ITALO-GERMAN TALKS ASSUME POSSIBILITIES

German Ambassador Middle Man In Conversations

REFUSES REVEAL MAIN QUESTIONS

Diplomatic Sources See, However, Line Up Against Franco-British Views

Berlin, Feb. 21.—(AP)—German's ambassador to Italy, Ulrich Von Hassell traveled back to Rome today after his second conference in five days with Adolf Hitler as middle man in the negotiations between Reich's Fuehrer and Italy's Duce.

The Wilhelmstrasse declined to discuss the reason behind the Ambassador's two flying trips but diplomatic sources persistent in a belief that an Italo-German line up against Franco-British common views was being considered.

The spokesman for Berlin diplomatic quarters said he believed that among the points the two dictators were discussing through Von Hassell was possibility of Italian withdrawal from the Locarno pact if all sanctions were imposed upon Italy as further punishment for the Fascist war on Ethiopia.

Another point believed to be under consideration was a possible rebuke of the League of Nations which is applying the sanction on Italy and from which the Reich has resigned.

Diplomats pointed out that if Italy withdrew as a Locarno guarantor the Locarno pact would be weakened and risk for Germany would be lessened in the event Hitler decides to send troops into the Rhyneland zone.

Wettest January in Past Fifty Years for North Carolina

Monthly Summary of Weather Bureau Also Shows That Snow-fall Average 5.6 Inches

Raleigh, Feb. 21.—(AP)—North Carolina had the wettest January this year it has had in 50 years and the mean temperature was the lowest for any January since 1918.

The monthly summary of the weather bureau, issued today, showed that the snowfall last month averaged 5.6 inches, varying from half an inch at Mount Airy to 11.5 inches at Beaufort and 12 inches at Swansboro as the south coast section had its heaviest snow on record.

Sub-zero temperatures were recorded at many points in the state, the lowest being minus 12 at Mount Mitchell, but the most unusual being minus 7 listed at Henderson.

The monthly mean temperature was 37 degrees, compared with 31.6 degrees in 1918. The highest mercury reading of the month was 75, listed at Willard, Goldsboro, Elizabeth City and Kinston.

U.S. Exports Show Gain Over Similar Month Last Year

Figures for January Lower, However, Than in December, and Only About Half 1923-25 Average

Washington, Feb. 21.—(AP)—A 13 per cent gain in the value of U. S. exports in January, 1936 over January, 1935, was reported today by the Commerce Department.

The exports were shown to have a decline of 11 per cent from December, 1935, while imports were fractionally above December at 12 per cent higher than January, 1935.

Both imports and exports were about half the 1923-25 average. Smaller shipments of unmanufactured cotton, which declined $21,000,000 from December, unmanufactured tobacco which declined $2,300,000, and petroleum and products which declined $4,500,000, accounted for the export drop for December.

Influenza And Pneumonia Taking Heavy Toll Here

Present Epidemic Is Declared Worst Since 1918

Pitt county doctors and health officials describe the present epidemic of influenza and pneumonia as the worst since 1918 and compare the present situation with that fateful period.

Doctors are being kept on the go day and night. Many of the physicians themselves are confined to bed with colds, influenza or pneumonia.

While the hospital had no pneumonia patients today, it was pointed out by attaches there that a larger number of sufferers have been admitted to the hospital this year than in several past periods.

Doctors described the form of influenza as very serious. Health officials continue to urge the citizenry to exert extreme care in warding off severe colds and to go to bed and call a doctor, rather than trying to continue at work.

A visit to the various offices and business houses in the city shows that a large number of persons are out of work with sickness. The situation has reached such a proportion that regular business activities in a number of cases have been impeded due to persons kept from their work.

While no definite figures were available, observation shows that an unusually large number of deaths have occurred during the present epidemic. Hardly a day passes that some well known person does not die of pneumonia.

K. T. Putrel, county welfare officer, said that sickness and death among indigent persons is higher now than in years.

The schools and the college here have not been forced to cease operations due to the large amount of sickness, but work has been hampered in the classrooms to a great extent, it is understood.

Some Firms Observe Holiday Tomorrow

The postoffice, banks and some other business houses will be closed tomorrow in honor of the memory of George Washington, but most firms will operate as usual.

The county and city offices will operate as usual, it was announced today.

Although the county offices will operate, the ABC stores in the county will close down for the day.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON By Ray Tucker HARMONY: Reading between the lines of the TVA decision, constitutional lawyers dig up evidence that Supreme Court members are acutely conscious of the mutterings against their NRA and AAA decisions. Off-stage comment in legal and political circles is that both liberals and conservatives aimed to please this time. Chief Justice Hughes' anxiety for judicial harmony shines in every line. The fact that he delivered the majority opinion is a tip that he championed it most enthusiastically at secret Saturday morning conferences. But he could extract only a compromise. His colleagues on the right upheld the govern-

MARSHAL LAW NOW IN SPAIN

At Least Eight Persons Killed Following Election

(Copyright By Associated Press) Madrid, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Marshal law spread throughout Spain today against revived radical rioting in which at least eight persons were killed, churches and Rightist centers raided and the red flag of communism raised at isolated places.

