Ethiopia Sends Demand That League Apply All Sanctions Against Duce

Mussolini Seeks To Negotiate Peace in Own Way

AFRICA REFERS TO ARTICLE 16

Section Provides That Effective Force Be Applied by Nations to Aggressor

Geneva, April 16.—(AP)—Ethiopia demanded tonight that the League of Nations immediately invoke all sanctions at its command—including military forces—against Italy, whose legions already are reported advancing on the road to Addis Ababa.

The Ethiopian demand arrived within a few hours of an apparently authoritative report that Premier Mussolini was willing to make peace with the African empire only on the terms of victor and vanquished—with the League of Nations staying out of the picture.

Ethiopia declared II Duce had proved himself unwilling to act within the framework of the League and therefore asked the application of all sanctions provided for in Article 16 of the League covenant.

This article specifies that an aggressor resorting to war in violation of the covenant "shall incur all the consequences that may follow from an act of war against all other members of the League."

It provides besides economic and financial sanctions for "an effective military, naval or air force" which shall be contributed by the other members for the protection of the covenant.

(Copyright by Associated Press) Geneva, April 16.—(AP)—Italy was described by an authoritative source today as demanding the right to conduct direct negotiations with Ethiopia for peace without any interference by the League of Nations.

According to this source, an intimate contact with the league, the Italian government demands that direct negotiations for the eventual establishment of a military armistice be conducted as between victor and vanquished.

Such an armistice, it was said, might be followed by a peace conference at some mutual point such as Lausanne.

It was stated that Premier Mussolini asked that Italian security, in case he begins negotiations for an armistice, be guaranteed.

British foreign secretary, Anthony Eden arrived for a meeting of the League of Nations conciliation committee of 13, intent on determining whether Italy was disposed to make an early armistice and reasonable peace.

Informed sources said Eden would insist that Premier Mussolini disclose his terms for east African peace and engage in conciliation negotiations without delay.

Solicitor Clark Is Still Attempting To Clear Docket

Much Headway Made During Present Term of Court With Number of Cases Being Disposed Of

Continuing efforts to clear some of the names from the criminal docket of Pitt county, Solicitor D. M. Clark today and yesterday afternoon disposed of a number of cases.

He ordered a nol pro with leave cases, including the following: Wyatt Pollard, trespass; Lee Manning, breaking and entering; and S. M. Dennis, assault.

Jack Wainwright entered a plea of guilty to breaking and entering and was sentenced to six months on the roads.

Henry Lilly was convicted of assault with a deadly weapon, an automobile, and careless and reckless driving and was given a six-months' road sentence on each.

R. P. Collier was convicted of plumbing without a license, but prayer for judgment was continued.

Lonnie Mills entered a plea of guilty to driving drunk and was given a two year sentence upon payment of a $50 fine and costs of court. His driver's license was revoked for 12 months.

FASCIST PUSH NEAR CAPITAL

Flying Column Speeds from Dessye To Addis Ababa

(Copyright by Associated Press) Rome, April 16.—(AP)—A flying column composed of hundreds of trucks, flanked by tanks and watched over by planes, sped from Dessye toward Addis Ababa today, Italian press dispatches said.

The mechanized fascist forces will reach Ethiopia's capital within three days, the Italian advised said. At the same time another column may move southeast and overtake Ras Nasibu's troops at Harar, second city of Ethiopia, from the rear.

Reports that the 174 miles from Dessye to Addis Ababa could be covered in less than three days, came while Italians at home unfurled victory flags in celebration of yesterday's occupation of Dessye, confident that the east African legions were on their way to completion of their Ethiopian conquest.

The war, dispatches from Italian headquarters said, had changed completely from its previous aspects on the northern front.

Italian correspondents described 100 trucks loaded with cheering rifle-swinging soldiers passing through Dessye, escorted by tanks on their way to Emperor Haile Selassie's capital.

Pathologist Says Sunlight Is Vital To Tobacco Plants

One of Main Factors in Protecting Plants in Seed Beds From Attacks of Blue Mold

Raleigh, April 16.—Sunlight is a vital factor in protecting plants in tobacco seed beds from the attacks of blue mold, said Dr. R. P. Poole, plant pathologist for the Experiment Station at State College.

On warm, sunny days, he said, growers should roll back the canopies from their tobacco beds and let the sun shine directly on the young plants.

The canopies should be placed back over the beds in the late afternoon when the sun begins to set and the temperature falls, he added.

Light applications of quick-acting nitrogen often hasten recovery from blue mold, he pointed out, but care should be exercised not to get any of the nitrogen on the leaves of the young plants.

Dr. Poole also warned growers against carrying the fungus that causes blue mold on their hands or clothing from infected to non-infected beds.

Spraying for the control of this disease is not recommended, for at present no spray is known that would effectively control the fungi.

Dr. Poole, who has just returned from a trip into eastern North Carolina, said the rapid spread of blue mold has reached serious proportions, but there is still time to check it to a considerable extent.

When growers can start the recommended control measures in time to keep the disease from killing their plants, he urged them not to transplant the young plants from the beds to the fields until they have completely recovered from the disease.

National Guard Plans for Annual Inspection

The local unit of the National Guard will observe annual inspection tomorrow night when a number of army officers will be here to take part in the event.

J. H. Waldrop is commander of the unit, Battery A, 113th Field Artillery, and it is considered one of the best in the state.

New uniforms and boots have just been received and the members of the unit will be dressed in their new clothing for the inspection.

Kansas crop area will be increased 1,311,000 acres over 1935, H. L. Collins, federal statistician estimates.

PROTEST MADE OF EXECUTION

Mother of Five Executed in England for Poison Murder

Birmingham, Eng. April 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Waddingham, 34-year-old mother of five children, died on the gallows of the Winslow Green prison today while police guarded the approaches against a demonstration in protest at "this disgrace."

Mrs. Violet Van Der Elst, energetic campaign against capital punishment, organized the demonstration, broadcasting appeals to a crowd of 2,000 to attempt to prevent the hanging.

The throng looked on quietly however, some smiling at Mrs. Van Der Elst's exhortation, some praying for Mrs. Waddingham, while the convicted poison slayer of a patient in her Nottingham nursing home died within the prison.

Kink Edward himself was the only one who could have saved the woman from the gallows by granting a last minute reprieve after Home Secretary Sir John Simon denied appeals for clemency.

A wave of protest throughout Britain over the hanging of the mother of five children, including a six-month-old baby, was countered by press statements terming the poison death of the patient, Mrs. Louisa Baguley, a flagrant offense.

Mrs. Waddingham was accused, but not convicted of the death of Mrs. Baguley's aged mother.

The state charged that Mrs. Waddingham poisoned her bed-ridden patient to obtain the 1,600 pounds (about $8,000) legacy which Mrs. Baguley had willed to her nurse.

Liquor-Laden Car Hits Small Coupe Then Flees Scene

Highway Patrolmen Investigate Hit-and-Run Wreck Near Bethel Last Night

State highway patrolmen were continuing their investigation today of a hit-and-run wreck last night about 7:30 o'clock on the Bethel highway, about four miles from that city.

Corporal L. L. Jackson said that a Cadillac sedan ran into a Ford coupe driven by John J. Pitt, negro, of Bethel, Route No. 1. He said the big sedan was loaded with liquor and that part of the cargo was lost when the machine struck the small coupe. Pitt was not injured and went to summon patrol officers.

According to Corporal Jackson, the sedan struck the coupe and the compact threw part of the liquor from the machine but the driver of the liquor-laden car made his get-away before officers could be summoned.

The highway patrolman said he had hopes of identifying the driver of the car and arresting him.

HIGH OFFICIALS AMONG GUESTS

Roosevelt Pledges Renewed Federal Efforts to Conserve Natural Resources

Washington, April 16.—(AP)—The corner-stone of the new $12,000,000 Interior Department building was laid today by President Roosevelt who pledged renewed federal efforts to conserve the nation's natural resources.

