NINE PERSONS DIE IN MONTH ON HIGHWAYS

Monthly Report of State Highway Patrol Issued

FIGURES QUOTED IN THIS DIVISION

Fewer Fatal and Non-Fatal Wrecks on Highways in January Than in Dec.

Only eight people were fatally injured in traffic accidents during January in the Eastern division of the state, Highway patrol headquarters here reported today.

The number of fatal wrecks was the lowest for any month since the division was increased to include 33 counties. A total of 19 were killed during December.

Lieut. Lester Jones, head of the division, credited the big decrease to the weather and bad roads during January than in any month in some time.

During January only 80 accidents were reported, as compared with 138 in December, and 50 persons were injured in traffic wrecks, as compared with 81 during the previous month.

The 812 arrests for January showed an increase over the previous month when 597 persons were arrested. The increase was partially credited to more arrests of persons driving automobiles without proper licenses.

Sixty-seven motorists were arrested for driving drunk, as against 85 for December. A total of 684 warrants was procured for all violations. In addition 335 citations were made.

Other activities of the combined force in the division included: vehicles inspected, 1,774; equipment tickets issued, 20; light tickets, 12; lights corrected, 2,546; warnings issued, 1,070; court cases extended, 546; cars recovered, six; vehicles stored, 19; vehicles weighed, 52; vehicles found overloaded, 23; complaints investigated, 206 and number of fires extinguished, one.

The force travelled a total of 87,111 miles during the month, using 476 pints of oil and 1,895 gallons of gasoline. The men spent a total of 15,131 hours on duty.

During the month 2,540 receipts were issued and 841 drivers licenses were meted out.

Of case tried in court of arrests made by patrolmen, 788 defendants were found guilty and 24 not guilty, 149 of the convictions resulting in sentences.

Total revenue for the period was $56,859.60. This was divided up as follows: value of property recovered, $2,665; fines, $5,789; costs, $4,204; and revenue collected $44,201.60.

The report revealed that not a single day was missed by members of the force, except for sickness, and only 17 days on this account.

Net Profit of $350 Realized From Ball in City January 30

President's Dance Provides $245 More to Aid Indigent Crippled Children in Community

A complete tabulation of the net proceeds derived from the recent Birthday ball, announced today, showed that $350 was realized after all expenses were paid.

Of this amount 70 per cent, or $245, will be retained in the community to aid in a plan to aid indigent cripples. The remaining 30 per cent, or $105, will go to the Warm Springs Foundation.

Officials of the ball said they considered the dance a distinct financial success, despite the bad weather on the night of the affair. In spite of the snow and ice, many people ventured out for the dance and floor show, many of the staying until the scheduled time for the dance to end.

The $245 to be kept here has been added to approximately $500 derived from the ball in 1934. The money will be used in providing relief for crippled children unable to secure this aid for themselves.

GEOGRAPHICAL LIMITS BAN LUXEMBOURG GUNS

Luxembourg (AP)—One of the major military problems of Europe confronts the tiny Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

Luxembourg, with its population of 300,000 on an area of 1,500 square miles, has an army of 150 volunteers.

But Luxembourg, by circumstance is deprived of artillery. Because if artillery practice were held, the shells would land in a neighboring country.

MID-WEST SNOW DRIFTS BURY CARS, HALT TRAINS

Snow storms preceding a sub-zero wave closed many highways and blocked railroad traffic in sections of the middle west. Drifts six to eight feet deep buried automobiles (top) near Algonquin, Ill., and stalled a gigantic snowplow that came to their rescue. Below, is shown a Chicago and Northwestern train blocked near Jackson, Wis., with 89 passengers aboard. All took refuge in a four-room hotel nearby. (Associated Press Photos)

New Tobacco Control Act May Demand State Action

Extra Session of Legislature May Be Necessary

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The possibility that Congress may provide for state compacts to control tobacco production was seen here today as another issue likely to cause pressure for a special session of the North Carolina legislature.

If Congress should approve the compact plans as embraced in proposals for flue-cured and Burley, a special session would be necessary for enactment of state control measures if the state intended to cooperate this crop year.

Under the compact proposal each cooperating state would enact similar legislation with the federal government participating as an assisting agency.

Delegations of Virginia legislators to the capital yesterday heard J. B. Hutson, agriculture department tobacco chief, outline what should be contained in state control bills.

Conferences of officials of tobacco growing states are expected to be called to further advance the idea.

Rep. John H. Kerr of Warren, N. C., is the author of the compact bill for the flue cured states. Cooperation of North Carolina was considered essential to the success of any compact. The state grows the majority of flue cured and a large portion of the Burley crop.

Plan For Hearing Of Settlement Of Reynolds Estate

Baltimore, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Preliminary arrangements for a hearing to settle the two-year-old litigation of the estate of the late Robert Reynolds, North Carolina tobacco king, were under way today in Circuit Court.

Judge Eli Frank signed an order appointing Henry J. Rippenger, deputy clerk of court, as "ad litem" for 44 minors and infants in the case.

Through its attorney general A. A. P. Seawell the State of North Carolina filed an answer claiming under an agreement of its own court two million dollars in settlement of taxes.

Appointment of the acting guardian was brought about by the State Deposit and Trust Co., of Baltimore plaintiff in the action, against the 91 defendants seeking determination of their rights to the estate of the company is holding in trust.

No answers have been filed in behalf of Anne Gannoy Smith and Libby Holman Reynolds, first and second wives of the late Smith Reynolds and their children.

