NEW TOBACCO CONTROL PLAN IS PROPOSED

Backers Hope to Have In Effect For This Year

BILL COMPLETED BY COMMITTEE

Program Would Become Effective Only In Event Tobacco States Take Action

Richmond, Va., Feb. 28.—(AP)—New tobacco control legislation drawn to serve as the initial step in the formation of a confederation among the leading tobacco-producing states, was ready for presentation to the house of delegates with backers hopeful of seeing the co-operative program in effect this year.

The Virginia bill, virtually completed last night by a special legislative committee with the assistance of Attorney General A. P. Staples, would become effective only in the event sister tobacco states took similar action.

As explained yesterday by Delegate W. N. Neff, action by Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee would make the act effective as to burley and dark fired tobacco but the effective date as to flue-cured would hinge on developments in North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. Definite action by July 1 would be necessary to enable the program to become effective during 1936.

The Virginia act to be submitted to Congress for approval of the compact plan and the enactment of supplementary federal legislation would vest principal authority in the administration of the plan in a four-man commission, which would have authority to cooperate with commissions of other states in determining quotas and marketing arrangements.

Reduction Ordered In Passenger Fares

Washington, Feb. 28.—(AP)—In a five to four decision interstate, the Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered a reduction in basic rail passenger fares from three and six-tenths to two cents a mile.

The commission also ordered a reduction in Pullman rates to three cents a mile. The rate now averages 4 cents. Under the order the new fares will be effective June 2. The commission revised the passenger fare structure throughout the country but because western and southern roads already have lower experimental fares, its chief effect will fall on the eastern roads.

PITT GROWERS HIGHEST PAID

Receive More Benefits Than Any Other County

Figures released at the offices of the County agent today showed that Pitt county tobacco farmers received more benefit payments than growers in any other county in the state during the life of the AAA.

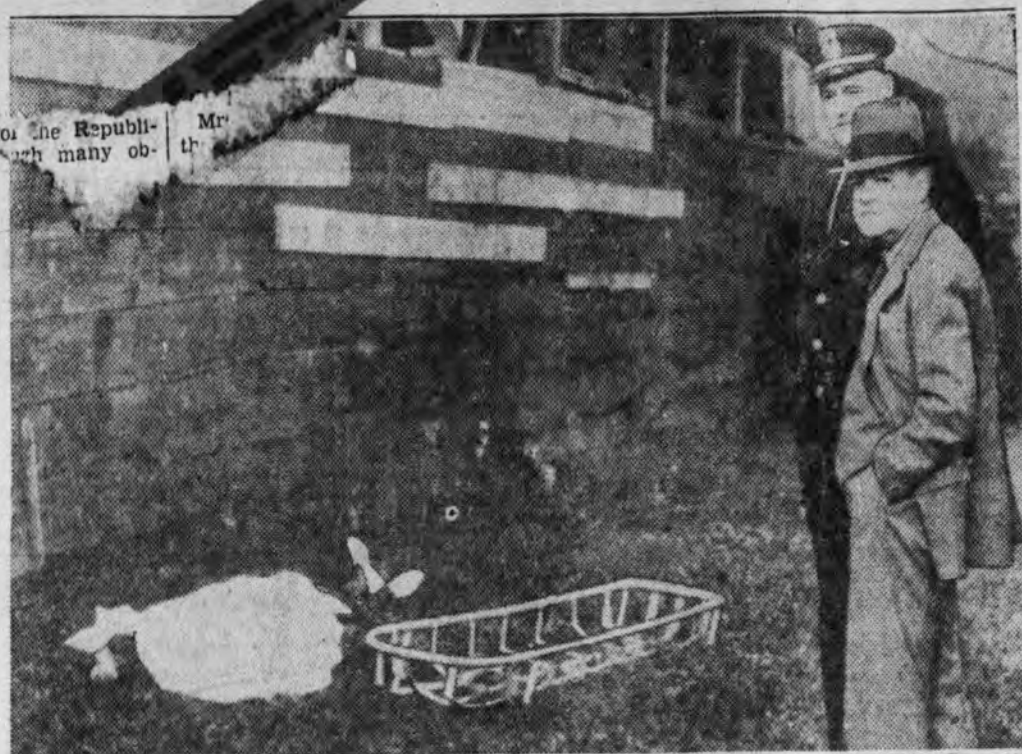

From May 12, 1933, to December 31, 1935, Pitt farmers received a total of $1,007,100.64 in tobacco benefits. This was the only county which received a million dollars in tobacco payments.

Only two counties in the state, Robeson and Johnston, received more total benefit payments under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration than Pitt. Payments were made on tobacco, cotton, peanuts and corn-hog programs.

Robeson farmers received payments totalling $1,683,438.58, Johnston, $1,417,918.34 and Pitt $1,007,100.64; cotton, $243,756.81; peanuts, $243,756.81; peanuts, $16,897.19; and corn-hog, $11,028.71.

The total payments in Pitt were divided as follows: tobacco, $1,007,100.64; cotton, $243,756.81; peanuts, $243,756.81; peanuts, $16,897.19; and corn-hog, $11,028.71. For the entire state benefit payments totalled $30,731,379.44.

FRANCE TURNS TO RHYNELAND

Directs Attention To Action on Eastern Frontier

Paris, Feb. 28.—(AP)—France turned her attention to Rheneland on her eastern frontier today with a determination to bring the question of re-militarization before the League of Nations at Geneva next week.

