DEMAND THAT ALL BUSINESS BE CLOSED UP

Roving Committees Issue Ultimatum in Pekin, Illinois

STRIKE ENTERS IT'S SECOND DAY

Strikers also Demand that Chief of Police be Ousted for Leading Tear Gas Raid.

Perkin, Ill., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Roving committees of strike leaders visited every business house in this industrial city today issued ultimatum that all doors must be closed at 3 p. m. today or the windows would be smashed.

As the second day of a general strike brought the city's business to a standstill, the strikers, in individual and group of from two to six canvassed the city in 13 below zero weather.

The strikers called for the ousting of Chief of Police Harry Donahue, whom they accuse of leading tear gas raid on striking picket lines.

Only a few storekeeper defied the committee demanding they close.

Even the telegraph offices were included in the order to shut down. Their managers, however, said they would remain open unless compelled to close.

As the business houses were visited by the groups, employes telephoned members of their families to hasten to grocery stores and put in supplies of food.

House Passes Bill Repealing Laws on Control of Crops

Measure, Recommended by President Only Few Days Ago, Already Passed by Senate

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The House today passed the Senate approved bill repealing the cotton, potato and tobacco acts.

Speaker Byrns announced the roll call as 351 for repeal and 10 against. Further Senate action will be necessary however, to enact the measure which President Roosevelt requested only a few days ago.

The House added an amendment to release from tax payment some 250,000 bales of cotton on which tax were levied under the Bankhead act at the time of ginning but not paid while the cotton had been held for marketing by farmers.

Representative Monaghan, (D. Mont.) and Representative Marantoniello (R.N.Y.) urged the House before the balloting to vote against repeal as a protest against the judicial oligarchy.

During debate Rep. Fish (R. N.Y.) recalled the declaration that Mr. Roosevelt's annual message to congress "we do not propose to retreat."

Rep. Bankhead, the majority leader, accepted "my full measure of responsibility for passage of the act."

He declared passage of the Bankhead cotton control act was "the salvation of the cotton farmer," and that there was "despair and gloom" among farmers over AAA validation.

Mine Workers Play Liberty League In Convention Today

Declare Organization is Made Up of Millionaires and Group Selfish in Its Aims

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The United Mine workers convention flamed the American Liberty league today as "selfish in its aims," and said the league "primarily represented millionaires and multimillionaires" who have aided themselves while denying their employes the right to organize.

"Reactionary and predatory interests are now 'Reactionary and predatory interests' are now gaining in the league against any social legislation," the resolution of the convention added.

"The lawyers committee has attacked the Guffy coal act and the Wagner act and other social justice measures to encourage injunction and to influence the courts."

Fascist Grand Council Backs Campaign in Ethiopia

(By The Associated Press) The Italian government today stated that its forces in Southern Ethiopia had made advances in the valley of the Webbe Gestro.

At home, Premier Mussolini received the full support of the Fascist Grand Council in his Ethiopian campaign.

In London, the British cabinet was said by an authoritative source to be considering secret plans for expansion of Great Britain's system of defenses for the empire.

A terse communique issued after the session announced that the Fascist Grand Council "established the lines of Italy's counter attacks in the event of further tightening of sanctions."

It urged the Fascist armies in East Africa on to new conquests in Ethiopia, east fresh derivation on the discarded Franco-British proposal for peace and disapproved sterner commercial regulations to combat the League economic siege.

Negro Gives Bond for Shooting Man at Mother's Home

Negro of Near Bethel Injures Another Negro Who Refused to Leave Home of Mother

William Andrews, negro of the Lewis mill section near Bethel, is being held under bond pending an investigation into the shooting yesterday afternoon of Willie Smith, another negro.

Sheriff Sam A. Whitehurst said his investigation showed that Smith went to the home of Andrews' mother had refused to leave when he was told the woman was unable to get in touch with officers to have the negro removed from her premises. The sheriff said Smith was in a drunken condition.

When Andrews went to the home of his mother and demanded Smith to leave, the latter still refused to go and even tried to break through a screen door into house, Sheriff Whitehurst said. Andrews then shot Smith with a shotgun, the lead injuring both legs just above the knees.

Smith is in a hospital, but he is expected to recover.

Elementary Grades Keep New Schedule

The primary and elementary grades of the Greenville schools will continue to operate on the bad weather schedule for some time, J. H. Rose, superintendent announced today.

The high school has returned to regular schedule, however.

Mr. Rose said all the parents appeared to be well-pleased with the new schedule for the lower grades and that officials had decided to retain these hours until the winter weather subsides considerably.

Raging Blizzards In Northwest Add New Worries to Nation

Chicago, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Raging blizzards over Minnesota and North Dakota added new worries today to the nation, already overburdened by ice, snow, sleet, high winds and fears of floods.

Little immediate hope for less severe climatic conditions was held by the weather bureau. While the mercury rose in sections of the Middle and North Atlantic states, the forecast was for much colder weather today.

Most of the nation east of the Rocky mountains was covered by snow and ice, while but little of the South escaped the vice of the new cold wave. Freezing temperatures extended into Florida.

Forecaster G. A. Donnell of Chicago termed the blizzard the worst in 20 years. The temperature here slumped 36 degrees in 24 hours to 11 below at 2 a. m. today.

The forecast said the mercury in the suburbs might go as low as minus 20 and the cold wave would continue through Friday.

Should the present condition continue for several days, coal dealers here admitted the situation might become acute. Shortage already have developed in eight other states.

Flood conditions reported in Mississippi and Alabama yesterday were relieved in part by freezing temperatures, which brought widespread suffering from the cold.

PITT SCHOOLS STILL CLOSED

Farmville and Winterville Only Ones to Re-open

D. H. Conley, superintendent of Pitt county schools, announced today all schools in the county, with the exception of Farmville and Winterville, would remain closed throughout this week on account of the weather and bad roads.

The schools were ordered closed last week through yesterday, but due to threats of more snow or rain and the condition of the roads, it was decided to close 11 of the white units in the county for the rest of the week.

Unless further instructions are given, the schools will re-open as usual Monday.

Mr. Conley said the Farmville school was able to continue because four hard surface roads lead into the town and the attendance there has remained about 85 per cent of the enrollment.

The Winterville school was opened because the unit already has lost three weeks and authorities did not wish to delay the final closing any longer if it could possibly be helped. The school was closed down December 6 and did not reopen until after the Christmas holidays. A deep well was dug on the ground to provide a pure flow of water.

Locusts, which cause crop damage running into the millions annually, have been turned into profitable use in Argentina by being ground into locust fertilizer.

NEGRO KILLED, SLAYER FREED

W. J. Wingate Exonerated by Coroner's Jury Last Night

W. J. Wingate was exonerated by a coroner's jury last night shortly after he shot and killed Buster Duncan, negro who he caught stealing coal from his backyard.

Mr. Wingate, who lives on Ridge-way street, said that he was in his bathroom when he saw someone at his coal bin. He said he secured his pistol and went on the back porch and shouted to the man to halt. Failing to do so, he said he fired at him.

The bullet pierced the negro's head, entering in the rear and coming out the front. The man fell on one side of a fence and a sack of coal he had stolen from Mr. Wingate on the other.

Finding the negro dead, Mr. Wingate reported to authorities and the coroner's inquest was soon called.

Mr. Wingate said he had been missing coal from his pile for some time and declared that the culprit had made a path to his bin. He said that of a lot he purchased the first of this week most of it had already been stolen.