Rippenger filed an answer in behalf of only 42 of the 44 minors for whom he was named acting guardian. He did not answer for Anita Cannon Smith, second, or Christopher Smith Reynolds, children of the late Smith-Reynolds by his first and second wives.

DEATH CLAIMS CHAS. CURTIS

Former Vice President Dies of Heart Attack

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Charles Curtis, former vice-president and long time senator from Kansas, died today at 76.

A heart attack was the cause. Dr. George R. Calver, physician at the capital announced:

"Honorable Charles Curtis, former vice-president of the United States of America, died of a heart attack at 10:25 this day."

Curtis was elected to the House in 1907. In that year he was appointed to the Senate, with the exception of a period from 1912 to 1914, continued in the Senate until his election as vice-president in 1928.

Since expiration of his term as vice-president, Curtis has practiced law in the capital.

He made his home with his sister, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann. She was a widow.

Only recently Curtis was planning to resume his political activities in the interest of Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas, for the presidential nomination.

Democrats and Republicans alike mourned his passing. Leaders of his party were counting on him in the presidential campaign.

"I am deeply disturbed to hear of the sudden passing of my old friend, Charles Curtis," said President Roosevelt.

"Whether they knew him as a Senator, as a vice president, of the United States or as the man he was in his own right his legend of friendship will remain always affectionate and will mourn his passing."

After conferring with Mrs. Gann, Senator Capper of Kansas announced that funeral services would be conducted at Topeka.

The body will leave Washington tomorrow night.

BAKED RAT TRAP NABS CUSTOMER

Madrid (AP)—Baker Antonio Langara invented a new kind of mouse trap but it is doubtful if the world will beat a path to his door. Pestered by the rodents, he baked a bun calculated to do away with a number of them. The dough for this particular bun was liberally seasoned with used gramophone needles.

SET PROGRAM OF BIG RALLY FARMERS HERE

Edward A. O'Neal to Speak Monday at 2 O'Clock

HUTSON SLATED FOR SHORT TALK

Sponsors of Farmers Rally Expect Least 5,000 to Attend the Meeting at College

A tentative program for the farmers rally here Monday when Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm bureau, will deliver the feature address, were drawn up today by J. E. Winslow, chairman of the Pitt county board of agriculture, and others behind the event.

The program will be held in the Campus building of the college, and it was indicated the building would be filled to capacity. Sponsors of the event said they had received reports from a number of counties from Eastern North Carolina saying that large delegations would be here from their respective communities.

The tentative program calls for the address of welcome by Dr. L. R. Meadows, president of E. C. T. C. Mr. Winslow will preside and Dean L. O. Schaub of N. C. State college extension service, will introduce Mr. O'Neal.

E. Y. Floyd, also of the extension service, will also make a short talk. Following this, Mr. Schaub will introduce J. B. Hutson, head of the tobacco division of the old AAA.

The program is scheduled to get underway at 2 o'clock and is expected to last about one and a half hours. Farmers from 25 counties have been specifically invited and farmers from the entire state will be welcomed.

A delegation from here will meet Mr. O'Neal in Rocky Mount Monday morning, the train arriving at 9 o'clock. The Raleigh delegation from Raleigh, is expected about noon. It will be accompanied by Mr. Hutson, who is expected to (Continued on page four)

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

DEPRESSOR: Political psychologists in Capitol Hill swear that the tide has turned against the Townsend plan. All the tricks and tests which office-holders apply to measure public sentiment convince them that the fever and fanaticism for the scheme is ebbing.

Within a month the Townsend mail has shown a sharp falling-off. A querulous note of disappointment creeps into letters from folks who once believed the $200-a-month pensions were just around the corner. Members who timidly temped public wrath with denunciatory speeches have been surprised to receive commendatory instead of critical responses.

The Townsdenites are squabbling among themselves. Some now favor only a $100-a-month payment, while a few follow Senator Borah in his proposal of liberalization of existing old-age pensions. Although sympathetic to the basic idea, the man from Idaho has helped a lot to stir dissension in the inner ranks.

In friendly conferences with the leaders he has betrayed a skepticism that has become contagious. They always leave him downcast and worried.

HERDING: Behind-the-scenes rumbling by party chieftains accounts for the Democrats' sudden display of political pugnacity at Washington. From now through November political soldiers will fire at every head—browdered or bare—that bobs up.

Idaho Senator Rises Early to Study Bill in Preparation For Senate Debate

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—With Democratic leaders defending the new farm bill, and Senator Borah (R-Idaho) questioning its constitutionality, the capital expects a stiff fight before the measure comes to a vote in the senate next week.

Borah arose at 3 a. m. yesterday to study the bill so he could be prepared for senate debate later in the day.

A snow storm which held many members away from the capital brought an end to the session. Before much discussion took place, but Borah told reporters:

"A casual survey shows there is serious constitutional question about the bill."

Senator Robinson, the Democratic house leader, declared, however, that the Senate would pass the measure on Monday or Tuesday by a two to one majority, with Pope (D-Idaho) saying there "is good reason" to believe the bill conforms to the Supreme court's AAA ruling.

Senator Connally (D-Texas) in-picked up an amendment yesterday. This would pay to the surplus producing farmers a debenture certificate or bounty equal to half the tariff on a commodity similar to the one he exports.

Redeemable at the Treasury for 88 cents on the dollar, the debenture certificates could also be employed to pay custom duty.