"As I view this serviceable new structure," the President said, "I like to think of it as symbolical of the nation's vast resources that we are sworn to protect and this stone that I am about to lay as the cornerstone of a conservation policy that will guarantee to future Americans the richness of their heritage."

Secretary Ickes, summarizing efforts to prevent waste of natural resources on both private lands and the public domain, called his chief "the greatest conservationist in American history."

Members of the cabinet and other officials looked on as the President, using the trowel with which George Washington laid the cornerstone of the capital building in 1793, sealed within the foundations stone of the constitution, huge new structure, an American flag, a bible, a pamphlet on the bronze medallion of Ickes and records showing present activities of the interior department.

Ickes traced the history of the department from its creation in 1849, then appealed to congress to change its name to that of the "observation department" and thus "revert the policy of exploitation that has existed before."

J. Vance Perkins States Candidacy For Pitt Treasurer

Present Treasurer Was Appointed to Office Upon Resignation From Post of A. T. Moore

J. Vance Perkins today announced his candidacy to the office of Pitt County Treasurer, subject to the action of Democratic primary, June 6th.

Mr. Perkins is a native of Pitt County, and was born and reared at Stokes. He is 34 years old and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Perkins of Stokes.

The candidate graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1924 and received a B. S. Commerce Degree.

Mr. Perkins entered a six-cornered race for the office of treasurer in the primary, June 1934 and received the second largest number of votes. Upon the resignation of A. J. Moore, he was appointed treasurer and took over the office on December 29, 1934.

He is seeking a second term of office.

Little Son S. L. Boyd Buried Near Gr'nville

Bobby Jane, 14 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Boyd of the cotton mill village, died yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock in Pitt Community hospital, from pneumonia.

Funeral services were conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home by Rev. P. G. Pomeroy, burial followed in the Elks Graveyard near Greenville.

Besides the parents, five brothers and sisters survive.

R. T. Fountain SPEAKER HERE

Candidate for U. S. Senate Scores Senator Bailey

R. T. Fountain of Rocky Mount, candidate for United States senator from North Carolina, today called on Senator Josiah W. Bailey to answer the question of why he has not found time to push tobacco compact legislation, while at the same time "he has found time to represent the power trusts."

Mr. Fountain spoke to a group of citizens in the court house at 2 o'clock.

"I had all Democratic Senators and Representatives in congress voted against the farm relief bill of 1933, the Bankhead Cotton Control Act of 1934 and other Roosevelt recovery measures as did Senator Josiah W. Bailey, the country would still be in the throes of the worst depression in history," declared the Lieut. Governor.

"There are signs in every direction of a rapidly returning prosperity," declared Mr. Fountain. "The present conditions are the result of the untiring efforts of President Roosevelt, backed by loyal Democrats." (Continued on page six)

Claude E. Sutton, 55, Is Claimed By Death

Claude S. Sutton, 55, died last night at 12 o'clock at his home near Veners Cross Roads in this county following three days' illness with pneumonia.

Funeral services were conducted this afternoon from the late home by Rev. Warren Boyd, Free Will Baptist minister. Burial followed in the Sutton cemetery near Black Jack.

He was a member of Black Jack Free Will Baptist church.

Surviving are his wife, three sons, Scott, Will and Ollie Sutton; three daughters, Mrs. Leroy Stocks, Misses Ada and Bettie Sutton and a brother, Tom C. Sutton.

For every dollar paid out in taxes in Chicago in 1934 24 cents was spent for education.

Committeemen coincidentally studied methods of getting funds denied by the house for its legal battles. One committeeman said there were "numerous ways" of getting money for fighting injunction proceedings brought by William Randolph Hearst, even though the house refused yesterday a $10,000 allotment.

"We are going to have a meeting this afternoon," Black told reporters.

Schwellenback, who has assailed Hearst on the senate floor, suggested an amendment might be added to an appropriations bill, and contended the house rebuff would have "no effect whatsoever" on the committee's activities.

Washington, April 16.—(AP)—The house today passed the Senate bill extending the life of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation for two years from July 1, 1936. It now goes to the White House.

PITT FARMERS MAKING PLANS RALEIGH TREK

To Lay Demands For Session Before Governor Tuesday

AT LEAST 5,000 EXPECTED TO GO

Other Eastern Counties Also Showing Enthusiasm Over Planned Trip

Plans went forward here today for a march on Raleigh next Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at which time the Pitt Farm Bureau Federation will endeavor to influence Governor Ehringhaus to call an immediate session of the legislature to consider tobacco compact legislation.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon of some 500 Pitt farmers, it was decided to go to Raleigh, meeting at the stadium of N. C. State college. Leaders of the movement said that if the governor did not attend the meeting they would march to the capitol and lay their demands before the chief executive.

J. E. Winslow, president of the local organization, said today he expected no less than 5,000 from this county to attend the rally. He added that efforts were being made to have at least 1,000 cars from the county to go to the capital city.

The transportation committee is composed of W. H. Dail, Jr., J. H. Blount and J. P. Davenport, and anyone having a car which can be used to make the trip has been asked to get in touch with one of the members. It was explained that a person would be denied the opportunity to attend the meeting because of lack of transportation.

It is the aim of the committee to meet at some central place in the county and leave in a body. Farmers wishing to attend and having no means of travel will be asked to meet at the designated place and transportation will be provided, leaders said.

Mr. Winslow said today that farmers in several other counties were showing as much enthusiasm as those in Pitt. He especially pointed out Nash, Wilson, Edgecombe, and Craven and said he had been informed large delegations from each of them would join the trek to Raleigh to lay their demands before the governor.

Decision to make the march on Raleigh was reached by an unanimous vote of the Pitt Farm Bureau after a number of speakers had pointed out the necessity of immediate action to save the 1936 crop from selling at prices which would not provide a living wage.

Mr. Winslow was authorized to appoint a committee-at-large to meet in Raleigh tomorrow to lay plans for the meeting next week. He said today he had wired each member of the state tobacco advisory committee, the organization committee of the North Carolina Farm Bureau and several other farm leaders throughout the state to serve.

It was pointed out that it was not strictly a Pitt county affair, but the entire state would be asked to join in the movement. Leading farmers in every county in the state are being advised of the meeting and asked to make arrangements for a large delegation to attend their communities.

A telegram also was sent to Governor Ehringhaus advising him of the action taken here yesterday and urging him to attend.

Efforts were being made here to (Continued on page six)

Group Of Newspapers Begin Statewide Poll Of Gubernatorial Race

PLEASE VOTE

If you receive one of The Reflector Gubernatorial poll ballots be sure that you vote. Naturally you want your candidate to lead but if you fail to vote he may run behind.

Only one out of every twelve voters in the five counties being covered by The Reflector will receive one of these ballots. Your vote will represent a cross-section vote of twelve persons so if you fail to vote the poll will not be complete. If you receive one of the ballots, don't lay it aside. Mark your preference and put the ballot right back in the mails. It is absolutely a secret ballot and no one will know how you voted.

REVEALS PLOT OF KIDNAPING

Threats Against Children of Belgium King Are Made

Brussels, April 16.—(AP)—A threat to kidnap the motherless children of King Leopold of Belgium was disclosed today with the arrest at Liege, eastern Belgium, of a 31-year-old former convict, Nicholas Elsin.

Police of the city of Liege said the arrested man confessed to writing letters to the king threatening to abduct the royal children, whose mother, Queen Astrid, was killed in an automobile accident, unless money was left in woods near the border city.

The writer was finally traced, the police said, through a reference in one letter to the fact that the person threatening the kidnaping was a former convict.

King Leopold's children, who had been closely guarded in recent weeks during the investigation of the threat, left for a seaside holiday soon after Elsin was arrested.

With more than half a million names on the registration books one can readily see that this is the most comprehensive, most accurate poll ever attempted outside of an actual election. In fact, so comprehensive will be this poll that it will actually name the winner well in advance of the primary.

