FARM PLANS TO BE READY BY WEEK-END

Sen. Robinson Makes Statement After Conference

DECLINES TO SAY WHAT THEY'LL BE

Sen. Norris Expresses Opinion No Act Regulating Farm Production Valid

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, predicted after a luncheon conference with President Roosevelt today that a new farm program to replace the AAA would be ready for congressional consideration by the end of the week.

He declined to express an opinion as to what the program would be. "It is felt that within a few days, probably by the end of the week, a draft of the legislation relating to the AAA will be completed and ready for submission," he said.

"Work on the drafting is now in progress. I will not attempt to announce its provisions."

He said he was not informed whether the President would submit a special message to Congress.

Earlier in the day Senator Norris (R.-Neb.) had expressed to farm leaders a view that no law regulating agriculture production would be held constitutional in the light of the Supreme Court's AAA decision.

His opinion was given at a Senate agricultural committee meeting, summoned to hear farm views on AAA's replacement. The large committee room, jammed with farmers, became suddenly quiet when Norris said:

"I don't believe it possible to pass any law that in any way regulates agricultural production that would be constitutional."

"I hate to say it."

Earl Smith of the Illinois Farm Bureau Federation, was the witness at the time.

Norris expressed "entire agreement" with the recommendations which the farm group made to the administration—that soil conservation and domestic allotments be the basis of a new program.

"I think the decision was wrong. Badly wrong," Norris said. "I had thought the act was constitutional, and think so yet."

He was applauded loudly.

1935 Fire Loss For City Far Greater Than In 1934

Damage During Year 1935 Estimated at $66,920

COMPARES WITH $20,090.00 IN 1934

Fire Department Asks Citizens to Remember "Lower Loss Is Lower Insurance"

During 1935 the Greenville fire department battled a total of 49 fires, nine less than the 58 calls it answered in 1934, but the total damage of fires last year was nearly three times more than it was in the previous year.

The report issued today by Chief George Gardner of the department showed that all fires in 1935 did damage estimated at $66,920. This figure compares with damage totaling $20,090 in 1934.

The 1935 loss was accounted for chiefly by the big fire which destroyed the J. E. Winslow and company stables, store and a tin shop inside the stables belonging to J. B. Tyndall. The blaze did damage estimated at $50,500 of the entire destruction of $66,920 for the year.

The next largest fire during the period was Lautares candy palace, which occurred late in December.

The biggest damage suffered from any one fire in 1934 was to the Garris Evans Lumber company. The damage was estimated at $10,000. A blaze during that period did damage of approximately $4,108 to the Moore's tobacco storage house.

The fire department called upon the citizens of the city to aid in keeping the fire damage in 1936 at a minimum by remembering the organization's slogan, "practice fire prevention as lower loss means lower fire insurance."

Thus far this year no fire of any material damage has been reported.

The Wilson application asked for funds to construct 157 miles of lines to serve 864 stations.

DR. M'DONALD CLAIMS STATE SOAKING POOR

Ties in Praise for Roosevelt in Leaks-ville Speech

MAKES ANSWER TO CHALLENGE

Obviously Refers to Jackson Day Dinner Speech Ehringhaus Made at Greensboro

Leaksville, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Tying in a praise for the police of President Roosevelt with a blistering attack on the Ehringhaus-Gardner-Graham-Hoy machine, Dr. Ralph W. McDonald seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, brought his campaign here today.

The Winston-Salem man accused the state administration of leading North Carolina "in exactly the opposite direction from the New Deal program of President Roosevelt."

"A high spokesman for the machine recently issued a challenge for 'specific criticism' said Dr. McDonald, obviously referring to the Jackson Day dinner address in Greensboro of Governor Ehringhaus. "Every item here mentioned is a specific fact of record, not a matter of mere opinion."

"While Roosevelt has saved business by restoring purchasing power this North Carolina combine has imposed a blanket reduction upon purchasing power by levying a sales tax."

"Roosevelt has secured the passage of tax laws based upon ability to pay, while the North Carolina machine has shifted tax burden from wealth to poverty. Roosevelt and his advisers have condemned the sales tax as a means to 'soak the poor' but these North Carolina politicians fight desperately to retain the sales tax to serve wealth and privilege."

In summing up, Mr. McDonald charged that the real power behind present state policies is provided by "Liberty League connection with the larger banking powers tobacco and other special interests in North Carolina."

MARK CENTERS OF ALL ROADS

Centerlining of All Highways Be Ordered Soon

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Jan. 14.—The center lining of all hard surfaced highways as an essential safety measure has been virtually decided upon by the State Highway and Public Works Commission and within the very near future orders will be issued to the maintenance forces to start painting a center stripe on all highways—the straight sections as well as on curves and hills. It was learned today from an authoritative source.

For several years sentiment has been increasing in favor of the continuous line on all hard surfaced roads as a safety measure and the highway department has experimented with the continuous stripe on several sections of highway. But so far it has not made any move to center stripe all the roads.

Indications now are, however, that the commission has virtually decided that the center stripe is necessary in order to reduce accidents and that the cost of putting down the stripe, while high, is a necessary part of the cost of maintaining the highways. Consequently it is expected that within the near future the commission will announce that from now on all paved highways will be center striped continuously, instead of only on hills and curves, as in the past.

Couzens further quoted Morgenthau as saying that the $11,000,000 of funds needed for the rest of this and the next fiscal year included an estimated $2,000,000 for relief not including the President's budget, $1,500,000,000 which the President estimated as next year's deficit; $2,000,000,000 if the bonus is paid and $5,500,000,000 of refinancing operation.

NAVAL PARLEY TO CONTINUE

Decision Reached After Conference of Delegates

London, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The international naval conference will continue with or without the Japanese, it was learned authoritatively today after the American and British held a long conference at the foreign office.

The decision was reached after authoritative source had reported Admiral Osami Nagano would pronounce an end to Japanese cooperation in international naval limitations tomorrow unless something come up to inject new life into the five-power parley.

Delegates of the other four powers—Britain, the United States, France and Italy—intend, however, to proceed with the original agenda of the conference, discussing building plans, limitations and kindred subjects outlined when the discussions began early in December.

The American and British determined their stand after a two hour session described as "thoroughly informative and harmonious" with both delegations in complete agreement on all aspects.

YOUNG AIRMAN MAKES RECORD

Flies Across Country In Less Than Ten Hours

New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—America's newest speed king of aviation, Howard Hughes, a youthful daredevil from California, crowned his thrilling air achievements today by completing the fastest trans-continental flight ever made.