Conscious of repeated reports that Germany has thronged the Rhineland with troops, informed circles said, Foreign minister Flandin expected to call the attention of leading powers to the danger inherent in such a move by the Reich.

With ratification of the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance pact, carrying guarantees of aid in the event Germany should attack either Russia or France over its first hurdle—the Chamber of Deputies—the problem of possible German aggression is expected to be advanced forcefully by the French.

Reports that the French attitude was the result of a secret promise Premier Mussolini of Italy that he would not align himself with Germany were scouted in authoritative quarters. They held France was acting on her own accord and in her own interest.

Senate approval of the Franco-Soviet Pact is expected next week. It was emphasized by French officials that the act does not call for French assistance to the Soviet in the event of war between Russia and Japan.

Wide Discussions Are Started Over Financing Program

Rumblings of Discontent Are Heard Over President Roosevelt's Permanent Tax Plans

Washington, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The administration's $500,000,000 farm subsidy program moved near the statute books today amid tumultuous discussion over taxes for its financing.

Speaker Byrnes signed the soil conservation bill, leaving only Vice-President Garner's signature to send it to the White House.

There were rumblings of discontent when President Roosevelt projected a permanent tax plan of $620,000,000 of which $520,000,000 would go for the farm subsidy bill. In the House, Representatives debated $188,000,000 supply bill for the agriculture department.

President Roosevelt announced his intention to allot by executive order $30,000,000 of work relief funds for 1936 seed and feed loans to farmers with a $200 limit on individual loans.

Despite this move the Senate agriculture committee named a subcommittee to confer with Mr. Roosevelt over his veto of the $50,000,000 loan bill with its $300 limit.

The House agriculture committee rejected a resolution by Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.) to require the AAA to give the names of payment to all producers who received less than $2,000 in benefit payments in a year.

The House agriculture committee approved the Gillette (D-Iowa) bill to continue the three and one-half per cent interest rates on Federal Land Bank loans for another two years after July 1.

Also approved by the committee was a resolution by Rep. Tweedy (R-Mass.) to require the Bureau of Agriculture-Economics to furnish a "complete and unexpurgated" report on the effect of the farm program on cotton production.

OFFICERS GET PRISON TERMS

Former Angier Policemen Sentenced To State's Prison

Lillington, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Judge N. A. Sinclair in Harnett superior court today sentenced Oris M. Polard to five to ten years in State's prison and five to ten years in State's prison to C. F. Dean.

After a White House conference last night, it was indicated President Roosevelt would ask next week for taxes to finance the program. These are expected to total about $500,000,000.

Authoritative sources said officials would call farm representatives into regional meeting to discuss details of subsidies the government will pay farmers for conserving soil by taking land out of commercial crop production.

The first of these was indicated, might be held next week at Memphis, Tenn., where the first major disclosures of Secretary Wallace's exact plan are expected to be made. The initial meeting is being held in the South because of a desire to start the program before the spring planting which will soon begin on a large scale.

Palmetto Governor Says Legislature Will Pass Compact

Governor Olin Johnson Says He Has Been Assured of Action by Members of Legislature

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Governor Olin D. Johnson said today he had assurance from legislative delegates who attended a regional tobacco conference that the South Carolina legislature would enact crop control measures to become effective when other states did likewise.

The Governor pointed out that South Carolina was "fortunate in that the general assembly is now in session," as in Virginia, whereas North Carolina and Georgia legislatures are recessed.

"The South Carolina delegates to the regional tobacco conference at Washington tell me the legislature probably will pass the necessary legislation here," the Governor said, "with a provision that it becomes operative only when other states do likewise."

"To enact state legislation placing restrictions on the tobacco crop without similar action by other tobacco producing states would be unjust to South Carolina growers, but the provision for crop control would protect us if the measures are passed immediately."

New Crisis Precipitated By Japanese Insurgents

Government Meets Challenge of Rebel Soldiers with "Appropriate Measures," Nature of Which are Not Revealed

By The Associated Press

Japan's insurgent soldiers precipitated a fresh Tokyo crisis today, defying the deadline set for them to evacuate the heart of the capital, and the government met the challenge with "appropriate measures."

The nature of these "measures" was not immediately disclosed, a severe censorship controlling communications from Tokyo, but apparently reliable reports said the area about the rebels' stronghold was being cleared for possible action.

Lieutenant General Kohei Kashi assigned by the government to ruse the city with martial law, proclaimed:

"The several hundred soldiers who started the disturbance Wednesday are still holding Nagatacho (central) section of Tokyo, but the commander of the martial law administration is taking appropriate measures to deal with them."

These advices broke a long period of silence during the late hours of the night and this morning while the tight censorship indicated the situation was becoming increasingly acute.

A force of more than 4,000 loyal troops beleaguered the 1,000 soldier rascalians who broke the agreement to return to their barracks by 8 a. m.

Responsible Japanese sources in Shanghai announced they were informed imperial sanction had been given for a forcible ejection of the rebels if they had not withdrawn at noon, Tokyo time.

Imperial princes and officers of the army high command wielded the predominating influences in the movement looking for the formation of a government to replace the slain premier, Okada, who died with three other high officials of the civil machinery.

All indications pointed to the establishment of a military or Fascist government with the possibility that General Sadao Araki, strong exponent of militarism and ardent nationalist, would be named Premier of Japan.

SUBSIDY BILL BECOMES LAW

To Hasten Launching Of New Conservation Program

Washington, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Officials awaited only a scratch of President Roosevelt's pen today before hastening to launch a vast new agricultural subsidy program applicable to every American farm and administered by a reorganized AAA.