Will the voters choose Alexander Hawkir's Graham, Hillsboro lawyer, World war veteran and lieutenant governor as their next governor? or will they select the long-haired, frock-coated Shelby entry, the Hon. Clyde R. Hoey? Is the demand for a new deal in state politics great enough to elect a political novice, Ralph W. McDonald of Winston-Salem? or, will they reject all three and choose instead Scotch-side John A. McRae, the Charlotte entry, who last week named himself as the state's No. 1 man read later?

Ballots mailed today totalled 20 per cent of the total number of ballots to be mailed in this poll. Next Thursday another 20 per cent will be mailed, and each Thursday thereafter 20 per cent will be mailed until all the ballots have been placed in the hands of the voters.

The total number of ballots to be used in this poll will aggregate eight and one-third per cent of the total registration. However, because the total vote is expected to approximate only two-thirds of the registration, the ballots used in this poll will cover approximately twelve and one-half per cent of the voters who will participate in the primary on June 6.

The first results in this state-wide pre-primary poll will be published in The Daily Reflector Thursday. (Continued on page six)

Blunt Refusal Of Witness To Testify Halts Proceedings

Lobby Committee Decides To Meet To Consider Bringing Contempt Charges Against Witness

Washington, April 16.—(AP)—Blunt refusal of a witness to answer questions today abruptly halted a senate lobby committee hearing and raised the possibility of contempt proceedings.

Committee said they would meet this afternoon to decide whether to fight the witness—Kurt Grunwald, organizer for the farmers independent council—for contempt.

"I don't want to get anyone in trouble," Grunwald said, when asked whom he had contacted for his anti-AAA organization.

"Would you get anybody in trouble?" asked Chairman Black (D. Ala.).

"I'd be a damn fool to give the names. You bet your boots I'd get them in trouble under this new deal."

Five Eastern Counties Assigned to Daily Reflector

IMPARTIAL VOTE IS BEING SOUGHT

Straw Vote to be Conducted on Most Extensive Scale of Any Ever In State

By C. A. PAUL
Who will be the Democratic nominee for Governor of North Carolina this year? Who will be the top man of the four candidates in the first primary on June 6? Who will enter the second primary if a second vote is necessary?

For the purpose of answering these questions The Daily Reflector and 19 cooperating newspapers announce today the inauguration of the most thorough, scientific straw vote ever attempted anywhere at any time.

This afternoon thousands of ballots have been placed in the mails, addressed to registered Democratic voters in North Carolina. These ballots will go into each of the 100 counties and into every precinct. Last week The Daily Reflector and associated newspapers went directly to the registration books in the entire state and addressed ballots to every 12th Democrat registered. This is the first time that names of actual voters have been used in a straw vote. Every registration book whether for the most exclusive residential district or for the city slums, was used in securing names of voters who will state their choice in this poll. With mathematical certainty, with the deadly accuracy of machine-like precision, every 12th name was selected.

Will the voters choose Alexander Hawkir's Graham, Hillsboro lawyer, World war veteran and lieutenant governor as their next governor? or will they select the long-haired, frock-coated Shelby entry, the Hon. Clyde R. Hoey? Is the demand for a new deal in state politics great enough to elect a political novice, Ralph W. ## Now Is Time To Take Diphtheria Vaccination

Spring and early summer is the time when children who are not known to be protected against diphtheria should be given immunization treatment. This is the advice of the Division of Preventive Medicine of the State Board of Health, in one of its recent bulletins.

The reason given is that the greatest number of cases occur in the fall months, usually reaching the peak in October and November, and that it takes from one to four months, probably longer, to establish immunity after the treatment is given. In other words, children who are going to enter school next year and who have not already been vaccinated against diphtheria should be vaccinated this spring to allow time for the protective substance to develop.

Golden Rain

Iris Lanning, from small town Fern, Pa., is a great success in New York and on Long Island with the proper people. She is about to make the Junior League and she is an honored performer at old Mrs. Morgan's annual charity concert. The only thing is that she takes especially at her face voice, including her climbing Aunt Phina. She believes Allan Beckley is really to help with her, but she discards the beauty of Georgia Blair, a very generous and beautiful young woman.

Chapter 36
SCENE

AS the days went on, Iris thought she saw a difference in Owen toward Camilla; a growing friendliness, at least.

The afternoon dress rehearsal for the Anna Lispeard Concert—revue—was nearly as important as the actual thing. In some ways, indeed, more so, for attendance was by invitation. Iris had become used enough to it to forget its connotations. She was recalled to all it meant to Phina by seeing her sweep down the stairs.

When Phina said, taking a long cape from Honora, "This means social acceptance, Iris, I hope you realize it. I'm proud of you, dear," she only smiled.

Honora, behind them, spoke quietly.

"Only the love of God and the will to do well count, Miss Phina."

"I don't know why I keep you, Honora," Phina said sharply.

Honora smiled. "Who would you have to cry on, aushla?" she said unperturbed, and smoothed the cape around her mistress's shoulders.

Iris knew by now how to get into her rose and black 1870 Worth costume and the others, by herself. She was standing before the glass at the hall, adjusting the quaint small hat with its bright rose and black velvet streamers, Camilla watching her from a chair against the wall, when someone knocked at the door and entered without waiting for a word.

"I've brought Miss Mary Dorrien, the cousin of a friend of mine, to meet you," Georgia said silkily, pulling forward a thin timid-looking elderly lady in dowdy black. "This is Josephine Ross's niece, Miss Dorrien."

Miss Dorrien appeared still more frightened, and murmured something.

"I've sent for Mrs. Morgan," Georgia pursued.

"Georgia—Georgia, my dear—the unhappy Miss Dorrien tried to leave, with a bleated excuse. But the door opened again and Mrs. Morgan, weary and disheveled, with Allan behind her in the white satin of his chorus number, appeared.

"What can I do for you, Georgia?" she asked, none too cordially. "Please be quick; I want to get back to the committee. . . . Ah, Mrs. Back from France?"

"I brought her up here," said Georgia, getting between the poor hurried lady and the door, "because she remembers the two Ross girls and their cousin Honora McGrath, when they came over from Ireland in the steamer thirty years ago. Honora was old Mrs. George Dorrien's housemaid and Josephine was her sewing-maid. Jean, Iris's mother, had a seamstress' position at first with some other family—I think it was the Goelets—and then went out sewing by the day. As you prefer to believe Iris Lanning's unsupported word about her mother's phony Southern ancestors, to mine, I had to wait till I could catch a witness. I suppose you'll believe Cousin Mary Dorrien."

"Georgia, now, Georgia," gasped poor Miss Mary. "It isn't a disgrace to have earned an honest living. They were sweet good girls."

IRIS stood for the moment frozen to silence by all this. As Georgia said, who would believe the fact that nobody ever had told her; that she had never even known about Phina and Owen's existence until this year?

Courage from somewhere came up to carry her. She faced Mrs. Morgan's unmoved waiting eyes, Allan's watching face under the white Colonial wig.

"It is true that I didn't know who and what my mother was. My father's people never told me, even, that I had a brother and an aunt over here, I can't expect you to take my word, a stranger among you. But I give it to you."

And still Allan stood facing her, smiling a little, silent, away from her. Allan, who had said softly, "When are you going to make me happy?"—Allan, who had singled her out, who was her lover.

But as she stood there in her rose and black 1870 frock, feeling more outcast and betrayed than she had known anyone could feel, Camilla's strong arm came around her waist, Camilla's steady voice spoke,

"Mrs. Morgan, do you want proof?"

The old lady spoke for the first time. "Under the circumstances, I have to ask for it. I disapprove of Miss Blair's methods, but she is right."

"Iris, think. You can find someone to witness that you didn't know about all this. The uncle and aunt who didn't tell you. Could you get them here before the concert tonight?"