Police officials said they had had complaints of citizens having their coal stolen this year, and last night a negro was arrested for stealing the fuel from a house in College View.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

Washington By RAY TUCKER

PICKING: President Roosevelt recently entertained a small circle of after-dinner friends by naming the Republican he would prefer to run against next fall.

Asked bluntly to pick his personal favorite, he replied: "Senator Borah." Mr. Roosevelt smiled while his advisers protested that the man from Idaho might turn out to be GOP's most formidable flag-carrier. FDR explained that he agreed with them. But in his opinion, he said, Mr. Borah is the most "liberal" of the lot and would be the most likely to carry on Rooseveltian reforms. Therefore, if he must be defeated—which he doesn't anticipate—he prefers to turn over White House keys to Teddy Roosevelt's close friend.

When the President's attitude was relayed to a Borah disciple in the Senate, the latter asked: "Did he mean it?" Most of the Democrats are predicting that Al Landon of Kansas will be the man the "chief" will have to lick.

PINPRICK: Henry Morgenthau's regulation that blackstrap molasses may be used as an ingredient for gin and whiskey got hardly any mention in the press. But it has provoked an old-fashioned, prohibition-era rebellion against the liquor czar among agricultural representatives on Capitol Hill.

In defending themselves against their votes for repeal members from dry strongholds perorated about the rick market which alcoholic beverages would provide for cereals. Messrs. Choate and Hoyt—resigned alcohol administrators—promulgated rules banning the Potomac Rican product as a base for American drinks. In overruling these political and economic considerations Mr. Morgenthau is charged with discriminating against Democrats and farmers.

Mr. Morgenthau had some trouble in persuading his own subordinates to issue the molasses dictum. They protested and counseled against invocation of an old law—the 1918 revenue act—simply because it had not been wired off the books. Now Senators are laying their complaints before the President. Though the Secretary of the Treasury has the law on his side, it's nippricks like this which make him unpopular with the politicians.

Five Nations in Southern Europe Are Involved

ACTIVITIES HIT SOUTH AMERICA

Indicated Russia Attempting to Replace Italy as Domain Of Power in Areas.

(By The Associated Press) Alleged communistic activities brought raids, labor demonstrations and official denunciation in Europe, Mexico and South America today.

Five nations of Southern Europe—Hungary, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Austria—struck simultaneously amid warnings of a "red menace" and attempts to rouse the public against an increase of Soviet Russian influence in the valley of the Danube Hungary faced an organization allegedly communistic and led by Bela Kun, who headed a communistic regime in 1919.

In Bulgaria 50 persons were arrested in a series of raids and 19 gypsies were put on trial for reputedly communistic activities.

Rumania, Yugoslavia and Austria police waged many raids. Some sections of the Austrian press indicated belief Russia was seeking to replace Italy as the domain power of the Southern area, taking advantage of Italy's operations in East Africa.

A "shut down" of industry at Monterrey, Mexico, found organized labor and capital combined against what they termed an "open attempt by communists to establish a bolshevist dictatorship."

In South American officials statements accused communists of fomenting railway strike trouble in Chile and underground political activity in Paraguay.

Prosecutor Proceeds With Plans For Third Vice War

Two Big New York Rackets Already Halted by Raids

New York, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, a third cousin of Admiral George Dewey who fought the battle for Manila Bay, proceeded with plans for a third assault against the underworld.

In six months as special rackets prosecutor, Dewey has put to flight or behind the bars the ring leaders of two of the metropolitan's largest rackets, usury and prostitution.

When he and his staff set out to scuttle organized rackets he estimated their yearly "take" was from one to five billion dollars.

Thus far he has stopped a loan racket grossing one million dollars a week and a prostitution traffic that netted $12,000,000 yearly.

What phase of the city's tremendous illicit income he will attack next, he nor his few operators in his confidence would disclose. At least 10 other rackets have been under investigation, some of the already abandoned by ring leaders in fear of surprise attacks. Dewey's silent moves have made New York Gangdom frightened.

His moves have been so well guarded even raiding parties operating under secret orders opened and read instructions on the way to 11 major arrests.

Asked whether the underworld defendant on the assault charge, also was given a sentence suspended on provision he pay half the cost.

Jesse Sparger was acquitted of a charge of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

P. G. Shelton was charged with driving an automobile while drunk, but was convicted only of operating an automobile in a careless and reckless manner. Prayer for judgment in the case was continued until February 11.

Bud Pitt and Will Redmon were charged with having illegal liquor for sale, but were convicted only of operating a place of common nuisance and Redmon was sentenced to 60 days on the roads and Pitt to 90 days. It was brought out that Pitt owned the place and Redmon was employed there.

A number of the cases tried yesterday morning were defendants charged with operating a motor vehicle while drunk.

BILL ASKS FOR $989,623,829

Committee Asks Money for Treasury and Post Offices

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Appropriation of $989,623,829 for treasury and post office department operations during the 1937 fiscal year was referred to the house today by its appropriations committee.

Including more liberal postal service allowances in anticipation of increased business $400,000 for the federal alcohol administration and a half million dollars worth of new airplanes for the coast guard, the bill's total was $29,391,568 more than the current year's allowance but trimmed $11,943,620 under budget estimates.

The postal service drew $778,140,684—$49,291,111 more than the current appropriations and $5,768,465 under budget requests. The treasury was granted $211,483,145—a $19,699,546 cut under "comparable" current appropriations and $6,175,155 less than budget figures.

These figures did not include $1,405,640,300 of estimated permanent annual appropriations and trust funds for the treasury embracing an $8-9 890,000 increase over the previous fiscal year's figures caused chiefly by an automatic addition of $29,000,000 to the sinking funds and a $63,000,000 increase in the amount for interest on the public debt. Regarding the interest allowance the committee quoted a decline debt (Continued on page six)

MED. STUDENT ASSASSINATES NAZI LEADER

Wilhelm Gustloff Is Shot by Yugoslavian in Switzerland

GIVES SELF UP AFTER KILLING

Murderer Says Act Was to Avenge Suffering Inflicted On Jews in Germany.

(Copyright by Associated Press) Davos, Switzerland, Feb. 5.—(AP) The political assassination of Wilhelm Gustloff, 40-year-old leader of the German Nazis in Switzerland by a Yugoslavian medical student, aroused fears today of grave international complications.

The assassin, who surrendered promptly, told the authorities he was David Frankfurter, a 26-year-old Jew, and that he meant to strike a blow against the Nazi regime to avenge the sufferings he said were inflicted on his fellow Jews in Germany.

The police said the student told them the bullet should have struck Reichsfuhrer Aloph Hitler, but that he did in his power by removing the agent "who poisoned the atmosphere here."

The authorities drew full details of the assassination from Frankfurter in an extended questioning at the Davos jail, where he was locked up immediately.

The slayer said he came from Berne, where he attended medical school, and went yesterday to the home of Gustloff, a scientist, who had lived in Davos 20 years.

When Gustloff rose from a chair to receive him, police quoted Frankfurter as saying, the student shot the man down on the threshold without uttering a word.

Gustloff, a physicist associated with the Davos observatory, was struck by five bullets and died almost instantly.

Frankfurter asserted he was incited by no one, police said, and on nobody's order, and belonged to no association of any kind.

REICH TAKE ASSASSINATION AS JUSTIFICATION OF ACTS

Berlin, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Nasifs of the hird Reich, taking the assassination of Wilhelm Gustloff as justification for their anti-semitic attitude gave a pledge today to persist in their course against Jews in Germany.