Hughes flew without a stop from Burbank, Calif., to Newark, N. J., in nine hours 27 minutes and 10 seconds—smashing by more than half an hour the record of 10 hours, two minutes and 51 seconds set by Col. Roscoe Turner, September 2, 1934.

The new record-holder flew most of the distance at 8,000 feet, breathing part of the time from a tank of oxygen.

He attained a speed of 295 miles an hour over one long stretch. His flight covered approximately 2,450 miles and he averaged close to 260 miles an hour for the entire distance.

"I've been wanting to do this for three years," said Hughes, erstwhile Hollywood film producer. "I feel pretty good about it."

For the period August to December, 1935, exports were 3,452,000 bales valued at $222,183,000, against 2,338,000 bales valued at $165,005,000 in the same 1934 period.

BRITISH SHIPS STEAM TOWARD MAIN GATEWAY

French Negotiations For Peace At a Standstill

CLAIM DEMANDS ARE IMPOSSIBLE

Refuse to Withdraw Declaration of Italy as Aggressor in East African Conflict

Dessey - Ethiopia.—By Exchange Telegraph—An Ethiopian communique said today that Italian planes had bombed Sakota, 125 miles northwest of Dessey, on January 10, wrecking the church of St. Mary's and killing or injuring 10 of the congregation.

Three gas bombs blinded 10 other Ethiopians, the announcement said.

(By The Associated Press) British war ships steamed southward today toward the Gibraltar gateway to the Mediterranean as Premier Pierre Laval of France began a period of watchful waiting for settlement of the East African war.

Although sources at London said the massing of the English craft off the coast of Spain was a defensive preparation against any Mediterranean attacks.

The departure of the British ships left the Island without the protection of its major naval strength, although a part of the cruising fleet held back to await the arrival of four warships withdrawn from stations in the southern waters.

French sources said Premier Laval had been prepared to initiate new conciliation efforts until a conference with Dittorio Gerutti, Italian ambassador, who reported Premier Mussolini as insisting the league withdraw its declaration of Italy as aggressor in the African conflict.

This, it was reported, the French considered impossible.

Laval also discussed the war situation with Jesse I. Strauss, United States ambassador and Japan and Belgian envoys.

STATE BANK IN ANNUAL MEET

C. W. Harvey Presides Over Stockholders Session

The annual meeting of the stockholders of State Bank and Trust Co., was held in the Mayor's office this morning. In the absence of President B. B. Sugg, Vice President C. W. Harvey, in his remarks to stockholders, Mr. Harvey stated the bank had enjoyed the most successful year of its existence and that earnings for 1935 were well ahead of the year 1934 and in fact was the best in the bank's history.

In view of the successful earning record in the past the Directors declared a dividend of 2 per cent on the stock payable October 1st, 1935 and has since declared a like dividend for each quarter.

Cashier, John Mitchell in his report went more into detail advising stockholders that total earnings of the bank for the year 1935 amounted to approximately $29,000. Of this amount $4,000 was used to increase reserves; $4,000 in payment of two quarterly dividends on common stock and $21,000 increase in surplus and undivided profits.

Mr. Mitchell further stated that in accordance with authority granted by stockholders at the last annual meeting the $25,000 outstanding preferred stock would soon be retired and that upon the retirement of this stock the Capital account of the bank would consist of $100,000 common stock and that Surplus, Undivided Profits and Reserves would be in excess of $100,000.

Several short talks were made by stockholders present in which the Board of Directors and Officers were commended for their successful management of the bank's affairs. After report of the entire old Board of Directors consisting of J. H. Blount, P. W. Brown, J. Key Brown, R. M. Garrett, C. W. Harvey, W. S. Mays, B. B. Sugg, Jr., C. Sugg, K. R. Wooten and John Mitchell, the meeting adjourned.

Man Held In Jail Here For Attempt To Kidnap Two Morton Children

THREE KILLED IN GUN BATTLE

Kidnaped Victim Abandoned After Part Ransom Paid

Guanajay, Cuba, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Three accused kidnapers were shot to death in a running gun battle with Cuban soldiers today a few hours after Paulino Gorostiza, 28-year-old son of a well-to-do manufacturer, had been abandoned by his abductors in the foothills near the village.

The battle was fought near the spot where the kidnap victim was found after his abductors had been hemmed in by 700 soldiers, sailors and police.

Gorostiza, uninjured and apparently in good health, was brought to Guanajay by his rescuers. It was reported his family already had paid half of a $50,000 ransom demanded for his release.

COREY PRAISES PATROL FORCE

Senator Says Force Curbs Drunken Drivers

The drivers' license law and the enlarged highway patrol are putting the fear of the law in the hearts of motorists throughout the eastern part of the state and already causing a big decrease in drunken and reckless driving, declared to State Senator Arthur B. Corey of Greenville, author and principal sponsor of the drivers' license law in the 1935 general assembly.

Senator Corey was also one of the principal backers of the law which increased the size of the state highway patrol to 120 patrolmen.

"In Pitt and adjoining counties, even though we have legal liquor stores, there has been a very decided decrease in drunken driving since the state drivers' license law went into effect November 1," Senator Corey said. "In this county most of the habitually drunken and reckless drivers have already had their licenses revoked, so we are not having much trouble now."

"A friend of mine told an incident which shows that the public is already waking up to the fact that the drivers' license law really has some teeth in it. It seems that two men went into a liquor store and bought a few pints and that one proposed they open a bottle and take a drink before they started home. But the other man declined, pointing out that he had to do the driving and that he was not going to run the risk of losing his driver's license. The result was that both decided to wait until they got home before taking a drink."

Officers expressed the belief that possibly Deaver had asked for the ride back to Raleigh with Honeycutt, with a plan in mind to dispose of Honeycutt once the children were in the car and make his getaway with the children.

Mr. Morton seemed of the opinion that Honeycutt knew something about the alleged plot and was in on it.

Mr. Morton was divorced from his first wife a number of years ago and has had custody of the two children since. He said previous attempts had been made to take the children.

A number of letters, supposedly from the former Mrs. Morton, were found on the person of Deaver. Chief Clark said they indicated the plan was for the man to come on down to Greenville and get the lay of the land and she would join him later. He added, these plans might have been changed, and Deaver decided to go ahead and get the children.

County Agent Tells Farmers Abide by Old Acreage

County Agent E. F. Arnold today advised Pitt county farmers to "pitch their crops with caution" so they may be able to cooperate in any new farm program enacted by the present Congress and receive benefits accruing from it.