The subsidy is set at: cotton 4 cents a pound; corn seven cents a pound; tobacco, two cents; wheat 21 cents a bushel.

Gov. Olson Makes Reply to Editor of Chicago Tribune

Rochester, Minn., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Governor Floyd B. Olson today characterized Colonel Robert McCormick, Chicago Tribune publisher as a "fakir" and a "journalistic charlatan," in a reply to McCormick's assertion at Columbus, Ohio, last night that the Minnesota chief executive "lent aid and assistance to gangland in its campaign."

The publisher had said the machine gun slaying of Walter Lippert, colorful Minneapolis editor, was an instance of "subverters and ultra-radical" attempt to put an end to the freedom of the press and to overthrow our form of government.

In Minneapolis he told the Ohio Newspaper Association "you find gang and murder editors and all who cross its path. You find an ultra-radical governor lending aid and assistance to gangland in its campaign."

Gov. Olson's statement follows: "Colonel Bertie McCormick's charge against me is false and he knows it. He makes the charge because he is a czarist-minded reactionary and hates me for what he calls 'ultra radicalism.'"

"He is a fake in his alleged war on crime. The Chicago Tribune has warred on crime only when Bertie's political opponents have been in power."

"With all his talk about murder he is himself morally responsible for the death of many persons. On August 16, 1933 during the World Fair at Chicago the health department discovered that a great many employees handling food in a Chicago hotel had a deadly disease. McCormick had the story suppressed."

"I state with the utmost conviction that if a list of convictions that if a list of infamous persons in the United States was compiled, Bertie McCormick would be at or near the top."

TWO KILLED AS TRAIN WRECKS

Engineer and Fireman Die When Locomotive is Derailed

Allendale, S. C., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The engineer and fireman of Southern Railway train No. 24, were fatally injured today when their locomotive, carrying four cars with it, was derailed at 2:40 a. m. in the center of town.

Engineer Charles McNeill of Columbia died instantly in the wreckage of the engine which crashed to earth with an explosion.

Fireman S. A. Orr, also of Columbia, was taken by ambulance to the Columbia hospital, badly scalded. He died there several hours after the accident.

Several passengers were reported to have been shaken about, but none were seriously injured so far as could be learned.

Railway officials began an investigation to determine the cause of the wreck but reached no immediate conclusion. The first four units of the train after the locomotive were derailed with it.

The train, the Jacksonville-Columbia local, had left Jacksonville last night and was to arrive at Columbia in 10 minutes after the accident, but it was totally disabled.

Worst Blizzard In Years Paralyzes Entire Southwest

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The worst blizzard in years paralyzed the northwest under deep piled snow today and shot new blasts of zero chill across the nation.

Railroads and highways were choked off from the Rocky Mountains to the Mississippi, communities were marooned, schools were closed and mire were snowed shut.

Sinking as fast as 40 degrees in an hour and five minutes, the temperature struck bottom at 52 below zero at Hill City, S. D.

A gale from the north and northwest struck Nebraska bringing in that state the worst blizzard in years. Rail lines were blocked except the Union Pacific's main route. Automobiles were stalled and airplanes were grounded. The state highway department it "knows of no roads open."

The brunt of the storm brought Wyoming and Colorado the coldest February weather on record.

The weather bureau said the east ern coast could expect a brief moderation but the new cold jumps the Appalachian tomorrow.

A GOOD SHOWING

The final figures revealing that $350 profit was made on the recent President's Birthday Ball here, are certainly gratifying. Of course the amount was not quite up to that of last year but when the terrible weather on the date of the ball is taken into consideration the people of our county did well in the way of attendance. The net proceeds this year stack up most favorably with the funds raised in other cities in this state much larger than Greenville.

INCREASES: Wholesale prices of food and farm products showed a slow decline in the four weeks following the Supreme court decision outlawing the AAA. Economists checking up for Secretary Wallace say that the construction is unmistakable. While the drop for all groups of commodities amounted to only one-tenth of 1 per cent, the wholesale cost of foods fell 1.6 per cent. The decline on farm products was 1.3 per cent. The experts look for a slow but continued sag, though not as sharp as some have predicted.

From January of 1933 to mid-January of 1936 the cost of living increase averaged about 25 per cent. For food it was much greater. Here are a few sample increases: Lard, 126.8 per cent; bacon, 101.2; pork chops, 96; wheat flour 74.1; sliced ham, 64; plate beef, 59.5; corn meal 49.7; chuck roast 49.9; rice, 47.3; roasting chicken, 44.4.

STATES: President Roosevelt has under consideration a plan for decentralizing the federal relief agencies by turning funds over to the states for local officials to administer. A study of the problems involved in such a shift may disclose it to be impracticable at this time, but some of his closest advisers are urging it for the 1937 fiscal year that begins July 1. The argument submitted to Mr. Roosevelt was that the system

THE BOOMERANG CLUB

SYNOPSIS: At first Frankie Derwent and Bobby Jones suspected Roger Bassington-French of pushing the stranger over the cliff to his death at Marchholt. But now that Frankie has taken an accident with Bobby's help and gotten himself into the Birmingham-French house, she believes she has discovered the dead man to be the explorer Abu Derwent, and suspects Dr. Nicholson really then Roger Nicholson was a living cure near the Birmingham-French country house.

CHAPTER 21 NEW CHAUFFEUR

"I BELIEVE Dr. Nicholson's cured drug-takers in the most marvelous way," Sylvia Bassington-French went on. "People whose relatives despaired utterly."