The new Left Republican government of Premier Manuel Azana which came into power after the Leftist victory in Sunday's parliamentary election, took immediate measures to attempt to halt the celebrations, disruptions and demonstrations.

One hundred guards armed with machine guns were dispatched to the town of Estja where communists proclaimed a Soviet state and laid their red flag.

Police clashed with another group of demonstrators displaying the red flag in Hoyo Pinares and one woman was killed there.

The honor roll was compiled by selecting the highest ranking 12 per cent of the junior and senior classes, the highest ten per cent of the sophomore class, and the highest eight per cent of the freshman class. No average less than a B (90 to 95) was considered.

Another Frigid Wave Forecast for Great Plains States

Chicago, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Another cold wave today threatened plain states after a brief respite from the sub-zero weather. Forecaster C. A. Donnel of the Chicago weather bureau, predicted it would be colder today but said there was no immediate prospect of sub-zero temperatures.

"Cold weather but in less severe form will prevail in all north-central plains states Friday and Saturday," Donnel said, "while in southern sections temperatures will range from 5 to 10 degrees below normal. (Continued on page three)

WITNESS SAYS TWO OFFICERS BEAT COLLINS

Testimony Started In Case Against Policemen

ANGIER OFFICERS ARE BEING TRIED

Alleged to Have Beaten Prisoner to Such an Extent He Died of Injuries

Lillington, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Three witnesses today testified in Harnett Superior Court that they saw Oris M. Pollard, former Angier policeman, beat F. G. Collins, wealthy farmer, over the head with a blackjack in the Angier jail two days before Collins died.

Pollard and C. F. Deans, former chief of the Angier police, are under murder charges growing out of the death of Collins and Solicitor C. C. Cannaday said he would seek a second degree conviction.

Sherrill Smith of Angier, the first witness, said he saw Collins placed in the Angier jail on Christmas eve by Pollard on a charge of drunkenness.

After Pollard and Deans had turned away from the jail, Smith related, Collins cursed Pollard.

The witness testified that the officer went back and Pollard struck Collins about a dozen times with his hand and three times with a blackjack. Smith said Collins slumped to the floor and had nothing else to say. He testified that Deans held a flashlight with the beam turned on Collins while Pollard hit the prisoner.

Hubert Smith, also of Angier, corroborated testimony of Sherrill Smith.

Clyde Yancey, however, quoted Deans as saying to Pollard after Pollard and he had left: "I'd go back and beat the devil out of him." He then related practically the same story told by the other witnesses.

NEGRO KILLED TAR STANDING AFTER ATTACK AT 17.7 FEET

Fatally Wounded By Posse Hunting Him for Attack on Child

Altus, Okla., Feb. 21.—(AP)—The six-year-old daughter of a prominent farm couple died today, an hour after a negro sought for a vicious attack on the girl and her mother had been shot and fatally wounded by a posse of 100 men near Balir, Okla.

The negro died enroute to the hospital. He negro, said by under-Sheriff Ernest Hattaway, to be Willie Jones, 32, an ex-convict, was hunted as a suspect in the attack of Mrs. Alice Wilson, 31, and her daughter, Alice, at their farm home last night. The assailant battered his victims about the head with an axe handle and a frying pan, apparently in an attempt to rob. Mrs. Wilson lay near her death in a hospital at Mangum, Oklahoma.

Five other negroes were under arrest and feeling was running high among neighbors of Mrs. Wilson.

Total of 36,138 Men at Work on Projects

Raleigh, Feb. 21.—(AP)—A total of 36,138 men are now at work on land development projects of the Resettlement Administration, Regional Director Homer H. B. Mask announced today.

This figure represents an increase of 6,000 over last week, indicating that the development jobs are swinging into stride, the official said.

Region 4 of the Resettlement organization—North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia—is already using more than 8,000 men on its large scale land use and park projects. Several thousand additional workmen are yet to be assigned by the State Highway and Public Works Commission to either work over the existing road or build a new one from Steep's Gap, on the side of Mt. Mitchell to the summit.

Talk Of Special Session Caused By Tobacco Pact

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 21.—Talk of a special session of the general assembly has bobbed up here again as a result of the tobacco situation and the talk of a pact between the tobacco producing states to limit acreage.

The fact that Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus has announced that he and Attorney General A. F. Sealwell will attend the conference called in Washington for Tuesday, Feb. 25, called by Governor George Peery of Virginia and to which the Governors of the six other principal tobacco growing states have been invited, at which the state pact plan will be discussed, is regarded already as being quite significant.