Complete fulfillment of the anti-semitic issues "without compromise" was demanded by Adolph Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, as a result of the slaying of the Nazi agent at Davos yesterday by a medical student who said he was a Jew.

Fear prevailed in German Jewish circles that the slaying would accelerate the government's campaign and result in a new relentless anti-semitic drive.

Simultaneously, the German press appealed to all nations to realize that only what the newspapers call subversive atrocity work by Jews endangered world peace.

County Protectors Plan Radio Program

A program intending to increase interest in the work being carried on by the Department of Conservation and Development will be presented Friday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock over radio station WEED at Rocky Mount under the direction of the Pitt county game and forest protector.

Cecil R. Jones, county protector, said the program would be composed of a playlet with only two characters, these to be played by S. M. Waters and Ham Hamrick, both of Greenville.

Wardens and protectors from all counties within a radius of 50 miles of Rocky Mount have been asked to present a program over the radio and several counties already have appeared on the air.

COUNTY COURT ENDS SESSION

Many Liquor Violators Given Hearings at Term

Drunken drivers and persons charged with illegal sale of liquor composed most of the cases heard at this week's term of County court, concluded yesterday afternoon.

Nelson Bryant was given a suspended road sentence and fined $25, the cost to be deducted, on a charge of having illegal liquor for sale.

On a similar charge George Grimes was given the same sentence. The road sentence in both cases was suspended on provision the fines are paid.

Viola Jones was acquitted on a charge of having illegal liquor for sale, but was convicted on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and given a 60-day sentence, suspended on condition she pay half the cost of the case.

Ernest Suggs, arrested with the defendant on the assault charge, also was given a sentence suspended on provision he pay half the cost.

Jesse Sparger was acquitted of a charge of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

P. G. Shelton was charged with driving an automobile while drunk, but was convicted only of operating an automobile in a careless and reckless manner. Prayer for judgment in the case was continued until February 11.

Bud Pitt and Will Redmon were charged with having illegal liquor for sale, but were convicted only of operating a place of common nuisance and Redmon was sentenced to 60 days on the roads and Pitt to 90 days. It was brought out that Pitt owned the place and Redmon was employed there.

Officers Seeking Man Who Passed Forged Checks

Several Business Men Stuck With Bad Checks Given in Greenville Last Saturday

A neatly dressed man giving his name as N. S. Clifton is being sought by police authorities on a charge of giving a number of bad checks in the city Saturday.

The man went to a number of business houses and asserted he wished to make a purchase provided the firm would cash a check for him. Upon examining the check, clerks found that it was drawn on an insurance company as a rebate for a payment on insurance declined by the company.

The checks bore a seal and in every respect appeared to be authentic. They were drawn on the R. S. Harrison Insurance company and in each case were for amounts around 10 dollars.

Greenville High School Trims Washington Team

Locals Defeat Old Rivals by Score of 30 to 19

By JAMES L. WHITFIELD
The Pam Pack of the Washington high school suffered their second loss to the Greenville Greens last night in the local high school auditorium by a score of 30-19.

A large crowd attended the game, and saw the basketeers of the local high on to victory against their long-time rivals, the Pam Pack. Reynolds May, coach of the local group, was confined to bed due to sickness. However, Bo Parley took charge in the absence of May, and handled the job of coaching a fighting basketball quint very smoothly.

George Lautares, right forward for the locals, was high scorer in last night's clash, tapping off a total of nine points. Thomas Cox was the next highest scorer, making 6 points. Cox has seen very little action this season, and his fine action last night brought cheers from fans. Thomas Parrish, right guard, and tallied 5 points.

Others scoring for the local high and who administered fine competition for their competitors were Harry Robinson, Joseph Hestem, and Dube Simpson.

Scoring for Washington were Bowers, Sheppard, and Kulliger. The basketball fans enjoyed an extra treat at the half last night, when a game was played between the Skins and Shirts, two basketball teams composed of tiny tots of the local school system. The game brought forth many laughs, and the score was 4-0 in favor of the Shirts.

Score at half: 13-11. Referee, Doc Mathis.

Subs for Greenville: Cox, 6; Rountree, 4.

Subs for Washington: Elliott.

Study Ways, Means Improve Executions By Gas

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Feb. 3.—While prison division and highway department officials are much gratified at the results of the second gas execution, in which the prisoner lost consciousness within a few seconds after the prison fumes of the cyanide gas reached his nostrils—the doctors present said he lost consciousness and "to all intent and purposes" was dead in nine seconds—efforts are now under way to further speed up the gas executions, it was learned here today.

As long as the present method is used, whereby pellets of sodium cyanide are dumped into a solution of sulphuric acid and water and the hydrocyanic acid gas generated by the chemical reaction that results, there will be an interval of from 10 to 12 seconds between the time the cyanide is dumped into the acid before the gas rises to the nostrils of the victim, it is generally agreed by chemists and those who have observed the two gas executions here. And while the prisoners being executed suffer no physical pain after he starts breathing the gas, it is admitted that he undoubtedly does suffer mental torture and agony during the interval from the time the doors of the gas chambers are locked and sealed until the gas rises to his nostrils and he can begin breathing it.

In an effort to reduce the period of waiting for the prisoner and the attendant mental agony, engineers and chemists here are at ready work on plans for the perfection of a quicker method of administering the gas. It is understood that chemical and mechanical engineers of the highway department and at State College are beginning studies in an effort to devise a plan for using previously prepared hydrocyanic acid gas, under pressure, to be released with a valve near the face of the man to be executed, so he would start breathing it at once and be spared the period of tense waiting. The plan understood to be under consideration, is to release the gas through rubber tubing into a mask that would cover the face of the victim, much as ether or gas is administered by doctors, before performing operations.

New York is exciting because of its many and varied complexities. Its policemen are very polite to each other, but its taxi-drivers fight like cats with their tails tied together.

Too, somebody's soul is always being bared in print. Yesterday it was a prizefighter, today it is a Broadway producer, tomorrow it may be a steamship captain.

On every corner you will find a modern Dick Whittington who wants to become the Lord High Mayor of Manhattan Town. In the harbor prisons are many modern Counts of Monte Cristo who hope someday to brave the danger-contract more rapidly and vigorously, improving blood circulation in the brain and skeletal muscles. The bronchioles of the lungs dilate, making possible better oxygenation of the blood. Sugar is liberated into blood circulation from the liver, supplying increased fuel for muscular activity.

In anger, fright or pain, the animal economy is quickly made ready to fight or flee.

All of the above reactions can be stimulation of the sympathetic portion of the autonomic nervous system. This system is connected to, but is outside, the brain and spinal cord.

The same "rage" reactions can approximately be produced by injecting adrenalin into the body. Adrenalin is a substance secreted by the adrenal glands, located one above each kidney.

In lower animal life the production of the reactions described above usually leads to either fight or flight. By such motor expression of the anger-fear-pain reactions there is in time achieved an inner equilibrium, that is, a return to normal.

But humans, because of the demands of tribal custom and law, cannot behave like the lower animals. The tension engendered by the purely autonomic reactions, instead of being released by prompt appropriate action, is maintained for hours and days after the stimulus ends.

The prolonged strain and tension resulting from unexpressed pain-fear-anger reactions give rise to definite clinical conditions such as heart spasms of the gastro-intestinal tract, gastric hyperacidity and constipation.

Tomorrow—The Mind Divided in Its Parts: I

SAVES BIG SUM ON COAL BILL

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Feb. 4.—The state of North Carolina is saving money by using North Carolina coal in the heating plant recently installed in the State Tubercular Hospital at Sanatorium, equipped with pulverized coal stokers, according to R. M. Rothgeb, heating engineer attached to the Budget Bureau.