She raised her head. "I can do better than that. There's a man who boards with my uncle, Mr. Black. He knows I thought I had no mother and brother when he came. He was up in the attic helping me open a trunk; he heard my aunt, Miss Lanning, telling me about it when I found the things inside. Though, naturally, after this I shall withdraw my name from the League and not sing in the concert."

Camilla held her fast. "Not you. You'll go through with it."

"Naturally you'd stand up for her, you fool," said Georgia furiously. "She did a good job for you. She managed it so Owen broke with that Silverwheel girl he is in love with yet, and flung him into your hands on the rebound."

THE arm Camilla had around Iris quivered, but Camilla spoke on steadily.

"Iris doesn't scheme. If that's true—I suppose you mean the girl he brought to Allan's party—it's my fault for showing him so plainly I cared. And I will deal with it later."

Georgia went on more shrilly. "As for the rest of it, Iris's act as an ingénue, ask Allan about that! Iris could go off to the Château with him and get back at ten in the morning, and it was just one of her sweet old-world ways."

"My dear Georgia," said Allan, "you really have a rather dreadful temper. If you force me to frankness, that was why I rather shied off from our delightful friendship."

He lifted an amused eyebrow at Iris, wooing her to share the joke with him. "I have never really cared whether Iris was a talented ingénue, or Madame Phina's right bower in what I agree with you is a magnificent climbing campaign. She simply seemed to me the least boring person I ever met, and I admit it grew on me."

"You gave us both to understand you wanted to marry us," said Georgia uncompromisingly.

"And you feel, as usual," said Mrs. Morgan, "that there is no wrong or right, and why should people bother Allan Beckley? Have you nothing more to say for Iris than that?"

"There's nothing more he needs to say!" Iris said stonily. She pushed away Allan's outstretched, lace-ruffled hand. "I can defend myself. I supposed the whole party was going to the Château. The differential broke. We waited a long time for the rest. Finally I made Allan hire a car and take me home. His attitude was that I was a little pride. I thought I was able to deal with a world I'd never lived in, and I was wrong. That's all, Mrs. Morgan."

"If you have told the truth about one thing you have about all," said Mrs. Morgan. "Now go on with the rehearsal. As Camilla says, you must go through with it. Camilla can get in touch with your friends for you. If Mr. Black doesn't turn up, we will simply cut your act. Otherwise you will perform. Come, Camilla."

The old lady turned and went out, followed by the other girls. Allan lingered, both hands out, smiling at Iris.

"Iris, darling child!" Someone called down the corridor. "Miss Lanning! Miss Lanning's act!"

"It's my act," she said to Allan, as she would have to an acquaintance.

"Iris, darling—Iris, you don't understand."

"I do—for the first time," she said. She put him aside and went out to the corridor, and swiftly on the stage in all her coquettish finery. The music played for her. But all she could hear, as she began to smile and sing, was Sigrid Swenson's high sharp voice saying, "Trouble? You don't know what trouble is; you won't till a man lets you down."

The twenty minutes Iris was on seemed forever. Finally she got off. Camilla, steady as old Time, waited for her.

"I got Mr. Black," she said. "I thought it would save time."

HIGHS LOSE IN NINTH INNING

Raleigh Team Gains 11-10 Victory Over Greenies

A little misunderstanding and the resultant mixup brought the winning run to Raleigh in an Eastern Class A High School Conference game with Greenville in Raleigh yesterday.

The Greenies rallied for one run in the ninth to get a 10-all tie, after Raleigh had scored four in the eighth. But the home team came back with the tally needed to bring an 11-10 decision.

With two-out in the ninth, Raleigh had runners on first and third, Bruno Mangum was on third, J. W. Mitchem was on first. Mitchem stole second. A bit later, Umpire Bill Clarkson took a look around the infield to survey things—and Mitchem got the idea that the umpire was waving him back to first base. He walked off second base and Pitcher Downing of the Greenies tossed to Second-Sacker Pearce—and while this was going on, Mangum streaked for home. He beat the throw to the plate.

That tally settled a slugfest in which the Greenies outthit the locals 12 to 10.

SPORT SLANTS

Lawson Little, the "professional rookie," will soon realize—if he has not already done so after the recent Masters Tournament, when he finished well out of the money and 15 strokes behind Horton Smith, the winner—that all is not "beer and skittles" in the pro ranks. Money earned in the winter gold tournaments is hard-earned money. It is doubtful if more than a few of the competing golfers earn their actual expenses.

On numerous occasions of late Gene Sarazen has complained of the "chicken feed" a golfer picks up on winter tours. Other leading club-swingers squawk that the pickings are lean—and the living expenses high.

Orville White, the veteran St. Louis pro, tried the noble experiment of making the winter tournaments pay his way. He started out with less than $50 in his pockets. He managed to scrape his way through from town to town with just enough money to keep moving. At one stage he was down to $1.05 but never once did he borrow a cent from his tello wpros, who generously offered to stake him. He arrived at Augusta with just about enough ready cash to see him through the tournament and provide carfare home. And, mind you, there was a golfer who finished with the second best medal average among the golfers who competed in California and Florida tournaments this winter.

And then there is the case of Sam Parks, Jr. Sam startled the golf world by outscoring a great field over the trick Oakmont course to win the 1935 national open crown. The open champion succumbed to the urge and took a fling around the winter golf circuit. His efforts were fruitless, and the sum total of his winnings amounted to $6.25. To make matters worse his failure to win earned him jeers in place of cheers. Yet Sam has taken his ill-fortune with remarkable grace—bad luck has not been able to erase that bright, cheery smile from his face.

Of course, Lawson Little's case is slightly different. He will not Ferbes, Stolen bases: Kelly, Clarke, have to depend on prize monies for Walters, Phillips, Kelly. Sacrifice: Hamilton, Double plays: Zantarus, Pearce to Hatum. Left on bases: batter will take care of that for Library Closed.

Sheppard Memorial Library was closed today and will be closed tomorrow (Friday) due to refinishing the floors.

Literature Department.
Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. J. C. Galloway was hostess to the Literature Department of the Woman's Club.

Mrs. Charles Horne, chairman, presided at the brief business session. Response to roll call was made with interest current events, after which Mrs. J. H. B. Moore talked enthusiastically for some minutes about plans for the Fine Arts Festival to be held at the club house April 18, 19, 20 and 21. As tentative plans take concrete form the forthcoming occasion promises to be an even greater success, both culturally and socially than the one held here in the spring of last year.

Mrs. W. A. Ryan had charge of the program, the subject of which was "Problems of the Movies." In a most able manner Mrs. Ryan engaged in a thought-provoking discourse on her subject, discussing the problems from two points of view that of the problem of the producers and of our own particular problem. She brought out both the good and the bad possibilities of an American industry which each week touches the lives of 80,000,000 people, 28,000,000 of whom are children.

Since the scientifically perfected movie is with us to stay, and since so great a number of our people, including susceptible, impressionable youth is touched and influenced weekly, one can readily see how far-reaching will be the effect upon our civilization.

By demanding good pictures, adopting and retaining an intelligent, discriminative, selective attitude toward pictures we can lift and are lifting the level and the tone of the industry. Inspired always by the profit motive, the producers give us what we are willing to pay to see. In the better kind of movie affording as it does complete recreation and relaxation, there is artistic appeal, the appeal of realism, and tremendous cultural value can be obtained from it.

At the close of the program, Mrs. Galloway, assisted by Mrs. Leon Rives and Mrs. M. L. Wright, served a delectable salad course with an iced drink.

Visitors at this meeting were Mesdames R. V. Keel, Lee Moore, Leon Rives and M. L. Wright.

Social Calendar

THURSDAY
7:30 p. m.—The choir of the Presbyterian Church will meet in the home of Mrs. J. L. Savage for rehearsal.

7:30 p. m.—St. Mary's Auxiliary will meet in the parish house.

FRIDAY
3:00 p. m.—The Benjamin May Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution will meet with Mrs. Travis Hooker. Assisting hostesses, Mrs. E. L. Baker and Miss Eunice McGee.