For if a majority of the other tobacco growing states pass special legislation to limit tobacco production, Governor Ehringhaus cannot help but fall in line and call a special session without losing the good will and support of the largest group in the state which has stood by during the past three years—the tobacco farmers—according to the opinion of many here. Governor Ehringhaus takes the position that it is not too early to talk about a special session since it is not yet known what the other tobacco growing states can do or will do and hence is non-committal as to whether or not he would call a special session. It is pointed out, however, that the South Carolina and Virginia legislatures are now in session and hence in a position to pass any legislation which might be deemed necessary. The Kentucky and Tennessee legislatures are also due to meet soon. If at this conference (Continued on page six)

SUB FOR AAA IS NEARING END FAST JOURNEY

Hinted President May Make Known Financing Plan Soon

ACTION IN HOUSE SEEN BY TONIGHT

Senate Must Concur on Slightly Different Form Adopted By Representatives

Washington, Feb. 21.—(AP)—AAA's substitute neared the end of a fast journey through Congress today while legislators hinted that President Roosevelt may make public next week his suggestion as to how to finance the new plan.

The $500,000,000 bill providing Federal subsidies to farmers who conserve soil by taking acreage out of commercial crop production was debated in the House where leaders said it would be passed by tonight.

After that it must go to the Senate. That chamber has already passed the bill, but in slightly different form so the differences must be ironed out.

Both chambers have stamped $500,000,000 of the funds which may be expended in a year. Rep. McCormack (D. Mass.) fought today for an amendment designed to protect consumers against "unfair" prices and leaders indicated he might succeed.

Many members of congress hoped that despite the passage of the bonus and other measures, Mr. Roosevelt would limit his tax recommendations to the $500,000,000, or estimate necessary for farm aid.

Their hope was bolstered by treasury figures showing a rise of $38,628,195 in ordinary internal revenue collections last month as compared with January 1935, so there was a net decline of $10,000,000 in total collections because of the death of AAA processing levies.

HOUSE DAIRY BLOC REFUSES TO BE BLOCKED IN ATTEMPTS

Washington, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Attempts to sidetrack the dairy bloc fight on the new farm bill failed in the House today and it settled down for an hour's wrangle over this major controversy.

The dairy state members headed by Rep. Bollau (Populist-Wis.) demanded that provisions be written into the bill that no land taken out of production of export crops be used for production for sale of products competing with established dairying.

At the last minute today Bollau agreed to alter his amendment to a form acceptable to Chairman Jones (D-Tex.) of the agriculture committee.

The House adopted an amendment by Rep. McCormick (D-Mass.) directing the secretary of agriculture to work toward a pre-war "parity" income for the farmer without discouraging production to a point below the 1920-23 average domestic consumption. Accepted by Chairman Jones, the compromise provision was along the lines of the Wagner amendment, defeated by a wide margin in the Senate.

Man Held In Jail On Check Forgery Be Tried Saturday

Reginald F. Conway to Be Given Preliminary Hearing in Mayor's Court Tomorrow Morning

Re. and F. Conway is being held in City jail awaiting preliminary hearing tomorrow morning on charges of passing a number of forged checks in Greenville and other nearby places.

Chief George Clark said Conway admits he passed worthless checks in this city several weeks ago.

The checks, all for amounts of about $10, were passed at a number of local business houses. They bore the signature of an insurance company.

Conway is alleged to have entered the business firms, expressed a desire to make a purchase and produced a check on an insurance company. He is said to have claimed the check was returned to him when an application for insurance was refused.

Chief Clark said Conway passed a number of checks in Washington and possibly other places and that these would be produced at the preliminary hearing in Mayor's court tomorrow morning.

All the continents except Africa are represented among the student body at the University of Iowa this year.

NITROGEN PHOSPHORIC ACID POTASH

CONTAINS THE EXTRA POTASH THAT PAYS EXTRA CASH at an extra cost surprisingly low!

3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER is well-balanced with potash. It contains 35% more actual plant food than 3-8-3, yet it costs you only a fraction more. Figured in terms of an acre the extra cost is so small it will surprise you! Ask Your Fertilizer Man!

Before you buy tobacco fertilizer it will pay you to check up and find out how little extra it will cost you to use a higher potash mixture. Remember, the Committee of Agronomists recommends fertilizer containing 6 to 10% potash for bright tobacco. Extra NV POTASH in your fertilizer will probably be the best investment you have ever made. Many leading farmers have used it with outstanding success. Extra potash gives tobacco a better grain and increases yields. It does not make the crop rough and red. On the average the man with the most pounds makes the most dollars per acre. Extra pounds this year will give you the chance to grade your crop closer and sell more pounds of high-quality leaf.