This new heating plant is now using about six tons of pulverized coal a day, supplied by the Wakefield coal mine in Moore county, about 12 miles from Sanford. This coal is costing the state only about half as much as the same coal would cost if shipped from West Virginia, where the state buys most of its other coal, Rothgeb said.

Another heating plant installation in which pulverized coal stokers will be used is just being completed at the State Hospital for the Negro Insane at Goldsboro and will probably be put into operation within the next few days, Rothgeb said. This plant is larger than the Sanatorium plant and hence will use even more coal. It is expected that the Goldsboro plant will also use coal from the Wakefield mine in Moore county. The coal used at Sanatorium is being hauled direct from the mine to the hospital heating plant by truck, since Sanatorium is also in Moore county. It is not known yet whether the coal will be hauled to Goldsboro by truck or by rail.

The Wakefield mine is now producing about 21 tons of coal a day, including about six tons of slack, which is used in the pulverized coal burners. The lump coal is sold to other consumers, mostly in Sanford and vicinity. Since these pulverized coal burners use slack, it is possible to buy this coal at very low prices, since it cannot be burned to advantage except in pulverized coal burners, Rothgeb pointed out.

Present plans by the Budget Bureau call for the installation of pulverized coal burners whenever it becomes necessary to replace the present boilers and stokers in the heating plants at the larger state institutions.

On every corner you will find a modern Dick Whittington who wants to become the Lord High Mayor of Manhattan Town. In the harbor prisons are many modern Counts of Monte Cristo who hope someday to brave the dangerous harbor currents and win freedom in the old romantic way of the fictionists.

New York, more than anything, is a city of contrasts. Its mansions are the most luxurious and its tenements the dreariest. And always its crowds are a play of sable and burial.

Naturally Broadway is amusing, for it is to New York what thimble is to the Christmas tree. We like our glitter in chunks here, and Broadway is our bargain counter. Everything shines, even the blue serge.

Everybody carries a handbag, too. The little girls carrying them because they are dancers or actresses and must have costumes and mascara handy. Then men carry them because they are spiclers or salesmen. Or maybe they're just brokers carrying sums of money from one house to another.

We are, too, definitely a community of autocrats and democracies. Lush cordiality and freezing hostility are the order. Luke-warm methods aren't tolerated because they call for dalliance and in New York nobody has time to dally. Today is going and tomorrow may never get here.

In this streamlined Babylon where everyone strives for an epigram, it is pleasant to find such complex personalities side by side. For New York is the home of our most queenly actress, Helen Hayes, and of our most outrageous mad-cap, Fannie Brice.

But, one doubts whether Babylon ever had clearer stores that belonged in the department store class. In our cigar stores you may do anything but shoe horses. In addition to pipes, pouches and similar trappings, there is a wide range of such household effects as alarm clocks, wrist watches, candies, handkerchiefs, vases, jewelry, tapestries and throw rugs.

In a world of police whistles, ambulance sirens, roaring trains and wholesale volubility, our most publicized and least effective edict is an anti-noise campaign. Lawrence Tibbett, whose voice is loudest of all, refuses to cease singing in his east side apartment. Sally Rand, who dances nude, thinks the drama "Tobacco Road" is vulgar, although "Tobacco Road" has no nudity.

Finally, New York is a city of swift acceptance and rejection. People meet each other, sign notes, borrow money and get married all within 24 hours.

Crazy? Certainly. But we like it. We're that way.

Ayden Choral Club Gives Program
At the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Club held in the club house on Monday evening, a delightful musical program was given by Miss Virginia Belle Cooper, chairman of the music department of the Ayden Women's Club. Miss Cooper introduced Lewis Bullock, director of the Ayden Choral Club, who briefly told what he is trying to accomplish through the various choral clubs and choirs he is directing in Eastern North Carolina. Mr. Bullock sang two solo numbers, "Clouds" and "Shoes," and then presented the Choral Club in the following program:

"Love Song," "Lovely Appears"—Chorus.
Soprano Solo: "By the Bend of the River"—Mrs. Pierce.
Schubert's "Serenade"—Chorus.
Tenor Solo: "On the Road to Mandalay"—Rev. R. F. Pittman.
"In the Time of Roses," "Cousin Jedediah"—Chorus.
Accompanists, Miss Virginia Belle Cooper and Mrs. R. F. Pittman.

Prior to the above program a short business session was held. Report of the treasurer, Mrs. W. I. Wooten, showed that the finance committee had been very active during the past month, all current bills had been paid and one payment made on note held by Mrs. Moore. However, a three-year insurance policy would be due within a few days and the treasurer urged those who had not paid their due to do so at once.

The club voted to have a representative on the Federated Committee of Clubs in the city working towards a better understanding of International Relations and World Peace. Mrs. J. H. B. Moore was elected to represent the club on this committee.

The president urged the club membership to get busy with the various activities leading up to the Fine Arts Festival which the club will give again this spring. She stressed the usefulness of such a program for the community and asked that we all work to make the Festival this year more helpful and better attended than the one last spring.

It was announced that just as soon as the weather would permit the memorial tree to honor the late Mayor R. C. Flanagan would be planted. The committee for final arrangements for planting the tree is Mrs. T. E. Hooker, Mrs. H. S. Ragsdale, Mrs. J. Key Brown, Mrs. H. E. Austin and Mrs. E. W. Harvey.

Members of the Junior Club were special guests of the club for this meeting.

The club house was attractively decorated with the Valentine motif predominating. Refreshments were also suggestive of the Valentine season. The hostesses for this meeting were Mrs. W. L. Best, chairman, Mesdames H. S. Ragsdale, J. N. Gorman, G. V. Smith, W. J. Hardee, D. M. Clark, J. H. Blount, J. E. Dees, B. McK. Johnson, G. B. W. Hadley, A. M. Moseley and W. H. Woolard.—Reported.

Carnival at College.
The carnival given by the College Juniors last night was a clever imitation of the true article, with its catchy side shows, with barker boys to spend their pennies, with hot dog and cold drink stands, bingo, a dance hall, and with a free show winding up all.

The rooms and hallways of the ground floor of the Campus building was the ideal place for the hilarious show.

One cent for each foot, or fraction of a foot, of one's height was the admission price, which means about six cents a person. The price of everything was in pennies, two cents for most attractions. The bingo tables were full all the evening and there was always a large line before the fortune tellers booth and other shows were popular.

A lovely cake which was presented by one of the bakers in town, was won by Miss "Pete" Hill and James Johnson.

The signs on the booths, which indicated the nature of the shows within, were the swimming matches, the greatest curiosity, the fishing pond, the vaudeville, a caged deadly bat, mammoth cave, moving picture, and tumbler, the fortune teller, and "for men only."

Miss Margaret Norman is president of the class, which numbers about 175. So many of the class had part in the carnival that it is difficult to single out any special one.

Piano Recital
The following will take part in the recital presented by the piano pupils of Mrs. Charles A. White tomorrow evening in the auditorium of Third Street school:

Dorothy Nell Henderson, Susanne and Louise Kilgo, Flora Webb, Margaret Johnston, Charles Ives, Mary Andrews and Hennie Ruth Whichard, Ed Batchelor, Sarah Frances Williams, Joe Barnes White, Warren Picklen, Sammie White, Jane Smith, Margaret Lee Duke, H. R. Goodall, Jr., John Wooten, Lucie Clyde and Myra Stancill Blount, Elizabeth Erdiges, Pauline Bell, Julia Anne Van Roub Taylor, Sidney Johnson, M. Woolard, Anne Garrett, Allie Jane Harrington, Eleanor Rives, Laura Elizabeth Haskins, Daisy King Mayo, Rachel Blanchard, Mary Belle Robertson, Helen Settle.