Since the Department of Agriculture and Congressional leaders are making every effort to enact a satisfactory substitute for the old agricultural adjustment administration, Mr. Arnold suggested to the farmers that they not exceed the tobacco and cotton acreage planted in 1934.

A statement issued by the county agent follows:

"This office has been advised that the Agricultural Department in Washington and leaders in Congress are making every effort possible to put into effect a substitute program for the AAA. Therefore, it will be necessary for farmers to pitch their crops with caution in order that they may be able to cooperate with the new program and (Continued on Page Six)

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

Washington

By RAY TUCKER

FAVORITE: Dictator Mussolini has administered a sharp snub to the Roosevelt administration in reprisal for its embargo and neutrality policies.

Three months ago the War and Navy Departments assigned officers as observers on the northern Ethiopian front. That was before the United States barred exports of war materials and frowned on raw stuff and oil. Deuce readily consented. But Capt. Norman Fisk, our military attache, still hangs around the American embassy at Rome. He can get credentials for the front. Col. Del Valle, our naval observer, has got as far as Asmara, but only because a U. S. naval vessel dumped him there.

Now there turns up on the advanced Makale front Civilian William J. Donovan, New Yorker and Assistant Attorney General under Hoover. Mussolini must know that Col. Donovan was the personal, political adviser of Hoover in both the Smith and Roosevelt campaigns.

Perhaps no Republican is so well known as acting postmaster at Washington, North Carolina.

Brown Bomber Saves 'Sunday Punch'

—Doesn't Know How Hard He Can Hit

Both Joe Louis and Trainer Jack Blackburn claim the Brown Bomber never has loosed his stiffest blow—because he doesn't want to punish an opponent unnecessarily. Charley Retzlaff (shown above with Louis), called the "condemned man" because he meets Louis in a 15-round bout at Chicago, January 17, may sojace himself with this training-camp statement.

By CHARLES DUNKLEY (Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO (AP)—Joe Louis, the most murderous puncher since the days of Jack Dempsey, doesn't know how hard he can hit.

His heart is too big, he confessed, to really let his hardest blow go to the chin of a helpless opponent in the ring.

Sprawled on a rubbing table in a gymnasium, Louis said he just didn't have the heart to do it.

"Why should I?" he asked, looking up. "If I can whip them without it. People are taking this fighting business too seriously. I don't like to punish a man unnecessarily. Why, when I knocked Paulino Uscudun sprawling to the floor, I didn't hit him with my right when he got up, but jabbed him. I could have murdered him if I wanted to, but there ain't no sense in that."

Sykes Took 'Sunday Punch.'

The hardest blow Louis recalls landing was on the chin of Art Sykes, Elmira, N. Y., heavyweight, whom the Detroit Bomber knocked as stiff as a mackerel in one of his earlier bouts in Chicago. That blow, Louis says, hurt him more than it did Sykes. He confessed that he cried afterwards.

It was always the boast of John L. Sullivan that he never hit them as hard as he could, but Louis had never heard about that.

Jack Blackburn, one of the greatest welterweights who ever lived, now Louis' trainer, cut in with the explanation that the Detroit Negro had never hit an opponent as hard as he could because there was no need of it. The reason, he said, was because the referee had always stopped Louis' battles before he could let fly with a finishing blow that would knock his foe unconscious. But Blackburn doubts that Louis would do it anyway.

'Joe's A Counter-Puncher'

"He don't have to," Blackburn said. "You know he's a counter-puncher, and always lets fly with short punches whenever he sees an opponent make a move coming toward him. A man standing erect in the ring can take an awful wallop on the chin, but the same punch landing on his whiskers when he's charging at you does the damage. That's the way Louis fights. Whenever he sees a head coming at him, he just lets it fly. The impact knocks 'em flat."

The 64-year-old Blackburn predicts Louis will be unbeatable for the next five years. He is taking on weight rapidly and may be a 220-pounder by next summer when he fights Max Schmeling.

TOURNEY DATE CHANGE MADE

East Carolina Tournament Set For Last of February

Wilson, Jan. 11.—The second annual boys' basketball tourney for Eastern North Carolina high schools will be staged by Atlantic Christian College on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, February 27, 28, and 29, instead of March 5, 6, and 7 as previously announced. Officials of the Athletic Council said today.

The date for the tournament has been moved up one week in order not to conflict with the Southern Conference Basketball Tournament which will be in process the first week-end in March.

The tourney this year will be staged for three consecutive days rather than two days as was the case last year. This will make it possible to issue invitations to a larger number of teams than was done last year.

Twenty-two teams representing fifteen counties, and coming from Wake county to Dare and Wilmington to Murfreesboro, took part in last year's meet. It is hoped, said athletic officials, that 30 or 32 teams will be asked to participate in the 1936 tourney.

In notification letters sent out several weeks ago, coaches and county superintendents were informed that winners of county tourneys would automatically be accepted as participating teams in the A. C. C. tournament. Last year, the record shows, about fifteen county championships teams, some four or five several-county victors.

CANDIDATES BEHIND F. D. R.

Aspirants to Governorship Sense Roosevelt Popularity

Raleigh, Jan. 13.—At least two of the candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor have been quick to sense the growing wave of Roosevelt popularity and to capitalize on this for their own benefit, especially since the recent Supreme Court ruling outlawing the AAA, it is being pointed out here.

It is expected that the other candidates will soon fall in line, even though such action may cost them some support among the hybrid Liberty Leaguers and mugwump Democrats who for years have voted the state Democratic ticket and the national Republican ticket. And these hybrid, half-and-half Democrats are usually the ones who make very liberally campaign contributions, since they distinctly belong in the money class.

But indications are that for the first time many of the candidates are going to risk losing financial support of this class of voters, rather than run the risk of losing thousands of votes from the class of voters who do not have any money to give to campaigns, but who are the ones who in the end nominate and elect Governors, Senators, Congressmen and members of the General Assembly.

Dr. Ralph W. McDonald of Winston-Salem was the first candidate to definitely align himself with President Roosevelt and the New Deal and months ago promised that if he should be nominated and elected Governor he would bring a New Deal here in North Carolina and bring the state administration into close cooperation with the New Deal in Washington. And since the light has been turned on the mugwump animal known as the Liberty League, showing that it is being almost entirely financed by the duPonts, Rasboks and other wealthy industrialists opposed to Roosevelt and the New Deal, McDonald has been increasing his popularity by assailing this organization as only another effort on the part of the rich interests to oppress the poor and bring back the return of enthroned privilege.

