candidate," many of his supporters think he should not lose any time in shattering this argument. They maintain that it is the prevailing belief of those "in the know" that Hoey is the real "administration candidate" and that he rather than Graham will get the benefit of whatever influence it can bring to bear in the campaign. They also maintain that Graham is the only real "liberal" candidate.

NEW LICENSE ON SATURDAY

1936 Auto Tags to Go On Sale December 14th

Raleigh, Dec. 11.—The new 1936 automobile license plates will go on sale Saturday morning, December 14, both at the automobile license bureau here as well as at the more than 60 branch offices over the state, due to the fact that December 15 falls on Sunday, Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell announced here today.

According to the law, sale of new licenses is not supposed to start until December 15, but since that date falls on Sunday, it was decided to open the sale on Saturday instead.

The more than 500,000 license application cards, showing how much each automobile owner registered with the motor vehicle bureau will have to pay for his license this year, since the 1935 assembly reduced the rate for passenger car licenses about 15 percent, have already been mailed to all the car owners and these should reach them all by Friday of this week.

Car owners should be careful to preserve these application cards and not misplace them, since all that is necessary to obtain a new license is to write a check or obtain a money order for the amount shown on the card and mail them both that card and check to the license bureau, Department of Revenue, here in Raleigh; and the new license plates will be sent by return mail. Or if a car owner lives in one of the 62 cities and towns where licenses are to be sold by branch offices of the Carolina Motor Club and the Winston-Salem Motor Club, he may buy his license with cash or check from one of these branch offices. Mail orders will be filled from the Raleigh office only, however.

Since the sales period this week will be only 15 days, or only 12 business days, since two Sunday and Christmas days are included in this period, automobile owners are urged to order or purchase their new licenses as soon as possible in order to avoid the rush during the last few days and the delay that may result. As in the past, drivers who do not have their new licenses attached to their cars by January 1 will be subject to arrest.

Grifton Loses In Doubleheader To Grimesland Teams

Grimesland defeated the Grifton Bulldogs by the score of 17 to 16. Grimesland led at the half by the score of 12 to four.

The "Bulldogs" knawed their way back in the last half to score 12 points while the Grimesland boys were scoring 5. This was one of the best games seen here this year.

The game was won on a free throw in the last thirty seconds to play.

The Grifton girls lost to the Grimesland lasses by the score of 19 to 24. Miss Verma Craft led the boys with 17 points. Miss Gladson led the visitors with 15 points.

Writers Are Asked to Serve on Board of Football Group

Boone, Dec. 12.—Several of the state's most prominent writers and dignitaries have been invited to serve on the North State Board of High School Football. Heading this list is Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus.

Several outstanding sports writers have also been asked to sit in as honorary members. Some of these are Jake Wade, Charlotte Observer, Edward V. Mitchell, Greensboro Daily News, Frank Spencer, Winston-Salem Journal, and Anthony McKeelvin, Raleigh News and Observer.

Grady Cole, sports commentator of radio station WBT in Charlotte has also been asked, due to his fine work to better high school football within the state.

Answers which have been flowing in from the coaches and honorary members all indicate that the movement has gained the fancy of the sports world's eye, and that it will be a fixture for quite a while in the state.

Members of the Board are being asked to assist in the coaching of the all-star high school teams, which are to train for their New Year's Day Tobacco Bowl game. Practically all have accepted this offer. The non-active members have also been tendered invitations to attend the Tobacco Bowl game.

Annual Meeting of Extension Workers To Start Dec. 17

Plans for conducting more comprehensive extension service to be discussed.

College Station, Raleigh, Dec. 12.—The annual conference of agricultural extension workers in North Carolina will be held at State College, December 17-20, it was announced today.

The workers will review the accomplishments of the past year and discuss plans for conducting a more comprehensive extension program in 1936, said Dean I. O. Schaub, director of the extension service.

With the development of a long-time agricultural program for the state, the extension service is also turning more attention to the many social aspects of country life, the dean said.

Among the different phases of extension work to be studied will be: organization and management of the extension program in the different counties; cooperation of farm and home agent in agricultural and home economics program; 4-H club work with rural boys and girls; community club house projects.

The value of project leaders in home demonstration club work, effective organization of Negro work, cooperative work with the TVA in western North Carolina, the AAA crop adjustment programs, and cooperative planning with rural rehabilitation.

Prominent speakers will include: Dr. C. W. Warburton, director of Federal extension service; Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina; M. L. Wilson, assistant secretary of Agriculture; Dr. Clarence Post, editor of the Progressive Farmer; Carl F. Tauch, of the AAA program planning division; and Mordcael Ezekiel, economic advisor to the Secretary of Agriculture.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS

"OLD DRUM SUITS MY PALATE—FITS MY PURSE."

writes J. E. Remington, 3321 Sheffield Ave., Chicago, Ill.