The program will begin promptly at eight o'clock.

Talks To Parents

Cherishing a Grievance.

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
One of the unhappiest creatures on earth is the man or woman who goes through life with a grievance. That the grievance is more often than not imaginary makes no difference, for it is just as violent as if it were real, and the only cure for it lies in its owner's mind.

There is the man who imagines jealousy in his fellow employees which keeps him from advancement, the woman who feels that her unpopularity is due to the spitefulness of the other women, she meets, the scholar who is unappreciated, the mother who resents her children's indifference.

These and many other forms of grievance have their origin in childhood, and once the unfortunate attitude of mind which produces them is set in the mold of childhood, they are almost impossible to eradicate, for they have become a way of life.

Generally, if not invariably, it is the spoiled child who indulges in grievances later in life. And why not? When he is little, he is guarded against hardship, his parents always take his side and by their sympathy encourage self-pity. He was born with a silver spoon in his mouth, and fed with it until he can see no way of living without it.

But life compensates in either direction. The child who is allowed to take the hard knocks as they come to him, issued to the rough with the smooth and appreciates all the good he meets. The child who knows only comfort and protection must some day cope with real life, and is shocked and hurt when he finds that he is not to receive the special favors to which he has grown accustomed.

Of course, he blames it on the other fellow. All his life he has been used to having the blame shifted from his shoulders. Consequently he goes through life a wretched misfit.

$25 A MONTH buys any new Ford V-8 passenger car or light commercial unit. Make the usual low down-payment—your present car may take care of this—then multiply the balance, plus insurance, by 6% for 12 months or 1/3 of 1% a month for longer periods. Ask your Ford dealer for further details about this Authorized Ford Finance Plan of the Universal Credit Company. Attractive UCC terms on used cars also.

No Ford car ever built costs less for upkeep than the Ford V-8 for 1936... But when, after thousands of miles of trouble-free service, you may require a new part, the liberal Ford Exchange Service keeps maintenance costs at rock bottom.

When the time comes for an engine "overhaul," for instance, the modern Ford way allows you to exchange your Ford V-8 engine for one that has been reconditioned at the factory by the same men, machines and methods used to manufacture the original assembly—and there is no extra charge for labor.

Installation can be made in a few hours instead of days. The cost is much less than the average "overhaul." Contrast this engine exchange service, which gives you new engine performance at nominal price, with the usual expense of an engine "overhaul."

This exchange service applies not only to the engine but also to other parts—including 84 which are not listed here.

During 1935 motor vehicle accidents in this country brought death to 36,400 persons, permanent injury to 107,000 and temporary hurts to 1,170,000. Monetary loss in connection with the accidents was set at $1,600,000,000. These figures should be sufficient to cause any motorist or pedestrian to use common sense in driving or walking on the streets and highways.

Of course the large profits being made from the liquor stores in this and other counties will probably prove a big help to the counties financially, but the liquor business in this state was legalized on the pretext of putting the bootlegger out of business and we believe the best way to do this would be to cut the liquor prices down nearer to the bootleg price so there would be no incentive for anyone to patronize a bootlegger. Cutting the price would mean less profit to the counties but it would go a long way toward getting rid of the bootleggers.

There is still a lot of discussion as to whether the state should go ahead with the proposed plan of establishing a radio broadcasting system for use of the highway patrol. Of course the establishment of such a system was authorized by the last session of the legislature but as we see it, the matter should be given careful study from the standpoint of whether it would be an aid to the public safety. If the findings of such study indicate that lives might be saved as a result of the use of such a radio system by the highway patrol then the system would be worth the cost, but if it is just going to be an experiment with doubtful results, then it is too costly. $125,000 for installation and an estimated $40,000 annually for operation is too much to put into something unless it offers possibilities of making our highways safer.

THE BOOMERANG CLUE BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS: Frankie Derwent is determined that a chap named Bassington-French pushed another chap, identified as Alexander Pritchard over a cliff to his death. With the connivance of Bobby Jones her friend she has followed an accident and his police levelly into the house of Henry Bassington-French. She seems from Henry's wife that Roger, whom Frankie suspects will be along shortly. And now she is worried because Henry Bassington-French seems to be too nervous and excitable at times.

Chapter 18 ENTER ROGER

NOT that Henry was always like that. Later that evening at dinner, he showed out in quite a new light. He joked, laughed, told stories, and was, for a man of his abilities, quite brilliant. Too brilliant, Frankie felt. The brilliance was just as unnatural and out of character. "He has such queer eyes," she thought. "They frighten me a little."

And yet surely she did not suspect Henry Bassington-French of anything? It was his brother, not he, who had been in Marchbolt on that fatal day.

As for the brother, Frankie looked forward to seeing him with eager interest. According to her and to Bobby the man was a murderer. She was going to meet a murderer face to face.

She felt momentarily nervous. Yet, after all how could he be? How could he, in any way, connect her with a successfully accomplished crime?

"You're making a bogey for yourself out of nothing," she reflected. Roger Bassington-French arrived just before tea on the following afternoon. Frankie did not meet him till tea-time. She was still supposed to "rest" in the afternoon.

When she came out onto the lawn where tea was laid, Sylvia said, smiling: "Here is our invalid. This is my brother-in-law - Lady Frances Derwent."

Frankie saw a tall, slender young man of something over thirty with very pleasant eyes. Although she could see what Bobby meant by saying he ought to have a monocle and a toothbrush moustache, she herself was more inclined to notice the intense blue of his eyes. They shook hands.

He said: "I've been hearing all about the way you tried to break down the park wall."

"I'll admit," said Frankie, "that I'm the world's worst driver. But I was driving an awful old rattler. My own car was laid up, and I bought a cheap one second-hand."

"She was rescued from the ruins by a very good looking doctor," said Sylvia.

"He was rather sweet," agreed Frankie.

Tommy arrived at the moment and flung himself upon his uncle with squeaks of joy.

"Have you brought me a Hornby train? You said you would. You said you would!"

"Oh, Tommy, you mustn't ask for things!" said Sylvia.

"That's all right, Sylvia. It was a promise. I've got your train all right, old man." He looked casually at his sister-in-law. "Isn't Henry coming to tea?"

"I don't think so." A constrained note was in her voice. "He isn't feeling awfully well today, I imagine."

Then she said impulsively, "Oh, Roger, I'm glad you're back!"

He put his hand on her arm for a minute. "That's all right, Sylvia, old girl."

After tea, Roger played trains with his nephew. Frankie watched them, her mind in a turmoil. Surely this wasn't the sort of man to push people over cliffs! This charming young man couldn't be a cold-blooded murderer!

But then - she and Bobby must have been wrong all along. Wrong, that is about this part of it. She felt sure now that it wasn't Bassington-French who had pushed Pritchard over the cliff.

Then who was it? She was still convinced he had been pushed over. Who had done it? And who had put the morphia in Bobby's beer?

With the thought of morphia and deny the explanation of Henry Bassington-French's peculiar eyes came to her, with their pinpoint pupils. Was Henry Bassington-French a drug fiend?

STRANGELY enough, she received confirmation of this theory no later than the following day, and it came from Roger.

Roger - speaking this time in an entirely different tone of voice.