Hurrying to beat the spring planting decline, AAA men eagerly saw the $500,000,000 soil conservation measure complete its journey through Congress yesterday. President Roosevelt was expected to sign it quickly, perhaps today.

After a White House conference last night, it was indicated President Roosevelt would ask next week for taxes to finance the program. These are expected to total about $500,000,000.

Authoritative sources said officials would call farm representatives into regional meeting to discuss details of subsidies the government will pay farmers for conserving soil by taking land out of commercial crop production.

TAX PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED BY PRESIDENT

Makes Arrangement To Pay This Year's Farm Program

BONUS PAYMENT ALSO PROVIDED

Plan Is Designed To Produce Permanent Receipts of $620,000,000 Annually

Washington, Feb. 28.—(AP)—A tax program to produce permanent receipts of $620,000,000 annually with the addition of $500,000,000 to pay for this year's farm program and to be levied over a period of years was outlined to Congress by President Roosevelt today.

The latter amount included what the President referred to as a "windfall tax" to recapture processing taxes which were refunded upon the order of the Supreme court.

In the category of permanent taxes the President lumped $500,000,000 a year for the new farm program and $120,000,000 annually for the payment of the bonus.

This sum, he said, would be sufficient to yield the entire cost of the bonus by 1945, the year in which it was due originally.

The Chief Executive was emphatic in differentiate between new and old taxes. In the former category he placed only the annual $120,000,000 for payment of the bonus.

Speaker Byrnes said at his press conference the ways and means committee would start hearings on taxes next week that they would require no more than a fortnight and that the tax program should not delay adjournment of Congress.

Congressional leaders left no doubt that a billion dollar tax bill would travel a rough road even in the ways and means committee before it reached the floor.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) told reporters: "I don't think it will be that much."

Another committee member, speaking privately, asserted: "There isn't any more chance for that than for the main in the moon. They will be lucky to get half billion dollars."

"We'll have to pass the bill," said Representative Bankhead (D-Ala.), House majority leader. "We can't go on forever with all out foreign and income to offset."

The President has made up his mind to balance the regular budget and he is going to do it.

Rep. Snell (R.N.Y.), minority leader of the House, was glad the President has come to some conclusion anyway.

He said a billion dollars bill would be a stiff jolt, but regarded taxes as preferable to printrine money or defaulting government obligations.

Assistant Republican leader Martin of Massachusetts, said the tax plan was a "political gesture" that would enable the President to say he had tried to obtain money for huge government expenditures and Congress had turned him down.

SELASSIE ASKS FOR SANCTION

Expresses Hope For Extension of War Penalties

Addis Ababa, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie in a message to the Associated Press expressed hope today that the League of Nations would proceed swiftly with the proposed extension of war penalties against Italy.

Regarding the meeting of the League of Nations sanctions committee of 18 called for March 2 at Geneva, the Ethiopian King of Kings asserted "we hope there will be no further delay in the extending of sanctions."

"The cause of peace would be much nearer realization if sanctions were extended."

The Emperor said "the Ethiopian government has not and will not, take any initiative in the matter of peace proposals."

Expressing surprise that proposals for stripping territory from Ethiopia could ever be considered, the Emperor said:

"The fact that the Italians have penetrated Ethiopian territory is causing us no concern as they have not occupied any important military positions and the advance has increased their lines of communications and offers greater opportunity for guerrilla tactics against them."

Price Outlines How GOP Convention Fight May Go

Old-Line Leaders To Wait to Select Leader on Floor

By BYRON PRICE

(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

It now is possible to get a somewhat clearer view of the Republican situation, although many obscurities persist.

The most prominent feature of the picture is the effort of a powerful group of old-line leaders to prevent any foreclosures of the presidential nomination in advance of the convention.

This effort is focused principally in the east and mid-west. The plan is to keep the convention balance of power in the hands of a sizeable bloc of delegates pledged to no candidate. That would make it possible to settle the matter on the ground, after a final canvass of the situation.

To this movement adhere many of the recognized leaders of the old guard. Apparently no objection is raised by the friends of most of the candidates.

Whether Herbert Hoover is to be a candidate or not, his associates appear to believe that his best bet is to let the nomination question remain open. The supporters of Governor Landon manifestly are seeking to keep him as much in the "dark horse" class as possible, and to avoid arousing resentment by entering primary contests.

Naturally, the friends of such other dark horse candidates as Senator Vandenberg and Senator Dickinson interpose no opposition. A dead-locked convention, with a preponderant number of delegates free to shift to a compromise candidate would be exactly to their liking.

There is one exception—possibly two. The definite exception is Senator Borah. The possible exception is Colonel Knox.

Knox himself refrains from discussing the political wisdom of choosing uncommitted delegates, but his adherents are at work in many states for delegates instructed for Knox. He alone, aside from Borah, is showing a readiness to go into the primaries and fight it out.

Borah's opposition to the uncommitted-delegate program is open and direct. He pronounces it a scheme to disfranchise the common voters, and permit the old guard to make his own choice, for his own purposes, in a backroom caucus.

Thus do events appear to arrange themselves, on the basis of the present circumstances, for three successive waves of action.

First comes the initial heat between Borah and Knox, each seeking to line up enough delegates to nominate him.

If these two are stopped, or if they stop each other in the convention, the next step seemingly will be to try out Landon, or possibly Hoover.