Your fertilizer man knows the importance of plenty of potash in tobacco fertilizer. That is why he has 3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER on sale. Tell him you want to produce "high-dollar" tobacco in 1936. Tell him you want 3-8-8 TOBACCO FERTILIZER, the fertilizer that contains so much extra-profit-producing plant food at such low cost.

FOR COTTON: To help your cotton prevent rust, control wilt and produce vigorous, healthy plants with less shedding, larger bolls that are easier to pick and better yields of uniform, high-quality lint—USE 3-8-8 COTTON FERTILIZER... IT PAYS!

When you buy straight potash or potash in mixed fertilizer, it pays to make sure you get genuine NV POTASH—the same potash that has helped Southern farmers to produce better crops for more than fifty years. N.V. POTASH EXPORT MY., Inc., P.O. Box 1432, Norfolk, Va.

Pitt Club Active.
The Pitt County Club of the college is one of the most wide-awake clubs on the campus, with regular monthly meetings the first Wednesday of each month. All the students from Pitt county, numbering 184 in the fall term, are eligible, but only about a fourth of those are members of the club.

One purpose of the club is social, to bring the students from the county together so they will know each other better and lay the foundations for friendship. Another purpose is serious, to stimulate the students to learn more about their county.

One of their programs in the near future will be devoted to the history of the county. In another the different towns in the county will be presented by the grounds from these towns. Sometimes they have a social program with dancing. As the last meeting, the program featured college talent.

They organized the first month of school last fall. The officers are as follows: President, Hyatt Forrest of Winterville; vice-president, Miss Esther Mae Dennis of Ayden; treasurer, Miss Hazel Wilkerson of Farmville; and chairman of program committee, Miss Mary Dennis of Ayden.

Their motto is "Be Square and their flower, the carnation, which is the symbol of Pride and Beauty.

Their program is an interesting combination of the various types of songs that have made Russian music beloved in this country.

The director, Nicholas Vasiliiff, is at once a great singer, an inspiring leader, and most dramatic person in his interpretations and leadership.

TELLS OF SPECIAL SESSION CAUSED BY TOBACCO FACT

ference next week the Governors of Tennessee, Kentucky and Maryland should agree to call special legislative sessions to pass special legislation to control tobacco production, an idea the Governors of Virginia and South Carolina should agree to ask their legislatures to do the same thing. North Carolina and Georgia would be the only states not included in the pact of tobacco-growing states to limit production. It is not expected Governor Talmadge of Georgia will join in and cooperate with the other states.

But North Carolina grows more tobacco than any of these other states, with the result that many here think it would be suicidal if it did not join in. For according to the plan proposed, each state which agrees to the pact, will pass a state law limiting production to much the same manner that the old AAA limited production, with benefit payments for those farmers who stay within their quotas and penalties for those which exceed them. For under the recent Supreme court decision, holding the AAA unconstitutional, only the state have the power to limit production and impose penalties in order to guard against the growing of large crops of tobacco in non-cooperating states the Federal government would pass a law bearing from interstate commerce all tobacco grown in excess of the quota of a non-cooperating state. This would mean that if North Carolina and Georgia should not join in the tobacco limitation pact, the farmers who grew more than the quota fixed by the Department of Agriculture could not market the excess, or this excess could not be sold to any tobacco company which exports any of its products beyond the state. And since virtually all of the tobacco companies do a world-wide business, they could not afford to purchase from any farmer more than the quota allowed him by the Government.

Accordingly, it would be much better for North Carolina to join in the pact with the cooperating states and strictly limit tobacco production, than to stay outside it and let the farmers grow thousands of pounds of tobacco which they could not sell. It is maintained. It is further believed by many that the new Congressional substitute for the AAA will not be very effective in North Carolina as far as reducing tobacco acreage is concerned, and that the only way to avert a big tobacco crop this year and still lower prices, is for North Carolina to join the other tobacco growing states in enacting state legislation with teeth in it to control tobacco production, provided a majority of the other states agree to this plan. And that, of course, would mean a special session of the legislature.

Copper, Gray Combination Used In New Spanish Suit

Copper and gray is a stunning new spring color combination. This smart interpretation of a Spanish suit contrasts an unusual copper and white print against gray wool. The bolero jacket, trimly edged with pleats which also are being emphasized this spring, features the new broad shoulders. Snugly girdling the waist is a broad sash and the bodice has a tucked bosom. A Spanish hat of copper felt, copper kid-skin shoes with square toes, and copper gloves are the smart new accessories. The ensemble will give an excellent account of itself in the spring wardrobe.

TOTAL 650,000 LICENSES OUT

More Driving Permits Being Sent in Each Day

Raleigh, Feb. 21.—A total of 658,000 drivers' licenses have already been issued by the Highway Safety Division of the Department of Revenue and new applications are still being received at the rate of from 80 to 100 a day, Director Arthur Fuik, of the division said today.