"Lady Frances, I'm going to do a rather peculiar thing. I've known you less than twenty-four hours, but I feel instinctively that you're the one person I can ask advice from."

"Advice?" said Frankie surprised. "Yes, I can't make up my mind between two different courses of action." He paused. He was leaning forward, swinging a racquet between his knees, a light frown on his forehead. He looked worried and upset.

"It's about my brother, Lady Frances."

"Yes?"

"He is taking drugs. I am sure of it."

"What makes you think so?" asked Frankie.

"Everything. His appearance. His extraordinary changes of mood. And have you noticed his eyes? The pupils are like pin-points."

"I had noticed that," admitted Frankie. "What do you think it is?"

"Morphia or some form of opium." "Has it been going on for long?"

"I date the beginning of it from about six months ago. I remember that he complained of sleeplessness a good deal. How he first came to take the stuff I don't know, but I think it must have begun soon after then."

"How does he get hold of it?" inquired Frankie practically.

"I think it comes to him by post. Have you noticed that he is particularly nervous and irritable some days at tea-time?"

"Yes, I have."

"I suspect that that is when he has finished up his supply and is waiting for more. Then, after six o'clock post has come, he goes into his study and emerges for dinner in quite a different mood."

Frankie nodded. She remembered that unnatural brilliance of conversation sometimes at dinner.

"But where does the supply come from?" she asked.

"Ah, that I don't know. No reputable doctor would give it to him. There are, I suppose, various sources where one could get it in London by paying a big price."

FRANKIE nodded thoughtfully. "Why exactly are you telling me this?" she asked.

"Because I don't know what to do about Sylvia," he said simply.

"You think she doesn't know?"

"Of course she doesn't know. I ought to tell her?"

"It's very difficult -"

"It is difficult. That's why I thought you might be able to help me. Sylvia has taken a great fancy to you. She doesn't care much for any of the people round about, but she liked you at once, she tells me. What ought I to do, Lady Frances? By telling her, I shall add a great burden to her life."

"If she knew, she might have some influence," suggested Frankie.

"I doubt it. When it's a case of drug-taking, nobody, even the nearest and dearest, has any influence."

"That's rather a hopeless attitude, isn't it?"

"It's a fact. There are ways, of course. If Henry would only consent to go in for a cure, there's a place actually near here. Run by a Dr. Nicholson."

"But he'd never consent, would he?"

"He might. You can catch a morphia taker in a mood of extravagant remorse sometimes when he'd do anything to cure himself. I'm inclined to think that Henry might be got to that frame of mind more easily if he thought Sylvia didn't know - if her knowing were held over him as a kind of threat. If the cure were successful - they'd call it 'nerves,' of course - she would never need to know."

"Would he have to go away for the cure?"

"The place I mean is about three miles from here, the other side of the village. It's run by a Canadian, Dr. Nicholson. A very clever man, I believe. And fortunately Henry likes him. Hush - here comes Sylvia."

office in the event of FDR's reelection. Sitting Cabinet members' worries are described as needless by politicians who ought to know. They have marked Mr. McNutt as a young man who must wait his big turn for many years. They're passing out word that Mr. Roosevelt simply asked for a fill-in on his prospects of carrying Indiana next fall.

APOSTLE: New Deal scouts have written off Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia as a threat to FDR and substituted the name of the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith as the foremost trouble-maker below the Mason and Dixon line. Mr. Smith, the late Huey Long's apostle, spoke at the Macon meeting and impressed Washington observers as a political revivalist who can hypnotize the multitude. He is a strapping, handsome figure, a sensational spell-binder and a smart organizer. They tell how he fired 15,000 people with his oratory for an hour and then cried: "Now, kneel down and pray for the defeat of the Roosevelt administration."

The story runs that every man and woman drooped to the ground and prayed audibly. His remarks about the Roosevelts at Macon are described as "unprintable."

The preacher is said to be the only rival whom the late "Kingfish" feared and distrusted. Long leaders in Louisiana would like to cut loose from him but they don't care to antagonize him. Washingtonians admit it may go hard with certain administration stalwarts - Senators Harrison, in Mississippi and Robinson in Arkansas - if the black-haired Smith campaigns against them.

New York By JAMES McMULLIN

COLT: New York political observers are keeping a careful eye on the La Follettes. They are quietly organizing what looks like a really effective third party nucleus. Their new Farm-Labor Federation - built around their Progressive party - has already acquired the full support of the Wisconsin Socialist party and the Wisconsin Federation of Labor.

It's understood the next step will be to reach out and absorb the neighboring Farm-Labor party of Minnesota. If successful in that they will be in a position to start a campaign of gradual national infiltration. Watch John Lewis of the United Mine Workers if the movement gains impressive headway. Informed sources would not be surprised to see him swing his large organized labor following into at a psychological moment.

The LaFollettes will not enter their political coil in the '38 sweepstakes. It will be kept under cover until it gets its growth - and any way Roosevelt is their man this year. They are shooting for 1940 - and wise New Yorkers rate it an odds-on bet that by then their organization will be strong enough to give the older parties a whale of a fight.

IMPROVED: Governor Alfred M. Landon registered better in his Kansas Day radio speech than financial men had expected. Scouts reported a favorable public response from various sections to the governor's temperate attitude in contrast to the ferocity displayed by other recent political broadcasters.

Moreover, Landon is gaining supporters in inner circles that count - among those who foot the bills. They are more confident of his conservatism than they are of Vandenberg's and they figure Knox has about shot his bolt. They have thought well of the governor right along - but until last week they were not convinced that he could command enough of a popular following to make him worth backing across the board. The big money boys are not yet irrevocably committed - but their friendly interest won't hurt Landon any behind the G. O. P. scenes.

This doesn't mean that Landon is "in." Borah doesn't like him - and Borah cannot safely be ignored. Knox is understood to prefer Vandenberg if he can't have the nomination himself. The regular Republican Senators would rather have on of their own. There are plenty of hurdles for the Kansan to ply, but his chances have materially improved.

UNGRATEFUL: New York utility leaders wonder where Senator Joe Robinson got the nerve to take a crack at the "power trust" in his radio reply to Al Smith. Joe was counsel for Cities Service and for Electric Bond and Share until a couple of years ago. He severed those connections only when they threatened to become politically embarrassing. In one case he collected a fee of $50,000 from Cities Service. He is still an intimate friend of Harvey Couch - whose appointment to the original RFC board he sponsored. Couch is a big shot of Electric Bond and Share - the company the Securities Exchange Commission feels is most vulnerable to a suit to enforce the holding company act.

Joe's critics remark it was the money he made as a utility lawyer which gave him the financial independence to become a Senator - and bitterly quote the serpent's tooth adage.

REPLACEMENT: A number of new strip steel mills have recently been built near Pittsburgh. The old type of mill needed 375 men to turn out 60,000 tons of steel a year. The new type requires only 125 men to produce that much in a month.

This increased efficiency was not motivated by any need to step up production. The old mills were operating only at about one-half capacity. The sole object is to cut labor costs - both directly and by saving on payroll taxes imposed by the social security law.

This is an outstanding example of the accelerated replacement of men by machine - recently discussed in this column. It gives further striking evidence that continued business recovery is not likely to bring the unemployment problem noticeably nearer to a solution.

ALERT: Informed financial sources get word that serious trouble is brewing in China. A flare-up is due in the near future that will give the Japanese an excuse to press their campaign of "penetration."