3:45 p. m.—The Junior Woman's Club will meet in the club building. Hostesses, Mrs. Bert Greene and Mrs. Cleveland Hardee.

Fine Arts Festival.
Among the professional exhibits of paintings which will be shown at the Fine Arts Festival at the Woman's Club Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday will be the following:

"Autumn Scene," by Mrs. J. T. Hughes; "Wild Roses," by Mrs. F. H. Malone; "From My Window," and "Trees on the Trent" by Mrs. J. C. Hood; "The Girl in Green," by Rachel Hatcher.

There will be a number of amateur exhibits, including two oil paintings "Mid-day in Algeria," and "Old Mill at Louisburg," by A. T. Bullock; "Moodettes," a group of water-colors and pen and ink sketches, by William Harris, and other contributions from youthful local talent which, for lack of proper information, cannot be listed here, but mention of which will be made later.

The Kinston Woman's Club has sent a twenty-one piece exhibit of "Little Sculpture" (soap) which is very fine and which will attract quite a bit of attention.

The Chamber of Commerce, acting cooperatively with the Woman's Club in making the event a success, has requested local stores to have especially attractive show windows during the four days of the Festival. The stores have heartily responded in favor of the idea. The program Saturday evening has been arranged to appeal particularly to children of the grammar school age, although it will be interesting and fascinating to adults also who with the children, are cordially invited to attend. At this time Mrs. C. W. Parsons, a very talented local woman, will give a musical reading "There Are Fairies in Our Garden." Mrs. H. C. Haynes will play the accompaniment. Mrs. Parsons will read also "For the Honor of the Family," a very humorous monologue. Dance numbers and music will be additional features of this program.

Louis Bullock, director of the Choral Club, will have charge of the musical program to be given Sunday afternoon. He will bring to Greenville many out of town artists for this occasion.

Monday morning from 8:30 to 10:30, the clubhouse will be open to colored children of the local colored schools in order that they may have the opportunity to view the many fine exhibits. The evening program Monday will be given over entirely to local talent.

One of the most interesting programs of the whole Festival is scheduled for Tuesday morning. At this time Mrs. R. A. McMillan, president of the Raleigh Garden Club, will give a demonstration of the making of pot-pourri (fragrances jars); Mrs. Perrin Gower will give a demonstration of the artistic arrangement of flowers and Lucy Cherry Crisp of Falkland, who has recently published a volume of poetry, will read to the audience a group of her poems.

Singing Class This Evening.
The Singing Class of the Masonic Orphanage at Oxford will give a concert this evening at eight o'clock in the auditorium of the high school.

There are fourteen girls and boys in the class. The program will be featured by songs, recitations and drills in colorful costumes.

For more than fifty years the Singing Class has made annual tours of the state, each year bringing a different group.

The public is urged to attend.

Called To Atlanta.
Mrs. F. V. Johnston left today for Atlanta, Ga., where she was called on account of the serious illness of her son, Lieutenant Franklin V. Johnston, Jr., who is in the hospital at Fort McPherson.

To Attend Collegiate Press.
The editors and business managers of the two student publications of the college, both those of last year and those for next year, will attend the semi-annual meeting of the N. C. Collegiate Press Association which will meet in Raleigh, with Wake Forest as the host college. The Sir Walter Hotel will be the headquarters. The convention will open with a dinner meeting tonight and continue through Saturday morning.

There is an interesting program of address and group conferences, with attractive social features.

Cups will be awarded to the college having the best publications of the year.
The delegates from E. C. T. C. are as follows: From the Tecumseh, the editors, Misses Mary Gorham and Maggie Crumpler, and business managers, Misses Rachel Stone and Beatrice Hammond; from the Teel-

Real Work Reported at Boy Scout Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Greenville District Committee, of the Boy Scouts, was held Tuesday afternoon at a proposed camp site for the District.

The regular business meeting was held under the pines with the men sitting on the ground, that was beautifully carpeted with pine needles. At this meeting many reports showing some real effort on the part of the committees were made. Scouting in the Greenville District of the East Carolina Council is "Marching On."

While the men were holding their meeting each man had a Scout that was preparing supper for him. When the stake and onions began to sizzle upon their rights in the odor of the environment the men voted an adjournment to eat supper with the boys.

The men in attendance were Gilbert R. Combs, Chairman of the District; B. B. Sage, J. H. Waldrop, D. H. Conley, F. C. Harding, Gray V. Smith, E. L. Henderson, K. B. Paer, Wyatt Brown, F. W. Brown, D. J. Whitchard, Jr., John Sigwald, Scout Executive, and Ralph Mozes, Asst. Scout Executive.

Florida CCC Forces at Work in Carolina Should Feel at Home

At work in a 50,000 acre tract of pocomal timberland in northeastern Beaufort County and southeastern Martin County, the Florida enrollees who man CCC Camp P-67, Company 3403, should feel very much at home. The area is not unlike many sections of their native state.

Full schedule of operations for Camp P-67 began on August 10, 1935. The assignment sponsored jointly by the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Department of the U. S. Forest Service consisted of the construction of two fire towers and two trailer sheds, eleven miles of telephone lines and eight-six miles of truck trails. At the present time all work is progressing at the scheduled rate of speed.

The 50,000 acre J. and W. tract of timber lies as an unbroken whole. In 1921 an attempt was made to convert some of the land into farms by digging drainage canals. The effort was abandoned, however, and at present there was

HIGH SCHOOLS PLAN TOURNEY

Track, Field Stars to Compete at Carolina

Chapel Hill, N. C., April 16—North Carolina's scholastic track and field stars, representing approximately 15 high schools throughout the State, will gather here Friday morning and afternoon to compete in the twenty-fourth annual State championship meet.

Competition begins at 10:45 o'clock tomorrow morning with finals in three field events. All finals in the running events will be held in the afternoon at the University of North Carolina's beautiful new track stadium. The afternoon program begins at 2:45 o'clock.

Aspirants for the tennis titles in the twenty-first annual tournament opened competition this morning, with first round opponents in both singles and doubles getting into action. The finals will take place Friday afternoon.

High Point will be favored to retain the team championship in the track meet. However, formidable opposition is expected from Barium Springs, Greensboro, Durham and several others.

Fourteen events are on the colorful program for the scholastic track stars. All the events are the same as last year, with the exception of the low hurdles. The distance has been lowered from 223 yards to 200 yards in accordance with national regulations.

The records at which the 1936 athletes will aim are as follows: 100-yard dash—Wade Leon of Charlotte, 10.1 seconds (1929). 220-yard dash—Frank Sizemore, of High Point, 22.4 seconds (1931). 440-yard run—James Montgomery of High Point, 52.8 seconds (1932).

Half mile run—William Rankin of Wilmington, 2:03.4 minutes (1930).

Mile run—Seamon Hudson of Raleigh, 4:36.4 minutes (1931).

120-yard high hurdles — Tom Hawthorne of Charlotte, 16.2 seconds (1931).

220-yard low hurdles — Eugene Smith of Wilmington, 26 seconds (1930).

12-pound shot put — Luther Williams of Oxford, 47 feet 11 1-2 inches (1928).

High jump — Marion Sams of High Point, 5 feet 9 3-8 inches (1933).

Broad jump — Guy Soule of Charlotte, 22 feet 1 inch (1931).

Pole vault — Norman Hendricks of High Point, 12 feet (1933).

Discus throw — Oscar Mullis of Charlotte, 126 feet 1-2 inch (1930).

Javelin throw — Harold Sutton of Charlotte, 174 feet 3 inches (1932).

One mile relay — Tie between High Point (1931 - Montgomery, Shipman, Sizemore, and Williamson) and Goldsboro (1934—Graham Davis, Porter and James), 3:40.4 minutes.