"Yes," cried Henry Bassington-French suddenly. "And do you know what goes on there? Do you know the awful suffering and the torment? A man's used to a drug and they cut him off it—cut him off it—till he goes raving mad for the lack of it and beats his head against the wall. That's what he does, your 'forceful' doctor, tortures people—tortures them—sends them to Hell—drives them mad...."

He was shaking violently. Suddenly he turned and left the room. Sylvia Bassington-French looked startled. "What is the matter with Henry?" she said wonderingly. "He seems very much upset."

Frankie and Roger dared not look at each other. "He's not looked well all the evening," ventured Frankie.

"No, I noticed that. He's very moody lately. I wish he hadn't given up riding. Oh, by the way, Dr. Nicholson invited Tommy over tomorrow, but I don't like his going there very much—not with all those queer nerve cases and dope-takers."

"I don't suppose the Doctor would allow him to come into contact with them," said Roger. "He seems very fond of children."

"Yes, I think it's a disappointment he hasn't got any of his own. Probably he's too busy. She looks very sad—and terribly delicate."

"She's like a sad Madonna," said Frankie.

"Yes, that describes her very well."

"If Dr. Nicholson is so fond of children, I suppose he came to your children's party?" said Frankie carelessly.

"Unfortunately he was away for a day or two just then. I think he had to go to London for some conference."

"I see."

They went up to bed. Before she went to sleep Frankie wrote to Bobby.

Bobby had had an irksome time. His enforced inaction was exceedingly trying. He hated staying quietly in London and doing nothing.

He had been rung up on the telephone by George Arbuthnot, who in a few laconic words told him that all had gone well. A couple of days later he had a letter from Frankie delivered to him by her maid, the letter having gone under cover to her at Lord Marchington's town house. Since then he had heard nothing.

"Letter for you!" called out Badger.

Bobby came forward excitedly, but the letter was one addressed in his father's handwriting and post-marked Marchholt. At that moment, however, he caught sight of the neat, black-gowned figure of Frankie's maid approaching down the stairs. Five minutes later he was tearing open Frankie's second letter.

Dear Bobby:
I think it's about time you came down. I've given them instructions at home that you're to have the Bentley whenever you ask for it. Get a chauffeur's livery—dark green ours always are. Charge it to Father at Harvard's. It's best to be correct in details. Concentrate on making a good job of the moustache. It makes a frightful difference to anyone's face.

Come down here and ask for me. You might bring me an ostensible note from Father. Report that the car is now in working order again. The garage here only holds two cars and as it's got the family Daimler and Roger Bassington-French's two-seater in it, it is fortunately full up, so you will go to Staverty and put up there.

Get what local information you can when there—particularly about a Mr. Nicholson who runs a place for dope patients. Several suspicious circumstances about him. He has a dark-blue Talbot sedan, he was away from home on the 15th when your hair was doctored, and he takes altogether too detailed an interest in the circumstances of my accident.

I think I've identified the conspirator.
Love from your successfully concealed
FRANKIE.
P. S. I shall post this myself.

Bobby's spirits rose with a bound. Discarding his overalls and breaking the news of his immediate departure to Badger, he was about to hurry off when he remembered that he had not yet opened his father's letter.

The Vicar gave conscientious news of doings in Marchholt, described his own troubles with the organist and commented on the un-Christian spirit of one of his churchwardens.

There was a postscript. By the way, someone called who asked for your address in London. I was out at the time, and he did not leave his name. Mrs. Roberts described him as a tall, stooping gentleman with pince-nez. He seemed very sorry to miss you and very anxious to see you again.

A tall stooping man with pince-nez—Bobby tried to think of anyone he knew who was likely to fit that description, but could not. Suddenly a quick suspicion darted into his mind. Was this the forerunner of a new attempt upon his life?

They, whoever they were, had only just discovered that he had left the neighborhood. All unsuspecting, Mrs. Roberts had given his new address. So that already they—whoever they were—might be keeping a watch upon the place. If he went out he would be followed—and just as things were at the moment that would never do.

"Badger," said Bobby. "Yes, old lad."

"Come here."

The next five minutes were spent in genuine hard work. At the end of ten minutes Badger could repeat his instructions by heart.

When he was word-perfect, Bobby got into a two-seater dating from 1902 and drove dashing down the mews. He parked in St. James's Square and walked straight from there to his club.

There he did some telephoning, and a couple of hours later certain parcels were delivered to him.

Finally, about half-past three a chauffeur in dark green livery walked to St. James's Square and went rapidly up to a large Bentley which had been parked there about half an hour previously. The parking attendant nodded to him—the gentleman who had left the car had remarked, stammering slightly as he did so, that his chauffeur would be fetching it shortly.

Bobby let in the clutch and drew neatly out. The abandoned Fiat still stood demurely awaiting its owner. Bobby, despite the intense discomfort of his upper lip, began to enjoy himself. He headed north, not south, and before long, the powerful engine was forging ahead on the Great North Road.

It was only an extra precaution that he was taking. He was pretty sure that he was not being followed. Presently he turned off to the left, and made his way by circuitous roads to Hampshire.

It was just after tea that the Bentley purred up the drive of Merroway Court, a stiff and correct chauffeur at the wheel.

"Hallo," said Frankie lightly. "There's the car."

She went out to the front door. Sylvia and Roger came with her. "Is everything all right, Hawkins?"