Finally, if neither of these can make the grade, the convention must turn to the dark horses. If it is of a mind to select a candidate with a middle-ground record on the "new deal," it will be offered Vandenberg. If it seems better to take an out-and-out, it will be asked to look over Dickinson.

Whether any prophetic implications attach to the fact or not, it is interesting to note that the central Republican question, "to instruct or not to instruct," is not new to politics.

"I would be wiser not to instruct delegates," argued a prominent old-line political leader on another occasion. "The convention should be unfettered. It should be prepared to do what is best for party and country in the immediate circumstances which confront it."

"The plan of uncommitted delegates would disfranchise the great body of voters," replied another, "and would enable a handful of individuals to handicap a candidate by a process of trade and barter."

The date of those utterances was February, 1932. The party referred to was the Democratic party.

The gentleman advocating uncommitted delegations was J. P. J. Shouse, then chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, now president of the Liberty League.

The gentleman who disagreed with him was Franklin D. Roosevelt, then governor of New York and now President of the United States.

MOTHER-IN-LAW CONTROL

By Brooke Peters Church
Mrs. Smith's mother lived with the Smith family. Mrs. Smith was an only child and had been brought up to be dependent on her mother, and defer to her in every detail. Mr. Smith found the situation difficult from the day of his marriage. His mother-in-law pervaded the house with suggestions and orders until he came to feel like an outsider.

But it was worse when the children came. That Mr. Smith was their father and the family breadwinner made no difference to his mother-in-law, nor yet, apparently, to his wife. She had been trained to obey her mother unquestioningly, and the fact that she was married and a mother herself did not change the pattern of her mind. She loved her husband, but she feared her mother and was dependent on her.

The children became a battlefield where the opposing forces fought for control. There was no consistency in their training. As soon as their grandmother made a decision, their father reversed it, and vice versa. Their mother was useless as a court of appeal, for she veered from side to side. The household was miserable and the children discontented and insubordinate.

Young married couples are better off if they start their housekeeping alone, and form the new family unit on independent lines. No happy marriage can be built up if the allegiance of either partner is divided. The more dependent a man or woman is on his own parents, and background, the more essential is it that with marriage he should make a clean break and start again.

Children in special are bound to suffer from the chaos which dual control by conflicting authority produces. Often the consequences of such an unfortunate childhood last throughout one's life.

Fear Forest Fires Throughout State From Carelessness

Assistant State Forester Warns That Spring Clearing Might Result in Much Damage

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, Feb. 28.—Fear that widespread spring clearing might result in widespread forest fire damage in North Carolina during the next several weeks was expressed today by W. C. McCormick, assistant state forester, in charge of forest fire control for the Department of Conservation and Development.

Mr. McCormick pointed out that in spite of the fact that snow has covered the ground for several weeks since last December and that snow has covered the ground for several weeks since last December and that there has been unusually high precipitation, there have been a number of small forest fires over the state, particularly within the last month.

Vegetation is drying out rapidly and will burn readily even before all dampness has disappeared, McCormick said. He is apprehensive, lest the delay caused by clearing operations by bad weather will lead to the speeding up of such work and a resulting carelessness which will cause a large number of fires.

Mr. McCormick cited two state laws for the protection of forest lands against fire. One provides a penalty of a fine ranging from $50 to $500 or imprisonment from 60 days to four months for incendiarism or deliberately setting fire to woodlands belonging to another.

Another statute defines negligence with lighted matches, cigarettes, campfires, etc., from which grass or woodland fires as a misdemeanor punishable by a fine from $10 to $50 or by imprisonment up to 30 days.

At least half dozen small forest fires were discovered within the last week in various counties, but in each case were put out before they had a chance to spread and working toward their suppression. In none of the cases was the damage material.

Seek Minimize Flare Up Of Wake County Teachers

Efforts, However, Are Not Proving So Successful

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Feb. 28.—Efforts of the school forces in Wake county to smooth over the incident of last week in which Principal W. H. Gibson of the Apex high school refused to serve as a delegate to the state convention of the North Carolina Education Association to be held here March 19, 20, and 21, on the grounds that he disapproved of its lobbying methods in the 1935 general assembly and of which he was a member, are not proving very convincing to a good many here.

The politically informed continue to believe that Gibson's action was chiefly inspired by the growing resentment among many of the classroom teachers against alleged domination of the association by a group of hand-picked, politically minded superintendents and principals and the refusal of this group to permit any except hand-picked teachers to become delegates and hence have a voice in the affairs of the association.

For while it is generally known only those teachers selected from each county as official delegates have the right to vote in the business sessions of the North Carolina Education Association, although scores of other teachers may and do attend the sessions.

Thus, Wake county has only 19 voting delegates to the state convention, although several hundred Raleigh and Wake County teachers will attend the convention. But only these 19 delegates will be able to vote on resolutions and other matters affecting the association.

Twelve of these delegates will be principals, and 12 will be teachers appointed by the principals. It is generally conceded that almost without exception, the official delegates vote according to either actual or implied instructions from the superintendents. If they do not, they are likely not to be recommended for employment the following year.

The group in sympathy with the existing regime in the Education Association first maintained that the real reason Gibson refused to act as a delegate was because he is said to be an ardent supporter of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, Jr. of Greensboro and that he had been recommended to the Wake county unit of the Education Association by McDonald. When Gibson found that the Wake county unit was following the leadership of the state trustee, default having been made for a period of more than ninety (90) days in the payment of said note as provided therein and in the performance of certain covenants set out in said deed of trust and demand for foreclosure having been made by the holder of said indebtedness, the undersigned Trustee having been substituted as Trustee for Alan S. ### FRIDAY

6:30 p. m.—The Kiwanis Club will meet in the Woman's Club building.