For the past several weeks the safety division has been getting more requests for duplicate licenses, to replace ones that have been lost, than they have applications for new licenses, Fuik said. In order to obtain a duplicate license, if one has been lost, the driver must fill out an affidavit form to the effect that he or she has lost the original license, and likewise pay a fee of 50 cents, whereupon the duplicate license will be sent. Persons who have also changed their residence from one part of the state to another, should also get new licenses, showing their new addresses, Fuik pointed out.

There are still a few people who applied for licenses to whom they have never been delivered, because the post offices are unable to locate them at addresses given. Licenses that cannot be delivered by mail are returned to the safety division. These are now being turned over to highway patrolmen with instructions to locate the applicants and deliver the licenses.

The task of filing the 658,000 duplicates of licenses issued is now being rapidly completed, with indications that the files will be ready so that the highway patrol can begin strict enforcement of the driver's law and the inspections of drivers' licenses by March 1. Since November 1 it has been unlawful for any person to operate an automobile or truck without a driver's license, but because of the delay in getting the licenses out to applicants and in getting the duplicates files set up, strict enforcement of the law has been postponed. After March 1, patrolmen will begin stopping motorists without warning and ask them to show their drivers' licenses, failure to produce a license, or failure to produce a license

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER
New York—An artist in New York plucks this letter from the dossier of mail that is delivered each morning to his studio and passes it along. It is from an attorney whose son has his heart set on an art career in the metropolis. I think it is a letter such as Polonius might have written had his son wanted to come to New York, and so I am presenting it for other embryo artists and writers, who have the same idea:
"One of my five boys has a notion he wants to study art. He is 19 years old, somewhat behind schedule in school (due to long illness), and a good, clean, well-disciplined youngster.
"The fact that he has not acquired the standard pedagogic courses does not worry me to any extent. It has gradually dawned on me during these past 56 years that no man uses more than 5 per cent of the things he studied.
"These same 56 years have brought me other grains of knowledge. I have learned that a comfortable income does much to make the world a pleasant place to live in. And, conversely, an empty pocket holds many woes.
"Hence, my main thought being an intense desire to see all my boys happy through life, the possibilities of comfortable financial return from the work they select is pretty important to me.
"I do not desire to encourage or discourage any trend a boy may have. I would probably be wrong whichever I did. But I know that every young man sees only the glamorous side of the profession he thinks he fancies. Perhaps if he could see the other side of the picture his judgment would amount to more.

"If a boy, attracted to an art career, knows in advance all the drudgery, all the disillusionment, all the unfairness connected with progress, the uncertainties, the overcrowding of the field, as well as the pleasant side, and still persists in his desire, I would be satisfied to do all in my power to help him.
"Here' where you can be of great assistance to me and to the boy. Let him call on you and have a talk on the subject of art, treating the poor old Muse with all the searching familiarity of a village gossip. Tell him the good parts and the bad, neither discouraging nor encouraging him. Incidentally, look into the matter of his capabilities. Desire never made an artist. If a man hasn't card sense he would be foolish to take up poker as a livelihood. If this boy merely has a flair for drawing a few well curved lines, perhaps much tragedy would be averted by making the discovery now rather than letting the customers do it later. Much talk clears the air. If he could have the advantage of a discussion with you and with Fred Cooper and possibly some other art man you may care to send him to, both he and I will be benefited and grateful.
"Presuming on your good nature, I have told him to write you for an appointment. Maybe, when you have talked with him, you will find time to write me what you think in doing so, please talk as one lawyer to another. There is no need to pull your punches nor sugar-coat your reactions.
"If the New Year brings you all I hope for you, it will be too much."

THE BOOMERANG CLUE BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS: As nearly as Frankie Derwent and Bobby Jones can tell, Dr. Nicholson is the man responsible for the death of Alan Carstairs and the attempt to poison Bobby Now with Roger Bassington-French. Frankie has discovered the body of Roger's brother Henry apparently a suicide. But Dr. Nicholson has appeared soon after and Henry Bassington-French is one of the two secrets in the true story which Frankie and Bobby will solve in their investigation in London.

Chapter 32 PLANS

"I KNOW," said Bobby quietly. They were both silent for a little.

"I shall have to leave to-day, of course," said Frankie presently.

"Yes, I suppose you will. How is she—Mrs. Bassington-French, I mean?"

"She's collapsed, poor soul. I haven't seen her since we—we found the body. The shock to her must have been awful."

Bobby nodded. "You'd better bring the car round about eleven," continued Frankie.

Bobby did not answer. Frankie looked at him impatiently.

"What's the matter with you, Bobby. You look as though you were miles away."

"Sorry. As a matter of fact—"

"Yes?"

"Well, I was just wondering. I suppose—well, I suppose it's all right?"

"What do you mean—all right?"

"I mean it's quite certain that he did commit suicide?"