OUR STRAW VOTE

The state-wide poll begun today by twenty North Carolina newspapers to ascertain the true picture of the political situation as it pertains to the gubernatorial race is in no wise a political move in behalf of any candidate. The plans for conducting the poll were laid by the newspapers after careful consideration and the method of getting the names of the voters to whom the ballots are being mailed was systematic and impartial, the same plan being followed in each of the 100 counties in the state. Realizing that our people are interested in politics at this time, we felt that this poll would be well worthwhile for them from a news standpoint and it was with this in view that the papers undertook the project.

In setting forth to take this state-wide poll the newspapers not only took upon themselves a task of great magnitude but one of great expense also, but if the efforts result in presenting our readers a true picture of the political situation then the effort will have been well worth while.

There is, however, another side of the picture and that is the voter who receives one of the ballots sent out by the newspapers. If the voter is interested enough to co-operate by marking the ballot and placing same in the mails as requested, then the poll will succeed. If, however, he or she receives one of the ballots and fails to return it, then the poll will lack just that much accuracy.

No poll on such an extensive scale has ever been undertaken in this state and now it is up to the voters who receive the ballots as to whether in the future the newspaper will go to the extra trouble and expense in their efforts to give their readers this type of political news and forecast ahead of the time of the actual voting.

If you receive one of these ballots we urge you to fill it out and return it immediately. If our voters will co-operate with us in this effort to take a state-wide poll we promise that as soon as the filing time for county offices closes we will undertake a poll in this county on those races in order that our readers might have the advance dope on county politics as well as the gubernatorial race.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

mittee hears and decides the charges and reports its findings to the Senate.

Though a man's reputation hangs in the balance, the trial has its comic aspects. A score of Senators won their political spurs as small-town prosecutors. They lilt to rise in their pomp and deliver a rattling speech to the gallery jury. But they must content themselves with submitting written questions to the ponderous judicial managers named by the House. They can't rant and rave.

Said one of the Senate's most distinguished members: "This is a hell of a trial. The lawyers haven't hurled any books at each other or exchanged unprintable epithets. The judge hasn't threatened to put the lawyers in jail. And there ain't a sign of sex in it. We'll never make the front pages unless we spring something sensational." That's how the Senate tries a man who has his all at stake—his reputation.

FAVORED: Secretary Wallace has been taking sly digs at the Supreme Court and wealthy processors who upset the original AAA in private correspondence with tobacco and cotton growers.

It seems that many farmers who paid taxes for growing surplus cotton and tobacco have written in to ask if they could get back their money as a result of the Supreme Court's decision outlawing the Kerr-Smith (tobacco) control act, and the Bankhead (cotton) measure. They paid their fines, the court declared the laws unconstitutional and they can't see why they should not recover. Most letters note that the high court allowed processors to recover about $300,000,000 in unpaid or impounded levies.

But to all inquiring farmers Mr. Wallace sends an answer which contains this explanation: "The processors can get their money back under the court's decision, but the farmers can't." The response is admittedly framed to boost PDR's stock at the expense of anybody who tries to sell it short.

ADVICE: French proposal for a United States of Europe and Loyal American suggestions for a new, all-American Monroe Doctrine reached Washington simultaneously with a confidential warning against further dependence upon pacts and alliances as a safeguard against war.

The report on the causes of Europe's war aims and attitude was written by one of Uncle Sam's most acute and experienced observers abroad, although it will never be published. He charged the continent's present mad rush toward conflict to the post-war pious hope that peace and disarmament and protective pacts could eventually make war impossible. Specifically, he blamed idealists in Great Britain and the United States, who persuaded their governments to reduce their armies and navies as an example for the rest of the world. He also criticized French Socialists—particularly the Herriot regime—for this same attitude.

The report asserts that three aggrieved nations—Russia, Germany and Italy—seize upon the pact-making time to rearm and reassert themselves. In short, they took advantage of Franco-British-American idealism or pacifism to stock up for the next war. His advice is for the United States to keep its powder dry and burn up all pacts which tie it to old World conflicts.

New York

By JAMES McMULLIN
PURGE: New York sharps learn of strange political undercurrents in Pennsylvania which may seriously hamper G. O. P. efforts to recapture what used to be one of their safest strongholds. Democrats have had surprising offers of assistance in the coming campaign from important Republican groups—including scattered remnants of the once potent Vore machine.

The point is that ex-governor Gifford Pinchot is planning some sort of a comeback. He has a stronger grip on the state Republican machine than anyone else and is working hard to keep it. Either he or his representatives show up at all party meetings of consequence in the state to watch everything that goes on and check rebellious moves before they can get started.

A large number of Pennsylvania Republicans who have no love for FDR dislike Pinchot still more. They are evidently willing even to help reelect Roosevelt on the basis that another Democratic victory offers the only chance of ridding themselves permanently of Pinchot. This factor should not be overlooked in election appraisals.

PRELUDE: Step by step the foundation for a new left wing party is being erected. The growth of Labor Non Partisan League for Roosevelt is a significant move in that direction. Sidney Hillman's call for labor to unite behind the President is part of a plan to create political solidarity among the workers that will carry over into new political pastures in 1937. Hillman is ahead of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers—one of the most powerful of industrial unions. He works hand in glove with John Lewis of the United Mine Workers in promoting insurgency against the craft union leadership of the Federation of Labor. Both maintain subrosa contacts with the LaFollettes and other left wing political leaders. George Berry—late "coordinator of recovery"—is also very much in the picture. The Non Partisan League should be quite a help to Roosevelt in the key states of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois. But its activity on his behalf can safely be rated only a prelude to political changes of fundamental importance.

LIBERALS: The G. O. P.'s new brain trust fits into the Republican strategic pattern we recently described. The prevailing impression that the professors have been aired to roast the New Deal to a frazzle is not entirely accurate. They will roast it, all right. But it can be predicted with confidence that they will be careful to refrain from burning it to a crisp. Certain features will be pointed out as worth saving—of course with constructive Republican modifications. The professors' findings will be used for the double purpose of pointing out Mr. Roosevelt's mistakes and assuring borderline voters that the G. O. P.'s isn't nearly as reactionary as advertised.

Astute New Yorkers point out that analysis of the brain trust's personnel confirms this. O. G.

Countess Describes Suspect in Slaying

Saxon—head of the group—is a safe and sane conservative, but at least two of his associates can reasonably be suspected of liberalism.

TOES: The administration's new farm benefit program is remarkably well entrenched against political assaults. Secretary Wallace took pains to get the collaboration of farm group leaders in working out the plan. Nearly all of them are Republicans, so it's difficult for the G. O. P. to indulge in partisan criticism. The Republicans had a chance to sew up the farm organizations by framing an agricultural program of their own and enlisting farm group support for it—but they passed it up.

In New York state, however, the G. O. P. is on its toes. For the first time in years Republican leaders of the Senate and Assembly recently held a conference with representatives of state agricultural organizations to map future farm legislation. Governor Lehman helped this along by his indifference to farm group proposals. But at least the New York Republicans didn't wait for opportunity to knock twice.

GRATEFUL: The New York State Banking Department—having exasperated the banks under its jurisdiction by demanding an extra condition statement—now pours oil on the troubled waters.

It has recommended—and the legislature is considering—a new law which would authorize the Superintendent of Banks to synchronize his calls for condition statements with those of federal authorities. The reporting form for state banks would also be remodelled to conform more closely to federal specifications.

If this goes through it will save state bank members of the Federal Reserve System a lot of trouble and expense in future. The existing system—whereby they have to respond to the demands of three separate authorities (Federal Reserve, State and local Clearing House) has long been a pain in the neck to them. Not only did these demands come at different times but the various authorities have often held conflicting opinions on the value of assets, etc. If Superintendent White simplifies this problem for bankers they will be eternally grateful.

A sandy-haired stranger, who made two mysterious visits to the New York apartment house in which Mrs. Nancy Titterton was slain in her bathtub, was described to police by Countess Alice Hoyos (above), a tenant of the building, who saw him in the hallway. (Associated Press Photo)

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing. If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

The taste of our Family's Whiskey seems to have got everybody going!