End of the Century Club

Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr., was the charming hostess to the End of the Century Club at its regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Frank, presided over the business meeting. At its conclusion Mrs. Stokes presented Miss Patchell of the Art Department of the college, who had graciously consented to discuss the subject of the afternoon, "Women Artists of America."

She discussed most interestingly the life and works of these well known women painters: Mary Cassatt, as a painter of pictures of mother and child; Cecelia Beaux, the portrait painter; Violet Oakley, a painter of murals; Georgia O'Keefe, working in abstract forms and Georgia Klitzgard, famous for her landscapes. American women are excelling in the difficult realm of plastic art and it is in this field they are completely themselves, while in painting they are influenced by the men. She dwelt especially on Anna V. Huntington and her famous equestrian statue of Joan of Arc on Riverside Drive. In the field of graphic arts women also excel, as portrayed by the work of Wanda Gag and Helen Sewell. Miss Patchell closed her program with illustrations of the works of each artist discussed, thus making most impressive her instructive and interesting talk.

Mrs. Stokes invited her guests into the dining room, where at a beautifully appointed table, Mrs. E. J. Garrett and Mrs. Chas. Laughlinhouse assisted by Mrs. W. L. Whichard and Mrs. Chas. Laughlinhouse, Jr., served an elegant salad course. The guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Chas. Laughlinhouse, Jr., Mrs. W. L. Whichard, Mrs. Samuels, Mrs. E. J. Garrett, Mrs. B. B. Sugg, Mrs. C. W. Hearse and Miss Patchell.—Reported.

Winners in Amateur Program.
The first of a series of amateur programs sponsored by Mixon's Super Shell Service Station, was presented last evening on the stage at the State Theatre. The stage was attractively decorated in shell tanks and Kelly Springfield tires.

The first prize, $10.00, was won by Miss Mildred Clark and Edward Conway, singing a duet. Second prize, $5.00, went to Miss Mary Louise Barnes and Miss Alice Whitehurst, singing and Hawaiian guitar.

Third prize, $2.50, was won by Levi Evans (Greenville Serenaders) string band.

The winners of last night's program will take part in the fourth and final program at the State, when the grand prize will be $50.00.

Hands and Give—" Leader, Mrs. A. W. Hodnett.

All meetings will be held in the C. J. Ellen Bible Class room except that of Wednesday evening.

The Marionette Family.
The marionette "family" of Sue Hastings, which can be seen at the college twice on next Monday, during the past twelve years have made coast-to-coast tours of the United States, playing in lycium houses, women's clubs, children's schools, churches and colleges, have traveled through Scotland, England, Canada, Cuba, the West Indies, the Virgin Islands, and South America, and have performed for governors and for the President at the White House.

One marionette dancer can boast she has been kicking around the world the whole twelve years, and has performed over 5,000 times, and is none the worse for wear, which is more than her human models can say.

At both the matinee and the night performances gay song and dance numbers will be added to the program. The plays will be "Jack and the Beanstalk," at the matinee, with a humorous version of "Three Little Pigs" and "Robin Hood" at night with the bold outlaw of Sherwood followed by his merry men, Little Jack, Jolly Friar, Tuck Alandole, not to mention charming Maid Marian, and the Sheriff on his bulky donkey.

Moonlight Nile Romances Banned by Egyptian Law.
Cairo—(AP)—Egypt may be a land of romance in fiction, but lovers who fall under its spell may find themselves fined or imprisoned. Police in Cairo and Alexandria enforce a law which forbids "persons of opposite sex to kiss on public thoroughfares or public property."

One young man, seeking to escape the penalty for kissing his girl on the banks of the Nile one moonlight night, tried to bribe a policeman and was jailed for four days without bail.

Another policeman found that the officer actually had taken six piastres from the youth. The offending officer was dropped from the force and also given a jail sentence.

Rio Grande Ice Plants Most Busy in Winter.
San Benito, Tex.—(AP)—Ice plants in the sub-tropical Lower Rio Grande valley are busiest in winter. The demand is not for domestic consumption but to keep early fruits and vegetables fresh en route to northern markets. Ice-making factories hum until late spring, but when citizens begin to seek the shade and vegetation droops, production will dwindle. Fall and winter crops of farm and orchard then will have gone up the long road to consumers.

Thousands of tons yearly are used for icing refrigerator cars. Every town in this section has one or more icing docks at which cars are serviced.

Dalmatian Island Cheese Finds American Market.
Split, Yugoslavia, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Yugoslavs in the United States are consuming the entire production of sheep cheese made on the little islands of Olib, Silba and Molat, along the Adriatic coast of Dalmatia.

The inhabitants of the islands have formed a cooperative to produce a special kind of cheese obtained from native sheep crossed with Spanish merino. They have found a ready market among the Yugoslav owners of restaurants in America for their product at about 25 cents a pound. The output at present is small the cooperative owning only about 1,500 sheep.

Kansas Has Bumper Ice Crop.
Manhattan, Kas.—(AP)—The ice harvest, a lost crop in Kansas for many years, is producing a bumper crop this winter. The prolonged cold wave produced ice from 9 to 13 inches thick on rivers here and many farmers revived the art of putting up ice for use the following summer.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMER

Washington — The behind-the-scenes activity among members of the Democratic national committee advocating various key men for the national convention at Philadelphia in June is warming up in earnest.