Indications also are that Clyde R. Hoy of Shelby intends to track along with the Roosevelt administration, sing its praises and assail Republican selfishness and reactionism, although he has not yet mentioned the Liberty League. But in his Jackson Day Dinner address in Shelby last week, Hoy waded into opponents of the New Deal and even loosed some biting criticism against the Supreme Court and its AAA decision. He also predicted the renomination and reelection of President Roosevelt and indicated he intended to both stand by the record of the Roosevelt administration in Washington for the past three years and support it for the next five.

This action on the part of Hoy has served to shock some of those who heretofore have regarded him as the ultra-conservative candidate for Governor and the one more likely to get the support of the big, moneyed interests because they believed him less likely to go New Deal than any of the others.

Lieut. Gov. A. H. Graham has not made any speech or statement during the past week or ten days, or since the AAA decision was handed down, but his supporters maintain he has been and still is an enthusiastic supporter of the President and the New Deal and that he can be depended upon to stand by the national administration in Washington.

HINT IS SEEN TO CURB COURT

Question Is Raised Whether President's Speech Suggestion

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Perhaps no part of President Roosevelt's annual message to congress aroused more speculation than did those 41 words near the end in which he made reference to the federal courts.

The carrying out of the laws of the land," said the President, "as enacted by the congress requires protection until final adjudication by the highest tribunal of the land. The congress has the right and can find the means to protect its own prerogatives."

The question immediately was raised whether this foreshadows an attempt on the part of congress to curtail the power of the lower federal courts to enforce enforcement of "new deal" legislation. The laconic observation of Attorney General Cummings, when asked for his opinion, that it was a "fair guess" and to "draw your own conclusions" only served to increase speculation.

It is not the first time Mr. Roosevelt has raised his voice on the question of the power of the lower federal courts. As governor of New York, in 1930, after a federal court had permitted higher telephone rates, he declared in a message to the New York state legislature:

"This power of the federal court must be abrogated. Only the congress can give the remedy. Legislation has been introduced in the congress to carry out this purpose... I recommend that you memorialize the congress to pass this legislation."

Trapping Provides Much Extra Money And Protects Crop

State College Expert Says Farmers May Pick Up Cash and Save Crops and Domestic Animals

College Station, Raleigh, Jan. 13.—(AP)—By judicious trapping, a farmer may pick up extra cash and at the same time protect his crops and domestic animals from assault by small, fur-bearing animals.

George B. Lay, rodent control leader for the Biological survey, with headquarters at N. C. State College, makes the following suggestions for farmers who wish to do a little trapping on the side.

In most counties of the western part of the state, setting steel traps is illegal except along streams and the edges of streams running through cultivated land.

In some counties of the Piedmont and eastern parts of the state, steel traps are illegal at all times, except to protect poultry, other animals, and crops on one's own land.

It is unlawful to trap bear, and there is a year-around closed season against taking beaver in any manner. Lay urged farmers not to trap otter, as this animal is almost extinct in North Carolina.

The state law does not protect wildcat, weasel, or skunk at any time, but these animals are none too plentiful in most sections of North Carolina.

The pelt of the skunk is valuable. When skunks become fairly numerous in a certain area, the surplus animals may be turned into money by trapping.

Where foxes become too numerous, a farmer may find it profitable to trap them, if he can, or hunt them with dogs. The pelts are fairly valuable. Regulations regarding the fox vary in the different counties, Lay said.

Westminster Choir The famous Westminster Choir under the direction of Dr. John Finley Williamson, will be heard at Memorial Auditorium, Raleigh, Feb. 19. The North Carolina Music Festival Association is sponsoring the appearance of this celebrated group of singers. This concert will be one of the high spots of musical entertainment during this current season. Singing entirely unaccompanied, no instrument of pitch except the human voice. They portray nearly every tone color possible to the human voice.

Programs presented by the Westminster Chorus range through a wide assortment of musical moods, dramatic, sentimental, and bright, even to airy, spirituals, classics, and modernistic popular arrangements are all included on their programs. There forty-one singers in this symphonic chorus, and they are everyone real singers. This group are tuned up before each concert just as you would tune an orchestra. The members of this unique organization are not only singers but each individual in this choir directed by Dr. Williamson are, in fact, complete musicians, each having attained professional rating as a player of either the piano or organ. Perfect diction, sonority of tone, flexibility of rhythm, vitality—these are four of the major requirements of good choral singing according to Dr. Williamson and he demands this and gets it from the Westminster Choir. His idealism in accepting nothing less than the best at all times from his singers has made it the important organization it is today, an internationally famous group which has won superlative praise from critics both here and in Europe.

Every choir director, choir member, and singer of any calibre, who love singing should especially hear this concert and receive the inspiration and pleasure afforded. Dr. Williamson is donating the concert to the N. C. M. F. A. All the money will be used in the work of the Association in carrying music to the masses of North Carolina. A wonderful program to hear, a great cause served.

VISIBLE FORTUNE GROWS IN CHINA Nanking, (AP)—Literally watching his wealth grow has been enjoyed for more than 20 years by Marshal Yen Hai-Shan, noted as "model governor" of Shans. Marshal Yen is reported to have accounts in several banks abroad, but in a courtyard of his official residence at Taiyuan rests the solid and visible symbol of his earthly accumulations, a round mass of mounds, more than 100 pieces of pottery, about 75 arrowheads, a rubbing stone and a "blood and rattle pot" were taken, relics of the Asanal tribe.

Tickets for Amelia Earhart. Tickets for admission to Amelia Earhart's talk on "Aviation Adventures" will be on sale in the lobby of the Campus building of the college tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. There is no advance sale of tickets and no reserved seats. The public and the students will be seated in alternating rows, as usual, so there will be no partiality shown in the seating. Holders of season tickets will present these at the door. While the exact time and manner of Amelia Earhart's arrival here are not known, some time ago a bulletin was received that announced that she was planning to make the rounds of her lecture tour by motor. She naturally prefers traveling by air, but the uncertainties of flying weather perhaps make that means of travel unsuitable for filling engagements so inflexible as lecture dates. She rarely travels by train if she can avoid it. Her lecture dates preceding this are in West Virginia, so she may have to combine her methods of travel in reaching here. She probably will have little time here as she has a full schedule ahead of her.