I just can't get over how this Family's Whiskey of ours has took hold! Even when we drop in on folks that can afford to pay a lot more for their whiskey, it appears they're finding The Wilken Family Whiskey more to their liking than any other. Well, that just goes to show! People don't see any sense to paying out a lot if they can get something they like for less money. After all, this Family's Recipe of ours ought to be good. It's got everything that three generations of our family ever found out relating to making whiskey rich tasting and smooth!

Superintendent Said to Be Leading Other Candidates

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILL
Raleigh, April 16.—Reckless speed and liquor killed 71 persons in 443 automobile accidents in March, and injured 492 others, according to figures released today by R. R. McLaughlin, director of the motor vehicle bureau of the State Department of Revenue.

In March 1935, a total of 83 persons were killed and 457 injured in 385 accidents. So while 12 fewer persons were killed in March of this year than in March a year ago, 25 more persons were injured in 28 more accidents than in March, 1935.

The accident figures for March show that so far this year 192 persons have been killed and 397 injured in 1,526 accidents while 250 persons were killed during the first three months of 1935, thus showing a decrease of 52 in the number of persons killed in the first three months of this year as compared with the first quarter of 1935.

Excessive speed, rather than reckless driving, was listed as causing more fatal accidents, with 20 fatal and 48 non-fatal crashes listed as due to speeding. Reckless driving came next as the cause of seven fatal and 88 non-fatal accidents, while hit-and-run drivers figured in ten fatal and 24 non-fatal crashes.

Drunken drivers were listed as causing seven fatal and 55 non-fatal accidents, while three drunken pedestrians were injured by cars while they were attempting to walk along the highway, though none was killed.

Pedestrians, of which many were children, suffered heavily during March, since 28 of those killed and 71 of the injured were pedestrians who were struck by passing automobiles. Eight of the pedestrians killed were children, as were 21 of those injured. Ten pedestrians were killed and six injured while walking along the roadway.

Thirty-five of the fatal accidents and 187 of the non-fatal crashes occurred on perfectly straight stretches of highway, while only 10 fatal and 50 non-fatal accidents occurred on curves, the figures show. Only one fatal accident occurred at a street intersection, though 75 non-fatal crashes took place at street intersections. This is explained by the fact that cars involved in city accidents usually are not travelling as fast as those involved in rural accidents, with the result that the number of fatal accidents is much smaller. This is further borne out by the fact that here were only nine fatal and 161 non-fatal accidents inside the corporate limits of cities and towns in March, while on rural stretches of highways outside of cities and towns there were 55 fatal and 218 non-fatal accidents.

Not a single woman driver was involved in a fatal accident during March, and only 32 women drivers were involved in any accidents, out of a total of 683 drivers involved in the 443 accidents, the figures show.

Collision accidents predominated in March as usual, with 43 killed and 284 injured in collision crashes, either between cars or with fixed objects. Only 10 persons were killed and 116 injured in non-collision accidents.

The reduction in the number of fatal accidents is ascribed to the fact that a majority of the automobile drivers have become more safety conscious and are driving more carefully according to Captain Charles D. Farmer of the State Highway Patrol.

"The weather was good throughout almost all of March, so we can not use the weather as an excuse for the drop in the number of fatal accidents, especially when there are many more cars on the highways now than a year ago," Captain Farmer said. "There are 430,122 cars registered now as compared with only 396,526 on the same date last year, while the number of cars from other states passing through North Carolina is much greater than a year ago."

"Hence the only logical reason for the decrease in the number of people killed in accidents is that the safety drivers by the highway patrol and the newspapers are at last taking effect and that the public is at last beginning to drive more intelligently and carefully."

"The fact that there is an increase in the number of accidents and the number of injured, is that more accidents are being reported than a year ago, largely since that with the larger highway patrol we are able to investigate and get complete reports on more accidents."

DRY CAMPAIGN BEING MAPPED

United Dry Forces to Try Beat All Wet Candidates

Raleigh, April 15.—The United Dry Forces of North Carolina are going to get into politics deeper than ever and are sharpening their axes to cut off the political heads of all candidates within the state for either county or state offices who are in sympathy with the legal sale of liquor or liquor control. It was indicated at the meeting of board of trustees of the dry forces here Tuesday. Only about 50 trustees were present out of the 170 members of the board, to hear Cate K. Burgess, executive vice president of the association make his recommendations.

There was some discussion as to whether the United Dry Forces should openly endorse a state-wide referendum on the liquor question and then go out in a deliberate effort to win a victory for the dries, but no official action was taken on this question.

It was definitely decided, however, that the United Dry Forces would vigorously oppose every 'wet' candidate for sheriff, judge, the legislature or other county offices, also that they would seek to get a definite commitment from as many candidates as possible, with a view to supporting only those candidates whose views coincided with those of the United Dries.

It is now generally known that one of the reasons the liquor control forces were not able to get a state-wide liquor control law through the 1935 general assembly was because Burgess had put most of the members on record before their election and had a card index file and statements from most of them that they would not vote for liquor control or the legal sale of liquor. It is also generally agreed that the 1935 general assembly would have passed a state-wide local option law permitting the various counties to vote on liquor control, but for the insistence of Burgess and his dries that if any election be held, it must be state-wide. Indications now are that Burgess and his bone-dry followers are planning to use the same tactics with the 1937 legislature, provided the candidates are wary enough to fall into trap the dry forces are now setting for them.

EXPECT START PARKWAY ROAD

Contractors to Use Mt. Mitchell Toll Road Without Cost

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, April 15.—The contractors who are successful in submitting low bids for the construction of the Blue Ridge Parkway from Buck Creek Gap across Mt. Mitchell and the Craggies to where it will cross U. S. Route 70 near Oteen, a few miles east of Asheville, will be permitted to use the Wilson Toll Road from Burnsville and Pensacola to Balsam Gap near the top of Mt. Mitchell, it was announced here today by Chairman Capus M. Waynick of the State Highway and Public Works Commission.

As a result of this agreement, the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads is expected to call for bids on at least three sections of this parkway link from Buck Creek Gap to Oteen in the very near future and actual construction work should be started within the next 60 days, it is believed here.

Under the terms of the agreement just completed between the highway department and the owners of the Wilson Toll Road, the contractors who will build this sector of the parkway, the CCC camp on Mt. Mitchell and all state agencies will have free use of the toll road until such a time as the highway commission may lease, buy or build a free road to Balsam Gap and on to the summit of Mt. Mitchell, Waynick said. In return for the free use of this road, the state highway commission will maintain it and keep it in good condition.

As a result of this agreement, it will be possible for the contractors working on the parkway to start work in at least three different places and work in both directions, it was pointed out by R. Getty Browning, chief locating engineer. They can start at Balsam Gap, reached by the toll road and work from there towards Asheville, also back towards Buck Creek Gap. They can also start at Buck Creek Gap, where the parkway crosses the state route 164, also at Big Laurel Gap, which can be reached by a National Forest Service road which goes up through the Toe River State Game Refuge, and work both directions from there.

Clarkson Assails Tonissen at Recent Dry Meeting in Raleigh

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, April 16.—The tongue-lashing which Justice Herior Clarkson of the State Supreme Court gave Ed Tonissen, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the state senate in the lobby of the Sir Walter Hotel here this week, following the meeting of the board of trustees of the United Dry Forces, is going to rebound to the benefit of Tonissen, most observers here agree.

The belief is that Justice Clarkson, who told Tonissen that "we don't want you down here" and called a "foreigner" is opposed to Tonissen candidacy for the senate from Mecklenburg county because he is running on a wet platform and is definitely in favor of state or county liquor control instead of state-wide prohibition. Justice Clarkson for years has been one of the strongest advocates of state-wide prohibition.