No definite selections will be announced until after the committee on arrangements meets in April, but almost every day brings new names into the picture. President Roosevelt will have the last word and he is keeping his own counsel.

Political insiders, however, have their own slate of convention officers picked out.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate, is due for front line duty. Many wouldn't be surprised to see him named permanent chairman of the convention.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Robinson's chief lieutenant in the senate, also seems destined to play an important role.

The widest speculation concerns the choice of the keynote speaker. The most recent name mentioned is that of Senator Tom Connally of Texas.

Snell May Do Keynoting

As for the Republicans, speculation as to the choice of convention officers necessarily has been narrowed down. Most of the outstanding men either are opening seeking the nomination or suspected of having ambitions in that direction.

Vandenberg of Michigan, Dickinson of Iowa, and Wadsworth of New York, for example, are in this category.

Insiders, however, believe the odds favor Representative Snell, Republican leader of the house, for the post of permanent chairman. He served in the same capacity at the 1932 convention. It all depends on which faction of the party is in the saddle by that time. If Senator Borah goes into the convention with considerable support he will have much to say about the organization.

Huey Long Teased Her.

Mrs. Caraway wasn't present to haze her colleague, Mrs. Long, when

When Mrs. Caraway first presided over the senate, the late Huey Long teased her for forcing two quorum calls. On quorum calls, the presiding officer must recognize late arrivals and call their names. Mrs. Caraway never forgot the discomfort Long caused her and when his widow came to the senate she threatened to do the same thing the first time Mrs. Long presided.

Luck was with her, however. Mrs. Caraway was absent from the senate during the entire time Mrs. Long wielded the gavel as "Madame President."

Another policeman found that the officer actually had taken six piastres from the youth. The offending officer was dropped from the force and also given a jail sentence.

 It will rule on the Wagner Labor Disputes Act. No decision is possible on the Social Security Law, the new AAA program or another TVA case. They're out of reach. What pleases the White House is that the court can't touch many fundamental social and economic reforms before next November. That's why Congress will be permitted to quit Washington before the "nine old men" scatter to shore and mountains.
PARLEY: While everybody except our naval spokesmen seem to have lost interest in the conversations across the water, there's a close tie up between the progress of the London naval conference and our $550,000,000 naval appropriations bill.
 State Department representatives have traded homeward, including such important personages as interpreters and publicity advisers. A nationwide press association detached its correspondent to "cover" the Lindberghs' arrival at Liverpool and then summon him back to Washington. The three-month palaver has already cost Uncle Sam about $75,000 and he got nothing for it except a few futile agreements.
PLUG: President Roosevelt painted a dark picture of taxation needs in preliminary talks with Congressional leaders. Through the wish may be father to the thought, his audience suspected that he deliberately used a black brush handed to him by Secretary Morgenthau.
 Mr. Morgenthau didn't insist on a sweep revision that would bring in a budget-balancing total, or even a figure which would furnish bond funds for billions in relief and bonus expenditures. His Congressional advance men—Charles West and Cyril Upham—had warned him that cloakroom sentiment boiled over at the very idea. But he suggested a program under which substitute taxes, as he gently phrased it, would be imposed to replace the outlawed processing levies.
 The surprise of the party came when the President presented the processing bill for the balance of the 1936 fiscal year and all of 1937. Instead of being only $500,000,000 as the Congressmen expected, it was nearer $900,000,000. That's what they'll have to raise to plug the taxation gap the Supreme Court made. How to dig up that amount "painlessly" is giving them a headache that money can't cure.
BOOST: Col. Frank Knox is the first Republican presidential candidate to blossom out with a "news bulletin" and "clip sheet" extolling his qualifications for the White House. His backers have sent a six-column page of political and biographical matter to more than 400 Washington correspondents.
 The publicity depicts Mr. Knox as a budget-balancer who needn't doff his "Teddy" Roosevelt sash to Al Landon of Kansas. It tells how "Economy begins at home in the Knox household." It relates how he saved enough money from a newsboy income of $2.25 a week to put him through college. It also explains how he laid aside $500 in three years when his pay ranged from $12 to $22 a week. The idea is that Col. Knox would make the same savings if he should be given free rent at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue from 1936 to 1940.
 From Phoenix, Ariz., there is a dispatch picturing Col. Knox as the physical heir to Theodore Roosevelt—a claim which William E. Edger Borah will dispute in the Illinois primaries. Recounting the Chicagoan's adventures in lion hunting,

THE BOOMERANG CLUE
 BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS: Convinced that Dr. Nicholson is the murderer of Alan Cartwright, Bobby Jones and Frankie Derwent determine to prove their case. But Bobby is cracked on the head while exploring Nicholson's place, and Frankie, coming to Tudor Cottage Clipping Somerset in response to a letter purportedly from Bobby, is chloroformed. They wake up, feet and hands unconformably on the floor of an attic room. Nicholson comes in to tell them that he plans to arrange an "accident" which will kill them both. Frankie says that Roger Bassington-French knows where she is.

CHAPTER 35
INSPIRATION

NICHOLSON was silent for a moment. Then he said, "A good bluff—but I call it."
 He turned to the door.
 "What about your wife, you swine?" cried Bobby. "Have you murdered her too?"
 "Moira is still alive," said Nicholson. "How much longer she will remain so, I do not really know. It depends on circumstances."
 He made them a mocking little bow.
 "An revoir," he said. "You may enjoy talking the matter over. I shall not see you unless it becomes necessary. Any calls for help and I return and deal with the matter."
 As he finished speaking there was "A good bluff—but I call it," said Roger.