Any one of four fuses might explode the powder-keg. The communists have lately been making rapid gains and might start something under the guise of a patriotic uprising against the Japanese invaders. The Japanese themselves might promote another of those "unfortunate incidents" which demand prompt retribution. The Kuomintang government - revive under Japanese domination because Japanese economic aid hasn't been forthcoming in the measure promised - might precipitate an open break. Or there might be a complete Chinese financial collapse.

The Japanese military authorities are reported on the alert to take advantage of whatever happens.

Mr. T. L. Austin, of McAdenville, N. C., tells of having used Black-Draught for a long time. "There is a box full on my mantel, now," he writes. "I take it for biliousness. If I did not take it, the dullness and headache would put me out of business. It is the quickest medicine to relieve me."

'Hypnotism!' Said Dentists But It Was Dr. Hartman's Tooth Desensitizer

Dr. Leroy L. Hartman and a diagram showing a cross section of a tooth with a cavity in which a drop of the desensitizer is placed before drilling is begun.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)
NEW YORK (AP)—Attentive dentists suspected that they were watching a case of hypnotism when Dr. Leroy L. Hartman of Columbia University made his first public demonstration of his new pain-killer for us in filling teeth.

He had been called in to the university dental clinic because a small girl refused to let a student dentist continue. She was crying with pain. Those at the clinic did not know he had a new desensitizing mixture.

They scarcely noticed as he placed a drop of a mixture of thymol, alcohol and ether in the cavity. Thymol and alcohol are a common antiseptic in dental use. They did not get a significance of the pause of a minute after Dr. Hartman had applied the pain-killer.

After that moment, Dr. Hartman motioned the student to continue his work. The child did not move an eyelid. She felt no more pain. At first onlookers thought she had been hypnotized.

In about 500 trials of the pain-killer made before giving the formula to the dental profession at a meeting of 2000 cheering dentists here, there were more similar experiences.

aming the nerve. In one year's time no killing of nerves or other bad effects have been found.

It does not kill the dentine pain until it comes in contact with live tooth tissue. Thus when placed in the decay of a new cavity of short duration it is likely to kill the drill pain immediately. Because it still can contact live tissues.

But in an old cavity it may not relieve the pain until the decay is cut through. For old decay acts like a cauterizing surface over the live dentine. It does not work in a cavity containing any moisture. When it was announced 2,000 dentists in New York bought out the available drug store supplies.

Some of them were given old thymol, impure ether and impure alcohol. These mixtures are reported to have failed.

Some patients say the difference is that without the desensitizer the drill feels like cutting marble—with the pain-killer, it feels like cutting chalk.

Hinsdale Slated Manage Campaign Sandy Graham

Expect Candidate To Make Announcement Soon

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—Lieutenant Governor A. H. Graham is expected to jump the gun on all the other candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor by announcing his state campaign manager first—and the belief is growing stronger every day that when the announcement of his selection is made, it will be John Hinsdale of Raleigh, a member of the 1933 senate and the man now generally credited with furnishing most of the brains in the organizing of the Fountain campaign back in 1932.

Hinsdale could not be reached for a statement here today and it is reported to have stated recently that he did not intend to manage anybody's campaign. Nevertheless, the opinion is steadily growing in political circles here that it is only a matter of days before Graham will announce the appointment of Hinsdale as his campaign manager. It is definitely known that Graham has already made overtures to Hinsdale with regard to managing his campaign and it is believed that the only thing "Sandy" is now waiting for is Hinsdale's final decision.

If Hinsdale consents to manage Graham's campaign for Governor and if Graham will undoubtedly score a considerable advantage. For it is generally conceded that both McDonald and Hoy have been searching for campaign managers for a good many weeks, if not months, but that so far they do not seem to have found the type of man each has wanted.

It is generally agreed that Dr. McDonald several months ago tried to persuade Willard Dowell, militant secretary of the North Carolina Merchants Association, to manage his campaign, but was not able to get him, probably because Dowell had the managing of another campaign in mind. Indications are that Dowell will soon be managing his own campaign as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Auditor, against State Auditor Baxter Durham. It is also generally agreed that Dowell and the North Carolina Merchants Association are no longer as bitterly opposed to the sales tax as they once were and hence not any too anxious to go along with McDonald who is promising to repeal the sales tax. It is also understood that McDonald has attempted to get both Horton Doughton, of Statesville, son of Congressman R. L. Doughton and Itemus T. Valentine of Nashville, one of Fountain's former campaign managers, as his campaign manager, but that so far he has not succeeded. One reason for his failure to get Valentine is understood to be that Congressman Harold Cooley does not approve of the plan and does not want to relinquish Valentine, who managed his successful campaign for Congress in the Fourth Congressional District.

It is not known whether Hoy has asked any one to manage his campaign, as yet, although several names have been mentioned as having been under consideration. Among these is Hubert Olive of Lexington, State Commander of the American Legion and Dickson McLean of Lumberton. It is also generally agreed that Outler Moore, also of Lumberton and secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee, would very much like to be Hoy's manager. But the belle current here is that Hoy is still seeking for an up-and-coming young man, known throughout the state for his progressive and liberal ideas and tendencies, for his campaign manager. Observers here are not yet able to guess who this might be.

If Graham is able to get Hinsdale as his campaign manager, it will be quite a blow to both Hoy and McDonald, many observers here believe, since many are convinced that Hinsdale would be able to line up a great many of the old Fountain supporters for Graham, despite the fact that McDonald has been counting heavily on getting the bulk of the old Fountain following. For those who know the history of the Ehringhaus-Fountain campaign preceding the second primary, know that it was Hinsdale who stepped into the breach, took charge of the organization work and with the aid of Valentine and a few others, built Fountain up to the point where he was almost elected Governor.

Graham has already indicated that is not the heir-apparent of the present administration and with Hinsdale to do his organizing, many believe he could get a great deal of support from the same element which supported Fountain and opposed Ehringhaus in 1932. At any rate, both the Hoy and McDonald supporters here are hoping Graham will not be able to get Hinsdale as his manager.

British Survive And Increase

London. (AP)—That the population of Great Britain is increasing and both men and women are living longer, was revealed in the registrar-general's review for 1933 which has just been issued after experts had wrestled with statistics for two years. The estimated population in the middle of 1933 was 40,350,000, of whom 19,257,000 were males and 20,993,000 females. The excess of births over deaths was 264,000.

CAMP DEPENDS ON FREE ROAD

No CCC Camp for Mt. Mitchell Unless Road Built

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—No Civilian Conservation Corps camp will be located on Mt. Mitchell by the Federal government for the development of the Mt. Mitchell State Park and for the building of trails and roads through the park and the National Forest areas adjacent, unless the State Highway and Public Works Commission will give assurance that the proposed free road will be built to the top of Mt. Mitchell in the very near future, it was intimated here today.

It was understood that a high official of the National Park Service, here this week, indicated that no CCC camp would be located to Mt. Mitchell unless the highway department got busy and built the road which it has been saying for years it would build but which so far has not even been started.

The highway department is still planning to build this road to the top of Mt. Mitchell and has assured the National Park Service that the road will be constructed, Chairman Capus M. Waynick of the highway commission said today. But then commission has not planned to build the road this spring or summer, he indicated.

"The highway commission has already committed itself in favor of building this road to the top of Mt. Mitchell and will undoubtedly build it in due time," Waynick said. "But whether it can build it this spring or summer, is another question, especially when we are now concentrating on the park-to-park highway ahead of everything else. But we are open minded about it."