LESS ESCAPES SANDY GRAHAM ARE REPORTED GETS IN WORK

Better Morale Among Prisoners Reflected in Breaks

Reflector Bureau. Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Jan. 14.—The morale of the approximately 8,000 prisoners in the various prisons and camps is steadily improving, as evidenced by the fact that fewer prisoners are escaping or attempting to escape than ever before and that they are doing better work and doing it more willingly. Chairman Capus M. Waynick of the State Highway and Public Works Commission said today. So far this month only five prisoners have escaped, while up to the same date in January, 1935, there had been 14 escapes and 26 recaptures, Waynick pointed out.

"The fact that fewer prisoners are escaping or attempting to escape than ever before, also that they are doing better work are always an indication of improved morale," Waynick said. "And the engineers and foremen tell us that the prisoners are doing more and better work on the roads than ever before. This is especially good news, since the reason for the general assembly put the prison division under the highway commission was so we might use them on the roads. My objective all along has been to try to improve the morale of the prisoners to the extent that we could get more and better work from them on the roads."

One factor which has served to bring about better morale among the prisoners has been the better food, more carefully and tastily prepared, Waynick believes. Another factor is the new parole law and parole system under which every prisoner is assured of a hearing at the time he has completed a given portion of his sentence. Still another factor has been the newer prison camps, with clean, warm and comfortable quarters for the prisoners.

"A prisoner cannot do a good day's work if his stomach is filled with sour, poorly prepared food that gives him indigestion by the time he gets out on the job ready to work," Waynick said. "I know, because I know that I get snappy and ill-natured when I have indigestion. Consequently, I think it is good economy and pays in the long run to give the prisoners good, wholesome well prepared food and have comfortable camps for them, for we get more work out of them in the long run. I am not a soft sentimentalist, but a Scotch realist."

ARCHEOLOGIST GARNERS ANCIENT INDIAN POTTERY

Austin, Tex. (AP)—A. M. Woolsey, University of Texas archeologist, has obtained what is believed to be one of the best finds of Indian pottery, arrowheads and other articles left by the red men in East Texas.

From 20 300-year-old graves and mounds, more than 100 pieces of pottery, about 75 arrowheads, a rubbing stone and a "blood and rattle pot" were taken, relics of the Asanal tribe.

Candidate Doing Little Talking, But Lots of Work

Reflector Bureau. Sir Walter Hotel. By J. C. BASKERVILL. Raleigh, Jan. 14.—Lieutenant Governor A. H. (Sandy) Graham has not been making much noise the past few weeks, but he has been doing plenty of work, according to reports reaching here from a number of different sections of the state. For instead of making speeches "Sandy" is hard at work holding conferences with his supporters in different counties and getting an efficient, working organization built up ready to throw into gear when the time comes.

A number of political observers who have been out over the state recently maintain that Graham already has more organization work than any of the other candidates, and that this organization is already quietly, but efficiently working in his behalf. It is also maintained that this organization work has already penetrated into a good many of the far western counties and throughout the Piedmont, as well as in many eastern counties.

"The politicians here in Raleigh who have relegated Graham to third place and thus already ruled him out of the race are merely expressing their own personal preferences and really know very little of sentiment as it exists over the state as a whole," one observer said here today. "For it is becoming more and more evident that the people are thinking more and more about Graham. There are thousands who feel that Clyde R. Hoey is too conservative and that Dr. Ralph W. McDonald is too extremely liberal. With the result that an increasing number are turning to 'Sandy' as the safe and sane liberal, middle-of-the-road candidate. They also like the definite, out-in-the-open stand he has already taken with regard to liquor stores and liquor control, the sales tax, social security legislation, such as old age pensions, unemployment insurance, and so forth. Graham is running better now than at any time so far."

It is a fact that many of the political observers here do not agree with this statement and that the prevailing belief in most circles here is that "Sandy" Graham forging ahead, according to reports... while Dr. McDonald temporarily seems to be the most popular and most talked about of the three leading candidates for Governor, that Clyde R. Hoey is making more progress underneath the surface than any one else and will soon go into the lead when the campaign actually gets under way. But it is no secret that most of the state department heads and officials belong to the same school of political thought as does Hoey and are more or less actively supporting him. On the other hand, a great many of the state employes are known to be secretly in sympathy with McDonald's program and to be supporting him. Many observers agree that McDonald is probably as strong in Wake and Franklin counties as in any counties in the state. But while Graham does not have any material support from any state officials, it is agreed that he does have some very strong supporters among some groups of state employes.

That Graham has gained considerable new support in the Piedmont and western counties since his Charlotte speech in which he made it very clear he was not the candidate of the present administration, and in which he vigorously called for a special session of the general assembly, is being readily admitted. His criticism of Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus for so far refusing to call a special session, and the Governor's reply a few days later, has left no doubt in most minds that Graham and the Governor are on opposite sides of the political fence at the present time. The out-in-the-open stand taken by Graham

School Absences Due to Colds Are Cut Almost Half Better Colds-Control Shown in Clinical Tests Among 5,118 School Children

Important news for mothers and teachers comes from Vicks Chemists as one result of their thirty years' specialized study of colds. In clinical tests among 5,118 school children, nearly half (40.20%) of the time ordinarily lost from school on account of colds was saved by followers of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds.

This is only one of the impressive findings from three series of clinical tests of the Plan, conducted over a three-year period, among 14,702 people—including both adults and children. Gratifying results were indicated in fewer, shorter and milder colds for followers of the Plan. To help reduce children's absences from school on account of colds, mothers in Greenville are being given complete details of Vicks Plan, and trial packages of its specialized aids to better home control of colds.

You will also find the Plan fully explained in each package of Vicks VapoRub—first aid in preventing many colds—and Vicks VapoRub the mother's standby in relieving colds.—(Adv.)

in favor of the legalization of the sale of liquor in the state through either state or county liquor stores continues to make him popular with those who dislike pussyfooting on the liquor issue, as well as with the growing number of people who are already convinced that the legal sale of liquor through state or county stores is much better than the existing bootleg system of sale in 62 counties. Many are convinced that the state and counties should have the profits from the sale of liquor which now go entirely to the bootleggers in the "dry" counties. Supporters of Graham agree that he has not yet really opened up, that he has not attempted to reply yet to any of McDonald's or Hoey's speeches. But when he does open up, the whole state will know it, they maintain.

Chapter 43
STORM

A WEEK later the storm broke. It had been rising slowly for days, heralded by many spasmodic ratta-tat-tats of quick-rising angry downpours. Allaire knew something was wrong. Corrigan and Willett went about stern and silent, and even the chattering Chaikis felt that horrible presage of the season gathering itself for one final blast.