The chauffeur touched his cap. "Yes, m'lady. She's been thoroughly overhauled."

"That's all right, then."

The chauffeur produced a note. "From his lordship, m'lady."

Frankie took it. "You'll put up at the—what is it—Anglers Arms in Staverty, Hawkins. I'll telephone in the morning if I want the car."

"Very good, your ladyship." Bobby backed, turned and sped down the drive.

"I'm so sorry we haven't room here," said Sylvia. "It's a lovely car."

"You get some place out of that," said Roger.

"I do," admitted Frankie. She was satisfied that no faintest quiver of recognition had shown on Roger's face. She would have been surprised if it had. She would not have recognized Bobby herself had she met him casually.

The small moustache had a perfectly natural appearance, and that, with the stiff demeanor so uncharacteristic of the natural Bobby, completed the disguise enhanced by the chauffeur's livery.

The voice, too, had been excellent, and quite unlike Bobby's own. Frankie began to think that she had been far more talented than she had given him credit for being.

from the treasury and Federal Reserve offices fill up each morning; they have been almost deserted for five years. Women, as in 1929, mingle with gamblers whose eyes are glued to the ticker. Stock salesmen who were candidates for relief a short while back have returned to old haunts. They have opened offices, and they inform prospects that "the boys in New York look for a long bull market."

The marketeers took the Reserve Board's new margin restrictions in their stride. Not even danger of security liquidation that may accompany a predicted flow of gold back to Europe worries them. But Reserve Chairman Eccles has made numerous secret visits to downtown Manhattan lately. He's keeping a sharp eye on the market.

IMMUNIZE: It wasn't just a generous impulse that led the Chrysler Corporation to distribute $2,300,000 in bonuses to its workers. Nor was General Motors activated to philanthropy in paying out similar bonuses at Christmas time.

Printing press currency? Not a chance. The President is strongly opposed and would be sustained by the Senate in a pinch if the House got out of control. Further devaluation of the dollar? Unlikely, although such a move might be made if pressure from farm groups gets strong enough. In any case not for several months. The Frazier-Lemke bill? Administration leaders in Congress will make every effort to keep this from reaching the White House and will probably succeed. If the House passes it, it will be killed in the Senate or in con-

Scenes from "Capers of Mirth" stage show playing at the State Thursday, February 13th.

New Yorkers in a position to know say that the object in both cases was intensely practical. John Lewis' industrial union organizers have been busy among auto workers of late. Now comes the rival craft union leadership of the Federation of Labor with a similar recruiting campaign of its own. Both Lewis and his opponents realize the vital importance to their respective causes of unionizing the motor industry. So both will turn on all the heat they can in an effort to capture the biggest citadel of the open shop by storm.

The manufacturers are equally determined to open shop. They frankly figure the bestowal of unexpected cash will do more to immunize their employes against the union virus than any other move they could make.

AGITATION: Wall Street is badly bitten by the inflation bug. The latest current questions in financial circles are how much and how soon. Yet the wisest New York sources are convinced there is far more cry than there will be wool. Here's how they rate the prospects for various possible developments loosely grouped under the general heading of inflation.

The prize the British are shooting for particularly is an administration which will be friendly to their monetary viewpoint when stabilization comes. Mr. Roosevelt has consistently refused to acknowledge the "natural" primacy of sterling among the world's currencies. Nor has he been responsive to kindly suggestions from London about what we should do with the dollar.

It is quite a novelty for Britain to favor Republican success. She used to be regularly pro-Democrat, because of the Democratic low tariff policy which was to her advantage. The GOP tariff enacted after Mc-Kinley succeeded Cleveland raised the mischief with British exports to this country. But the English are adept at adjusting themselves to meet changing conditions when their interests are at stake.

SPLITS: New York sharps are keeping a careful eye on political complications developing in Illinois. Both Republicans and Democrats figure that the Prairie State's electoral vote will be an important factor in the November decision. G.O.P. supporters are cheered by the Democratic schism which has sidetracked Governor Henry Horner for Herman N. Bunesen. Governor Horner's friends are plenty burned up about that.

But the Illinois Republicans are also split six ways for Sunday. Ex-Governor Len Small, ex-Senators Otis Glenn and Charles Deneen, and Fred Lundin—Big Bill Thompson's former right bower—are each building a personal organization. None of them is spilling his plans in public—but it's a cinch that they aren't cooperating. It looks as if the party that can cover its splits most effectively. There's no real harmony in either house.

Social and Personal

Miss Cotten Skinner left Thursday for a visit in Wilson and to attend a number of parties given in honor of Miss Mary Walsler, bride-elect.

M. O. Blount of Bethel, was here today.

Miss Horne Honored.
A very attractive affair honoring Miss Annie Rosamond Horne, bride-elect of the month, was yesterday when Mrs. John Adams, Jr., and Mrs. W. L. Whedbee charmingly entertained at a bridge luncheon. The home of Mrs. Whedbee was beautifully decorated, and six tables were placed for the game in a setting of primroses, ferns and early spring flowers. At one o'clock Mrs. Iverson Skinner and Mrs. Archie Sugg assisted the hostesses in serving a delectable two-course luncheon carrying out the Valentine idea. Miss Gretchen Willard was awarded perfume for high score. Miss Horne was remembered with a pair of silver candlesticks and Mrs. Troy Burnette, a recent bride, with orange juice glasses. This was the first of a number of parties planned for Miss Horne.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan Honored.
The congregation of the Eighth Street Christian Church had a most enjoyable night together when they met for supper on Tuesday, February 4th. This was part of the general program of Anniversary Week, celebrating the beginning of the sixth year of the ministry of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. A. Ryan. The supper was served without charge by the Woman's Council of the church. The Sunday school rooms were attractively decorated in red and white with five lighted red candles in the center of each table, suggestive of the five years of fellowship enjoyed by the minister and congregation.