He went out and closed and locked the door behind him.
 "In books there's always an eleventh-hour rescue," said Frankie at last, trying to speak hopefully.
 "The whole thing's so impossible," said Bobby as though pleading with someone. "So fantastic. I wish an eleventh-hour rescue were possible, but I can't see who's going to rescue us, Frankie, do you know what annoys me most about this business?"
 "No. What?"
 "That even now, when we're going to be hurled into the next world we still don't know who Evans is."
 "Let's ask him," said Frankie. "You know a last-minute boon. I agree with you that I simply can't die without having my curiosity satisfied."
 There was a silence, then Bobby said, "I've got you into an awful mess, Frankie."
 "Oh, that's all right. You couldn't have kept me out. I wanted to come in, Bobby, do you think he'll really pull it off? Us, I mean."
 "I'm terribly afraid he will. He's so damnably efficient."
 "Bobby, do you believe now that it was he who killed Henry Bassington-French?"
 "If it were possible—"
 "It is possible, granted one thing—that Sylvia Bassington-French is in it too."
 "Frankie!"

"I KNOW. I was just as horrified when the idea occurred to me. But it fits. Why was Sylvia so dense about the morphine? Why did she resist so obstinately when we wanted her to send her husband somewhere else instead of the Grang? And then she was in the house when the shot was fired—"
 "She might have done it herself."
 "Oh, no, surely!"
 "Yes, she might. And then have given the key of the study to Nicholson to put in Henry's pocket."
 "It's all crazy," said Frankie in a hopeless voice. "Like looking through a distorting mirror. There must be some way of telling criminals' eyebrows or ears or something."
 The first paragraph reads: "For the second time in modern history a fighting colonel has the West gasping for breath. Not since Col. Theodore Roosevelt toured the West has anybody seen one man keep such a strenuous schedule."
 FATE: FDR's friends have frequently spoken of "Roosevelt luck" and he himself believed that he was to be a "man of destiny" even when he was bed-ridden for years with infantile paralysis. The death of Albert C. Ritchie, though deeply regretted by friend and foe, has revived talk of the President's lucky star.

 Mr. Ritchie might have proven a more formidable enemy than the other three whom death has removed from the political scene—Huey Long, Thomas Schall, and Bronson Cutting. The former Maryland Governor had delivered an anti-Roosevelt address only a few hours before he expired, and he was about to set out on a national tour lambasting the New Deal. He had few personal hatreds and boasted a national following more widespread than Al Smith, whose appeal was racially and geographically limited.

 When Calvin Coolidge was named as Warren Harding's running-mate, it was humorously reported that his "luck" led Mr. Harding to dole his life insurance policies. Mr. Ritchie's totally unexpected demise has precipitated suggestions that certain anti-New Dealers should watch their health—and see their doctors.

TREASURE: Informed financial circles hint that something big is on the fire in administration offices. It has to do with plans regarding the European war debts which will be a step towards the balancing of the national budget.
 Banking interests say that President Roosevelt feels certain of being reelected this year. And just as he pulled his initial big play in recognizing Soviet Russia during his first term—to help American exports—he is expected to force a move to settle defaulted war debts. It is because of this possibility that the leading banks of our country have kept the greatest part of their funds invested in government bond issues.
 The news and views may be far premature but it is expected to take place. As if and when this is done it will lead to balancing the national budget. Collection of billions of dollars from defaulting nations would help reduce the deficit of the United States government. It is also pointed out that when world currencies are stabilized the $2-000,000,000 in ear-marked gold for the stabilization fund will not be necessary. And this too would be used for a reduction of the public debt. No further dollar reduction or inflationary money moves are anticipated.

SETTLEMENT: It's doped out this way. While at the Nye munition investigation Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan and Company testified that a way can be found to collect on defaulted war debts. He said: "If we'd rather have half a loaf than no bread at all I think we might reach a satisfactory agreement with our oblig-

 He looked at them both, up at the broken skylight, then shrugging his shoulders he left the room.
 "Quick, Badger."
 Badger crawled out from under the bed. He had a pocket-knife and with its aid he soon cut the other two free.
 "That's better," said Bobby, stretching himself. "Whew! I'm stiff. Well, Frankie? What about our friend Nicholson?"
 "You're right," said Frankie. "It's Roger Bassington-French. Now that I know he's Roger playing the part of Nicholson, I can see it. But it's a pretty good performance all the same."

ters." The opinion is that Mr. Lamont's views started something in the way towards that direction.
 International banking houses know that Great Britain is in a position to settle its war debt. The word is that the British government is really anxious to do so. The fact that Greece has asked if we will settle on a partial payment is giving the United States a stick with which to handle the situation since Greece is sponsored by British money. But the British people say that United States must star the war debt talk movement.
 To top it off, Secretary of State Hull recently admitted that he has discussed world trade matters with Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador to Washington. It is factual belief that no trade agreements can or will be reached until a world stabilization of currencies is arranged. And that will not be done until the war debt problem is settled once and for all.
 Moreover informed quarters are certain that the devaluation of the American dollar was a trick to lend a helping hand towards this goal. Foreign nations can pay in American dollars on practically a 50 per cent basis at present rates of foreign exchange. They can purchase the dollar with their currency at that concession.