"Oh!" said Frankie. "I see." She thought a minute. "Yes," she said. "It was suicide all right."

"You're quite sure?" You see, Frankie, we have Moira's word for it that Nicholson wanted two people out of the way. Well, here's one of them gone."

Frankie thought again, but once more she shook her head.

"It must be suicide," she said. "I was in the garden with Roger when we heard the shot. We both ran straight in through the drawing-room to the hall. The study door was locked on the inside. We went round to the window. That was fastened also and Roger had to smash it. It wasn't till then that Nicholson appeared upon the scene very suddenly."

"He'd left a stick behind earlier in the afternoon and had come back for it."

Bobby was frowning with the process of thought.

"Listen, Frankie. Suppose that actually Nicholson shot Bassington-French—"

"Having induced him first to write a suicide's letter of farewell?"

"I should think that would be the easiest thing in the world to fake. Any alteration in handwriting would be put down to agitation."

"Yes, that's true. Go on with your theory."

"Nicholson shoots Bassington-French, leaves the farewell letter, and nips out, locking the door—to appear again a few minutes later as though he had just arrived."

Frankie shook her head regretfully.

"It's a good idea—but it won't work. To begin with, the key was in Henry Bassington-French's pocket—"

"Who found it there?"

"Well, as a matter of fact, Nicholson did."

"There you are! What's easier for him than to pretend to find it there?"

"I was watching him—remember. I'm sure the key was in the pocket."

"That's what one says when one watches a conjurer. You see the rabbit being put into the hat. If Nicholson is a high-class criminal a simple little bit of sleight-of-hand like that would be child's play to him."

"WELL, you may be right about that, but honestly, Bobby, the whole thing's impossible. Sylvia Bassington-French was actually in the house when the shot was fired. The moment she heard it she ran out into the hall."

"If Nicholson had fired the shot and come out through the study door she would have been bound to see him. Besides, she told us that he actually came up the drive to the front door. She saw him coming as we ran round the house, and went to meet him and brought him round the study window. No, Bobby, I hate to say it, but the man has an alibi."

"On principle, I distrust people who have alibis," said Bobby.

"So do I. But I don't see how you can get round this one."

"No, Sylvia Bassington-French's word ought to be good enough."

"Yes, indeed."

"Well," said Bobby with a sigh, "I suppose we'll have to leave it at suicide by saying: 'The world's cockeyed!' Carter Glass summarized the bewilderment of the legislators a few days ago. 'I have paid on this bill,' he told the Senate, 'but I don't know how my hair would vote if I were here. And if I could vote, I don't know how I'd vote.'" as an aid in capturing this Republican Gibraltar in 1936. It carries two cartoons which may backfire.

The first is entitled "The Midget." It pictures Al Smith sitting on the knee of a Wall Street figure who has a photographic likeness to J. P. Morgan. The financier holds before Al's eyes a document bearing the title "Mortgage on Al Smith's Empire State Building," while stocks and bonds are piled up on the floor. "Al" says the bank "read 'em the speech we wrote for you!" And Mr. Smith replies: "Roosevelt is a socialist. He's a red! He's a communist!" The other cartoon depicts two retired Chief Justices of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court with money bags labeled "old age pensions" on the bench before the man they hand down an opinion holding general old age pensions unconstitutional. An accompanying article tells how much the judges receive monthly from the retirement fund.

Senator Guffey, who distributed copies at the White House, explained that the magazine was a state, not a national publication. But Mr. Guffey is chairman of the Democrats' Senatorial Campaign Committee and chief promoter in bringing the national convention to Philadelphia.

NOTES: Seekers after Gark horses are saying "Watch Steiner of Oregon." Politicians are excited over what they regard as a miracle—Gifford Pinchot advocates support of the G. O. P. to beat Roosevelt. Newsman moanplain that the White House doesn't produce hot news any more—but they're or the alert just the same. State Department say the toughest Joe of all is that held by Ambassador Joe Grew at Tokyo.

NEW YORK By James McMullin IMPRACTICAL: We have been asked by a financial source out-of-town to check up a report that the American Liberty League is planning to promote Alfred P. Sloan of General Motors for President. The story ran that Sloan was to retire from General Motors and his campaign was to be run from Detroit. It was further indicated that the Liberty League planned this action in preference to leaving the task of beating Roosevelt to the Republicans.

This story has been checked with six New York sources in close touch with Liberty League affairs. Four of them dismissed it as absurd—adding that in their judgement such a move would be incredibly stupid. Another said he had heard the rumor and believed it had been vaguely discussed in Liberty League circles. He thought that certain members of the duPont family—the League's chief patrons—might have given it consideration, as they naturally think well of Mr. Sloan favor the idea of a business man in the White House.