The program was particularly pleasing. There was group singing led by Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, who also sang two delightful solos. The group was kept in a state of hilarity while B. B. Sugg spoke about "Our Preacher," and Vester Mulholland gave an inimitable talk on "Sizing up the Preacher Outside the Ministry." Reports of the work of the past five years were given by the various departments, showing a healthy growth throughout the congregation. Wm. E. Hooker was master of ceremonies. This most pleasant social occasion closed with all singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." This was conceded by old and young alike to have been one of the best of "good times" they had had.

Attend Sales Meeting.
William Taft and R. W. Dunn of the Taft Furniture Co. attended the Kevlarator sales meeting in Raleigh yesterday.

Immanuel Baptist Society.
The Woman's Missionary Society of Immanuel Baptist Church will meet in the church Monday afternoon at 3:30.

Miss Woolard Ill.
Friends of Miss Mary Woolard will be sorry to learn that she is ill with influenza.

Miss Windham Ill.
Friends will regret to learn that Miss Hazel Windham is ill at her home on East Ninth street.

Allen-Collie.
Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Collie announce the marriage of their daughter, Lina Elizabeth, to Dallas Woodrow Allen, on September 8, 1935, at Danville, Va.

Miss McGowan Ill.
Friends of Miss Rosa Lee McGowan will be sorry to learn that she is ill at her home on Harding street.

Improving.
Friends of Miss Doris Allen will be glad to learn that she is improving after a week's illness, but is unable to be out as yet.

Memorial Baptist Society.
The Woman's Missionary Society of Memorial Baptist Church will meet at 3:30 on Monday afternoon. This is a very important meeting and all members are urged to attend.

Presbyterian Circles.
Circles Nos. Two and Three of the Presbyterian Auxiliary will meet Monday morning at 10:30 at the home of Mrs. R. C. Deal to study the book "The Faith of Our Fathers." After lunch Miss Hillhouse will give the last lesson on the "Holy Spirit."

Methodist Missionary Society.
The Woman's Missionary Society of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church will meet at the church Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. An additional gas stove has been installed in the Beginners Department to make this room more comfortable for the meeting.

'The Trail of the Circuit Rider.'
Tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock a sound picture "The Trail of the Circuit Rider" will be shown at the State Theatre, under the auspices of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. This picture was produced by Pathe News for the trustees of the Duke Endowment. It is accompanied by appropriate music, opening with "The Bells of St. Mary" and closing with "I Love To Tell the Story," played on the Duke University Carillon by Anton Brees of the Bok Tower. The public is cordially invited. There will be no admission charge.

The Round Table.
Tuesday afternoon Mrs. J. E. Nobles was hostess to the Round Table. At a brief business session Mrs. H. E. Austin the president, presided, sixteen members answering to roll call. Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. J. B. Smith, Mrs. F. P. Brooks and Mrs. G. F. Smith.

The paper for the afternoon, "Knickerbocker Shrines," was given by Mrs. W. C. Vincent. She told of some of the outstanding homes and explained the styles, which were very interesting indeed. Especially the difference between the farm homes with their well built outhouses and the city house. The country house being more on the manor type and the city house the Georgian. She concluded her paper with reading "Washington Irving on the Hudson River."

A social hour was enjoyed during which Mrs. Nobles assisted by Mrs. J. B. Smith and Miss Lucy Nobles, served a delicious salad course. —Reported.

Attend Funeral of R. E. Quinn.
Mr. and Mrs. Berry Bostic, Clifford Bostic and L. A. Stroud attended funeral services for R. E. Quinn which were held in Wilson today. Mr. Quinn was a cousin of Mr. Bostic.

Assembly Hour At College.
A variety of talent was displayed yesterday morning when a number of college students appeared on the student assembly program. Hyatt Forrest, chairman of the student chapel entertainment committee, was in charge. Miss Johnnie Deaton sang well "Treasure Island." A most appropriate piano duet, "Sleigh Ride," was played by Misses Noia Waters and Evelyn Thomas. The clever impersonations of movie celebrities, given by Miss Mabel Williams were as entertaining as they were accurate. "Falling In Love," one of the very popular musical numbers from "Naphthy Marietta," the well known screen play of the past year, was used by Wesley Bankston as a violin solo. A popular vocal duet, "Love is Just Around the Corner," sung by Misses Hannah Martin and Ann Campbell, by the novelty of its presentation, brought appreciative applause. Three songs were given unique and popular interpretations by Alva Page and James Dudley Simpson. Misses Noia Waters and Marion Wood were the accompanists for the students. At an assembly hour later the student committee is planning to present an "Amateur Program" in the accepted Major Bowes' style, with a special master of ceremonies, a gong, and other accessories.