The river rose and rose, angry and black, spreading a thick slimy silt over the ground for yards around near the banks, and then one night the storm burst, caught up with its messengers, and spread all over them.

All that night the storm rode viciously over man's handiwork, and all the next day. The air was very warm and close, but there were beads of perspiration on Allaire's brow that were cold and not caused by the weather. Had she picked up the fever, she wondered?

What a time to worry Willett when he was faced with a crisis. But she had to admit to herself that she didn't feel well, and when Willett suddenly caught up his reefer and went outside, she decided to go to bed.

"If she holds, it's a miracle!"

Willett caught Corrigan's arm and polished to the dam—
 "She going to hold, Bucky," he howled.

Corrigan squinted his eyes and stared through the thickly-obscured drenched air.
 "I'm going to take a look!" he shouted.

The upper Palva was mad. Corrigan saw something that caused cold chills to chase up and down his spine. Plainly evident was a slow-spreading crack.

He went back to Willett.
 "All right so far!" he yelled, "but if this doesn't let up soon, it won't be. Sorry, fella. Any orders?"

WILLETT shook his head. It was getting dark and the spearhead of rainy season was driving them back. Weather it? They had to weather it! He went into the office. The lamp was lit. It glowed a dull yellow against the supernatural darkness of the storm.

Destruction! Chaos! A bust as an engineer. Sacrifice, sweat, money, courage, brains—wasted, lost, washed away.

"Damn you!" he suddenly shouted. He got up and threw open the door and took the driving rain in his teeth. "Damn you, if you were human, if you were something I could get my hands on!"

"Easy, fella! Corrigan was at his side. "Easy, fella! We've got a chance yet!"

Willett's jaw was like a rock. He gripped Corrigan's arm in that steel grasp of his.
 "You're right we have a chance. We're going to sandbag that dam. We're going to rout out all those shaking Chaikis and their women too and buttress that dam."
 "Señor Willett—"
 It was Rosa's voice, a piercing cry through the dripping blackness.
 She pulled at his sleeve.
 "You must come."
 "Come, now? Why?" Allaire! Willett faced to the hat, hung open the door, and stopped aghast on the threshold. The face of that girl on the pillow was white and the shadows caused by the lamp played over features that bore the etching of pain.

"Allaire!" His voice was stricken. She reached out a hand to him.

hated in high-up Rooseveltian circles. The official explanation that the churchman is looking over the field for industrial interests doesn't fool the State Department. No American firm would send a salesman to the wilds of Ethiopia while a drastic neutrality law is before Congress.

HOSTILE: Hugo Black is rushing preparations for a lobby investigation of the American Liberty League. The Alabama Senator, who can read a headline even before it is written, will spring his surprise just before or after Al Smith "baloneyizes" FDR at the League dinner here January 25.

The Senate's grand inquisitor scents sensations in wealthy individuals' loans and contributions to the League's treasury. For three days a lobby accountant copied the returns filed with the Clerk of the House of Representatives. They disclose that many known enemies of the President have done the "angel act" whenever the Shousers needed money. E. F. Hutton, who advised industry to "gang up" against the New Deal, writes a check for $5,000 every so often.

League spokesmen concede that Mr. Black will be able to depict the Shouse-Raskob-Smith outfit as hostile to the administration. It hasn't made any attempt to cloak its prejudice. Of eighty-five League pamphlets subjecting New Deal legislation to analysis, only two dealt kindly with the White House. They praised the President's opposition to the bonus and the thirty-hour week.

PAYROLLS: Chairman Doughton of the Ways and Means Committee thinks the social security act should be amended to make it court-proof. He doesn't go into details, but it's the same old story of building a law on a shaky foundation. Some officials high in the administration privately share Mr. Doughton's view. President Roosevelt stands pat on the law as is. No tangible evidence of a plan of amendment is visible.

Labor people want a division in the law so that unemployment insurance will be made more sure. And they don't like the idea of forcing workers to contribute to the insurance fund.

A few representatives of big industry say that employers will organize to test the law later on when the pinch of the payroll tax

INACTIVE: Mrs. Roosevelt summoned a bevy of Democratic ladies to the White House to talk over 1936 campaign plans. It was the second mobilization of the feminine brigade in two weeks and third will be held in New York soon.

Mrs. Roosevelt did most of the talking. Some of the ladies gasped when she said that she had had "very little political experience."

"All I know," she remarked, "is what I learned while campaigning for Al Smith." She emphasized her political services to Al so often that her hearers pondered, in view of his cold attitude toward the White House family.

She closed her talk with the explanation that she was "not being very active these days." Upon reading the newspapers that evening, Mrs. Roosevelt's conferees discovered that she had attended three teas, two conferences and a dinner that same day. They were worn out when she was just starting her rounds.

New York
 By JAMES McMULLIN

ISSUE: Astute New York observers predict that a constitutional amendment to broaden federal powers will be a major campaign factor whether or not FDR wishes to make it so.

The meetings of farm and labor leaders this week mean business. Bill Green has to push for an amendment as hard as he can on behalf of the Federation of Labor. The sentiment of his followers is too strong to be shushed since the AAA decision foreshadowed judicial death for the Wagner Act. On the farm side Edward O'Neal and his American Federation of Farm Bureau are sure to go for it vigorously and other farm groups will probably join them.

President Roosevelt earmarked the amendment idea as his own after the NRA ruling and then packed it in mothballs to await a surge of popular demand. Now that the demand is beginning to flame he is obliged to go along with it or disappoint groups whose support he urgently needs. The whole constitutional question is likely to be transmuted from an emotional abstraction into the liveliest and cleanest-cut issue American politics has been in years.

DIFFERENCE: No other industry—not even the utilities—got as big a cup of comfort out of the AAA ruling as the railroads. Their woes were about to be increased by three different New Deal measures—rail pensions, social security, and the Guffey Act. The first two taxed them directly and the third lifted the cost of coal.

The best estimates indicated that the combined burden imposed by these laws would have amounted to 5 per cent of total gross revenue. Most roads are having too tough a time making ends meet as it is to view this subtraction with equanimity. Now it looks as if the Supreme Court is certain to strike off the added shackles.

One rail insider says he knows of at least three roads to which the Supreme Court will mean the difference between solvency and bankruptcy if it remains consistent—and if it retains the power to annul legislation.

FRIGID: Two big men in German finance—Emil Puhl, director of the Reichsbank, and Dr. Hans Hartenstein of the Ministry of Finance—came to New York last week.