The sixth source had also heard the report and offered the following explanation of its background. Some of the Liberty League's leaders do distrust the Republicans' ability to beat Roosevelt. Moreover they themselves are and intend to remain Democratic and don't like the idea of serving as a tail to the Republican kite. However, this source figures common sense will prevent the actual launching of such an impractical venture.

SCORCHED: Chief Justice Hughes certainly took the get-rich-quick boys for a ride, even though he probably didn't give them a thought. The minute it was announced that he was reading the Court's opinion the would-be wise guys jumped to the conclusion that the New Deal had lost again. So they rushed to get aboard the expected boom. This impression was apparently confirmed by the first section of his opinion—which gave reasons for not dismissing the unit on jurisdiction grounds. It was almost as if he were deliberately leading them on.

Then came the awful disillusion after 4 minutes of 1929 exuberance. Plenty of Stock Exchange floor traders who should have known better were badly scorched—likewise plenty of small fry with big ambitions. That rude lesson is likely to keep the market pretty quiet for a couple of weeks.

Insiders say the break would have been very much worse except that strong buying in U. S. Steel and other key stocks showed up just at the moment when the panic threatened to get out of control.

WASTED: Congressman John J. O'Connor's outburst against Father Coughlin was the explosion of a long-cherished resentment. Financial men have very little use for O'Connor—he's a Wall Street tool—it's certainly news to Wall Street—but they rejoiced in his belligerence. Coughlin hardly added to his prestige by referring to the Rules Committee Chairman as a Roosevelt appointee. A high school freshman TIDE: Shrewd New Yorkers—both pro and anti New Deal—accept as reasonable accurate the results of the national poll of the American Institute of Public Opinion indicating that at present 33 states would vote for Roosevelt and 12 against him, with 3 on the fence. The Institute certainly cannot be accused of a bias in favor of the President. Bu, keen observers assent to its deduction that Pennsylvania is safe in the Republican fold. John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers—strongly committed to Roosevelt—pack a heavy punch in that state.

The poll raises the pointed question in New Yorkers' minds whether the Republican party is anywhere near strong enough for the job of returning the President to private life. Idaho shows up as "definitely Democratic." Comment runs that Borah might take the least painful route to oblivion by announcing himself too busy to run for Senator.

Political analysts agree that F. D. R.'s popularity touched bottom late in the summer of 1935 and that the tide has since been running slowly back in his favor. Jim Farley told a friend last August he was glad the ebb had come so early because there was still a year left to fix things up.

STRATEGIC: New York utility leaders weren't as crushed by the Supreme Court's TVA decision as you might think. Their legal advisers were quick to find comforting loopholes in the wide range of questions which the Court deliberately omitted from its ruling as not justiciable in connection with the Alabama Power suit.

These leave plenty of room for subsequent legal actions if and when private companies are in a position to show provable damages from federal power operations. Then the fun will start all over again.

Law sharps say the government really won its case by being smart enough to concede that it had no constitutional authority to acquire or dispose of electric energy as a by-product of its power to develop navigable streams. This strategic retreat brought victory where legal bravado would almost certainly have been punished by another licking.

should have known better than that. Louis Ward—Coughlin's agent—has been throwing handsome dinners for Congressmen in an effort to gain razer-Lemke converts. The best New York dope is that he's been wasting somebody's money.

GENEROUS: Senator Vandenberg met a number of New York GOP leaders before his Lincoln Day speech here at the home of Kenneth Simpson—New York County Chairman. He made a good impression—but inner sentiment was noticeably less enthusiastic after his address. A lot of the boys thought he was altogether too generous in his invitation to Democrats to join the party and share the rewards.

COUNTY JAILS HOUSE INSANE

State Hospitals Lack Facilities to Take in All

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Feb. 21.—At least 200 insane persons are now being held in county jails awaiting transfer to the three state hospitals whenever there is room for them, a survey made by the division of Institutions of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare shows, according to R. Eugene Brown, director, said today. These insane persons should be in state hospitals now receiving treatment, but lack of room and congested conditions in the three state hospitals at Raleigh and Morganton for white persons and for negroes at Goldsboro, make it necessary to keep this number in jail, Brown said.

Reports received from only 38 counties in December showed 104 insane persons in these county jails, so that it is estimated that in the state as a whole there must be at least 200 insane persons now being held in jails, Brown said. Of the 104 insane persons being held in jails in December, 55 were white men, 9 white women, 29 negro men and 11 negro women.

In November, out of only 22 counties reporting, there were 89 insane in jails of which only nine were sent to state hospitals during the month. In fact, from July through December, the reports from an average of about 35 county jails per month, showed an average of about 90 insane persons being held in jail awaiting commitment to state hospitals, with an average of only about five a month being sent to these institutions.

This does not mean that there is not a normal turnover in the populations of the three state hospitals, however, Brown said. For the figures for 1935 show that out of an average population of 6,500 in the three state hospitals for the insane, 2,381 new cases were admitted during the year and 2,343 discharged either as cured or able to return to their homes.