MERIT BADGE For The WEEK

STALKING
Councillor: Marcellus Hearn
To obtain a merit badge for Stalking, a Scout must:

1. Know and recognize the tracks of ten different animals or birds to be found in his vicinity. For boys living in the city the tracks of domestic animals or birds may be counted.
2. Track an animal for one-quarter mile over ordinary ground without snow. In special cases, where large wild animals cannot be found, a trail made by "tracking iron" or by a boy on stilts, may be substituted.
3. Make clear, recognizable photographs of live wild animals or birds, and score 25 points on the following basis: (a) Each different species of wild bird, photographed on the nest, or of young birds, to count two points; (b) Each species of adult wild bird, photographed away from nest, to count three points; (c) Each species of wild animal larger than a woodchuck to count five points.

A. A. U. W. Meets Monday.
The drama reading group sponsored by the American Association of University Women will meet in Ragsdale Hall at the college Monday night, Feb. 10, at 7:30, to hear Dr. Claude Simpson of the College English faculty, read A. A. Milne's "The Dover Road."

This play is another light and entertaining comedy by the author of "The Romantic Age," the play given recently at the college by the Hedgerow Players.

Those who are interested are invited to be present.

Blount-Harvey Gives Clothes to Children

The appeal made some time ago by J. H. Rose, superintendent of the Greenville city school system, for clothing for school children whose parents are unable to provide them with sufficient clothes continues to get results.

Blount-Harvey today gave all kinds of clothes, for both boys and girls, to the cause. The value of the gift was approximately $300.

A large number of individuals have made contributions, and some time ago the management of the White stores gave a truck load of clothes.

Postpone Picture Set For Tomorrow Night

The talking picture scheduled to be presented at the State theater tomorrow night under the auspices of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, has been postponed, the films failing to arrive in the city on time.

How's Your Health?

MEDICAL ODDITIES
Seven-month babies are common place, but six-month babies are a rarity. They are more so when they survive. The ratio of survival is one in 20.

A six-month baby "probably the smallest in the world," was recently to be seen in the Infants' Hospital at Westminster, England. At birth it weighed 13 ounces, but by the time it was 11 weeks old it weighed three pounds. Twelve pounds is the average weight of a normal child of that age. The infant is growing rapidly and is expected to "catch up" and to attain normal weight at the age of 18 months.

As might be expected, the infant spends most of its time sleeping. It must be handled with extreme care since a common cold probably would kill it. The infant is not bathed, but its body kept oiled.

A new source of hormones (products of the glands of internal secretion) has been uncovered in the old whaling industry. Because of its gigantic size, the whale being among the largest living mammals, and because of the corresponding bulk of its glands of internal secretion, it is expected to prove an economical source of certain hormones now laboriously derived from smaller mammals. Thus, for example, the ovary of the sow, when carefully dissected, yields about one gram of what is known as the corpora lutea, while that of a whale will yield from 1000 to 7000 times as much. Since thousands of whales are killed annually, the utilization of the available whale gland substances may lead to a welcome reduction of the prices of useful hormones now comparatively costly.

KENT PICKS TARTAN DESIGN FOR VISITS TO SCOTLAND

Edinburgh, Scotland (AP)—The Duke of Kent is to have his own tartan—light blue, with a dark blue shade in parts, and white stripes. Members of the royal family usually wear the royal Stuart tartans when in Scotland. The ordinary royal Stuart has large red squares, the Stuart hunting tartan is mostly blue and green, while the dress Stuart has considerable white in its design.

Most of these distinguishing marks of the Scottish clans go back to ages of which there is no record. The gay colors of their patterns were obtained with dyes extracted from common native plants.

BRITISH MOVIE TICKET TAX PADS GOVERNMENT PURSE

London (AP)—British movie fans paid $207,750,000 for their entertainment in 1935, according to figures just published here, with the government reaping $34,000,000 in taxes. The year's 957,000,000 paid admissions averaged about $18,500,000 weekly. At the end of the year, Great Britain had 4,365 moving picture theatres, the London area having one seat for every fourteen of the total population.

EXILED GERMANS IN HOMING FLIGHT FROM ANTI-NAZIS

Berlin (AP)—Bitter anti-German feeling abroad is causing hundreds of expatriated Germans to hit the trail back home. So many have come in recent months that the foreign division of the national socialist party has set up an office to aid them while they are getting settled again in the fatherland.

This movement, which offsets in a small way the emigration from the reach of Jews and "political undesirables," is chiefly of Germans from South America, France, Belgium and Russia. They are merchants, laborers, engineers, domestic servants and school teachers.

"Existence," they said, "was either completely cut off through anti-German propaganda or else progress was made impossible." Four hundred of them assembled recently in Berlin. The Nazi party is helping them to find jobs and entertainments are being staged to divert their minds.

Home Furniture Store Remodels Its Building

The Home Furniture store, at the intersection of Eighth street and Dickinson avenue, has been remodelled and painted and J. A. Collins, manager, today issued an invitation to the public to make a thorough inspection of the establishment. In announcing that the stock had been increased and every effort was being made to serve the public, the management called attention to its various departments.

SPECIAL OFFER

Dollar Days

A Two Year Subscription To The Daily Reflector For $6.00

Co-operating with the Greenville merchants in their semi-annual Dollar Day Thursday, February 13, we make this special reduced price Subscription Offer. You can subscribe or renew your subscription to this paper two years for $6.00. The regular price is $5 for a single year and for the additional dollar you get the paper for another full year. This special offer is good on two-year subscriptions only.