The Department of Conservation and Development is very much interested both in getting a toll-free highway to the top of Mt. Mitchell and in getting the CCC camp to develop the 1,200 acres on the summit which belongs to the state and is under the administration of the conservation department as a state park. Director R. Bruce Etheridge of the Conservation Department another department officials are scheduled to appear before the next meeting of the highway commission to present arguments for the construction of the highway to the summit of Mt. Mitchell, Waynick said.

HOEY TO TALK ON CAMPAIGN

Gubernatorial Candidate Will Speak on Thursday Night

Reflector Bureau,

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—The speech to be made by Clyde R. Hoy of Shelby on Thursday night, February 6, is already occupying the political spotlight here and causing much speculation concerning what he will say. The speech will last for one hour, from 8 until 9 o'clock and will be broadcast over a state-wide radio hook-up over stations WBT, Charlotte, WPTF, in Raleigh and WUNC, in Asheville. As a result, it is believed that the speech can be easily and clearly picked up by any radio set in the state.

Since this will be the first political speech Mr. Hoy has made since the announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor and since he has already announced that he will state his position on all controversial questions completely and fully in this speech, it is expected that Democrats throughout the state will listen to this speech with great interest, regardless of whether they are supporters of Hoy or not. It is also expected that the Republicans will likewise listen to the address with interest, since it is generally conceded that Hoy has made as many dents in the Republican "machine" in the state as any Democrat, if not more. In the middle Piedmont and western counties where Hoy has assisted the local county organizations in their campaigns for years, the Republican leaders have a very healthy regard, if not fear, for Hoy's ability as a campaigner.

Because of Hoy's fame as an orator and his recognized ability as a campaigner in behalf of other candidates, more than the usual amount of interest is being shown in the forthcoming speech tomorrow night, in which he is expected to show for the first time in years how well he can use his oratorical ability and his incisive intellect in his own behalf. Since it is agreed that there are a good many questions which he will have to handle very deftly, such as the sales tax, the liquor question, old age pensions, the public schools and others, those opposed to him as well as his supporters are expected to follow his speech very closely.

APPROVE MORE HIGHWAY WORK

Twelve More Road Grade Crossings to be Eliminated

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—Twelve more highway construction and grade crossing elimination projects have just been approved by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads in Washington and bids on these projects will be opened and contracts let February 18. Chairman Capus M. Waynick of the State Highway and Public Works Commission announced today. The total cost of these 12 projects is estimated at approximately $665,000.

The projects are as follows: Mecklenburg county, 1.18 miles on North and South Graham street in Charlotte, concrete and bituminous concrete paving. Eowan county, 45 miles of U. S. Route 29, in Salisbury, of bituminous surface on concrete base. Pasquotank county, 28 miles on Elizabeth Street in Elizabeth City, concrete paving on piling and gravel surfacing. Nash county, 7.67 miles from intersection with Route 58, one mile northwest of Nashville, to Taylor's store, county road, grading and bituminous surfacing. Martin county, 1.05 miles of concrete paving in Williamston. Duplin county, 11.32 miles on Route 41 from Tin City towards Chinquapin, grading and surfacing. MEN OF NORTH ARGENTINA TOO FRAIL FOR ARMY TEST

Buenos Aires. (AP)—Medical examination of a group of conscripts in the northern provinces of Argentina, a section which has not kept pace with the general progress of the country, revealed some disquieting facts. The army medical board announced that of 350 conscripts examined in Misiones territory, in the north near the Brazilian frontier, only 60 were fit for military service. Rejections were made on many grounds, including physical disability, bad teeth and hereditary afflictions. Sanitary and food conditions in the semi-tropical north are far below those which prevail in the temperate central provinces, which are producing a race of towering broad-shouldered men of whom such boxers as Luis Angel Firio and Victorio Campolo are examples. Buenos Aires boasts that it is the best fed city in the world.

BOSPHORUS SPAN TO LINK EUROPE AND ASIA MINOR

Istanbul. (AP)—A plan to connect Europe and Asia Minor by a suspension bridge over the Bosphorus is being considered by the municipality of Istanbul. Cost estimates, a proximate $10,000,000, have been submitted by an Anglo-American engineering group who propose a bridge similar in design to the Brooklyn span. It would reach from the picturesque native quarter of old Stambul to Haidar Pasha station, on Asiatic soil, whence trains depart to Bardar. The bridge would have various levels for train, pedestrian and motor traffic. It would be a mile and a half long and would be 77 feet above high tide, permitting large liners to pass underneath.

ETHIOPIAN NEWSPAPER MAN TO SPEAK AT DUKE THURS. JAY

Durham, N. C., Feb. 5.—Josef Israels, II, New York Times correspondent on the Italo-Ethiopian front, who is in this country on leave, will give an illustrated lecture on his experiences in the war zone at Duke University on Thursday night, in Page auditorium. He is appearing under auspices of the Woman's college open forum club. A close friend of Emperor Haile Selassie, whom he assisted as interpreter on his recent radio broadcast to the United States, Mr. Israels is an honored member of the imperial court, where he has been known for the past four years. He first went to Ethiopia in 1929 because, he declares, "I wanted to go to some place I hadn't seen pictures of." He stayed there for three years and wrote a novel about Ethiopia, "The Sea and the Land."

MARKETS

New York Cotton

New York, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, nine to 13 points decline on lower Liverpool cables and under foreign selling and liquidation. The initial decline carried the market off to 11.00 for March and 10.15 for October, making net losses of about 10 to 14 points. At the end of the first hour prices had rallied four to five from the lowest with active months off six to nine points. Demand for March, which helped to check the early decline, was supplied late in the morning, and that month broke below the early price of 11.00. Active months were 12 to 16 net lower.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A cheerful tone pervaded stock market dealings today. Sections of the list, particularly farm equipment and miscellaneous industrials making advances of a point or so. Narrow improvements ruled in most of the utilities and rails. The flush of inflationary sentiment appeared to be lacking in today's dealings, brokers reported. Trade prospects and the pressure of idle funds were predominant stimulants. Selling in the final few minutes unsettled the stock market today after a brisk demand had pushed many issues to new highs for five years or longer early in the final hour. The late tone was firm, with sales approximating 2,700,000 shares.

PLANNING EXPERT DECLARES NEEDS SHOULD BE SERVED

Durham, Feb. 5.—City planning in the future will devote less attention to the laying out of cities around impressive monuments and the building of ornate facades and more to the serving of human needs, Albert Simmons, widely-known Charleston S. C. city planning expert and architect, declared last evening in an illustrated lecture at Duke University. The admittance of sunshine to all areas, the relief of population congestion, and solution of the traffic problem, the erection of playgrounds and card nareas, are more to be desired than useless beauty, he declared.

Mineral production in Quebec province registered a notable increase during the past year, particularly in gold, silver, asbestos and copper.

NORFOLK CRITICS PRAISED "THE INFORMER"

In bringing "The Informer," John Ford's magnificently produced photoplay of an Irish Judas, back to Norfolk, the management of the Wells Theatre is performing a public service for which thousands of Norfolk film fans should be grateful. "The Informer," which skyrocketed Victor McLaglen to the top among the world's foremost screen stars, has been voted by the National Board of Review and hundreds of film critics as the best picture produced during 1935, and is confidently expected to win the forthcoming Motion Picture Academy award. Among the scores of reviews I have read I have not found one that did not highly praise "The Informer," which was recommended as excellent in a radio broadcast sponsored by the motion picture bureau of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae.

E. M. HOLMES, The Ledger-Dispatch.

SELECTED THE BEST PICTURE OF 1935—

The most astounding drama the screen has ever known!