"ALTHOUGH my salary isn't big and every-day expenses keep me hopping, I'm a stickler for quality," continues Mr. Remington. "The whiskey I drink and serve my friends to is Old Drum. That's why I've got to hand it must be good. Old Drum's taste and smoothness suit my palate to a 'T', and its price justness suits my purse. I tell my friends that if they want a real, high quality whiskey at a low price, Old Drum is the brand for them."

AMERICA AGREES OLD DRUM ACTUALLY WORTH 40% MORE!

Old Drum—today's whiskey sensation! Voted in nation-wide poll of palates to be worth at least 40% more than it sells for! Bringing to sensible Americans a "drinkable" whiskey at a "cents-ible" price! Winning new thousands everywhere on taste, quality and value alone! Discover Old Drum for yourself—the low priced whiskey that's distilled from the same top quality grain used for costliest whiskeys. Compare it with any "straight" or "blend" in its price class. You'll agree with the thrifty thousands who are saying—"You can't beat Old Drum!"

BOOTLEGGERS SAID PLEASSED

Supreme Court Opinion Favorable to Them

Reflector Bureau.
St. Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Dec. 11.—North Carolina bootleggers are snickering up their sleeves today as a result of the opinion handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court in Washington Monday holding unconstitutional those sections of the alcoholic tax laws which imposed additional or "penalty" taxes on liquor dealers or manufacturers in states still having state prohibition laws, and who had not paid the regular Federal taxes on liquor dealers and manufacturers.

As a result of this decision, according to several lawyers and one Judge consulted here today, the Federal Government can no longer require bootleggers and manufacturers of illicit liquor to pay double the Federal tax of $2 a gallon, as it has been doing. Nor can it assess the much higher taxes upon liquor dealers and manufacturers in "dry" states, running as high as $1,000 each, it is pointed out. For the U. S. Supreme Court held that the laws under which these higher taxes have been assessed against liquor dealers and manufacturers in "dry" states were really penalties and not taxes and hence invaded the authority of the individual states.

Accordingly, all a bootlegger or "liquor dealer" in North Carolina or other "dry" states will now have to do is be free from danger of arrest by Federal "T" Men, as the agents of the Alcoholic Tax Unit are now known, will be to purchase a Federal Liquor Dealers' License, it was indicated here today. If this dealer handles only Government tax-paid liquor, he will not be subject to arrest for Federal agents at risk—his only risk of arrest will be from county or city officers, it is understood. But if a liquor dealer should choose to run the risk of selling non-tax-paid "bootleg" liquor on which the Government tax of $2 a gallon has not been paid and without going to the trouble to get a Federal liquor dealer's license, all the "T Men" can now do, according to most legal opinion here today, is to collect the tax of $2 a gallon and require them to pay the license fee, or else arrest him for tax evasion.

Hunters Rewarded With Large Bags Lake Matamukeet

Hunting on Public Shooting Grounds Proving Particularly Attractive Now

Reflector Bureau.
St. Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Dec. 12.—Great concentrations of migratory waterfowl on the federal refuge at Lake Matamukeet are making hunting on the public shooting grounds particularly attractive, according to reports reaching here.

This famous winter feeding grounds for geese and ducks, totaling some 50,000 acres in extent, is into federal possession though came into federal possession through purchase more than a year ago, and some 12,000 acres were set aside for public hunting under the direction of the Department of Conservation and Development by the U. S. Biological Survey.

Most of the hunters visiting the lake, according to J. D. Chalk, state game and inland fisheries commissioner, are reporting satisfactory success. A family hunting team consisting of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Savage, of Wilmington, the commissioner said, bagged their limit of four geese each in one morning and also brought in 11 ducks by noon. The following day they took their limit of geese and 15 ducks and were back at their room by 11 o'clock in the morning. Only about one week remains in the open season for migratory waterfowl, which closes December 19.

Some See Merit In Sen. Fess' Warning On G. O. P. Politics

Ohio Senator Says If Must Compromise as Well Endorse Roosevelt For Re-Election. By HERBERT PLUMMER Washington, D. C.—(AP)—While his advice may not be taken, Republican politicians realize the warning of former Senator Fess of Ohio that if the G. O. P. is to compromise with the "new deal" party might as well endorse Roosevelt for reelection and let it go at that, has some merit.

ches in '36. Others are of the belief that it will be a mistake to clamp down too severely on agencies such as the AAA with its benefit checks to the farmers. Another of Fess' observations, coming as it does from a member of the Republican old guard in a pivotal state like Ohio, attracted the attention of politicians here. "Candidates are mere incidents of importance," he said, "only measured by the philosophy advocated. To talk about the Republicans considered as candidates men who voted for the AAA or NRA, or the other socialistic nostrums, including the financial masquerading, inflation, the silver debauch and the wild spending, raises the question, 'Why don't the Republicans endorse Roosevelt and be done with principles of government?'"