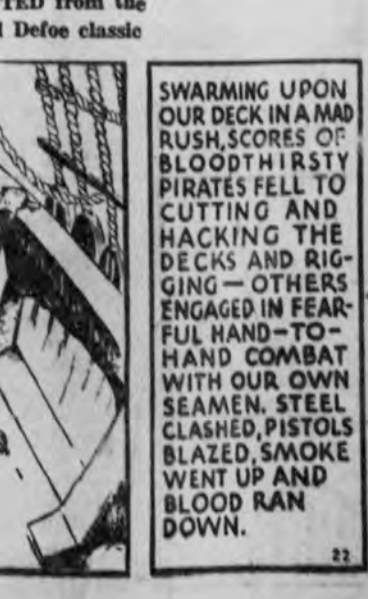

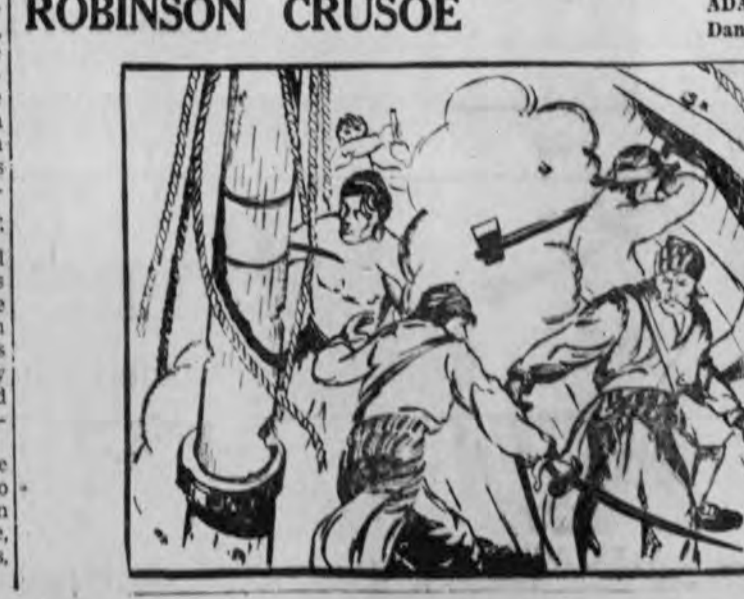

While the merchants will observe only Thursday, February 13th as Dollar Day, our special subscription offer will continue through Saturday, February 15th. No subscription for shorter periods than two years will be accepted under this special offer nor will the two-year subscription be divided. It is strictly a one subscription two years offer.

All payments must be made direct to this office as subscription solicitors are not authorized to accept your subscription at this reduced rate.

Ministerial Ass'n. Calls On Citizens to Observe Special Day

Tomorrow, February 9, being Race Relations Sunday, the Greenville Ministerial association in its monthly session recommended to the citizens and public officials of our community that this date be observed by a re-dedication of ourselves to a just, fair and Christian dealing with members of all races.

shame, let us make and keep our own community a place where justice, honesty and Christian consideration shall mark all our associations with men of all races who make up our citizenship.

The Ministerial Association calls the community's attention to "A Message for Race Relations Sunday," released by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, and written by the Rev. Edwin McNeill Poteat, Jr., pastor, Pullen Memorial Baptist Church, Raleigh, and president of the Commission on Interracial Cooperation of the Federal Council.

"Here, then, is a parable opposite to our racial situation." The land of race relations was a dangerous spot to our fathers. To contemplate unprejudiced justice before the law, economic equality in our common industrial and commercial life, freedom of education and the essential privileges of full citizenship for all—this to our grandfathers was a vexing and forbidding prospect.

"This is by no means to say that the problem between the races in America is measurably solved. Far from it. It is certain respects it is more acute and puzzling than ever before. But this is true: it is after all basically an economic and social problem and it must be solved by those who are ethically sensitive and socially enlightened. It was an economic motive that brought the Negro into America in the 17th century and has brought other races.

"Primarily, (as was the case with Jacob), the problem is a human one. The color of one's skin is not—we dare assert—the final determinant in race attitudes. It is ignorance, not pigment, that divides us. (Isaac, not knowing the Canaanites, feared and hated them.) We do not know the other races among us, despise and distrust them. (Jacob found out some things his father never knew). Surely nothing can bring out distressing racial illness a quicker guarantee of healing than can mutual understanding.

"This may be thought to be a practical rather than a religious appraisal of the race problem. The assumption is, however, that there is no longer any respectable or considerable religious opinion that regards one race or another as the particular favorite of God. (We have at least found ourselves at home in that land, a land where our fathers sojourned with great restlessness).

"Our parable, some will say, breaks down at last, for it was by bloody conquest that Jacob won his home in Canaan. Juste. It should encourage us in the hope that, since violence has been so utterly discredited as a solver of social ills, it can never be invoked in the effort to solve race difficulties. That way lies peril indeed. And on this special day let every Christian resolve to understand his black, white, red, yellow or brown neighbor in a fashion never before undertaken. This surely is God's way of going about the business of making us feel at home in His World. Who knows but we shall discover that what we have feared shall turn out to be a land that flows with milk and honey!"

Weather and Club Senesic Incentive weather has made it necessary for several club meetings to be cancelled this week. Perhaps it is a good thing. Remember how many times you have wished for time to think things out and do a little leisurely planning?

"The morning after an Atlanta, Ga., grocery store was robbed and she was thrown out in the snow by the burglar, 'Snooky,' a Persian cat, snarled and made faces at a negro employe with whom she formerly had been friendly. He was arrested and confessed. Policeman T. M. Parker is shown presenting a 'detective' badge to 'Snooky.' (Associated Press Photo)