FAVORED: Political insiders disclose that Senator Borah isn't really anxious to be nominated by the Republican party. It is pointed out that he realizes his age is against him. But he has his hat in the ring for a definite purpose: He wants to stop the Hoover control of the party platform.
 Borah is a liberal. He insists that the Republicans have a chance only if they will break away from the "old order." He is anxious to see that Hoover's policies are thrown out the window when the planks of the party are laid in the platform.
 He doesn't like Landon, Fish, Hoover, Knox or any of the others now being "window dressed." According to those who are informed he does like Vandenberg and Glenn Frank. The college professor is said to be his favorite. Borah likes his liberal views.

SPECULATION: When Securities Exchange Commission Chairman Landis stated last week that it would be futile for the government to try and stop speculation he told only half the story. The Chairman has something definite in mind. But there isn't anyone in the SEC offices who is willing to confirm the information obtained by your correspondent.

 Informed opinion in the financial district predicts that the SEC will make a strong effort to stop wild speculation. The story is that the Commission's investigators are to go after professional floor traders. The way that will be done—if it ever starts—is by checking on the daily transactions of these floor traders and then find out whether their accounts in brokers' offices were properly margined.
 It is hinted that this movement will start real soon. It is expected too that many cases will be found where margins have not been sufficient. Those brokers who have been carrying such accounts will be publicly reprimanded. Should this really happen it will bring about a sharp decline in the daily turnover of stock as floor brokers are known to do about one-third of the day's volume of business. A reduced trading volume would reduce the public's desire for speculation.

The Greenville quint will face either Lafayette of Jamesville, at 8 o'clock tonight, and victorious in that game, will play in the semi-finals tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock. The final game will be played tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Pearce, with 15 points, set the pace for the Greensies, but Lautares with 14 points, was close on his heels. Jones scored 12 points to lead the Walstonburg team.

Greenville got off to a good start and had little difficulty in defeating their opponents. By the end of the half, the winners had piled up a 14 to 4 lead.

Christian College high school basketball tournament, with a field goal early in the play. The Greensies started off fast and after the first few minutes of play they showed superior play over the Bailey quint, defeating them 45-2.

Gaylord and Rountree then made a field goal each to bring the Greensies into an 8-0 lead. Parrish made a field goal for the Greenville quint. Simpson then made a successful free throw. Finch then made Bailey's first goal from the field to put the score at 11-2 and in the process was slightly injured by being struck in the mouth. Gaylord then made a field goal for the Greensies, and then repeated immediately afterwards.

Greenville led at the half 15-2. Simpson of Greenville, started the story in the second half with a field goal, and Pearce duplicated the feat for the Greensies. # CONTRACT FOR PARKWAY ROAD

Connecting Link Will Probably Be Started Soon

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Feb. 28.—The new Blue Ridge Parkway, which will connect the Shenandoah National Park and the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in western North Carolina, is now under contract or under construction in this state from the point where it crosses the Virginia line, in Allegheny county, all the way to Deep Gap in Watauga county, only about ten miles from Blowing Rock. R. Getty Browning, chief locating engineer for the State Highway and Public Works Commission, said today.

The contract on this last link between Deep Gap and Blowing Rock will probably be let in the very near future with the result that actual construction work will be gotten under way on this entire first sector from the Virginia line to Blowing Rock by late spring or early summer, Browning said. This sector of the highway is between 50 and 60 miles in length.

A second sector of the parkway on which contracts will be let early this spring, is that portion extending from Buck Creek Gap, on N. C. Route 104, to Asheville by way of Mt. Mitchell and the Craggies, the engineer indicated. The surveys on this sector have been completed and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads is now said to be waiting only for better weather, to permit contractors to go over the route, before advertising for bids. Browning is hopeful that actual construction work can be gotten under way along the entire 30 miles of this sector from Buck Creek Gap to the conjunction of the parkway with the state highway system north of Asheville. It is understood that negotiations are now under way with the owners of both the toll roads to Mt. Mitchell to permit the contractors to use these roads in getting their equipment and supplies up to the parkway route, so that construction work can be started in the middle as well as at both ends.

Indications likewise are that contracts will be let and construction started on a third segment of the parkway, extending from Blowing Rock to near Linville, then on over to Linville Falls and Little Switzerland and Buck Creek Gap this spring or summer, but not until these other segments are under contract and work started. Browning said.

GIANTS GET ORDERS TO BRING HOME THE BACON

Nosed out of the National League pennant the past two seasons, Manager Bill Terry (in civilian clothes at right) of the New York Giants gathered his pitching staff around him at the spring training camp in Pensacola, Fla., and makes it plain he expects them to have the pennant flag flying over the Polo grounds next year. Listening, left to right, are: Fred Marberry, Frank Gahler, Richard Coffman, Carl Hubbell, Harry Gumbert, Al Smith, Llydell Castelman and Fred Fitzsimmons. (Associated Press Photo)

The best advice I ever gave you
Change to MINT SPRINGS

AND KEEP THE CHANGE

Glenmore's Mint Springs is the great, outstanding value leader among good whiskeys today. The grains and the methods used in distilling it are exactly the same as those used in the very finest of all American whiskeys.

Fiddlesticks

You're a funny talking man to be selling cigarettes. You talk like they are cure-alls.

I've known this for a long time... cigarettes cause no ills and cure no ailments.

You mean ALL cigarettes... Yes, at some time or other I have just about tried them all and what I say goes for all of them.

Seriously... There is probably only one man on earth who would believe it if we told you that a cigarette would cure what ails you.

On the other hand... There are millions of smokers who will testify, without publicity, as to the pleasure and enjoyment which they get from smoking a good cigarette.