Their mission is very hush-hush and they aren't likely to admit any merce as usual" despite the risks of foreign war. It is not safe to assume that Congress will consent to suppression of commerce for the sake of avoiding war.

PENSIONS: New Yorkers accept bonus agreement as in the air. Politics compels all sides to give the veterans their money before election. With the budget unbalanced anyhow, and with a deficit of uncertain amount, it will be comparatively easy to put through an allowance of $1,000,000,000 with trimmings sufficient to take care of the veterans' claims in full.

Behind the bonus looms a movement for pensions to World War veterans. A bill paving the way for them has already been drafted. Bankers learn that Gen. Hines, Veterans Administrator, fully expects to see a vast pension system established.

BARGAIN: The knell of processing taxes gave Standard Commercial Tobacco Company a beautiful break. This concern recently bought control of the Axton-Fisher Tobacco Company through a New York broker.

The money set aside for payment of processing taxes which now returns to the Axton-Fisher treasury amounts to half the price paid for control. That makes it quite a bargain.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

Lack Of Amendment Talk Noted At Jackson Dinner

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Democratic hesitation about the "constitutional" issue clearly has become the focal point of current politics.

The "question on every tongue" is whether Mr. Roosevelt will concede that this "new deal" has come squarely against constitutional barriers, and will ask that they be removed by constitutional amendment.

Absence of any open discussion of the subject at the Jackson Day dinner turned that gathering of Democrats into something resembling the mythical performance of "Hamlet" with Hamlet left out.

In the two and three-way conversations around the tables there was abundant talk about the constitution. In the lobbies of congress no other subject is mentioned so often. Nothing which has happened to Roosevelt administration—not even the death of NRA—has stirred inner "new deal" circles like the supreme court's sweeping invalidation of AAA.

There is a very good reason why this talk does not come in to the open. This is a campaign year, and the political ramifications of the "constitutional" issue are many and devious.

Political Dangers

From the standpoint of practical politics, the rub about advocating an amendment does not lie in the stipulation that three-quarters of the states are required to ratify a constitutional change.

The immediate objective of the Democrats is to win the election. For that purpose, only a simple majority of the electoral college is needed. In other words, if the party advocates an amendment, and such advocacy is approved by a enough states to make up a mere electoral majority, then the party can win.

Should it win in that manner and on that issue, it could turn afterward to the question of completing redemption of its campaign pledge. This may sound strange, but it is the way party politics works.

There is another rub, however, which would be real and immediate if the party declared for an amendment. Before any amendment can be submitted to the states, it must be approved by a two-thirds majority in both senate and house.

In view of the overwhelming Democratic control in congress, a test hardly could be escaped there in advance of the campaign, and certainly there is room to doubt whether the necessary two-thirds majorities would be forthcoming. There lies the real trouble.

Only Hints From F. D. R.

It is entirely conceivable that this is not fully realized by some who are asking that the administration commit itself immediately to a constitutional amendment.

That Mr. Roosevelt himself realizes it is indicated by the caution with which he is approaching the subject. Many hints of a predisposition to constitutional change can be read into his utterances, but there has been nothing resembling a direct declaration.

The question of congressional approval is sufficiently large to merit caution and careful thought. What about a popular majority thereafter, in the campaign, if the congressional hurdle can be overcome?

That may depend on developments yet to come. Invalidation of NRA started certain groups, including notably organized labor, preparing for an amendment. Certain other groups seem to be preparing to fall in line since AAA was invalidated. If still more "new deal" policies fall similarly, there are those who believe the combined strength of the dissenters might be hard to defeat at the polls.

All of these considerations help to explain why Mr. Roosevelt hesitates. Whatever his private sentiment—and no one has undertaken to say authoritatively how far that he really favors an amendment—he obviously does not intend to put himself into an impossible situation, politically, at the very outset of the campaign.

DAKOTA MAGNET REMOVES 3,200,835 TIRE HAZARDS

PIERRE, S. D. (AP)—Motorists avoided 3,200,835 flat tires in South Dakota last year.