Tonissen, who was standing in the lobby with Clyde Stancill of Charlotte, when Justice Clarkson came by and started criticizing Tonissen for running for the state senate from Mecklenburg county because he is not a native of North Carolina and referred to him as a "foreigner," according to those who heard the exchange of words. Tonissen told Justice Clarkson that unfortunately he had nothing to do concerning the selection of the place where he was born and that he was not consulted—that his parents were responsible for that. He further pointed out to Justice Clarkson that he had been living in the south for more than 35 years and for the past 20 years in Charlotte, and that he was in heart and spirit just as much of a North Carolinian as those who had been born here.

It is being pointed out here today that Justice Clarkson is not a native North Carolinian, having been born in Kingsville, Richland county, South Carolina. The ruffled feelings of both Tonissen and Justice Clarkson soon subsided and both parted in a friendly manner. Both those observed the incident believe that Justice Clarkson did not help the cause of the bone-dry by making his statements he did to Tonissen and are convinced that Tonissen will gain rather than lose support as the result of it.

PITT FARMERS ASKING PLANS RALEIGH TREK

(Continued from page one) day to have the various business organizations close down next Tuesday so their employees could attend the Raleigh meeting. Business leaders especially were urged to join the farmers in their movement.

R. T. FOUNTAIN SPEAKER HERE

(Continued from page one) cratic Senators and Representatives, to bring about recovery all along the line. What has become of the Hoover carts? Mr. Fountain declares he will loyally support the President and his policies in the event he is elected.

"When Franklin Delano Roosevelt assumed office, cotton was bringing the North Carolina farmer about 61-8 to 61-2 cents per pound," according to the statement. "In less than six months the price had advanced to ten cents per pound, and within two years planters were receiving as much as 13 cents per pound for the staple. Wheat, corn and rye and other farm commodities more than doubled in price also within two years, some of them in less than six months after Mr. Roosevelt and a Democratic Congress took over the reins of government."

"Did Senator Josiah W. Bailey have anything to do with bringing this great relief to North Carolina farmers? He did not. Senator Bailey voted against the farm relief bill in 1933, the amended bill and the Bankhead Cotton Control Act of 1934, the bill to reduce interest on farmers' loans from 41-2 to 31-2 per cent, in addition to opposing other administration measures designed by the President and Congress to bring prosperity to the bewildered and impoverished farmers of the country."

UNC PROFESSOR TO ADDRESS UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

Chapel Hill, April 16.—Dr. Kar H. Fussler, professor of Physics at the University, will visit the University of Richmond on Friday, April 17, where he is to address the students of the Physical Science Departments. Each year Sigma Pi Sigma, national honorary fraternity in Physics, has a guest speaker in the field of Physics to give a scientific address to the students of the University.

Professor Fussler will be the guest of honor at a banquet to be given by the fraternity in the evening.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 16.—(AP)—Stock market traders devoted buying attention to a few oils and specialties today, virtually ignoring most of the recent leaders. Aside from the scattered favorite the list was unable to get going. A number of issues held back under light profit taking. The pace was unusually slow. The late stock tone was irregular. Transfers approximated 1,300,000 shares.

GROUP OF NEWSPAPERS BEGIN STATE-WIDE POLL OF GOVERNATORIAL RACE

(Continued From Page One) May 7. Every Thursday thereafter another article containing state-wide results will appear, with the final vote in this gigantic poll to be carried exclusively in this section in The Daily Reflector on Thursday, June 4, or two days before the primary vote. So thoroughgoing is this poll that "North Carolina Speaks" will name the Democratic nominee at least three full days before the results of the June 6 primary are made public. In this section of the state only in The Daily Reflector can you keep informed concerning the trend of public opinion for or against any of the four Democratic candidates. And, in the intervals between the publication of the state-wide results stories, The Daily Reflector will, several days a week, publish results within the Greenville area. Newspapers cooperating in this poll are The Charlotte News, The Fayetteville Observer, Wilmington Star and News, Goldsboro News-Argos, Wilson Times, Greenville Reflector, Kinston Free Press, Rocky Mount Evening Telegram, Raleigh Times, Durham Herald and Sun, Greensboro News and Record, Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel, Reidsville Review, Concord Tribune, Salisbury Post, Hickory Daily Record, Henderson Daily Dispatch, New Bern Sun-Journal, Elizabeth City Daily Advance, Asheville Citizen and Times.

The ballot used in this poll are in the form of a folding postal card. The voter receiving a card will simply indicate his choice by placing an X in the square opposite the candidate he favors. There is also a place on the ballot for the voter to indicate his or her sex, whether he is a rural or urban resident, and his or her occupation. Is the feminine vote going to be cast as McDonald? "North Carolina Speaks" will have the answer. For whom will the jobless vote? Does the urbane Sandy Graham appeal more to the hangers-about at the cross roads store? Will John McRae's fondness for corn bread secure for him the farm vote? What do the tailors think of Clyde Herby's long-tailed coat? Will the hobo's vote against him? These are only a few of the questions that "North Carolina Speaks" will answer.

Because the ballots will be mailed on five successive Thursdays, "North Carolina Speaks" will be able to detect by the mailing time of the return ballots, the vagaries of the public mind; a trend for or against any of the four candidates as the date of the actual election draws nearer. In the event that one candidate immediately assumes a lengthy lead over his three opponents will thousands of voters climb aboard the band wagon and thereby increase his lead? Or, will proponents of the three lower candidates bestir themselves and overtake the leader? You can learn the answer to these questions by following the straw vote reports in The Daily Reflector.

Next Thursday there will appear another article by this writer, covering various aspects of the governorship campaign, a battle which has already caused more comment in North Carolina than any governorship campaign in more than a generation.

So scientific, so mathematically accurate will be this poll it cannot be questioned. As the heat of the campaign grows hotter and hotter, advocates for the candidate so luckless as to be the low man will feel the urge to question this, or any other straw vote along the same lines. When those who would question the accuracy of the poll pause to reflect upon the systematic thoroughness and the integrity of the 20 newspapers, they will be sure to see the futility of criticism. If you are among those to receive a Daily Reflector ballot, won't you please indicate your choice and mail the card at once? All ballots used in this poll are absolutely secret. The post cards are not coded. No one will know how you vote. No signature is required. The ballots bear return postage, so no stamp is necessary.

IT'S FUN TO RIDE HORSE, EXCEPT WHEN FALLING OFF

Tullahoma, Tenn. (AP)—Don't mention horses to Lacy Mason. He was riding one the other day, lost his balance and fell. One of his feet caught in the stirrup and he was dragged along. Undaunted, he went horseback riding the next day, and fell to the street. Three automobiles ran over him. Luckily, all drivers managed to straddle their cars over his body.

TABLET TO MARK BUILDING WHERE JUSTICE PRACTICED

St. Louis, (AP)—The building where Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the United States supreme court began the practice of law here in 1878 soon will be marked with a tablet, to be placed by the St. Louis bar association. After graduation from Harvard law school, Mr. Brandeis came here and was admitted to the state and federal bars in November, 1878. The next year he moved to Boston.

SPANISH SHAWL SCARFS SHOWN WITH NEW HATS

Paris, (AP)—Spanish shawl scarfs are being shown with some of the new spring hats. They are made of knitted black silk edged with fringe and are worn knotted loosely about the neck like a fichu.

The population of Savannah, Georgia's second largest city, and its environs is 107,800.

ON THE POLITICAL FRONT

James A. Farley

(By The Associated Press)

To bald James A. Farley goes the assignment, without challenge, of Democratic Warrior No. 1 in the coming conventions and campaign. He has so many things to worry about—so many party problems over which to wrinkle his broad and gleaming forehead—that, perversely, he is refusing to worry or wrinkle at all, at least publicly.

All he has to do, as Democratic national chairman, is—
 Oil the engine at Philadelphia so smoothly that Franklin Roosevelt may be renominated with a minimum number of unkind side remarks from Democratic dissidents. See that resolutions are passed quickly there praising the "new deal" and his chief; resolutions that so potent a figure as Alfred E. Sith has said might impel him to "take a walk," destination not stated.