"The chief trouble seems to be that there is just not enough room in the three state mental hospitals to take care of all the insane which should be sent to them," Brown said. "The result is that there is no other place to keep them except in the county jails."

Tax Collections for North State Run Far Below Normal

Sales Taxes Fall Off About $300,000 Each of Last Two Months; Gas Levies Lower, Too

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Feb. 21.—The bad weather in December and January has already cost the state about $600,000 in sales tax revenue alone, it was estimated at the Department of Revenue, to say nothing of the loss of more than $1,000,000 in gasoline tax revenue caused by the bad weather or the damage now estimated at $2,000,000 done to the highways.

Sales tax collections so far in February, which represent the sales tax collected by merchants on business done in January, amount to only about $600,000 it was learned today. But if the weather had been good and business normal, the collections should have amounted to at least $900,000 since taxable retail sales in the state have been averaging about $30,000,000 a month, it was pointed out. Sales tax collections in January, which represented the tax collected by merchants on sales made in December, amounted to $1,084,804, or some $300,000 less than the department had estimated. For in January 1935, before the tax exemptions were removed before the sales tax was applied to meals in restaurants and cafes, the collections amounted to $1,097,242. Accordingly, the department had counted on getting at least $1,400,000 from the sales tax on December sales, and it would have but for the bad weather and so much snow.

There will be no way of knowing how much the severe winter weather so far in February has reduced retail sales this month until returns start coming in after March 15. But Department of Revenue officials are fearful that the February collections will also be materially affected by the weather. They are expecting a decided upward turn in buying, however, when the weather does begin to open up and country roads again become passable.

Mason will play the Grieg "A Minor Piano Concerto" with band accompaniment. This piece was composed in 1868 by Edward H. Grieg for piano and orchestra. Prof. Earl Slocum, director of the band, has transcribed it for piano and band. So far as is known, this is the first time the concerto has been heard in this form.

"MUCH RELIEVED" SAYS LADY AFTER TAKING CARDUI

Although they may be very active and apparently in good health, many women, at certain times, will do well to take Cardui. It may relieve some of the nagging symptoms that are so annoying every month. Mrs. F. T. Foster, of Greensburg, Ky., writes that she has "derived great benefit" from Cardui. "Before taking Cardui, I was weak and extremely nervous, and suffered from sleeplessness. This made me tired and worn in daytime. My back ached continually. Being an active woman, I did not want to continue in this condition. Having heard a great deal about Cardui, I found, after just a few bottles, I was much relieved. I continued taking Cardui and was so much helped." "Of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. (Adv.)"

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Highly selective buying today in the stock market resulted in an irregular performance during the early evening. Utilities maintained a steady tone along with aircrafts, alcohols and rail equipment issues although changes on the upside were fractional except in some of the higher price issues. A heavy volume during the first hour of dealings dwindled when profit-taking and other adjustments appeared.

New York Cotton

New York, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, one higher to two lower with steeper Liverpool cables offset by hedge selling and liquidation. March sold off from 11.36 to 11.30 while October declined to 10.18. The market at the end of the first hour showed a net loss of one to six points. No special feature developed in the morning and the market at midday was quiet. After selling off to 11.30 March rallied to 11.33 and the general market was about net unchanged to three points lower.

State Shows Decrease In Its Farm Income

Washington, Feb. 18.—North Carolina is among the eight states showing a decrease in farm income in 1935, according to the report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. For the whole nation there was a 12 per cent increase in farm income. Total receipts from sales of principal farm products and from rental and benefit payments were $6,832,932,000 in 1935, compared with $6,102,901,000 in 1934, with $4,871,630,000 in 1933, and $4,235,362,000 in 1932.

Smallest improvement in income was in the South Atlantic region. The only states showing reduced income in 1935 were Maine, Nebraska, North and South Carolina, Florida, Alabama and New Mexico. Increased farm income last year was due primarily to a 20-percent rise in the general level of farm prices, says the report. Crop price gains were relatively small, "but prices for livestock and livestock products advanced considerably, causing a marked variation in the different regions in the extent of the improvement in farm income; over 1934."

Marked increases in cash receipts in Indiana and neighboring States and in most of Mountain States and Oklahoma resulted principally from increased income from livestock. In Kentucky and Louisiana, larger rental and benefit payments, together with increased income from livestock, were mainly responsible for the larger income. On the other hand, most of the decline in income were due to reduced income from crops.

In Maine, smaller income from potatoes, due to lower price during most of the year, was the chief factor in decline in receipts. In Nebraska the principal reduction was in income from corn, and in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Alabama, the lower price of cotton for the 1935 crop was reflected in moderate losses. The slight decline in income in Florida was due primarily to reduced income from citrus fruits.