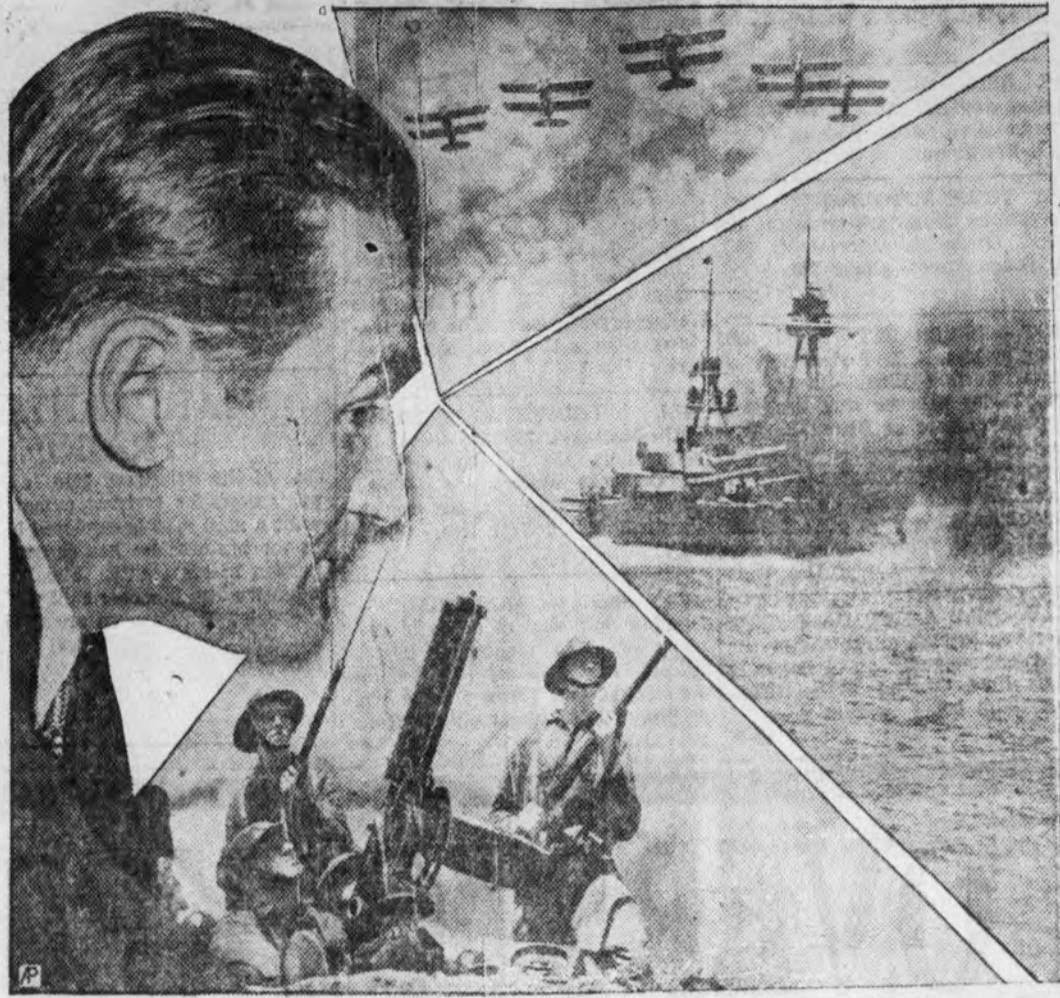

Frank D. Kriebel, highway commission secretary, is responsible for the figure and arrive at it from the 52,295 pounds of metal the road magnet operated by the department picked up on 4,027 miles of highway.

"In sorting over an average collection of 36 pounds of metal," he says, "we found 2,265 pieces which we considered as tire hazards—nails, tacks, screws, bolts, staples, blade chips and others, a total weight of 21 pounds or an estimated average of 63 possible tire hazards per pound of metal collected."

Senate's Munitions Investigators Go After World War Loans Story

The senate munitions committee, under the leadership of Chairman Gerald P. Nye (above) continues its investigation of the weapon merchants. A drive for a government monopoly of the munitions industry may result. Already the government has inquired the cost of making its own guns, bombs and ships.

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Source of a hundred sensations as to the world-wide secret activities of the war gun merchants, the senate munitions committee returns to its job determined this time to turn up the story of American World War loans.

In the backwash of the committee's astonishing disclosures, congress passed in 1935 temporary neutrality laws that were the broadest the country ever has known. Now, the investigators again become the means of dramatizing the views of those who want rigid neutrality and control of the munitions industry.

Already an inquiry has been made as to how much it would cost to manufacture its own guns and bombs and ships; a drive for a government monopoly on the implements of war appears in the offing.

Tale of International Intrigue

The committee in its last session heard a story of international intrigue, of alleged graft and bribery reaching from Central America to China. Some of the testimony probed yoked diplomatic representations from abroad; no less majestic a figure that King George of England was pictured once before the committee substantially as an arms salesman for British interests—competing at one time against officers of the army and navy of the United States.

The inquiry brought forth secrets long guarded, and at one time committee investigators charged certain government departments with blocking them by withholding material information.

A great deal of what was told the inquiry subsequently was denied by the principals involved; munitions manufacturers struck out sharply against government manufacture of war weapons on the ground it could not be as efficient as private operations.

Advocating Large Armies

Chairman Nye of the committee reached the belief, he said, that some American munitions interests were cooperating with foreign companies to increase their profits through advocating large armies and navies. Among the many accusations put forward, either through witnesses, matter dug up by committee investigators, or upon the statements of senators were these:

That a son of the late French premier Clemenceau was listed as a former agent in Europe of an English munitions firm. That Sir Basil Zaharoff, "mystery man" of Europe, got commissions from an American concern which had agreed with a British company to split the world's submarine building business.

That World War German U-boats were built on an American-owned patent. That a submarine salesman seriously attempted to attend the 1925 disarmament conference as a delegate.

That an American ambassador and other high government officials in 1922 helped an American submarine company to sell its wares in South America. That one company was successful in fomenting national animosities to sell munitions.

That an American naval cruiser was sent abroad as a "show case" to help a private firm sell its boats. That the United States war and navy departments were at one time "cooperating fully" in helping an American munitions concern build up foreign business. That arms manufacturers knew as early as 1908—six years before the world war—a great conflict was brewing. That the United States government assigned delivery on some of its munitions contracts to the British navy from 1914 to 1916. That munitions men made profits as high as 362 per cent during the World war.

FALL OF METEORS, MONTHLY ON 22ND, PUZZLES SCIENTISTS

IOWA CITY, Ia. (AP)—Just why meteors have taken to falling on the twenty-second day of each month is an astronomical puzzle which Prof. C. C. Wylie of the University of Iowa has set himself to solve.

Since last February 22 spectacular displays have been observed in various sections of the midwest or about that date each month, says the Iowa astronomer.

"We have no idea why this occurs, but the fact that it happens regularly leads us to believe it is not merely a coincidence," he says.

Wylie has enlisted the aid of observers throughout the midwest and is receiving reports from them whenever the phenomenon occurs on that date.

On October 22 Dr. C. P. Oliver of the University of Pennsylvania reported a bright daylight meteor. The following night a meteor was seen in Chicago and in Iowa City.

Winfield, one of the larger Kansas cities, checked in a recent monthly report of fire losses at an even $5. There were only six alarms and the only damage was to automobiles.

To Collect Taxes on Tobacco Where No Warrants Given

County Agent E. F. Arnold Makes Statement After Word Received From Washington

E. F. Arnold, Pitt county farm agent, today issued a statement declaring that he had received word from Washington the Internal Revenue department will continue, for the present, to collect taxes on tobacco for which warrants have not been issued.

He said the collections would continue since the Kerr-Smith tobacco act has not been declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme court, as has the AAA.

Mr. Arnold's statement in full follows: "I have been advised from Washington that in as much as the Kerr-Smith Act has not been declared unconstitutional, the Internal Revenue Department will continue to collect taxes on all tobacco for which tax warrants have not been written.

"Therefore, it will be necessary for all growers who have oversold their cards to purchase additional allotment cards or else they will be required by the Internal Revenue Department to pay taxes on all tobacco sold during the previous two years. Therefore, when we resume checking marketing cards and farmers receive notices to come in and purchase additional cards to take care of errors that were made in issuing tax warrants, they should do so promptly."

ADVISE CARE IN PLANTING

(Continued from Page One) receive the benefits accruing there to. "I therefore, suggest that farmers plan not to exceed the tobacco and cotton acreage planted in the year 1934. At least until such a time as they may be able to determine whether or not new legislation can be enacted in time to control this year's crop.

"It is very much easier to plant a few additional acres later on than it is to change plans when too much acreage has been arranged for. If we are to avoid 6c cotton and 10c tobacco prices, it will be necessary for farmers to act very cautiously and to reduce their acreage so as to prevent an over supply of these products."
